4-H promotes global growth

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

It's National 4-H Week, and almost a half a million Texas youths are involved in the program.

Bailey County has two 4-H Clubs. The Muleshoe club usually enrolls about 85 youths during the month of September, while the Three Way club usually enrolls from 30 to 35, according to Bailey County Extension Secretary Pat Moore.

Dr. Nelson Jacob, 4-H youth development specialist, says the program offers "an educational process tied to practical experiences, which captures the minds of young people."

Members nationwide are assisted by more than 50 thousand volunteers. Members can choose from over 40 science, technology and life skills projects.

In the South Plains District there are more than 16 thousand members in 234 organized clubs. The Panhandle has almost 10 thousand members and 106 organized clubs.

Latest figures show that 4-H appeals to a wide range of youth—preschool through 12th grade, rural and urban, plus all ethnic groups.

Young participants from various backgrounds have an opportunity to communicate with each other.

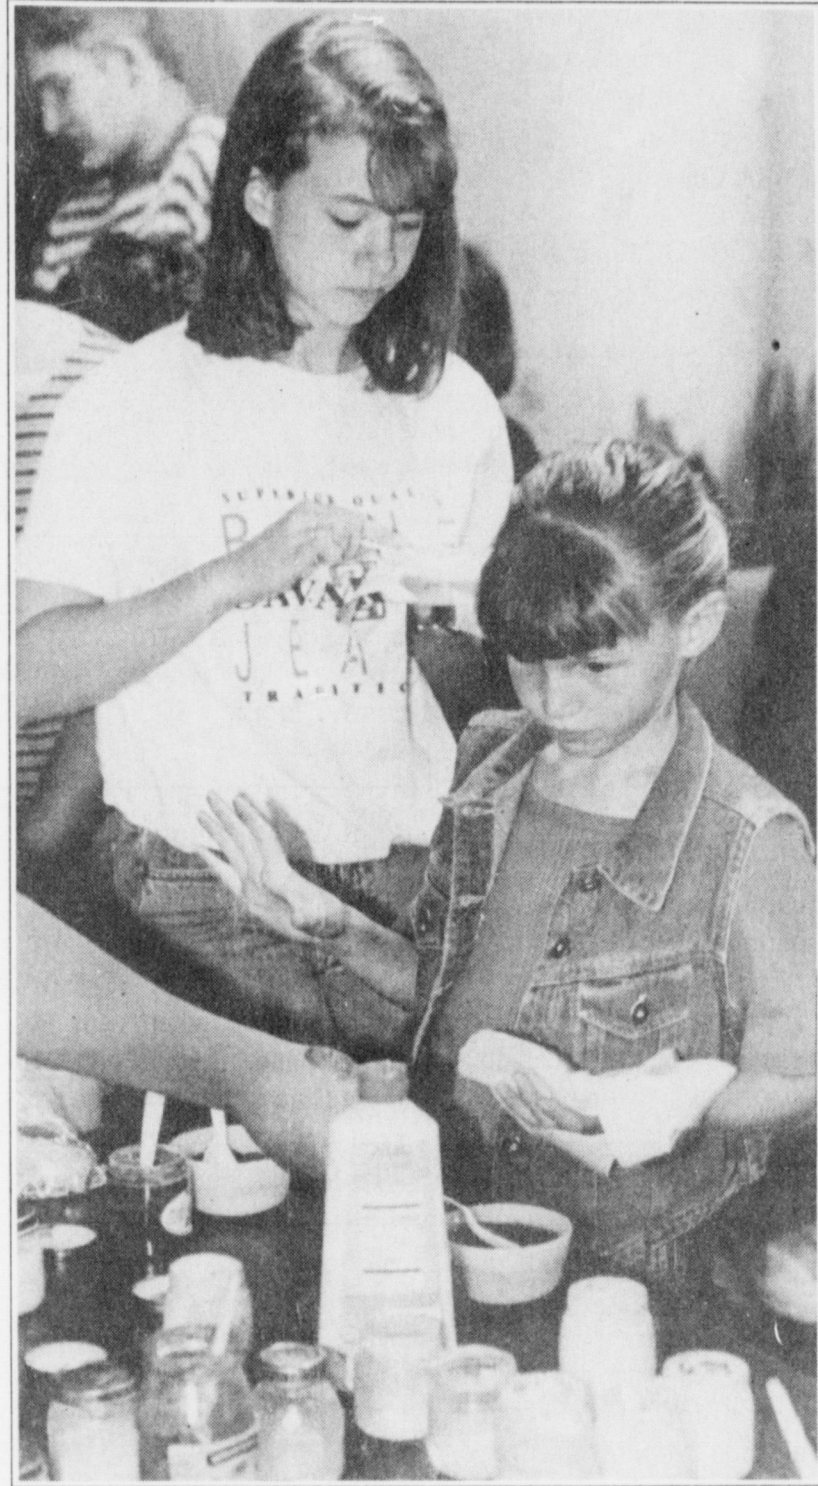

Jacob said more than 34 percent of 4-H members live in central cities; 18 percent in cities and suburbs; 13 percent in towns and cities, 17 percent in towns like Muleshoe, with populations under 10,000; and 18 percent on farms and in rural areas.

