

City Manager vows all-out cleanup effort

By SAMUEL VILLARREAL
Journal Staff Writer

There's a new city manager in town vowing to clean up this place.

Muleshoe City Manager James Fisher Tuesday announced during a regular City Council meeting that he is planning an all-out effort to enforce local ordinances against what he termed "weedy and junky lots."

"If we want to see CITY COUNCIL this city grow and prosper, we have to make all efforts possible to make it beautiful," Fisher said.

Fisher also said that local ordinances are enforced, but the city will now be more aggressive in how it handles these cases.

Complaints will be filed with the city judge, who will assess fines for lots that are in violation of local ordinances.

The council also addressed what they consider another nuisance, smoking in public buildings. A new anti-smoking policy for all city owned buildings is currently being considered by members of the city council.

"Employees should have the opportunity to work in a smoke-free environment," Mayor Robert Montgomery said. "Non-smokers should not be subject to cigarette smoke when doing business with the city."

Most of the discussion on the new smoking policy focused on where the new policies would be enforced.

Mayor Montgomery told the council that he has been approached by members of the Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department who do not wish to have smoking banned in the fire station, which would be included in the new policy.

"It is difficult to regulate different buildings in different manners," said Councilman Cliff Black.

One possible solution presented to the council was limiting the ban to buildings with public-access. However, because public meetings are often held in the Earl Ladd Fire Station, that solution may not be appease all sides.

Pickin' a tune

Tommy Morrell, one of the worlds leading steel guitar players was in Muleshoe last week to record an album. Morrell frequently records at the Cowboy Connection studio in Muleshoe.

Music for music's sake

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Tommy Morrell tilts his head like a cocker spaniel, listening intently as he searches for the right cord.

Legs tucked underneath a well-worn steel guitar, he looks like an overgrown child sitting at a school desk.

Forest green carpet covers the walls of the cramped Muleshoe recording studio as the middle-aged musician with the sleepy eyes labors to find the right sound.

It's a labor of love. "He plays for the love of music," said Gil Prather, owner of the Cowboy Connection recording studio in Muleshoe. "He's a true artist who plays because he loves music and not for the money."

Considered by many the greatest steel guitar player of all time, "the Wolf" could make a quarter million dollars or more a year in Nashville playing studio sessions.

But Morrell considers the notion of playing music for money and not love "whoring."

"I just play music for fun and hope someone else listens," Morrell said. "I'm not going to make a million dollars, but I ain't starvin' either."

Morrell was in Muleshoe this week to play on a Western Swing album being recorded by Briscoe County Judge Jim Burson. The album is a collection of

Local residents honored by SPS

Tom Mason of Muleshoe was recently recognized for his 35 years of service with Southwestern Public Service.

Mason was one of eight local residents that received an SPS Service Award Nov. 12 at a dinner at Holiday Inn in Lubbock.

Mason started with SPS in 1961, working in the maintenance department, helping to keep the turbines and boilers in working order at the Moore County plant.

He moved to Muleshoe in 1981, along with his wife, Karen, and daughters Tracy and Kanda. Mason joined the crew of the newly opened Roy Tolk Station, where he still works.

"It's been a good job," Mason said. "It gave me a living and put two kids through college."

Those receiving 20 year awards were Lawrence Coone, plant operator, Jim Haynes, warehouseman, Ricky Powell, control room operator, and John Underwood, maintenance, all at the Tolk Station.

Larry Chapman received an award marking 10 years of service. Chapman is an electrician with SPS.

Gonzalo Lozano, Hector Posadas, who work at the Tolk Station, and Brian Noble, who works at Plant X, were honored for five years of service.

Tom Mason of Muleshoe was recently honored for 35 years of service with SPS.

Family ties offer unique opportunity for Reese

James "Rocky" Reese said his family ties to Muleshoe were instrumental in purchasing a local Hospice.

