Grain Sorghum Freights Reduced To West Coast

Grain sorghum rail freight rates from the High Plains to the West Coast for export are to be lowered from the current level of 80½ cents per hundred down to 55 cents per hundred. The California domestic rate remains unchanged at 60½ cents per hundred. Provisions for the new rate were authorized by the Executive Committee of the Trans-Continental Freight Bureau meeting in Chicago this week. An effective date for implementing the reduction in the rate will be announced as soon as the railroads have an opportunity to publish new rate schedules.

Bill Nelson, Executive Vice President of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association commended the individual railroads for this action through their Bureau. Nelson said the old 80½ cent per hundred rate had been prohibitive to the West Coast movements of grain sorghum for export even though users in Japan—the World's largest cash buyer for U. S. sorghum, had been interested in West Coast purchases. West Coast ports are 20 days closer to Japan than Gulf ports and ocean freight savings average $4.00 per ton. He said that the combination of savings in ocean freight and reduced rail rates will now make it possible for Japan and other Far East grain buyers to have a choice as to point of delivery of area grain sorghum. He also added that in times of stress such as the recent Panama incident, the new rate may make a difference as to whether the foreign buyers have access to grain at all or not.

According to Nelson, the Grain Sorghum Producers Association had requested a 54½ cent rate on a permanent basis in 110,000 pound cars. The announcement is for a 55 cent rate on a one-year trial basis with 130,000 pound cars minimum. He said that oversized car requirement will not be a serious problem if the railroads will step up efforts to make such equipment available which has up to now been in short supply.

Elbert Harp, farmer-President of GSPA, said that work such as this on freight rates by the Association is part of the overall research market development and service program for grain sorghum by farmers themselves to better their position. Such work has pushed grain sorghum exports from a mere 22,000 million bushels annually in 1956 to over 112 million bushels now and resulted in stronger cash prices to area farmers.

Meeker Services Held In Oregon

Funeral services for Edith Smith Meeker were held Sunday, May 10, in a Baptist Church in Medford, Oregon, with burial there beside her husband, the late Lloyd Meeker, who preceded her in death January 1, 1960. Mrs. Meeker had returned to her home in Oregon only recently after having visited local relatives for four months. She suffered a heart attack May 3, and died of a stroke on Friday, May 8.

Mrs. Meeker was born March 1, 1895, in Batesville, Arkansas, and came to Silverton with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, five brothers and five sisters in 1897 at the age of 2½. She united with the local Baptist Church while young and was active in the church wherever she lived, serving as secretary of her Sunday School Class at the time of her death. She was married to Lloyd Meeker here in 1915. Two sons, Al and Leland, were born here. They lived at Tulia before moving to Los Angeles, California, where another son, Gene, was born. Later the family moved to Medford.

Survivors include three sons, Al and Gene of San Gabriel, California, and Leland of Medford; three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Sedgwick of Montgomery, Alabama, Mrs. Cora Donnell of Silverton and Mrs. Ed McMurtry of Tulia; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Meeker had been a nurse in hospitals and private homes for 20 years. She made many friends wherever she went. She always came when she could to help her sick Texas relatives. She was always met in Amarillo by thoughtful nephews, who also returned her there for the return trip home by train when her visit was completed.

Mrs. Luke Thompson underwent surgery in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo last Friday. Mr. Thompson visited her Monday evening, and reported that she is doing fine.

Quitauque who were present to voice their disapproval at the outcome of the election.

Protests were lodged by Quitauque residents on a number of grounds. Those present stated that they do not need or want a hospital, and that they intend to try to block the building of a hospital in any way they can.

The applications for Hill-Burton funds will be reviewed next September, and it is expected that the Briscoe application will be approved.

Herbicides Should Be Applied Properly

Herbicides can be useful tools for controlling weeds if they are properly applied. But Briscoe County Agent Leon Grosdidier warns that improper application can cause crop damage and lawsuits from neighbors.

To get satisfactory results from herbicides, Grosdidier says to follow the directions on the label as approved by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "These directions should be followed exactly," he said. To avoid chemical drift onto susceptible broadleaf plants, make application only when wind velocity is below 10 m.p.h. All herbicide users are urged to have some type of wind gauge in the field so they can know when conditions become dangerous.

Low volatile or amine salt formulations are safest. They do not vaporize or drift as much as the high volatile formulations. The county agent gave these three rules for applying herbicides:

1. Use chemicals only on crops for which they are recommended.
2. Use only the quantity called for on the label.
3. Apply the chemicals only at time recommended on the label.

Application for the creation of a hospital district will follow in January or February, 1965. The application will have to be approved by the State Legislature in regular session before Briscoe County can vote on the creation of a hospital district.

This Business Of "Keeping Up"

It's becoming harder to keep up with the Joneses. This was emphasized dramatically by the Internal Revenue Service's nationwide study of income tax returns filed in 1962.

More than seven million people with incomes of over $10,000 filed returns, an increase of 18 percent in this income bracket over the previous year.

