

Farm Legislation: What Next?

by Mike McManigal
Submitted by Beryl Long

The next year and a half is the most critical period of time for the American farmer in thirty years. There is a veritable bombardment of anti-farm legislation propaganda being turned out by critics. This propaganda is aimed at defeating the extension of the 1965 farm bill. An example of this type of criticism employing half truths and distortions is the article which appeared in the March 1968 issue of "Readers Digest." This article was written by the farm program "expert," Rep. Paul Findley, Republican from Illinois. The end product of this type of slanted propaganda is that the millions of urban consumers and voters believe these self-styled "experts." They are quite willing to believe that the majority of American farmers are eager to return to the "benefits" that they enjoyed before there was a farm program. The critics realize that the urban dwellers would like to believe that everyone could do without a farm program. No one enjoys paying taxes. Everyone wishes to keep his money for his own benefit.

What can be done to insure enactment of a farm program extension? Farm organizations must begin now to educate the urban consumer to the need for a farm program. The consumer must be taught the fact that food is a bargain. Food in the grocery store costs the American consumer far more than the farmer receives. Yet, adding the cost of the program to the price of food, the consumer is still getting a bargain. Incidentally, the cost of the farm program includes programs such as school lunch subsidies and P.E.480 donations to foreign countries. All Americans receive other benefits from the farm program such as conservation, which insures that the land will produce sufficient food in the centures to come. An extension of the 1965 Farm Act is possible only if all farm groups unite and present one plan. The reason that the burden falls upon the farm organizations rather than the administration is that the critics have managed to convince the urbanites that the "bureaucracy" is interested in perpetuating the program. Write-in campaigns by individuals urging extension of the bill will help passage immensely. Election of congressmen who supported farm programs is a must if favorable action is obtained.

Why have a farm program? The farmer cannot regulate his own production or set his own price. He must buy his necessities at prices asked by the manufacturers. He can only sell his crops at prices set by the commodity buyers. Weather influences his production. He constantly must strive to increase production because of the cost-price squeeze. This only compounds the problem. The farmer needs a price support for his crop. He needs encouragement in limiting his acreage in the form of diversion payments. He needs cost-sharing in order to carry out conservation practices that cannot benefit him during his lifetime, but that are intended to benefit future generations by conserving land and water. The purpose of this article is not to show that farm programs are perfect; there are doubtless many ways that the present law can be modified to accomplish more. But, seriously, isn't it better than no program at all? Program critics such as Rep. Findley are not interested in improving the program; they wish to abolish it. Think about that possibility for a moment.

Who does the farm program benefit? Logically, there would be no reason for a farm program if it didn't help the farmer. I firmly believe that the farmer has been helped a great deal by our present program. There are other segments of the economy benefited by the farm program. Manufacturers directly or indirectly depend upon the farmer for much of their business. How many products could the American farmer buy if he did not have any money. Not only manufacturers, but urban workers are enriched by the prosperity of the farmer. These same workers who are taxed in support of farm programs are in turn being employed by manufacturers who are being enriched by farmers spending farm program money. There is no single sector of the American economy that does not depend on the other sectors for growth and stability. If farmers lose the program, they will have to reduce spending as their incomes fall. This will cause a recession in other sectors of the economy. This fact must be impressed upon the urban voter. He must be made to realize that his urban congressman will be voting in favor of the consumer's prosperity and well-being when the congressman votes for extension of the farm bill. It will take many urban congressional votes to pass an extension.

The program critics urge the farmer to get off the "dole" and return to the "free enterprise" system. This is fine, except that in our complex economy nearly all segments of the economy are being subsidized in one form or another. Government contracts, research grants, postage subsidies, and direct aid to groups other than farmers are prevalent in the United States; yet, strangely, only the farmer is urged to get off the "dole" so that more money can be made available for urban development. I hope that the readers of this article realize that the farmer is not a traitor to our free enterprise system simply because he accepts farm program money. Very few businessmen in other sectors of the economy make as little return proportionately as does the farmer. This lack of return is with the farm program monies added in. What do you think would be the return percentage without a farm program?

