PATRIOATES

Do you read "Li'l Abner"? Al Capp has been feeding his cartoon characters a new breakfast food he calls "patriotes."

Monday morning the comic strip was devoted to a description of how patriotes work. "They slishers fun yore mouth . . . to yore throat . . . whar they raises a lump, rememberin' all th' folks who worked an' fit to make the U.S.A. the one place everyone druther live, if they had thar druthers!!"

Comic strip language or not, I thought it was a pretty good sermon on patriotism, and I wish all of us in America could have a big dish of patriotes for breakfast in the morning!

Who Is Our State Representative?

Recently I attended a meeting on mental health/mental retardation during which something happened that struck me as being so funny that I almost had a laughing spell.

Someone was gesturing toward Plainview, someone else was muttering "Padueah". I said "Tom" aloud and someone behind me said "Simpson" and threw me off the track because I knew his name wasn't "Tom Simpson."

For a minute it looked like we had gathered up all the mentally retarded in the community and brought them to the meeting!

I'm sure the guest didn't understand the situation, but it almost takes a map to keep up with which district Briscoe County is in NOW—all the time. We have been represented by Ralph Wayne, Bill Heatley, Red Simpson and Tom Christian—all within a very short span of time—and even though all of us live right where we lived in the beginning, we've been moved from district to district so many times that it's hard to remember where we are right now.

This gives us a good opportunity to call your attention to a new column in this week's Briscoe County News, "The Legislative Loft," which was sent to us by our own State Representative, Tom Christian. He will be sending us news from Austin through this column.

NEW WORDS

Since Ken looks up words in the dictionary while getting his lessons lots of nights, I have been reading with interest some information on the new dictionaries. The slogan, "If your present dictionary is more than two years old, chances are it's not keeping pace with today's living language" couldn't be more true.

The space age brings us new terms and phrases. Wartime always brings new words into our vocabulary. Today's modern scientific discoveries also bring us new words to identify new items and products.

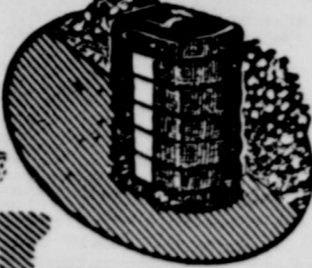

Apparently the young people and the comic strips have affected vocabulary if these words mean what I think they do: Alateen, beat man, car jockey, cruddy, ducky, funk, glop, glug, goodie, gucky, read-in, telephonitis, yoo-hoo and zap. Can you find those in your old dictionary?

What about collective unconscious, compulsory arbitration, core curriculum, delectalze, deink, doomsday machine, and eye-popper.

And we are now given fatigue strength, fertility drug, and thalidomide baby along with ghost surgery, Special Forces, R and R, and Vietnik.

We'll have to look it up if you want to know the definitions of didact, dysphemism, endoradio-sonde, gaposis, gramophile, and macroeconomics.

The big house will soon be ready for 10 more girls," Mrs. Starr said. "Every day we get calls and we have to tell people we are sorry that we don't have room for a girl who needs a home. Instead we would love to be able to say, 'Come little girl, we have a room waiting for you.'"

Outright gifts of money are not the only ways in which you can help Girlstown. Gifts of food, clothing, supplies, merchandise all are most welcome. Quitaque Loses Week Of School To Illness

Students and teachers of the Quitaque schools received a week's vacation from classes, one that was unwanted because it was brought about by illness.

Superintendent Herman Moseley closed the schools on Monday of last week when 56 students were absent due to illness. It was hoped at that time that the closing would be only for a day or two, but it became evident by mid-week that those who were ill were not recovering as fast as had been hoped, and Mr. Moseley cancelled classes for the remainder of the week.

BASKETBALL TEAMS CONTINUING TO WIN

Quitaque's Panthers and Pantherettes have continued their winning skein in spite of the illness that closed the school during the week of their bi-district playoff and district tournament.

