Briscoe County Agent Home From A & M Short Course

County Agent Robert M. Ledbetter has just returned from Texas A. & M. College where he attended the Annual County Agents Conference and Short Course. Mr. Ledbetter reports that the Conference was very educational and hopes to benefit much by the new information that he received while at the Conference. The Agent took short courses in Poultry Husbandry and Dairy Husbandry. It was felt that there will be a great deal more interest in these two fields of Agriculture here in the County as a result of the growth and the reduction of Cotton acreage.

Dairy Farms are a natural on irrigated farms where all the necessary feed can be grown even pasture improved irrigated type pastures. A new bulletin, "Should I go into the Dairy Business", is just off the Extension Service Press, and should be a must for anyone planning to go into the dairy business in the near future. It may be had by coming by the County Agents Office.

New wrinkles in the Poultry business are cage layers. These are wire coops that keep the hen confined all through the laying period. It is recommended that pullets be started each year and placed in these cages. Pullets, it has been proved lay more eggs and more profitable than keeping hens over the first years laying period.

Five minutes with five percent Chlordane solution will do a better job than anything found yet in killing the common red ant. A band of dust should be placed in a circle about the bed. The band should be five or six feet in diameter.

The New Editor They Call Him

Who invented this term I do not know but several of the good fellows have been introducing me as such around town this week.

What they call me in a few months may be unprintable.

I decided before I contracted for the paper to slip in a column now and then, so it was very pleasing to me that some have stated that they would like one.

Many have asked when we were to move. That is a question I wish I could answer. I arrived this week with my tooth brush. But when Mama (Doris) the furniture and the cats are to arrive is a big question. However we will have Doris on exhibition at a later date.

Me and Mama are looking forward to getting acquainted with all the good people in Briscoe County.

I will always have a warm feeling in my heart for the Cavanaugh's. They have been dear to me for more years than I care to publish here. I remember my parents talking about Miss Lola when she was County Clerk and before she was Mrs. Cavanaugh.

Then I started working for them as a lad. Through the years I have always regarded them as among my most dependable friends. Then again they have stuck by me and made this issue a success. They have always worked hard and now deserve a rest. I will attempt to express my appreciation for them from time to time.

Local Chevrolet Agent Attends Truck Showing

John Earl Simpson of the Simpson Chevrolet Company has just returned from Oklahoma City where he attended a private preview of the new 1954 Chevrolet trucks. John Earl went up on Tuesday and returned Friday of last week.

The exhibit and accompanying business session were sponsored by the company for all retail dealers and salesmen in this area and emphasized the importance Chevrolet is attaching to its soon to be announced new truck line.

"The meeting was somewhat without precedent in our experience because it was devoted exclusively to new truck models," said Simpson. "The reason soon became clear. The 1954 line contains so many new features that even a review of highpoints required considerable time.

"Not only will Chevrolet have more to offer the truck user in 1954, but it will expand the for-cies behind its selling. Included is an expanded advertising program."

Simpson said he plans to arrange a special showing of the new line in his dealership when the trucks become available for display later this month. It is one of the few times in history that Chevrolet has exhibited new trucks apart from new passenger car models.

Typical of completely re-engineered Chevrolet trucks making their 1954 model debut at dealer showrooms this week is the three-quarter ton (6500 GVW) stake, on which dual rear wheels are now available. Loading height has been lowered and floor area between stakes increased. More horsepower in each of three new engines, greater durability through sturdier construction, optional automatic transmission, improved comfort and convenience are among Chevrolet truck advances.

Mule Retires To Green Pastures, U. S. Army Says

FORT BENNING—Tom has been retired to green pastures.

According to the Army News Features the old soldier, a mule that lacks the traditional stubbornness of a cantankerous breed, has "cleared the post" and departed to civilian pastures after a long military career.

He was, the Army reports, the last of his kind in the Third Army until October, 1952. He had two companions. As a draft mule, Tom was one of the elite in Army mule-dom, but he never pulled his rank on his pack mule colleagues.

Army mules, as all soldiers do, have to take "shots," and Tom got so he did not seem to mind the giant needle.

"Just like an old soldier with 20 years service, he would walk right up and stand there with a sort of resigned expression on his face," a veteran Army man said.

Even in civilian life, however, Tom will have Army companionship. He was bought at auction by Col. R. J. Whately of Columbus, Georgia, a retired Army man.

U. S. Repays $325 Burned by Pastor

MEMPHIS—A Memphis minister recently got $325 from the Treasury Department for money he destroyed.

The Rev. John J. McGehee, pastor of Grace Gospel Church, but formerly a missionary in China, was imprisoned by the Reds in 1951.

Expecting arrest, the clergyman and his wife had clipped the serial numbers from their outlawed United States currency and pasted them in a prayer book and a New Testament. Then they burned the greenbacks.

The nondenominational minister was released last September after a year in Chinese prisons. He came home carrying the New Testament. His wife returned here shortly before her husband's arrest, bringing the prayer book.

The refund on the destroyed bills was authorized after a special plea was made by Representative Clifford Davis, Democrat of Tennessee.

Thirty Women Register As Lobbyists, Report

WASHINGTON—Women are putting the pressure on congress these days. Thirty registered during the first quarter of 1953 as lobbyists.

Twelve of the women said they had registered as lobbyist for the first time. They added that they did so voluntarily, under the provision of the 1946 Lobbying Act.

The other eighteen had submitted quarterly financial reports to indicate that their earnings ranged from minimum expenses to $10,000 a year.

Highest paid were two lobbyists for the National Milk Producers' Federation of Washington who said that their salaries were $9,750 a year, plus reimbursement for expenses.

The lowest paid was Miss Elizabeth A. Kendall, who filed a statement that she had received no salary and only $5 in expenses for the last quarter.

