All Around the Town

by Mary Ann Sarchet

The Slogan Contest

The slogan contest goes on, with few entries having been received to date. Another slogan for the City of Silvertown has been entered from out of town on a postcard sent to Joe Mercer. (This one was too good to keep!) It is "Silvertown: Former Home of Frank Havran and Roy Hahn," and was submitted from Loveland, Colorado, by "those two."

I'll bet the Briscoe County News could have a pretty interesting contest if we offered a prize for the best true story local residents can recall about Frank Havran and/or Roy Hahn!

We'd like to see more interest in this contest. We are offering $500 for the slogan which is judged best by the Silvertown Merchants Association. Get your suggestion in to the Briscoe County News now. You may win a crisp, green, oval portrait of Abraham Lincoln autographed by the Treasurer of the United States.

The Dog Days

The City of Haskell has large billboards on its City Limits that say: "Welcome To Haskell, Texas: Home of 4200 Friendly People and A Few Old Soreheads."

The City of Silvertown could put up similar ones that read: "Home of 1096 Friendly Folks and Occasionally Gordon Alexander."

Kenneth Tate says their family dog seems to be bothered more by the mosquitoes than by fleas, because in the evenings when the people of the house begin spraying themselves with repellent here comes the dog, barking "Off, Off!" to attract attention to his needs.

Lallie Patton tells me that (I'll probably get killed for this) the J. D. Nance's dog loves ice cream. They stop by and buy him a nickel ice cream cone occasionally, and consequently, every time they pass the stand the dog has a barking fit for his ice cream!

Ravenel Grewe says her dog loves Cracker Jacks! Wonder if he digs out the prize first like the kids do?

I understand that Cliff Allard's dog stands up and begs for chewing gum.

And people say I am foolish about my pets!

Art Students Close Workshop Here

The summer homemaking art class ended with an exhibit in the Silvertown School Cafeteria at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 25.

Fifty-five pictures were exhibited by the fifteen students who ranged in age from eight to adulthood. Most were junior high school boys and girls.

The students were instructed in basic drawing and composition, color harmony and mixing, landscape, palette knife and still life painting in six regular lessons taught by Mrs. Louise Vaughan.

"We discovered a lot of talent that had previously been untapped," Mrs. Vaughan said. "They cannot develop into full-fledged artists in only six lessons, but the students have been exposed to a lot of art principles which can be developed through practice."

Students who exhibited paintings were Micki and Vici Jasper, Butch Brannon, Debbie Verden, Mrs. Opal Grabbe, Rhonda and Susan Grabbe, Mark Hutsell, Kadean Bomar, Ken Sarchet and Mrs. Frances Crass, Silvertown; Mrs. Rubie Williams, David Clark, Anna Jean Taylor and Bruce Tiffin, all of Quitaque.

Refreshments were served to those attending the exhibit by Vici Jasper and Debbie Verden.

The rustic camp, described as "a mile and a half toward heaven" is located 15 miles northwest of Las Vegas, in the Sangre de Christo range of the Rockies. It was for many years the "Flying B" dude ranch until purchased by members of the Churches of Christ to be used as a Christian camp.

Daily religious activities consist of two Bible classes, a chapel period and devotionals each morning before breakfast in the open air. In addition, religious services are conducted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and on Sundays. Other popular diversions include horseback riding, archery, riflery (air gun), ping-pong, volleyball, hikes, nature study, handicrafts, etc.

The group was taken to camp by the Bill Bolings Edwin Davis and Leo Fleming. They will be returned by the Jack Robertsons and the Ted Stranges.

"... behold, I have set before thee an open door ..."

Shall We Walk With The Devil As Far As The Bridge?

by Earl Cantwell

Minister, Rock Creek Church

Matthew 4:1-11

"All these will I give you if ..."

Matthew 4:9

In this experience of our Lord we see depicted the test of every man. Each of us spends a certain amount of time in the wilderness being tempted.

When the Lord "was hungry" the suggestion came from satan, "If Thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread." He could have reasoned, as so many seem to today, "What are our appetites for if not to be satisfied?" So tempting thoughts arise. Temptation often appeals to the outward man also.

Other times we are tempted to substitute "stunts" for genuine firm stick-to-it-iveness, as the Saviour was asked to "jump" to show men that He was the Son of God. These two enticements were felt with full force by Christ. In answer to the first, an appeal to the gratification of the appetite for a moment, He said, "Man has other needs, and these can be supplied only by the words that proceed forth from God." So we must, as did He, keep a proper balance between the fleshly and the spiritual appetites. In answer to the suggestion that He could best win men by being a "stunting spellbinder", Jesus said, "No" ... stunts, at the best, could win only the meanest kind of converts; therefore I will do no stunts.

