

New 1966 Cotton Program Announced

A new program for cotton for 1966 announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, based on the Food and Agriculture Act of 1958 signed into law last week by President Johnson.

Incorporating several new features, the program is designed to bring about a better balance between supply and demand, to prevent runaway cotton production, to keep cotton priced competitively on domestic and world markets, to protect the income of cotton farmers, and to reduce Government costs.

As in past years, the program must be approved by cotton growers before it can be placed in operation. A national cotton referendum is set for November 23, 1965. In this referendum at least two-thirds of the cotton farmers must approve cotton marketing quotas for 1966 before the essential provisions of the new program can go into effect. If more than one-third of the growers disapprove quotas, the only cotton program will be price support at 50 percent of parity for growers who do not exceed their acreage allotments.

In the same referendum cotton growers in each cotton county will have an opportunity to vote on whether they want to permit local cotton acreage allotments to be sold, leased or transferred out of the county. Unless two-thirds or more of the growers in a county favor sales or leases out-of-county, such transfers may be made only within the county.

The new cotton program is voluntary. The farmer who wants to take part in the program and thus become a "cooperator" agrees to divert at least 12.5 percent of his effective cotton acreage allotment into soil conserving uses. For this, the cooperating farmer will be eligible to receive price support loans and payments and acreage diversion payments.

In addition, there will be special provisions for small cotton farmers which will protect their income but require no reduction in acreage. Another feature of the program allocates a limited acreage to farmers who want to raise cotton solely for the export market. These farmers may receive an additional acreage allotment for this purpose. However, they would not receive loans and other benefits of the cotton program available to cooperators.

The price-support payment rate will be 9.42 cents a pound. This payment will be earned on the domestic allotment which will be 65 percent of the farm's effective allotment. The total payment will be 9.42 cents per pound times the projected yield per acre times the domestic allotment (or times the acreage planted if this is less than 90 percent of the domestic allot-

The diversion payment rate will be 10.5 cents per pound. This will be earned on the acreage diverted from cotton production and put to conserving uses. This will be in addition to the acreage in the conserving base for the farm. The payment will be 10.5 cents times the projected yield per acre times the acreage diverted. However, the acreage diverted for payment may not exceed 35 percent of the acreage allotment.

Price-support loans will be available to "cooperators" in the cotton acreage diversion program. The loan rates for individual qualities will be based on a national average loan rate of 21 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location.

The relatively low loan rate will continue "one-price" at around world price levels. This makes it possible for U. S. cotton to move in either domestic or export channels without the need for either an equalization payment or an export payment. Price support and diversion payments to growers will maintain farm income. The payments the farmers earn will offset the lower cotton loan rate.

Farmers with larger cotton acreages will have the choice of diverting either 12.5 percent, or 25 percent, or 35 percent of the farm's effective acreage allotment from the production of cotton. They will receive payments based on the acreage diverted. Unless farmers divert the acreage they sign up for they will not be eligible for full program benefits.

Small farms under the program are those with an allotment of not more than 10 acres, or on which the projected production is not more than 3,600 pounds. No acreage reduction is required on these farms to receive program benefits. However, small farms that do voluntarily divert up to 35 percent of their farm allotment will receive additional diversion payment for such acreage. Farms from which any acreage is released for

Bull Sale Scheduled In Clarendon

The Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association will hold its seventh annual bull sale in Clarendon on December 1, at 12:30 p.m. at the fair building. Walter Britten will be the auctioneer.

Sixty-eight bulls will be offered for sale, featuring top blood lines, good beef producing bulls and good herd bull prospects. There will be 40 Herefords, 16 Gallows, and 12 Angus bulls in the sale.

The new sales arena is heated and will be comfortable regardless of the weather. If you come by plane, buzz the fair building and a car will meet you at the City-county airport.

Those wishing a catalog in advance of the sale can write to H. M. Breedlove, secretary and manager, Clarendon.

