PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN REPAIR could be called a slogan of the Council on Dental Health. If our children have not been faced with the tooth decay problem they will confront it sometime in their lives. And most of us have already had realistic experiences with the problem many times. Tooth decay is probably the most prevalent disease in the United States today. There are few people who have a natural immunity to it. A very high percentage of tooth decay may be prevented by learning some facts about it and applying that knowledge in our daily lives.

First we need to realize what tooth decay is and what causes it. In nearly everyone's mouth there are germs that produce acid. Some mouths have immense numbers and usually lots of decay, and other mouths have few and little decay. These germs collect in groups on undisturbed areas on a gelatin-like film, between teeth, close to the gum, on the cheek or tongue surfaces. Such germs thrive on sucrose, which is sugar, and can convert it to a particular acid in one and one-half minutes. This acid dissolves tooth enamel and makes the dentin beneath it soft and discolored. The action from the intake of more complex starches is slower, about twenty-five minutes.

In order to prevent the formation of new cavities in the teeth and to control decay already started, refined sugars and starches should be kept out of the diet. If sweets are restricted, the acid-producing germs do not have enough food upon which to live and reproduce in large numbers. They literally starve to death. The hours of acid action on teeth can be reduced to a minimum by eating only at meal time and then brushing your teeth immediately afterward. Snacks, if unavoidable, should include fruits and vegetables rather than candies, cokes and cookies.

Mrs. R. H. Francis, Silverton school nurse, tells me that approximately 41% of the school students in grades one through eight have tooth decay or have had decay and have had dental repairs. It's rather evident from this that it's a problem that about every family faces. Children are more prone to what we commonly call the "sweet tooth;" therefore, as homemakers we need to supply our children with adequate diets for body growth and repair. For further information on this, call our office, 4271, and we'll send you the Extension bulletin "Food for Fitness—A Daily Food Guide" free.

Are you one of the women asking about having a Home Demonstration Club in Silverton? If so, now is your chance. Mrs. Walter Bean and Mrs. Raymond McJimsey are co-hosting a meeting at Mrs. Bean's home at 1007 Bradford, at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, February 23. A discussion on "What is a Home Demonstration Club?" and how to organize a Home Demonstration Club is planned.

Don't forget to put the 4-H leaders' meeting Thursday, February 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the P.C.A. community room on your calendar. This meeting is to organize a 4-H Leaders' Association. The support of all you leaders is needed to give strength and vitality to the organization.

Mrs. Obra Watson, 4-H Foods Project Leader for the County-Wide girls carrying foods projects, has scheduled a meeting for these 4-H'ers and their mothers in room 15 of the high school at 3:45 p.m. Monday, February 21. This is a planning meeting to set goals for 1966 and to select projects to reach these goals.

Last week sixteen women attended the Home Demonstration Club meeting in the community room of the First National Bank in Quitaque. The program was on Mexican cookery and each sampled an enchilada casserole and took home some Mexican food recipes. Fourteen of the sixteen present were new members. They all left program suggestions for the executive committee which is serving as their program planning committee. They hope to plan their year's programs to meet the needs and interests of the Quitaque community.

If you have missed the last two meetings, plan to be there for the next one which is scheduled for March 9, at 4:00 p.m. in the community room.

Six 4-H Foods Leaders met in the P.C.A. community room last Thursday to plan the foods project work for the girls this year. The leaders who attended were Mrs. James Davis, Mrs. Alva C. Jasper, Mrs. Jack Sutton, Mrs. Nuke May and Mrs. Dona Gauntt. Mrs. Obra Watson was chairman of the group and had each one present to tell their own success stories for the past year as well as give suggestions for sound programs for this year.

Canned red salmon, prunes and prune products top the February plentiful foods list prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. The list also includes fresh oranges, grapefruit, onions, potatoes and sweet potatoes. Markets will be well supplied with prunes and prune products from the large 1965 California dried prune crop.

Wouldn't you rather eat a tangerine or sip its juice than take a pill to relieve your sniffles?

Cold sufferers should welcome this good news from the U. S. Department of agriculture. At the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station recently, researchers were studying how plants use nitrogen from fertilizers when they made an exciting discovery. They found that tangerines contain the decongestant synephrine in an abundant amount.

Prior to its discovery in nature, synephrine was made in the laboratory and medically prescribed as a stimulant and decongestant for the relief of colds. Since 1927, it has been recommended for children and adults in minimum doses of 100 milligrams. An equivalent amount is contained in only 8 to 12 ounces of tangerine juice, the researchers explain.

Although citrus fruits have long been recommended for warding off colds, there is the new possibility that eating tangerines can give relief from sniffles after you catch a cold.

Paul Miller, local Veterans Service Officer, has announced that he will no longer be making trips to Silverton and Quitaque.

Mr. Miller made the following statement: "It is with regret that I find that there is no longer sufficient work to do among veterans to justify weekly trips to Silverton and Quitaque. For more than 20 years I have made these trips regularly and have enjoyed this work very much. I have made many lasting friends and I hope that I have been of service to the veterans of the area. It is my wish to continue to serve you whenever this service is needed. I will be in my office in Tulla each day except Wednesday and when I am needed I will always be ready to come to Briscoe County to serve you as I wish to remain your service officer."

