All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

The following items were handed me by Mrs. Marvin Reynolds when she had returned home from a visit in Silsbee. This is the reproduction of a letter from an unidentified soldier which was published by Mrs. Gertrude Palmer of Silsbee, who is collecting Bibles to send to servicemen overseas.

Soldier Tells How Bible Saved His Life

"Dear Sis: I don't know where to start first. So many things have happened since I last wrote you. Well, to begin with, I have escaped death at the hands of the enemy in a way so amazing I am still in a daze. You remember I told you I was going over armed with the Bible, too? That Bible is the reason I am still here and able to write this letter to all America. Here is the story: "I gave my buddy the information we had collected, told him to beat it, and prepared myself to face the enemy. It was the first time I had been face-to-face with the necessity of pointing my gun at a man to shoot the life from his body. I thought fast, then I said, 'Lord, it's Your responsibility now.' "As I reached for my carbine, a shot from one of them struck me in the breast and blasted me down. But my buddy had not gone. Thinking I was dead, he turned for me, grabbed my carbine as well as his own, and blasted away with both guns. He was hit, too—his knees with three bullet wounds. But when he was finished there was not one of the enemy left. "He was amazed when I rolled over and tried to get up. The force of the bullet had only stunned me. Dazedly, I wondered why as I pulled that little Bible out of my pocket and in a muteness looked at the ugly hole in the cover. It had ripped through Samuel and Kings and kept going. Where do you think it stopped? In the middle of Psalms 91, pointing like a finger at this verse. 'A thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand, but shall not come nigh thee.' "Sis, when I read that verse it raised me off the ground. I did not know there was such a verse in the Bible. I'd been reading mostly in the New Testament. In utter humility I said: 'Thank you, precious Lord.'"

This soldier goes on to relate in his letter to his sister that when he got his buddy back to the post, his buddy called him over to say, "This convinces me I want to get right with God." He fell to his knees with the three wounds and prayed until his body became almost numb. But he wouldn't give up. And when he knew the Lord had heard his cry, and had saved him, he ran outside and shouted to the whole camp. The soldier continued in his letter that he had talked to many, many of the boys and many 'have come out for God.' "I tell you, Sis, prayer is going to win this war. Not guns alone. Fervent, agonizing prayer. "Pray, Sis, pray as you have never prayed before. Tell everyone to pray. Tell all America to go on its knees. "Until nations and people have paid in blood and tears for thrusting God out of their hearts, and out of their homes, nations and lands, this war will not end. Tell them to send Bibles and more Bibles. A Bible will give a soldier the confidence that God is with him." In his closing, he urged his sister to get this letter published in papers, broadcast on the air and every possible means of communication from coast to coast.

