All Around the Town

ARE THEY ALL BROTHERS?
When you read down the football roster for Silverton, it looks like just a few families are represented when you see Hamilton and Hamilton; Martin, Martin, Martin and Martin; Strange and Strange, Self and Self, May and May.

Actually this situation doesn't cause there to be too many fewer Mamas and Papas on the bleachers on Friday nights than if some of them were Smiths and Joneses.

Art and Max Hamilton are brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hamilton.

Dana and Stan Martin, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Datis Martin, are also brothers, but that's as far as the brother-business goes. One Martin, Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, is a cousin of Gary and Stan, but Derrel Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Martin — of a different family (the Flomot branch).

Marvin Self, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Self, (except when he does a no-no and becomes "Faye's kid") and Thomas Self, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Self, are cousins. (Roger Younger is also their cousin.)

Also cousins are Bill Strange, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Strange, and Ronnie Strange, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strange.

But in the case of the Mays, their families are good friends, but Alvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd May, and Thurman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin May, are not related at all.

Another thing that a lot of these boys have in common is that most of their fathers, and mothers, too, attended the Silverton schools, and several of their fathers played football for S.H.S.

Owls Stun Turks With 32-6 Win

by Mary Ann Sarchet

Silverton's Owls delighted themselves and their fans last Friday night by defeating Turkey, a long-time football rival, 32-6, in Vardy Field in Turkey. Every player on the team saw action during the game, with Freshman Quarterback Art Hamilton guiding the Owl reserves through most of the fourth quarter.

The joy and excitement of a gridiron win was abruptly halted when fans returning to Silverton came upon a serious automobile accident near the E. A. Birdwell's on top of the Caprock. Two women and three children were enroute to Dimmitt from Dallas when the car in which they were riding apparently went out of control, skidded across the highway, overturned and went through a fence into a field. One woman and a boy were taken to the hospital by ambulance. The boy suffered mostly from shock, it was reported, even though he was thrown out of the car. The woman, who was pinned under the car, had broken ribs, punctured lung and other injuries. The other three were less seriously injured.

Needless to say, fans were jolted back to reality by the accident, and I would guess that they proceeded on to Silverton at a rate of speed which averaged ten miles an hour less than they had been driving.

TURKS FUMBLE OPENING KICKOFF

The Owls kicked off to Turkey to begin the football action Friday night, the Turks fumbled the ball, and it was recovered by Max Hamilton. On the first play from scrimmage, the Owls fumbled and the Turks got the ball back.

At this point, Coach Coker probably felt as though he were awakening from a nightmare, and Coach Stovall was thinking what a long night it was going to be.

The Owls allowed Turkey to gain only eight yards before punting, blocked the punt, and set up the first Silverton score of an action-packed evening.

Marvin Self carried 12 yards for the score on Silverton's fourth play from scrimmage. Self's conversion kick was no good.

Nine plays after Silverton kicked off to the Turks, Bill Strange carried a second Owl score from four yards out to give the visitors a 12-0 lead. Strange's conversion run failed to add points.

In the second quarter, Gary Martin recovered a fumble on the Turkey-48 to give the Owls possession and to halt a drive that had given the Turks their first two first downs of the evening. Dana Martin recovered another Turk fumble during the quarter.

Quarterback Trent Brown passed to Marvin Self for a 25-yard gain for the Owls shortly before halftime.

The Owls received the Turk kick that opened the second half on about their own ten-yard-line, and on the first play, Bill Strange broke loose for an 84-yard gain to the Turkey 7. Strange picked up four yards on the next play, and Marvin Self carried the score the final three yards. On a nice end run, with the help of a fake by Bill Strange, Trent Brown carried the two-point conversion.

Late in the third quarter, Thomas Self carried a Turk punt back to the Turkey-45, and on first down Marvin Self fought loose of would-be tacklers to add another score for the Owls. The conversion pass was complete but too short for the extra points.

When the Owls kicked off to Turkey, Billy Vivens ran it all the way from about the Turk-40 for a touchdown. There was no conversion, and the Owls held a 26-6 lead.

Bill Strange made it look like he would return the favor when he took the Turk's after-score kickoff on his own 30 and ran all the way to the Turkey-30 before being hauled down.

Bill Strange added the final score of the game on the first play of the fourth period by carrying the last ten yards of a drive on

Beryl Long Is Guest Speaker At Meeting

Beryl Long was guest speaker for a regular meeting of the Silverton Young Farmers September 23 in the school vocational agriculture department. He spoke on what is happening in Washington, D. C. and in Austin on the farm level.