There were also 834,000 more returns with incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 than in the previous year—and this income bracket represented more than one-third of the total returns with incomes of less than $5,000 continued to decline as they have each year since 1948.

Strange Things Happen At This 'Farm'

A time exposure caught this evening winter scene at Allis-Chalmers proving grounds. Tractor lights are recorded as ribbons of white light as the unit circles the one-third mile long track. The tractor drags four heavily weighted units on a round the clock clutch breakdown test. Drawbar loads averaging 16,000 pounds are applied every 30 seconds as the test piles on hundreds of hours.

FRANKSVILLE, Wis. — On a "farm" near here, equipment leads a dog's life. One look and an outsider begins wondering if these "farmers" stayed awake nights thinking of new ways to abuse the rigs.

For example, one tractor busily runs back and forth hauling a disc harrow over a pile of rocks and frozen ground.

On a nearby treadmill, a crawler tractor churns away for days on end going nowhere. Another tractor drives a huge fan from its power-take-off. Across the way, a tractor flexes its hydraulic muscles as it picks up and drops a big stack of cast iron wheel weights over and over again.

On part of a test track called the "rough course," an operator bounces high as he pilots a tractor across four inch steel piping.

A technician works on an experimental plow, "wiring it for sound." He attaches strain gauges which act like sensitive fingers to feel stresses on plow frames and bottoms. Data recorded on graph paper helps engineers design better equipment.

These are a few of the scenes at Allis-Chalmers 200 acre "farm" where engineers harvest "bumper crops" of better equipment. Here, they test performance of equipment of the production line, as well as experimental units.

Often, their approach is as subtle as a battering ram. But each test is conducted with specific goal in mind.

Pulling disc harrows over rocks and frozen turf, engineers found, is about the worst way to treat disc blades. Breakdown runs on the treadmill put plenty of load on the tractor power train, while testing wheel weights is a severe test of hydraulic lift systems.

The tractor whipping up the air with the big fan is really straining. The fan blades are adjusted to soak up all the horsepower the engine turns out.

The "rough course" test, while it's a real kidney shaker, far exceeds the wear and tear on wheels, axles and drive shafts when a tractor is driven over frozen corn rows.

Tough work and round the clock operations pile on engine hours in a hurry. One of the first seven ton D-21 tractors in 1963 was turned over to engineers at the "farm." After less than six months of rigorous testing, it accumulated enough engine hours to equal four years' work on the average farm.

Stan Beaves, the man in charge of product development, said this sort of testing is a year round program. But during the growing season units move into the field. Every spring real farm neighbors from miles around stand in line at the proving grounds office to offer the use of their land.

When fall weather calls a halt to field work in the north, equipment is moved to a facility near San Antonio, Tex. There, field testing continues through the winter months.

Field testing implements is a snap compared to harvesting equipment. Beaves pointed out. For one thing, harvest time is short — only a few weeks for some crops.

And the equipment is expected to perform equally well in all parts of the country where crop varieties, yields, humidity, temperature and local farm practices vary widely.

These factors necessitate a testing program including virtually all conditions and crops. Before a new forage harvester was marketed, for example, it had to be tried in all kinds of hay from Arizona to New York. Engineers took the machine to Washington and they worked in Florida and several mid-western states.

They put a new baler through its paces in Missouri, Tennessee, Nebraska, Montana, Minnesota and Texas after it left the proving grounds.

Each year engineers with big Gleaner combines try out new ideas in design as they harvest the golden wheat from Texas north into the Pacific Northwest and the Canadian prairies.

Testing equipment is a full time job for a battery of Allis-Chalmers engineers and technicians. The whole idea — to give farmers more quality for their equipment dollar.

A mobile laboratory crammed with gear "electrocardiographs" a Gleaner combine working in an Indiana cornfield. Delicate electronic fingers take the "pulse" of the machine. Complex circuitry records the amount of power required to run fans, elevators and other parts.

Star-spangled savings plan

Most of us think about the future in terms of paying off the mortgage, educating the children, providing a retirement income.

But with the world the way it is today, it's almost impossible to make plans for your own future without considering the future of your country, too.

When you buy U. S. Savings Bonds, your money takes on both jobs. It grows to build your financial strength.

At the same time, it helps Uncle Sam watch over our peace and security.

Why not give your savings dollars this double assignment? You'll be joining millions of American families who are investing in their country's future — and you'll probably feel pretty good about it.

It's easy to buy Savings Bonds on the Payroll Plan where you work. A $50 Bond costs $37.50, a $25 Bond $18.75, and you can buy them in installments for only a few dollars a pay day. Or buy them outright at any bank. No charge for the service.

Buy Series E Bonds for growth, Series H for current income.

