USDA Contemplates No Major Changes In Program

The Department of Agriculture has announced that it intends to make no basic changes for 1966 in cross compliance features in farm programs.
New farm programs will be effective when the Feed and Agriculture Act of 1965 becomes law. The legislation is now awaiting the President's signature.
Announcement is being made now in answer to numerous questions being raised by producers who are making 1966 crop plans.
The only changes in cross compliance features the USDA intends to make relate to cotton, and these changes reflect the new cotton program enacted as part of the 1965 legislation.
In 1966, cotton producers who want to participate in the new program will need to maintain a soil conserving base and to place any diverted acres in soil conserving uses. In addition, the USDA is dropping a requirement that cotton producers cannot exceed their grain base acreage to be eligible for cotton program benefits.
To be eligible for program benefits, cotton, wheat and feed grain producers will be asked to comply with program provisions for that particular commodity on the participating farm. In addition, participants will be asked to plant within allotments or base acreages for that particular commodity on any other farm in which they have an interest in that crop. Wheat producers, however, will be able to overplant their wheat acreage by limited amounts and store the excess production under bond.
Wheat producers as required by the Act will be asked to plant within the other crop allotments such as cotton, rice, tobacco and peanuts on the participating farm. Feed grain and cotton producers, however, would not be required to plant within other crop allotments or base acreages on the participating farm.
Under all three programs, participants are asked to maintain the normal soil conserving acreage on the participating farm. In addition, all acres diverted under each program must be put to conserving uses.
On farms where substitution is permitted for wheat and feed grain acreage, producers will be asked to participate in both the wheat and feed grain programs on that farm and stay within the wheat acreage allotments and feed grain base acreages on any other farms in which they had an interest in the crop.

America Falls On 200th Birthday

John Dowdy in "Your Congressman Reports" says that America will soon have existed as a nation for 200 years. Many years ago a wise man made an observation that is being reprinted more often as America approaches the two-century mark of existence as a nation.

These words are worthy of review:

"The average age of the world's great civilizations has been 200 years. Each one has progressed in this order—from bondage to spiritual faith; spiritual faith to greater courage; courage to liberty; liberty to abundance; abundance to selfishness; selfishness to complacency; complacency to apathy; apathy to dependency; dependency back to bondage."
 Once selfishness is reached, the pace progressively quickens. Pick out the place in the circle you feel America has approached. In 12 years, the United States will be 200 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hardin, Wendell, Ann, Linda and Marilyn left Sunday afternoon for Oklahoma City, where the children were to undergo tests at the Allergy Clinic.

Tips Given For Storing Pesticides

Fall is the time to give serious thought to storing pesticides, reminds County Agent Leon Grosdier.

Storage time in the fall is also a good time to think about disposing of those odds and ends of materials. Dig a pit in an area that is not used for recreation, gardening purposes and far away from any well. Dig the pit at least 18 inches deep. Pour the unwanted chemicals into the pit, being careful of spills on your clothing or yourself, and then fill the pit with soil. Make sure that you cover it with at least 18 inches of dirt. Never smoke while doing this and try to avoid breathing any fumes that might come out of the pit while you pour or while you are filling it with soil.

Never flush unwanted pesticides into a sewage or septic tank system. Many of these materials might stop the bacterial action in a septic tank system and besides not working properly, it could cost you a considerable amount to get it cleaned out and in working condition. Some of the other materials, if placed in a sewage system, could pass through all of the filtering system and not only contaminate water supplies but do damage to fish and other wildlife.

All "empty" containers should be discarded. Break any glass containers and put them in the trash can. A good method of doing this is to wrap them in several thicknesses of newspaper first, then break them and put the entire package in the trash can. Puncture and crush metal containers prior to disposal. As an alternative, bury the containers, covering them with at least 18 inches of soil.

There is one exception to all rules for disposing of unwanted pesticide containers and that is the aerosol can or "bomb." Dispose of these cans—as is—never under any circumstances, burn or puncture the can.

If you have paper containers to dispose of, do so by burning them on a day with little or no wind. Do not breathe the smoke! Start a test fire first to see where the smoke may be drifting—do not expose yourself or others to the smoke. Bury the ashes from the fire in a pit as you would the pesticide.

Having disposed of the empty containers, collect any remaining containers, and store them under lock and key away from open flame and moisture, food, feed and seed. Store only those pesticides that have a complete label attached to the container.

Mrs. E. W. Yancey, Brenda and Linda were in Plainview Monday.

Survey Suggested For South Plains

More than 60 people representing every major crop producing county on the South Plains have given their support to a proposed agricultural survey of this area that will bring together all pertinent research and statistics and give guidelines for continued agricultural prosperity in the region.

