Gene Morris the most unpopular pharmacist in town—with a few of only customers, that is. Being the would have been a lot nicer to to have said that he was the most popular one it town, but he has taken many a tongue lashing the past few days.

You see, about this time last year he decided that it would be a good promotion for Morris Pharmacy if he kept a record for tax purposes of all deductible items purchased by his customers through the year. This he has done, posting a record every nay for every customer who purchase items which can be deducted on page two of individual income tax returns.

As the old year ended, he ordered the News office to print forms on which he could write a summary of each account, broken down into five groups, to be mailed to each customer along with a letter of explanation and examples of items which are deductible.

No sooner had customers received the statements than he was swamped with class at the drug store by irate customers who thought he was billing them for amounts due. Some of the customers were cash customers who never charge at Morris Pharmacy.

Very patiently he has explained to each one. At first he began to wonder what ever possessed him to start it at all. After about thirty or forty complaints he found that he was able to smile again. I think he is even continuing the service for 1964.

Japan Removes All Grain Import Restrictions

Japanese Minister of Agriculture, Munenori Akagi, announced in Tokyo recently that import restrictions were removed from U. S. Grain Sorghum effective January 11. Pat Northcutt, president of the Briscoe County Grain Sorghum Producers said that work such as this toward removing barriers against grain sorghum in International Markets is an important phase of the Association's program for producers.

Bill Nelson, Executive Vice President of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association in Amarillo, said that negotiations for the forward step in Japan have been underway since 1960, and were finalized recently by Bill Hattori, the Association's representative in Japan through the U. S. Feed Grains Council. Nelson said this now means that Japan feed manufacturers can import any amount of any type and quality of grain sorghum they wish without a licence or protective duty being required by the Japanese Government. In the past, because U. S. Grain Sorghum had been cheaper than some local grown feed grains and potatoes and beet products for the manufacture of alcohol, both duties and quantity restrictions had been in effect to protect local producers of those commodities.

Since market development work was started in Japan by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association the export market there has increased from zero in 1960 to 100,000 tons in 1961, 300,000 tons in 1962, 500,000 tons in 1963, and 800,000 tons is in prospect for the 1964 market year.

World exports of grain sorghum reached the record level of 112 million bushels in 1963, up some 10 million bushels over the previous year.

DEAR EDITOR:

I was reminded once again of Silverton's rather unusual telephone service during the holidays when I picked up that little black instrument and heard that familiar gurgling sound.

I knew General Telephone was still on the job.

And if it hadn't been for that familiar sound in the receiver, I would instantly have known that General Telephone was still in the area by the fact that it took the operator approximately five minutes to answer her ring.

Of course, she could have been on her lunch hour, although 4:30 in the afternoon does seem like a strange time to be having lunch. Or it could have been coffee break time, but it seems strange that no one was left to answer calls.

And ah! the blessings of equipment that goes on the blink every-time it rains, snows, drizzles, sleet or even looks cloudy. There's nothing like good, dependable, 1909 equipment to keep telephone service in tip-top shape!

But at least General Telephone's service here is consistent.

Senate Weighs, House Votes Fallout Shelters

The Nation's military leaders gave strong support to an expanded fallout shelter program in recent testimony before a special subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Speaking for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Earle G. Wheeler, Army Chief of Staff, backed a House-passed bill authorizing Federal support for 11 million more fallout shelter spaces. He told the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington:

"A FALLOUT PROTECTION-oriented civil defense is clearly a necessary element of the total United States national security effort. Our potential enemies have a clear capability for nuclear warfare, and we cannot discount the possibility that such a war may occur. . . . An adequate program of civil defense should give our population a reasonable degree of protection as well as increasing the credibility of our military deterrent posture."

General Thomas S. Power, Commander-in-Chief of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command, sent a statement to the subcommittee describing civil defense as "one of the most important aspects of our overall deterrent posture."

The Senate subcommittee's hearing on the pros and cons of the fallout shelter bill was completed in December, 1963. If committee and Senate action to authorize the program is favorable, as it was in the House, Steuart L. Pittman, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civil Defense, has indicated that he will seek a supplemental appropriation from Congress to get the program underway.