City To Pick Up Stray Dogs Soon

There will be a drive conducted by the City of Silvertown on Friday, November 26, to eliminate as many stray dogs as possible.

According to an announcement today by the City Secretary, Fred Strange, the dogs that are running loose without tags will be taken away by all methods necessary. It is suggested that if you have a pet dog that is not wearing tags, you secure tags before November 26. Also, to insure that your pet is not destroyed, it would be a good idea to keep him penned on that particular day.

Because it is very difficult to catch wild strays, some dogs may be destroyed on the spot if they cannot be caught. This will be done in order to eliminate the packs of dogs which are now running loose in the city.

Accidents Reported During October

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated four accidents on rural highways in Briscoe County during October, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These accidents accounted for three persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,250.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county from January through October of 1965 shows a total of 22 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were 15 persons injured and the estimated property damage amounted to $13,380.00.

Community Services Being Planned For Thanksgiving

All people of all faiths are invited to the annual Community Thanksgiving Service at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 24. The service is being held this year in the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Clyde Cain, pastor of the host church, will give the invocation. Rev. Carl Nunn, pastor of First Methodist Church, will lead the responsive reading.

Quality Factor Enters Price-Support Picture

Micronaire readings, commonly referred to as "mike", are an additional quality factor for 1965-crop cotton going under price-support loan, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

Riding Club Plans Holiday Feast

The Silvertown Riding Club is planning a Thanksgiving supper Monday night, November 22, in the school lunchroom. Turkey, ham and all the trimmings will be served. Each member is asked to bring a salad of her choice, and everyone is reminded to bring guests.

The club met November 15 in the P.C.A. community room for a regular meeting. Several visitors were present. Homemade chili and stew was served.

Several local residents attended revival services at the First Baptist Church in Floydada last week. Among them were Rev. and Mrs. Julian Vigil, Mmes. Ray C. Bomar, P. H. McKeeney, Paul Reid, Jerry Miller, Messrs. and Mmes. Allen Kellum, Leo Cole and Henry Juarez.

Items for the new Briscoe County Museum are being accepted by members of the Briscoe County Historical Survey Committee.

Shown examining aged books are (from left) Mrs. Berton Hughes, County Chairman Mrs. C. O. Aillard, Mrs. Alton Johnson and Judge

M. G. Moreland. O. R. Stark, jr. and Mrs. Carroll Garrison are also members of the county survey group. The museum is being established in the basement of the county courthouse.

Louie Kitchens, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of Briscoe County, points out, however, that loans disbursed about October 31, on cotton classed prior to that date on which the classification cards do not show micronaire readings will be made without regard to micronaire.

Mike readings determine the fineness and maturity of the fiber. These qualities affect the spinability and value of the cotton, and mike readings are widely used in commercial cotton transactions.

A mike reading will be determined free of charge and shown on the classification memorandum by the cotton classing offices of the Consumer and Marketing Service for each bale of 1965-crop upland cotton classed for producers after October 24, 1965. The micronaire premiums and discounts will be in addition to premiums and discounts for grade and staple announced earlier this year.

A schedule of 1965-crop mike premiums and discounts follows: 5.5 and above: Discount of 50 5.2 through 5.4: Discount of 15 4.9 through 5.1: Even 3.6 through 4.8: Premium of 14 3.3 through 3.5: Even 3.0 through 3.2: Discount of 60 2.7 through 2.9: Discount of 165 2.6 and less: Discount of 300 reapportionment will not be eligible for small farm benefits.

Voluntary Sign-up
 All cotton farmers both large and small must sign up for the program during a period to be announced in order to be eligible for the 1966 cotton program benefits.

Export Market Acreage
 A national export acreage reserve of 250,000 acres is established for 1966. A producer may request and be allotted a share of the export acreage reserve thus enabling him to plant more than his allotment. However, all of the farm's cotton production must then be exported. No price support would be available for cotton produced on that farm or on any other farm in which the operator with export market acreage has a substantial or controlling interest.

