

All Around the Town
by Mary Ann Sarchet

Last week, Bro. Earl Cantwell started off his contribution to "The Open Door" column by saying: "Imagine me without the smile above, because I am not smiling at this moment." This column head doesn't carry my picture—thank goodness—but if you want to imagine what I look like right now, just picture me embarrassed!

Is my face RED!
When we were kicking the idea around about sponsoring a town slogan contest, Charles and I mentioned to one another ideas we had in mind that we liked and then opened it to the public with a $5.00 prize offered for the one the Merchants Association selected as their favorite. Back in the beginning, entries came in very slowly. We hadn't had much interest shown in the slogan contest before we had the typographical error that indicated there might be a $500 prize for the best entry. One day during the slack period, I sat down and wrote down a few ideas I had, stuck them in the little folder Charles was putting the other entries in, and then went to work trying to generate more interest in the contest.

In the final analysis, there were 55 suggestions submitted. There were some very good ones among them—several better, I thought, than the ones I had written. Since there were so many entries, I didn't print them on posters as I had first planned; instead I mimeographed a complete list of the slogans. When the businessmen voted, they didn't know who had submitted any of the suggestions. And unfortunately, the one they chose was MINE, and if that weren't bad enough, the slogan that placed second was entered by "Guess Who" also. And NEITHER of them was one that I considered my best ones.

At the last minute, this possibility did cross my mind—though I didn't consider it very seriously—and I entered mine on behalf of the Silverton Cemetery Association.

The $5.00 prize has been given to the Cemetery Association, as can be attested by its president, George Seaney. I hope you will agree that the Cemetery Association can probably use that little bit of money just as well as any of us who submitted entries in the contest.

It really wasn't fair for me to enter my own contest, but it wasn't really a "rigged" contest. It was conducted strictly above the board, and the only advantage I had was that I have thought about a slogan for Silverton off and on for the past ten years.

The third-place slogan was: "Silverton: Dedicated To The Future," submitted by Troy and Jeff Jones. The slogan which placed second was "Silverton: Pride of the Caprock."

"Silverton: Heart of the Scenic Caprock" was chosen to be our new town slogan. Several other contestants included thoughts of the Caprock's beauty and tourism attraction in their suggestions. Ruby Brannon submitted one which contained the identical thought in different words: "Silverton: In the Center of Beautiful Caprock Country."

Ruby Vaughan's suggested slogans contained the same idea. The Merchants Association also cast votes for: "Silverton Isn't For Everybody—Just YOU!" by Maebelle Francis, and "Silverton: Crown of the Caprock," by Glenna Cornett.

Lallie Patton and Mrs. W. N. West submitted almost identical slogans. Lallie's was: "Silverton: Top of the Plains" and Mrs. West mailed in: "Silverton: Top of the Plains, Where You Can See Everywhere." These were two of the first entries received, and it was quite a surprise to me to find them so alike.

Two of my slogans I really liked were "Silverton: Town With a Heart of Gold" and "Silverton: Home of Western Friendship."

Suggested slogans that I liked very much were: "Silverton: Town of Golden Friendship," by Mrs. Edgar L. Arnold; "Silverton: The City That Faith Built," by Bessie Garrison; "Silverton: A Town With Sterling Values," by Merlene Stephens; "Silverton: Let's Go Forth," by Mrs. J. D. Nance; "Silverton: Standing Tall In The Saddle," by Troy and Jeff Jones; "Silverton: A Town On The Go," by Ruby Brannon; "Silverton: The

It's "Now-Or-Never" For Mackenzie Dam

by Mary Ann Sarchet
It has taken quite a few years and a lot of leg-work and planning to bring the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority to this point, and when the results of the election are tabulated on Saturday, September 6, we will know whether the Authority is "a young man on the verge of turning a shovelful of earth to begin a project to secure the future for generations to come" or whether the Authority is "an old man drawing the last breaths into his worn-out body before bidding farewell to this life."