THE BILL would amend the Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950 to:

1. Enable the Federal Government to contribute up to $25 per individual shelter space to incorporate public fallout shelters for about 10 million persons in buildings owned by nonprofit institutions, such as schools, hospitals, and state and local government facilities. It authorizes, but does not appropriate, $175 million in this fiscal year toward the program.

2. Require incorporation of public fallout shelters in most new and existing Federal structures. The bill authorizes $15.6 million in this fiscal year to shelter about a million persons.

3. Remove Federal legal restrictions on the use of state and local civil defense personnel and equipment, established with Federal financial aid, in meeting natural disasters.

The bill was passed by a voice vote in the House after a move to send the measure back to committee was defeated 172 to 67. Its passage came after the House Armed Services Committee had approved the bill by a 32-4 vote, with nearly all members reversing their stand on fallout shelters after comprehensive testimony last summer from 108 witnesses.

In floor debate, the bill was widely backed, including speeches by Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

FIRST SUPPLIES for fallout shelter areas in Puerto Rico are loaded aboard a van at Brooklyn, N. Y., Army Terminal for shipment to San Juan. The civil defense food, water, medical and sanitation supplies, and radiation detection kits, when over 200 vansloads are placed in shelter areas, will be enough for about 250,000 persons for 14 days in fallout shelters. Dept. of Defense Photo

Classes Vote to Have Exchange Student in 1964-65

The time has arrived when a decision must be made regarding an American Field Service student in Silverton High School next year.

The Student Council presented the question to the high school classes shortly before the Christmas holidays, and every class voted in favor of having an exchange student next year and made their vote worthwhile by making a cash contribution to the A.F.S. fund. At the Christmas party students and faculty members donated to the A.F.S. Fund rather than exchanging gifts.

Students have contacted various civic clubs and individuals about their desires in the matter. Century of Progress Study Club, and possibly others, has already voted to help with the next A.F.S. project. The students know that if they do not have the support of their parents, merchants, clubs and community they cannot carry out a project which costs approximately $1,000.00.

The students hope that everyone will have an opportunity to know Masako Nakabe while she is here. She has spoken to the high school assembly, and is going to speak to the March of Time Study Club, to the Lions Club in January, and to the Century of Progress Study Club in February. She is scheduled to appear before the L.O.A. Junior Study Club in March.

If you would like to have Masako visit your home, club or other group, let her know; or contact the Student Council or Mrs. A. L. Redin, and arrangements will be made for the visit. The A.F.S. chapter wants you to know Masako and wants her to know you, so that she will learn as much as possible about the United States, Texas, and especially the people of Silverton before she returns to Japan next summer.

At the present there is $267.91 in the A.F.S. fund. The Student Council hopes to be able to contribute $200 which would bring the total to almost half the amount needed.

Our destinies are decided by chance but by choice—choice.

Owls Having Tourney Success

New Year's Eve found the Owls doing battle with birds of the same nature but from a different locale. The Hedley Owls, having dominated District II-B and having enjoyed success in the regional tournament, hosted the local basketballers. They proved to be gracious but unkind hosts as they dropped the local girls' squad 39-30 and pushed the boys' five to the limit before giving way by a 47-43 margin.

Two days later, the Owls and Owlettes traveled to the city of "Hud" fame, Claude, to show their wares in the North Plains Tourney. The Owlettes sprang to the consolation bracket with an explosive boost from the Spearman Lynxettes 55-30.

This was identically the same team that beat our girls last year. The Owlettes regained their composure and dropped Groom by a 56-43 count to enter the consolation finals. In the consolation finals, Jealea Eddleman, Pat Cagle, Margaret Minyard, Sharon Weaver, Martha Mills and Tena Williams displayed championship form in downing the firedup host team, Claude, by a 33-32 score for the third place trophy.