Cropland Adjustment Program
 Cotton producers will have an opportunity to divert their cotton acreage from production for a long-term period under the terms of this program. This new program is designed to supplement the commodity programs by offering cotton, wheat and feed grain producers agreements running from five to ten years for retirement of crop acreage from production.

The Congress theme is "Young America and World Affairs," announced Norman C. During the action-packed week more than 200 youths selected for superior achievement will be designated national winners of educational scholarships.

Three boys and three girls will be named to receive the highest honor bestowed during the Congress: The Presidential Silver Tray award. These champions are the top pair in achievement, citizenship and leadership programs.

Donors of funds for the trips and scholarships are business firms and foundations. They contribute more than a million dollars each year to aid 4-H, said Mr. Mindrum.

The award winners are all selected by extension personnel heading the state 4-H program. Among the award donors are:

How to make a holiday last all year long

"How often do you call Long Distance to friends or members of the family?"

"Well, I expect to make some calls on Thanksgiving and maybe on Christmas."

"Why wait for a holiday or special occasion to call — that's the old fashioned way!"

"How come? Is the phone company having a sale just now?"

"No, not that. New low-cost long distance rates are now in effect all day Sunday and every night after eight — so now for a dollar or less, you can keep in touch more often."

"Say! That's a good idea! Tonight I'll make some important calls I've been putting off."

"Fine! Thanks to new low rates you can call anywhere in continental U. S. station-to-station and talk three minutes for $1.00 or less. This is the big communications bargain — the modern way to keep in touch at all times."

Museum Offers Reward for Peanut Butter Relics

The American Museum of Peanut Butter History has been established in Chicago.

Although the project may seem a little nutty, the Peter Pan Co. plans to make the museum a mecca for people interested in peanut butter lore.

The museum will house artifacts connected with peanut butter history from 1890 to 1925, including the various devices used by women to make their own primitive form of peanut butter at the turn of the century.

In those days, housewives had mills to grind the peanuts, small ovens to roast them, and blanchers to remove the red skins—all operated by hand cranking.

The Peter Pan Co. will shell out a year's free supply of peanut butter to every family donating an authentic relic. The average family eats about 50 pounds of peanut butter per year.

Peanut butter was invented by a St. Louis physician in 1890 as a high protein health food for his patients. By 1896, it was being served regularly to patients at the Battle Creek, Mich., Sanitarium.

About 1900, small devices began to appear on the market all over the country, enabling women to make peanut butter in their own kitchens.

In the early years of this century, women made peanut butter in their own kitchens with crude devices such as stove-top ovens for roasting peanuts, blanchers for removing the red skins, and mills for grinding the nuts.

Fifteen years later, country store-keepers were making peanut butter with somewhat larger equipment in much the same way, and selling it by the paddle-full from wooden tubs.

These methods prevailed until after World War I when the industrial manufacture of the product began.

Patrons of the arts and peanut butter buffs with antiquities of any kind connected with the making of peanut butter can write to the museum, Main Post Office Box 4474, Chicago.

Junior Play To Be Presented Saturday

by Mrs. Tim Martinez, sponsor
On Saturday night, November 20, 1965, at 7:30 p.m., the Junior class will present the play, "Finders Creepers," by Donald Payton. Basically the story of the play follows.

Perhaps they didn't know when they were well off, or maybe they were just gluttons for punishment, but Hercules Nelson's uncle and aunt had long wanted him to come and spend a weekend with them. And to top it off, they even went so far as to say he could bring his bosom pal, Wilbur Maxwell. So with suitcases in hand, the boys arrive at Uncle Bob's, set for a big weekend. That's putting it mildly because Hercules knows his uncle has taken a new job, but what he doesn't know until it's too late is that his uncle is a mortician. That's right, an undertaker. Needless to say, the boys are terrified. They're all for heading home pronto, especially when they find there's another "guest" in the house, an old boy named Jason Quibldy who—ran out of gas.

