Mayor House Proclaims Cancer Control Month

Mayor Jimmy House recently proclaimed April as Cancer Control Month in Silverton and urged support of the American Cancer Society's crusade for $650,000 to fight cancer through Research, Education, and Service to cancer patients. The 1965 Crusade was launched Thursday, April 1. The statewide goal for the Crusade is $1,800,000.

In his proclamation, the Mayor called attention to the fact that cancer will eventually strike one of every four persons, if present trends continue unabated. He emphasized that one-half of all cancer victims can be cured "but only if the patient receives prompt diagnosis and immediate treatment."

Participating in Cancer Control Month will be members of the L. O. A. Junior Study Club, who are organizing and directing the local Crusade, and other volunteers who will help conduct the "Tell Your Neighbor" Crusade, visiting homes throughout Silverton distributing pamphlets with life-saving information.

Childrens Pictures To Be Made At News Office

Those who want to purchase additional prints may do so by arrangement with the studio representative when they select the pose they want to appear in the newspaper.

All children of this area are invited to have their pictures made on Friday, April 23. Appointments may be made by calling 3381.

a power mightier than the sword

Easter symbolizes the promise of Peace made by Him. This Peace is found not in treaties or proclamations by nations, but in the hearts of individual men. Just as the power of the Roman sword faded into antiquity so will the troubles of this age recede as the Promise of Peace finds root in the hearts of men everywhere. Our thoughts and prayers are directed to this as we come once again to Easter. We greet all of you with a sincere wish for an Easter of Peace.

JANICE'S JOURNAL

Everyone probably admires someone for one reason or another. What is it about a person that impresses those about him? Whether you realize it or not, you make either a good or a bad impression on someone each and every day.

People, as is their character, are impressed by various traits or talents. They are impressed by nice clothes, good looks, wealth, position, possessions, and abilities. But just how important are these things? Are any of these things necessary for making a person an individual, different from anyone else in the world? First, consider what an individual is. Mr. Webster defines an individual as, "a person distinguished from others by special characteristics."

People in America are fortunate in being able to live in a country that is ruled by a democratic form of government. What makes a democracy different from other countries? You could all think of something about America or other democracies that you take special pride in. The main difference, however, is respect for the individual. Yet, it is not the characteristics of the individual which are held so highly in this country.

Stop and take stock of yourself now to see just what characteristics you value and admire in others. You might possibly need to make some changes in your set of values. Rather than allowing yourself to be impressed by outward appearances, take the time to delve into a person's true nature. A pleasing nature will always overpower all other possessions. Remember that what a person seems to be and what that same person really is do not always coincide.

As you pass out respect to those about you, be careful that the recipients of your respect are worthy of it. Do they possess individual characteristics to be proud of? Maybe you respect them because they have made an outstanding contribution to the progress or well-being of this nation. Perhaps they have merited your confidence in some other way.

Those worthy of respect and honor show their individualism in their every action and deed. A person whose main aim in life is conforming with those accepted in his society is not due respect and honor. If he does not take enough pride in himself to exhibit his individual traits, he will never be able to contribute much to his nation.

Honor Society Induction Held

The National Honor Society induction ceremony was held during assembly on April 7. The program opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. Dianne Davis, president of the National Honor Society, introduced Sam Brown who sang "America the Beautiful" accompanied by his wife, Mary Catherine, at the piano.

The qualities of four great men in history, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy, were defined, and it was brought out that National Honor Society members should possess these qualities.

Those inducted were Pat Edwards, Linda Fisch, Paula Turner, Elaine Boyles, Rita Brown, Camellia Comer, Sandi Rhode, Tena Williams, Orlin Grabbe, Tony Allison and Marianne Lowery.

Following the induction ceremony, the members of the National Honor Society and their parents were served refreshments in the homemaking department.

Origin of Easter Eggs

Selected

Eggs represent the new life that returns to nature about Easter time. The custom of exchanging eggs began in ancient times. The ancient Egyptians and Persians often dyed eggs in spring colors and gave them to their friends as gifts. The Persians believed that the earth had hatched from a giant egg.

Early Christians of Mesopotamia were the first to use colored eggs for Easter. In some European countries, people colored eggs red to represent the joy of the resurrection. In England, friends often wrote messages and dates on the eggs they exchanged. Elaborate candy eggs with a window in one end and tiny scenes inside were popular gifts in the 1800's. Children today often find chocolate eggs or cardboard eggs filled with candy at the breakfast table on Easter morning.

Evangelist Speaks

On April 8, Bro. Melvin Rathel, who was evangelist for a revival at First Baptist Church, spoke to the assembled student body.

Subject of the lecture was the formation of a reputation. Bro. Rathel brought out the fact that what the student does now will always be remembered when he applies for a job or membership in an organization. Several stories were used to emphasize his point. He also stressed that your actions influence the actions of others.

The serving table was decorated with a floral arrangement. Pink lemonade and cookies were served.

Nylon In The Kitchen

The growing group of greaseless, stickless cooking enthusiasts include creative cooks who detest scouring pans, modernists with a zest for the up-to-date, people who love fried foods but in the past have had to resist for health reasons, and anyone who's ever fried a sunny-side-up egg and tried to live up to the full-color illustrations in women's magazines. All sing the praises of Teflon-coated frying pans. While Teflon takes the bows for revolutionizing America's frying, cooking and pot-washing habits, gentle nylon works quietly in the wings doing its part to help Teflon keep its no-stick promises.