After defeating McAdoo, the Panthers are advancing to the Regional Tournament, which is to be played at Levelland.

The Panthers currently are rated fourth in the state. The Pantherettes performed an upset over the District 2-A champion girls, Claude, 44-41 at Claude Tuesday night. Sherry Stark's 21 points played a large part in the upset victory, which was a warm-up for Claude as they prepare to meet Stratford for the bi-district title at Dumas next Tuesday night.

On Tuesday night of last week, Sherry Stark ripped the cords for 32 points against the District 3-A Springlake girls in another non-conference game. Springlake took a five-point win over the Pantherettes.

BUYING AND SERVING PORK
 What kind of pork do you buy? More than likely you select trim pork, for merchants and farmers have discovered this is the kind of pork most consumers look for when they go to the market.

So breeders and feeders of pigs have gone all out to produce more streamlined pigs—that is, pigs with less fat. Too, many meat packers and retailers have today's shoppers in mind as they trim the fat closer on the fresh and cured pork products. Their goal is more edible meat per pound.

In selecting fresh pork, look for firm, fine-grained flesh of a greyish-pink color, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It should be marbled with flecks of fat through the muscle, and have a uniform covering of firm white fat on the exterior surface. The bones are porous and pinkish in color.

In both fresh and processed pork products, look for the mark of federal inspection. It is your assurance that the product has been processed under sanitary conditions and is safe to eat, according to USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. It also means the product is not adulterated and is truthfully labeled.

Pork liver is especially high in iron content and rich in vitamin A. For a new twist, try it in a creole or barbecue. You'll like liver breaded in potato chip crumbs and fried, too.

Like all meats, pork cuts should be cooked slowly until done for the tenderest and juiciest results. You have your choice—bake, broil, pan-broil, fry, braise or simmer.

Glazes or sauces are tasty additions to fresh and cured pork products. Almost any kind of fruit, fruit juice or jelly can be used, but currant jelly, orange marmalade, peach or apricot jam, apple sauce, cranberry sauce and pineapple are tops. Honey, barbecue sauce and pickled fruits and their juices are good, too. Sauces made of such soups as celery, mushroom and onion go well with pork.

Add a real taste treat to roasts or stuffed chops by using new and different dressings made of apples, raisins and prunes. Or try a more exotic stuffing of rice, mushrooms, slivered almonds or chopped pecans. Don't overlook the ever-popular cornbread stuffing.

For a meal in a dish, top your favorite vegetable casserole with pork chops, steaks, pork tenderloin, sausage, ham, bacon, Canadian-style bacon, canned luncheon meats or sliced smoked shoulder butt.

Some of the pork cuts which usually are more economical include canned hams, rib or loin end roasts, smoked shoulder butts, fresh rolled shoulder butts, pork shoulder or blade steaks.

Cooking pork to a well done stage of 175 degrees F. destroys any chance of contacting trichinosis, advises Extension meats specialists at Texas A&M.

The trichina worm is destroyed at 150 degrees F. but Frank Orts recommends the extra temperature as a buffer zone.

Thin pork chops and steaks usually are cooked to well done, he said. But for a pork roast Orts recommends using a roast meat thermometer.

Trichinosis usually comes from hogs to which raw garbage is fed. The worm forms a cyst in a muscle and is transmitted from the pork to a human who eats it. Government inspection, he said, cannot detect the microscopic organism.

- 1/2 cup pineapple chunks
- 2 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 1/4 tablespoons soy sauce

FARMERS HAVE THREE CHOICES

Carlye Hill, Publicity Chairman Briscoe County N. F. O.

Farmers have three choices:

1. Organize and bargain for a fair price.
2. Turn ownership of agriculture over completely to huge corporations.
3. Let huge corporations control agriculture through integration.

