AUTHOR HUMORIST TO VISIT SNYDER NEXT WEDNESDAY

What promises to be a rare treat for the Snyder people will be a visit by Jamie Heron, author humorist, who will appear at the Cozy Theater, at 2 p. m., Wednesday, July 30, under the auspices of the Lions Club. Mr. Heron's visit to Snyder at this time is through the courtesy of the Waco Drug Company, and there will be no charges for his lecture.

The success of every community depends upon the work and co-operation it receives from its citizens. Unity work in every community can be had if the people can be made to realize the individual benefits to be derived. Jamie Heron, America's foremost inspiration speaker, foremost man's poet and humorist, is without a peer in presenting this subject.

Every man and woman in Snyder and Scurry County should hear Mr. Heron's lecture on the above date. He will bring a worthwhile message to our people. "Building Better Business by Building Better Men," will be the keynote of his lecture, the object of which is to put unity work in the community. Be sure and hear him.

EL FELIZ CLUB WITH MRS. LON ADAMS.

One of the most pleasant meetings of the season was the El Feliz Club with Mrs. Lon Adams on Thursday July 10th.

On the spacious veranda at the home of Mrs. H. B. Winston was an embankment of evergreens and pot plants and the shade from the immense trees made an ideal spot to spend and one was soon made to forget the hot rays of "Old Sol."

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Hamilton presided. During the business hour Mrs. Adams tendered her resignation as member of the club as she is soon to make her home in Rotan. It is needless to say we regret to lose Mrs. Adams as a club member and friend.

After an hour of real "42" played with a vim of winning, the hostess served a delicious two-course luncheon consisting of pressed chicken, olives, potato chips, crackers, ice tea, White cake and grape ice, too. Mrs. Chas. Harless as guest and the following club members: Mesdames Boren, Casper Erwin, Hamilton, McWilliams, Northcutt, Thrane, Higgins, Dixie Smith, L. O. Smith, Joe Stinson, W. E. Smith, Gertie Smith, Hamlet, Davis and Fritz Smith.

The next meeting will be regular time, August 1st, with Mrs. E. J. Anderson.

Mr. Cain of Southland was here Tuesday visiting with his daughter, Mrs. J. D. Jones.

SUNRISE BREAKFAST.

Mrs. Joe Caton entertained a number of friends last Thursday morning complimentary of her sisters, Mrs. Patterson of Fort Worth and Miss Otho Caton of Snyder, with a swimming party and sunrise breakfast at the White Swimming pool. After some time was spent enjoying the cool and refreshing bathing a well prepared and dainty breakfast was served to the following: Mesdames Cooper, Thrane, Smith, Waskom Dodson, Patterson and Misses Zada and Veda Maxwell, Georgia Eolin and Otho Caton.

Mrs. A. L. Stoker entertained a few friends Monday evening with a most enjoyable picnic and outing on their ranch, a most delicious and appetizing lunch was very much enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Brice and children. Mrs. Lunnesford of Dallas; Misses Tucker, Isabelle and Tip Messimer. At a late hour all returned to town feeling very much indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Stoker for a most enjoyable evening.

Loutex Co. to Drill Well Across River

is to be discontinued. We understand that in the early fall a shallow well will be started on the Moore lease and another deep test on the Well-

The Loutex Corporation has begun the drilling of Coleman No. 1, across the river 1-2 miles from the Humphries-Wellborn well. This new well is on a line between the proven field of the Humphries-Wellborn and the Thompson-Budgett well. A three-inch pipeline has been laid from the Humphries well on this side of the river and the new Coleman well will be drilled on the gas from this well.

From the Coleman well a two-inch pipeline will be laid to the Thompson-Budgett well and there connect with the pipe line. The production from the Humphries-Wellborn well will be carried through the same line with the drilling gas and on through the two-inch pipe extension to the main pipeline.

The reason for crossing the river was to take care of leases on the opposite side of the river, which is a proven field, or in other words, a field lying between the Humphries-Wellborn and the Thompson-Budgett production. It was clearly a business proposition on the part of the Loutex people. Dr. Coleman and associates offered a bunch of leases for some one to drill a test across the river and the proposition looked too good to the Loutex people to be overlooked. It does not mean that the operation on this side of the river born lease. The pipeline arrangements to Westbrook is only temporary, and just as soon as production on this side of the river justifies the matter of building a pipeline to Snyder will be taken up.

The Humphries-Wellborn well No. 1, the last well to be drilled on this side of the river is producing around 65 barrels per day under pump. This is high gravity oil, and the evaporation is such that immediate transportation to pipe lines was necessary. It will do away with extensive storage facilities at the Humphries-Wellborn well.

The report is also current that the owners of the old Coleman well will be deepened to 3,500 feet with the hopes of securing the same production as found in the Humphries-Wellborn well. This well was stopped at 3,200 feet without production. No water was encountered in the old Coleman well at the 3,200 feet depth.

At the present time there is very little drilling activities in Texas even in the large proven fields, and it is thought that within a few weeks this situation will change when there will be a greater demand for crude oil products. This fact will determine largely future operations in the Ira and other fields of West Texas. There is every reason to believe that the Ira field, which is now proven, will be thoroughly developed within the next twelve months, when we will see a number of new wells under the pump, and a pipeline built to Snyder.

The troop train of which the Snyder National Guard company was a part, reached Galveston and detrained about 7:30 o'clock, Saturday, July 5, and started the march for Fort Crockett, a distance of about two miles, immediately. The Fort furnished a wonderful camp site with the company streets marked off. With this good start everything was put in shape in record time.

Sunday was spent, by most of the men, seeing Galveston and trying out the gulf. Some of the boys even admitted that it was the biggest stream they had ever seen. Fritz R., in his usual serious frame of mind, suggested that he thought that something like that would be a good thing for Snyder.

The encampment in general was quite a success and all the men seemed to enjoy the stay there and to profit by the sights to be seen. The only retarding factor was the heat which, together with the humidity prevented the intensive training that might have otherwise been carried out. The camp was well regulated and the conduct of the men was excellent.

Company "G" 142 Inf. had on the trip fifty-one enlisted men and two officers, Capt. John Sentell and 1st. Lieut. Herbert Waterman. Jewel Cantrell of the Snyder National Guard went along as "Top Kick" and made a good one. T. H. Duff as mess sergeant and Herbert Bannister as supply sergeant filled these places of responsibility like old veterans in spite of their inexperience. Corporal Tinnin and Orlando Borden are to be mentioned for they kept the boys out of the hospital and in a good humor by their good cooking and there is nothing more important in the army than good cooks.

Company "G" although the youngest company in camp, performed all the duties performed by the other companies. This company received favorable comments from the higher officials up to and including the Colonel. The Colonel, talking to all the officers of the regiment, gave Company G credit for making the best appearance on detrainment and complimented the company generally on its good appearance and its work. In the contest between the companies of our battalion, company G contended with Company E of Hereford and Company F of Canyon, both old companies. Company G eliminated Company E and got one of the three votes for first place over Company F.

The boys brought smiles and words of appreciation from Capt. Sentell and Lieutenant Waterman last Friday night when they presented each of them with a thirty-four inch saber. Everybody came home happy and all report a good time.

PEACE OR WAR—WHICH?

As recently as 1905 only a small per cent of even the educators themselves appreciated the need of vocational education. And yet somebody has always had to work for everybody's living. Work, physical, manual labor has been the basis of all civilization. Wonder where our nation and the whole world would be today if only vocational training had had as much thought and time and mental energy and taxation spent on it as has been spent on the study of war and history? Do you suppose teaching war for 6,000 years has had any influence on the waging of wars? What causes war in its final analysis? And on the other hand what brings peace to you? What brings peace to a community? What brings peace to a whole state and nation? And just what do you think will bring peace to the whole world?—Southwestern Plainsman.