Reese, chairman and CEO of Family Hospice, Ltd., acquired Plainview-based Hospice of the Plains, which serves Bailey County, in August.

Hospice organizations provide services that allow terminally ill patients to return to their homes where they can live their final days with dignity and in comfort.

Reese, who grew up in Odessa, spent a lot of his time in Muleshoe. His uncle, Sam Damron, owns Damron Drug. His mother is Jayne Damron.

"I remember eating cheeseburgers and drinking chocolate shakes while I read comic books," Reese said.

As Reese grew up in both the Muleshoe and Odessa areas, he soon began to see similarities in the two cities.

"When the wind blows in the right direction, you can smell the money," Reese said, referring to Muleshoe's cattle industry.

"In Odessa, you smell the money in a different way," he said, a reference to the oil industry of the Permian Basin.

Bailey County is among 18 counties served by Hospice of the Plains.

Family Hospice was founded by Reese and his wife,

'Horns need quick start against Chillicothe

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Lazbuddie coach Mark Scisson is sure of one thing.

Lazbuddie's stay in the playoffs will be short-lived if the Longhorns continue to have the kind of breakdowns they suffered last week.

The Longhorns (10-1) play high-scoring Chillicothe (9-2) 7:30 p.m. Friday in a regional playoff game at Payne Field in Silvertown.

District 3-1A runnerup Lazbuddie beat Rochester,

PLAYOFF PREVIEW

39-20, in bi-district, but Scisson was disturbed by the Longhorns' inability to convert on three scoring chances and continuing their season-long trend of giving up big plays.

Lazbuddie failed to score twice from inside the Rochester 13 and dropped a sure touchdown pass in the fourth quarter. The 'Horns gave up a 63-yard touchdown run and 35-yard pass scoring.

"We didn't play that well," Scisson said. "That's what is frustrating. We could have scored three or four more times. That's going to catch up with us."

Especially if it happens again this week, Scisson said.

"If we don't play defense, it could be a scoring war, with the last team with the ball winning," Scisson said.

Pressure D

Mules flatten Plains, 87-73

Alfonso Mendoza led five players in double figures Friday with 21 points as Muleshoe romped to an 87-73 win over Plains in a non-district game at WJHS gym.

It was the Mules (2-0) second-straight win and helped avenge an embarrassing 96-60 loss to the Cowboys last year.

MHS (2-0) led by 23 points after outscoring Plains, 30-11, in the third quarter. Mendoza had two 3-pointers and 13 points in the quarter.

"We were putting a lot of pressure on them and it was wearing them down," Muleshoe coach Ralph Mason said. "It usually starts taking hold late in the second quarter and into the third quarter."

Muleshoe shot 63 percent from the field (31 of 59) and 43 percent (6 of 14) from 3-point range.

Dustin Cleavinger (11 points, 10 rebounds, 6 blocks), Matt McClanahan (11 points, 8 assists), Corey Williams (11 points, 5 rebounds) and Carlton Lewis (10 points, 4 assists) joined Mendoza in double figures.

"We're getting good balance in all areas and as a coach that's what you're looking for," Mason said. "We've been able to take advantage of our depth and keep fresh legs on the floor."

Joe Luna led Plains (0-1) with 22 points and Tanner Blount added 19.

McClanahan had six points in the second quarter and Williams and Layne Kemp five each when Muleshoe turned a three-point deficit into a 39-35 halftime lead.

"We've got to a better job of finishing off the game," Mason said after Plains outscored MHS, 27-18, in the final eight minutes.

Muleshoe committed 27 turnovers while forcing 22.

Muleshoe hosts Brownfield Friday. The JV game starts at 6:30 p.m. The Mules were scheduled to play Shallowater, but the Mustangs are still involved the state football playoffs.

classic Bob Wills songs, plus a few originals.