And again we find Him faced by the third appeal. This appeal, like the other two, related to His life's vocation. The tempter from the mountain top promised, "If you will fall down and worship me I will give you all the kingdoms of earth." The empty promises of today seem to appeal to us so we need to know how our Example met it.

Through His mission, His work had already been decided: He was to be the Saviour of the world. He had to decide at that point what would be the best method of fulfilling His mission, and Jesus knew that only one method would be effective. Men must be told the truth, even if the truth cut to the quick and even if it stirred them to do the most damnable deeds. Even if the truth, told in love, stirs up hate, and this hate fashions a cross and goes about looking for nails to drive into a man's feet and hands. This hate would even lose its head and, in desperate mob passion, would murder the Son of God. Christ knew that men would see in the cross that was used for murder—perhaps not at first or even all at once, but eventually—God's deep, deep love.

The problem that our Lord had to wrestle with, and He surely did, was: "Is there some other way beside the cross to win the world? Why not join hands with men, make it seem that you are going along with them. Do not give them too much truth at once, accommodate yourself to the present evil trend of mankind; no matter how satanic it is; cannot I compromise? I'll just walk with the devil as far as the bridge." His problem presented this dilemma: "If I go on as it was planned I'll run into conflict with the whole organized machinery of this generation; I'll clash with the nation's religious and political force. Just overlook the bad and identify myself with the better impulses of mankind, and by so compromising I will win my following. I will take the road that is cheaper, less painful, easier and popular."

There we have the principle of appeal used then to destroy the hope of mankind. This is the device that the evil one is using today. There is none that want to suffer, either physically or socially. Our whole nature on its lower side cries out, "Let my life be as painless as possible!" And we think that life is less painful if we "drift with the tide." What anguish it brings to the teenager if he cannot do what everybody else is doing, no matter how crazy it may be. If every other boy wears long, shaggy hair, it brings almost unbearable anguish if "I am forced to get a presentable haircut." Or if every other girl wears a mini-skirt or less, "I just must follow after or feel as if I'm terribly mistreated." This is not confined to teenagers; all of us have to battle the desire to do as others do. It resolves itself into this problem: "Shall I do as did Jesus or shall I surrender to the pressure of customs and fashions of men?" Do we believe that we can surely fulfill our mission in life without sacrifice, labor or pain? To yield to this desire is to surrender to the tempter on the mountain.

This example of Christ on the mount of temptation is the answer to the perplexities of the nations, individually and collectively.

Face the responsibility squarely and determine, whatever the opposition, to fulfill our obligation to

DEAR EDITOR:

It has been brought to my attention several times that people think I sell the dolls I dress. I do not sell them. I started dressing the dolls for Christmas because I enjoy it and it has its rewards other than money. Just seeing the joy on the faces of the parents when they pick out dolls for their children is something to behold.

I am asking anyone who has dolls to donate to get in touch with me as soon as possible as it takes lots of work to fix each doll three dresses, underwear and a baby quilt.

Some people have given me scraps of material which I certainly appreciate.

The reason I want dolls now or anytime before December is that I just cannot get them all fixed if they come in in December unless I fix them for the following year.

Thanks.
 Mrs. M. B. Self
 EDITOR'S NOTE: We have tried

God, our country and society.

Fellow pilgrims: shall we walk with the devil to the bridge or shall we heed the tender plea of Jesus—"Take up your cross and follow me?"

Mrs. Bill Woolen of Phoenix, Arizona, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Malone of Vigo were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mayfield over the weekend. Mrs. Miles Anderson and boys of Tullia visited in the Mayfield home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins also have another son, Shane.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis of Tullia and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Perkins. The children have three great-grandparents, Mrs. Esther McLeland of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jolly of Athens, Tennessee. There is also one great-great-grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Hicks of Athens, Tennessee.

to make it very clear in stories that appear in the Briscoe County News that Mrs. Self does not receive any money for the dolls she dresses. I can personally testify to the fact that the dolls are given away, because in past years, I have helped with the distribution myself. I should add that Mrs. Self put herself in the hospital last December because she was trying so hard to finish all the dolls that had been donated for Toys For Tots late. You cannot imagine what a lot she is giving of herself unless you work with the project like I have.

DECISIONS

Decisions. Decisions. We make them every day, all of us. Some are little ones... like what's for breakfast, what activities to plan for the weekend.

Every once in a while we make a real big move. We decide to buy a new home... a new car... or new furniture for the house.