"My relations with my employers, the County Judge and Commissioners of Briscoe County, has always been the very best. I have always enjoyed their fullest cooperation. The decision to discontinue weekly trips has been my own."

"Call on me at my office in Tulla or phone me at WY 5-2204, or at my home WY 5-3295. My mailing address is P. O. Box 114, Tulla, Texas 79088."

Mothers' March Conducted Monday

Members of L. O. A. Junior Study Club were joined by members of the Silverton Young Homemakers in conducting the Mothers' March for the National Foundation-March of Dimes Monday night. More than $450.00 has been collected for this fund this year through solicitations and memorials.

As the young women of the community went from home to home taking funds for the March of Dimes, it was with the knowledge that every other minute somewhere a heartbroken mother was asking, "Why did it happen to my baby?" Every gift to the Mothers' March is a promise that answers will be found. The most advanced medical care for children with defects will continue to be given at the growing nationwide network of March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers. The day will come when understanding of the causes and prevention of birth defects may assure all children of the right to be well-born.

If you have not made your contribution and would like to do so, please give your check to First State Bank in Silverton or to Box 255, Silverton. Checks are made payable to March of Dimes, and 25% of the amount given remains in Briscoe County to assist local children who have birth defects.

Why I'm Glad I'm An American

by Randy Hughes

I am glad I'm an American because of the freedoms, voice and protection that I receive everyday. No other nation in the world gives its people all three of these things.

By being an American, I have freedoms that no one else in the world could possibly have. The most important freedom I have is my freedom of religion. Religion is very important to me. I enjoy being able to worship in the way I choose. I have the freedom of education. I am free to learn or waste my time. I also have freedom of speech, but restrictions have been put on what I can say publicly to protect this freedom. For example, I am not allowed to shout "fire" in a building filled with people. This is one freedom I use very often, and sometimes unwisely.

The voice I have in the government is another reason why I am glad I'm an American. I am not yet allowed to vote for my country's leaders, but that doesn't mean that my voice is not heard. If there is something being done by the government that I disapprove, I can begin a petition against it. I do have a vote in my school elections. Some of the people I elect now may become our nation's leaders.

One other important reason I'm glad I'm an American is the protection I receive everyday. The Department of Public Safety protects me from thieves, murders, swindlers, and myself on the highways. The police put restrictions on me, but these restrictions help protect me. Another way that I am protected is by the national defense. There are men fighting now so that I will be safe. Someday I will have to do my share so that others will be protected.

The freedoms, voice in the government, and protection that I have are three of the most important reasons that I am glad that I am glad I'm an American. I know that I often take them for granted, and would be miserable if I lost even one of them. However, I enjoy being able to honestly appreciate each and every one of my reasons for being glad that I'm an American.

The big trouble with bucket seats is that not everyone has the same size buckets.

Silverton Owl Scoring Statistics

Silverton basketball opponents have scored 60 points per game this year while the Owls scored 38 points per game.

Individual Scoring	Free Throw
Per Game	%
Jr. John Montague 6.8	25%
Jr. Randy Hughes 5.4	32%
Jr. Doug Turner 4.5	25%
So. Lynn Frizzell 3.6	35%
So. Randy Cantwell 3.8	22%
Jr. Jim Burson 3.3	38%
Sr. Darrell Long 2.6	20%
Jr. Ira Gallington 6.6	27%
Jr. Charlie Baker 2.6	23%
Fr. Mark Branam 6.8	35%

The coaches are looking for a much-improved ball club next year with the experience that will be returning from this year's ball club. Darrell Long is the only senior. Long did a fine job and had great desire and determination.

With the assistance of the Eighth Grade boys, the team should improve. These boys have been improving steadily in the last few ball games.

The coaches have requested that their appreciation be expressed to fans who have followed the team through a losing season. Your support has given the team an incentive to better itself.

Sweetheart Banquet Held Saturday

"Fairlyland Romance" was the theme of the Sweetheart Banquet held Saturday night in the school cafeteria. In the center of the room was a wishing well into which dates could throw coins and make wishes. The walls were decorated with star-dotted twisted crepe paper streamers, and along the bottom of the walls was a crepe paper picket fence with roses climbing on it. The ceiling was covered with star-dotted crepe paper arranged in a scalloped effect.

The nut cups, napkins, programs and place cards carried out the theme. The tables were also decorated with green, yellow and orchid ceramic pixies. The servers were members of the eighth grade class, and were dressed in pixie costumes.

Elaine Boyles, president of the Future Homemakers of America, welcomed those present and introduced the chapter mothers, Mrs. H. G. Boyles, Mrs. George Long, and Mrs. Edwin Dickerson. The F.H.A. sponsor, Mrs. Jerry Purcell was introduced and Darrell Long, the F.H.A. Beau, was presented a gift.

Entertainment was provided by The Mysteries from Floydada. The band also played for the prom which followed the banquet.