What is the cause of war—is put forward in the above editorial from the pen of the Cheneys. Why do men fight and kill in time of peace? Why are homes wrecked and men and women made to sorrow? There can only be one answer, and that answer is, that sin is at the bottom of it all. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, sin is a reproach of any people." The nation that lives righteously will live peaceably one with the other. The individual that lives righteously in this life will be at peace with all mankind. Nations are made up with individuals, and reflects individual life. As men live so will their nations be.

As to the other phase of the inquiry, "The need of vocational training," there is no room for argument. People should be better trained in the various vocations that they are engaged in. People should be not only taught the better way to make a living, but that labor is necessary and important. In labor is found true happiness. No man is more happier or contented than when engaged in some honest occupation. The trouble with the world today is that there are too many people living off the other man. Fully half of the people are parasites on society—living off the other man's labor. The Divine injunction to man is to make bread by the sweat of thy face. The chief occupation of many is to work the other fellow.

The teaching of war for the 6,000 years has not improved the world in any regard. If the past six thousand years had been devoted to the wholesome teaching, "love thy neighbor as thyself," we would long ago have past the point of a possibility of national or international misunderstanding and wars. If the past 6,000 years had been devoted to vocational training—to work of some kind and the better way to work the world would have been much better served. The man that does not study the better way of farming does not make progress, on the other hand, the man that has studied the improved methods of farming and other vocations are the ones that has forged ahead in their various callings.

"And what do you think will bring peace to the whole world?" The answer to this query is, wholesome labor, honestly followed—the employment of mind and body. Added to this is a constant fear of God and honest efforts put forward in keeping his commands. "Let us reach the conclusion of the whole matter," says Solomon. "The whole duty of man is to fear God and keep His commandments."

Saturday is primary election day, when we will thin 'em down to one in a hill. Have you made up your mind whom you will vote for? The bargain list is large, from Governor down to public weigher. It may be a case where if you vote for one you will wish you had voted for another. As to local county affairs all offices are represented by good men and women, and there can be no mistake in your selection. We regret that everyone of them cannot be elected, but unfortunately there is not enough offices to go round, and some one is going to be left without political preferment.

A story now comes that a New York 130-pound husband thrashed a 350-pound wife because she bobbed her hair. Justice must have been on the side of the husband or else he could not have won so evenly matched battle.

An effort will be made at the next session of the legislature to have a change made in the law governing the passing of checks when there is no money in the bank to pay same. Under the present law it devolves upon the man receiving the check to prove fraud was intended. If the law is changed it will be in such manner that the man giving the check will have to prove he had money in the bank, or had good reasons to believe he had the money there. This would put a stop to the writing of "hot" checks.—Childress Index.

It is reported that County Attorney Owen McWhorter of Lubbock County has two hundred and thirty-five cold checks in his possession ranging from $1.00 to $100 in value. The cold check artist is getting to be professional and it is to be hoped that the next Legislature will pass some law governing the passing of checks when there is no money in the bank to pay.—Crosbyton Review.

Will some of you wise guys tell the people how to keep out of the red, and how to present cashable checks. Maybe the Legislature can better conditions along these lines also. There are several classes of bad check-givers—those who deliberately give checks knowing that they will not be cashed. This class are swindlers. There is another class that presume on the good nature of their bankers and give more checks than they have money to cash. The solution to the whole problem is that we are living too fast and allow our checking to get ahead of our deposits.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE.

Being off our editorial desk ten days it is rather a belated comment in reference to the Democratic nominee and the party outlook. Davis of West Virginia was the dark horse that created so much speculation when Smith and McAdoo tied the convention for some ten days with more than a hundred ballots were taken. Davis can not be classed as a dark horse in the truer sense as he was before the convention as favorite son from the very first. Davis was naturally the man to turn to when the deadlock developed.

The convention's dead lock was the outcome of various issues before the convention. Neither McAdoo or Smith could be nominated as both held extreme views on the various issues before the convention. Davis' nomination harmonized the differences and closed the party breach. He is both conservative and progressive. He has taken no part in the Klan and other disturbing issues, and is considered the only man in national politics that has a ghost of a show of carrying the party to victory. His selection was made in conference of Smith and McAdoo followers and was the personal choice of both Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith.

We consider Davis the strongest man in the party and the one to harmonize all party differences, and the chances of Democratic success are better under his leadership this fall than there would have been under either Smith or McAdoo. John W. Davis is the man of the hour, and with his running mate, Governor Bryan of Nebraska, brother to William Jennings Bryan, the chances for a Democratic victory in the West has been greatly augmented.

Joe W. Tawater, wife and two little sons, of Rockwall, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rodgers.

My mother, who had used Dr. Pierce's medicine in her family for years, gave me the Golden Medical Discovery and after taking two bottles my backache stopped and now I am fat and well. I shall always praise Dr. Pierce's Medicine."—Miss Trixie Morrow, 1715 So. Lamar St.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

This oration delivered by Will C. Grant, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, was winner of County, District and State oratorical contest under the auspices of Inter-school Citizenship League of America.

Every person who owns something of value can give some account of it. Those with valuable lands have deeds of title to them, but everyone of us has possessions that are dearer to us than lands or money. These are man's inalienable right to freedom of speech, and freedom of conscience, the right of peaceable assembly, the sanctity of the home; cherished rights given to every American citizen. Everyone of us has a definite and recognized deed of title to these rights, and that deed of title is the Constitution of the United States of America.

The citizens of many countries do not have these rights much less a recognized title to them. In Russia the government can invade the sanctity of the home, and pronounce the sentence of death without trial. In many Asiatic countries men are not even recognized as free and equally due these rights.

The Constitution has been proclaimed the greatest document of its kind. Besides its present importance to every American citizen, it merits this praise for two reasons: first because of the historic setting woven about it, and second because of its content an individual merits of its composition.

At the close of the revolutionary war the Articles of Confederation had proved to be inadequate, so Washington called together the leaders of the country to discuss the situation. Finally, in 1787 the Constitutional Convention assembled.

It is fit here to pause to remember that in every crisis through which this nation has passed and emerged the better for it, the leaders have prayed to God in behalf of the nation. In the beginning the Pilgrims on the Mayflower knelt together and prayed for the new-found land. Lincoln sought divine guidance for the nation. One day, a government official, bent on business with Woodrow Wilson walked hurriedly without knocking into the office of the President. There he found that man alone, kneeling, with his head bent in prayer for the country he loved. We now go back to one of the most important times in the nation's history, the Constitutional Convention.

There for five weeks they had argued long, but had had made no progress because they could not agree on nothing. Finally Benjamin Franklin arose and addressing them, said: our inability to agree shows the imperfection of human understanding. In the Holy Scripture it reads: "Unless the Lord build the house they labor in vain that build it." I firmly believe this, and without His concurring aid we shall succeed no better than the builders of Babel, we shall be divided by little, partial, local interests, and so, Benjamin Franklin, who attended no church himself, yet realized the need of the help of God in such a situation moved that from that time on each meeting of the constitutional convention should be opened and closed with prayer.

And from that time on progress was made in the framing of that document which Gladstone has declared to be "The greatest piece of work every struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

Now besides being worthy of this praise because of its present importance to every American citizen and because of its historic background look at its content: the individual merits of its several provisions.

In the preamble we find set forth the principles of our democracy, we find introduced a constitution which since its making has been the model for the constitutions of succeeding democracies. The preamble begins: We, the people of the United States in order to form a more perfect union—not to secure justice from some tyrant or promote some selfish enterprise—but to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution of the United States of America.

The Constitution proper we find, contains seven articles. Article one provides for the legislative power, article two for the executive and article three for the judicial, yet these powers do not conflict so as to form a deadlock. These three articles are typical of the entire Constitution in that they are consistent. Article four provides for the inter-state relations, article five for amendments, while the sixth article has miscellaneous provisions, that is, that the public debt shall be valid, the constitution shall be the supreme law of the land, all public officers shall take oath to support the constitution and for such offices, no religious test shall be required. Besides article seven provides for the ratification of the Constitution.