The results of the September 6 election will be the culmination of the efforts of many people who have long dreamed and worked for the building of a water reservoir on Tule Creek in Briscoe County. About eight or nine years ago, Bill Long (who was one of the original planners, without whose efforts the project could have died long ago) called this "our ten-year project." He felt that the preliminary work would take that long, and I thought it would be an absolute miracle if the project was accomplished in ten years. We now are on the verge of either working a miracle or throwing lots of effort, time, money and plain old hard work out the window.

Much of Silverton's future will hang in the balance as voters go to the polls on September 6.

Should the voters in the four cities elect to accept the conditions of the proposals and go ahead with the building of the water reservoir, we can expect a measure of growth and prosperity for our town. If the issues fail, there will be no future for business or industry in Silverton (or the other towns involved), and city residents will join the rural people in anticipating a total water depletion within 15 to 20 years.

People in this area sat on their haunches last week and let the big city interests vote agriculture out of a chance to provide water for our future. The Texas Water Plan isn't dead as a result of this, however, and there are quite a few Texans who have gone back to work on this with an absolute determination that they will not stop until the job of providing water to insure the future of agriculture in this area is accomplished.

But let's face facts: Silverton's agricultural water won't last another 20 years. There were wells pumping good water when we moved to Silverton ten years ago that won't pump a thing today.

The situation for the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority is quite different from that of the Texas Water Plan, and a negative vote on any of the propositions on September 6 will slam that door forever. The Authority presently holds the water rights—an extension of time in which to begin construction has already been granted—and if the construction does not begin on the location on or before October 26, 1969, the Authority will lose the water rights.

If we lose the water rights, there will be a lot of seen or unseen "FOR SALE" signs on property in Silverton. But who will want it? There would be no reason for anyone to invest money in a town that has no future.

I understand that some legal work may already have been done by another city—much larger than the four presently involved—in order that it will be ready to make immediate application for the water rights on Tule Creek should our September 6 election fail. If that town, which recognizes its need for water and the industry potential of being able to provide an unlimited water supply, built a reservoir on Tule Creek, the people in Silverton (and the three other towns) would be likened to the Ancient Mariner: "water, water all around, nor any drop to drink." We'd feel just great sitting out here on the edge of a municipal water reservoir, doing our fishing, boating and even dipping our feet in it, but not able to drink a drop of it!

Vote for YOUR future and the value of the property YOU own on Saturday, September 6.

BRISCOE COUNTY NEWS

THURSDAY, AUGUST 14, 1969      SILVERTON, (Briscoe County) TEXAS      VOLUME 61      NUMBER 33

Parade, Barbecue, Rodeo Today

A parade through downtown Silverton at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon will open the celebration of the 77th Anniversary of Briscoe County.

Included in the parade will be riding clubs from several towns across the area, as well as floats, decorated bicycles and other individual entries.

Serving of the public barbecue will begin immediately following the parade, or at about 4:00 p.m. in the City Park. The barbecue is being started earlier due to the fact that in past years those workers who were to work at the gates at the rodeo have been unable to help with the work of cleaning up after the barbecue.

Winners of the parade events will be announced and prizes will be awarded to the winners of the floats and bicycles divisions during the barbecue. Entertainment will also be provided.

PARADE
Louie Kitchens, parade marshal, has announced that it is not absolutely necessary to register the floats which will take part in the parade. "However, it will make our job of getting the parade lined up a lot easier if you will notify us in advance of parade time that you plan to have an entry." Prizes of $50, $30 and $20 will be given for the best floats.

BICYCLE DECORATION
A bicycle decoration contest will be sponsored again this year by the Briscoe County News. Cash prizes of $8.00, $4.00 and $2.00 will be given.

Each of the contestants in this division will be asked to wear a number—which will be assigned at the Briscoe County News until parade time Thursday—for the purpose of identification by the judges. The numbers are to be attached to the right side of the entry for easy viewing by the judges.