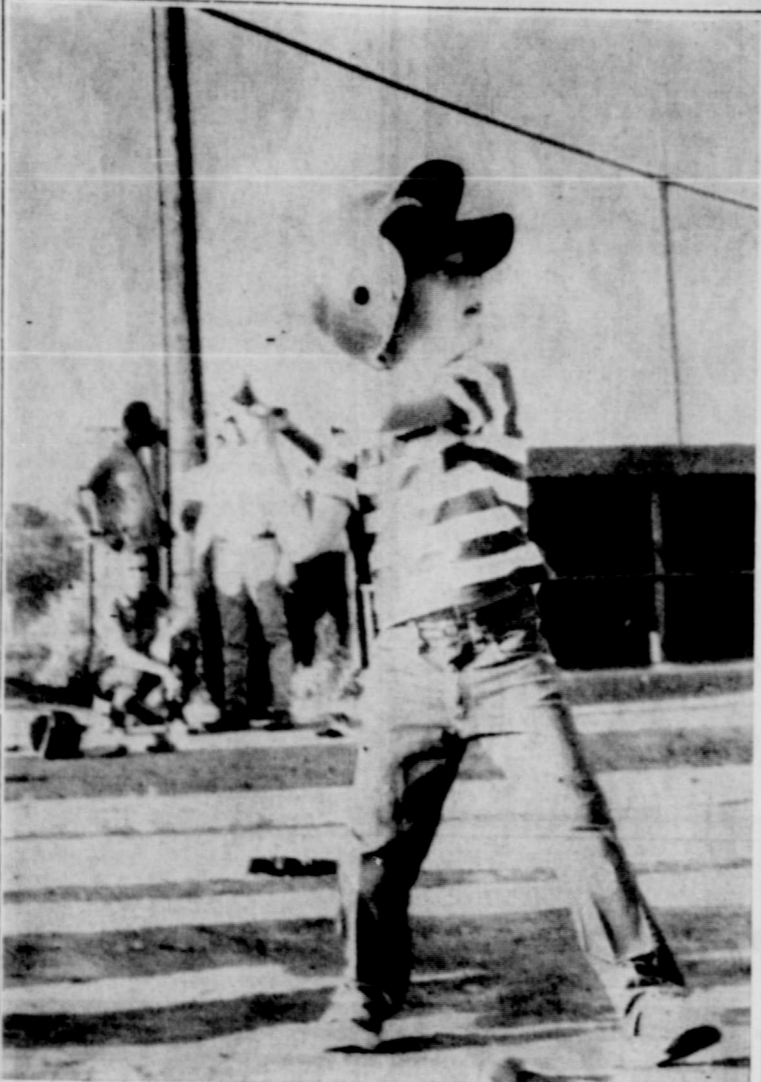

DYING AND LIVING

(Written by a group of soldiers and sent for publication by W. Sp. 5th Class W. E. Blanchard, who lived in LaMarque before entering the service)

Take a man and put him alone Put him 12,000 miles from home Empty his heart of all but blood Make him live in sweat and mud This is the life I have to live And why my soul to the devil I give. You "peace boys" rant from your easy chair But you don't know what it's like over there You have a ball without half trying

BRISCOE COUNTY NEWS

Good Rains Continue

Rains during the past week have totaled 3.95 inches in Silvertton. A whopping 2.35 inches fell during the night on Wednesday of last week, and another 1.60 inches was measured Tuesday night. This brings the official total rainfall for Silvertton to 4.60 inches for July. Last week's rains varied from half an inch to five inches in the county. This week, rural reports varied from one to three inches. Some wind damage was reported to crops west of town. No hail had been reported at presstime Wednesday, with light showers continuing. However, a damaging hail was received across the Tule Canyon several weeks ago which had not been reported to the News Office until now. Mrs. Bill Malone, who lives on Highway 284 just across the canyon, said that a heavy hail damaged her roof and crops recently, and that re-roofing had just been finished. So far, only a very light peppering of hail was received in Silvertton early in the spring.

Rainbow Rummage Sale Is Saturday

Members of the Silvertton Rainbow Assembly will have a rummage sale in the building north of The House of Gifts Saturday morning from 7:30 until 11:00 o'clock. The girls will appreciate the clothes anyone may be wishing to discard. If you have things for the sale, please bring them to the sale building Saturday morning or notify Mrs. Pat Whitfill, Mother Advisor (Bean 4400).

Jane Self, Grand Representative from Arkansas to Texas, Grand Assembly of Texas; Roy Ann Bomar, Past Worthy Advisor; Judy Stephens, Worthy Advisor; Mrs. Pat Whitfill, Mother Advisor; and Mrs. Cortez Dowlen of Canyon, Grand Visitor, Grand Assembly of Texas, were honored at the last regular meeting of the Silvertton Rainbow Assembly. Mrs. Dowlen also made her official visit to the Assembly and plans were made for the joint meeting held here Monday evening.

4-H Talent Tour Planned July 23-28

The 4-H Talent Club will have its 25th annual tour July 23-28. The club, which has won recognition for its contribution to 4-H, will initiate 16 from Texas, 2 from New Mexico, and one each from Colorado and Kansas. The purpose of the tour, sponsored by P.G.C., is to interest outstanding 4-H'ers in agricultural cooperation. Joni Self of Silvertton is the representative of District 2, and will be among the 16 Texas members making the tour.

While over there your boys are dying Burn your draft cards, march at dawn Plant your signs on the White House lawn You all want to ban the bomb "There's no real war in Vietnam" Use your drugs and have your fun And then refuse to use a gun. There's nothing else for you to do And I'm supposed to die for you? I'll hate you till the day I die You made me hear my buddies cry I saw his arm a bloody shred I heard them say, "This one is dead." It's a large price he had to pay— Not to live another day He had the guts to fight and die He paid the price, but what did he buy? He bought your life by losing his But who gives a damn what a soldier gives? His wife does, parents, and maybe his sons But they are about the only ones.

