All Around the Town
 by Mary Ann Sarchet

Part of the local scenic attraction was publicized in the Amarillo Daily News Tuesday morning of this week as a result of a column written by Sue Coleman for The Hereford Brand.

She was quoted in the "Panhandle Press" column on the editorial page: "On an afternoon ride Sunday, we discovered a road that crosses not one, but two of the Panhandle's spectacular canyons, and I heartily recommend it to anyone who thinks this country is too flat and monotonous to be interesting."

"It's the excellent state highway, most of it newly surfaced, from Silverton to Claude. Actually you turn off the Tulla-Silverton highway about five miles this side of Silverton, at a well-marked intersection, and go straight north to Claude.

"First you cross Tule Canyon, which is not very wide at that point but has some unusual cliff formations of dark red-brown different from those you'll see in Palo Duro Canyon, which you cross nearer to Claude.

"By this time the Palo Duro has widened considerably from its compass in the state park near Canyon, and you drive several miles from the time you go down sharply on one side until you climb out sharply on the other side.

"In the middle you cross the Prairie Dog Town fork of Red River, also expanded from its size as a small creek in the park.

"The whole valley is a succession of rugged hills and small canyons where creeks run into the river. The highway department has thoughtfully located a picnic area on a high spot with a magnificent view.

"Another day I want to drive the highway the other direction, from Claude to Silverton, as views of the canyon vary with every turn of the road and are not the same when you look back at them."

Thus Briscoe County's tourism is being promoted by those who live in distant counties rather than by those of us to whom it really matters. Sue Coleman did not mention it, but she was traveling on the Texas Plains Travel Trail.

We'd like to suggest that if she enjoyed that portion of the Trail so much, she would really enjoy the portion of the Trail that goes east from Silverton through the canyons to a point north of Turkey. This, to me, is one of the most scenic drives in the entire Panhandle of Texas, and it, too, also has a well-located picnic area.

The canyons are never more beautiful than in a rainy season like this has been, and visitors could drive for many miles without happening upon a more scenic route. The Plains Trail is plainly marked—but it wouldn't hurt if we had a few more signs encouraging both tourists and Sunday afternoon sight-seers to come our way.

To date we have received two suggestions for a slogan for the City of Silverton. The slogans are remarkably alike, considering that one was submitted by a local resident and the other came from a former Silverton resident. I doubt that the two women had discussed the slogan, but both had thoughts in the same channel.

I learn from the grapevine that our local shoeshine boy, Jeff Jones, is also working on an entry.

After I made mention of slogans of surrounding towns in last week's paper, I received in the mail from The Tulla Herald, a bumper strip that says: "TULLA Come grow with us!" I also noticed that the "Tulla: Phil Tucker's Home Town" sign south of Tulla has been altered, and now reads: "Tulla: Doc Tucker's Home Town."

Five dollars will be given to the person who submits the slogan considered best by the Silverton Merchants Association. Put on your thinking cap, and get your entry in right away! The deadline is the Fourth of July. Mail or bring your entries to the Briscoe County News, Box 255, Silverton.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1969 SILVERTON, (Briscoe County) TEXAS VOLUME 61 NUMBER 26

Voters To Decide City Hall Building Issue Saturday

Remodeling is progressing on schedule at the First State Bank in Silverton, with construction continuing on the exterior while workers begin finishing the inside of the new portion which will include a meeting room for community.

The resident qualified electors of the City of Silverton will vote at the City Hall from 8:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. Saturday, June 28, on a $25,000 general obligation bond issue for the purpose of building and equipping a new City Hall and fire truck garage.

To vote in this election, each person must be a resident of the City of Silverton; must own taxable property which had been rendered for taxation prior to June 9 when the election was called; and must be registered to vote for the current year.

The issuance of bonds will not create a tax increase, due to the fact that the City of Silverton presently has no bonded indebtedness. The amount of taxes already been collected each year is of a sufficient amount to allow for the annual payment of interest and principal on the bonds, which will mature serially over a period of twenty years or less, if authorized.