JUDGES
The same judges will be used for both the floats and bicycle decoration divisions of the parade.

REFRESHMENTS
Spudnuts and slushy drinks will be sold by Century of Progress Study Club in front of Hutsell Insurance Agency after lunch today.

RODEO
Silverton Young Farmers will sponsor a rodeo in observance of the 77th Anniversary of Briscoe County August 14-15-16 at the Silverton Rodeo Arena.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 50c for children for the rodeo performances which will begin at 8:00 p.m. on each of the three nights.

Stock will be furnished by the Ratjew Rodeo Company of Happy. Events will include saddle bronc riding, bull dogging, tie down calf roping, heading and healing, ladies barrel race, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, kid's break-away roping, and a wild mare race. A kid's calf scramble will be held each night.

A feature attraction on each of the three nights will be a wild cow milking contest (no entry fee required).

Wheat Program Announced For '70

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin has announced a 1970 wheat program aimed at strengthening the U. S. position in world markets and at continuing the effort to bring wheat production into line with needs.

A farmer can become a 1970 wheat program cooperator in exactly the same way as in the 1969 program. He will need to sign up in the program; remain within his allotment (unless overplanting or substitution options are used); devote to conserving use an acreage equal to 30.3% of his 1970 allotment (the approximate difference between the 1968 and 1970 allotments), as well as the acreage diverted for payment, and the acreage represented as normal conserving base. He needs also to remain within his acreage allotment for any other allotment crops on the farm, and within the permitted wheat acreage on any other farm in which he holds an interest.

The 1970 program has five important features:

1. The national average price-support loan level will be $1.25 per bushel. Unchanged from recent years, this level is being maintained in an effort to achieve maximum utilization of wheat through increased exports and continued large livestock feed use.
2. A diversion program at the maximum payment rate of 50% of county loan rates is aimed at avoiding production of 80 to 90 million bushels of unneeded wheat. This feature will allow producers to tailor their plantings by diverting up to one-half of their acreage allotments while maintaining incomes through diversion payments.

3. The national wheat acreage allotment of 45.5 million acres is designed to reduce stocks and reverse the three-year upward trend in carryover levels. This is a 12% reduction from the 1969 national allotment of 51.6 million acres.

4. Wheat marketing certificates will be paid on 48% of the projected production on the allotted acres of participating producers. For 1969, certificates at a record $1.52 per bushel are being paid on 43% of projected production. They are adding more than $800 million to the farm value of wheat. Payments per bushel reflecting the difference between wheat parity on July 1, 1970, and the average loan rate announced today will be as high or higher for the 1970 crop.

5. The option under which a producer can substitute the planting of wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat in any combination will be available. This increases farm efficiency by providing producers the flexibility of adjusting acreages to field sizes and to producing the more suitable crop for their particular operations. Other features of the 1970 wheat program will be much the same as those for the 1969 crop.

Whether barley will be included in the feed grain program in 1970 will be determined and announced late. However, required diversion for barley as a condition of substitution, under any circumstance, will be identical to the qualifying minimum acreage diversion required for feed grain program participation.

Small allotment farms with 1970 allotments 19.2 acres or less will be able to divert the entire allotment for payment. Payment will depend on diverted acreage being put to conserving or other specified use.

Town With a Sparkle," by Louise Vaughan; "Everyone's A V.I.P. In Silverton," by Maebelle Francis; "Silverton: Town of Silver Smiles," by Lois Arnold; and "Silverton: Where Silver Lakes Serve Hearts of Gold," by a former resident, Glenna Wilson of Canyon.

I'm not sure that an accurate slogan wouldn't be: "Silverton: The Town You Never Forget." Other entries were submitted by Mitchell Simpson, Vinson Smith, and Percy Reid.

And so, let us now show others throughout the area that we ARE a town of "sterling values" and "friendly people" by "going forth" as the "shining satellite" to prove that we are "dedicated to the future" of the "Heart of the Scenic Caprock."