The group, composed primarily of farmers and agri-business people on county program building committees and county agents, discussed the possible survey with Extension District Agent Billy Gunter in a recent meeting in Lubbock.

The survey would be conducted by Texas A&M University and would include information from public and private research agencies, commodity and civic groups and other organizations and individuals.

At the meeting Researchers Shelby Newman and Levon Ray of the South Plains Research and Extension Center, told of the situation facing water-use and cotton production in the region.

Farm Management Specialist

John Seibert pointed out the grain sorghum, livestock, vegetables and other crops also of opportunities for South Plains agriculture.

Gunter suggested that an survey might serve to bring a better perspective the interrelationship of the different crop water-use and management practices.

They passed a motion that Gunter formally make a request to Dean of Texas A&M University College of Agriculture and Extension Director John Hutchins to back the survey and lend resources of Texas A&M to carry it out.

Rural People To Benefit From Legislation

More than a million people in rural America may benefit from an expansion in financial support for rural community facilities and family farm authorized by recent legislation, L. J. Cappleman, Farmers Home Administration State Director for Texas said recently.

Private investors will provide the bulk of funds on an insured basis through USDA's Farmers Home Administration.

The legislation signed into law by President Johnson on October 7:

—authorizes an increase from $200 to $450 million in the Farmers Home Administration's ability to insure loans in any one year for rural community facilities including water supply and waste disposal systems, and for the development and purchase of family farms.

—provides, for the first time, this type of credit for rural waste disposal systems.

—authorizes, for the first time, grants to supplement this type of credit for rural water and waste disposal systems. Grant authority may not exceed 50 percent of the construction of a project nor a total of $50 million a year.

—authorizes, for the first time, grants totaling $5 million a year for comprehensive planning of water and sewage systems.

—increases from 2,500 to 5,500 the size of towns eligible for such assistance.

—increases from $1 to $4 million the maximum size of a loan, or a combination loan and grant for water supply or waste disposal systems.

The 1,600 field offices of the Farmers Home Administration are being notified to accept applications under the expanded credit authorities. Grant assistance will not be available until funds are appropriated by Congress.

Applications for rural community facilities loans may be made by public bodies and nonprofit private organizations.

The $450 million in insured loans plus the $55 million in grants authorized yearly by the Act can help an estimated 800 rural areas containing approximately one million people obtain needed water and waste disposal systems and other facilities, and provide 18,000 farm families with credit needed to secure their foothold on the land.

With this expanded authority, the Farmers Home Administration can be far more effective in helping rural communities and family farmers obtain needed resources, build their economic strength.

The following information gives the number of current real estate loans made through the Tulsa office for Swisher and Briscoe counties and the original amounts loaned:

Soil and Water Individual Loans 5 for $40,400
 Farm Ownership Loans 19 for $60,990
 Rural Housing Loans 29 for $369,204

School of Vocational Nursing to Open On January 3, 1965

The Lockney General Hospital School of Vocational Nursing will open January 3, 1966. The vocational nurse will be trained to work under the direction of the physician or the supervision of the Registered Professional Nurse.

With the construction of two new nursing homes and proposed new hospital in the area, the shortage of nursing personnel should become acute.

The course offered is 12 months in length. At the end of the 12-month period, the student is required by State Law to take and pass an examination given by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners before she may become a Licensed Vocational Nurse. The students will work and attend classes 8 hours a day for five days a week. All classes and instruction will be in the hospital.

The school instructor will be Mrs. Lora Williams, R.N., a 1958 graduate of Hendrick Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Abilene. She is presently employed by the hospital and is a resident of Lockney.

Those interested in attending the school of vocational nursing may make application by seeing Mrs. Elfie Sherman, business manager, or Mrs. Lora Williams, R.N., at the hospital on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday throughout the month of November. Because the hospital is small, a limited number of students will be accepted, and for this reason preference will be given to applicants residing in Floyd and Briscoe counties.

Five persons, three children and two women were killed in an automobile accident during a driving rainstorm near Hempstead, about 40 miles west of Houston Thursday of last week. Killed were Mrs. Pauline Dudley Bush of Big Spring, niece of Milton Dudley; her daughter, Mrs. Shirley Bush Vines and her three children of Pasadena. Due to weather conditions, Mr. Dudley did not try to go to the funerals and had learned few particulars of the accident.

