Compliments on the management of the big barbecue at Snyder on July 29 and 30, are very much in evidence. In fact we have not heard a dissenting voice, but all are anxious to express their appreciation for the way everything was handled. Snyder did well in the handling of 15000 people who came here on the two days.

It was estimated that 15000 people were fed during the two days barbecue at Snyder last Friday and Saturday. Everybody got as much barbecue as they wanted and there was considerable left. The plan of feeding such a large crowd passed off with such quiet and perfect order that many compliments were paid the management.

Plans are already on foot to have a Scurry county fair in October. This is a deserving move and no doubt all the people in the county will be interested. We hope to see the time when a fair will be an annual fixture for Scurry county.

E. J. Anderson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce was an untiring worker in behalf of the barbecue and race meet. His untiring efforts with the loyal support of the Chamber of Commerce, City and County officers and all the folks in general made it possible to put over a real picnic.

TRADE AT HOME

The mail order house never has a bargain—not for you, anyway. If there are bargains occasionally, the thousands of employees of the mail order concerns get them, they or their friends. Trade at home.

Your own home town merchant frequently has bargains and tells you about them through the paper you read.

The mail order house that receives your order doesn't know you from Adam and doesn't care.

The home town merchant knows you as a neighbor and he cares. He cares enough for you and your trade that he goes to the trouble and expense of telling you about his goods and his bargains. He cares enough to carefully show you his goods. He gives you a choice among many; if you don't like one article, he shows you another until you are pleased.

Trade at home and you get service, choice quality, and as good prices. Trade at home and your money helps your town—which is only another word for saying that you help better your own job.—Vernal (Utah) Express.

Judge C. R. Buchanan was here from Austin from Saturday until Wednesday visiting home folks and attending to business.

MUCK MONGERS

Some of the daily papers have the idea that the reading public has to have salacious, rotting, moral carion presented in their daily news to be satisfied. These papers are doing their best to fill that so-called demand and are combing the wire reports for scandalous or questionable items which may be so written as to qualify. The divorce courts, the criminal courts, and the houses of vice seem to be the chief sources of "news" nowadays, for some papers.

We have always contended that the way to live right is to believe in a positive philosophy, pointing out the good things to be lived up to, and not pointing to the lurid, nauseating spectacles and saying: "Thou shalt not."

The latter seems to be the manner of ethical education approved by the yellow press, if it can be said to approve of anything of educational nature.

During the war the papers were filled with the all-important war news. Every degree of interest was to be obtained from the war dispatches alone, and the rest of the world's actions were minimized. Some editors, gone sensation-crazy during the war, continue to call for sensationalism; the places of crime and moral degradation provide it. Until the editorial profession at large gets another view point in public demands and the likes and dislikes of the reading public, crime will continue to be fostered in the minds of those mentally unbalanced and defective individuals who devour the morbid details of lust, hate, shame and crime, and will continue to crop out in their actions.

A nation-wide revolt among the editors of the United States, is growing against the news story based on debased morals; and those editors who persist in that style of journalism will soon find themselves at odds with thousands of editors who believe in presenting the good side of life and minimizing the bad. If, as we believe, newspaper heroism of criminals tends toward crime, crime is going to get a substantial jolt within the next few months; and the reading public will again get a daily paper which they can feel safe to leave where the children can get hold of it and read the front-page stories.—Flager (Colo.) #### Many Baptist Going to Christoval.

One hundred people are planning to go to the B. Y. P. U. encampment at Christoval from Scurry county. A large group from Snyder will leave at 7 o'clock, Monday, Aug. 8th and will be joined by many others from points near by. Those desiring to go in the party may easily join them in Colorado. There are many advantages of going with the party.

The encampment begins August 2nd and continues through the 13th. Christoval is a beautiful spot, twenty miles from San Angelo, on the Cenecho river, where bathing, boating and fishing are fine. The program is one of the best ever offered by any of the encampments in the state, such men as Geo. W. Truett, Dallas; Millard A. Jenkins, Abilene; T. V. Neal, El Paso; Dr. Brooks, of Baylor University; Dr. Hardy of Baylor College and many other outstanding men are on the program. Study classes in Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. work will be offered. Those going are expecting a great time.