Mrs. C. A. Holt was selected as presiding judge for the election, and Mrs. Floyd Williams is the alternate presiding judge.

Both the present City Hall and fire truck garage are considered fire hazards. The building which houses the two fire trucks is so open that the vehicles freeze up in cold weather. In addition, the garage space is so small that it is hard to get both the trucks in, and the station wagon in which the firemen transport their hats, coats, boots and other equipment, sits outside all the time.

Neither of the present buildings is a compliment to the City of Silverton.

An offer has been made by the Silverton V.F.W. Post to donate the land on which the structure could be built. This property is located east of the courthouse. The property is to be purchased by the V.F.W. and deeded to the City if the issue is approved.

Silverton Merchants To Meet Tuesday

The Silverton Merchants Association will meet at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 1, in the P. C. A. community room.

Don Crocker, manager of the Tulla Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest speaker.

Everyone who is in business in Silverton and those who are interested in working for a better town, are invited to attend.

Miss Jerri Fennell of Plainview and Donna Stodghill are houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Bern May this week.

Mrs. Shelby Haynes continues to receive treatment at Swisher Memorial Hospital this week. She has been a patient there for more than three weeks.

Mrs. Jerry Miller spent the weekend in Amarillo with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Phillips and Judy. Sunday they attended the wedding of Mrs. Phillips' sister, Miss Betty Ruth Bridges, at Hereford.

BRISCOE COUNTY 4-H HORSE SHOW TO BE HELD HERE SATURDAY

The annual Briscoe County 4-H Horse Show will be held Saturday, June 28, at 1:30 p.m. in the Silverton Rodeo Arena. Events will include the standard halter class and both grade and registered horses, plus western pleasure, pole bending, barrel racing and reining.

All 4-H members in the Briscoe County Horse Program will be competing for trophies and ribbons and the opportunity to go to the District Horse Show which is to be held in Big Spring this year during the latter part of July.

Donors of this year's trophies and ribbons for the high-point contestants and horses are First State Bank and Plainview Production Credit Association, both of Silverton.

A concession stand will be operated at the Horse Show by the Happy 4-H Club of Silverton. All Happy 4-H Club members are urged to be present.

Advanced First Aid Course Planned Here

A Red Cross Advanced First Aid Course is being planned for July 7-8-10-11. It will be taught by Herman Moseley of Quitaque at 7:30 o'clock each evening, and will probably be held at the Silverton School.

Included in the course will be detailed resuscitation information, and instruction concerning splints. Anyone may take part in the course, and all who have Standard First Aid Cards will be able to qualify for the course.

If you are interested in taking part in this first aid activity, please contact Mrs. Bernice May.

Mrs. Stella Arnold continues to receive treatment at an Amarillo hospital.

Mrs. Comer On Dean's Honor List

Mrs. Connie Comer, wife of Buddy Comer, was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll at Texas Tech for the Spring semester. She posted a 3.0 average on a 4.0 system.

A clothing and textile major in the school of home economics, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dudley.

"TEXAS" To Open Season June 27

"TEXAS" will open for its fourth season in the beautiful Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park on Friday, June 27. The musical spectacular by the Pulitzer prize winner, Paul Green, has already been seen by more than 190,000 visitors.

Opening this year will be a gala International Night, honoring the sixty-three countries which were represented in the audiences last summer. Decorations will be the flags of seventy nations in the Rotary International collection which have been obtained for the occasion.

As special guests, the Foundation which produces "TEXAS" is entertaining the travelers on several American Field Service buses of foreign exchange students who will be in the area that night and the foreign-born residents of the Panhandle. They will have an opportunity to visit at an informal reception at the theatre at 7:45 p.m. and will see the production one hour later.