The Owls flexed their wings to glide over Turkey in their first tourney game by a 61-45 margin. They were then matched with one of the most successful teams in the Panhandle, Miami. Miami lost in the regional finals last year by

Soil Conservation Essay Contest Open

The 19th annual Fort Worth Press Soil Conservation Essay Contest is now open in Briscoe County. The contest provides an opportunity for local boys and girls to earn $200 for writing in 300 words or less on the subject of soil conservation. The title chosen for the essays this year is "Youth's Stake in Conservation."

Besides the $200 first prize, there are 50 trophies and medals for other winners. First place winner in Briscoe County will receive $10.00. The second place county winner will receive 7.50, and the third place winner will receive $5.00.

Contestants should study soil conservation, and then write how soil and water conservation can affect their future. The point is not to try to tell what conservation is or how to conserve the land, but how conservation will help now and in the future.

Entries are to be turned in to the Briscoe County News office on or before February 1, 1964. A committee of three judges will select the essays for which the prizes will be given. The winning county entries will be submitted to the Fort Worth Press by the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District for statewide judging.

The Beginning of a New Semester

by Mary Monroe

A week like this one will come only once more this year. Colleges call it "dead week" but in S.H.S. it is referred to as "semester exam week." Today the school is starting the tests that check to see how much each student has learned during the first semester.

Some have found that they didn't study hard enough, while others seem to have studied a sufficient amount. The latter do not have the worry that the others do.

No matter which category you belong in, you probably have found yourself restricted at home because of the tests. Perhaps it was your parents who coaxed you to stay at home, or maybe you did it of your own free will.

Of course, there are always some who don't care. These students are usually riding around town every night, taking one book or no books home from school, and having the general attitude that they are forced to go to school instead of it being a privilege. These are usually the ones who do not pass their semester exams; thus, they usually end up a year or two behind their own class and eventually become "drop-out statistics." If they had studied regularly during school their semester tests, as well as other school work, would have been easier.

Now that a new semester is starting, each student should try to do his very best to achieve the grades he really desires. He must never forget that behind good grades are hard work and lots of studying.

SILENCE

The Philosopher
You have no doubt heard the statement, "Silence is golden." I agree with that, but apparently some people don't. Just listen some time, and see.

You'll find that some people talk all the time, whether they have anything to say or not (and usually they don't). You would think they would run down eventually, but somehow they don't. (You can tell when they are around by the brisk breeze.)

Then, of course there are those who seldom say anything. You begin to appreciate them. They may not say much, but when they say something, it's usually worth hearing.

I'm not advocating sealed lips and a frozen tongue. I'm just

THE LUNCH PERIOD

The question asked students this week was "Do you think our 12:00 to 12:30 lunch period is long enough?" Here are various opinions expressed.

MAX GARRISON: I'm undecided because if it were longer we would probably have to go to school until 3:45 or 4:00. However, I would like to have a longer lunch period so as to have a little more of a break between classes.

WALTER DUNHAM: No! Because you do not have time to eat, and after you eat you do not have time to get your books and get to your class.

ELAINE BOYLES: Sometimes I think it is long enough and other times I think it isn't. If you go to town for lunch, it isn't long enough. If you stay at school there is nothing to do and you have plenty of time.

JIMMY MYERS: No, I think we should have a longer lunch period. But trying to arrange this creates problems. We would have to stay longer in the afternoon or come earlier in the morning. The senior boys wouldn't mind donating part of the third period to extend the lunch hour.

JANICE LEWIS: No I don't. The ones go home have to rush around to get back in time for class. Those going to town must rush there and back stuffing their food down while running. That just leaves one alternative—to eat in the lunchroom—doesn't it?

SHARON MARTIN: No, I don't think it is quite long enough. You just have time to eat and barely do that. And when you get back you have just time to find _____ and then the bell rings. And those who walk to town just have time to run to run to make it back in time for class! Also it isn't long enough for the teachers because they eat so slow.

THE OWL'S ROOST

by Mary Monroe

The Rampleys have a new dog at their house. They got him about the time Mr. Rampley left for an administrator's conference in Austin. Some of the students have been wondering if Mrs. Rampley traded Mr. Rampley off for the dog.

