

All Around the Town by Mary Ann Sarchet

My husband lost his shirt at the meeting of the Panhandle Press Association!

It's a sad thing to relate publicly, but nevertheless it's true. Lots of publishers have had this misfortune during the history of newspapering, however most of them have not had it happen in exactly the same way.

During the convention at the Holiday Inn-West (formerly the Vie Mon) Friday and Saturday of last week, we heard a number of publishers who appeared on the program to share their wisdom, give their theories on newspaper management, operating in the black, editorial and news-writing.

Some of them, according to their own testimonies, have failed in business for one reason or another—but to my knowledge, none ever lost his shirt at a formal banquet!

Burrell Mallicote of Fort Worth entertained the almost 200 at the Friday evening banquet, and as his closing "trick" plucked the shirt from my husband's back and left him with his suit coat over his undershirt.

Mallicote is a talented magician, but does not earn his living as such. He is related to the newspaper industry in that he sells church and feature pages, mostly for daily newspapers. His abilities as a magician are quite clever, and even those who sat close as he performed his magic were unable to guess just how he accomplished it.

After the performance, as my husband grasped his bare neckline, I congratulated Mr. Mallicote. He told me very seriously that he has never charged for any of his performances, and does them solely for his own amusement and entertainment. He went on to say that he enjoys performing at the Scottish Rite Hospital, but that if he charged for his performances it would begin to seem like work and he would no longer enjoy it.

How few we find these days, who do such things for their pleasure only. It is refreshing to find such a person, among many who are so eager for the monetary profit that they lose sight of the pleasure to be gained from making others happy. I can think of nothing more rewarding than it must be for Mr. Mallicote to make the crippled children, in whose brief existence no real life has been known, laugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Ott Perkins, Jimmy and Jerry hosted a family reunion at their home in the Haylake community on Easter Sunday, and also celebrated the 29th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Perkins. Her mother, Mrs. Fether McLeland of Amarillo, all her grandchildren and great-grandchildren except two were together for the first time.

Children and families present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Stout and sons, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Stout and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otha Denham and Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. George Fry and Charlie McLeland and family, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Perkins, Floyd, Tommy and Kathy Faye.

Married grandchildren and families were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dell Roberts and family, Tulsa; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perkins and Faye Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perkins and family.

April Cancer Crusade Exceeds Voluntary Goal

As the April Crusade of the Briscoe County unit of the American Cancer Society ended Tuesday night, indications were that it was a successful one.

With final reports still to come in, Bill Griffin of Quitaque, Crusade Chairman said, "It looks like another good year in the Society's fight against cancer."

Mr. Griffin explained that volunteer workers were still turning in reports on contributions received in the Crusade. When they are all in, the final Crusade figure will be more than the goal set for Briscoe County. A total of $588.14 was tabulated in Silverton Tuesday night.

The chairman said that while final figures were not available, he was able to report that "more people were reached in Briscoe County with life-saving information than ever before."

While the 1963 Cancer Crusade has officially ended in Briscoe County, Mr. Griffin said he hoped that "those who did not make a contribution would do so now by sending a check to the American Cancer Society, c/o H. B. (Doc) Simpson, Silverton, Texas."

The chairman pointed out that the cancer problem was a continuing one that required continuing funds for research, education and service. "Until we bring cancer under control," he said, "there can be no letup."

The Crusade chairman, on behalf of himself and the Briscoe County unit, expressed gratitude to the people of Silverton for their "generous support in this humanitarian effort."

Guest speaker of the evening will be Joe Kerbel, coach of the West Texas State University Buffaloes. Several awards and presentations will be made during the evening.

All tickets must be purchased at least three days in advance of the banquet. No tickets will be sold at the door!

A number of improvements have been made at the ball park so far this spring. The fence and advertisements have been repainted and new 65' light poles.

Sam Brown, senior piano, voice and sacred music major, has been named to sing the tenor solos in Felix Mendelssohn's sacred cantata, "Hymn of Praise."

Brown was named by Dr. Euell Porter, director of the Baylor Freshman A Capella, Chapel and A Capella Choirs, and the Oratorio Chorus, to sing the tenor solos.

Also in the production will be three soprano soloists and the 200-voice Oratorio Chorus. The production will be at the 7th and James Street Baptist Church, Waco.