L. Pete Gilvin, representing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, and Mrs. Gilvin, will join the president of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Eddie Melin and Mrs. Melin in greeting the special guests at the first night performance. Paul Green and Mrs. Green will also attend to see an opening night of "TEXAS" for the first time.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, Gus Mutscher and his bride, the former Miss Donna Axum who was Miss America in 1966, and Senator and Mrs. Grady Hazelwood will be present. The executive director of the Texas Fine Arts Commission, Pat O'Keefe and Mrs. O'Keefe are expected to attend from Austin. They are to be accompanied by the president of the Louisiana Fine Arts Association, Mrs. Edwin Blum of New Orleans. The Texas Historical Survey Foundation is to be represented by its president, Ballinger Mills, and by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore of Austin, as well as by the Ralph Randels of Panhandle and the Charles Woodburns of Amarillo. Representatives Tom Christian, Walter Knapp and Hudson Moyer will also be on hand to greet the guests.

The lights will go up in the Pioneer Amphitheatre at 8:45 p.m. Meanwhile the rehearsals go on as they have been since the first of June. The cast wear rehearsal clothes except for the costumes tried for comfort and freedom in the dances. But the rehearsal clothes resemble the costumes.

There are muslin petticoats on all the women, sometimes over levis, so that they include the motion of a long skirt in the development of their movements. And all the men have cowboy hats, though some are torn and some are bent and one has a large flower on it. In the costume room three machines keep running constantly, and there is fitting and cutting and basting besides. Their work has been helped by the donation of five dressmakers' dummies by Canyon retailer Tom Black.

The choreographer and the first dancer are rehearsing steps at a bar. The old father and one of the musicians are waiting for their entrance, and studying Latin while they wait. The technical director is laying out the work for the afternoon in the shop behind the stage. And the orchestra is tuning up.

ful aspects of the cooperation between the University and the show. Next the chorus moves to another room for its warm-up. Led by the musical director, Royal Brantley, they begin to vocalize in four parts, staccato, lightly and then louder—"He he he, Ha, ha, ha, ha"—first in one key, then higher and higher, and finally, starting down again, increasing speed, without accompaniment, and attaining more and more precision.

Now the cast assembles for the second act overture on the stage, frustrated because they have to shift some business coming inside after the evening rehearsals in the canyon. The director, William More, is in charge. Corrections come from all directions in different voices: "When you move, the sharp clarity of your singing disappears." "Sing the third phrase with one breath, you'll save two seconds that way." "Don't anticipate your moves."

"Faster!" "We are polishing now, analyzing every note and every move." "Will the third man in the front line please show the rest of the men on what beat we kneel and how we get there?" "Bass is not sounding enough." "Spread out and watch for gaps." "Don't wander around, change positions on the beats." "The guitar here should be like a harp, not trickle, trickle."

"When an actor is sadder, happier, madder, tired, he may feel rhythm changing when it may actually be constant."

Margaret Moore, the associate director, is working in another room with the principals. "We are preparing to tape the dream scene tomorrow. Let's work for more variation in tone and more vibrancy. You can use these ways to express your emotions because your natural voices contrast well." "We are not asking difficult things of you, rather, we are seeking absolute precision in a series of rather easy skills." "In the canyon, you must learn to give the illusion of relating to your fellow actors while also being sure that your voice is directed toward the audience. This may involve facing your body one way and turning your head." "Be sure to empty your boots before putting them on. The settlers had to do this to be sure there were no scorpions in them." Next the whole cast assembles on the stage. "This is a pretty scene. You are going to a celebration WHICH HAPPENS ONCE A YEAR and you are excited. You rode thirty miles to get here. No sophisticated drooping. Where is the elastic on your hat? Fasten that fall so that it does not threaten to come off in your turn. Don't count on the noise of the actors' feet to cover up carelessness in your singing. On the asphalt stage in the Canyon they don't make so much noise." "The Indian entrance is weak. Think of the power and the grandeur of the Indian History, and remember that this man was the chief, the master of thousands of miles and men. Study him. Put yourself in his place. You can't fake an Indian." "If you stop to think what to do next, it's wrong. If you stop to create a sense of importance that the great king of the Indians is coming, it's right. Start on the right leg. Make a massive movement. Not a stratchy movement. Lift it. This will help show your feeling."