LEADING THE CHEERS FOR S. H. S. this fall will be Rhonda Sutton, Lanis Davis, Cathy Jones, Donna Sissney and Paula Birdwell. The girls attended cheerleading school on the campus of Southern Methodist University last week, where they received two honorable mentions and one third-place award in competition while learning new cheerleading methods. They will be teaching new yells to the Pep Squad in the City Park Tuesday at 8:00 p.m., and they urge all S. H. S. girls to attend whether or not they have previously been members of the Pep Squad.

The Open Door
 "... behold, I have set before thee an open door ..."

by Rev. C. H. Murphy, Jr.
 Pastor, First Baptist Church

It was my privilege to spend last week in Glorieta Baptist Assembly, New Mexico, with a group of nineteen young people and their sponsors. During these wonderful days amidst beautiful and cool mountains we have enjoyed some wonderful experiences, which I trust will help these youth in the development of their lives.

In the beauty of God's creation, young people from all over the South gathered for the great purpose of enriching their lives with the "good news" of new life in Jesus Christ. I possess many wonderful experiences from these days: the beauty of a stately pine tree reaching to the heaven above; a quiet walk along the beautiful winding paths that lead through beautiful forests and flower gardens; having a golden moment to kneel beside the clear, cool, babbling brook to pray with your own son; overhearing one of our young people speak a word of Christian encouragement to another; watching through tears as young people make a commitment of their lives to Jesus Christ.

These are the priceless moments that I would not take anything for. These are experiences that bolster my interest and faith in our youth.

I wish every young person, regardless of his race or church affiliation, could receive such help and instruction as is offered in any church-sponsored retreat or camp.

But our youth need not find this help only in a church camp or Sunday School class. They can have and know the same encouragement from the people of our area. I would like to share some things we can do to help our own young people.

1. UNDERSTANDING. Lack of understanding of our youth and their problems has created the "generation gap." Let's seek to understand and meet them on their level. As one of their songs says, "Wat the world needs now is love!"

2. HYPOCRACY. If there is one thing that causes our youth to "turn-off God", it's the hypocrisy of Christian adults. Everytime they see a Christian drink, hear a Christian swear, or watch a Christian live a worldly life, they conclude that being a Christian is a "drug."

3. FORGIVENESS. Everyone makes mistakes. Young people make their share of mistakes. They commit "sins". I feel a word of encouragement can do more for a troubled youth than a word of discouragement. Why not give a compliment instead of a complaint?

4. TIME. Our youth need parents and adults who will take time to help them.

5. DISCIPLINE. Young people need and respect rules and regulations. They need to be taught what is right and wrong. They need to know what they can do and when they should be home. The old saying, "spare the rod and spoil the child" is true. We are witnessing on our college campuses the result of what happens when there is no discipline given a child.

When you hear someone criticizing today's youth, ask them what they are DOING to help uplift and build the character of our young people. We have some great kids; let's do all we can to help them grow into the men and women that God wants them to be. Let's "tune-in" before they "drop-out."

MRS. GREGORY LYNN TOWE

Stephens - Towe Vows Solemnized In Church Ceremony Saturday Evening

Miss Judy Kay Stephens and Gregory Lynn Towe solemnized their marriage vows in a candle-light ceremony at 6:00 p.m. Saturday, August 9, in the First Baptist Church in Silvertown. The Rev. Carl Nunn, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Stephens and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin Towe.

Wedding tapers, complimented with gypsophilia and peacock feathers caught with white satin bows, lighted the aisles. The stained glass windows of the sanctuary were accented by lighted tapers in cathedral arrangements. The nuptial area was bordered with topiary trees of boxwood and carnations. Small topiary trees and a large white rug marked the closed entrance to the bridal altar. Jade palms and candle-trees formed a background beyond the white satin prieu dieu where the couple knelt for the benediction.