This is well summarized by Dr. V. James Rhodes, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Missouri. He says: "Farmers must unite if they want anything to say about the future organization of American agriculture. And there isn't much time left." "If farmers want to organize and bargain as a group, they can do so, although it will take a lot of sweat and tears to get it done. If farmers choose to continue their individualistic ways . . . agriculture eventually will be superseded by a corporate agricultural structure. Otherwise, within our lifetime the individualistic structure will be gone and so will the institutions and the leadership which could have done something about it."

Shurfresh Milk Has That NATURAL GOODNESS

1969 POLICY STATEMENT OF TEXAS FARMERS UNION IS OUTLINED

HUMAN RELATIONS

Recent generations have seen an unprecedented increase in ways to control the natural environment of man, but not the social environment. The big problems of our time arise from man's inability to recognize or control the social forces he has set in motion; problems of government, economic including agriculture, poverty, crime, war and others. Some of these problems are so acute that they must be solved very soon if our society is to continue.

We think that great progress must be made in social understanding in agriculture and all society in order to balance and give proper relationship to economic and political forces that now run not over the consideration for people.

Therefore, we recommend that all educational institutions including the Extension Service be funded and directed to research and education in the science of human relations to the end that more statistical data and scientific thought can be brought to bear on the social problems involved.

Each Farmers Union Local is urged to initiate a continuing publicity and public relations campaign among their city neighbors, designed to:

1. Educate consumers of farm products on the farmer's program, and on the largest spread in the history of the country between the farmer's market price and the consumer's purchase price.
2. Initiate a nationwide publicity campaign to explain Farmers Union policies.
3. Establish committees in each county with the specific objectives of working through newspapers, radio and television stations to refute false and misleading propaganda and to see that both sides of controversial issues are fairly presented.

4. Inform the American public of the need and workings of farm programs.

5. Support the Secretary of Agriculture in allocating Department of Agriculture funds to publicize, through the major media, the need for farm programs and the tremendous spread between farm income on a product and consumer price for that product. This should be done through non-farm publications, including radio and television.

6. Inform the American public that reasonable farm commodity reserves are a vital part of our defense program and that monies allocated toward food and fiber reserves are as necessary as monies allocated for the missiles of the Defense Department.

7. Support efforts to differentiate between programs which accrue to the benefit of farmers and other groups—consumers, United States ships, etc.—in the budget of the United States Department of Agriculture. Consumer prices are lower because of price support including direct payments, and every means should be utilized to inform consumers and their representatives in Congress of their indirect benefits.

STRONGER BARGAINING POWER FOR FARMERS

The basic underlying reason that farmers are seldom able to earn more than half of a parity income is the administered-price, and administered-production general economy, which requires the farmer to sell for what he is offered and to buy at the price that is asked of him. We recognize that the strong bargaining power of industry, organized labor, and food processors, has been acquired by protective tariffs and their strenuous efforts to expand domestic and export demands and by adjusting market supply of commodities and services to effective demand, thereby controlling prices and maintaining profits.

We believe that farmers, in self-protection, must learn to build and use similar devices, including authority to bargain with processors and for supply management.

FARM ISSUES DISCUSSED

The "hot" legislative issues related to agriculture and the rural areas were slated for discussion at the Farmers Union Legislative Seminar Wednesday, February 19, at 9:00 a.m. at the Downtowner Motel in Austin. Key representatives and other prominent figures on the Austin legislative scene accepted invitations to address the Seminar which dealt with critical agricultural issues.