Brown's last appearance in a Baylor music production was this time last year when he sang the tenor solos in Haydn's "The Creation."

Unreated Wounds Hamper Screwworm Program In State

Screwworm cases now being reported in many counties throughout the area where sterile flies are being dispersed could lead to widespread infestation.

Reports being received by eradication officials indicate that many producers feel the program has progressed to a point that individual screwworm control measures are no longer required.

For that reason, eradication officials have issued an urgent appeal to producers, asking them to treat animals with approved smears and sprays that will prevent screwworm attacks.

C. G. Scruggs, president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, said recently it would be disastrous for anyone not to do all in his power to prevent the development of a screwworm case.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Vaughan and Doug were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Vaughan.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thornton and children of Lubbock and Ken Thornton, a student at Wayland Baptist College, were holiday visitors with their mother, Mrs. Georgia B. Thornton.

Scholarships are awarded for one-year on basketball ability and academic record compiled each year.

Girls planning to try out may stay in a college dormitory and eat in the dining hall as guests of Wayland College.

High school seniors with good academic records and a desire to play college basketball are urged to contact Wayland's director of athletics to make arrangements for the date.

Steps to Follow When You Have A Fire

Spring clean-up is aimed to get rid of all possible fire hazards around your home and farm.

The first rule is to get everyone out of the house the instant you discover or suspect a fire.

Next step is to go into action with your "first aid" fire fighting equipment—if you can do so without taking any unnecessary risks.

Extinguishers should be spotted in fire danger areas like home kitchens, barns, machine sheds and storage tanks of gasoline and kerosene.

Another good fire fighting tool is a garden hose. Even filled water buckets are useful.

Take these steps to a fire safe home and farm: 1. Get rid of stacks of old magazines and newspapers.

2. Check barns and outbuildings for similar trash, then clean up winter rubbish in the farmyard.

3. Clean up your machine shop—get rid of shavings, scraps, oily rags, old paints.

4. Clean up, oil and repair all electrical equipment and power machinery—home appliances, too.

Money that stands to be counted

A lot of Communist eyes are watching the financial strength of our government and of our people like hawks. That's because their leaders have said they would "bury us" economically — and they're waiting for it to happen.

It must be a continuing disappointment to them that, year after year, U.S. savers put or leave so much of their savings in the hands of our government, in U.S. Savings Bonds.

This stake that Savings Bond owners now have in the strength of our country is more than $45 billion — an all-time high.

And because savers can get their money back, with accumulated interest, when they need it, that's financial strength for millions of U.S. savers and their families.

Your dollars in Savings Bonds do stand up to be counted — by freedom's friends and foes alike — as a measure of the strength of our country and our people.

Help keep yourself and your country strong by regular buying of U.S. Savings Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from your bank.

Quick facts about U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

- You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bond matures • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed • You can get your money anytime • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Have you ever been away from home on a vacation or a business trip to the West or East coasts or anywhere very far away and noticed how indifferent the people were to their neighbors? Then when you came home did you not notice as you drew nearer and nearer how the people would automatically wave even as far away as a hundred miles? You knew they didn't know you; they couldn't possibly all know you. Yet, for some reason they paid you the small courtesy of waving a greeting to you.

Most people have accepted this habit and don't even notice it themselves as they do it. But those who travel through this country usually make mention of it. They notice how the people in this area, even the younger people, are eager to help anyone who seems to be having difficulty. Maybe you aren't proud of this reputation. If you aren't you ought to be kicked, because this is a part of the country, a way of life; in fact, this is one of the few places left where the individual is really SOMEONE, and even if you don't know them you respect their rights. This is the most painful of American customs, and one of the least observed. In larger cities people are lost in oblivion among the masses. They adopt the attitude that after all they probably won't see this person again, so why be courteous or helpful.

We are in fact representative of a dying custom. We are treasured for our quaint but very important habit of being interested in the aspirations of others. You think it doesn't help the feeling of the individual? You are wrong if you do, because we find in this big-hearted country little need for the weekly visit to the psychiatrist.

So think about it if you ever get tired of waving or offering help to those in need. You are an American and you must uphold America in the best way possible.

