A rattlesnake bite was fatal recently to a valuable quarterhorse colt belonging to Doyle Saul of Plainview.

Saul had sold the 5 month old horse colt to a man in Michigan for $1,000.00, and the buyer was to get the colt at the Saul ranch 8 miles east of Silvertown in a few days. Saul telephoned the Michigan man and told him the colt was dead.

The colt was of the famed King quarterhorse breeding.

The snake bit the colt on the lip. Saul said if the animal had been found in time its life probably could have been saved. The swelling from the venom caused the colt to choke to death.

Saul, quarterhorse breeder and cattleman, said it is characteristic of a colt to demonstrate its curiosity when a rattler sounds its warning. The colt will walk up to smell of the reptile. A calf won't do that, Saul said.

Saul has noticed an unusually big crop of rattlers on his ranch this autumn. He killed three during a short ride over the ranch a few days ago. Hunters also say they have encountered an unusually high rattler population in the caprock breaks during the dove season.

EXPERIMENTAL RECHARGE WORK STILL GOING ON AT HIGH PLAINS STATION

Research in the experimental recharge well will not be delayed by lack of water in the east lake at the High Plains Station of the Texas Research Foundation at Halfway.

Water from another well 1400 feet away will be used to start the recharge program on October 15. The water will be pumped through an underground line connecting the two wells, thence underground at the recharge well.

"The recharge well is of experimental as well as practical value," said James G. Cronin, hydraulic engineer with the U. S. Geological Survey, supervisor of the recharge program.

"A series of three four inch wells in connection with the recharge well will enable us to study the permeability of underground formation, the way the water moves in the formations, the pressure being built up, and a number of other factors," Mr. Cronin explained. These four inch wells are 200 feet deep located 8, 50, and 100 feet from the recharge well. The 16 inch recharge well is 320 feet deep.

A 12 foot deep concrete inlet in the intake line to the recharge well will be used to study sedimentation and infiltration. Two gravity intake lines will carry surplus lake water to a pit, thence through the intake pipe to the concrete inlet.

Dr. T. C. Longnecker, head of the station said, "This recharge of surplus surface water into the underground formations constitute the practical value of the well." By putting the water back into the ground where it can be conserved for future use, we will save many acre-feet from evaporation," Dr. Longnecker explained. "This conservation well will aid in maintaining the water table in this area."

The water recharge research is a joint program of the U. S. Geological Survey and the Texas Board of Water Engineers. Dr. Longnecker said, "We are happy to provide the facilities for Mr. Cronin and his staff to make their study at the Station."

Man-Hour Output Up Three Times Since War II

NEW YORK—Thanks largely to record investment and constantly improving technology, American industry today is close to a third more productive than it was at the end of World War II a decade ago, gauged by output per man-hour.

U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics indicate that production per man-hour in all manufacturing rose by around 30 per cent in the 1947-55 period. This represented an average rise of about 3 1/2 per cent a year for the period as a whole. What is particularly significant is a recent acceleration in the rate of growth. Estimates are that productivity in manufacturing rose by close to 10 per cent in 1954 and 1955 alone, with more than half this gain taking place last year.

Here is a development of far-reaching importance for the future progress of the economy and the continued rise in the people's income and living standards. Over the long view, much of the increase in goods and services produced in the economy has been due to the rise in productivity rather than to the increase in number of man-hours worked. Furthermore, the need for steadily rising output per man-hour is accentuated by the fact that the number of dependents in the population—children, teen-agers and those 65 and over—has been rising faster proportionately than those of working ages, and will continue to do so for the years to come.

Coal Industry Said Far From Dying

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — The coal industry is not dead nor is it dying.

Dr. H. Beecher Charnbury, professor and head of the department of mineral preparation at the Pennsylvania State University, says that, on the contrary, the coal industry is looking forward to increasing growth in future years to meet the demands of our increasing population.

"The coal industry in this country has averaged about 500 million tons each year since 1920," Dr. Charnbury said, "and expects to produce about 700 million tons by 1965 and one billion tons by 1975."

He said that the false impression people have of a dying coal industry has resulted from bad impressions people received in recent years because of strikes, railroad car shortages, and distressed areas and because of the more glamorous attention received by atomic and solar energy.

Outlining the processing methods used in the coal industry, Dr. Charnbury said that at present only 5 per cent of the total coal produced is sent to industrial markets and 95 per cent is subjected to preparation, including crushing, sizing, and mechanical cleaning.

Eye Discomfort Chief Cause of Headaches

CHICAGO—Although headaches can come from a number of different causes, they are very frequently associated with eye discomfort and a statistical review shows close relationship of exacting eye work to headaches.