Miss Rebecca Reid and Master

Kirk Durham preceded the bridal attendants down the aisle and cut the ribbons to open the bridal altar.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of white crepe and Chantilly lace. Designed with an empire bodice and Sabrina neckline, its long sleeves terminated in petal points over her hands. Tiny hand-sewn seed pearls accented the yoke redingote front revealing a slim crepe gown. The lace cage effect swept into a cathedral train. Minute satin-covered buttons adorned the center back of the bride's train.

Her fingertip bouffant veil of English illusion was secured by a forward cluster of organza petal points accented with crystals and pearls.

She carried a cascading bouquet of stephanotis and an orchid atop her white lace-covered Rainbow Bible. Nestled among the flowers was the wedding band of the bride's maternal grandmother. Tucked inside the Bible was a white handkerchief trimmed with blue that her mother carried in her own wedding. She wore the traditional blue garter and placed a sixpence in her shoe for luck. Her only jewelry was a diamond drop necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

The couple's memory candle was placed on a white wrought-iron stand flanked by two lighted wedding tapers. At the conclusion of the exchange of wedding vows, the couple was reminded that during their courtship they were two separate individuals but since being pronounced man and wife, they were now one in the eyes of God. The couple then extinguished the lighted tapers, symbolic of their separate lives, and together they lighted the memory candle, symbolic of their oneness. The candle will be a memento to be lighted on the couple's anniversaries.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Donna Copeland of Fort Worth. Bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Brooks of Silvertown; Miss Karen Holt of Silvertown, a cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Linda Chapman of Amarillo.

They wore identical floor-length gowns of peacock blue silk organza designed with old-fashioned empire lines with butterfly sleeves. Over their wrists they carried closed lace parasols overflowing with green Fiji mums, peacock feathers and cascades of blue and green satin ribbon. Their brief veils of illusion were attached to blue organza roses with avocado green leaves.

The flower girls were Little Misses Tandy McJimsey and Rebecca Reid. The flower girls wore dresses of blue silk organza, styled similarly to those worn by the other attendants, and added short chapel trains. In their hair was a trio of blue organza rosebuds, and each wore a wristlet of feathered carnations and carried lace baskets trimmed with the bride's colors.

Kerry Doyle Copeland of Fort Worth, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. The couple's rings were carried on a satin pillow trimmed with blue and green. He wore a Micki boutonniere.

Candles were lighted by Tom and Jeff Gary of Kress, cousins of the bridegroom. They also wore Micki boutonnieres.

Larry McWilliams of Weatherford, Oklahoma, was best man. Serving as groomsmen were John Montague and Wayne Nance, both of Silvertown, and Paul Durham of Memphis.

Seating the guests were Kyle Kendall of Hereford; W. J. Copeland, Jr., of Fort Worth; Johnny McGavock of Amarillo, and Riley Harris of Silvertown.

At the appointed time, chimes announced that the wedding hour had arrived. Mrs. Fred Mercer, accompanied by Mrs. Marvin Montague, sang "Twelfth of Never," "Wedding Prayer," and after the memory-candle ceremony, "Whither Thou Goest."

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a floor length cloth trimmed with lace. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom surrounded by green Fiji mums and greenery. A spiral candelabra of blue votive candles entwined with green Fiji mums formed the centerpiece. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Miss Rhonda Cobb of Hale Center; Miss Donna Sue Rogers of Flomot; Mrs. Linda DuBose of Brownfield; and Misses Judy Shorter and Pam Morris of Lubbock. Circulating hostesses were Misses Lois Stephens, cousin of the bride, and Darla Strange.

Mrs. Marvin Montague, organist, provided musical selections during the reception, and Rebecca Reid passed out tiny rice bags made of blue illusion tied with green ribbon.

Guests were registered by Miss Patsy Beseda of Lubbock. The registration table was covered with a floor-length white cloth on which the centerpiece was a colonial bouquet of green Fiji mums surrounding a lighted blue votive candle.

Other members of the houseparty included Mrs. Rex Holt, Mrs. Homer Stephens and Mrs. Loyd Stephens, aunts of the bride.