He emphasized that more than 100,000 farmers went out of business last year. Just last year, the farmers represented 6.2% of the popular vote. This year, the farmers represented only 5.7% of the popular vote. At the present time, there are seven million people living on farms. At the present rate, it is predicted that in ten years there will be only 1 1/2 million people living on farms. The speaker explained how easy it is to let your congressman know what you think and how you feel as a farmer. Congressmen cannot read the minds of their constituents when they sit back and say nothing. The farmer is being cut and whittled on with each cut in farm policy. Consumers tend to blame the high cost of many products on the farmers. People, especially those in the cities, seem to believe the farm is on the "gravy train."

Congressmen need to be informed as to personal situations. The guest emphasized that it is imperative that farmers and agribusiness people keep informed on what is going on.

Yesterday the farm bill was before committee and is to be taken to the House. The bill will probably be decided within a week. This is Graham Purcell's Correlation Farm Bill that is an extension of the 1965 Act with modifications on cotton, wheat and milo.

Everyone is being asked to write Congressman Bob Price, urging him to support this bill. The farmers need it desperately to stay in business.

Write Congressman Bob Price, 507 Canner Building, Washington, D. C.

Other business discussed by the Young Farmers included the purchase of a public address system for the school. Action was tabled until prices could be investigated.

Present were Art Sommerfeld, Tommy Perkins, Wayne Stephens, Calvin Shelton, G. W. Chappell, Dwain Henderson, Joe Kitchens, Alton Riddell, Jimmy Myers, Guinn Fitzgerald, Gordon Lowrey, Robert H. Hill and Joe L. Bomar.

Cathy Jones Is Floyd County Fair Queen

Activities at the 16th Annual Floyd County Fair closed late Saturday with the crowning of Cathy Jones as Miss Floyd County Fair.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Jones of Silverton, Cathy is a Senior in Silverton High School. She is head cheerleader this year after having led cheers for S.H.S. teams for the four years of her high school career, and she was also a cheerleader in junior high.

She is president of the Silverton chapter of Future Homemakers of America, is treasurer of the Student Council, is secretary of the Senior class and is secretary of the Silverton chapter of Future Business Leaders of America. Cathy plays guard for the

She was elected Queen of the Silverton Lions Club earlier this year, and was sponsored in the Floyd County Fair Queen contest by that civic club.

During the preliminaries of the contest, which was conducted similarly to a Miss America Pageant, Cathy modeled a navy blue jumpsuit with white top stitching accented with silver buttons. She performed a piano solo, "Tara," from "Gone With the Wind" in the talent presentation.

The 22 contestants were pre-ented in evening attire before the top 10 finalists were chosen. After the top 10 girls presented their talent numbers again, the top five finalists were announced and were asked questions. Cathy told the judges what her parents mean to her.

First runner-up in the contest was Jeanette Day of Matador, who is a niece of Mrs. Ware Fogerson of Silverton, Jackie Cheatham of Quitaque was the second runner-up.

Cynthia Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. (Jack) Sutton, another Senior in Silverton High School, was named Miss Congeniality of the contest.

Like Cathy, Cynthia is an outstanding student and is involved in most community, church and school activities. She sings the national anthem (without accompaniment) at the football games and entertains for many gatherings. She is fourth vice president of the Future Homemakers of America, an officer for the Future Business Leaders of America, is president of the Pep Squad and reporter for the Senior class.

She is manager for the girls' basketball team and is an active member of the 4-H Club and was announcer for the Junior Play. Cynthia has also been elected to Who's Who.

Northcutt Addresses Group Hearing At College Station

Pat Northcutt, Silverton farmer and GSPA secretary-treasurer, was the spokesman for the Grain Sorghum Producers Association when policy views were presented to Secretary of Agriculture Hardin and his staff at a meeting in College Station last week. The meeting was designed to give farmers and their representatives an opportunity to explain their views of present and future farm legislation.

Accompanying Mr. Northcutt were GSPA Vice Presidents K. B. Parish of Springlake and Mabry Foreman of Felt, Oklahoma.

Attending the meeting Thursday morning as representatives of the Briscoe County N.F.O. were G. W. Chappell, Sam Lewis, Jimmy Myers, Jack Sutton, Robert H. Hill, Riley Ziegler, Robert McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Francis.

In his address, Mr. Northcutt said: "It is our pleasure, Mr. Secretary, to welcome you and your staff to Texas. As you know, this state produces almost one-half of all the grain sorghum in the nation, and your home state of Nebraska produces a large percent of the balance.

"The Grain Sorghum Producers Association represents the views of the majority of the grain sorghum farmers across the nation. We have leaders of all major farm organizations on our board. We almost always have a unanimous vote of our board members on programs of government farm policy affecting grain sorghum. We also seek the views of grain farmers who are non-members of GSPA as well as our members.

"The Grain Sorghum Producers Association has several points which we feel should be considered in any farm program written for the '70's'. Our basic policy is to encourage an extension of the present feed grain program, with some changes which would improve net income. Our position is flexible to the extent that we will consider and work with you on any program, as long as the basic objectives of the present program are a part of it.