Older members and teen leaders are able to teach younger members, as families work together "to make the best better."

Jacob's records show that children eight and younger make up 31 percent of the membership; 48 percent are between the ages of nine and 11; 11 percent are 12 or 13; and 10 percent are 14 and older, according to Jacob.

Dr. Lynne Thibodeaux, assistant director of the 4-H and youth development program, said the organization gives young people opportunities to

Storm causes power outage in Muleshoe Twister sighted in Maple

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

During Monday morning's rain and lightning storm, the Southwestern Public Service substation recorded 17 "good hits" between 3 and 6:30 a.m. from 16th Street west, according to Mike McDearmon of SPS.

He said lightning strikes power lines because "it seeks the tallest point." But someone is on call 24 hours per day, he said, in case an outage occurs.

Mike Roberts was on call for Bailey County Electric Coop Monday morning while four circuit trips were caused by lightning around 5:55 a.m.

He also found two bad insulators. The power outage in town affected him because the lights went out while he was trying to call for assistance.

Vicky Gonzales, manager at the Pizza Hut said she was late for work Monday because her clocks were wrong due to the early morning outage.

Richard Murphy, administrator at Muleshoe Area Hospital, said the hospital is not affected by power outages for more than 5 seconds, because of backup systems which kick in.

Although the electricity went out at Murphy's home, he was not late for work because he noticed the VCR was blinking at him and knew he needed to Monday morning's thunder and lightning display brought about an inch of rain to much of Bailey County, as the rain gauge above indicates. The rain brought mixed reviews from area farmers, many of whom are still in the process of cutting corn. Most felt the moisture was a blessing however.

Tough ride ahead for struggling Mules

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

The term "Mule up" is borrowed from Eight Seconds, the movie about the life of bull rider Lane Frost.

In the movie, Frost and others talk about the need to "cowboy up," meaning if you get bucked off the bull you get right back on.

That's the situation Muleshoe High School is in now.

The Mules are 0-4 heading into Friday night's game against Seminole at Benny Douglass Stadium (8 p.m.) in their final pre-district tuneup.

Added to their woes is the loss of four players to academic ineligibility.

"We have six more ball games," Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said. "We've got to control the ball better and take better care of the ball. We have as good as chance as anybody to win the district. We're not going to roll over and play dead. This is certainly a challenge."

In its standard one-back set, Muleshoe strives for a balanced attack. That'll probably change Friday.

"There'll be some wholesale changes," Adair said. "And there will be a whole turnaround as far as the style of the offense. There will be four or five people in new positions."

Seminole (3-1) is coming off a come-from-behind 19-10 win over District 2-3A and is a program on the rise under fifth-year head coach Army Sali-

Dept. of Agriculture consolidates farm services

County holding FSA elections

Farmers and other eligible voters are asked to nominate candidates for the Bailey County Farm Service Agency (FSA) committee, said Karen Byrd, CED for Bailey County.

The FSA County Committee was previously known as the ASC County Committee. Nominations will be accepted beginning Oct. 5 and continuing through Oct. 30, 1995.

The FSA Bailey County Committee election will be conducted from Nov. 24 through Dec. 4, 1995, by mail ballot, Byrd said.

COLLEGE STATION — U.S. Department of Agriculture reorganization under the Clinton Administration continued this week when the farm lending programs of the former Farmers Home Administration were transferred to the Consolidated Farm Service Agency.

The transfer of the farm lending programs, which took place Oct. 1, was announced by Harold Bob Bennett, state executive director of the Texas

Consolidated Farm Service Agency (formerly the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; ASCS) and George Ellis, director of Rural Economic and Community Development (formerly Farmers Home Administration; FmHA).

The USDA is in the process of closing or consolidating nearly one-third of its 3,700 field offices nationwide and establishing 2,535 USDA service centers. The largest reorganization in USDA history began last year when the number of USDA agencies were reduced from 43 to 29, and staff cuts of 13,000 were initiated. The reorganization is expected to save taxpayers over $4 billion.