All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

I'm glad to see the flags at the top of the masts again!

I think that flying the flag at half mast is an honor which should be reserved for the heads of state. We have lost a number of national heroes—astronauts, for example—and other Nobel Prize winners who haven't been so honored, AND I DON'T THINK THE FLAGS SHOULD HAVE BEEN FLOWN AT HALF MAST FOLLOWING THE DEATH OF DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, regardless of one's opinion of the work he was doing.

It was not right for a man to kill Dr. King. It was not right for a man to snuff out the life of President John Kennedy. Nor was it right to assassinate any of the others who have been assassinated over the hundreds of years since time began.

If Dr. King is to go down in history as a promoter of peaceful movements, then how can people reconcile the devastation that has followed in the wake of the assassination? No one rioted following the assassination of President Kennedy—many were grief stricken, but none that I know of took this out on innocent bystanders.

Two wrongs don't make a right! If by any means the conscience of anyone—regardless of the color of his skin, his nationality, his national origin or his creed—can be stretched far enough to accept the mess that is making garbage heaps of many American cities, then why wouldn't I be just as within my right if I were to break into stores and take the things I want? Why should the law haul me off to jail and subsequently into court if other violators apparently are ignored when they perform the exact same crime? Why, in fact, do we have laws on the books if they are not to be enforced?

If this lawlessness is to continue within our own nation, then there is little reason to continue to defend our shores from invasion. We won't have anything left to defend.

I have heard it mentioned how uncanny it is that the assassination of Dr. King came on the eve of President Johnson's peace talks. It is almost as if the act had been timed to collide with peace efforts and to disrupt the national unity which followed the President's announcement that he would put the duties of the office ahead of all else and would not be a candidate for re-election. It seems that a lot more is involved than just civil rights.

For a long time I have thought that the civil rights demonstrations were not just for the purpose of gaining equal rights for a race of people who have been neglected in the past. I have felt that a conspiracy to weaken our country was being carried on beneath the facade of a crusade for equal rights, and our government should be able to find ways to prevent this.

All people should have the right to demonstrate peacefully for the things they believe in, but no one should have the right to travel from state to state hiring demonstrators or inciting demonstrators to riot.

I believe in judging every man on the basis of what he is or what he aspires to be. There are those with skins of every color I would be glad to have for friends; and by the same token, there are those with skins of every color whom I would not care to associate with.

The basis for getting along with one another is friendship. Friendship has to be mutually offered and mutually accepted, for no special reason at all. It certainly is not a thing that can be bought, forced upon a person or enforced if both parties are unwilling. And by human nature, if a person thinks someone is trying to force him to be friends with another, his rebelliousness would not let him be a friend even if his conscience whispered that he should be.

We can't jump directly into the "love one another" bit without first being friends and respecting one another.

Silverton students swept the District 2-A Texas Interscholastic League literary events held in Wheeler Friday and Monday, bringing home some of the best prizes that were up for grabs.

Crockett Grabbe won first place in each of the events he entered, number sense, science and slide rule, in addition to teaming up with Paul Ray McWilliams to win first place in the spelling contest. McWilliams also won second in persuasive speaking.

NEW! For clean Sorghum... spray weeds when you see them! with BANVEL

Velsicol announces Banvel herbicide for control of all hard-to-kill weeds of major importance in grain sorghum. This includes carelessweed (pigweed), sunflower, lambs-quarter, purslane, morning glory and other annual broadleaf weeds. Banvel herbicide is applied post-emergence, so there are no wasted sprays in years when rain is scarce and weeds are not a problem. With Banvel you see your weed problem and then spray—all in plenty of time to give young sorghum plants plenty of opportunity to grow.

Banvel is sprayed onto weed leaves and translocates to the roots... for new, total control of weeds. Just apply Banvel between the 10th and 25th day after emergence of grain sorghum (approximately 4 to 12 inches tall).

Banvel is not dependent on soil moisture for its effectiveness, so its results are dependable. And it's a liquid that won't clog your sprayers; nor does Banvel need constant agitation.