Morrell's friend and fellow Western Swing aficionado Snuffy Elmore plays fiddle. Elmore has toured with many of the top names in country music for years, including Mel Tillis and Reba McEntire, and is considered one of the best fiddlers in the world.

Elmore too has grown weary of "commercialization" of his talents.

Western Swing is heavy on rhythm tracks and long on improvisational solos.

"It's like jumping off the deep end and hoping you survive," Morrell said.

Morrell and his group, the Time-warp Tophands, have recorded nine albums in five years and developed a following of hardcore fans who appreciate his dedication to helping keeping Western Swing alive.

Western Swing, which incorporates jazz, blues and the big band sound, was created by Bob Wills of Turkey in the 1930s.

Morrell remembers being introduced to the steel guitar, one of the signature sounds of Western Swing, when he was just a youngster growing up in a suburb outside Dallas.

A company called the Trickle Brothers National Institute of Accordion & Guitar was selling lessons.

Morrell was intrigued. "I didn't have any designs on become a star or anything, but it sure beat studying and going to school."

Morrell described his life as a typical country song, full of boozing, pickups, a dog and ex-wives.

Stories about the man

Prather calls "lovable, loony, creative genius," are endless.

Like the time he tore up his front porch plank-by-plank one winter for firewood.

"Hell, I was cold," was Morrell's simple answer.

As the conversation and the hour crept closer to midnight, and Morrell dug deeper into his pack of Camel non-filters, the stories became bolder and funnier.

He had to think for a while to come up with the worst place he's ever played.

"Hobbs, New Mexico," said Morrell, recalling the days of a raucous booming oil town full of fights, drunks and questionable moral.

How about the best place?

Pausing just long enough to grin, "Hobbs, New Mexico" was his answer.

Council

The council decided to postpone action on the new smoking policy until their December meeting so that council members can gather more public opinions.

In other business, the council elected Councilman Cliff Black as mayor pro-tem of Muleshoe. As mayor pro-tem, Black will fulfill the role of mayor if Montgomery is temporarily unable or unavailable to fulfill the role of mayor, but he would not automatically become mayor if the mayor resigns.

Fisher also presented the council with an update of current city expenditures.

The city is looking into the possible purchase or lease of one or two new patrol cars for the Muleshoe Police Department. Fisher told the council that the price to replace the department's old Ford Crown Victorias with current models would cost $19,000 per car.

"Vehicles the police department are now using are several years old," Fisher said. "We need to replace them for mileage as well as wear and tear."

The city also purchased a new radio system, at a cost of $1,800.

"The old radio was about as old as the building," Fisher said. "It wasn't going to last much longer."

The radio system will be used to help keep city employees in touch with city hall.

Fisher also updated the council on the search for a new police chief.

"The deadline for applications is December," Fisher said. "I will probably extend it. We only have four resumes so far."

MHS can't catch Trout, Denver City

DENVER CITY — Denver City's Heather Trout had Muleshoe reeling in the first half when she poured in 16 points.

The Lady Mules shut down Trout in the second half, but couldn't catch Denver City, losing its second-straight game, 60-55, Saturday morning.

Trailing 46-34 in the third quarter, Muleshoe rallied to within four late in the game. Trailing by four, the Lady Mules had four chances to cut deeper into the Lady Mustangs' lead in the last two minutes, but came up empty.

Senior Kristen Nichols led Muleshoe (0-2) with 17 points and added 8 rebounds. Senior point guard Brandi Harrison had 13 points, 13 rebounds and 4 assists and sophomore post Erin Wilhite finished with 10 points and 10 rebounds.

"We were much better balanced scoring," Muleshoe coach Jim Gruhlkey said. "We also did a better job communicating and helping on defense."

Muleshoe jumped out to a 17-6 lead in the first quarter. Denver City started nibbling away at the lead behind Trout, a 5-10 sophomore.

After tying the game at 26, Denver City (1-1) scored the last five points of the half to take a 31-26 lead. Trout finished with 11 points in the second quarter.