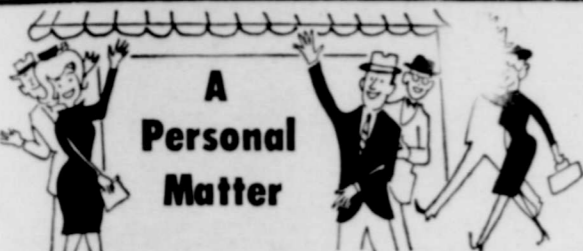

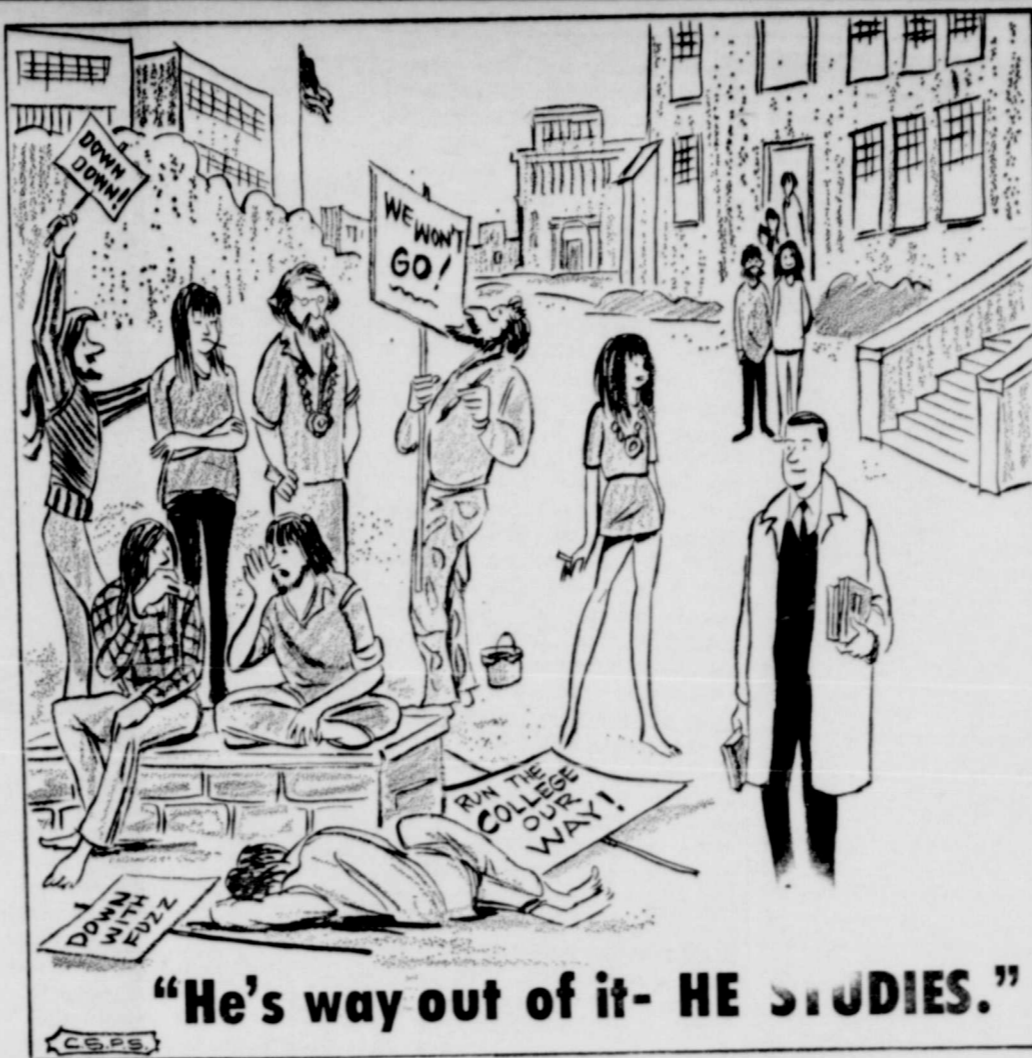

The Seminar featured discussion on corporation farming by a panel of citizens typifying a cross section of the rural community. Participating was a rural minister, businessman, farmer, newspaper editor and banker.

Dr. Bardin Nelson, sociologist at Texas A&M University, served as moderator of the panel. Dr. Willard Williams, Head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Texas Technological College in Lubbock, was a panel participant. Commissioner John C. White described the legislative needs of the Department of Agriculture. Other speakers included Representative Bill Clayton, who spoke on the Texas Water Plan; Representative George Hinson, who discussed the recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education; and Harry Hubbard, legislative director of the AFL-CIO spoke on labor's legislative program and the proposed minimum wage law, as it will affect agriculture.