- Some nice things about Series E Bonds
- You get 3 1/4% more money when they mature
 - You can defer the tax on accumulated interest until the Bonds are cashed
 - You can get your money when you need it
 - Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed, or stolen

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

LINDA FISCH PARTICIPATES IN STATE TYPING CONTEST

Linda Fisch was not one of the top winners in the State Typing Competition in Austin last week, but turned in a nice paper with 33.38 net words per minute for the 10-minute writing. The first place winner typed 62.32 NWPM, second place 40.32, and third place 33.76 NWPM.

The test was administered to approximately 40 contestants from Class B, A, AA, AAA and AAAAA schools. As officials collected the papers, they were divided into regions for grading purposes. The Class A region, of which Silvertown is a member, turned in the highest scores for the entire state. Had Linda been from a Class AAA school, her paper would have placed third. Final scores were based on a composite grade of NWPM plus per cent of accuracy.

Talent Presented in Assembly

A group of Silvertown High School girls gave a musical variety program for the assembled student body and faculty on Wednesday, May 6. Instead of the usual Pledge of Allegiance to the flag repeated in unison and a student prayer, the pledge and prayer both were sung by Sharon Weaver, Paula Turner and Dianne Davis, accompanied by Jerry Garrison at the piano.

students who are capable of competing on the state level in many areas of learning if they were willing to discipline themselves and put forth the effort necessary to prepare themselves. Although we would have preferred to have brought home a medal, we are proud to know that Linda is one of the top 40 typists to come from the hundreds of typing students who are enrolled in schools of all sizes all over the state of Texas.

The Three R's Dehydrated

"Hereafter all homework in this school is abolished. Anyone caught doing written work for extra credit will suffer immediate expulsion." Principal O. C. Rampley was reading the announcements. Noting the effect of his dramatic statement, he went on to explain, "You will congregate here at twelve o'clock noon every week-day to receive your knowledge tablets. Understand, these pills enable you to get an education without the aid of tests, recitations, or homework. You simply take one pill a day for each subject you are carrying, and get plenty of food, sleep, exercise and television."

"Freshman pills are small and brightly colored so that the kiddies can be induced to take them. Unfortunately, the biology pellets taste faintly of formaldehyde, and the chemistry ones are slightly sulphuric, but the Spanish pills are yummy. English grammar tablets are the smallest—only about the size of an apostrophe. The largest and most oddly shaped of all the noodle pills is the trigonometry one; but even it can be swallowed if taken with a glass of undiluted logarithm."

So that Mr. Rampley can see whether seniors have enough credits for graduation, all their pellets will be bright blue and will glow softly through the stomach lining. Oh, yes, if you are absent, present your blue slip, and you will get two terrible-tasting make-up pills. "Since school does not begin until noon," Mr. Rampley continued, "you are all urged to sleep late in order to be prepared for the arduous activities of the afternoon. Immediately after you have taken and digested your knowledge pellets, you must report to lunch. Everyone is expected to attend. Then you will go to your club meetings, play rehearsals, class meetings, and athletic events. At three, refreshments are served. (Note: A grade of B or better must be maintained in the lunch course. Work may be made up during the refreshment period.) One-half unit of practical joking is also required, and a course in modern comedians is strongly recommended. Every day, contests will be held to see who can throw the most ink bottles out the window in sixty seconds and make the biggest splash. There will also be daily competitions to determine the one who can get out of the parking lot the fastest and with the most noise. The stairs will be

QUOTABLE QUOTES

Some people find fault as if it were buried treasure. People who deserve monuments do not need them. Men still die with their boots on—on the accelerator. Use friendship as a drawing account if you wish, but don't forget the deposits. The wheel was man's greatest invention until he got behind it. Education is a chest of tools. Those who make the worst use of their time most complain of its shortness. Oh, to have the gift to think for ourselves as we can think for others!

Two Participate In Track Meet

On Saturday, April 25, Greg Towe and Ike Bruton participated in the Regional Track Meet in Lubbock. Greg represented the school in the pole vault, and cleared 10 feet 4 inches against stiff competition. He was unable to get into the finals. Ike placed sixth in the high jump by clearing the 5 foot 6 inch height. Both boys are juniors, and will be eligible to compete another year.

POOF!

My dream bubble burst just when I was about to throw my battered old notebook into the fire and convert my desk into a window seat. Oh, well, the sudden dehydration of the Three R's might have gotten out of hand. Taking 800 pills a year might not be much of a lark; in sixteen years of schooling one would have to choke down 12,800 pellets. As it is, students will have to keep on doing old-fashioned homework until some instantaneous educational process comes along.

The Mediocre Year

It has been stated that your sophomore year is the insignificant year in high school. This has been said because we are neither new to high school nor are we juniors or seniors. We don't think our sophomore year has been insignificant because of the fun and experiences we have had. Among our new experiences was initiating freshmen for the first time. We were allowed to join clubs and organizations that we had not been allowed to join the previous year. Several members had the honor of serving at the Junior-Senior Banquet. Our class has also been well represented in Interscholastic League events. So you see, underclassmen, your sophomore year really isn't so bad.