"Some of the points which we feel are important to continue and consider in future farm legislation are:

"1. Production Restraints: We must continue programs designed to keep our production in line with consumption. The less that Congress is willing to spend on feed grain programs, in supplementing farm income, the more important it is to have an effective and more rigid control program. Mr. Secretary, our association was formed in 1956 when there were no production controls for grain sorghum. We were producing much more than was needed for the markets and our prices were below an extremely low loan rate. We cannot return to that kind of situation, and we will be working as hard as possible to see it doesn't happen. A control program must be continued to keep production down and market prices at a level where farmers can prosper while using good farm management practices.

"2. Price Support and Loan Program: If parity is the gauge of registering a fair return to our farmers for their expenses, time, and investment, we feel that our government programs should be designed to bring full parity to the efficient farmers. We do not feel the city people, government or anyone else should expect farmers to produce for less than the full parity level, anymore than they are willing to work for less themselves. We feel a price support and loan program must be continued.

"The loan program is an essential tool for farmers. It is necessary in marketing the farm products in an orderly and systematic way and in taking advantage of market price increases. This loan should be high enough to add strength and stability to the market prices. Any lowering of price support payments should be offset by an increase in the loan as a support to prices.

"3. Reseal Program: The reseal program in commercial storage has been helpful to farmers, during the last two years. It allows us to hold grain until beyond the normal marketing season when prices are low. We encourage you to see NORTHCUTT ADDRESSES GRASSROOTS HEARING— CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR make very much against the Turks, but they showed fierce pride and determination and a defense that allowed the Turks a total gain of 33 yards during "their" quarter.

Owls Stun Turks

The deepest Turk penetration of the evening (beside the kick-off return touchdown) came in the fourth quarter to the Silvertown-10 where a jarring tackle by Stan Martin knocked the ball loose, and Martin recovered for the Owls, completely ruining Turkey's chance for another score.

The Owls ran into a few setbacks after getting the ball, and Marvin Self was called in to punt from deep in his own endzone. The punt carried to about the Silvertown-35, where Turkey received a personal foul penalty. On the next play, old Stan Martin just roared in there and came up with another Turk fumble.

As one fan described it: "There would be a big pileup of players, and who would they find on the very bottom but Stan Martin!"

STATISTICALLY SPEAKING

Statistics show that Turkey fumbled the ball seven times, losing possession five times, while the Owls fumbled three times, losing the ball twice.

The Turks gained 146 yards rushing, while the Owls picked up 304 rushing and 35 passing.

Marvin Self was the leading gainer for Silvertown, picking up 148 yards (including the pass play) and scoring 18 points. Bill Strange was close behind with 115 yards gained rushing and 12 points. Dana Martin added about 30 yards (and a few yards that were nullified by penalty) and Ronnie Strange got about 20. Trent Brown shared in the scoring with a 2-point conversion to his credit.

Turkey had several passes fall incomplete, and almost had two picked off by Bill Strange. Turkey didn't gain anything by passing, but did intercept one Owl aerial.

The Owls made 15 first downs: four in the first quarter with 82 yards rushing; two in the second quarter and 17 yards rushing, 35 yards passing; eight in the third quarter with 195 yards rushing; and one first down in the fourth quarter and a gain of 19 yards. These figures do not include the yardage gained by Coach Bill Stovall on the sideline! The figures do have the minus yardage subtracted.

The Turks rushed for 23 yards and no first downs in the first quarter; 24 yards and two first downs in the second quarter; 69 yards, one first down and a touchdown in the third quarter; and 33 yards and one first down in the

Canoeing Was Fine, Except For . . .

That was a fine canoe trip that Silvertown Scouts took into Canada last summer. Well, except for getting caught by a tornadic storm system and being swamped in the middle of a big lake the first day out.

And except for being stung by lightning on the fifth day. And having to paddle against the wind five of the eight days on the trail. And getting rained and hailed on every day but two. And waiting their turn one night while a marauding bear raided two nearby camps.

Anyway, two days of the eight-day voyage were perfect.

The expedition was made up of Scouts from Olton, Silvertown, Quitaque, Lubbock and Friona, accompanied by Robert Hawkins, the assistant district commissioner of the Haynes Boy Scout District.

Even though the Texans were accustomed to dodging the weather for a living, they were still fascinated at the fury of nature's forces in the North Woods. And to make it worse, the Canadians blamed the Texans for bringing the unusual weather with them from the Panhandle.

After a flight to Duluth, Minnesota, and an overnight stay at Ely, the canoe adventure started, innocently enough, at the Charles L. Summers Canoe Base near Ely, one of three Explorer bases in the United States. There, the boys spent a day getting outfitted, loading their packs and learning canoe safety.