Headaches occur most often up to the age of 20, then decrease slowly until at 60 or more only 25 per cent of the people are subject to them. They bother college students most, and to a lesser degree executives, professional men, housewives, and clerical workers. Manual workers experience them comparatively little, and agriculturists least of all.

Nearsightedness, farsightedness, and astigmatism—particularly in its milder forms—are to blame for many headaches. Crossed eyes and other forms of muscular imbalance also rank among the leading causes. Other offenders are such eye diseases as conjunctivitis and acute glaucoma.

Winter Deaths From Fire, Burns Heavy

NEW YORK—Accidental loss of life from fires and burns by other means is nearly three times as high and that from poisonous gas five times as high in the winter as in summer, according to a study by statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Both classes of fatalities are associated largely with the increased use of heating facilities.

Many poisonous gas fatalities result from improperly installed or defective heaters. An appreciable number are due to running an automobile motor in a closed garage or in a parked car.

One was the rate of stocking upland ranges.

Over a ten year period stocking moderately to use 50 to 60% of the grass increased steer gains 51 pounds per head as compared with heavy stocking to use 80% of the grass.

Also look at pounds of grain per acre: Heavy stocking, 80% of grass, 26 pounds; moderate stocking, 50 to 60% of grass, 27 pounds.

Its the pounds of beef per acre that counts—not the number of head.

 COLUMBUS DAY • 1957

Yes, it's time to rediscover America — the land of freedom, opportunity and progress. Time, too, to discover that freedom, opportunity and progress have many enemies — right here in our own country. Enemies who say the government should be in business, should provide our medical care, should control the education of our children. Rediscover America — and the American Way of Life — before socialism traps you and your children.

DISABLED WORKERS CANNOT RECEIVE MONTHLY DISABILITY PAYMENTS UNTIL AGE 50

On an average day there are about 2,000,000 people who have been kept from gainful employment for more than six months because of illness or injury. When the disability is of a permanent or long lasting nature John R. Sanderson, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office, urged that prompt action be taken to protect the persons social security rights.

A disabled worker cannot receive monthly disability payments until he reaches age 50. However, Sanderson said, the right to payments at age 50, or at retirement age, may be lost if the worker fails to act. By filing an application to "freeze" his earnings record, he protects not only his own rights but those of his dependents should he die. The amount to be paid when he reaches age 50 will be figured on his working years if his record is frozen. This assures payment of the highest amount possible based on his earnings record.

To qualify for the "freeze" the disabled person must have worked or been in business for himself under social security for at least 5 years out of the 10 years before he became disabled. Also, he must have worked at least 1 1/2 years in the 3 year period before he was forced to stop working. The disability must have existed for six months but may be of any nature, according to Sanderson, so long as it can be established by medical evidence and is expected to continue for an indefinite period.

A free pamphlet, OASI-29, which explains the disability provisions may be obtained by writing to the Social Security Administration.

JOHN DEERE FIRST IN THE FIELD WITH 6-ROW FARMING

Convinced that this is the era in which farming "spreads its wings" through the kind of greater operating efficiency that permits one man to do much more work than formerly and at lower cost, John Deere this month announces a complete, latest line of 6-row equipment for farmers of cultivated crops in the North and the South.

Introduced as the first complete line of 6-row equipment in the world and as part of a continued program of "being there with the farmer when they are needed," the new John Deere bedders, corn and soybean planters, corn planters, and row-crop cultivators are all designed, according to Ray Thompson, local agent, to take full advantage of the more powerful row-crop tractors.

New 6-row equipment is available for both North and South. For example, southern farmers will be especially interested in fully interlocking, quickly attached 6-row bedders and listers. Double-bar frame construction permits interchangeability of equipment in a matter of minutes without losing working adjustments. Extra-duty equipment available for the basic tool bars includes disk gangs, sweeps, cultivators, teeth, and deep-working chisels. John Deere's big planter news for the Southland is the 684 cotton and corn planter that's designed to drill or hill-drop on flatland, beds, or on furrows. This high-speed 6-row planter is fully interlocking. Yet it can be attached or detached by one man in 2 minutes.

The seed and fertilizer hoppers are low-mounted for easier, faster filling. The six planting units are individually mounted on the planter frame. Each unit is free to flex independently of the others, a feature that promotes uniform planting depth even in rough or uneven land. To further assure uniform planting, especially in firm ground, John Deere 684 planters are regularly equipped with spring pressure on each planting unit. Changing the spring pressure on the runner openers and adjusting planting depth is fast and easy. This is especially important on 6-row planters.

End units of the planter may be quickly removed for narrow transport width, for going through gates, and for use of the center section as a 4-row unit when desired.