B. Y. P. U. Report.

Miss Hunt is in a B. Y. P. U. training school at Fluvanna this week and reports a good beginning.

She was with the Union at Hermleigh, Sunday, July 31st, in a recognition service and presented the diplomas to the young people receiving them in the training school there.

On Monday August 8th, Miss Hunt leaves for Christoval with the Snyder party, where she will teach one of the Sunday school study classes.

On Sunday, Aug. 21st, the Snyder Training School begins, and three Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. books will be taught.

Miss Mattie Lee Palmer, who has been at C. I. A., Denton, talking the summer work, has returned home.

Our Thanks

Snyder, Tex., August 2, 1921.
To the Editor of the Snyder Signal:
Dear Sir:

Now that the picnic is over and everyone who attended proclaims it to be the biggest success of its kind ever pulled off in this section we wish to express our appreciation and thanks to the many who made the barbecue, the various entertainments and race meet what they were.

To the City officials of Snyder for the free use of their city, to the officers of the City and County for the perfect order maintained; to the various ranchmen and farmers for their liberal donations of beef and mutton; to ladies of the Red Cross for their relief organization, to the various business men for their liberal assistance on every occasion and to the members of various committees especially the barbecue and race committees who worked so arduously in the promotion of this enterprise.

To the members of the Snyder band for their splendid music. We believe Snyder feels proud of the success of this occasion and that it was the means of renewing many old friendships.

Notice Woodmen.

A joint meeting of the Woodmen and Circle will be had at the Hall the second Saturday night in August. Important things are to come up besides a good time is being arranged for all members. Every member urgently requested to be present.

Georgia Sims has been visiting Vivian Byrd this week.

Rev. E. Christian will locate at Snyder and will move his family here from Anson the latter part of this week. Bro. Christian is pastor of the Church of Christ and has been serving this church for the past few months. We are glad to have Bro. Christian and his family as citizens of our town and extend to them a big, hearty welcome.

Uncle Miles Williams was a visitor at the Signal office Tuesday. He averaged about 18 bushels per acre of wheat on his place. He says there is no question but that deep plowing in the preparation of land pays as it was demonstrated on his place.

Where the going is specially heavy with snow, mud or sand, in hilly country where maximum traction on the road is a factor, no other tire tread yet devised is quite so effective, or so wholly approved by motoring opinion, as the U. S. Nobby Tread.

Its very simplicity—three rows of diagonal knobs, gripping the road—is the result of all the years of U. S. Rubber experience with every type of road the world over.

Most likely you'll hear an interesting story about his tire experiments—before the answer was found. Money wasted. Promises unkept. Trouble on the road—humorous to every one except the man who went through it.

Finally U. S. Tires. And U. S. Tires ever since.

Perhaps it's the experience of U. S. Tire buyers that makes them more emphatic in their preference than ever this year.

When these men have tried most everything by the way of "staggering bargains", "hurrah discounts", "discontinued lines at less" and so forth they know what not to get.

They want a fresh, live tire. With a good reputation. That's everything it says it is. With the people behind it who back it up.

MAKE-BELIEVE ESCAPE FROM REAL FOREST FIRE NEARLY COST FOUR LIVES

Despite extraordinary precautions arranged by the best engineering brains in the motion picture industry, David M. Hartford, Associated First National Producer of the remarkable James Oliver Curwood film production "Nomads of the North," was compelled to stop work completely for a period of ten days while Lewis S. Stone, Betty Blythe and Lon Chaney recovered from severe burns and shock received in a very real forest fire.

Arrangements were made to photograph the conflagration from an opposite side of the mountain and a battery of eight cameras were connected by wireless telephone to a central point occupied by Director Hartford and his chief camera man, Walter L. Griffin.

A special set of telephone wires were laid from the central point to a position high on the side of the pine-covered mountain from which at a pre-arranged signal, was to issue the party of refugees composed of Lewis Stone, Betty Blythe, Lon Chaney, Baby Challenger—five month old film star; "Neewa," a big black bear and "Brimstone" a great Dane dog.