We are all familiar with the first ten amendments known as the Bill of Rights. In these we find liberties granted, individual rights assured and protection given to the component units of this great Republic. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; the individual, his papers and effects, are secure in his home. The rights of habeas corpus, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, the right of peaceable assembly are all guaranteed. No excessive fines shall be imposed, excessive bail required or cruel and unusual punishment inflicted. This is the general content of the first ten amendments known as the bill of rights. Here we have a Constitution, which, while it is comparatively short, is lengthy enough that it lays down the foundation of our democracy and the principles and formation of our government.

Accessible to us all, we have a constitution which established one of the greatest nations now existing on earth, which welded a comparatively weak group of scattered factions into a powerful unit, which protects each individual of that unit, and which shows no prejudiced or antagonistic spirit toward anything that is good.

If all this is true, and recognized as true, then why such speeches as these? Because there exists in this land a subtle enemy, which is doing all in its power to undermine the very foundation of this government. That enemy is radicalism, or Bolshevism, or anarchism. It is already noticeably active in the industrial centers of the North, and its poison is already beginning to creep into our cities in the South. Our secret service uncovered the fact that in the past year it spent over three million dollars in red propaganda against our government. You will remember Constitutional week. During that period men went about lecturing and discussing the Constitution before the citizens and growing school children. But at the same time that enemy was at work.

On one night of that week, I heard a radical make a speech in my own city against our government. He accused it of everything one could think of. But the bitterest part, and greatest portion of his speech he devoted to directly attacking the Constitution itself. He said that it was drawn up by capitalists, that the legislatures adopting it were composed of capitalists. He said that it was a rigid iron-clad instrument—he even said we should not give to the Constitution credit for granting these individual rights and liberties, that credit, he said, belonged to the Bill of Rights, of the first ten amendments. Yet, either through malice or ignorance, he overlooked the fact that the first ten amendments are embodied in the Constitution, and are as much a part of the constitution as any article in the constitution proper, and could no more be separated from the constitution than the preamble itself.

Let us examine his accusations: Were the signers of the constitution capitalists? A recent investigation made by the American Bar Association discloses the fact that a large number of those connected with the making of the constitution were comparatively poor men, and that in each of the legislatures adopting it that a majority could not in any sense of the word be termed capitalists.

Now as to his accusation that the constitution is a rigid iron-clad instrument. What kind of a constitution would he have this government founded upon? Some flimsy document that could be changed to fit the passing whims and fancies of the faction in power? Do we not want our government founded upon a constitution which is rigid enough that it can only be changed by the direct vote and voice of the people themselves?

Yet, despite the fact that his accusations were false and misleading, no doubt some heretofore good Americans went home with distrust and suspicion in their minds against their government.

Are we to stand idly by while such an enemy as this is attacking the landmarks which our forefathers laid with devotion and prayer, which have steered this country through turbulent times to the present peaceable healthy economic condition which she now enjoys?

It is for everyone of us to seek out a copy of the constitution, to read it, to learn it for ourselves, so that with understanding we can defend it against radicalism, bolshevism and anarchism so that in the heart of every American citizen we can build up a solid foundation of respect, reverence and loyalty for our government, our democracy and their foundation, the Constitution of the United States of America.

TUITION FREE CREATES CLASS EDUCATION SAYS BIZZELL

COLLEGE STATION, July 22.—

The charging of a tuition fee at the institutions of higher learning would mean the creation of class education or an aristocracy of learning in Texas, President W. B. Bizzell of the A. & M. College of Texas said in discussing such a proposal now being made publicly. "That would mean that eventually we would be facing the same situation that we have in England today with a strong socialistic party fighting to abrogate the right of private property," he added. "We must educate all our people or there will arise a class that will take by force what is denied them by equal opportunity."

B. S. Pitner and family of Ennis Creek community are visiting relatives and friends in East Texas.

HOME FROM OUR SHORT VACATION.

The Times family returned last Thursday morning from their vacation spent in South Texas. We went by automobile, going the Western route via San Antonio and returned through Central Texas. The three weeks spent in South Texas coast country was most delightfully enjoyed. We hit that country in the midst of a big watermelon crop, and with plenty of ripe poultry we fared sumptuously during our visit.

We were a close observer of conditions and sections through which we passed and where we visited. The South Coast country, in the counties of Austin, Fort Bend, Wharton and Waller, the crops are fine. Cotton is exceptionally promising with very little damage being done by the boll weevil. Corn is short of normal production, but where proper cultivation has been had an abundance of corn will be made. South Texas represents the extreme of West Texas in the matter of rain fall. Too much rain in the late spring and early summer hindered farming, and in the bottom lands many acres are laying out, with farms, whose crops were foul and prospects for cotton and feed very slim. South Texas lands are as rich as they were twenty-five or thirty years ago, but like all other sections people are over-cropping. Twenty-five acres is a big crop for one man and team in South Texas, where a hundred in West Texas can be easily handled.

The foreign population is predominating in the South Coast country, and where we visited the Bohemian population is about 90 per cent of the population. When the writer lived at Wallis 28 years ago there were scarcely 10 per cent foreign population. Now the tables have been turned. The Bohemians are a thrifty class of people, and where the Americans just scratched over the surface and made failures in farming, the Bohemians have made success and added wealth to the country. The Americans sold to the Bohemians, as fast as opportunity arose, the latter being ready buyers. It was the American people's own fault that the foreign population predominates in South Texas. South Texas lands were worth as much to the Americans as it was to the Bohemians and Germans, but the American people have always been sellers and when the foreigners came along and offered them good prices for their land they could not withstand the temptation to sell.

Leaving South Texas on our return we came back through Waller, Grimes, Brazos, Milam and on up the Santa Fe through Bell, Coryell, Lampasas, Mills, Brown, Coleman and over to Abilene. The crops are spotted in these counties, the best seen being in Bell County, where cotton and corn were fine. We traveled over all kinds of roads, good, bad and indifferent. The worse roads we encountered were wornout highways, where gravel had been used as hard surface and allowed to go to pieces. We are thoroughly convinced that much money is being wasted in Texas in highway building.

The gravel pikes are failures unless rigidly maintained. The cheapest roads in the long run are the concrete or brick paving. The first cost of this class of roads would be considerable greater, but in the long run they will prove the most lasting and economical. We are passing on to the next generation a system of worn-out highways and big bonded indebtedness to be met. Our children will have to pay the cost of our folly and if they have good roads of their own they will have to buy them in addition to paying for the temporary wornout roads we have passed on to them.

During 1925 Texas will have an opportunity to amend its constitution, allowing the Federal Government to buy these roads, build and maintain them as brick paved highways. The most sensible thing we do is to amend our Constitution and sell our designated highways to the Federal Government, who will build a system of national highways that will last for all time.

After returning to the West and Old Scurry County we are more thoroughly convinced than ever that we have the best country in Texas, where we come nearer having all the 'possums up one tree than in any other part of the Lone Star State. However, Texas as a whole is alright, and the finest country in the world. The people who live in South Texas are boosters and they have a right to boost for they have a fine country. The people who live in Central Texas are boosters also and we admire them for their enterprise. They have something to boost with, a country rich in fertility and delightful in climate. The Coast country is especially adapted to diversified farming. We visited an orange orchard one Sunday afternoon and saw growing some as fine oranges as you will find in California. Besides oranges we saw English walnut trees bearing their delicious fruit. The Coast country can be made a second California if proper efforts are put forth in citron fruit growing. They have the soil, the climate and all that is needed is experience and enterprise to put over a diversified fruit and nut growing program in that section. South Texas, like all other countries, the people go to extremes in farming and have drifted into a staple crop program.

In passing through many of the counties in South Texas, in Waller, Grimes, Bryan and Milam counties we saw evidence of decay in farm homes and surroundings. We saw more tumbled down barns and living quarters than we thought possible to exist in Texas. It is evidently the result of the ravages of the boll weevil that has caused such conditions to exist. The boll weevil in South Texas are doing little or no damage this year. They had made their appearance only in numbers, and the dry weather and the lateness of the crops have operated against the weevil this year. The boll weevil cannot hibernate in hot dry weather, when the sun knocks them out. The farmers of that section have adopted a system of wide row planting which plan allows the sun to penetrate more thoroughly through the plants. Plowing in hot, dry weather destroys the worm that hatches the boll weevil. The hot dirt destroys the eggs and worms before it reaches the boll weevil stage.