For the Corn Belt, John Deere announces the 694 planter. The 694 drills, hill-drops, and check-plates corn, beans, and other seeds with unexcelled speed and accuracy. It features bigger, lower, easier to fill seed and fertilizer hoppers; fast, easy to make adjustments; and a new idea in fertilizer placement. The 694 deposits the fertilizer ahead of the seed so that the accuracy of seed placement is not disturbed by the fertilizer opener. The fertilizer is placed to one side of the seed and at any desired depth to a limit of 7 inches. Dry and liquid fertilizer attachments, pre-emergence sprayer, an insecticide attachment, and many other items are available as special equipment. John Deere 6-row farming equipment also includes a Quick-Tatch cultivator that really spreads its wings. Outer sections can be folded forward for narrowing the transport width, or removed for cultivating crops planted with 4-row equipment. This new John Deere 60 Series Reducible cultivator adjusts for row spacings of 36 to 40 inches.

The 60 Series cultivator is designed for convenience and ease of handling. One man can attach or detach it quickly with no heavy lifting. Open construction provides good clearance and an easy view of the rows.

The 60 Series cultivator takes full advantage of the 3-circuit "live" hydraulic control available on modern John Deere tractors. This provides selective control of left front, right front, and rear rigs, with hydraulic down-pressure on the front rigs. The cultivator also can be set up for 2-circuit (delayed lift) or 1-circuit (single lift) operation. Ten different rear rigs are available.

Mr. and Mrs. Keyth Tiffin and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Tiffin and Bruce visited Keyth Tiffin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tiffin, and Mrs. Keyth Tiffin's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Loving, in Quitaque on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norland Dudley and daughters, of Petersburg, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dudley, Sunday afternoon. Connie has a good case of the mumps so they did not stay long.

Mrs. R. L. Campbell, an old timer here, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. T. L. Anderson, and Miss Anna Lee. Miss Roberta Campbell, of Hereford, and Mrs. Glen Burnett, of Amarillo, brought their mother here last Friday.

CHANGE TO SHAMROCK 10W-30 MOTOR OIL NOW AND PROTECT THE LIFE OF YOUR CAR'S ENGINE AND BATTERY

The development of Shamrock 10W-30 Motor Oil is based on the fact that the typical passenger car engine operates most of its useful life in the temperature zone between the cold start and normal operating temperatures.

All oils thicken as temperature decreases. The difference between Shamrock 10W-30 and conventional oil is that it thickens less at low temperature. The effect on your car's performance is important.

When you change to Shamrock 10W-30, the improvements you'll notice immediately are: (1) that even on the coldest mornings the engine will turn over quickly and easily, and (2) a marked increase in gasoline mileage.

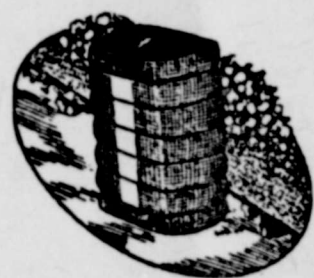

These advantages are the most obvious, but not necessarily the most important. Frictional wear in the engine takes place at a very high rate during the first few strokes when starting an engine with little or no lubricant on the cylinder walls. 10W-30 reduces this wear, flowing quickly... replenishing the oil film. At high temperatures a thicker lubricant does a better job of keeping metal surfaces apart. Accordingly, 10W-30 being thick at high temperatures gives your engine full protection at this end of the temperature range, too.

With Shamrock 10W-30 in the crankcase you will: (1) extend the life of your car's engine, (2) extend the life of your battery, (3) increase gasoline mileage and (4) reduce the octane requirement. We don't claim miracles for it, but you probably will.

QUALITY YOU CAN MEASURE BY YOUR CAR'S PERFORMANCE

SECOND GRADE—MRS. BOMAR AND MISS ANNA LEE

Linda Sue Yancy has been absent from school this week because of illness. The children have been having fun making Jack-o-Lanterns, black cats, and other spooky things to decorate our room for Halloween. This reminds us that Halloween's Carnival time isn't too far away. If any of you second grade mothers have any good ideas for making some money for our second grade queens, we would like very happy to have your suggestions.

We are also looking forward to receiving report cards next week.

We lost our ball game with Estelline last week, and we play Quitaque this Thursday, October 17.

Our booth for the Carnival will be a fishing pond, and we invite all you anglers to come visit us and make up for those big ones that got away this summer.

Mrs. Lena Northcutt, of Talia, spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Allard; she spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Northcutt who took her home Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Lena Northcutt is the mother of Mrs. Allard and D. T. Northcutt.