For traveling, the bride chose a green shepherd checked coat and coordinating sheath dress with matching accessories. She added the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home in Weatherford, Oklahoma, where the bridegroom is a senior in the School of Pharmacy at Southwestern State College. He is a member of Phi Delta Phi fraternity.

The bride completed a concentrated secretarial training course

MRS. LOUIS FRANCIS HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Louis Francis was honored in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Allena May, August 8 in celebration of her 77th birthday. Fish and all the trimmings was served in the back yard, and she was also presented a large birthday cake.

Those helping celebrate the occasion were Louis Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Snooks Frizzell, Mr. and Mrs. Shorty West, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis and Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Ursel Taylor and Danny Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Francis, Barry, Becky and Katy, Mr. and Mrs. John Francis, Lori, Lesa and Dave, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Frizzell, Michele, Cammie and Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Reagan, Zane, Shane and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Frizzell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Patton, James Alan, Mark, Eric and Alesha, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Don West and the hostess, Mrs. May, Barbara and Monte.

BRIDESMAID'S LUNCHEON

A bridesmaid's luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Donna Copeland, sister of the bride, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Stephens at noon Saturday. Individual tables were decorated with the bride's colors. Special guests were the two flower girls, their mothers, Mrs. Raymond McJimsey and Mrs. J. W. Reid, Jr.; the ringbearer, Kerry Copeland; and the mothers of the couple.

REHEARSAL DINNER

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents the evening before the wedding at the City Cafe. A colonial nosegay of Fiji mums was the centerpiece.

Home Notes

by MRS. NAOMI HUNT
Briscoe County
Home Demonstration Agent

It isn't the blush that tells how ripe the peach is. Look instead to the background color of a peach.

Select peaches that have a creamy or yellowish ground color. Peaches picked before they are mature usually have a green color, and will not ripen satisfactorily.

Peaches now are packed in a variety of different containers. Some of the newer types are wire bound containers holding 1/4 bushel; wooden lugs holding two layers of peaches in individual paper cups or plastic trays; cellpack corrugated boxes and small consumer-size containers holding four to six pounds of peaches.

All of the containers are designed to get bruise-free peaches from the orchard to the consumer. Now days there is no need to peel peaches because most are defuzzed by soft brushes soon after they are picked. Tender skins allow peaches to be sliced without peeling.

One pound of fresh peaches equals three medium-size peaches or two cups sliced peaches. Two pounds of fresh peaches equals one 8- or 9-inch pie.

Here's a peach of an idea for a breakfast or dessert delight—Peachalade.

- 1 medium orange
- 1 lemon
- 2 pounds peaches (about 5 to 6 medium peaches)

- 1 cup water
- 7 1/2 cups (3 1/4 pounds) sugar
- 1/4 bottle liquid pectin

Squeeze juice from orange and lemon. Grind rinds or chop in electric blender. Put peeled, pitted peaches into bowl. Crush fine with mesh-type potato masher or small can with both ends cut out. Add fruit juices to peaches. Let stand.

Put ground orange and lemon rinds into 5- or 6-quart kettle. Add water. Cover. Simmer over medium heat for 10 minutes. Blend peach mixture and sugar into cooked fruit rinds. Bring to full rolling boil. Boil for 10 minutes. Stir often. Remove from heat. Stir in pectin. Alternately, stir and skim to remove foam for 5 minutes. Pour into clean, hot, dry jelly jars. Seal at once with self-sealing lids, or cover with 1/4-inch layer of melted paraffin. Store in a cool, dark place.

Use peachalade on toast, French toast, on top of ice cream for dessert; or on bread for a snack for the kids. Think up your own uses for it!

Why not buy a bushel of fresh peaches and freeze them so that the whole family can enjoy their delightful goodness the year around? Now days, freezing is one of the simplest and least time-consuming ways to prepare and preserve fruits at home. The choice, golden hue, juicy fresh flavor, and Vitamin-A rich nutritive value of peaches are well kept through freezing. And frozen peaches are a snap to serve on short notice. Just thaw and serve—plain, with ice cream in sundaes or parfaits, sprinkled with grated coconut for ambrosias, or as a colorful topping for gingerbread or shortcake.