Will some well-informed reader explain to us why it is that a wheat crop almost invariably turns out differently to its owner's expectations? All over New Mexico and Texas reports come that the wheat crops are turning out from 25 to 33 per cent better than was expected. Most of the time it turns out poorer than was expected.—Clarendon News.

It is said that West Texas can promise more and make less or promise less and make more than any country in the world. The real answer is that man is a poor guesser, and that he is inclined to extreme in his guesses. He either touches the high mark or the low mark. It is the same way with cotton. The cotton crop is usually under estimated in Texas.

Gov. Neff was criticised by many of the delegates at the Democratic convention for endorsing Davis for president, but the final outcome showed that the governor had the right idea.—McLean.

Governor Neff received a great deal of criticism from the political bosses of Texas because he would not endorse McAdoo. He advocated on the stump before the convention an un instructed delegation to the National Convention. The deadlock that followed showed the wisdom of his course. Again, he advocated the nomination of John W. Davis for President, and his choice was selected over the bitter contest and protest of the Texas delegation. He was also criticised for refusing to go to the National Convention as a delegate after the state through its political machinery endorsed McAdoo. Governor Neff followed the course of a man of convictions, and he has lived to see his actions fully vindicated. When a man dares to cross the leaders of Texas he gets in bad, but the people usually uphold him. Texas Democracy has been ruled by Tom Love and his association of political Tomcats until the people of Texas, who dare to think for themselves, are getting tired of boss rule. Oh, yes, Neff's critics said that he wanted to be Vice-President. Did anyone see any movement on the part of the Texas Governor to obtain the vice-presidential nomination? The charge was as groundless as the insinuation that he wanted the presidency of the University of Texas.

The price of wheat advances, and this week reached $1.27 per bushel. The wheat growers are coming into their own again. Not since the war, when the bottom fell out of the wheat market, has the outlook for the wheat farmer been so promising. The wheat grower is deserving all he can get for his wheat and then some. We regret that there is not a million bushels of wheat to be marketed in Scurry County this summer. A million or so of new money put into circulation in Scurry County would make things look up. Plant wheat next year.

The death of the young son of President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge carries with it the sympathy of the American people. The fact has again been demonstrated that death is no respecter of homes. It enters the palaces of kings and poverty alike. The White House of this nation, where live the first of the land, is not exempt from the curse placed upon Adam. The death of the Coolidge lad was a brave one, the young man facing eternity confidently and resignedly. He was the pride of the Coolidge home, but this fact did not exempt him from the call of the Reaper. Often it seems that the choicest flowers are plucked first, and in this is the working of a Supreme plan, which, as Christians, we accept unquestionably and in humble mind and heart we say "Oh God, Thy will, not ours, be done."

Miss Myriam Stewart of Canyon spent the week-end here visiting with friends.

A Single Word Describes This Cab

Americans worship brevity. They won't use two words when one will suffice. A motor car may have a dozen good qualities, but soon or late, in this hurried age, it is described by a single name. It is either a "powerful" car; an "economical" one; it is a "beauty;" "dependable;" and "speedy," etc.

Oldsmobile hasn't escaped. Though it possesses more than average share of good qualities, the American public insists on a single name. They say it has "stamina."

And they're right. The only way you can describe the Oldsmobile Six in one word is to use the word "stamina." And this description fits none of the eight fine Oldsmobile Six models more accurately than it does this useful and beautiful Cab.

From its 40 horsepower engine, lubricated under pressure at every rotating point, through its fine disc clutch, its tough nickel-steel gears and dependable axle—from its Delco ignition and Harrison radiator—yes, from front to rear, every unit is built for s-t-a-m-i-n-a!

Salesmen use this Cab because it matches the railroad schedules for reliability. Doctors use it for the same reason—plus the air of distinction its fine appearance provides.

It is a utility car—built to provide a high order of enduring and economical transportation for two passengers. If you need that sort of transportation, your money will buy infinitely more in the Oldsmobile Six Cab than anywhere else.

WEST TEXAS INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT.

Thirty-four counties in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma already have arranged for space for their exhibits at the Tri-State Fair to be held at Amarillo September 22 to 28. The fair association is busy shaping up the fair grounds and constructing the necessary buildings in time for the fair.

Fifty years ago Texas had twenty daily newspapers with a combined circulation of less than 10,000. Today the state has 113 daily newspapers with a combined circulation of around half a million.

A cotton compress, with daily capacity of 1,800 bales, is under construction in Plainview. The initial storage capacity will be 10,000 bales.

A new rural mail route 67 miles long will serve the south and west part of Ochiltree County from Perryton. Other routes are under consideration.

The municipal lighting plant, established a year ago in Brownfield, in Terry County, already has 160 customers, and it has been decided to establish an all-day service to meet the demand for power.

Tahoka has installed seventy-five new lights of 200 kilowatt power to keep in line with the growth of the town.

The Sudan section in Lamb County, served by the Gulf-Pacific trunk line of the Santa Fe Railway, is developing rapidly. Over one hundred and fifty families have moved there since fall. A new bank opened recently with deposits of $130,000. A large acreage of new land has been placed under cultivation this season. Much building is going on in Sudan and in the country.

Cotton growers in the El Paso Valley, which last year led the United States in production, number of acres considered, will compete for $3,000 in cash prizes offered by the Dallas News, the Bankers' Association of Texas, and S. W. King, cotton broker of Dallas, for the largest yield on five acres. One of the entrants is Charles King, Jr., of San Jose, who made two bales on an acre of land in 1923, when he was one of the prize winners in El Paso County contest. Several other boys, who made large crops in 1923, are expected to enter the contest.

Oil development in the Panhandle of Texas is making rapid progress recently. Producing wells have been brought in and steps are taken to get the oil to market. A six-inch pipe line thirty miles in length now is under construction from the oil fields into Amarillo. Another pipe line, eighteen miles long, is under construction from the oil fields to Panhandle. Loading racks have been completed on a forty-acre tract adjoining the Santa Fe Railway at Panhandle. The line to Amarillo will be completed by July 1, and the Panhandle line much earlier. A refinery is located at Amarillo.

Over 900 new farmers located on the Rio Grande irrigation project in the Rincon and Mesilla Valleys in New Mexico and the El Paso Valley in Texas this year, according to L. M. Lawson, manager of the project.

The total acreage in these districts under cultivation this year is placed at 130,000 acres. Cotton has become important and 75,000 acres may be planted in cotton this year. Seventeen gins operated in the district last year and from ten to fifteen new gins will be built this year and also a cotton compress and a $500,000 cotton mill at El Paso.

The Brownfield school opened in 1904 with forty pupils. There was no unusual growth until recently. In 1916-1917 the number of pupils had increased to 150. Since then growth has been rapid. This year there is a faculty of fourteen teachers and 639 pupils, housed in a four-teen-room building. The new facilities added last year already are over-taxed and more room must be provided for the stream of newcomers coming to the Brownfield district.

The United States zinc smelter is planning to materially enlarge its plant at Amarillo. The smelter employs about 260 men at present. This smelter was located at Amarillo last year on account of the cheap fuel from the big natural gas field north of it. The ore is shipped in. The operation of the smelter has proved successful and new units will be added from time to time.

The News, at Southland, Garza County, is a weekly published by E. A. Warren, Jr. The growth of the country about Southland has been rapid and a live editor will help future development.

The school population in Lamesa in a year increased from 584 to 1000 children. The new $127,000 high school to be built this year will relieve the crowded condition of the schools.

The five banks of Amarillo reported total deposits of $7,503,160 at the close of business, March 31, 1924. Total cash and exchange was $2,248,357.12.

On the first day of August, 1923, there was nothing at Amherst in Lamb County. Today it is a busy town and has among other things a modern hotel with private bath in every room. This is due to heavy immigration to the Halsell ranch now on the market.