Banvel increases yields. It's excellent for use on grain sorghum, wheat, barley, oats and field corn. Order Banvel herbicide to get full potential from your valuable, high-yielding sorghum seed.

See your dealer today. You'll be glad you did!

Judge Joy is the present District Judge at Plainview, having served in that capacity since 1961. Previously he had served as a county judge of Hale County.

There are 46 counties in the 7th Court of Civil Appeals District, and Judge Joy says he is campaigning in all of them as time allows.

Judge Joy is married, the father of four children and is a member of the Church of Christ.

He is a native of Crowell in Foard County. He has been in the practice of law since 1952, having studied law at St. Mary's Law School in San Antonio. He also taught law at St. Mary's.

In World War II, Judge Joy was a veteran pilot.

During his visit here, Judge Joy pointed out that there are three judges on the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals. Traditionally there has been one member on the court with one from Lubbock, one from Amarillo, and one from some other part of the District. Judge Joy is seeking the place being vacated by Judge Alton B. Chapman, formerly of Floydada.

MARION BRUCE

Who Knows HOW to Serve the 75th District

Statement by State Rep. J. M. (Red) Simpson in the Amarillo Globe - Times, June 21, 1967:

"I will continue in office to the end of the term and will serve in any special session that is called. BUT I WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE IN 1968 . . ."

"I think I should get out now and let somebody else get in there and represent the district in the proper way."

So Marion Bruce got in there, and we know that he will represent the 75th District IN THE PROPER WAY.

Boll Weevil Program To Test New Ideas

Several new techniques plus the continuation of an intensified spraying program will lead the way this year as the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program enters its fourth year.

An informative meeting on this subject which should be of extreme interest to all Briscoe County cotton producers will be held at Quitaque on April 18, at 7:30 p.m. announces County Agricultural Agent Ken Cook. Principal speaker will be Lyndon Almand, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Almand will summarize the progress and results of the boll weevil control program during the past four years and will also discuss the use of sex attractants and sterile males as new techniques in controlling boll weevils.

Sex attractants and sterile male boll weevils will be used in isolated tests this year to further develop means of eventually eradicating boll weevil population, says the agent. These new techniques are designed to reduce populations by reducing the number of native weevils available for mating or by mating these weevils to sterile males.

Cook emphasizes that these techniques can be effective only after a program of conventional spraying has been followed to reduce populations. They act as a "mop-up" operation.

Timely spraying is still the key to boll weevil control, stresses Cook. And since the advent of the spray program, boll weevil populations have been reduced drastically in the control zone, which consists of Briscoe, Hall, Floyd, Motley, Crosby, Dickens, Kent and Garza counties. More than 500,000 acres were sprayed last year and the program was again highly successful.

However, all is not a "bed of roses," points out the agent. There has been an air of complacency among some cotton producers in the control zone which could "upset the entire applecart" and throw years of painstaking work right out the window. Continuous control is possible only through continuous spraying, and once the weevil is given a foothold, no matter how small, the situation could revert back to earlier years.

Last year's trash surveys showed the lowest number of overwintering adult weevils in the control zone, since the advent of the program.

An intensified spraying program will be used again this year and all producers in the control zone are urged to cooperate. The spray program consists of two phases. Phase-one consists of three applications of undiluted technical malathion at 12 ounces per acre at five-day intervals. This phase is designed to kill newly emerging adult females before they can mate and lay eggs that could produce potentially overwintering adults.

Phase-two of the program calls for spraying to commence 10 days after the completion of the first phase. Applications consist of 16 ounces of malathion per acre at ten-day intervals until the first frost. Purpose of this phase, according to Cook, is to kill any adult weevils that might have emerged from eggs laid before phase-one was begun and to kill any adults that might have survived the phase-one sprayings.

The two-phase spray program known as the High Plains Disruptive Boll Weevil Control Program, was begun in September 1964, and is a cooperative venture of Texas A&M University, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and Texas Department of Agriculture.