As an additional precaution a tunnel fifteen feet deep was dug in the mountain side to serve as a sanctuary from the flames if the need should become imperative.

Hartford gave the signal and the torch was applied and only one or two moments had elapsed when the director noted with alarm that the fire had jumped across a ravine and while the cameras would register a much hotter sequence on that side of the mountain, the position of the party just over the ridge would become untenable almost immediately.

Word was flashed along the wires and the party started for the objective point which was a mountain lake several hundred feet below, Lewis Stone carrying the baby, Betty Blythe leading "Brimstone" and Lon Chaney taking care of the big bear "Neewa." They were not a moment too soon for the flames were now almost upon them and it became evident that refuge would have to be taken in the tunnel just the instant it could be approached.

At this point a huge tree that had been previously weakened for a "falling effect" caught fire from falling sparks and a small charge of dynamite secreted in the trunk exploded crashing the tree to the ground in a shower of sparks and almost completely blocking the entrance to the tunnel.

Stone divested himself of his coat which he threw over the baby and fought his way through the blazing branches to the safety of the hole in the mountain side where he deposited the infant.

Lon Chaney had thrown his coat over Miss Blythe's head, and, in the wilderness of smoke, was blindly leading her directly away from the entrance when Stone succeeded in attracting his attention and assisted in getting them to the safety of the tunnel.

"Neewa" and "Brimstone" came limping into the enclosure and at once settled down to licking the heat from their gigantic paws.

The fire raged over this particular portion of the mountain as if nothing had happened but not a camera crank was turned; the scene that had taken several weeks to prepare had been ruined and would have to be completely retaken in practically every detail.

The refugees crouched in their retreat and listened to the hungry roar of the flames and the deep booming of falling trees intermingled, at times with the roars of "Neewa," who had had all to fuz burned from his stomach. Mr. Stone's Royal North West uniform will not be worn again in any picture. Lon Chaney's eyebrows and most of his hair have grown out since this incident. Miss Blythe suffered considerably from shock, but Baby Challenger—5 month old screen star—just looked up at her rescuers and smiled and gurgled. She had positively enjoyed it. "Nomads of the North" will be the attraction at the Cozy Theatre Aug. 11th and 12th.

Douglas Parker of Clyde was here a few days the first of the week visiting his sister, Mrs. E. G. White.

The Fastest Selling Tire In America

The increasing popular demand for the Firestone Standard 30x3 1/2 inch tire over a period of years has given us big volume. Our Plant No. 2 devoted wholly to this size tire with a capacity of 16,000 tires and 20,000 tubes per day cuts costs on every operation. On May 2, we dropped our price to $13.95 passing on to the car owner the full benefits of this big sales volume and this labor-saving plant. This tire has been our standard for years—four plies long staple fabric—extra gum between plies—heavy non-skid tread. The greatest value ever offered car owners. Insist on Firestone.

Our Cord Tire Values

Firestone Cord tires are made exclusively in Plant No. 1. Our process of double gum-dipping each ply of cord gives thicker insulation. The massive non-skid tread, with extra thickness where wear is most severe, gives real effectiveness in holding the car against slipping and adds many extra miles of service.

Firestone Cord tires are sold at the lowest prices in cord tire history: 30x3 1/2, $24.50; 32x4, $46.30; 34x4 1/2, $54.90.

Whatsoever is Not of Faith is Sin.

Rom. 14:23.

Sin is the only disturbing element in the Universe. It disturbs every family and every person. It is delightful to think that there was a time when sin had not blighted God's handiwork. It is clear that in the exercise of moral agents, there was given the power to stand, and, at the same time of necessity, there was the freedom to fall. In the exercise of that freedom, angels fell into sin and were cast down to hell. When God created man and placed him in the garden of Eden, He gave him the power to stand; and still he had the freedom to fall. Alas! that our first parents fell from their high estate, and became subject to the divine displeasure and were cast out, and entailed sin and all its sad consequences upon all their posterity! Even the ground was cursed for their sakes.