ANSWER PLEASE

Roland, did you find a picture of a real "Devil" the other day?

Van, what was it you found in your car Wednesday after school?

What was in your pocket Thursday that Judy K. was so interested in, Joe?

Mrs. Purcell, did the bell really not ring at the home ec. building second period Thursday?

Did Miss Self have indigestion Thursday, or was she worried about Saturday night again?

Grosdidier's going to make a gentleman out of you yet, isn't he Jerry?

Mrs. Purcell, is Vicki really that bad at making paper roses?

Karen, do blondes with contacts really have more fun?

Monte M., do you really not care how tall you are?

Been spinning any more chairs on one leg lately Clifford?

Jane, what's so "interesting" about Homer and Goodyear? Do they have anything to do with your 1979 graduation?

Ian, did you find out whether or not it pays to have a lover's quarrel before the banquet?

Joni Faye, are you really a non-profitable beautician?

Is it true that Linda M. did what Joe told everybody she did?

One way to be popular is to listen closely to a lot of things you already know.

One trouble with the new math is that the teachers are still using the old marks.

Are you sure you are an American? Can you prove it by your knowledge? Can you prove it by your love, loyalty, sincerity, or faith? Are you proud of your leaders, your freedom, and your heritage? Then you are truly an American.

Federal Aid to Education

by Linda Fisch

In 1870, a representative from Massachusetts introduced the first federal aid to education bill in Congress. His proposal called "for the establishment of national schools in all states where the state failed to provide adequate public school instruction." The bill was defeated, but since then, hundreds of bills have been introduced in Congress. On ten occasions, a federal-aid bill has been approved by one house, but never by both on the same bill in the same session of Congress.

The cases for federal aid is that the federal government has the responsibility of contributing to the support of public education. Education is vital to the welfare of all persons and to the national defense. Money provided by the government would be spent by schools in ways they want. The National Defense Education Act is an example of federal aid without federal control. This act "prohibits the national government from exercising any control over the activities, program of instruction, administration, or personnel of any school system." Another point in favor of federal aid is that everyone is entitled to equal educational opportunities. States are sometimes not equal in wealth. The difference makes it hard for them to provide equal education for the citizens.

People opposed to federal aid say that it will lead to federal control of education. When the government contributes funds, it will also take over school boards. Most state and local governments are able to finance education without help. One expert on financing states that without federal aid, teachers' salaries have been raised, new schools built, and course offerings expanded. The state and local governments are in a better position to pay public school costs because the national debt is high.

The issue is almost one hundred years old, and will probably be a major issue in the years to come.

S.H.S. Schedule

by Margaret

A schedule day in S.H.S. Has nothing to do, but assignments and tests. Each day we attend without enough rest. Hoping somehow our work will be blessed.

Our first-period class is in room fifteen. With a teacher who's sometimes nice and sometimes mean. From George Washington and his cherry tree. To Ben Franklin and his electric key.

Algebra is the class we have second. With equations and graphs we must reckon. When acting silly we call the teacher Grod. He then becomes serious and assigns a load.

After a short period, with little relaxation. We trod to the gym to take physical education. Our kind but particular instructor. Runs us til we're weary and sore. Although we often fuss and pout. We know someday we're going to win out.

Mrs. Martinez teaches literature and grammar. From nouns and verbs to Parker and Thurler. She is really quite nice, but there's something in her way. For it seems that seldom anyone receives an "A".

My home ec. teacher's name is Purcell. She teaches us to sew and cook well. She tries to prepare us for some nice young man. But it's almost impossible when we've ruined the sauce pan.

A man called Martinez teaches chemistry. Which is complicated as Greek to me. This is the last, finally. The time being half past three.

Someday a smart politician is going to realize that the way to get votes is to give out trading stamps.

Tuna or pimento sandwiches, vegetable soup, crackers, milk and fruit.

ENGLISH III

by Kathy Hughes

There is a room painted shades of green, It holds English students numbering fifteen. There are tall ones and a short one, Stocky ones and lean, And a medium-sized teacher sometimes is mean.

Everyone's hair is brown, Their eyes are different hues. It seems as though they were frown. For to be unhappy they refuse. It isn't different from other classes, To assume that would be wrong. But all these lads and lassies, Seem to nicely get along.

There are smart students smarter ones, A loud one and some quiet, Then there's Mike Long, Who's always a riot.

Teacher, to your sympathies I appeal, I know I won't receive your approval seal, But this is the best non-prose That I can compose.

You won't get rich overnight buying U. S. Savings Bonds. But for the long run, they make an excellent investment.

You get a guaranteed rate of interest—3 3/4% when held to maturity—so there's no ups and downs to worry about.

You also get certain tax advantages since Savings Bonds aren't subject to state or local income taxes and the federal tax can be deferred until the Bonds are cashed.

But probably most important is that Bonds pay off in more than dollars. When you get your Bond investment back you know it has helped Uncle Sam strengthen the cause of freedom (your cause) all around this troubled world of ours.

Buy U. S. Savings Bonds and own a share of America. It's a good outfit to do business with.