SAFETY FILM PLANNED HERE

The "Pulse of Life," a 30-minute color film narrated by Raymond Massey, will be shown on July 28, at 3:00 p.m. in the PCA community room.

Resusi Ann, a manikin designed so that mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external heart massage can be practiced and checked for correctness with a cage register will be demonstrated.

The film and manakin are jointly owned and demonstrated by five rural electric cooperatives.

This is a good safety film and demonstration which has been recommended for the saving of many lives by those who have learned the proper techniques by seeing it and practicing life saving on the manikin.

All Home Demonstration Clubwomen in Briscoe County are invited to attend, and a special invitation is being extended to 4-H Club members.

Volunteer Firemen Attend School

David Tipton and Jerry Patton, Silvertton volunteer firemen, are attending the 38th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School along with more than 2000 men from approximately 30 states on the Texas A&M University campus this week.

Firemen Tipton and Patton are being sponsored by Briscoe County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward their cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting, the county Farm Bureaus and the insurance companies in the statewide program have sponsored 140 firemen at the school.

The insurance company believes volunteer fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire. It is their hope this program will help the Silvertton Volunteer Department do even better in the future for residents of Briscoe County.

BRUSH CONTROL - AN ESSENTIAL STEP IN GRASSLAND DEMONSTRATION

The basic need to bring Texas' grassland back into high production is to improve or restore the plants that can produce high quality forage most efficiently under Texas conditions. Range restoration must consist of a four-point program (1) control of undesirable brush, (2) re-establishment of the desirable plants by natural or artificial means, (3) control of sprouts and re-infestation, and (4) management of the grass to maintain the grasslands in high productivity.

Extensive control efforts have already been made by soil and water conservation district co-operators, but much more remains to be done in this field.

Effective treatment of brush is a complex and difficult problem, as well as a costly operation. Complete treatment for some thickly infested areas may include many operations with a total outlay of $12 to $15 per acre. Brush control must be a part of a long-term conservation plan that is systematically applied if it is to be effective in restoring the grasslands to their potential productivity of high quality forage.

The second step in range restoration is to improve the stand and productivity of the forage plants once the brush has been controlled. Some grasslands have enough of the desirable forage plants left to make needed improvement if the grass is given a chance. Most grass on brushland is in low vigor, the result of competing with the brush for sunlight, moisture, and soil nutrients. A rest period of at least 90 days following treatment is essential. Deferring grazing following treatment is often the key to successful improvement. Treatment on many acres has been nullified because the grasses were not given a chance following brush control. Reinfestation must be controlled as the third step in range conservation if lasting benefits are to be realized. Partial control, resprouts, and seed, either on the ground or brought in by birds or animals, are important sources of reinfestation. There is no treatment presently known that eradicates all the undesirable plants. Complete eradication is generally impossible and impractical; and it is often not desirable because the woody plants may have considerable value as wildlife food and cover plants.

The most important step in restoration and maintenance of grasslands is the wise use of plants. Plants manufacture food in their leaves from carbon dioxide taken from the air, and nutrients absorbed from the soil. Remove the leaves and the plant can't grow, showing how important the leaves are in the growth processes of the plant. Continuous close grazing will prevent the leaves from making foods, and will result in eventual death of the plant.

It has been found that plants can make satisfactory growth if no more than about half of the leaves are removed. This fact is the key in successful grassland management. A good stand of vigorous grasses is Nature's best defense against invading weeds, shrubs, and trees, as well as insurance and reserve feed for a drought.

Management of livestock to avoid excessive use is essential. Rainfall fluctuates widely and so does the forage produced. This requires seasonal and yearly changes in herd numbers, for it is during the dry years that the grasses can be hurt the most. Flexibility in animal numbers is needed to make adjustments in line with forage produced. For this reason, it is best to carry a permanent or base herd somewhat below the number that the forage will support in a good year. The extra forage produced in good years can be harvested with carryover or stocker animals. It is also important that the herd can be reduced readily without undue sacrifice when shortages occur.