SHIP OF FOOLS

a novel by Katherine Anne Porter

This is a novel on the grand scale, and its endless variety of scenes and characters is a variety of life itself, comedy and tragedy, love and death, boredom and adventure, pain and pleasure—all are witnessed in the lives and actions of the ship's company of the German freighter-passenger ship VERA embarked from Veracruz, Mexico, and destined for Bremerhaven, Germany. The story covers a period of 27 days in the year 1931.

In the mingling and meeting of the various personalities of the hundreds of passengers, from the incidents on board ship which affect their lives, this story is fashioned. In each life, the drama of good and evil has taken place. The world was then on the edge of catastrophe and people were blind to the imminent disaster. This is revealed in episodes of personal unkindness and cruelty, stubborn prejudices and the reciprocal and destructive hatred between Jew and Christian. Katherine Anne Porter has succeeded in creating the brilliant panorama of life in all its glory and depravity. Her SHIP OF FOOLS is the ship of humanity, and it is an unforgettable masterpiece.

MARCH OF TIME STUDY CLUB HOSTS FEDERATION DAY TEA

Mrs. J. L. Ginnings of Pilot Point, President of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was guest speaker for a Federation Day Tea hosted by the March of Time Study Club Friday in the P.C.A. community room. The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Tony Silverton Camp Fire Girls are planning to visit Girls Town soon, and have been making house shoes for the 58 girls there. Pictured with some of the finished gift packages are part of the girls who are planning to make the trip: Amy Sharp, Marion Hooten, Sharon Storie, Rhonda Sueek, Donna Stodghill, Kae-dean Bomar, Ramona Martin, Dorothy Yancey, Sue Lynn Allard, Lucy Croft, Mary Stodghill, Annette Williams, Linda Childress, Ellen Thomas, Melva Meason and Barbara McCraven.

Burson, who acted as hostess in the absence of the president, Mrs. Fred Mercer. Mrs. Alvie Mayfield gave the devotional.

Mrs. Ginnings described the highlights of her term of office, including the meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs Board in San Antonio last year. The Board also visited the Texas Federation clubhouse in Austin, and held a portion of its meeting there. It was pointed out that only about five states now have clubhouses.

She spoke at length on the needs of the 33-year old $96,000 clubhouse and plans which are being made to provide funds for its upkeep and maintenance.

There are nine upstairs bedrooms in the clubhouse which are rented to women teachers and students. Presently there is, in addition to others, a Peruvian girl living in the clubhouse and attending Texas University on scholarship. A project during Mrs. Ginnings' administration has been to replace the antiquated boiler system which has been very costly.

The clubhouse is a large 2-story structure over four basements, and is furnished with some very expensive antique pieces which have been donated and other items purchased by the 14 districts in Texas.

Mrs. Ginnings closed her comments by reading a poem which admonished clubwomen to be aware of the importance of appreciating the talents and leadership of others.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a lovely Thanksgiving cloth of brown net appliqued with felt, sequins and beads. Coffee was poured from the silver service and cake squares decorated with longstem yellow rosebuds, nuts and mints were served. Fall flower arrangements were in profusion.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. George Long, Mrs. Bill Wristen, Mrs. Tim Martinez, Mrs. Jerry Purcell, Mrs. Jim Mercer, Mrs. Joe Montague, Mrs. Gene Morris, Mrs. Pat Northcutt, Mrs. O. C. Rampley, Mrs. Norman Strange and Mrs. James Davis, members of Century of Progress Study Club; Mrs. James Ross Alexander, Mrs. Don Cornett, Mrs. Bill Durham, Mrs. Randall Eddleman, Mrs. Leo Fleming, Mrs. Ronald Dale Kitchens, Mrs. Charles Sarchet, Mrs. John Schott, Mrs. Richard Whitfill and Mrs. Paul Williams, members of

Mrs. Morckel gave everyone a recipe booklet with her favorite candy recipes in it. They made "No Cook" Fondant, Mint Patties, Chocolate Covered Cherries, Chocolate Nut Fudge, Divinity, Winter Strawberries and Peanut Brittle.

Bobbie Bean and Betty Nan Tiffin served Cokes to go with the candy.

Camp Fire Girls To Visit Girls Town

If we want top jobs and top pay, we must have top skills to offer in return. Everyone will agree to this.

In this day and time, there is no excuse for anyone not going to college if he wishes. One of the major points to some people is money. There are several roads open to the student for furthering his education. One could budget his allowance, but one becomes accustomed to a certain allowance, and it is very difficult to live without it.

Evening classes are a solution to this problem. At the larger colleges, night classes are available. It is possible to obtain a degree through night school, but a person planning to do so should be prepared to spend a lot of time. It usually takes eight years or longer taking an average course.