They took to the trail the morning of August 4, with six canoes, 13 boys ("grubs"), a professional guide ("voyageur"), a training guide ("swamper"), and Hawkins, their adult leader. Their goal was to canoe more than 50 miles into Canada, along a series of lakes and rivers in scenic Ontario. The trip also included portaging (carrying their canoes and packs) across the high spots between waters.

fourth quarter. This total of four first downs was only half as many as the Owls made against White Deer.

Turkey was penalized four times for 40 yards, while the Owls had 20 yards stepped off against them.

In the second half, it looked like all Bill Strange had to do to draw four or five tacklers was to place his arms across his mid-section, lower his head and start toward the Turk line. This, of course, gave the other Owl backs an excellent opportunity to gain yardage elsewhere.

The Turks just didn't seem to be up for the game and ready for the Owls. Coach Coker was quoted by one fan as saying that he thought our freshmen and sophomores could have beaten the Turks last Friday night.

While out, they would fish, swim, paddle, cook, explore, and do all the things boys enjoy doing in the idyllic wilds.

But on the first day out, Hawkins recalls, they were caught in a tornadic storm system "right in the middle of a two-mile lake," Birch Lake.

"The waves were four feet high, and it was raining and blowing so hard that it just turned it white or about four feet off the water," Hawkins said. "You couldn't see the bow or the boat from the stern."

Two canoes containing six boys capsized in the middle of the lake. Two cameras and two moosekin kits went to the bottom of the 300-foot lake, and most of their supplies got soaked.

"The storm was a bad one—it had a whole series of tornadoes in it — but it passed over pretty fast," Hawkins said. "The training guide and I went ashore and unloaded, then went back out and helped the two canoes get righted. Two boys had let their packs go, and they floated half a mile across the lake. We had to go get them, too."

When they got ashore that evening and checked their supplies, they found that good packing practices had paid off — their bedrolls were in plastic bags and only one had been soaked.

"We slept pretty well that night," Theron Hawkins, 14, commented.

On big Saginaga Lake, they were "windbound" the entire day and couldn't get a canoe into the water because of four-foot waves. The next morning they got up and "beat the wind" across the lake before cooking breakfast.

"We had one layover day—the fifth day—that was beautiful," Hawkins said. "The lake was calm, and we fished three hours and caught five northern pike."

Hawkins boated a 24-inch pike and one of his sons hauled in a 20-inch during the day. But after the calm, lightning struck—literally—on the seventh day.

"We got caught in a small lake when the bottom fell out of the sky," Hawkins said.

"It was like someone pouring water on you with a bucket," one of the boys added.

"We were starting to portage and some of the boys were holding the aluminum canoes when the lightning hit near us," Hawkins said. "It didn't hit us directly, but every boy who was holding a canoe got a charge out of it—about like a jolt from a fence charger."

"Then it started hailing," he said, "and it hailed an inch in no time."

He added, "The guides and other people there said it was the worst weather they had had in years—and that we Texans must have brought it with us."

At Louisa Falls, Ontario, a marauding bear raided two camps next to theirs.

"He stole their food, tore up their packs, and kept bothering them all night," David Hawkins related. "We could hear them yelling and beating their skulls at him. He didn't get into our camp, but we were afraid he would."

The Texans made it to big Saginag Lake in Ontario before starting their return trip to the base. They were scheduled to go farther, but the weather held them back.

The country—all of it in Quietico Provincial Park, Ontario—had a wild, rugged beauty.

"All this country was gouged out by glaciers, leaving huge boulder islands and lakes that range from 100 to 300 feet deep," Hawkins said. The country is thick with pine and birch trees.

"Out of eight days on the trail, we had five days of rain and went seven days against the wind," Hawkins said. "Out of six cameras that went on the trip, two were lost and only two were still working after that first storm. It was about the roughest trip we've had."

Hawkins spoke from experience. He has been on similar adventures at all three of the Explorer bases in the U.S.—at Cimarron, New Mexico, Boulder Junction, Wisconsin, and Ely, Minnesota.

After all that trouble, were they glad to get back to civilization?

"I'm ready to go back up there, to tell you the truth," David Hawkins said. And his brother, Theron, echoed, "Me, too."

Briscoe County boys who took part in this "great adventure" were Jerry Merrell, Quitaque; Trent Brown, Tommy Burson, Jim Davis, Lane Garvin, Nicky Long, Ronnie Strange and Monty Teeple, Silvertown.