Senator Murray Watson of Waco revealed some of the details of the anti-corporation farming bill which has provoked considerable publicity and comment among farm leaders. Jay Naman, president of Texas Farmers Union, invited Governor Smith, Lt. Governor Barnes, and Speaker of the House Mutscher as guests to the luncheon after the Seminar. Victor Ray, director of public relations for National Farmers Union and author of "The Corporate Invasion of American Agriculture" was principal speaker at the luncheon.

A Personal Matter

Shopping local stores is like meeting an old friend. When you trade at home every purchase is a personal transaction . . . personal because you're always in familiar surroundings, the faces of fellow shoppers and store clerks are faces you meet in church or at school meetings. Shopping in familiar surroundings you never hesitate to "browse" or to expect—and get—prompt, efficient service when you are in a rush. Shopping local stores is a "social" matter, too. Someone is always asking about the family or giving you the word about something new happening in the community. And you can always take time out for a soft drink or cup of coffee with friends you meet on the street. Every purchase you make in a local store establishes a new and personal relationship. You may have known the merchant for years, go to the same church, even live in the same neighborhood—yet every purchase you make in his store forms a new buyer-seller agreement backed up by good will and dependability. When you shop local stores you can't go wrong, because they want your business tomorrow—as well as today.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT'S DESK

It costs money to feed cattle lice. These parasites are among the most damaging to beef cattle.

Cattle infested with lice spend a lot of time rubbing against fences, posts or other objects, due to the annoyance caused by the insects. Cattle on feed do not gain as they should and require more food.

Infested cows lose weight and their calves become prime targets for the pests. Reduced weaning weights of calves is another spot that hits the pocketbook.

Cattle lice are common over the entire state and include both the biting and sucking types. Their populations build up rapidly during cool weather and when cattle are kept in close quarters.

Sucking lice, short and long nosed, pierce the animal's skin and feed by sucking blood. They are usually found on the sides of the animal's neck, on the brisket, back, inner surface of the thighs, tail and around the nose, eyes and ears. Chewing lice are smaller and are usually found on top of the shoulders and around the root of the tail but may also infest other parts of the animal's body.

Many chemicals are available for controlling lice as well as other external parasites of farm livestock. Among these are Lindane, Sevin, Toepaphene, Rullene 25 E, Methoeychlor, or Coral. These chemicals should be used only as directions indicate on the labels.

MRS. DENNIS M. TOMLIN

MINYARD - TOMLIN VOWS EXCHANGED
HERE FRIDAY IN CHURCH CEREMONY

Miss Lela Margaret Minyard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Minyard of Silverton, and Dennis Merle Tomlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn C. Tomlin of Harlingen, exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church here at 8:00 p.m. Friday, February 21.

The ceremony was directed by

Rev. C. H. Murphy, jr., pastor, beneath an archway of jade centered with a pair of wedding bells, white doves and miniature mums. A white wrought-iron prie dieu was also used in the service.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of candlelight silk designed with empire bodice and long sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of white illusion was attached to white roses and petals outlined with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white miniature mums surrounding white gardenias atop a white lace-covered Bible.

She carried out bridal tradition by wearing an heirloom pearl necklace borrowed from a friend, a blue garter and had pennies in her shoes which bore the birth-year dates of the bride and bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Connie Dudley, wore a street-length dress of blue satin designed with empire bodice and added blue satin shoes and matching headpiece with a brief veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pom poms from which fell a shower of blue satin streamers.

Guests were seated by Bill Hatcher of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the bride, and Buddy Comer, Best man was Robert Phillips of Amarillo, roommate of the bridegroom at W.T.S.U.

Mrs. Minyard chose a dress of navy blue with bone accessories and added an orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Tomlin wore a burgundy dress and black accessories with an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Wayne McMurtry was pianist, and accompanied Mrs. C. H. Murphy, jr., when she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with a floor-length net cloth edged with lace over white satin. The guest registry was also covered with net and satin, and held an arrangement of white mums and candles. The bridal bouquet adorned the refreshment table.