The Advocate, at Amherst, Lamb County, began publication in April and will be an active factor in building the Amherst country. Jess Mitchell is publisher and Mrs. B. C. Linn, editor.

The North Plains Progress is a new weekly published at Dumas, in Moore County, by L. W. Wall and Chas. W. McNeely. Moore County moved into the cotton belt in 1923.

The State Bank building at Lubbock is being remodeled to give the bank additional space.

The population of Texas now is 5,018,602, according to the Census Bureau as against 4,702,714 in 1920.

ENROLLMENT SHOWS INCREASE IN T. U. SUMMER STUDENTS.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 23.—Latest registration figures show that 2,775 students have enrolled during the first term, showing an increase in the enrollment of the regular summer school over that of last summer, although there is a decrease in the summer normal registration. According to Dr. Frederick Eby, director of the summer school, there is a noticeable increase in the number of advanced students this summer, there being approximately 300 graduate students, about 75 of whom are candidates for the master's degree to be conferred in August. The second term will open on July 19, and preparations are being made for the reception of many new students at that time.

The SO E-Z DUST PAN

THE OLD WAY THE NEW WAY

To Coal Consumers

We want your good will and to that end we propose to emancipate you from one form of household drudgery. You will agree with us that stooping over to take up dust in the old fashioned back breaking dust pan is anything but easy, and we are going to make it unnecessary for you to endure this form of drudgery any longer.

The cut the side of this ad shows you how the SO E-Z DUST PAN not only saves your back but relieves you from inhaling the germs that are stirred up in the dust by your broom when you stoop over to sweep them on to the old style dust pan. A glance at the cut will show how this labor-saver works. Raising the handle causes the point of the pan to drop down and the dust to fall into it thus you can carry it to the door without the contents being blown back and scattered around or you can dump the dust into the stove without scattering. When not in use the dust pan hangs on the wall by the handle forming a convenient receptacle for bits of waste paper, etc.

The DUST PAN is made of heavy steel finished in hard baked black enamel. The mouth is twelve inches wide. The handle is made of heavy coppered steel wire and is over twenty-four inches long.

We have laid in a stock of these Dust Pans and while they last we are going to give them to every customer "that places their order for one ton or more of coal." We will, of course, give only one to a family, as the quantity is limited. Coal will be no cheaper and our advice to you is to place your order early, being assured of good coal and one of the labor-saving DUST PANS.

Yours very truly,

J. C. DAWSON

Eleventh Hour Character Assassins Foiled in an Attempt to Besmirch Reputation of Felix Robertson

The following affidavit gives the facts with reference to an anonymous advertisement appearing in several of the Texas dailies.

The parties who inserted this advertisement knew the facts when they published them as are stated in this affidavit, but sought, nevertheless, to fool and deceive and defraud the public of Texas. Not satisfied with this palpable falsehood, they, in the same advertisement, garble and misrepresent and make false and fraudulent statements with reference to speeches made by Judge Robertson at Kaufman, Texas.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF DALLAS.

Before me, the undersigned authority, on this day personally appeared Mrs. Edith E. Wilmans, who after being by me duly sworn, deposes and says:

That she is the identical Edith E. Wilmans who was defendant in Cause No. 34,977-A, styled J. Fred Furstenberger vs. Edith E. Wilmans, concerning which a certain political advertisement has recently appeared in several of the daily newspapers in the State of Texas.

The facts concerning said transaction are these:

Being in need of funds I went to Mr. J. Fred Furstenberger, who has a cigar stand in the Court House in Dallas, Texas, and who is a money-lender and discounter of jury script, and borrowed from him the sum of Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars, giving him in security therefor a mortgage on a Hudson sedan automobile and executing my note to said J. Fred Furstenberger for the sum of Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars, payable ninety days after date, and bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum.

When this note became due I was unable to pay the same; but I paid Mr. Furstenberger the sum of Seventy-five ($75.00) Dollars to renew said note for ninety days.

A short time after this, this man Furstenberger sued me on the note; and when I protested that I had paid him Seventy-five ($75.00) Dollars for an extension of the note, he told me that he had credited the Seventy-five ($75.00) Dollars on another transaction.

When he sued me, he also sued out a writ of sequestration and took the automobile into his possession. At that particular time I had urgent need of the use of my automobile; and I went to Judge Felix Robertson, Judge of the Criminal District Court of Dallas County, and Rev. A. C. Parker, Pastor of the Rosemont Christian Church of Oak Cliff, Dallas, Texas, and asked them as an accommodation to me to sign a replevy bond, which they did.

I used the car for a very short time and then returned it to the Sheriff of Dallas County. At the time I returned the car to the sheriff, it was insured for the sum of Seven Hundred Fifty ($750.00) Dollars. In the trial of the case the proof showed the automobile was of the value greatly in excess of the Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars I owed Mr. Furstenberger. I did not contest the matter, and the automobile was sold; and I understand was bought in by Mr. Furstenberger, so that Mr. Furstenberger got my Hudson sedan automobile and the Seventy-five ($75.00) Dollars in cash for the three hundred ($300.00) Dollars he loaned me, and yet has a judgment against me and against my sureties, Judge Robertson and Rev. Parker, for the sum of Three Hundred Seventy-Seven and 78-100 ($377.78) Dollars.

An execution was issued on this and returned on the 4th day of April, 1924. Consultation with the Sheriff's office of Dallas County, Texas, shows that Judge Robertson was out of the City of Dallas engaged in his political campaign at the time the Deputy Sheriff called at his office. And my investigation shows that Judge Robertson did not know that a judgment had been rendered against him in this matter until his attention was called to the same through this advertisement.

Judge Felix Robertson and Rev. Parker acted in this matter purely as a matter of friendship; and the conduct of Judge Robertson in this matter is in keeping with his general reputation of inconveniencing himself financially and otherwise for the benefit of widows, orphans and needy of Texas. And I feel that a great injustice has been done him through me.

I am sure that if the widows and orphans and the good women and children of Texas generally knew Judge Robertson's good generous heart and Christian life as we know it here, they would rally to his support.

Witness my hand this 22nd day of July, A. D., 1924.

(Signed) MRS. EDITH E. WILMANS.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 22nd day of July, A. D. 1924.

(Signed) L. READ,
(SEAL) Notary Public in and for Dallas County, Texas.

Knowing that Judge Robertson is the leading candidate, and will receive more votes than any two of his opponents, some of them have combined to defeat him by means such as this.

Let the public be warned that before election night there will be many false and fraudulent statements and misleading eleventh hour campaign falsehoods indulged in.

You will note that all of the advertising that is being done now is directed against Judge Robertson. Much of it anonymous, but the public knows necessarily who is doing it.

NO FAKES HERE.

Here are some of the things that make the ring giggle between Kenneth Harlan and the "world's champion" in Tom Forman's "April Showers," to be shown at the Cozy Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, deserve the ecumiums of prize-fight experts, who declare it the greatest glove contest ever shown on the screen.

A splendid cast has been afforded "Masters of Men," the great sea story by Morgan Robertson, which the Cozy Theatre will show next Wednesday and Thursday, headed by Earle Williams, Alice Calhoun, Cullen Landis and Wanda Hawley. The story is striking, vivid picturization of life at sea with the background of a heart stirring love drama involving the four principal characters.

Mrs. R. W. Collier and children returned Monday from Alamagorda where she was called a few weeks ago on account of the serious illness of her brother, who we are glad to report, is very much improved.

No fair-minded man questions Judge Robertson's ability, or character. He is and has for years been one of the great men of Texas, though not in State politics. He is a real Christian by both precept and example. Recognized as one of the big men with deep convictions for right he is looked to as the one man from whom the farmer and every other man can and will get a hearing and a square deal and from whom the big interests may expect nothing but fairness.

His race has been clean, you have not heard a word from him criticizing any of his opponents, and that kind of a man deserves the support of every voter, and Texas wants that kind of a man for Governor—one who will be governor of all of the people of Texas.