If all other methods fail, one can borrow money from the federal government. The interest is a very low three per cent. There is no payment due until a year after your completion of college. If one becomes a public school teacher, then only half of the sum you owe is due. There isn't anything much cheaper than this.

Doug Lawyer Speaks In Assembly Here

Douglas Lawyer, visiting evangelist at the Church of Christ, spoke to the student body in assembly last week. A missionary in Nigeria for five years, Bro. Lawyer is now principal of Lubbock Christian School.

He spoke on three points, "What is your name?", "What is your weight?" and "Where do you live?"

"What is your name?" He stated that one should let his name be a recommendation. He asked the students what they thought were people's reactions when their names were spoken.

"How much do you weigh?" How must influence do you have? "Where do you live?" Will Silverton be a better place because you lived here?

Bro. Lawyer also brought out that a person is what he thinks he is.

Are You A Car Creep? Players Recognized In Pep Rally

by Linda Mercer

Sharon had looked at her watch fifty times and up the street at least a hundred in the last eight minutes, knowing that the next few minutes were crucial.

Sharon had overslept, missed the 8:10 bus, and now had cooled the corner for fifteen minutes, waiting for the next bus or for some of the kids she knew to cruise by and offer her a lift.

Again, the search up-street, and another frantic look at the unrelenting hands of her dainty timepiece, as they moved toward 8:30.

Then, she recognized the sharp '60 Ford pickup of Leland stop at the intersection. She started running toward the pickup, calling, "Leland! Leland! Wait up!" But the driver apparently didn't hear or see her over the rumble of the twin pipes and watching cross traffic.

So, she would be late again, but she didn't know that Leland had passed her up on purpose. Sharon, you see, was an unwanted passenger in the car driven by the boy in her English class. He had once driven her home from school. It was raining, and Sharon, not thinking, tracked mud onto Leland's meticulously clean mat. In her excitement, she neither noticed the mess, nor offered to clean it off when they pulled up in front of her house. Since then, Leland has never offered her another ride.

Carol is another uncouth case, an unwelcome "guest" for a second life with most guys. She's a litter bug. She doesn't run the risk of being fined for throwing trash out the window—she scatters it on the seat the floor—every place but the litter bag or ash tray.

The guys in her crowd have silently vowed "never again" after chaffering this car slob, for

The Pep Rally last Friday was led by six new cheerleaders, Jerry Perkins, Monty Smith, Darrell Long, Johnny McGavock, Bailey Loyd and Roger Bingham. They led a series of yells before turning the Pep Rally over to the regular cheerleaders.

Coach Tom Thornburg presented Coaches Bobby Stephens and Jerry Nutt to the student body. Each expressed his feelings regarding the football season. The senior, junior, sophomore and freshman players were recognized in those respective groups. Paul Ray McWilliams and Johnny Roy Weaver, managers, were presented.

Danny Vaughan, Gary Crow, Randy Hughes and Lynn Frizzell were recognized as the four players who had not missed a practice or game.

Ruth Ann Minaryard, president of the Pep Squad, expressed her gratitude to the boys for working so hard. The singing of the fight song closed the Pep Rally.

It takes time to pick up the mess. "It's almost as if some girls never outgrow the infant habit of strewing cracker crumbs and cereal snacks around the house," said Tom. "They even leave spills and sticky prints for the 'cleanup crew,'" he laments.

When you're in someone's car that person is as much your host as if he were entertaining you in his folks' home. You should extend the same regard and considerate manners in his car as you would in his home.

Otherwise, like Sharon and Carol, expect to be late to school. Guys don't go, or stop either, for girls whose car courtesy is creepy.

F.T.A.'ers Attend District Convention

by Kathy Hughes

Miss Zobia Self accompanied Wayne Rampley, Tina Weaver, Kathy Hughes and Margaret Meyer to Canyon recently to attend an F.T.A. District IX Convention. At 8:45 a.m. the group attended a general session in the auditorium of the Administration Building on the campus of West Texas State University. The keynote speaker was Dr. James P. Cornett, President of W.T.S.U.

After a 15-minute recess, the group attended a business meeting where District IX officers were elected. After lunch in the cafeteria, District IX elected Mr. and Miss F.T.A.

The convention was ended with entertainment by a folk singer and a pianist, both from West Texas State University.

Juniors To Present 'Finders Creepers'

by Sharon Martin

The Junior class will present "Finders Creepers" on Saturday, November 20, 1965. The curtain will rise at 7:30 p.m., and admission will be 50c for children under twelve, and 75c for adults.