Misses Shirley Tuttle of Tulia and Dalpha Banks of Springlake served the three tiered wedding cake which was topped with white satin wedding bells. Guests were registered by Miss Judy Boone of Wienert.

For their wedding trip the bride selected a pale green wool gaberdine dress with black accessories and added the gardenias from her bridal bouquet.

The couple is now at home at 2012 First Avenue in Canyon, where both are students at West Texas State University. Both are graduates of Silverton High School.

Silverton Girl Is Satellite Class

Patsy Ann Davis is attending the Satellite Class which is in session in Tulsa.

The Tulsa Satellite Class consists of two sections. A young group of children attend in the mornings and young adults, like Patsy Ann Davis, attend the afternoon session. Emphasis is placed on educating the pre-school child as young as three years of age. The parents can be counseled in regard to a child's handicaps and for the development of the child's maximum potential.

Good manners, good behavior, management of money and good planning are among the topics under discussion by the young adults in the Satellite Class. This week a Tulsa beauty operator was instructing the girls on doing their own hair, and this emphasis of special interest to Miss Da-

The Legislative Loft

by Representative Tom Christian

Now that the 61st session of the Legislature has convened, many bills covering a varied and wide range of issues are daily being introduced. Predictions are that over 2000 bills and possibly as many as 300 resolutions will be introduced before the session concludes in May. Naturally, many of these proposals will be of significant importance to all of us from the Panhandle area.

In evaluating my personal contact with many of you, it appears that education, liquor-by-the-drink and school consolidation are the issue areas that presently concern you most. Many of you have already expressed to me your interest in the much-publicized Governor's Report on Education. I can assure you, this Report will receive an in-depth inspection and analysis from members of the Legislature. In line with this, I feel indeed fortunate to have been placed on the Public Education House Committee—the very committee through which this report will pass.

In the area of committee appointments, I have been selected to serve on the Livestock, Juvenile Crime and Delinquency, Public Lands and Buildings, Criminal Jurisprudence and Public Education House Committees. All these, I feel, are committees which will be concerned with legislation important to the people, industries and businesses of the Panhandle.

As we get down to specific work on legislation here, I am hopeful that we as a body will direct the emphasis of our efforts to those matters which truly deserve our detailed attention. It seems in this era of rapid expansion and change, with astronauts virtually a step from the moon and major global developments occurring daily, that we too often have turned our attention to trivial matters, rather than concentrating on the larger and more immediate problems which affect us all.

I am looking forward to visiting with you regularly through these news reports—and am anxious to have your views and expressions on activity here at the Legislature. My mailing address is P. O. Box 86, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

WHOSE JOB?

Chances are, at one time or another, you have heard a store clerk or a factory worker make this remark, "That's not my department." They may have been speaking the truth. Some stores do not permit clerks to sell or wait on customers outside of their own department. Union regulations and company policy sometimes restrict a worker to the particular job for which he is trained and he is compensated.

But it is not quite the same when someone adopts the "It's not my concern" attitude about the things which affect the family circle, the community and the nation.

Whose job is it to stand up for what is right? To work to insure the success of a good cause? To give help where help is needed?

Not one among us can rightfully shut out the rest of the world and live in a little world of our own choosing. We cannot believe that because we ignore a wrong thing or a bad situation that such does not exist. It remains, and no matter how we try to shut it out, we must know that it is still there.

Life can only be limited when we shut so many doors. It becomes rich and full when we open up our eyes and see, and when we help wherever help is needed.

Mrs. Alma Brannon has continued to receive treatment at Swisher Memorial Hospital this week.

Castleberry Is Guest Speaker

The Silverton Young Farmers were guests of the Young Homemakers in the school home economics department on Thursday, February 13, when Archie Castleberry of Amarillo was guest speaker.