For more than 50 years, farmers who could not obtain credit from commercial lenders used the FmHA farmer program loans to purchase and operate farms, while the former ASCS administered farm programs. As a result of the transfer of the farm lending programs, all farm programs will now be administered by one agency, the Consolidated Farm Service Agency.

The Rural Economic and Community Development Agency will continue to administer all rural business development programs, rural telecommunication, electricity, water and wastewater disposal

There was no damage to power lines in or around Muleshoe Monday morning, but rain shut down the corn and vegetable harvests temporarily, Bailey County Extension Agent Curtis Preston said.

Della Puckett at the Muleshoe Coop said local farmers reported from .80 to one inch of rain Monday morning. Cliff Heinrich of Maple Butane reported an inch.

Phillis Shepherd at West Camp Gin reported .90, Pep Postmaster Anna Belle Walker measured .55 and Muleshoe's National Weather Service reporter R.G. Bennett measured taxpayers money," said Bennett.

"Ultimately, when a Texas farmer steps into our USDA service centers, all of their needs will be taken care of quickly, and they will be able to get back to what they enjoy most, and that is farming."

Thibodeaux said the organization is especially proud of its scholarship program, which provides 100 youth with about three-quarters of a million dollars each year.

Bennett said rural Texas communities, organizations and families would benefit from the consolidation of the services as well. "As a result of this reorganization, rural development efforts statewide will be better coordinated and we will be able to provide the best possible service with the greatest efficiency to Lone Star farmers that need our assistance."

First Assembly of God to host blood drive Oct. 5

Muleshoe will sponsor a blood drive from 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 5 at the First Assembly of God. Anyone who brings a first time donor with them will receive a United Blood Service T-shirt.

When human blood transfusions were first performed in the 1800s, the donor and the recipient were side by side. There was no typing, no testing, no interim procedure.

Modern innovations in blood transfusion therapy have now changed all that.

More than 90 percent of all people who live to age 72 will need blood during their lives. Blood is needed for surgeries, for patients being treated for leukemia or other cancers, or for a mother experiencing a difficult delivery.

While most of us will receive blood, only a few will donate it. Approximately five percent of this area's population donates blood, according to Pat Kannamer of UBS.

Additional donors are needed. For more information, contact Kannamer at (800) 333-6920.

"America's most highly acclaimed" circus came by that title after being featured on TV in a documentary produced by the National Geographic Explorer series. It has also been featured on "Entertainment Tonight."

The circus, in its 11th season, has built a reputation of honesty, cleanliness and excellent care of its animals.

A traditional Big Top will be set up at the Boy Scout Hut on South Main Street.

Featured will be aerial and high wire artists, clowns, performing dogs, jugglers, ponies and more.

Advance sale discount tickets are available from State Farm Insurance, First Bank of Muleshoe, Wilson Appliance, Muleshoe Motor Co, and Feature Attractions.

The public is invited to come early circus morning and watch the raising of the Big Top—using elephant power, as circuses have done for more than 200 years. For more information, call 272-4040.

Boosters reward Mule spirit, community pride

The Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club is sponsoring a new program to promote spirit and pride in MHS and the Mules.

Beginning the week of Oct. 8, Muleshoe businesses are encouraged to participate in activities that reflect community pride and spirit as the Mules open District 2-3A play against Littlefield.

The Boosters are encouraging window paintings, banners, streamers and any other form of support for the Mules. The program is being undertaken to show that it is football season and that Muleshoe has pride in its team — win, lose or draw.

The Athletic Booster Club has a new trophy, called the Muleshoe Community Spirit Trophy, that will be awarded to the business or individual(s) that do the best job of promoting community spirit and pride for each game.

The trophy will move from business to business as a new winner is selected each week. The winner of the trophy will be chosen by a panel of judges selected from the Booster Club.

At the end of the season, the business or individual(s) that have done the best job of promoting pride and spirit for the entire season will be awarded the trophy to display until the following football season.

A plaque will be engraved with the winner's name and will be permanently attached to the trophy. The Community Spirit Trophy will be on display at various Muleshoe businesses for the next two weeks.

"We need to show our kids that we support them, regardless of the figures on a scoreboard," said Booster member Barry Cowart.

"As the community becomes more involved in positive activities that promote pride and spirit,

Eagles

Sophomore Cody Wilson caught 10 passes for 166 yards and three touchdowns for the Eagles.

"He's doing a good job of slipping into the seams and finding open spots," Bryan said.

