Homemakers Have Called Meeting

The Young Homemakers held a called meeting in the P.C.A. community room on Tuesday, May 31, at 3:00 p.m.

A College for Young Homemakers will be held at Wayland Baptist College June 21-22, 1966. Registration forms were filled in and plans were made to attend the college.

A survey on sewing was completed by each member present, as a favor to Thelma Maxey, a student at Texas Tech. She needed the information for some of her college studies.

Plans were discussed for the next "Teen Time" June 16.

4-H Adult Leaders To Meet Monday

The Briscoe County 4-H Adult Leaders Association will meet on Monday, June 13, in the P.C.A. community room at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. Don Garrison will give the program on "4-H Records."

Homemade ice cream will be served.

Core drilling and other preliminary work on the proposed Mackenzie Municipal Reservoir project is expected to begin in about two weeks, and should be completed in three or four months.

Action on the proposal to go ahead with the preliminary studies was taken at the regular Board meeting held Monday night in the Briscoe County Courtroom.

Lon Davis, president of the board, called the meeting to order. Members attending were S. W. Ross, Floydada; O. C. Bailey and Tom Moore, Lockney; John Ziegler, Tula; Milton Dudley and Charles Whitfill, Silvertown. Representatives of the Lockney, Floydada, Tula and Silvertown city councils were also present.

Don Bookout of Tula, attorney for the Authority, read the minutes of the previous meeting. John Ziegler read the financial statement which reflected a balance of $8,458.15 on deposit for the Authority.

Davis reviewed the fact that the loan of $75,000 which the Authority had hoped could be secured from a government agency for the purpose of paying for core drilling and preliminary planning of the Mackenzie Dam, was not acted upon because the agency was out of money.

Jim Nichols, a representative of Freese, Nichols and Endress, consulting engineers of Fort Worth, reported that "realizing that the Authority needs to move forward, we have determined what we believe to be a reasonable estimate of our 'direct out-of-pocket' expenses in connection with these studies and have revised our charges accordingly. By 'direct out-of-pocket' expenses we mean actual money paid out by us but not including such overhead expenses as insurance, office and administrative expenses, professional and promotional expenses, and, of course, nothing has been added for profit. The preliminary engineering fee computed on this basis will be $41,800.

"We have also revised downward our estimate of costs necessary to obtain sufficient information concerning the foundation of the dam from $15,000 to $7,500. Our original estimate for these studies was on the conservative side and we are confident that this work can be done for the lower amount.

"We would propose to commence work immediately on the preliminary engineering phase of the project providing the following conditions were agreeable to the Authority: (1) Upon completion of the preliminary engineering report it was found that the project was feasible from both an engineering and financial point of view and was approved by the voters then we would be paid for our services as set forth in the existing contract between our firm and the Authority.

(2) On completion of the preliminary engineering report, it was found to be advantageous to the Authority to delay action of an indefinite period, then our firm would be paid on the basis outlined above in the amount of $41,800 plus the actual cost of foundation studies performed by others. If, at a later date, the project was reactivated, then we would be paid for our services as set forth in the existing contract less whatever payments had been previously made under this agreement."

Nichols went on to point out that, while the company is reducing the amount of fees allocated to the preliminary engineering phase, it is not their intention to reduce the overall fee of 6 1/2% for the total project. The reduction of 40% for preliminary studies and reports would be added to the designs, plans and specifications.

Rains Soak Parts of Briscoe County

A spectacular lightning display accompanied the dark clouds which dumped rainfall in amounts over two inches on parts of Briscoe County Tuesday evening.

Showers started in Silvertown about 4:30 p.m., and intermittent rains continued until about 10:00 p.m. The official gauge in town measured 1.15 inches.

Mrs. Martin Bean reported about 2.25 at their place southeast of town; Bryant Eddleman reported .50 at his place, and Glen Lindsey reported about two inches of rain accompanied by damaging hail at his place east of town. Lindsey said his wheat was damaged and some of his cotton would have to be replanted. He said the heaviest hail apparently followed the line of caprock breaks.