Both Wilhite and Harrison were in foul trouble in the first half.

Trout finished with 19 points after scoring 35 in her first outing against Andrews. Fellow 5-10 sophomore Jenny Woosley added 16.

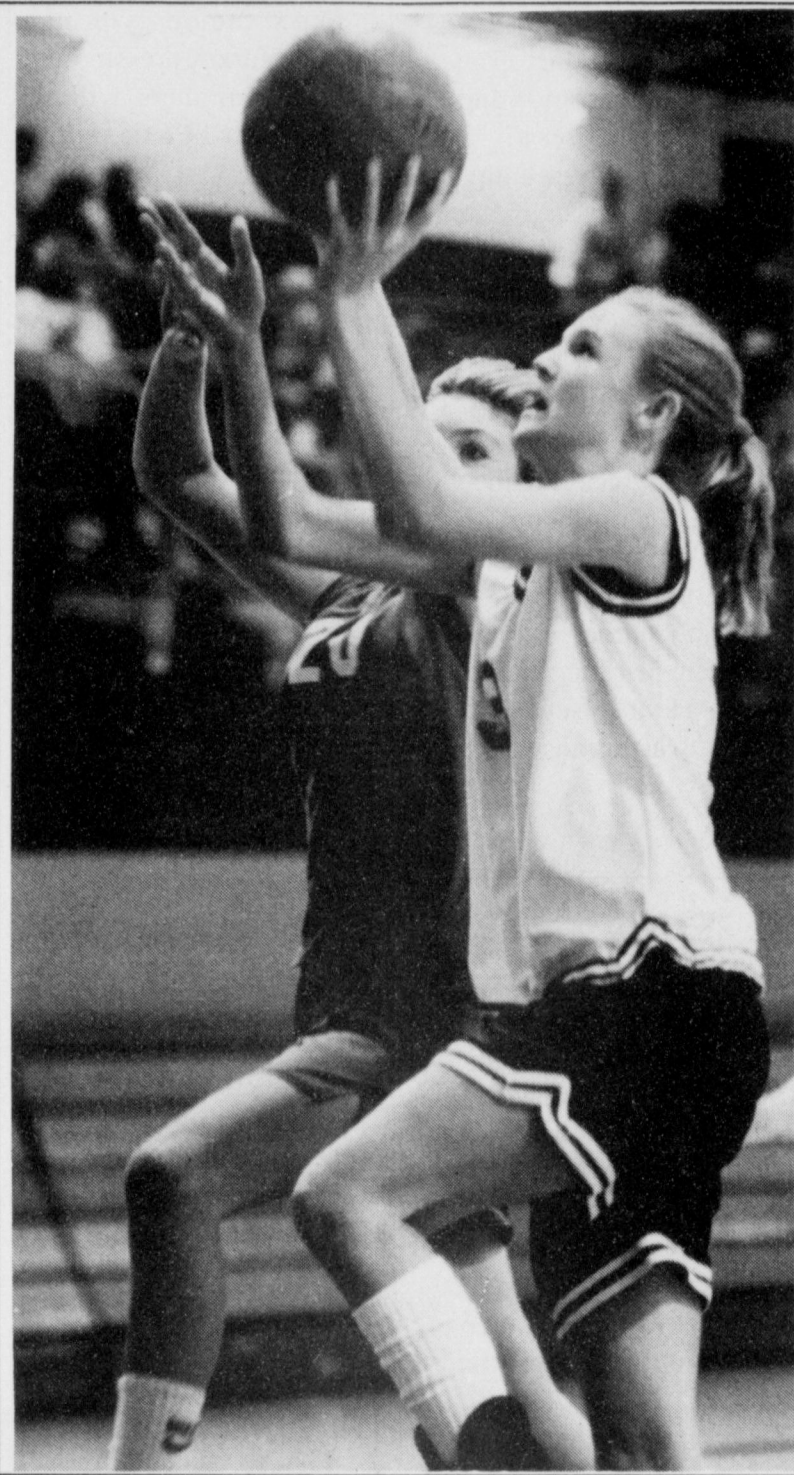

Muleshoe played at Sundown Tuesday and then hosts Shallowater at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in its home opener. The game was moved because Shallowater is in the state football playoffs.