Lynn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith, has been a patient in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Golf Pro Finding Career In Teaching, Writing

DAY OF GOLF WITH LAWRENCE WELK- Jack Minor Wilson, assistant professional golfer at San Diego's beautiful Stardust Country Club, was writing an article for the August 1969 issue of "Par" magazine, for which he is Technical Editor. Lawrence Welk and his friend, Brad Wilson (left), son of Mrs. Glenna Wilson of Canyon, formerly of Silverton, was pictured with his wife, Nancy, who acted as scorekeeper.

issue of "Par" magazine, of which Wilson is technical editor. Mosconi, after being beaten (barely) on the golf course by Wilson, challenged him to a game of billiards and billed the event as an exhibition on the billboard in front of his plush establishment. The 1909 Klings on which they played the match is one of only 90 such tables made, and is insured for $25,000. Wilson entered the match trying not to think what would happen to him if he miscued and ripped the table's playing surface. After convincing Mosconi that he should spot him 85 balls in a 100-ball game, Wilson tried to stay out of the champion's way as he ran the score to Wilson-85, Mosconi-65. Not knowing just why Mosconi hadn't just run the score to 100, Wilson took his first turn on an obvious set-up arranged by his opponent. He took aim and mis-hit the cue ball, and a fellow in the bleachers yelled, "Use your five-iron!" Mosconi evened the score at 85-85 before giving Wilson another turn. One-Two-Three-Four-Five—eight balls dropped in the pockets, and earned a compliment from Mosconi. The final score was Mosconi-100, Wilson-98!

It must have been an equally memorable experience when Wilson played golf with Lawrence Welk and his close friend, Jack Minor. Wilson's wife, Nancy, accompanied the trio and acted as scorekeeper. This provided material for an article in the August 1969 issue of "Par," which also included "The Sweet Smell of Success," an article Wilson wrote as a San Diego State College golf report.

A year and a half ago, "Down the Up Staircase . . . Or What It Takes To Go Broke On The Pro Tour," in "Golf Digest" related the woes of golf pro rookie Brad Wilson, a former Silverton resident, who is the nephew of Mrs. Bob Hill. At this point in his career, Wilson is now assistant golf professional at the Stardust Country Club in San Diego, California, and spends most of his time on the teaching tee.

Now 30 and married, the West Texas State University graduate has written for national golf magazines, and is hoping to make journalism as important a part of his career as playing and teaching golf.

A series of golf features, "Swing Shots," written by Wilson, is appearing weekly in The San Diego Union newspaper. The feature discusses golf swings and includes a panel of six photos of well-known personalities in various stages of hitting a golf ball. In the first installment of the series, Wilson discussed his own stance and swing, and how he has improved it.

So far he has featured Don Adams, who stars as Maxwell Smart on television's "Get Smart"; Claude Osteen, pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, who won his 100th career game this year; Ernie Wright, offensive tackle for the Cincinnati Bengals; Charlie Jones, American Football League commentator for NBC television; Lance Alworth, star pass receiver for the San Diego Chargers, the only man in AFL history to gain 1,000 yards for six straight seasons; Comedian Don Rickles; John Hadl, veteran quarterback for the San Diego Chargers; Don Kojis, captain and key man of the San Diego Rockets pro basketball team.

to extend the reseal program for grain sorghum in the future.

4. A Reserve Program: We believe that a reserve program designed to hold grain for emergency situations would be in the best interests of farm programs. This grain should be isolated from the market and not be released except in cases of critical shortages. This would allow you to administer the feed grain program tight without the fear of not having enough in case of a severe drought or other natural disasters. This would help to hold prices up and also guarantee our feed grain customers of a continued supply.

5. Limitation of Payments: The Grain Sorghum Producers Association opposes the limitations of government payments at any level, and believes that it would seriously hamper and kill the farm programs.

"These are, briefly, the points we favor when we ask for continuation of the present programs. There is certainly room for improvement in these programs and especially in the areas affecting the net income.

"The Grain Sorghum Producers Association is not sitting around waiting on the government to solve all our problems. Developing markets and initiating research for our commodity constitutes the major portion of our total program. We have been successful in this work. We are now selling over three times the amount of grain sorghum that we were 12 years ago. We need a sound government program, however, to help us keep the supply of grain in balance, and at prices the farmers can afford to grow it. "GSPA wants to thank you again for coming to Texas and to say that we look forward to working with you and your staff in the development of a sound agricultural policy."

Where Is The Church?

by Rev. C. H. Murphy, Jr.

Pastor, First Baptist Church
There is a trend among our adults that greatly disturbs and troubles me. The trend that alarms me is the attitude that many adults have toward study of the Bible and attendance of church services.

Many adults evidently see no need or importance in spending time and energy in the study of God's Word in Sunday School on Sunday morning. Recently I have observed that there are more men at the coffee shop on Sunday morning than in Sunday School.