The Sweetheart Banquet should make everyone feel right at home this year since the theme is "Devil's Paradise."

And boys, if you see a girl looking you over from head to toe, don't feel self-conscious; she is probably just trying to decide how you would look in a suit, and if she wants to ask you to the banquet.

If you want to see someone embarrassed, just ask Roger or Walter Carl if they have been in any wrong houses lately?

trying to say what Solomon did in the Book of Proverbs. "There is a time to speak and a time to keep silent."

two points to McAdoo, the eventual state champion. According to Miami coach, Laurence Overcast, this year's team can beat teams that the last year's regional finalist team could not. They had already won two tournaments and had lost only two ball games.

The Owls outplayed the Warriors at their own game, deliberate offense, and wound up an upset victor by a 39-38 score. Miami almost pulled the game out cutting a six point lead to the one point final margin in the last 44 seconds.

The Owls then lost a wide margin to the Quitaque Panthers in the tournament finals by a 78-42 count. The Quitaque team scored 33 field goals as they constantly outraced their smaller Owl opponents.

This final tournament action found the Owlettes in possession of a third and a second place trophy. The Owls have captured three second place trophies being beaten three times in tournament finals.

Following the Claude Tournament, the Silverton Owlettes averaged two previous losses to the Hedley girls by downing them in the local gym by a 45-42 count. Tena Williams led the way with 28 points.

The Owls made it two out of three over the Hedley boys, 43-42, with a basket by Dennis Tomlin in the last four seconds. Fred Stafford was high individual with 18 points. He was supported by Ike Bruton who pulled down 12 rebounds before fouling out. Surprisingly enough, this same Hedley team led the powerful Quitaque Panthers for three quarters of three ball games before finally falling.

Presently the Owls and Owlettes own identical 12- won and 6-lost records.

Texas 4-H Members Cited For Best-in-State Projects

Three high school juniors, who have been honored for their 4-H leadership, received additional honors in 1963 for their individual club projects.

Joe Bob Watson, 17, Silverton; Judy Caldwell, 17, Panhandle; and Billy Don Rives, 16, Twitty, winners of Gold Star and leadership awards, have been selected by the Cooperative Extension Service for 1963 best-in-state honors.

Watson received an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago for his efforts in the 4-H Tractor program. He was the guest of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, the award sponsor.

Miss Caldwell and Rives were girl and boy winners in the 4-H Public Speaking program sponsored by the Pure Oil Company. Miss Caldwell's award was a chest of silverware. Rives received a 19-jewel wrist-watch.

Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Obra Watson, has carried the tractor project for four years. This past year he planned and conducted a tractor school in the absence of a county agent.

Watson is Briscoe County 4-H Council co-chairman and has received an agricultural progress award.

Miss Caldwell is the daughter of the Harrison T. Caldwell's who operate a 1,200-acre ranch. She gave her winning speech on "Education—Our Heritage." Last year she won a state blue ribbon with her speech, "Who Owns the World?"

Watson

Miss Caldwell has narrated the district dress revue and served as mistress of ceremonies at the 4-H achievement banquet. She was judged the best actress in District 1-A one-act play contest, and this past year was awarded membership in the Producers Grain Corporation 4-H Talent Club.

"I would take nothing for the self-confidence and poise my public speaking experiences have given me," Miss Caldwell stated. "It has affected my school work . . . themes are easier to write and organize."

Miss Caldwell is secretary of the Carson County 4-H Council and president of Panhandle Community 4-H Club. She served as 4-H youth representative in the Carson County Program Building Committee.

Miss Caldwell

Rives

Rives presented the ideals of Americanism in his winning speech. He has won several district public speaking contests in addition to first-place in the Panhandle Hereford Breeders speech contest.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rives who operate a 2,360 acre ranch, Rives is Wheeler County 4-H Council vice chairman and Shramrock 4-H Club president. He was chosen to represent Wheeler County at Texas Farm Bureau leadership seminar.