Eastern Star Hosts Friendship Night

The Silverton Eastern Star chapter hosted Friendship Night for the chapters in District 2, Section 3 and other guests Monday night. A supper was served beginning at 6:30 p.m. and a program followed at 7:45 p.m.

A menu of potato salad, congealed salad, tossed salad, fried chicken, hot rolls, butter, tea, coffee and pie was served. Tables were decorated with pink and red and a hint of the Easter season.

Mrs. C. H. Murphy, jr. presented a vocal solo accompanied at the piano by Anne McMurtry.

A "Crazy Easter Parade of Fashions Suitable for Grand Chapter" was presented by LaVerne Long, as Nancy Sinatra; Annell Davis, as a Roaring Twenties "flapper"; Lillian Lindsey, covered with flowers; Frances Crass, as Josephine the lady plumber; Mary Lou Northcutt, as the lady expecting 30 guests for supper who was painting her house; Roberta Griffin, as Phyllis Diller with her Snowy Bleach commercial; Glen Lindsey, modeling Grand Trustee fashions; Bess McWilliams, modeling rainwear with a black-bloomer bathing suit; Lola Mae Stephens, as a sultry siren; Dorothy Bomar, as the barefoot beatnik; Marcella Brown, as the prim schoolteacher who did the Teaberry Shuffle; and Mary Ann Sarchet, as the chapter reporter in a newspaper dress.

The motorcycle cop stared in astonishment as the tiny foreign car sped down the road; it was jumping two or three feet into the air every half minute or so. The policeman sped after it.

"What's the matter with the puddle-jumper?" he shouted at the driver. "Not a thing, officer," said the man. "It's me. I've got the hiccups."

Upon the birth of their first child, a young father was asked if he did not think the new baby would bring him and his wife even closer together.

"Certainly will," he said. "Now we have a common enemy."

The fellow on the crowded bus could stand it no longer. "Madam," he began politely, "you are standing on my foot."

"Put your stupid foot where it belongs," snapped the woman.

"Don't tempt me," murmured the man, "don't tempt me!"

By looking into any woman's pocketbook, one discovers that money isn't everything.

"Of course I spend more than you make, dear! I have confidence in you!"

Winner of the consolation trophy was the Thompson John Deere Implement team, who defeated Briscoe County News and Quitaque.

The Lockney Insurance Agency women beat out last year's defending champions of the Silverton Tournament, Tele-Electric of Plainview, who had only five players on the last night of the tournament. Tele-Electric won second place after defeating Merlene's Flowers & Gifts and the South Plains Sweat Shirts.

The Quitaque women won the consolation trophy after defeating Lallie's In & Out Drive-in in a close match. They had previously defeated the South Plains Sweat Shirts. ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE EASTER MORN

Throughout all the land we come together to celebrate Easter. We come with reverence and with great joy to worship Christ, who is risen. May His eternal blessing be upon each of us in this Holy Time.

Easter Greetings...

BRISCOE CO-OP GIN
Farris W. Marlin, manager

FROM ME . . .
 . . . TO YOU

Easter is the time of peace, happiness and joy. This is the picture that first enters our minds when someone speaks of Easter. This year, there are places in America in which this will not be the picture. Instead, the picture is of riot-torn cities, heavily guarded streets and looted stores this Easter. Why? All because people are prejudiced. People cannot seem to realize that just because one person is black or white, it doesn't make him bad. There are good and bad on both sides. Each of these have to be recognized for what they are.

Every day I hear someone say that we are going to have another civil war. They are right, but the only thing that they don't realize is that we are already at war. All the Negroes are getting the blame for what is happening. This is wrong, because the majority of the Negroes want nothing to do with this lawlessness.

Something has to be done about this "war." If something isn't done fast, hundreds of lives will be lost and we will end up losing freedoms each of us enjoy.

Citizens of the United States of America, let's get out of our easy chairs and get something done. Next Easter maybe for Americans the picture of riot-torn cities will be gone and peace will reign again.