WHAT GOES ON UNDERNEATH?

by Sheila Jarnagin

Have you ever wondered why Susie Hill looks so stiff? Well, that's because she is!

Susie Hill

Since the beginning of this school year Susie has been encumbered with a back brace of one type or another. At first, right after her operation, Susie was clad in a 15-pound plaster cast. She carried that heavy burden for a about four months, or until Christmas.

Some Christmas present, you say? Well it sure was to Susie. After all, she could hardly wear any of her clothes, and couldn't do any lifting or stooping at all.

Her fellow students accused her of getting fat and making up excuses to hide the fact. But I can assure you that only part of the "blob" you saw was Susie.

Everyone discovered that she was telling the truth when the cast was replaced with a brace.

Everyone was happy for Susie, knowing how much lighter and more comfortable the brace was than her old autographed cast had been. She fit into her clothes better and could also get around better.

Susie is still wearing her brace, but not for long. After a terribly long school year Susie will finally be released from any type of back support. Her friends will be happy, her dates will rejoice, and above all, Susie will probably be the happiest person in the world.

Wouldn't you be?

Student Council Entertains Teachers

On Thursday morning of last week the Student Council members of Silverton High School entertained the high school faculty at a breakfast.

Student Council President Bill Schott welcomed the teachers, after which Sharon Weaver sang "April Showers" and the group heard piano selections by Susie Hill and Sharon Weaver.

A good group of teachers were present to eat with the Student Council.

The Art Of Being A Senior

by Bill Schott

For my entire life I have dreamed of being a senior. Seniors, I thought, were the greatest people on earth who had all the rights and privileges that were to be had. For eleven years I followed this dream believing it, trusting it, and nourishing it. Then I became a member of the wonderful group.

When this year began, I had great dreams of what I would like to do; however, things didn't go along as I had planned. It seems that the myth of the senior is just that, a myth. A senior is nothing special. Only a little older and less wise than he had ever been. It seems that when one becomes a senior he loses every bit of what sense he might have had before. He thinks he knows everything but it takes knowledge to show him how little he does know. Perhaps that is what the senior year was invented for.

You start that glorious year with an air of success, then things begin to slow down. You aren't the big shot you thought you would be. Just being a senior doesn't make you something. To be someone you must study, work and strive for a particular goal. You must try to set an example for others to follow. You must try to act grown up because you are expected to be grown up. Just wait until you are a senior, underclassmen, and you will see how hard it is.

Looking ahead and realizing what the future holds makes you want to grow up and be out in the world on your own. Then, looking back you suddenly realize all the things that you have missed while you have been in school and you try to cram them all into that one last year. In doing this you fail to act grown up but to crowd every bit of your spare time into activities with them.

Realizing that within a year you will be parted from the friends of a lifetime makes you want to enjoy their companionship that much more, so you try to crowd every bit of your spare time into activities with them. It is a difficult year but I am sure it is worth the effort. Perhaps I shall know by this time next year.

Attend Business Teachers' Conference

Mrs. Jack Mayfield and Mrs. O. C. Rampley attended the Eighth Annual Business Teachers' Conference on Saturday, April 6, at Texas Tech College.

Guest speaker for both morning and afternoon sessions was Howard L. Newhouse of New York City. Mr. Newhouse is a noted instructor of shorthand as well as a shorthand plate writer for the Gregg Publishing Company. He was a co-worker in making a revision in the shorthand system—the first major revision in Gregg Shorthand since 1949.

Mr. Newhouse encouraged all teachers of shorthand to accept the changes and begin teaching them as soon as texts are available. He recognized the hardship of re-learning that will be placed on teachers at first, but he stated that he felt the newly revised system is easier for students to master.

Mrs. Mayfield has begun her student teaching in the business department of Silverton High School and will remain here until the close of school. She will receive her Bachelor of Business Administration Degree in May.

A young couple decided to make a small garden in back of their house. After breakfast, the husband was sitting on the porch when his wife came around with a shovel saying, "Here, you know what to do with this."

Later she went out to see how he was getting along with the garden and found the shovel stuck in the ground, and this note attached: "Have worms, will fish."