Working, concentrating, feeling, seeking, these actors are now in base feet, sock feet, stocking feet, moccasins, sandals, tennis shoes, hush puppies, loafers, ballet shoes, farmers' work shoes, saddle shoes, dress shoes, strap slippers, soft leather boots and cowboy boots. They will be living with the audience in the 1880's tomorrow night.

DEBBIE DICKERSON
 Named To Tech Presidents List

Debbie Dickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dickerson, has been named on the President's Honor Roll at Texas Tech.

Miss Dickerson posted a 3.88 average for the school term on a 4.0 grade system.

A freshman student at Tech, Miss Dickerson was recognized as one of the university's outstanding students in a special ceremony held Saturday, April 19, in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. Her parents also attended the program which is held annually for the purpose of paying tribute to the students who have contributed with distinction to the school in the fields of scholarship and leadership.

Miss Dickerson, who belongs to one of Tech's honor societies, was the 1968 valedictorian of Silverton High School, finishing the first seven semesters with a scholastic average of 97.20. She served as president of the National Honor Society and of her class, as well as holding office in the Future Homemakers of America, the Future Business Leaders of America and Student Council. She was a cheerleader four years, and was head cheerleader her senior year.

The Silverton High School teachers elected her to Who's Who her freshman and sophomore years, and selected Miss Dickerson as Most Dependable Girl and Girl Most Likely To Succeed her senior year. She was also elected to be a candidate for Football Queen and was chosen as Miss SHS by the student body.

She also received a leadership award and was named Best All-Around Girl.

Joe Bob Watson, who was injured on a fall while on a field trip with a student group from Texas Tech seven weeks ago, is recovering satisfactorily. He was able to return to his job on Friday of last week. He is employed as assembly-line supervisory foreman for the Harris-Thrush Manufacturing Company in Lubbock. He plans to resume his college work at Tech in September.

leave ourselves in total rejection of the demands and the group making them, and if need be to be hostile in return. Christians have never helped much by acting hostile. Thus, if we are not careful we will find ourselves left with two equally bad courses of action. Before we act purely on our emotions, we need to remind ourselves who we are seeking to follow. If the church is the living Body of Christ, then our actions ought to be based on the life and teachings of Jesus Christ. We need to learn to say "no" in a firm, yet loving, manner. No matter how absurd the demands may seem, those making the demands are still children of God.

We also need to begin to ask what we, as church people, are doing to meet the real problems mentioned in some of these demands. Saying "no" to irresponsibility does not mean a halt in faithful service.

Churchmen today must remember that the church is not another pressure group. The church is the living Body of Christ, hopefully trying to be responsible "conscience" of society.

The Open Door

"... behold, I have set before thee an open door ..."

Caution To Churchmen In A Turbulent Time

by Rev. Robert R. Sewell
First United Methodist Church

The 1960's see churches and churchmen once again having to face and hopefully to ride out the waves of turmoil and confusion. From its beginning, the church has never known a century in which there was not some turmoil in society which affected it. But for each generation of church people it seems that what they have to face is a greater threat than has been faced before. The Christian and loyal churchman of the 1960's is no exception.

Events are coming in such rapid-fire order today that there is little or no time to sit back and try to figure out what is happening. Yet, because we are not isolated from any major happening in the world, the Christian can ill afford to rush blindly into any situation. The church is better off than its adversaries when it does this, and the results of blind action by the church can be just as harmful.