GAINES COUNTY FARM LANDS AT REASONABLE PRICES AND ATTRACTIVE TERMS

Very little ready money is required to own a good farm in the South Plains of the Texas Panhandle. Payments for your farm are on about the same basis as paying rent.

At Seagraves, Gaines County, Texas, we offer you farm land at prices from $12.00 to $20.00 per acre, cash payment down only one dollar per acre, four yearly payments of one dollar per acre and the balance in yearly payments of two dollars per acre with interest at six per cent.

This is strictly a general farming country. Abundance of pure water, no boll weevil; and cotton a sure crop. At present prices of cotton it will not take a great many bales to pay for a 160 acre farm in one season.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS HAS INCOME FROM OIL.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 23.—An accurate statement pertaining to the oil lands of the University of Texas has just been made by Dr. J. A. Udden of the Bureau of Economic Geology, at the request of Acting President W. S. Sutton.

Dr. Udden states that the sum of $7,398 has been deposited by the Land Commissioner of Texas, representing royalties on oil produced on the University lands in the Reagan County oil field and it is estimated that the total amount up to the end of July will be about $8,000. The geological conditions are said to be such that it is impossible to foretell either the possible size of the field or its outline. What seems to be the most trustworthy opinion is that the field will have to be worked out by drilling, and that conjectures ahead of the drill are apt to be unreliable.

"It cannot fail to be harmful," said Dr. Udden, "to spread the opinion that the taxes in the State of Texas even will be lightened by oil royalties from this field. Under the present conditions it is certainly premature, and unwise, to formulate any policies for financing the University from such an uncertain source. It is even possible that such royalties coming for a few years during the production of this field might prove to do harm to the University, which should have a steady income independent of the production of oil, cotton or of beef. No great university can ever be built upon a less certain foundation than a steady income that can be figured on for many years ahead. Such was evidently the intention of the wise men who put aside lands for the building of a great university in this State."

TEXAS—THE BIG GIANT.

Like a sleeping giant, unaware of its strength, West Texas lay for long years, unknown, unwept, unsung. Its vast wealth and its potential resources were undreamed of. But Mother Nature knew it was here. Every winter the buffalo swept south from the biting cold of the northern plains, to seek pasturage free from snow. Came the buffalo hunters after the hides. Followed the ranchman, who realized that what was good for buffalo was good for cattle. More people came. Followed steel rails, those pioneers of progress and development was accelerated. Came the sheep and the cotton. But fertility was not the only characteristic of West Texas soil. Steel bit into the soil, and oil, released from its age old imprisonment, sprayed the circumambient atmosphere. More wealth. Big Lake is the latest great Texas oil field. Came the development of gypsum industry, especially in building. A great mill arose at Sweetwater, with unlimited deposits at its doors. Just around the corner of Time, is development of West Texas potash, to replenish older and worn-out soils in other States.

As resource after resource is developed, more and more people came. Other people are required to supply new and increasing demands of enlarged population. Larger and ever larger cities result.

And in the midst of the great agricultural development of the South Plains, the granary of an empire; of the oil and potash and other development Mitchell, Midland and other counties to the west, the Big Lake oil field in Pecos County, and of all the progress and improvement of West Texas, lies Sweetwater. It has direct rail connections with all—the only city in West Texas so situated and so equipped. Sweetwater is growing by leaps and bounds. It will grow faster if you will help.—Sweetwater Reporter.

COURT AGAIN DECIDES IN ASSOCIATION'S FAVOR.

ANSON, Texas.—In the recent case decided here of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association against Carl Sommer of Jones County for violation of the Association's marketing contract, judgment was rendered in favor of the Association and court costs, attorney fees and liquidated damages in the amount of $312 assessed against the defendant. A permanent injunction was also granted against the defendant restraining him from violating his contract during the remainder of the term. The Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association was represented by its attorney, C. K. Bulard of Dallas.

T. C. U. EXPECTS BIG YEAR IN SPORTS.

Special to Times-Signal.

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 23.—Matty Bell, football and basketball mentor of Texas Christian University, arrived here last week and reported that he had a number of new plays in mind which the Horned Frogs would use this year. He has been attending a coaching school in Wisconsin, conducted by Knute Rockne of Notre Dame and Dr. Walter Meanwell of the University of Wisconsin.

Over 175 coaches were at the camp, Bell said. Besides being taught from the blackboard, they donned work togs and drilled on the field and courts. Bell was half-back on the same team which Rockne ran from quarter.

THOUSANDS OF MISSING EX-SERVICE MEN REPORTED

"Thousands of tragedies arising out of the world war were brought to light by the passage of the Adjusted Compensation Law," declared an official at the National Headquarters of the Legion here. The official explained:

"I refer to those tragedies involved where veterans have chosen to disappear since returning safely from France, rather than to carry back to the old associations, their disappointed hopes, their restless spirits, their disfigured bodies. The compensation law reveals the cases of thousands of such 'missing' men whose families cannot collect their compensation benefits under the ruling which states that dependents of veterans must submit with their application a certificate of the veterans' death.

"The official records in the army and navy departments report these men as 'missing.' Records are not discerning. Most of the veterans listed as 'missing' are as dead to their families and old associations, as if their bodies lay unidentified in France.

"Somewhere the flesh of these missing men still lives, it is true, but their spirit is broken or has taken hopeless flight like a bird with a broken wing, fluttering frightened from one gray obscurity to the next, there to hide, hurt and quivering, hoping that man will not step on it, nor injure it further while it awaits for death as a relief. But the government compensates only on a death certificate. Broken and crushed spirits are not compensative.

"Take just one case that comes to mind. In the bellicose days of 1917 a young girl said goodbye and gave a promise of faithfulness to a handsome boy. The ensuing events were not uncommon: France, St. Mihiel, a piece of whining shrapnel, a mangled clot of blood and tissue then the return home with all that was left of the pleasing features smashed and horrible and not less horrible when pieced together by the clumsy hands of man. The girl had been faithful. Then the meeting, and the soldier's twisted visage that contorted into a hideous leering grimace when it had meant to smile the tenderness in the boy's heart; then the girl's involuntary revulsion from that loathsome thing. The man noted the horror reflected in the girl's eyes, and the averted face. He hastily mumbled goodbye as he stumbled through the garden. The boy has never returned.

"On the records of the war department that boy is listed as 'missing.' As a missing veteran his compensation cannot be paid his people until he is proven dead, or unless he returns to claim it. He will never return to face the constant pity and sympathy of those he had loved. His case is similar to the tragedies of thousands of other veterans, singled with the brand of war in one form or another, and who will in all probability wander until the end mavericks."

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blake, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Theford's

Theford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

How The Santa Fe dollar was spent in 1923

Taxes more than dividends. Rate reductions more than taxes

The measure of success in railroad business is the relation of costs to returns. If the dollar earned does not cover the cost of earning it, the business fails. If it covers the cost with a margin over, the business succeeds.

THE SANTA FE DOLLAR IN 1923 WENT AS FOLLOWS:

Maintenance of track, buildings, etc.	13.37 cents
Maintenance of locomotives, freight and passenger cars	13.34 "
Train, station and switching, and other transportation	13.68 "
Traffic agencies	1.09 "
Fuel	6.45 "
Salaries and expenses of clerks and other general office employees	.98 "
Legal, valuation, general officers, pensions and death benefits and miscellaneous	1.06 "
Depreciation and retirement, equipment and lease plants	2.89 "
Loss, damage and casualties	1.07 "
Post of equipment, joint facilities, etc.	1.04 "
Interest on bonds and other interest charges	4.80 "
Dividends on capital stock	8.14 "
Taxes	8.79 "
Balance available for expanding facilities	100.00 cents

Of the last item 3.02 cents came from sources other than taxes so that a reduction of less than 6% in rates would have wiped out the entire margin of safety from earnings through rates.

Even a decline in gross business such as has occurred this year inevitably reduces this balance of 8.79 cents, because not many of the cost items can be cut down in proportion.