MY EPITAPH

When I die, don't bury me at all. Just place my bones in a study hall.

Place my books upon my chest, And tell Mr. Rampley that I am at rest.

Tell my mother I tackled the test, But semester exams can take the best.

Tell Rocky Curby to please not grieve, For my chemistry credit to him I leave.

He can also have my English III. This for being such a friend to me. And my last thought, as I leave "every care".

I wonder if there will be books up there.

Junior Jabber

by Pat Cagle

The Junior class held a meeting during activity period recently, and discussed plans for the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Candidates nominated for Students-of-the-Month were Pat Cagle and Rocky Curby.

Straight From The Shoulder

by Lester L. Grabbe

What is your concept of "good English"? Whatever it is, you may want to revise that concept after you read this article. Good English is not necessarily the formal English taught in conventional textbooks.

First of all I want to make clear that you don't conform to a living language to rules of grammar. Does that sound strange? Derived from the language. Scholars study a language and reduce it to a set of basic rules. The all grammar is—just these rules. But as the language changes with use, as it will, the rules or grammar must be changed to conform with usage.

Often grammarians make a mistake of trying to keep a language static and unchanging, trying to keep it conformed to the rules they have set up for it. To do this, they say, "to keep a language pure and undegenerated."

But languages don't degenerate—they change. Those in favor of "pure" English should go back speaking old English, or real Indo-European (the original language from which English, Latin, Greek, German, Russian, and many other modern European languages come).

Actually, certain taboos (which most grammarians are dropping now such as split infinitives and ending sentences with prepositional phrases) were devised by grammarians who studied Latin and then tried to apply its grammar to English.

Am I saying that there is such thing as correct and incorrect English? Far from it! "Correct" English is the English used by the majority of educated speakers. The book, BETTER ENGLISH by Norman Lewis, makes this clear.

Thus expressions correct may not have been correct a century ago, and vice versa. The word ain't was correct in the past, is not correct now, but it may be in the future. It just depends on current usage.

How, then, can you learn what is acceptable and what is not? First of all, a good dictionary, recent writing or revision will give explanations of different words and phrases. Also, A DICTIONARY OF CONTEMPORARY AMERICAN USAGE is very good. It is the previously mentioned BETTER ENGLISH, by Norman Lewis.

Above all, remember that language is a tool to be used—not a master to make a slave of us.

Exam Prayer

Now I lay me down to rest,
Before I take tomorrow's test,
If I should die before I wake,
Thank Heaven, I'll have no test to take.

OLD TEXAS CAPITOL — An artist's sketch of the first permanent Capitol Building of the Republic of Texas in Houston is featured on a "First Day Cover" produced by the Rice Hotel for use with the 5-cent Sam Houston Commemorative Stamp. Houston, capital city of the Republic of Texas when Sam Houston was president, has been selected by the U. S. Post Office Department as the place of first day issue for the stamp on January 10. The Rice Hotel, where official dedication ceremonies are scheduled, rests on the site of the first Capitol Building. Stamp collectors and historians who desire copies of the First Day Cover, or cacheted envelope, can secure them without charge by writing Max Peck, general manager of the Rice Hotel.

Buyer... vs. Seller

COPYRIGHT 1956 D. E. SCOTT

Most of us lead a double life.

One minute we're a BUYER. The next minute we're a SELLER . . . of goods, services, time, or talents.

Of course, there's some incompatibility in a Buyer-Seller combination. About like you'd expect in a dog-and-cat mixture.

Consequently, we sometimes get to playing our part as Mr. Buyer with such enthusiasm we forget that our other self, Mr. Seller, has to put dollars in our pocket before our Mr. Buyer self can spend them out of it.

And every time we, as Mr. Buyer, take one of those dollars out of circulation here by spending it out of town, we shrink Mr. Seller's market so it's a little harder for him to get us some more dollars.

It's too bad we don't get more teamwork out of our two personalities. When Mr. Buyer is cutting Mr. Seller's throat, we need to recall that they are both using the same throat.