As I read over "letters to the editor" section in religious and secular publications, I seem to sense a feeling of uneasiness on the part of many church people today. Total rejection of the church by some groups; militant demands upon the church by others; and actions and statements by church leaders have left most of us confused even to the point of anger. It is this angry feeling increasing among church people that makes me uneasy. (It is not that I fear I'll lose my job, but I am fearful we may be turning our backs on some of the basic teachings of Jesus-Christ.)

What I would like to do is to suggest two things the present-day churchman needs to keep in mind. These are especially important to the church if it is to remain the "conscience" of society. These are not my ideas alone; centuries of church history have helped to build them.

1. The present-day churchman needs to be accurately informed about actions and statements attributed to his church. If a church member has some question or disagreement with actions by his denomination, he needs to secure information from his church leaders and not from second-hand sources. No greater harm is done to churches than by members who act on misinformation. Whether you be "for" or "against" an action, try to secure accurate information on it. No church or denomination is perfect. Mistakes have been made, and more will be made. But these mistakes cannot be corrected acting on ignorance or misinformation.

2. The present-day churchman needs to take a prayerful, responsible approach to militant groups who make demands on the church. Without thinking, too many of us will only leave ourselves and our churches two alternatives. We can give-in to the demands, regardless of what they are, so that those making them will be appeased. This is to act out of fear, and throughout history Christians have never helped problems by acting out of fear. The other option we

SOMETIMES, WE FORGET

Sometimes we tend to forget the little things. From one summer to another, we forget the sweet taste of a fresh melon, the smell of honeysuckle, the sounds of children playing in the park. We forget, perhaps, that things like competence and confidence go hand-in-hand and that there are certain benefits when we buy and sell and trade within the community. We forget how much fun it can be to do business with people who aim to please, in every way they can.

Youth Challenged To Back America

Wagoner Carr, former attorney general of Texas, spoke to members of the Texas Boys State recently at their dinner at the Student Union Building of the University of Texas in Austin. He titled his talk, "These Demands Are Non-Negotiable."

Because Attorney Carr spoke with vigor and perception to a major issue of the moment, and because his address was received with high enthusiasm, it is being reprinted here in full.

you prefer. You have already established that kind of reputation or you would not have been selected as a delegate to Boys State. I do not believe there is a man or boy in this room who wants to live the life of a coward. I believe the chances are good that there are future governors, senators and maybe even a President here tonight.

Believing this as I do, I seek to fan the spark of ambition you have. I desire to cause you to wake up and realize the opportunities you have at this very moment to serve your fellow Americans. I want you to hear the call of your country—to sense the crying need for your young leadership—to feel the urgency of this need—and, most of all, to get you to dare mighty things so you, too, can enjoy your hour of triumph!

I do not ask for the impossible. I do not expect you tonight to solve the intricate problems of war and peace. I do not ask you tonight to create a heaven on earth. As much as I wish you could, I do not believe any of you possess the magic wand of fairyland stories that by a sweeping wave can cure all the evils of the world.

No, I would much prefer that you aim your leadership toward more practical goals—toward goals close at hand that mean so much to you and your generation. If you can solve the problems of your own generation, then you shall have qualified to wrestle with the problems of the world.

Those of us of the older generation find it increasingly difficult to cope with the destructive and devious tactics of the mad dogs of your generation while we search for honorable peace in Vietnam, the easing of tensions in other parts of the world, the ever-present world domination aspirations of the communists; the exploration of the universe, and a better life for us all at home.

Tonight I want you to make up your mind that your number one job is to take the offensive against the long haired mad dogs and dirty rattlesnakes of your generation! To date, most of you have done absolutely nothing but sit on the sidelines. Some of you have even been afraid to say anything—much less act! You have turned which has urged you to do some- a deaf ear to your own conscience thing. You have already experenced the shamed feeling of a coward. You have been through a coward's death. As the mad dogs and the rattlesnakes continue their destruction of America, you face the unacceptable prospect of gradually losing respect for yourself as you seek the safe hiding place of a cowardly hermit. Like the Roman emperor, you will have fiddled while America burned!