Wilbur and Hercules are ready to leave once Mr. Quigley starts walking around, but they decide to stay after Wilbur falls for Mr. Quigley's granddaughter, Nina. Once Hercules and Wilbur decide to find out what's going on by being detectives, things go from bad to worse. Uncle Bob ends up in jail and the boys find themselves alone with a killer. The play has one of the wildest finishes ever.

Here's a play chock-full of choice comedy parts: Little sister Frankie, who loves mystery thrillers; Daphne, the maid, who's always lowering the boom on old Claude, the caretaker; and live-wire Granny, who with her cat, Mr. Quigley, keeps the whole joint jumpin' in this well-paced, rib-tickling mystery comedy, with an emphatic accent on comedy.

The characters in the play are: WILBUR MAXWELL, 13, tousle-headed, full of life and action. He's a pocket-sized version of the atomic bomb—Leland Wood. HERCULES NELSON, also 13, Wilbur's bosom pal. He's also tousle-headed and freckle-faced—Buddy Comer. CELESTE NELSON, about 14, Hercules' cousin. Very cute and sweet and very much the object of Wilbur's affection—Kathy Hughes.

NINA QUIGLEY, 13. She, too, is a cute and sweet little girl, and the bright spot in Hercules' usually blackened eye—Kay Strange. FRANKIE, Celeste's little sister, about 11. She's really a live wire, her main love is mystery stories, and she always has one with her. She usually has an answer for everything—Tina Weaver.

AUNT MARY, Hercules' aunt. Really has her hands full with her brood, and especially with the capers of Uncle Bob and Granny. She is very sensible, sympathetic, and understanding—Joni Self.

UNCLE BOB, although he's a mortician, he's jovial, loves his family and loves a good time as well as anyone—Mitchell McDaniel. GRANNY, is about 75. Uncle Bob's grandmother. She's really a "ball of fire," is full of life, is always cracking jokes, is quite a hep cat—Connie Dudley.

MR. QUIGLEY, over 75. He, too, is quite a hep cat. Is after Granny and the culprit who planned to kill him—Gary Crow.

DR. BROWN, Mr. Quigley's doctor. Has a winning smile and cordial disposition—Jimmy Burson.

EDITORIAL

by Linda Fisch

There is a price we must pay for success, but this price is never cheap. There are no bargains for "leaders".

It has been said that men become great for three reasons: "because of native endowment, great opportunity, and for a great will to serve."

Many people would like to be successful, to be a leader or head of their organization. But there are few who are willing to put out the effort and sacrifices necessary. They will not prepare themselves.

A successful person is a leader. The late Dale Carnegie once said, "The greatest qualifications a man needs to become a good speaker is thorough preparation of his talk." A successful person has to prepare himself. A successful person has to be able to help others grow. His success is determined in his ability in influencing others.

The loyalty of one's associates is a great factor to success. It cannot be purchased. It must be earned. A leader will gain the confidence and loyalty in proportion to the loyalty he has shown to others.

To be a success, we must have our aims high. We must continue to improve, to perfect and to better qualify ourselves.

No one ever became a great leader in an eight-hour day. It takes each hour of the day striving and working to be "just a little better" in everything we do.

Limerick - Writing Contests Held In Fifth Grade Class

Miss Zobia Self's fifth grade reading class was recently introduced to several limericks which were written in the SKY LINES textbook. After a short discussion of what constitutes a limerick, the class, as a whole, decided to write some original limericks.

Several compositions were finished, and it was decided that the one chosen as "the best" would be shared with everyone.

The title of the limerick is "Molly and Polly" or "Why Polly Doesn't Like Crackers Any More." There once was a girl named Molly, Who had a parrot called Polly. Polly wanted a cracker Molly hit her in the smacker, Now Polly is not quite jolly.