Since some varieties freeze better than others, even though some peaches vary, there are some general considerations in freezing any peaches.

1. Select firm, but ripe, fruits—without bruises. Slice or chop as desired.

2. Pack with sugar, cold syrup or unsweetened, depending on use planned. (A 40 percent syrup, three cups sugar to four cups water, is generally best for peaches.)

3. Add ascorbic acid to prevent darkening (1/4 teaspoon to 1 quart cold syrup).

4. Pack in moisture-proof containers, with all fruit covered by the syrup, and 1/2 to 3/4 inch of "head space."

A bushel of peaches will fill 16 to 25 quarts. Plan about 15 pints for each person in the family and have sunny summer goodness all year long.

Remember the peach cobbler of your childhood? The golden-brown crust, crisp on the top but soft enough underneath to absorb the rich peachy juice?

Dig out the tattered family recipe or call up Mom and get it, because this is the peach season. Fresh-from-the-tree peaches are reaching our markets now.

Watermelon, cantaloupe and peaches, semi-cling and freestone varieties, steal the hot weather food market scene. Each, along with nectarines, plums, honeydew melons, oranges, Bing cherries, bananas, grapes and pineapples, is in good supply at the most economical prices.

Although hot weather is affecting most Texas crops good vegetables are a good buy. These include red and russet potatoes, cooking greens, purple hull and blackeye peas, tomatoes, carrots, dry yellow onions, squash, eggplant and corn. Here are some tips on selecting melons. The variety of cantaloupe influences its shape, thickness of its meat and the percentage of sugar that it contains. Some of the new varieties have tasty meat that is two inches thick.

When shopping for cantaloupe, look at the color. Select a melon that is green with a slight appearance of yellow or orange. This is the period of the highest sugar content and greatest flavor.

Melons that are predominantly yellow or orange are overripe. Flavor and sugar content has begun to disappear.

Another guideline to check is the netting; it should be deep and uniform, with no bald spots or smooth areas unless it is one of the few "slick varieties."

Check the stem end for a depressed scar. If more than one-half of the stem is attached to the melon, it is underripe and will have quite firm meat with a poorly developed flavor.

Be sure there are no soft spots or insect spots on a cantaloupe. Select a melon that is well shaped—round to oval and of medium size. Smell the stem end; it should provide a good cantaloupe aroma.

Store cantaloupe in the refrigerator, for unrefrigerated melons deteriorate rapidly. Once cut, the melon should be tightly wrapped to avoid dehydration, shrinkage and flavor combination or other refrigerated items.

When a honeydew melon is at its peak of sweetness and flavor, its rind is creamy-white and feels slightly tacky to touch.

The blossom end of a ripe melon may yield slightly to pressure, through abuse by shoppers.

A ripe honeydew has a faint, pleasant fragrance and the flesh is delicate green, juicy and sweet with a fine-grained, texture. The reason for this is that most melons are cut before they reach maturity and it changes color from a slick whitish-green to a creamy-white.

In France they call it "melon d'eau," in China it is "si-kwa." Arabs refer to it as "bottikh," and if you can speak Sanskrit, you can ask for "chaya pula" at your local grocery.

What is it? It's that Southern favorite—watermelon! No matter what you call it, people all over the world enjoy watermelon.

And no wonder—the entire watermelon has eating potential. The rind is popular made into relishes and pickles. The seeds can be roasted to a crisp goodness, and added to green salads (at the last minute) for a unique flavor. White fleshed "citron" watermelons provide citron for making preserves and sweet pickles.

Some 92 percent water, pleasantly sweet, with just enough "meat" to bite into, a well-cooled watermelon can't be beaten on a warm day. Iced, on the rocks, pureed, frozen, or simply chilled and cut—Americans are finding scrumptious ways of using watermelon to refresh hot summer days. Now is the time to do it, too, while the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service reports plentiful supplies of watermelons.