The adjustment between success and failure is a delicate one in the transportation industry. For the welfare of the country, it should not be lightly tampered with, either by law or by the various commissions that control the main elements of railroad earnings and costs.

It is particularly notable in the above statement that taxes were more than dividends and only a little less than all the fuel used for the System. Taxes were $20,316,491.

Good service requires ample money for operation and maintenance. Even a rather substantial reduction in rates would benefit individuals so slightly as hardly to be known, while it might readily (because of poor service) cause them tremendous loss which would be quickly and keenly felt.

A railroad gets money from its rates and has no other large source of supply, even though attempts seem to be made to have the public believe otherwise. Since 1921 freight rates have been almost continuously in process of reduction. Santa Fe freight earnings were decreased $14,500,000 in 1922 and $23,945,000 in 1923 from what they would have been with 1921 rates.

The Santa Fe already has reduced freight rates many millions. But adequate service is vital for shippers. It can be furnished only when fair rates provide the money needed.

WORK STARTS ON SEWERAGE AND WATER EXTENSION.

Work has begun on the water and sewerage extension. A. M. Barker of Dallas is foreman of construction. The construction includes north, east and south and will cover a large area. Quite a force of men will be used on the work, and it will be rushed to completion as fast as possible.

The extension of water sewerage in parts of town not served by these conveniences will be a great benefit to the people in water and sanitation, abundance of water and fire protection. The extension will cost practically $50,000 and is to be financed by a warrant issue.

W. W. LECHNER RECEIVES INJURY TO HAND.

Last Saturday afternoon W. W. Lechner, manager for the Loutex Corporation, received painfully injuries to one of his hands at the ice cream factory here in Snyder. Mr. Lechner had gone into the factory to get some crushed ice for his thermos bottle. Stooping down to fill the bottle his feet slipped out from under him and in the fall one of his hands was thrown against the knife in the ice crusher. He had rubber heels on his boots and the floor being wet and sloppy was the cause of the fall. A long gash was cut in the back of his hand and it otherwise lacerated. Medical attention was given him at once and the injured member dressed and we are glad to say that Mr. Lechner is getting along fine.

J. B. CARNETT DROWNED IN RIVER SUNDAY AFTERNOON

J. B. Carnett, the 7-year-old son of E. G. Carnett, living four miles south of Rotan on the Clear Fork river, was drowned Sunday afternoon.

He and two older boys were in swimming, when some people came up in a car. The older boys ran around a bend in the river and dressed. They came back and began looking for the little fellow and could not find him. They found where he had run out of the water and then ran back in and soon located him by part of his head showing.

It is supposed that he first started to follow the other boys, but changed his mind and decided to hide in the water. He ran in too deep water for him and stopped where the mud was over knee deep. When found the body was upright with just the top of the head showing.

The body was prepared for burial by the Barrow Undertaking Co., of Rotan, and burial was in the Roby cemetery Monday afternoon.

The Advance deeply sympathizes with the bereaved in this sad accident.—Rotan Advance.

Mrs. Green and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Burns of Jayton left Sunday for Fort Worth where they will spend several days visiting with relatives.

August Stahl of the Lone Wolf community was here several days the first of the week attending court.

HAVE YOU A BAD BACK?

Then the Advice of This Snyder Resident Will Interest You.

Does your back ache night and day; Hinder work; destroy your rest? Are you tortured with stabbing pains when you stoop, lift or bend? Then likely your kidneys are weak. More troubles may soon appear. Headaches, dizziness, nervousness; Or uric acid and its ills. Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Read this Snyder testimony:

W. P. Thompson, farmer, says: "I had sharp, cutting pains over my kidneys and I could hardly do any stooping or lifting. I had dizzy spells when little specks came before my eyes, blurring my sight. My kidneys were weak and I had to get up at night to pass the secretions. Doan's Pills from the Stinson Drug Store cured me of the attack." 60c at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Noted Churchman Praises Karnak

"The results I have obtained from Karnak have been so remarkable I consider it a duty to tell others of this wonderful new medicine," states Rev. Marcus M. Vaughn, noted minister and churchman, 5331 Larkin St., Houston, Tex. "Chronic stomach and nerve disorders had me in such terrible condition I couldn't even write a letter for four years," continues Dr. Vaughn. "My digestive organs seemed to have quit functioning altogether, sleep was almost impossible, and frequently I had to remain in bed from sheer weakness. Although everything else had failed me, Karnak seems to have righted my appetite, digestion, nerves and strength completely. I feel like my old time self in every way, and nothing I can say is good enough for Karnak." Karnak is sold in Snyder at the Grayum Drug Co.

FARMERS SHORT COURSE AT TEXAS A. AND M.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 23.—Hundreds of lectures, field and laboratory demonstrations covering every phase of the farming industry and rural home life on the program of the Fifteenth Annual Farmers' Short Course of the A. & M. College of Texas which will be held at College Station the week of July 23-August 2. The program was released today by T. O. Walton, director of the Extension Service of the College, who is in charge of the course. No matter what the problem or chief interest of the farm man, woman, boy or girl, he or she will be able to select a course of instruction which will enable them to benefit very largely. The program has been formulated for the purpose of supplying the need for information of the Texas farm family, and nothing has been omitted that the extension agent, who is continually in the field meeting the daily problems of the farmer and his family, has conceived as needful.

Lectures and demonstrations will be continuous from 8 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In the morning and in the evening another general session. On the evening of the first three days President W. B. Bizzell will address the visitors on foreign agriculture as he saw it on his recent tour of Europe and England and as he has judged its effect on the future of agriculture in this country. John T. Orr, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, will speak Thursday evening and on Friday evening there will be an open meeting for the announcement of contest winners and the award of prizes.

The annual meetings of the Texas Honey Producers' Association and the Shippers' and Carriers' Conference will be held here at the same time but will not conflict with the program of instructions, being entirely separate.

Mr. Louis Caton returned from Anson the first of the week where he attended the two days' picnic and homecoming of Jones County settlers.

NOTICE IN PROBATE.
THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Scurry County—Greetings:
You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been for a period of not less than one continuously and regularly published year in said Scurry County, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To all persons interested in the Estate of Mattie May Gee, deceased, L. M. Irions filed an application in the County Court of Scurry County, on the 26th day of April, 1924, for the probating of the will of Mattie May Gee, deceased, which said application will be heard by said Court on the 14th day of July, 1924, at the Court House of said county, in the City of Snyder, at which time all persons who are interested in said estate are required to appear and answer said application, should they desire to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness my hand and official seal at Snyder, Texas, this 1st day of July, 1924.
KATE COTTEN, Clerk.
County Court, Scurry County, Texas.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

Snyder, Texas, July 21st.
To the Democratic Voters of Scurry County:

As you know, I am a candidate for re-election on my own merits, if any, and not the demerits, if any, of any one else. I can only promise you in return for your vote continued, faithful performance of duty, in the future, as in the past, to the very best of my conscience and ability.

On account of the prolonged illness of my wife, and her death, early in the campaign, followed by a six weeks' term of the district court, it has been made impossible, much to my regret, for me to personally see each of you.

I was elected to my first term of office two years ago, over my present opponent, who had held the office at that time for four years. My opponent two years ago was running for a third term.

I would not presume to say that I have not made some mistakes during this time, however, an impartial investigation of my record, if made by you, would, I believe, convince you that I have done well during my first term, and if re-elected will continue to discharge my duties without fear or favor and to the best interests of the people.

Permit me to call your attention to my record as to collecting delinquent taxes. I believe that all taxpayers should be required to pay on their property. I have collected more delinquent taxes during my one term than any of my predecessors. I have not gotten started in this respect, and I promise you that if re-elected, that I shall continue to make these collections and undertake to clean the records of Scurry County of delinquent taxes, during the next two years.

It is a long and time-honored Democratic custom that any officer in this country should be accorded a second term. Is it not fair that I should be re-elected and serve a second term?

If it were you, in my place, you would ask the same fair treatment of me, that I am asking of you, and would you not feel that I was ungrateful if I failed to accord such to you?