Baruch—My Own Story

by Bernard Mannes Baruch

Bernard M. Baruch—one of the most remarkable men of our time—was an office boy at nineteen, a Wall Street partner at twenty-five, and a millionaire before he was thirty-five. For some men this success would mark the climax of a career; for Baruch it was only the beginning of a still greater one. In the fifty years since he made his first fortune, Bernard Baruch has been a trusted counselor of Presidents, an advisor on social and economic reforms, a statesman who has worked with two political parties and won the respect of both.

Mr. Baruch starts his story with a vivid account of his family background and boyhood in South Carolina and New York. He tells of the rewards and frustrations of his college years, and speaks with refreshing candor of the opportunities as well as the prejudices that existed in the time of his youth.

Discussing his experiences in Wall Street in its wildest and most exciting years, he recalls his relationships with the elder J. P. Morgan, Thomas Fortune Ryan, Edward Harriman, "Diamond Jim" Bradey, the Guggenheims, and "Bet a Million" Gates, and redefines the part they played in the sky-rocketing finances of that era. As for the part he himself played, Mr. Baruch describes in satisfying detail his financial coups and failures, and he sets forth the principles that guided each of his speculations and investments.

In this, the first volume of his memoirs, Mr. Baruch analyzes his personal philosophy and shows how it helped him solve the many problems that confronted him in his public life as chairman of the War Industries Board during World War I and as United States representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission. Informal yet penetrating, intimate yet never losing sight of major events and issues, BARUCH: MY OWN STORY is infused with the remarkable personality of a truly distinguished American.

This book has been recommended for the Junior class level of high school students.

"Don't let that worry you," consoled the teacher. "I have to stay here until I am 65."

PIMIENTO PANCAKES

By Betty Barclay

Pancakes make a wonderful lunch or supper dish. For something different, try them with a pimiento-cottage cheese filling. Make the pancakes large—a half cup of batter to the cake—and layer them generously with the pimiento-cottage cheese filling. Serve them in pie-shaped wedges. Use your favorite recipe for the pancakes or one of the packaged mixes.

- Pimiento-Cottage Cheese Filling
- 1 egg, beaten
 - 2 cups creamy cottage cheese
 - 1 jar or can (4 oz.) pimientos, drained and mashed
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - Dash cayenne
 - 1/4 teaspoon marjoram
 - 1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped.
 - or 6 tablespoons thick sour cream

Combine all ingredients in the top of a double boiler; heat over simmering water, stirring several times while heating. Spread mixture generously between pancakes, and pile on top if desired. Enough for 6 pancakes. Slices of cold chicken, ham or roast beef go well with this. Add a green salad with tart dressing, or a fruit salad—fresh or canned—and a beverage, and the meal is complete.

CHILLED CANNED BARTLETT PEARS STAR WITH RICH HAWAIIAN COOKIES

Light and fresh, with an elegance all their own, canned Bartlett pear halves are a perfect dessert. This sparkling fruit has a creamy, refreshing flavor with a provocative tang that makes it just right to complete a meal. Served with cookies, so rich and tender that they truly "melt in your mouth", this combination will do any hostess proud.

The gentle, light flavor of canned pear halves, so good for dessert or snack time, also lends distinction to many other interesting uses of canned pears. Meals glow when canned pears lead the way in a delectable appetizer salad. The versatile flavor of pears makes possible the use of either tart or sweet dressing for salads, allowing a canned pear salad to star in a variety of menus. Meat accompaniments become an exciting discovery when canned Bartlett pears are touched with sophistication and served with the entree.

Show off the beauty of chilled, canned pears in your prettiest crystal bowl and offer mellow Hawaiian Cookies for extra glory. Your family will request encores.

Dishes of Canned Pears with Hawaiian Cookies

Keep a can of Bartlett pear halves in the refrigerator, chilled and ready whenever the need arises for a quick, sparkling dessert.

Cookie Ingredients:

- 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup shortening
 - 2 cups sifted flour
 - 3 tablespoons sugar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 cup flaked coconut
- Cream butter and shortening until light and fluffy. Stir in flour and sugar until well blended. Add vanilla and coconut. Turn out on waxed paper and form into roll as for refrigerated cookies. Chill several hours or overnight. Slice cookies 1/4 inch thick and bake on ungreased baking sheet for 45 minutes in 275° oven. Remove cookies from cookie sheet, cool, and sift powdered sugar over cookies. Store carefully in air tight container; cookies will be very tender. Makes 3 dozen.

