Tips For The Test

1. Read the directions for all parts of the test carefully before you do anything else. Directions may change for different sections If you have any questions, ask them before you begin to work.

2. Find out the scoring system. This will tell you whether you will be penalized for wrong answers or whether you can afford to guess even if you are completely sure of the meaning of the question or home broke. the best answer to it.

3. Budget your time according to the length of the test, the value placed on different portions of it, bout the various questions.

4. Answer first those questions to which you definitely know the answers. Leave the more difficult questions and those about which Pinto beans, Spanish rice, cherry have gained all the points you can milk from the areas of your strongest knowledge.

NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK OCTOBER 10-16. In the current school year about 18 million children will be served nutritious noonday meals under the National School Lunch Program. It is administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service, which provides about a fifth of the total cost in cash and food. This program makes it possible for children to enjoy a complete lunch for an average payment of only 27 cents. A tenth of the nearly 3 billion lunches consumed last year were served free or at reduced prices to youngsters who could not afford the full price. About 71,000 public and non-profit private schools are expected to take part in the program this year.

My Life as a Toothpick

by Margaret Minyard When I was only a young sapling, a kind forest ranger transplanted me from my greenhouse to a huge forest in California. As my taproot system reached into the soil, and osmosis began, I could feel myself actually growing.

It was my ambition to become a tree of gigantic stature, so I would be used to build houses, buildings or ships. But as time went by, I didn't develop as fast as some of the others, and wasn't able to get sunlight to grow. It was at this time when the toothpick manufacturers were needing more trees, so I was taken away to be used to make toothpicks. Now I thought my life was a failure for there's nothing lower than a Organizations toothpick. But after I had been cut up into a million toithpicks, I Fun & Nonsense realized there were many things I would be able to do.

Toothpicks are used all over the world each day. > There was a man who was in a circus. He was in an animal act and had to dress up like an ape. One day after his act, he decided got his drink and gave the Bar-Keep a $10 bill. The Bar-Keep thought that since he was an ape he would just pocket some of the money and he would never know the difference. So he gave the ape fifty cents back and said, "You know, we don't get many apes in

The ape replied, "I doubt it at