A light, brief hail storm passed over Silvertown.

Some excitement was caused early in the evening when three spray planes which had been out spraying grasshoppers returned to the local airport. There was a strong crosswind and an east-west runway was needed. The three double-winged planes made several passes over the north-south runway and were unable to land. Sheriff Vinson Smith had the highway cleared of traffic in order that the planes could land, but the absence of communication between the Sheriff and the planes apparently prevented this. It was thought that the planes made their safe landing at the Tula airport and returned to Silvertown Wednesday morning. A large crowd was attracted to the airport area while the planes were trying to land.

Richard Jacobson of New York City was best man. Ushers were Jaye Turner of Dallas, brother of the bride, and Stephen Windward of Santa Monica, California.

The church fellowship hall was the scene of the reception following the ceremony.

For traveling to Lakeside, Arizona, where the groom will work for the Forest Service, the bride wore a two-piece dress of yellow silk with white accessories and an orchid corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

In checking recipes to share with you, one that was a delicious success at a recent dinner I enjoyed with my mother, was Yorkshire Pudding served with roast beef gravy.

Yorkshire Pudding
 Old-fashioned Yorkshire Pudding is cooked in the dripping pan under the roast and puffs up all around the meat. An easier way is to bake it in individual glass dishes, or a baking pan which keeps it crisp and dry. It is important, however, to use plenty of the beef drippings in preparing the pudding.

2 eggs
 1 cup milk
 Beef drippings
 3/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons unsifted all purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat the eggs well, add milk and 3 tablespoons drippings. Beat in the flour and salt. Blend thoroughly. Grease 11" x 7" x 1 1/2" baking pan or individual glass dishes with drippings and pour in batter. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F) 10 minutes, reduce heat to 350 degrees F, and bake about 20 minutes, or until crisp and golden brown. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lesley and Bruce of El Paso were weekend by Jeanne (taken from the Sunday, June 5, edition of the Lovington Daily Leader, this column is written by Jeanne Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dudley)

She was a little bit of a thing, and when I was a child I always marveled that all these boisterous, good-natured uncles of mine could have been her "little boys." But when she spoke they listened with love and respect.

After I became the mother of four boys, I once told her that I had not really appreciated her talents until I realized something about the job of rearing a family. With only four young males underfoot, I asked how she had managed, with nine sons and three daughters. "Why honey, for 20 years, I didn't know what I was doing," she quipped.

Her husband died years ago, she lost a young daughter who was struck by lightning during an electrical storm. Another daughter was the victim of cancer, one son was killed in an accident, and another died of a severe illness.

A grandson lost his life during the Texas City disaster. A granddaughter, great-granddaughter and three great-great grandchildren were killed last year on a rain slick highway.

Yet she didn't dwell on the tragedies in her life—she was independent and busy. For 93 of her 95 years, she was active and kept tabs on her descendants. She pieced quilts for the grandchildren, made pin cushions and other handmade items for her friends, and kept up with an energetic correspondence with the scattered children and in-laws in various sections of the country and abroad. Yearly, she reigned over the annual family reunions. She was a little tottery those last years, but celebrated with gusto nevertheless, as her family gathered to honor her.

Then a new problem—she admitted she wasn't feeling well. At 93, for the first time in her life, she was hospitalized.

With dire predictions and pessimism from many, she underwent surgery for a malignancy, but recuperated and once again picked up the threads of her life. Then last summer she broke her hip. With occasional rallies, her strength ebbed.

She died Sunday night, this little Christian woman, who was my grandmother.

She had almost a century of service to others—of inspiring those she loved—and of enjoying the association with her family and friends.

My thoughts of her are happy ones—she would like that.

Pete Dennis of Los Angeles, California, has been a recent visitor with his mother, Mrs. Virginia Dennis.