School Daze

Randy, what does C.A.M. spell? Is it someone's initials or a girl's name?

What six high school students were out Trick or Treating? Maybe J.S., K.S., L.M., M.S., J.M., and L.S. can tell us.

What two freshman girls walked through the halls of S.H.S. carrying a snake? Where did it wind up?

Roy Dale hates girls but NOT Juannah. Is Juannah a beast or human?

Is it true that Mr. Martinez is getting fat and turning gray?

Ruth Ann, do you feel like a college girl no what you are pined?

Is it true that Coaches Thornburg and Stephens are trying to make farmhands out of the driver's ed. boys?

Who could have been the little angel who put the brick in Judy's locker?

What teacher is it that sat in history class telling about love, marriage and Candy Strippers. Let's ask Coach Nutt.

Buddy, what is so great about gopher holes?

Now that I have noticed, your legs ARE skinny, Diana.

Is there a new romance in S.H.S.? If you want to know just ask Carol Ann or Randy—surely they can tell you.

Carol Ann, what is your new nickname?

It seems that Jerry P. was rather upset when he found out what was in Kathy S.'s Slam Book.

Is it true that Juannah has been playing Cupid with a few couples? It's nice to have at least one Cupid around, isn't it?

Who was George M. holding hands with on the bus?

It seems that Judy Y. left her glasses at Turkey. Gee! Judy, we didn't know you wore glasses!

Mr. Summerfeld: Why do farmers buy livestock?

Donald Weast: Because they don't want dead stock.

Bright Ideas for Flower Boxes

Flower boxes can be used to break up the monotonous architectural lines of a house and add originality to its outward appearance at the same time. Easy to construct, the boxes make attractive viewing from both inside and outside the house.

Before constructing the window box, try to find locations by windows that receive at least a little sun daily. Plan to locate the box 3 to 6 inches below the window—so as not to block too much of the view.

Flower boxes must be custom built to fit your house properly. Make them of 3/4-inch pine, 9-inch to 12-inch deep, as long as your window sill and with a slight tilt toward the base on the outer face.

Drill 1-inch diameter holes in the bottom board to let water drain out of the box. Also, have a slight pitch (outward and down) to the bottom board, so that water drains away from the house.

Use sturdy angle-iron braces to support the weight of wet soil and the metal plant container to be placed in the box. Braces should be at least six inches long in order to spread the expected weight to the side of the house.

There are two methods for attaching flower boxes of this type—drilling and plugging, or using an easy-to-use hammer-in fastening tool.

To attach the box supports to concrete block or masonry with the drilling and plugging method, mark the hole position through angle irons. Then use a carbide-tipped drill to grind a hole through the wall. A star-tipped drill may be used as well—remember to turn the drill as you hammer to remove the pulverized concrete. Next insert fiber, plastic or lead anchors, which should be as long as the holes are deep. Screw the braces in place.

A much faster and less tedious method of attaching braces is with a Shure-Set hammer-in tool, available at your local hardware supply counters. The Shure-Set tool, shaped like a cone with a steel plunger down the middle, easily sets fasteners into concrete (an even through thin steel) in seconds without pre-drilling or the use of anchors. Simply insert 8-inch fastener into the Shure-Set tool, place the fastener's tip through the pre-drilled hole in the anchor iron and with a few raps of the hammer you have securely fastened the braces to the concrete wall. If you are planning to place the window box on a brick wall, place your fasteners so that they are seated into the mortar joints. Do not fasten into the brick, which is brittle. These fasteners make sturdy supports for the window box since each fastener is capable of holding as much as 200 pounds.

Keep your flower boxes clear of leaves and spilled dirt as much as possible. Otherwise, drain holes in the bottom of box will close. Water trapped in the boxes may cause rotting and other damage.

and Jerry Garrison, a student at H-SU, were guests over a long weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Garrison. Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hardin and children were also Sunday dinner-guests in the Garrison home.

Not only will you find more variety in the '66 Chevelle lineup, but even more of what makes a Chevelle a Chevelle.

Say you pick a new Malibu Sport Sedan and specify the new 220-hp V8. You've got yourself quite a machine.

Or pick a Malibu Sport Coupe, equip it with the new Strato-bucket front seats, and order the new 275-hp V8. You've got yourself even more machine.

Or maybe you'd like to pick a new black-grilled SS 396 Coupe or Convertible. (Standard engine is a Turbo-Jet 396 V8 with 325 hp. And there's also a 360-hp version you can specify.) Now you've got yourself the most.

Which '66 Chevelle for you? The answer to that covers a lot more ground than we can here. And that's where your Chevrolet dealer comes in.