Now I realize that there is much that this adult populace does for the good of our area. Their approval of and voting for the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority serves as an example. This is great! I am glad that the adults of our city are concerned about the material future of Silverton, but what of their concern in building a spiritual and moral future for our children and grandchildren?

The following parable might find its way into your heart as it did mine.

There was a man (or woman) who lived in a beautiful house with two automobiles, a new boat, color television in his paneled den, and a wonderful family that was healthy. And lo, good fortune did smile on him!

As was his custom—when he was in town, when the fish were not biting, when he was not at the lake skiing, when he was not camping out with family or friends, when company did not come in, when he could not get up on time, when not too tired, or when there was nothing else to do—he went regularly to church.

On those occasions when he did go to church (every five or six weeks), he spent his time deploring the decaying state of the church. The Sunday School was low in attendance, the choir was scanty, the congregation was small, the offerings were poor, and the preacher was a failure. "THEY ought to do better!" he said. "What do THEY think this thing of religion is all about anyway? Surely THEY could do better than this!"

And so vacations, campings, and holidays came, and went until many moons had passed. This man's children grew up, and behold! his children never went to church because THEY down at the church had not interested them in religion!

The man grew old and feeble. His health failed, and he found himself in the hospital with plenty of Mackenzie Dam Water to drink, but THEY from the church did not visit him in the hospital. Verily, verily, he was very angry! He decided that when he got out of the hospital he would pay THEM a visit at the church.

But behold, when he arrived, there was no church. "Where is the church?" he demanded.

"Dead" was the solemn answer. "Oh," he moaned, "THEY should not have let it die!"

What is the future of your church? Don't leave it up to "THEM." You are needed. Our future is more than just material matters. It is spiritual, as well.

Well, What Do You Know?
fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Would you like to make leaf prints?

Everywhere you look, even as you walk to school, there are many different kinds of leaves, and almost all of them make ideal leaf prints. You can make prints of leaves in several ways.

One of the simplest ways is to make a rubbing of each leaf, as you would a coin. Place the leaf, bottom side up, on a smooth, hard surface. Put a sheet of strong white paper over the leaf. Rub the paper with a soft dark-green or black crayon until you have a good print, showing the veins and outlines of the leaf.

Here is another way to make a leaf print. Though it is somewhat more difficult than the first, you will find that you get very good prints with practice. Fill a smooth, round bottle, such as a pickle jar, with cold water, and screw the lid on tightly. Smear the sides of the bottle with a thin coat of vaseline. Hold the bottle over a candle flame until it is thickly covered with soot.

Now place a leaf bottom side up on a piece of newspaper. Roll the sooty bottle slowly over the leaf. Be sure the leaf is evenly covered with soot.

Gently pick up the leaf and place it sooty side up on a clean newspaper. Cover the leaf with a sheet of paper. Take a rolling pin or a clean round bottle, and roll it over the paper and leaf. On the other side of the paper you will have a print of the underside of the leaf.

Label each leaf print that you make with the type of leaf, the place you found it, and the date. Then you can collect them in a leaf-print scrapbook. Making leaf prints is a hobby that is fun and instructive, too.

CLOTHING FOR CHILDREN
 In selecting clothes for the child, mothers are usually interested in ease of care and comfort for the child. One brand may fit differently from another depending upon how the manufacturer has designed it and allowed for ease. The age of the child does not determine the size. Sizes may vary with the brand; therefore, it is more satisfactory to try on clothes than depend on the label.

In buying childrens clothes, care required, durability, cost and how a child feels in his clothes are important. Select clothes that are designed for comfort, activity, growth and personal development. Clothing Specialist Hazel Roberts tells us what clothing means to a child:

A well-dressed child is better mannered, more self-confident, and less rowdy than a poorly-dressed one. In dressing the child for school or play, the parent should consider the feelings of the child, as they and their dress should be acceptable to the role they will be expected to perform. The clothes they wear play a part in their adjustment in social growth and they influence his mental health.

The child wants certain things in his clothes which help him in this social development.

They join groups to demonstrate their independence and their ability to do things on their own. "Self-help features" and being "like friends" seem more important for the daughters than the mothers. Their clothes should encourage independence in dressing and give them confidence in doing for themselves.

COMFORTABLE
 Children want their clothes to be comfortable. Studies have indicated that comfort is very important to the child and that the most disliked clothes are those which hinder muscular skills. Too loose clothing bought for a child to grow into are just as disturbing as those which are too tight. Clothing purchased too large may also become faded and worn looking by the time the child grows into it. Poor fit is the reason most frequently given by young children for not wearing their clothes. Many mothers place more emphasis in children's clothing on becomingness than comfort. Lightweight clothes are desirable. Heavy, bulky clothes are awkward to handle and excess weight also tires a child.