BOOK REVIEW

ALEXANDER OF MACEDON

The Journey to World's End

by Harold Lamb

"Harold Lamb gets a genuine thrill from deeds of high adventure and knows how to impart that thrill to his readers," said the New York Times in reviewing his THE CRUSADES. In this story of Alexander the Great, the remote, almost mythological hero, the demigod of battle is replaced by a believable human being whose inner conflicts were as exciting and as important to the world as his leadership of invincible armies.

Here was a Macedonian prince who before he was 30 became a great despot while actually trying to form a federation of world states; a conqueror who flew into blind rages and ordered bloody massacres, yet loathing; a general who fought many of his battles on journeys of exploration; an ascetic who lead an almost celibate life amid the luxuries of his time.

The story begins when Alexander was a child, learning to read even then with cool discernment the lexicon of war from his father, and discipline of the brain from Aristotle. It moves on with the steady, irresistible march of his hosts to the very edge of the world—and more than a step beyond.

But these extra, final steps were the daring strides of a solitary mind; the conquests which an indomitable spirit yearned for after the armies had turned back.

It is this superb interpretation of Alexander the man which makes Harold Lamb's Alexander the conqueror so real—and perhaps for the first time—so clear to the understanding of today.

THE LAST WORD

The child psychologist who claims spanking misses its aim probably never was spanked by his father.

MADELINE, Mr. Quigley's sister. Her steel gaze is perhaps indicative of her inner self, and she gives one the impression that she's never smiled—Margaret Minyard. HARRY SCHUSTER, lawyer, a friend of Madeline's. He's a suspicious-looking and acting fellow. He's nervous, flighty, fidgety and irritable—William Henriques.

DAPHNE, the maid. She is very quiet, always seems to have a smirk on her face, mixed with a ver yforlorn look—Linda Mercer. CLAUDE, the caretaker. He's strictly of the old rural regine, wears faded overalls, a hat with brim down all the way round, and heavy shoes that clump when he walks. He's very friendly, loves to talk and joke—Mike Long.

School Daze

How did Darrell and Venita manage to run into each other in broad daylight on a wide street?

Watch in the hall and see if Connie walks 10 steps behind Buddy.

Grasdidier, isn't there another James Bond? The only difference is that ours isn't rich, but he has the same good looks, and attracts women like flies.

Who are the new "Gold Dust Twins"? How about it, Kathy and Tina?

Kay, how did you find out how wide a car is?

Who was the Freshman girl who was so unsteady last Sunday night that she fell down twice at the preacher's house?

What Freshman girl does Larry Comer like? L. C.?

Could it be that lovers lane has been moved behind the stage props after Junior play practice? Ask Kathy H. and Leland W.

If you want to know anything about how to keep from being bow-legged, ask Leland or Roy Ann.

What did you say coming out of the Homemaking class about boys and the weather, Lexie?

Roy Ann, what's so special about eating raw spaghetti?

We wonder if Carol Ann was trying to steal Coach Nutt's grade book or trying to hold his hand?

Melody, don't blonds have more fun?

Coach Nutt, what is this about your new bald-headed secretary?

What happened between L.W. and L.M. I think Wayne R. knows a little about that.

"It's nothing like that," the other assured him. "I just hate to see old ladies standing."

Around-The-World Dinner Planned

The F.H.A. chapter will sponsor the annual Around-the-World Dinner on Saturday, November 20, from 5:30 until 7:00 p.m. before the Junior Play.

Admission will be $1.00 for 12 and over, and 50c for those under 12.

Everyone is invited to attend.

OVERHEARD IN LUNCHROOM

Mrs. Baird: Did you notice that extravagant-looking hat Mrs. Jones had in church yesterday morning?

Mrs. Parker: I'm afraid I must confess I was almost asleep.

Mrs. Baird: A lot of good the services did you!

F.H.A. NEWS

by Margaret Minyard

The F.H.A. chapter met October 12, 1965, and discussed cookbook sales. The purpose was to get the cookbooks sold or turned in so someone else could sell them. Joni Self was the winner for the second week in selling cookbooks.