You have silently allowed the Hitler type revolutionaries of your generation to blacken your reputation throughout the land. They have turned the college campus into a battleground with guns and all. They have kidnapped college presidents, closed colleges, barricaded buildings, ransacked official records, forced college deans to walk before them like prisoners in a chain gang, howled curses and foul words at respected public officials, demanded huge sums of money from our nation's churches with the threat to seize all churches and hold them if the money is not paid.

The motivating force behind all this violence and bloodshed is the organization which calls itself Students for a Democratic Society. SDS is headed up by admitted Communists who are loyal to Russia, Red China and Fidel Castro—not the United States of America! Last March, the SDS national council met here in Austin where they, believe it or not, were invited to use the comfort and facilities of the local churches—the very churches the Communists are committed to destroy. At this meeting, they acclaimed the "heroic struggle" of the Viet Cong. This SDS meeting was controlled by three major groups—the pro-Chinese Communist Progressive Labor Party, the Communist Party of the U.S.A., and the Young Socialist Alliance, the youth organization of the Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party. Michael Klonsky, national secretary of SDS—the top official—said at the meeting, "Our primary task is to build a Marxist-Leninist revolutionary movement."

Since then, the viciousness of campus disorders has substantially increased with serious uprisings at Harvard, Columbia, Stanford, American University, George Washington University, Northeastern University, Berkeley, New York City University, Queens College, Dartmouth, Marquette University and others. As FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover recently declared,

"The SDS and its adherents have rocked campuses from coast to coast with violence, riots and sabotage."

Chapters of SDS are believed to exist on more than 225 campuses—and new ones are constantly being formed. SDS claims about 40,000 members. But those who follow the organization closely estimate that there are as many as 100,000 SDS "adherents" who will join its campaigns and back its causes. It is a growing organization and becoming more violent and more revolutionary. Now SDS leaders talk openly of overthrowing basic American institutions. Their latest plan calls for their members to infiltrate into the ranks of labor in key U. S. industries. Their objective is to cause disorders in industry as they have done on the college campuses.

This subversive organization is now extending its poisonous tentacles into our high schools. At the time of my last visit to New York City in April, forty-seven high school principals and supervisors had been driven from their schools by bands of student terrorists.

Therefore, those of you in this audience who are in high schools need to pay heed.

In my youth it was the Nazi movement that threatened to destroy America. In your day it is the SDS. Both organizations used and are using the same tactics. What the SDS wants is a collectivized government and the abolition of the Constitution. It supports free speech except for those Americans who disagree with it. These people believe they have the total truth. Therefore, they must shut up people who disagree. They shout down speakers they don't like. They clubbed former Secretary of Defense McNamara at Harvard. They stoned Mayor Alioto at San Francisco. At Harvard, the militants carried a meat cleaver with them when they confronted the school officials with their demands.

They make demands on colleges. Some of the demands they make are attainable but some are always included that are impossible. All of the demands are presented as a package and the announcement made that "These demands are non-negotiable." At San Francisco, SDS demanded the reinstatement of a professor. The man was in jail under an indictment for carrying three prohibited weapons and couldn't possibly be reinstated by the college. At Duke, they demanded the reinstatement of all students who had flunked out the year before.

I, for one, am fed up with being on the defensive. I am an American and am proud of it. Our land is not perfect but while you and I are working together for a better day, I am not going to sit idly by and watch these radical subversives destroy us. The militant minorities are doing all the demanding. It is you and I who should be making the "non-negotiable demands" of them. Well, let's get started!

Are you ready? From this moment on, let's take the offensive! Let's tell the SDS and all their sympathizers and followers that we make the following demands of them and that these demands are non-negotiable:

1. You must obey our laws—both on and off the campus. If the militants want the laws changed, they must change them through the legislative halls and courts like the rest of us must do. 2. You must immediately cease and desist your attacks on others. We are going to protect free speech for all our citizens—not just for the SDS.