Nylon spoons and spatulas (usually sold with Teflon cookware) have a soft, soapy-like texture that will not scrape the delicate Teflon finish. Nylon spatulas are heat resistant and will withstand temperatures up to 430°. The skillets are rarely heated over 400°. (By comparison, water boils at 212°.) The spatulas are lightweight and easy to hold. They are white in color and look as fresh and clean as milk pouring from a pitcher. Two companies that manufacture nylon spatulas are Flambeau of Baraboo, Wisconsin and Blisscraft of Hollywood, California.

Since the unanimous acceptance of the spoons and spatulas, other nylon items for the kitchen have been introduced.

The nylon egg beater is tough, practically wear resistant and will not break. Going a step further, the new egg beater will not rust; yet it will be sold for less than metal egg beaters.

Other new nylon items now appearing on the counters include a meat baster that is shock resistant and can be sterilized; nylon tumblers that will not crack, break or mar surface finishes; and nylon vegetable brushes.

MILO PLANTING TIME IS NEAR.

It appears that many of you intend to use pre-emergence Weed Control Chemicals on your crop this year. Due to the nature of these chemicals, it is necessary that they be applied after planting, but before the crop comes up.

This means that the majority of the fields will need to be sprayed at about the same time. This time element could be a real problem.

Let us make an appointment with you now, to do the best job at the right time.

Texas forests provide Texans with many products for everyday living such as lumber, paper, chemicals, and plastics. They also provide many opportunities for recreation: as a place to hunt, fish, bird watch, or just enjoy the out-of-doors at a picnic.

More than 41,000 Texans work in Texas' forests and mills to produce an annual payroll of $138 million and products worth $500 million per year.

The Texas Forest Service, now celebrating its Golden Anniversary, is dedicated to the perpetuation, protection and utilization of this natural resource.

The following sponsors salute the Texas Forest Service on its 50 years of service to forestry in Texas.

Vaughan and Carl Vaughan are sisters. Mrs. Carl Vaughan and her daughters, Mmes. Coffin and Littrell formerly lived here.

Mrs. W. H. Brooks has recently returned from Las Vegas, Nevada, where she visited her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Bray and children. The Brays have a new baby son, Larry Charles, born on March 10. Designers from a number of countries were present with their models to show fashions for 1965 from cocktail dresses to beachwear.

'65 Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

If you've been sitting tight waiting for just your kind of car, with just your kind of power, at just your kind of price—wait no longer!

Chevrolet. It's a bigger, more beautiful car this year. Which is why that handsome silhouette could be mistaken for cars costing a thousand—even two thousand—dollars more.

Chevelle. This one's got lively looks, spirited power, a softer ride—and remarkable room atop a highly maneuverable wheelbase. No wonder it's today's favorite mid-size car.

Chevy II. No car so trim has a right to be so thrifty. But thrifty it is, with money-savers like brakes that adjust themselves and a long-lived exhaust system.

Corvair. Ask any '65 Corvair owner how it feels to drive a car with such easy steering, tenacious traction and responsive rear-engine power. And be ready to do lots of listening.

LIFELINES to better living

"Don't overload circuits if you want to avoid blown fuses," caution 4-H Club members engaged in electric projects. They point out that the fuse box is the "heart" of the electric system and should be given proper care.

Never use a higher rated fuse than recommended or substitute something else which will keep the fuse from functioning properly, 4-H'ers warn. They regularly check electric circuits to guard against overloading—a frequent result from using more and more electrical equipment in the home and on the farm.

For 30 years the national 4-H Electric program has sparked millions of boys and girls to undertake a wide variety of projects. After learning the fundamentals of electrical energy and its place in modern living, they engage in projects that range from simple jobs like repairing cords to servicing motors, appliances and assisting with wiring and lighting surveys.

In recent years electronic devices including robots, radios and hi-fi sets have been constructed by club members. Participation in the program has enriched their knowledge and given comfort to their families as well, club leaders report. The work is supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Sponsor of the program for the last three decades is the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. Members who complete the best projects receive recognition awards consisting of gold-filled medals, a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress and a chance to compete for six $500 educational scholarships.

Local electric power suppliers also strongly support the program through recognition, technical assistance and teaching aids.

AMERICA DEPENDS ON AMERICANS

"I'm strong for Savings Bonds. The interest is guaranteed, and the money's always there when I need it. But more important, Savings Bonds also help keep America secure. I figure there's not much point in saving for the future if we're not going to have the freedom to enjoy it. And you know, I feel 'good' when I buy Bonds... because I'm doing the right thing for myself and my family—and my country."

Pimiento-Lamb Shish Kebabs

Add glamor to your outdoor cooking with shish kebabs. This excellent version features lamb, whole pimientos, mushrooms and little onions; and the pimientos and meat are marinated in a well seasoned French dressing for additional flavor.
1 leg of lamb, boned (about 6 lbs.)
2 (7-oz. each) cans or jars whole pimientos
1 large onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon coarse-grind black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon rosemary
1 cup French dressing
Green pepper, in chunks
Mushrooms, whole
Small white onions, peeled (canned or parboiled)
Salad oil
The day before, cut lamb in 1½ to 2-inch pieces; remove all gristle and trim away most of fat. Place lamb and drained pimientos in a large bowl; add chopped onion, garlic, seasonings and French dressing. Mix gently to avoid crushing or tearing pimientos. Let stand in refrigerator overnight or until ready to prepare kebabs. While grill is heating, string green pepper squares, mushrooms, pimientos, lamb, onions, etc. on skewers, alternating vegetables and meat for good variety. Brush filled skewers with oil. Cook until meat is done. Slide cooked food off onto a bed of seasoned hot rice and serve. 5 to 6 servings.