What is sin? Sin is any lack of conformity to the law of God. This is manifested by sins of omission or by sins of commission. Sometimes we do what God forbids; at other times we fail to do what God demands. And these may be in word, or in thought or in deed. This includes all these "little crooked ways, underhandedness, sly contrivances, hypocricies, springing from the seed of deceit, dropped into the soil of the human heart by the father of lies. Deformities in character, blemishes of heart, spots on our purity, be they ever so small, all these are sins.

Sin consists in all want of conformity to the image of God. God made man in His own image, not only in the image of His own immortality, which we may call His natural image, which is not lost by sin, but also in His moral image, of His righteousness and true holiness. This is God's Moral image, and this was lost when man fell into sin.

The plan of Salvation provides for the restoration of this moral image. We sin when we refuse to let God restore this moral image.

"Whatsoever is not of faith is sin." This is a Bible definition. That which destroys my confidence in God or hinders my trust, that which brings a doubt into my prayers, or clouds my spiritual joy, is not of faith—it is sin.

The unlawful use of lawful things is sin, whether it pertains to the body or to the Soul—as excessive eating and drinking or the abusive uses of the eye. Job said, "I have made a covenant with my eyes." Our friends become our own idols when we love man more than we love God. Men of great talents may make those talents their idols. The proper use of the tongue is a great blessing, but the abusive use of the tongue is often a great curse. Solomon says, "The thought of foolishness is sin." Matthew Henry says, "We contract guilt not only by acts of foolishness, but also when we indulge the thought of it, though it go no further." The first risings of sin in the heart are sins.

All uncharitableness in judging is sin. Who art thou that judgeth another man's servant. Judge not, that ye be not judged.

We are bound to place the highest estimate upon the conduct of others, that reason and justice will permit. We should always avoid a hasty spirit in judging.

All want of the charity that suffereth long and is kind is sin. Think seriously on this all important point. To him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him, it is sin. There are many ways in which we may do good to the bodies and souls of men that we are very liable to neglect. This is sin, and must be repented of and pardoned, like any other sin. We are to do good to all men especially to them that are of the household of faith. To avoid all sin we must closely scrutinize our pleasures.

H. A. GOODWIN.

FRECKLED FACED BOY WHO SAVED BETTY BLYTHE'S LIFE SPRINGS SURPRISE

An incident directly attributable to the gasoline shortage in the West nearly cost the life of Betty Blythe, screen star and member of the remarkable cast engaged by David M. Hartford for the film version of James Oliver Curwood's story, "Nomads of the North," when in driving her car over the Cahuenga Pass in Southern California she was overcome by the fumes of a home-brew mixture of ether, distillate and coal oil being burned by a small car directly in front of her on the heavy grade.

Under the stupefying influence of the smoky mixture Miss Blythe promptly lost consciousness and her car began to back off the road and down the side of the gully.

The combined efforts of a half dozen motorists to retard or guide the car to a safe position failed signally and an vehicle slid gently over the embankment pulling the men with it. Gaining momentum on the heavy grade the car plunged to the bottom and half way up the opposite side still dragging the scrambling, struggling rescuers who clung to the fenders and running boards like ants to a butterfly.

During the melee a freckled-faced youngster was seen to jump from a passing motor and skid down the gully toward the runaway car like a frightened jack rabbit. Reaching the scene of the disturbance he dove thru the open window of the vehicle, set both brakes and the car stopped in its tracks.

A little later when Miss Blythe had recovered from the shock of her experience she wished to express her gratitude to her freckled rescuer and the following conversation ensued:

"Your quick witt and chivalry is much appreciated," said Miss Blythe. "Isn't there something nice I can do for you?"

"No, I hardly think so," said the freckled one.

"I'll tell you what we'll do providing you have a vacation from school," said Miss Blythe. "You come out to the studio and I will see that you get a part in one of the pictures. You'd like to do that wouldn't you?"

"I should consider it an honor to play in the same picture with you," said the youngster with just the suggestion of a smile on his freckled countenance.

"Well, so be it," said Miss Blythe, "and perhaps some day you will be a star in your own name—who knows?"

"That is precisely my ambition," said the youngster.

"And now that we know each other won't you tell me your name?" said Miss Blythe.

"I'm Wesley Barry," said the spotted one.

And then of course they became acquainted.

And perchance, some day, they will both appear in the same picture. Who knows?