Mr. Castleberry is a representative of Southland Life Insurance Company, and after the program he answered questions and passed out literature.

Calvin Shelton presided at the short business meeting which followed. Further plans for the banquet were made. Members were urged to attend the Feed Lot Tour February 20 and 21.

Cake and punch were served to Joe Lee Bomar, Jimmy Myers, Alton Riddell, Calvin Shelton, John David Turner and a guest, Orville Turner.

The next regular meeting will be Friday at 7:00 a.m. for breakfast at the City Cafe.

Once A Simmer

"Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin."
— Psalms 32:1-2

The modern world in which we live is filled with temptation and the opportunity to sin against God.

This is not a new thing. Adam and Eve were tempted in the Garden of Eden. Temptation is as old as the history of man; even Jesus was tempted by the devil.

If we profess Christianity, we are not automatically virtuous and moral, and we are foolish to believe that we shall not be tempted. And, we are vain to think that we have never sinned, and will never give in to temptation.

We should work and pray to build the strength of grace that overcomes the weakness of the human spirit. We should build a Christian life based upon honesty with ourself, our fellow man, and our God.

You Can't Buy It at Home

when nobody at home has it for sale

So . . . whose fault is it when this unfortunate condition prevails?

Well, you might say it's everybody's.

SELLERS are to blame . . . who don't keep up with what's new in their lines . . . and who want to keep store just like they did before highways and automobiles rescued buyers from having to take whatever goods it pleased their home storekeepers to carry in stock.

BUYERS are to blame . . . who don't keep neighborhood sellers informed about their needs and wants by the simple process of shopping the home stores regularly . . . and whose wide-ranging buying habits cut down the financial ability of local sellers to keep better assortments of goods.

Many of us fall into both of these categories . . . and don't let our right hands know where our left hands have been shopping.

Shall we, then, EACH look inwardly . . . whether we are Buyer or Seller only . . . or a Buyer-Seller Blend . . . and consider what WE can do to better OURSELVES by enriching our home area's life blood . . . it's trade volume?

It's good pocketbook sense to help keep the community more prosperous where WE work and do business.

 In Memory Of
 J. V. Self, who died February 13, 1969

"Leaves have their time to fall and flowers to wither at the North wind's cold blast; but Thou, oh Death, hath all seasons for thine own."

Whereas, The allwise and merciful Master of the Universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected brother, and he having been a true and faithful member of our beloved Order, therefore be it

Resolved, That Silvertown Lodge No. 754, A.F.&A.M. of Silvertown, Texas, in testimony of its loss, drape its Charter in mourning for thirty days, that we tender to the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

TWO ACCIDENTS REPORTED DURING JANUARY 1969

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two accidents on rural highways in Briscoe County during the month of January according to Sergeant Vernon Cawthon, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in an estimated property damage of $1,025.

In comparing the rural traffic deaths of January 1969 with January of 1968, of the 60 counties which comprise the Lubbock DPS Region, there was a 37 per cent increase in deaths.

The veteran Patrol Supervisor stated, "If January is a representation of the next 11 months in Texas, traffic accidents will claim 3,900 lives in 1969, an all time high."

The Sergeant also issued a reminder that April 15 is the deadline for obtaining the 1969 inspection sticker of all motor vehicles registered in Texas.

Mrs. Virgil Kidwell was in Dumas from Wednesday of last week until Tuesday with her father, E. M. Erskine, who underwent surgery in a hospital there.

You feel a little edgy, or maybe cross.
 Sooner or later, that day comes, the day when a woman feels she's changing. It's not a good feeling either. And she could use a good old-fashioned medicine then.

You might even have what we call hot flashes and feel sad and slightly off-balance.

Whatever you feel, we have something for the day you need a little comforting. Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets. They're made with gentle, natural ingredients that work to help you feel better. When you start changing, you could use a good old-fashioned medicine for an old-fashioned problem. And you don't run any chance of the kind of unpleasant side effects you can get from some of the newer drugs.