Ruth Ann Minyard passed out a list of foods for the Around-the-World Dinner. Everyone was to pick out a food she wanted to prepare and get the recipe for it.

Ruth Ann also read a list of those who hadn't paid their dues. At the next meeting, Mrs. Roy Francis will talk to the chapter on the health program.

DIDN'T TAKE

A little boy was watching his mother put cold cream on her face and asked, "Why do you do that?" And the mother answered, "To make me pretty." After she finished, the little boy looked her over and said, "It didn't work, did it?"

When Mrs. Rampley asked a certain first-year typist what was wrong with the typewriter, the reply came, "Oh, all the little swear words on the top row."

Mrs. Martinez: What is the difference between results and consequences?

Mike Long: Results are what you expect, and consequences are what you get!

THE MAIN INTEREST

Eight-year-old Johnny, the eldest of seven children, was sitting in the hospital waiting room. The nurse came and told him the stork had just brought him a little baby sister and asked if he would like to see her.

"No, thank you," said Johnny. "I've seen a lot of babies, but if it wouldn't be too much trouble, I sure would like to see that stork."

FBLA NEWS

In a recent meeting of the F.B.L.A. chapter, Kay Strange, Sharon Martin and Randy Hughes gave talks on the ABC's of Personal Conduct on the Job.

They were voted on and accepted for their Supervisors Degrees.

A preacher called one of his church members—an elderly woman who was deaf. When she expressed regret that she could not hear his sermon, he modestly and sympathetically said, "Oh, you don't miss much." Much to his surprise, she replied, "So they tell me."

Overheard in the office coffee shop: Well, no, I wouldn't say he's conceited, but he's absolutely convinced that if he hadn't been born, people would want to know why not!

Chevy pickups for '66 are built strong to stand up to tough jobs. Cabs, for example, have double-wall roof construction, a rigid double-wall cowl and husky framing around door openings. Lower side panels of Fleetside models are also double-walled. Chassis, too, is designed for extra strength. You can get a 6½-, 8-, or 9-ft. body and a big new 250-cu.-in. Six. Or specify a rugged 327-cu.-in. V8. Get a double-strong pickup that's a glutton for work!

Protect Your Investment

in your own home community and make it return bigger dividends of prosperity and better living

Thousands of folks . . . including YOU . . . have a big stake in this community.

Lives . . . savings . . . hearts are represented by the homes, businesses, farms, schools, churches . . . and jobs . . . that make up our particular segment of American life.

Faith and hard work created the TRADE VOLUME that made all of this possible . . . as every community is built . . . and grows . . . and LIVES on trade.

Trading at home . . . whenever possible . . . and making it attractive for more of our neighbors to trade here . . . to create greater trade volume . . . is the way to protect our present investments . . . so they will return more dividends of prosperity, contentment, and happiness.

Trade that LEAVES a community, makes empty buildings, empty streets, empty schools, empty churches . . . lost conveniences . . . and depreciated property values. But your dollar . . . spent here . . . where you have your investment . . . will return to you . . . many times.

SOME DOLLARS ARE BIGGER THAN OTHERS

The dollar you get when you sell a bale of cotton is a GROSS Income Dollar. Out of it you must pay production costs — and too often, there is not much left. The dividend dollar you get from your co-op is NET PROFIT. Labor, power and other costs have been paid. It may be 25 TIMES AS BIG as the cotton income dollar.

- For your cotton, we offer trailer-to-textile mill service at the co-op gin.
- The best ginning equipment, experienced personnel, top notch service.
- Aggressive selling in world markets by your marketing assn.
- Cottonseed crushed at a cooperative oil mill.
- Bales stored at efficient cooperative compresses.
- QUALITY COOPERATIVE PLANTING SEED at farmer prices.

Earnings from all these successful farmer-owned businesses returned to the men who grew the cotton. Where else can you find all this?