Prepared by American Foundation for Animal Health

Still going strong after 78 years. That's the sinister story of a group of livestock disease organisms known as Salmonella, now costing farmers many millions per year.

These organisms cause infectious enteritis in pigs. They also affect cattle, horses and sheep—and human beings, too. Needless to say, the farmer who values his profits needs to know about Salmonellae and how to deal with them.

Salmonellosis, as the infection is called, generally is more serious among young animals. This is the group in which most deaths occur. However, older animals may be affected also.

The infection usually occurs as an enteritis or intestinal disorder. In swine it is commonly referred to as "necro." The disease also may become a general infection throughout the animal's body, and, in pregnant animals it may cause abortion.

Poor sanitation or an inadequate diet or a combination of those factors have been found in many outbreaks. Salmonellosis symptoms may include scouring, weakness and a tendency to lie down. But these also may be symptoms of some other diseases. That is one reason why a veterinarian should be called when the signs are noticed so the exact cause of the sickness can be determined and the right treatment started.

Fortunately, veterinarians can now treat Salmonellosis quite successfully. But, one of the stubborn problems with this disease is that recovered animals may remain carriers unless there is a vigorous follow-through program. Such a program should include strict sanitation, adequate diet, proper housing and protection of animals from extreme environmental stresses.

The only real answer to Salmonellosis is a constant alert for tell-tale signs, prompt and vigorous treatment, and a thorough follow-up program.

Cookies From Spain Make A Party Dessert

by June Ashley

In striving to serve a spectacular dessert whenever guests are expected, many of us overlook the simple yet elegant ones. We forget about pears and cheese, for example; or a good lime sherbet garnished with seedless green grapes or honeydew melon balls. One of the most acceptable desserts we know is a rich homemade cookie served with good black coffee. One suggestion is Galletas, which are cookie twists typical of ones found in Spain.

Lemon Galletas (Cookie Twists, Madrid Style)

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup Mazola margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar

Sift flour and salt together. Cream corn oil margarine and sugar; add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in flour mixture and grated lemon rind. Drop a generous tablespoonful of dough onto well floured board and form into a roll about six inches long. Fold roll in half and twist halves around each other. Place on greased baking sheet. Repeat until all dough is used. Combine milk and sugar; brush on tops of twists. Bake in 350°F. (moderate) oven 20 minutes or until twists are light golden brown. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen large cookies.

Lemon Galletas: Follow recipe for Lemon Galletas sifting cinnamon with flour and salt and omitting lemon rind.

TEXAS COTTON GROWERS REPORT:

Entire Season Control of Thrips, Aphids and Mites...

Di-Syston Treated Plants Are Stronger, Straighter ... Produce More Squares Earlier

West Texas and New Mexico cotton growers now have a new way to control thrip damage and early-season stunting... with Di-Syston granular insecticide. Di-Syston is placed in the soil with the seed or side dressed after planting. The chemical is then absorbed by the growing roots and carried to all parts of the plant through the sap stream—as soon as the plant emerges. No part of the plant is unprotected—even tender new growth as it is formed.

The result? With Di-Syston, your early cotton grows faster, has stronger, straighter stems, more vigorous foliage. Squares form earlier and the plant produces more of them. Many growers in the Lubbock area have reported full season control of thrip with just the one application. You get higher yields because of the good Di-Syston start. This year, get your crop off to a good start with Di-Syston. Complete instructions for use are printed on the label on every package. Use Di-Syston.

SOUTHERN JOURNEYS
128-page travel guide—Enjoy Our Wonderful Southland More

The 128-page travel book is presented by the Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers of the South. It is a carefully selected compilation of the outstanding Southland travel articles published during the past fifteen years in Ford Times, Lincoln-Mercury Times, and The Continental Magazine. The authors and artists, many of whom are Southerners, have depicted their area of the country in a way that makes fascinating reading. Southern Journeys is a useful travel guide, for in its pages the car owner finds the Southland's best known historic shrines and travel attractions, the little known by-paths leading to long remembered family vacations, and a listing of recommended restaurants of the South; all proving that there's something for everyone to enjoy in our wonderful Southland... the year 'round.