DURABILITY
 Clothes that are durable and will stand hard wear are important to a child as he leads an active life. A child is not interested in a dainty, fragile garment if it means that he must sacrifice fun to wear it. The fabric, as well as the style, of a garment must be able to withstand the strain of hard wear. Today's fashion in commercial clothing, especially for girls, seems to take precedence over durability, comfort and suitability of design for the age of the child.

ATTRACTIVENESS
 A child desires clothing that is attractive. The child wants attention if it is favorable; the fear of being laughed at is one of his greatest fears. Social approval is most important to the school-age child. The effects of attractive clothes may not only be on the youngster's own behavior but on the behavior of the group toward the youngster. The basis for fashion is determined largely by what

SEPTEMBER 1969 IN SOUTH VIETNAM

Down in the swamp paddy under the sky,
 A place full of horror to live or to die,
 Burning ev'ryday in the heat of the sun,
 Shivering by night when the day's course is run;
 Sniping at enemies as planes roar overhead;
 We succor the living; we bury the dead.

Down in the rice paddy, death all around,
 Planes in the blue sky, bombs on the ground;
 Terror and darkness are with us at night,
 Evil stalks everywhere in broad daylight.
 No hope for a respite when the day is done,
 No place out of range of the rifle or gun.

Down in the Viet swamp, far from our friends,
 The flash of a rifle—another life ends.
 Fever and ague wreck body and soul,
 Life is a torture in this dismal hole;
 Yet we're buoyed up in our terrible plight,
 For God is still with us, and our cause is right.

Down in the swamp hole with one life to give,
 Freely it's given that freedom may live;
 Closer and closer we cling to the earth,
 Dreaming of home and the land of our birth;
 We stand by our comrades, no foe can divide;
 We're true to our buddies who fight by our side.

Down in the rice paddy, under the rain,
 Hoping our efforts will not be in vain;

Bearing the brunt of an unending fight,
 Doing our utmost for God and the right.
 Americans, pray for your sons on the line,

Be true to your country; seek guidance divine.

GAIL ON THE GO

A very special thanks to Ernest Garcia for the art work he did for my column head, "Gail On The Go." I really appreciate the effort he put forth on this work.

FIGHT AGAINST TEENAGE DRUG EPIDEMIC
In the town of Wakefield, Massachusetts, 28,000 residents received the warning signs of drug addiction, but no one put them together.

A few of the signs received by the Wakefield residents were that a car was spotted with teenagers smoking with all the windows rolled up on a hot day.

At a football game, two girls suddenly became sick. Word was received that the girls had been smoking and sniffing nutmeg.

Unusual bursts of laughter and vacant fixed stares were signs that an English teacher recognized.

The alarming statistics of drug use are being increased every year. Only with each resident putting forth all his or her effort will this problem be solved.

The people of Wakefield, businessmen, teachers, mothers, housewives and officials, banded together to help stamp out the drug abuse and formed groups to help decrease the number of users.

More important than the number of drug users is the problem of the compulsion of young people to convert other teenagers to using the drugs.

Many of the arrests in the Chicago suburbs and some deaths have been associated with drugs. Wakefield's approach is one that other towns might consider.

The people of Wakefield are working together now. If a thousand-mile journey begins with a single step, they are on their way.

Not everyone repeats gossip—some start it!

Eighth Grade News

September 19, Mrs. Erma Lubman's Eighth Grade Class met to elect officers.

Chosen were Butch Brannon, president; Randy Vaughan, vice president; Craig Culwell, secretary; and Ty McMurtry, reporter.

A conceited person has one good point: he doesn't talk about other people.

A SMILE

A smile costs nothing, but gives much. It enriches those who receive without making poorer those who give. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None is so rich or mighty that he can get along without it, and none is so poor but that he can make rich by it. A smile creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business, and is the counter-sign of friends. It brings rest to the weary, cheer to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and is nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is something that is of no value to anyone until it is given away. Some people are too tired to give you a smile. Give them one of yours, as none needs a smile so much as he who has no more to give.

When you go down the halls, remember this, and be generous with your smile.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL'S BULLETIN BOARD

New London, Conn.—Two significant changes have been announced by the Coast Guard Academy that will affect seniors making application to become cadets.

For the first time, College Entrance Examination Board test scores will be accepted for the tests taken prior to the December 6 date, as well as the December 6 test. In years past, only the December test scores would be accepted.

The second major change is in the eyesight requirement which for years has been 20/30, correctable to 20/20. In addition, the Superintendent of the Academy may grant a waiver to outstanding applicants whose visual acuity is 20/100.

These changes are to a program of admissions that is unique among the nation's four military academies. There are no congressional appointments made to the Coast Guard Academy, and there are no quotas of any kind. Those who are accepted as cadets make the grade solely on personal ability.

Additional information and application forms can be obtained from Mr. Rampley or by writing to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut 06320.