It is wise management and good business to carry a feed reserve for poor moisture years. Reserve forage may be in the form of extra grass on the ground, reserve or rested pastures, stored feeds, or grazing crops. It will never hurt to have some extra feed, but it will hurt to have to buy high-priced feeds or to lose animals or production because the forage ran out.

Range restoration is not a simple job. It requires technical knowledge of many subjects. It requires an evaluation of the many-sided problems involved, and an analysis of the possible solutions to achieve the optimum benefits desired. It requires the development of a plan and systematic application of the needed treatment that will give the maximum results in line with a rancher's wishes and financial resources.

The high cost and complexity of the problems, the many species involved, the treatment required, and the need for more effective control measures for some species of brush make it imperative that long-range plans be developed and carried out by all concerned. An all-out approach will involve research, financing, educational and operational agencies, as well as unified and widespread action by livestock operators themselves through their local soil and water conservation districts.

Kirk Durham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Durham, underwent a tonsillectomy at the Medical Center in Plainview Friday morning. Fitzgerald; Mrs. Norvell Breedlove, Chris, Craig and Curtis of Tulia; Mrs. Don Cornett and Kim, Mrs. Paul Williams and Mrs. Charles Sarchet.

Every girl needs home economics as preparation for both marriage and career. Home economics equips the girl who marries after high school for the adventures of life . . . makes a rewarding career for the girl who will go on to college, a career, marriage, motherhood, and then back to a career . . . and aids the dedicated girl in every phase of her service. Home economics is, in fact, useful for EVERY girl.

For the bride, home economics is the basis of homemaking. A B.A. or B.S. degree from one of the good home economics colleges is a ticket to a well-paid job anywhere in the country—and in a big city, a girl with a Masters degree and some experience can "write her own ticket."

Home economists marry to an average rate for most girls, and a better than average rate for career girls. A related statistic is that home economists have the lowest divorce rate of any group in America—perhaps an indication that the fundamentals of homemaking add up to successful husband care!

There is presently a drastic shortage of professional home economists. For the 10,000 girls—marriage minded or dedicated—who graduate with that major each year, it is the key to 15,000 good jobs. There is bound to be an even greater demand for their

CARDS OF THANKS

We would like to say thank you from the bottom of our hearts for the many acts of kindness shown us during the illness and loss of Mother. The interest you showed in her and in us was greatly appreciated. To all of you who kept our children, the prayers that were said, the many flowers and cards that were sent and the donations made in her memory, and to those who took time out to attend the services for her, may in your hours of sorrow such wonderful people come forth to comfort you is our prayer. The Raymond McJimsey family

I would like to take this means of expressing my deep sincere thanks to each of you who helped me and my family during my stay in the hospital. For the flowers, food, gifts, visits, cards and many other things, I say thank you. I have always said and still say: Silverton is the nicest place to live and have the nicest people for neighbors. May Gods' richest blessings be yours. Carrie Dell Dickerson

Thanks so much for the cards, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital. Penny Arnold

In Memory Of Anna Parrish

Mother of Lajuanna McJimsey by Mrs. Doyle Stephens Amidst a mound of flowers A symbol of friends who care Wrapped in the essence of their beauty You had to leave her there.

The air was filled with God-made fragrance A truly lovely and comforting bower But the fairest Rose was the one that was hidden Amongst the beautiful flowers.

The blossoms will perish, their petals fall Their sweetness will wither away And only a hint of their beauty remains After the heat of a hot Texas day. But they served their purpose to comfort your heart And for awhile to brighten the sod: But your Rose has been transplanted forever to bloom In the beautiful Garden of God.

She has gone to be with her Saviour In the land of endless day Where the flowers are ever blooming She has gone where sin and sorrow And all tears are washed away. Pain and illness never come She has made her journey joyfully To her beautiful heavenly home.

We know that she will not be lonely For she joined a daughter with God Once more they are reunited As the golden streets they trod. With the help of a loving companion Each reading and searching the Word They reared a family of six children Taught them, too, to trust the Lord.

One by one, someday, she'll welcome Each one of them, face to face There to share with her the glory Of the Saviour's wonderful Grace.