Big decisions are not usually made lightly. When "much money" is involved, most everyone tends to proceed with caution.

If you're about to make a big decision, you have much to consider - what you want, how much you will pay for it, and from whom you will make the purchase.

We have just one suggestion, one we've made many times before. We think the thinking man will trade at home, with a reliable, established businessman in the local community.

We decided a long time ago that this is a pretty good idea, for little needs as well as big ones.

Trade at Home for Your own sake and community progress lature the nagging question still lingered. When will the Governor call the special session?

There definitely will be a special session. This was decided when the House and Senate passed a one-year appropriations bill. Regardless of the Governor's decision to veto the spending bill or not, we must return to Austin to appropriate funds for operating our state government during the second year.

The stated reason by Lt. Gov. Barnes and House Speaker Mutschers for the one-year bill is to give Texans freedom from additional state taxes in 1969. What they aren't saying is that taxes will be doubled the following year.

In writing this bill, the authors have not only juggled funds from one state agency to another, but also dipped into next year's revenue. Thus, a heavy tax burden will develop in the second year.

By eliminating the unnecessary spending it's highly possible for the Legislature to draw up a two-year spending bill without the need for additional taxes.

Since the House and Senate versions of the bill were not the same, a joint committee met to decide on a suitable arrangement. Once the conference report was completed and returned to the House we had the opportunity to either accept or reject it. My vote against the bill was against the extra travel.

During the session it was my pleasure to work on four pieces of legislation that were of interest to the district. Sen. Hazelwood and I worked our respective sides of the Capitol to pass a bill establishing a separate Board of Regents for West Texas State University. We also combined forces on a bill which establishes a Hospital District in Donley County.

Early in the session Sen. Hightower introduced a bill, which I carried in the House, that allows the use of tires with protuberances on any vehicle traveling on public highways, providing it doesn't harm the roadway. The use of these tires was already allowed in bordering states.

Through the efforts of Walter Knapp and myself a bill was passed giving Randall County a District Court. The fifth bill was one I introduced in the House. It calls for the establishment of a Utility District for Lake Tanglewood.

My first session of the Legislature was both interesting and rewarding, but most important it provided the opportunity to compare our needs with those of other Texans. For the most part the Legislature passed bills that not only helped local legislative districts, but also the entire state.

For example in the area of law enforcement, the state now has a campus disorder law, there is a stronger disturbing the peace law and much stronger laws aimed at drug peddlers.

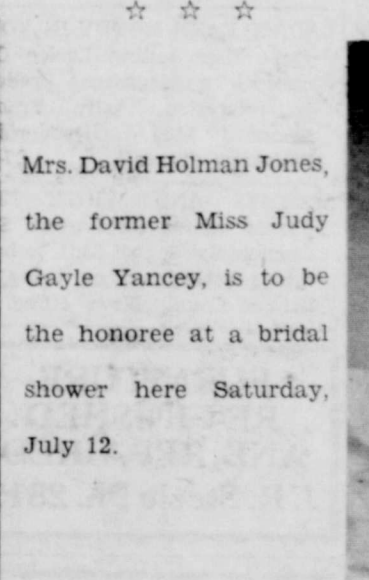

In the coming months, I will program for the next session. I'll be putting together my legislative bill interested in your legislative suggestions.

APPLY FOR BENEFITS BEFORE RETIREMENT

Applying for benefits up to three months before retirement helps to assure that social security checks will begin at the earliest possible time, according to Travis C. Briggs, Amarillo social security district manager.

He also advises checking with the social security office early to learn what supporting documents and evidence are required and for help in obtaining them.

Briggs continued, "Even if the worker is not planning to stop working, he should still apply two to three months before age 65 so that he has Medicare protection while continuing to work."

Panhandle residents wanting more information about when and how to apply for benefits should call, visit, or write their social security office at 1006 Adams Street, Amarillo, or contact the representative who visits their

Honest Work

Whatever your task, work heartily, as serving the Lord and not men.
— Colossians 3:23

"I don't want that dirty job. Let someone else do that." You have probably heard this remark, on the job, at the planning session for some community undertaking, anywhere that people gathered to try to do something that needed doing.

Some people avoid work that brings perspiration, that gets the hands dirty, that raises a blister or two.

What these people fail to see is that honest work be-littles no man. The man who sits behind a desk does not downgrade himself by picking up a saw or a shovel. Within his capabilities, honest work of a physical nature can be a source of pride, can bring a sense of achievement.

If a man raises his hand to help his church, his community or his country, the type of task he performs is not nearly so important as the fact that he offered his services and turned heartily to the task to which he was assigned.