F. H. A. Receives New Yearbooks

Thursday morning during activity period, the F. H. A. met in the auditorium with the president, Vicki Vaughan, reading the opening ceremony. The yearbooks were handed out, and Mrs. Brenda Cook, sponsor, asked each girl to bring her book to every meeting.

They will be attending the State Convention April 18 through April 20, and are to leave by chartered bus with Mrs. Cook at 8:25 Thursday morning. They are to return home at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Members were reminded to bring their grandmothers to the Grandmother's Tea that afternoon from 3:45 until 4:45 p.m. It was decided to use the refreshments which had been planned for the Daddy-Date Night, which was rained out, for the Teacher Appreciation Day party Friday.

The Road To Goodbye

(Dedicated to the Seniors)
 The road I took was named Goodbye
 The path looked strange, I wondered why
 It left familiar things behind.
 A hand caught mine . . . I paid no mind.

The stranger never once did say
 Just what had brought him on my way.
 On we went, and some afraid
 I wished I hadn't come, but stayed.

All the friends that I once knew
 Took a road named Goodbye too.
 There were no two roads just the same
 Though all were called Goodbye by name.

The road went on; we went on too,
 And I was sad, for them I knew
 That never could I be the same
 Having walked down Goodbye Lane.

And though I couldn't understand
 We walked together hand in hand.
 We said no words, but just walked on,
 I thought of things now past and gone.

I thought of games I'd lost and won,
 I thought of all the things I'd done.
 I thought of those I loved and cared,
 Of times we'd had, of things we'd shared.

I thought of those I'd come to know,
 Just knowing them—they'd helped me so.
 I thought of things, of tears I'd shed . . .
 Those same things now brought smiles instead.

The tasks I'd done, those left to do,
 I wondered how I'd make it through
 When something inside seems to say
 "The best you can from day to day."

The way was rough; I knew the score,
 It never ends . . . there's always more,
 But now I know that all in all
 Each thing in its own place will fall.

I thought of all the happy days,
 The sad ones now just seemed a haze,
 And in a flash I came to see
 How much the past had meant to me.

We walked along . . . I wondered where
 The future lead and what was there.
 The past still echoed from behind
 I was its, and it was mine.

But in my heart was still a fear,
 And in my eye a shining tear;
 Yet on my face there was a smile,
 And we walked forward all the while.

I walked along the road Goodbye.
 I looked back once . . . I heaved a sigh.
 Then I remembered at my side—
 My silent, but my constant guide.

The stranger's hand I felt in mine
 I looked into his face this time.
 I asked his name—he turned just so,
 He smiled and said, "I'm called Hello."

Waistline watchers frequently tire of low calorie fare and splurge with a slice of gooey chocolate cake or a plateful of pasta.
After such luscious interludes, it takes longer to reach the pound goal and it's hard to return to plain food.
Succulent chicken with grapefruit is a treat to the palate yet kind to the waistline.

CHICKEN HURRAH
About 270 calories per serving

1 (3 1/4-pound) broiler-fryer chicken, quartered or cut in pieces
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
3 cups TEAM Flakes, crushed or coarsely rolled (about 1 1/2 cups crumbs)

Dip chicken in evaporated milk combined with salt and pepper. Roll in crushed TEAM Flakes to coat evenly. Arrange in single layer, skin side up, on lightly greased or foil lined cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour or until tender. Makes 4 (1/4 chicken) servings.

SPICED GRAPEFRUIT
About 176 calories per serving

2 (1-pound) cans artificially sweetened grapefruit sections
1 1/2 tablespoons light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves

Drain grapefruit; reserve juice. Place grapefruit in a bowl. Bring juice to a boil in a small saucepan. Stir in remaining ingredients. Boil 15 to 20 minutes or until juice is reduced to 1/4 cup. Pour over grapefruit. Cover and refrigerate. Serve cold. Makes 5 (1/2 cup) servings.

What would your wife say if you came home with an Olds tonight?

If it's a Cutlass, she'll take one look and kiss you. And when you tell her Cutlass cost less money than a lot of cars with low-priced "names," she'll kiss you again. An Olds can make anyone a hero at home. See your nearest Olds dealer.