Freshman Class News

by Pam Hutsell

September 15 the Freshman class met and elected Rhonda Sutton and John Burson as parliamentarians. Dues were set at 50¢ per six weeks, $1.50 per semester, or $3.00 for the year.

A committee was assigned to find ideas on earning money. On the committee are Louise Croft, Amy Sharp, Ramona Martin, Kaedean Bomar, Gene Culwell and Mark Hutsell.

Officers were elected at the previous meeting: Art Hamilton, president; Mark Hutsell, vice president; Amy Birdwell, secretary, and Joan Cross, treasurer. Mr. Bates was chosen as the class sponsor.

Keeping quiet sometimes pleases your friends and always confuses your critics.

A Player's View Of The Ballgame

Friday was a great night for the mighty fighting Owls, as they defeated Turkey 32 to 6.

The line was getting their blocks and the offense clicked very well, taking advantage of the great job of the linemen. In other words, we had teamwork. That's what it takes to have a good team.

The Owl defense stopped the Turk offense very well. Silverton had the game under control all the time. The boys never let down. By the fourth quarter the Owls were still strong and going full steam while the Turks had begun to give out. This was a major factor contributing to the victory of the Owls. The Owls just wore out the Turks.

When the dust cleared, the scoreboard showed the victorious win of the Owls 32 and the Turks 6.

VICTORY CELEBRATION

Fifty members and friends of the Silverton Quarterback Club gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Rampley for a victory celebration after the game last Friday night.

4-H Proves Old Adage

"You'd scarcely expect one of my age to speak in public on a stage," recited a 7-year-old school boy. "Don't view me with a critic's eye, but pass my imperfections by. . . tall oaks from little acorns grow. These thoughts inspire my youthful mind to be the greatest of mankind. . ."

This lad was not a 4-H'er, but he could have been. He lived in New Ipswich, New Hampshire in 1791.

Fifty years before a poet had written "This education forms the common mind; just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Today's 4-H youngsters exemplify those often quoted lines, as did the first Heart-Hands-Health youth of the early 1900's.

Boys and girls work on projects that frequently shape their lives and future careers. Millions of 4-H alumni say early 4-H training was a big step toward their success.

"Learning-by-doing" has always been the 4-H way. Showing and sharing new knowledge gained and skills learned is part of the 4-H pattern. The steps to growth are unaltering.

A pre-teen girl enrolled in a clothing program starts out by making a simple item and progresses according to her ability. By the time she is in high school, she makes most of her own clothes. As a teen 4-H leader she teaches young members how to

Like the New England boy and the poet, 4-H youths find plenty of inspiration for mind-stretching and using their hands to master skills. Projects are designed to arouse their curiosity and raise questions. The more they learn, the more competent they become to experiment, explore and find the answers, believes the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H.

And there are rewards both intrinsic and material.

More than $1 million contributed annually by private sources is channeled to 4-H members through the National 4-H Service Committee. Funds are used for county, regional, state and national awards ranging from certificates and medals to $1,000 scholarships. And educational aids covering many subjects are published and distributed to 4-H leaders and members.

For nearly 50 years, private funds have augmented the public-financed 4-H program. Some of the oldest and largest business enterprises in the U.S. have supported 4-H work since its inception.

Among the scores of 4-H sponsors are: Allis-Chalmers, Armour and Company, Carnation Company, Coats & Clark Inc., The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, General Foods Corporation, General Motors, Illinois Central Railroad and International Harvester Company.

Also, Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, Montgomery Ward, Moorman Mfg. Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Ralston Purina Company, The Singer Company, Santa Fe Railway System, and Wilson & Co., Inc., A Subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc.

Money may not help to buy happiness, but some people believe it helps them look for it in more interesting places.

WHAT IS AN AMERICAN?
He is the fellow who yells for the government to balance the budget, then takes the last dime he has to make the down payment on a car. He whips the enemy, then gives him the shirt off his back. He yells for speed laws that will stop fast driving, then won't buy a car if it can't make 100 miles per hour.
He'll spent half a day looking for vitamin pills to make him live longer, then drive 90 miles an hour on slick pavement to make up for lost time.
He ties up his dog, but lets his 16-year-old son do whatever he wants.
He will work hard on a farm so he can move into town where he can make more money so he can move back to the farm.
He couldn't fight his way out of a paper bag, but spends 20 bucks for ringside seats, and tells the professionals how to fight.
We're citizens of a country that has more food to eat than any other country in the world and more diets to keep us from eating.
We're supposed to be the most civilized nation on earth, but still can't deliver payrolls without an armored car.

But, we're still pretty nice folks. Calling a person "A Real American" is the best compliment you can pay him. Most of the world is itching for what we have, but they'll never have it until they start scratching for us as individuals.