Springfield Protests Whistle Virtuosity

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Residents of the northeast section of Springfield recently protested to the city council that engineers on the Chicago and Illinois Midland Railroad tooted their whistles too often and too long.

They didn't mind the whistles, the citizens said, as long as it was necessary, but when the railroad's engineers began to play such tunes as "Yankee Doodle" it was just too much.

A railroad spokesman said engineers were just using their standard whistle procedures. The petitioners, however, said it wasn't so—because they could recognize at least two tunes.

Chess By Mail

A chess game is underway between players at Toronto's A. V. Roe Aircraft Co. plant and players at the Thomson-Houston Co. in England. The players use an air-mail form for each move. A player enters his move and mails it to his opponent. The form must be mailed within 48 hours of the receipt. The average match last 30 moves and each mailing costs 15 cents. So the average game costs about $9. It takes several weeks to complete one game.

Corn generally refers to the important cereal crop of a given region. In England, corn means wheat; in Scotland and Ireland, oats; in Australia and the United States, corn-on-the-cob, or maize.

During the Second French Empire music for dances for Napoleon III was often supplied by one of the first mechanical pianos, operated by pumping a handle at one side.

Engineers Put Pipeline Across Mackinac Straits

ST. IGNACE, Mich.—One of the outstanding engineering feats of these times was accomplished recently at St. Ignace. Two hundred engineers and petroleum men from all over the world gathered to watch the crossing of the Straits of Mackinac with an oil pipeline.

Joining the engineers were state and local officials and legislators. On both sides of the straits were hundreds of men, assigned to pull the 26-inch pipeline weighing 106 pounds a foot.

Engineers said it was the longest water crossing ever attempted by the pull method. Longer crossings have been made by floating pipe into position and then sinking it.

A Coast Guard cutter stopped the heavy traffic through the straits for hour-long periods as the 2,500-foot sections were pulled from St. Ignace south toward Mackinac City by a gigantic winch.

The operation was part of the extension of the Lakehead Pipeline Company line from Superior, Wis., to Sarnia, Ont. The extension connects to the present line starting at Edmonton, Alta.

It took three days to complete the operation.

Human Nose Knows 16,000,000 Odors

WASHINGTON—According to Dr. Raymond M. Hainer of Cambridge, Mass., the human nose is equipped to distinguish about 16,000,000 odors.

Smelling, he reports after much research, is an extraordinarily complicated process involving nose and brain.

In each nostril is an area about half the size of a dime in which are 1,900 nerve centers known as "glomeruli." From each glomeruli, which might be compared to a telephone exchange, twenty-four nerve fibers run to the brain.

Each odor excites a separate nerve fibre in each area of this sort. Thus almost 50,000 combinations of nerve fibers, carrying special messages, are possible.

Dr. Hainer and his associates compare these bundles of twenty-four neurons to a board with twenty-four lights. By turning on some of the lights a recognizable picture can be formed.

Similarly, when a man smells chloroform, for example, certain of the twenty-four neurons light up to form a code for this odor and nothing else. The kind of odor

U. S. Treasury's Conscience Fund Still Flourishing

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Treasury has a "conscience fund" into which is placed money sent the government by conscience stricken citizens. It receives everything from 1-cent stamps to large sums.

The biggest ever received was a certified check for $30,000. The sender dictated a long, intelligent letter to his secretary, confessing that across the years he had fudged on his income taxes and wanted to ease his mind by paying up.

A middle-aged woman wrote that as a 'teenager she had steamed stamps off letters and sent them back through the mails. She enclosed a dollar and promised it would "never happen again."

One woman sent in some cash "on account." She said she would continue to contribute to the fund until her "act" was settled. That was some time back and the money is still coming in "on account." She never explained what her sin was, or signed her name.

A Navy veteran, now retired, said that in 25 years in blue he had stolen some pencils, writing paper and "some discarded table cloths." The man calculated the value of the loot, added 6 per cent interest and figured he owed about $40. He threw in another $10 for "good measure."

Government Reports On Red Tape Used

WASHINGTON—The federal government used exactly 366 miles of red tape last year, according to a recent report.

It came on seventy-two-yard spools at a price of 53 cents each. It was five-sixteenths of an inch wide and was made of cotton.

The Government bought exactly 8,950 spools of the stuff and paid more than $4,700 for it. It is the only kind of red tape the Government uses, according to the latest catalog of the Federal supply service—although critics might cite other examples.

Government agencies use the tape almost exclusively to tie up documents for storage. String tears the documents and the linen-finished tape was found best for the job.

There are enough red tape-bound Government documents throughout the country to fill seven Pentagons, according to the General Services Administration, parent agency of the supply service.

Silverton Owls Are in Good Sape for Game

Coach Buddy Travis stated Tuesday that he did not have any serious injuries staring him in the face. He believes his boys are in good shape and ready to tackle the Turks in Fridays game.

The battle will be fought on Turkey's field, and the starting time will be 8 p. m. Friday night

We have not personally seen the boys in action. We had hoped to get by the field one afternoon this week.

But every where we have gone and all the people that we have talked to have indicated real enthusiasm.

I would say that in reading the ads you will find that they are really behind the team.

However you might get the opinion that the fans are over confident in their belief in the boys. This is not the case however and you will find this out in talking to most any of them.

Coach Travis is not over confident and if the boys listen to him they won't be either.

Travis believes the boys can win if they get in there and play heads up. But that is as much as you can get him to admit. He keeps looking at the number of lettermen that they have back from last year, and their record with other teams this year.

But win or loose I believe there will be the right spirit among the fans Friday night. We believe there will be almost 100 per cent of Silverton pulling for you and most of them on the sideline.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Seaney and children, of Fort Garland, Colorado, spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Seaney, and other relatives.