Try some of these summer treats to quench your thirst for something icy cold and delicious.

Watermelon Ice
Cubes of watermelon
1 quart watermelon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
Chill cubes of watermelon until icy cold. Combine watermelon juice (easily extracted from ripe melon) with salt, sugar and juice from one lemon. Pour this mixture into refrigerator trays and place in freezer until a soft, icy firmness forms. To serve, place four or five chilled melon cubes in a clear sherbet glass and add lofty peaks of the watermelon ice. Garnish with a sprig of fresh mint or a twist of lemon.

Unless he is a better-than-average watermelon thumper, the consumer can't really rely on thumping as an accurate test of ripeness.

Plugging and cutting are most accurate. Ripe watermelons are firm, fresh and attractive in appearance with a generally symmetrical shape.

The surface of the rind has a velvety, not slick, bloom. The color may range from a deep, solid green to a gray-green or stripes, depending on the variety. The underside or ground spot changes from a pale white to a yellowish color as the melon ripens.

An uncut watermelon will keep for a few days in a cool storage area. Watermelon flavor is more distinctive when the melon is chilled but not real cold. Cover cut pieces of melon with foil, waxed or plastic wrap and refrigerate.

For a delightful refreshment at your next party, try Sparkling Punch in Its Own Shell.

- 6-oz. can pineapple juice
- 6-oz. can pineapple juice frozen concentrate

6-oz. can orange juice frozen concentrate

10 cups water

1 quart gingerale

Watermelon balls

Combine fruit juices and water; mix well. To make melon shell to serve the punch in, slice off one end of the melon several inches from the end. Scoop out the larger part to form shell. Level off the shell end so the melon can stand upright. Mix half of the fruit juice mixture with half of the gingerale. Pour in shell; add ice cubes and melon balls. Serve immediately. Mix remaining fruit juice and gingerale as needed. Makes 32 1/2-cup servings.

An ideal keyed perfectly to a summer party is a festive watermelon boat piled high with melon balls and berries and served with iced tea as appetizing salad while the steaks or spare ribs are still on the grill.

Housekeepers in Short Supply
Mrs. Andrews gave me the subject for today's column — quite by chance. She's been trying for some time now to find someone who would come in once a week and give her a helping hand with the housework, allow her to concentrate on some volunteer project she's involved with. So an ad in the local paper caught her eye at once. "Mature woman, available for light housekeeping," it ran, and listed the relevant days and hours, together with the lady's telephone number. "Now there's a good idea," said Mrs. Andrews, delighted. "There must be plenty of openings for women with no special skills but this one, whose income has shrunk so much they must find a job. Judging from our own experience, the woman who wants to hire a housekeeper has a tough time finding one. The younger generation seems to feel there's some sort of stigma attached to the job. Apart from that, they think they can make more money elsewhere. "Which leaves the field free for older women, who have sense enough to know there's nothing undignified about housework. It's as good a profession as any other — providing the employer understands that too." "Very true," said I. "And women of retirement age aren't usually thinking in terms of making a fortune — just padding out the family income a bit. "They don't want to lose their social security benefits by earning more than they're allowed to under the regulations. In this job they can work just as many hours as they want to. "The main pitfall to avoid, it seems to me, would be any misunderstanding, on either side, of the agreement. The term 'lighthousework,' for instance, should be defined in advance. "I'm pretty sure," I went on, "there's a considerable reservoir of mature homemaking talent in every community that, for one reason or another, is not being used. And this at a time when so many women work outside the home and really need help. "Obviously, it isn't everybody's cup of tea. But if you like housework, I'd say there are worse ways to earn that extra buck. "Indeed there are," said Mrs. Andrews, who likes to have the last word. "After all, we women spend much of our lives doing housework without getting paid, so why not cash in on it when we need to?"