Three Way got it going early, breezing down the field the first two times they touched the ball to take a 12-0 lead. The Eagles built their lead to 28-6 on Wilson's 30-yard pass from Kindle and a 20-yard run by Randall Rodriguez, then put the game out of reach with a 16-point third quarter.

Three Way switched defenses after a 67-37 loss to Wellman last week, which featured Jose Gutierrez at middle linebacker.

Bryan was pleased with the results.

"Quite a few people commented on how aggressive he was."

The Eagles are basically the same team that finished 4-5 last year—player-wise anyway.

"The difference is experience and we're healthy," Bryan said. "Last year, they were going through the motions. This year they really feel they can beat people."

Three Way is off this week before opening district play against top-ranked Amherst.

Pep plans its annual Thanksgiving Day feast

PEP — The Pep Community is already making plans for the annual Thanksgiving Festival on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23 at the St. Philip Neri Parish Hall.

This year's celebration will be more exciting as it marks the festival's Golden Anniversary.

For fifty years, the Pep community has gathered for a time of giving thanks by celebrating with a meal consisting of Pep's famous German sausage and turkey with all the trimmings.

For one day out of the year, the community bustles with activity, welcoming neighbors from as near as Bula and as far away as Australia and Bovina.

They all come to share the good food and fellowship.

This year's festivities will include games for the kids, a country store filled with handmade crafts and homemade bread and other goodies.

A king-sized quilt, fashioned by the Pep community ladies, will be raffled off on Thanksgiving Day.

Special anniversary souvenirs and a special postmark also will be available.

A large tent will protect our neighbors from any unfavorable weather as they watch their favorite football team on the 31-inch TV to be raffled off.

The day will include an auction and raffles and will wind down with a country and western dance in the evening.

Make your plans now to come out to Pep, Texas and join us in the festivities.

For more information, contact Ida Simnacher, Anna Belle Walker and Tere Narramore.

Copley, Hurd united in marriage

LaTavia Dawn Copley and Colby Robert Hurd were united in marriage on Saturday, Sept. 2, in a garden wedding at the home of the groom's parents at 4701 21st St. in Lubbock. James Glasscock of Lubbock officiated at the ceremony.

LaTavia is the daughter of Glenda and Randol Copley of Muleshoe. Colby is the son of Linda and Dr. Howard P. Hurd II of Lubbock.

LaTavia is the granddaughter of Willie and Laverne James and Margie and W.T. Copley, all of Muleshoe.

Colby is the grandson of Bettye and Howard Hurd and Genevra and Robert Smith, all of Brownfield.

The couple stood before a lavishly decorated garden of flowers at the end of a tile runway. Behind the flowers, a white organdy drape was hanging, accented with hanging white wisteria blossoms.

Given in marriage by her father, LaTavia wore a white full length tight fitting satin gown, encrusted with pearls and lace. The off the shoulder sleeves, tapered to fit at the wrist in lace, were accented with pearls. The attached cathedral train flowed to a circle, edged with a tiny self ruffle, with a lace and pearl overlay.

The bride's veil consisted of a full length two-tier net veil, flowing from a crown of white roses and leaves, embellished with pearls and lace. She also wore white lace shoes.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, lilies and English ivy.

For something old, she wore a ring, borrowed from a friend's grandmother, Mrs. Loyd Beaty of Muleshoe. Something new was her dress. For something borrowed, she wore a garter borrowed from her aunt, Connie James of Muleshoe, and something blue was the traditional garter.

Matron of honor was Tami Ferrell of Lubbock, friend of the bride. She wore a classic, tight fitting, mid-calf length dress. It was accented with black Sutash embroidery on the bodice, with short off the shoulder cap sleeves. She carried double blossom long stem lilies, accented with strands of dangling English ivy.

Bridesmaids were Tiffany and LaRhonda Copley of Muleshoe, sisters of the bride. They each wore classic tight fitting black dresses with white collars at the yolk and ties at the waist in the back, with black shoes. They carried a single blossom long stem lily, enhanced by a single strand of dangling English ivy.

Flower girl was 15-month-old Dawna Kaye Hurd, niece of the groom. She wore a white organdy dress, with full skirt and puffed sleeves. She carried a brown woven basket, adorned with white ribbons and roses, filled with white rose petals.

The groom was attired in a black tux with tails, white shirt, black vest, cummerbund and bow tie. He wore a white rose boutonniere.

Best man was Howard P. Hurd, III, of Lubbock, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Dr. Howard P. Hurd, II of Lubbock, father of the groom; Aaron Moore, cousin of the groom, of Lubbock; and Adan Hernandez of Las Vegas, NV friend of the groom. They each wore black tuxes, white shirts, black cummerbunds and bow ties, and white rose boutonnieres.