With faith and confidence in you, believing that you will give to me the same fairness and justice that you would expect of me, were you making this race under my circumstances, and thanking you in advance for your vote and influence in the primary next Saturday, I beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,
L. T. (TOM) CONDRA.

Come to Cuthbert, a wide place in the road just over the line in Mitchell County, a place of flowing oil wells, fine cattle fried chicken and fat men. Ask Z. F. Sampler if this ain't so.—D. T. Bozeman.

DECISION MADE IN TRAVIS COUNTY COURT.

AUSTIN, July 23.—Three Texas oil companies today escaped millions of dollars in fines by a decision of Judge George Calhoun of the Travis County district court in holding for the defendants in the anti-trust cases brought by the State against the Texas company and the Gulf Refining company of Houston and the Producers Refining Company of Fort Worth. The companies were charged with restraint of trade in the leasing of gasoline pumps with a provision that the retailer should use only the products of the company.

The companies have in effect hundreds of contracts providing for the leasing of pumps and other equipment. The equipment is leased, according to charges of the attorney general, with the understanding that the retailer will use only the gasoline and oils sold by the company leasing the equipment.

Should the attorney general finally be upheld in the higher courts, it is estimated the fines will run as high as $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. Judge Calhoun applied the "rule of reason" as laid down by the United States supreme court. He held that the various contracts were separate agreements with each individual retailer and therefore not in restraint of trade. He stated the law in Texas to be that a lessor may lease property with the understanding that the lessee should not buy similar products from competing concerns. Similar agreements have been held by the federal courts not to be in restraint of trade and the judge said his decision would follow those courts. The State gave notice of appeal.

THE NEXT WELL OF LOUTEX ACROSS RIVER.

The following clipping from the Colorado Record in reference to a new well just spudded in on the Dr. P. C. Coleman land is the operation of the Loutex Corporation, which drilled the Moore No. 1 and Humphreys-Wellborn wells in Scurry County:

Coleman No. 1, in Section 68 on the Dr. P. C. Coleman ranch north of Cuthbert, was spudded in the first of the week and drilling suspended pending completion of pipe line connecting the location with Wellborn No. 1 across the Colorado river. The pipe line will be used to carry compressed air from the Wellborne well to operate the engine at the Coleman test. Air pressure in this well is sufficiently strong to operate engines formerly propelled by steam and the saving in fuel and water is large.

TRANSFERS MUST BE MADE DURING JULY.

Transfers from one school district to another must be made during the month of July and prior to August 1. All patrons who desire to transfer their children from one district to another are requested to attend to this matter at once.

ABE ROGERS LOCATES IN SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

H. F. Rogers was in the city this week arranging to move to Ashton, Dimmitt County, where he is engaged in farming and truck raising. Mr. Rogers resided in Snyder for several years and was a valuable citizen, being engaged in business. He was a member of the City Council, and resigned when his health was such that he was compelled to seek other climates. In his decision to locate elsewhere general regret will be expressed by Snyder and Scurry County people, and we heartily recommend him to the good people of Ashton and Dimmitt County.

Miss Edith Grantham and little niece, Dorris Pope, returned last Thursday from Fort Worth where they spent a couple of weeks visiting with relatives and friends.

MEETING TO START AT UNION FRIDAY NIGHT.

Next Friday night Rev. L. D. Sanders will begin a series of meeting at Union. He will be assisted in this meeting by Dr. Hardesty of Lubbock. They will also have a choir leader to lead the song services. Everyone is invited to come out and attend these meetings.

NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE TO GO OVER CASTEVENS.

The new National Business College is to be located over the S. J. Castevens Tin shop. Mr. G. E. Lawson spent several days here last week making final arrangements to open the school here at an early date.

Mr. Lawson is president of the college and comes from Abilene, where he is conducting a similar school. Snyder is to be given a first-class school which will embrace faculty and equipment equal to the best business colleges of the State. The college is to open its initial term, Monday, July 28th.

Malcolm Adams and family attended the two days' picnic and homecoming of former Jones County people, held at Anson last week. They report a most pleasant time.

Everybody wants an automobile. Everybody can pay for a Chevrolet. Everybody can afford to own a Chevrolet.

You can buy a Chevrolet just as you buy any other important necessity. Not one family in a thousand pays cash in full for a home. They make a substantial down payment, then pay off the mortgage with that they used to pay for rent, plus other savings, and in a few years obtain full title to a home of their own.

This most popular and economical family car is just another home—but on wheels. It takes the whole family evenings and holidays to where they are eager to go, and daily transports one or more of the family's workers to and from their business, therefore, all the family gladly helps to pay for it.

It can be bought just as you buy a satisfactory home. It earns its own way and you ride while you pay.

It is the best paying investment any family can make because it provides transportation, saves time, and makes all outdoors your playground, bringing health and happiness to the whole family.

SCOUT PICNIC HELD AT DUNN.

Scoutmaster Henry Donaghey, accompanied by a group of Boy Scouts from troop 3, attended the Boy Scout picnic and barbecue held by the Dunn Troop No. 1, at Dunn Wednesday where scouts from the 4 counties in this district gathered for an all-day celebration. Speeches by prominent men in scout circles and a baseball game between Hermleigh and Ira featured the program.

Six yearlings barbecued and other foods prepared by the ladies of the Dunn community furnished the free eats for the hundreds of people who attended the picnic.

Among the prominent men interested in the scouting movement present were Rev. G. H. Brown, Scoutmaster; Brewer Palmer, assistant Scoutmaster; J. C. Beakley, member of the Boy Scout Council of this district; W. S. Barcus, Scout Executive for the district composed of Mitchell, Scurry, Fisher and Nalon Counties, and Rev. W. M. Elliott, Scoutmaster of the Colorado troop, and president of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts.

The speech of Rev. Elliott featured the day. He told of the advancement of the scout work, and stressed the fact that some of the greatest men in the United States were actively behind the movement. He referred especially to Mortimer Schiff of New York who last year gave $72,000 for field work in the Boy Scout movement, and devotes much time and money to the movement; and to Colin H. Livingston, National President of the Boy Scouts, who devotes the greatest part of his time to the work and contributes several thousand dollars a year to the Boy Scouts of America.

Elliott pointed out that such men as these, hundreds of them, are devoting time and money to the movement because the principal aim of the program is to develop character and citizenship in boys.

Elliott was introduced by W. S. Barcus, Scout Executive, and in his speech, Barcus gave recognition to the army of volunteer workers who were devoting time and energy to help boys through the Boy Scout program, with no reward except the satisfaction of service.

The purpose of the picnic was to raise money to defray expenses of the Dunn troop on the annual encampment of the scouts of the Buffalo Trail district at Sterling City. This camp will be held from August 12 to 22 and many Scouts from Sweetwater are planning to go.—Sweetwater Daily Reporter.

J. W. Stinson and daughter of Abilene spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rodgers.

I wish to take this method of asking you for your support on next Saturday. I am in the race for County Superintendent of your county as you doubtless know and tried to see each of you personally, but it is impossible to see all of you in a county of this size.

I was in the race two years ago if you remember—Mr. Guy Casey, Miss Squyres and me. I was in the run-off with Miss Squyres, and decided that as she had only been in office one term I would not run it off. I withdrew and announced through the paper that I would be in the race at this time. I am in the race, and ask you to earnestly consider me when you cast your vote.

As to my qualifications I have taught eight years in the small town and rural schools of your county. Two years as principal at Little Sulphur, four at China Grove and two as superintendent at Hermleigh. I have never taught a school where I could not go back as long as I liked. I have a first grade certificate and my work has amply qualified me for the office to which I aspire.

We need men as superintendents and principals of our schools and I believe we need a man as superintendent of all our schools in the county or as county superintendent.

If elected I assure you that I will serve you with every ounce of energy in me and strive for better schools and an equal chance for every child whether he lives in the city or in the rural districts.

I wish to thank you for the courtesy shown me in this campaign and assure you that, win or lose, I am,

Your friend,

A. A. Pat Bullock