LAZBUDDIE — Sophomore Holly Engelking scored 7 of her game-high 23 points Friday in the second overtime, as Lazbuddie opened its season a 62-55 win over Tahoka.

Engelking, who missed a pair of free throws at the end of the first overtime, hit a 3-pointer and 4 of 5 free throws in the second overtime.

"She made a mistake in the first overtime, but came back and showed what kind of player she is in the second overtime," Lazbuddie coach Carey Suduth said. "I'm real proud of the kids. This is the first time since I've been here (three years) we beat a Class 2A school. We're learning to play hard all the time."

Tahoka beat Lazbuddie by 20 points last year.

Post Roxann Warren added 15 points for the Lady Horns and Kia Morris finished with 9.

Suduth added that freshman Scottie Brown was terror on the boards in the second overtime. Her offensive rebounding allowed LHS to keep possession of the ball the last minute of the game.

Micah Smith led Tahoka with 17 points.

the Plains, which serves Bailey County, in August.

Hospice organizations provide services that allow terminally ill patients to return to their homes where they can live their final days with dignity and in comfort.

Reese, who grew up in Odessa, spent a lot of his time in Muleshoe. His uncle, Sam Damron, owns Damron Drug. His mother is Jayne Damron.

"I remember eating cheeseburgers and drinking chocolate shakes while I read comic books," Reese said.

As Reese grew up in both the Muleshoe and Odessa areas, he soon began to see similarities in the two cities.

"When the wind blows in the right direction, you can smell the money," Reese said, referring to Muleshoe's cattle experiences growing up in Indiana.

When her father was diagnosed with a terminal illness, she was forced to withdraw from school to help care for her family. Due to her father's illness and the families dwindling finances, the whole family felt the strain.

During her later years, Carol realized that her father's care failed to address the impact of industry.

"In Odessa, you smell the money in a different way," he said, a reference to the oil industry of the Permian Basin.

Bailey County is among 18 counties served by Hospice of the Plains.

Family Hospice was founded by Reese and his wife,

Carol, in 1988. Carol was influenced by her own teenage the illness on the entire family.

When the Reeses were first married, James was working as a stockbroker and Carol was employed as a nurse. Together, they recognized the need for a professionally managed hospice company. They also realized that current hospice programs could not provide a wide range of programs because they were small, non-profit organizations that were dependent on volunteers.

Rocky Reese finds a sense of fulfillment in providing hospice care.

"You really touch other peoples lives," Reese said. "The least little thing you do for people, they really appreciate it."

Behind a potent ground game, District 2-1A champion Chillicothe is averaging better than 60 points a game.

Last week, Henry Kendricks (6-1, 165) ran for 388 yards and three touchdowns last week in a 62-48 win over Miami and is averaging better than 200 yards a game.

"He's real quick," Scisson said. "If he breaks a tackle, he's gone."

Chillicothe gained 484 of its 584 yards on the ground against Miami.

Lazbuddie counters with a balanced attack, averaging more than 400 yards a game split almost evenly between the run and pass.

Scisson said that might change Friday, with the Longhorns going to the air a little more in an attempt to get out in front early and force Chillicothe to throw.

Plus, Chillicothe is huge up front.

"It's going to be tough just to line it up and run it on them," Scisson said.

Lazbuddie is capable of opening it up. Sophomore quarterback Josh Morris has thrown for 993 yards and 19 touchdowns while completing nearly 75 percent of his passes. Senior Justin St. Clair has thrown for 1,016 yards and 14 touchdowns.