The bride's attendant was Myles James, cousin of the bride. He assisted the bride and carried her train. He was attired to match the groomsmen.

Registering the guests was Marsha Wilson of Lubbock, friend of the bride. Jordan Pool, cousin of the bride, served as an usher. He was also attired to match the groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a short black one-piece dress, accented by a big white collar and black shoes. She wore a white rosebud corsage and carried a single blossom lily, with a dangling sprig of English ivy.

Mother of the groom wore a three-piece black suit, enhanced with sequins and black shoes. She also carried a single long stem lily and English ivy sprig, and wore a white rosebud corsage.

A string quartet, consisting of professors from Texas Tech University, provided music for the ceremony. They performed the "Wedding March," along with various "love song" selections through the entirety of the ceremony.

Hors d'oeuvres and champagne were served to guests, immediately following the wedding.

A reception luncheon followed the ceremony in the garden. Round tables, draped with white cloths, and black overlays, were placed throughout the garden to seat the guests.

Mrs. Colby Robert Hurd

Adorning the tables were fresh flower arrangements of white roses and stephanotis. A quiche buffet, served by Avante Caterers of Lubbock, consisted of various quiche, roast, an array of fruits and fondue, vegetable trays, condiments, and breakfast pastries.

The simple three-tiered white wedding cake, by KP Creations of Lubbock, was decorated with white ribbons and net. Double hearts and a bow with streamers stood behind the classic bride and groom, which topped the cake.

The two-tiered chocolate groom's cake stood beside the bridal cake on a long tile table. Gail Copley and Cheree Pierce, of Muleshoe, served cake and Ashley Pool served the punch.

The bride's travelling attire was a two-piece green pant suit, with sandals. The groom wore jeans and a striped dress shirt.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the County Line Restaurant in Lubbock on Friday, Sept. 1. Members of the wedding party and grandparents of the bride and groom attended.

LaTavia is employed at University Medical Center and Colby attends Texas Tech University.

Following a honeymoon trip to Orlando, FL, the couple with reside in Lubbock.

WISHBONE

"Prince of Fleas . . .
I Mean, Prince of Thieves."

With his uncanny knowledge of Shakespeare, Dickens, and Chekov, Wishbone — a little dog with a big imagination — is on his way to public television. Wishbone is a 40-episode series designed to introduce young people and their families to classic literature and develop an appetite for reading.

The half-hour, live-action series, designed primarily for children ages 6 to 11, stars Wishbone — portrayed by an endearing Jack Russell terrier — who serves as a canine bridge between contemporary life and classic literature.

In each episode, the escapades of Wishbone the dog help introduce a different literary classic. Some of his adventures include sailing a raging sea as Odysseus in a scene from Homer's The Odyssey, sniffing out clues as Sherlock Holmes in The Hound of the Baskervilles, or falling head-over-paws in love in William Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet.

Wishbone airs weekdays at 5:30 p.m. beginning Monday, October 9th on KENW-TV.

Trailside: Make Your Own Adventure

Trailside: Make Your Own Adventure, the critically-praised do-it-yourself guide to the great outdoors, launches its third season in October.

The series continues its mission to inspire everyone — from the hardcore enthusiast to the dedicated couch potato — to forge one's own outdoor adventure path, while providing knowledge to do it safely and responsibly.

In the penetrating season, Trailside treks through an endlessly daylit Iceland, backpacking by steaming geothermal vents through black lava deserts, over snow-capped peaks, and across endless rolling tundra.

The Appalachian Trail warrants a special two-part episode, as Trailside follows hikers along the 2,158-mile granddaddy of all footpaths. Host John Viehman finds out how hikers cope with the harsh conditions along America's oldest mountain range.

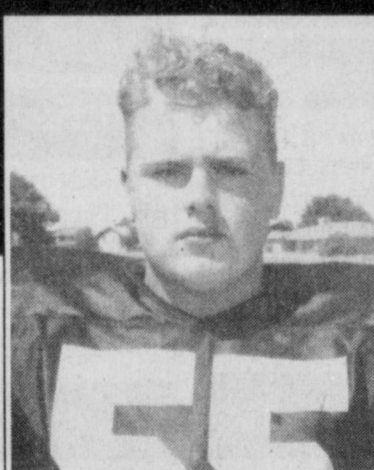

Also highlighted is an impossible bright blue kayak adventure in Exuma Cays Land and Sea Park in the Bahamas.

Trailside airs Sundays at 6:00 p.m. beginning October 8th. It repeats Mondays at 11:30 p.m.