3. You must respect our American institutions. We are not going to allow our high schools and college campuses to be turned into arsenals, battlegrounds or havens for criminals—young or old.

4. If you want an education, you must obey the rules like the rest of us, or you will be promptly expelled for we are going to protect the rights of all students to attend classes and get an education without interruptions or strikes fomented by the militants.

5. If you like Russia, Red China and Communist Cuba as much as you say you do, then get out of the United States and stay out! We will not let you do to our country what you did to Czechoslovakia!

My fellow Americans, there's nothing these sick people can say or do that will make me ashamed of our land. Oh yes, we have our problems and deficiencies but they can be corrected and they will be corrected—not by destroying America, but by hard work and understanding among us. Compared to other countries, America is the greatest of them all. I believe America is the most lovely and liveable of all nations. I believe that Americans are the kindest and most generous of all people. I believe that even the humblest of us are born with a privilege that places us ahead of anyone else, anywhere else. The privilege of living and working in America, of repairing and renewing America; and one more privilege no one seems to get much fun out of lately—the privilege of loving America!

NEWS FROM THE

COUNTY AGENT'S DESK

BAGWORM CONTROL

The bagworm, the larval stage of a moth, attacks many trees and shrubs, but is especially destructive to arborvitae, juniper and cedar.

The insect will also infest willows, apple, maple, oak, sycamore, abelia and other plants when populations are high. The worm gets its name from the bag in which it lives.

Chemical sprays are very effective if applied before the young worms begin to construct bags around themselves. Treatment is recommended as soon as the worms begin hatching and their young are noticed.

For the spray application, malathion, carbary (Sevin), lead arsenate or toxaphene insecticides are effective. These chemicals are available from nurseries, garden supply stores and supermarkets under several trade names.

Mix the selected insecticide with water as directed on the container label and spray the infested plant from top to bottom and from bottom to the top and from the sides to insure complete coverage. Stop spraying when the plant is thoroughly wet and the material begins to run off.

Persons interested in more detailed information on controlling bagworms and other home ground insects are invited to pick up a copy of "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants," at the County Agent's office.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sarchet of Tullia and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sarchet and Kelly of Cleburne visited in the home of Mr and Mrs. Charles Sarchet and Ken Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sarchet and Kelly spent Saturday night here before leaving for home Sunday morning.

Seeking Graves Of Relatives Here

Clinton E. Wadlington of El Cajon, California, has recently been in Silverton and spent several hours trying to locate the graves of his father, Clarence Wadlington, and his grandfather, Dave Wadlington.

There are numerous unmarked graves at the Silverton Cemetery, and there is no record of these burials in the cemetery books.

The Wadlington family lived in the Francis community. It is believed that the father, Clarence Wadlington, died in Oklahoma but that his body was brought here for burial in 1923.

Anyone who might possibly remember any details about the burial of members of the Wadlington family is asked to contact George Seanev.

Home Run Gives White Sox Win

Kelly Bomar, who had pitched the first several innings for the Little League White Sox, was the hero of his team Tuesday night when he came to the plate as the first batter in the bottom of an extra inning with the score tied at 5-5 with the Gold Sox, and walloped a home run.

Bomar was mobbed by his teammates as the game abruptly ended. With shoulders heaving after the effort he put out to get around all the bases before the ball was thrown home, he grinned as if it had been nothing at all, and headed for the concession stand when one of the dads announced "free Cokes for the team!"

Ken Wood receives credit as the winning pitcher, owning two wins and no losses on his season record to date.

Do With Love

"Be watchful, stand firm in your faith, be courageous, be strong, let all that you do be done in love."

— I Corinthians 16:13, 14

Do with love, and the task is easier. Avoid self-love for it limits the capacity to do good works and shortens the eyesight to a world in shallow perspective.

Let all that you do be done in love, remembering the great example of the life of Christ, a life of giving, a life of service.

Learn to do with love and you will find your share of happiness.
