How to play Bridge AUCTION or CONTRACT by Wynne Ferguson

ARTICLE No. 4

Here are three hands that were played the other evening at one of the New York Clubs, and each one of them caused considerable discussion and difference of opinion:

Hand No. 1

Y: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z

Z: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z

Hearts—K, 7, 5
Clubs—A, 10, 8, 5, 3
Diamonds—K, Q, 4
Spades—A, K

AUCTION BIDDING:
No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. If A passed, Y bid two hearts and B passed, what should Z do? This is a very close question, but the writer would prefer to try for game at no trump rather than hearts. For that reason, the writer considers two no trumps as the proper bid.

CONTRACT BIDDING:
This hand is a good illustration of the original "two bid" at Contract. With any hand containing at least four and one-half quick tricks, an original "two bid" is justified. In no other way can a player show his partner the type of hand held. Partner should bid his longest suit if it has any top card strength, or three no trumps, if he has at least one trick. Z should, therefore, bid two no trumps; A will pass and Y will bid three hearts. B will pass and Z should now bid four hearts. The bidding at Contract will thus arrive at a different bid than at Auction.

Hand No. 2

Y: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z

CONTRACT BIDDING:
Z should pass. A passes and Y bids one spade. If B passes, Z should bid one no trump. If Y now bids two spades, Z should bid four spades. If Y bids two no trumps, Z should bid three no trumps.

Hand No. 3

Y: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z

Z: A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z

Hearts—J, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—7, 5
Diamonds—A, Q, 6, 3
Spades—Q, J, 7

AUCTION BIDDING:

CONTRACT BIDDING:
Z should pass. A passes and Y bids one spade. If B passes, Z should bid one no trump. If Y now bids two spades, Z should bid four spades. If Y bids two no trumps, Z should bid three no trumps.

Solution to Problem No. 1

Hearts—J
Clubs—9, 8, 6, 5
Diamonds—none
Spades—J, 10, 6

Hearts—7
Clubs—Q, 7, 3
Diamonds—J, 8, 5
Spades—9

Hearts are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win seven of the eight tricks against any defense?

Solution: Trick one: Z should lead the king of clubs. Trick two: Z should lead the seven of spades and win the trick in Y's hand with the jack. Trick three: Y should lead the jack of hearts, on which Z should discard the queen of spades. Trick four: Y should lead the ten of spades, on which B should discard a low club and Z a low diamond. Trick five: Y should lead the six of spades and A is thus forced in the lead. B is forced to discard. He cannot discard a diamond or all of Z's diamonds are good for A must lead diamonds at the sixth trick. B is forced, therefore, to discard the queen of clubs. Z should then discard a low diamond and must win the next three tricks with the ten of clubs and two good diamonds.

If A plays the eight of spades on the first round of spades so that he cannot be forced in the lead at the fifth trick, Y should make the third spade and then force B in the lead with the queen of clubs. B must then lead away from his diamond tenace and Z will win the next two tricks.

Gas—CHEAPEST-CLEANEST-QUICKEST FUEL FOR COOKING

Just think, if there are three members in your family it costs you only one penny to cook breakfast... one penny to cook lunch... and one penny to cook dinner with natural gas. A grand total of three pennies a day. Natural gas is by far the cheapest fuel you can use for cooking. And it is quick. You never have to wait, even a fraction of a second, for your gas flame to get hot. Natural gas is clean, too. There is neither soot nor odoriferous fumes to pervade your house.

And have you seen the new gas ranges? They have made so many wonderful new improvements on them. The heat control dial has been simplified and yes it is more selective than ever before. Now you can prepare your whole meal in these new heat controlled ovens. Their walls are so heavily insulated that not a particle of heat can escape. Manifolds are now concealed and you know that means less cleaning. Enamel broilers, made double and smokeless, glide out on ball bearings, and spark levers light burners safely. These new gas ranges are marvels of efficient economy and have captivated women everywhere. Your local gas company and gas appliance retailers have many beautiful new models on display. Go in today.

King of Stallions Captured Recently

The king of the stallions, the last of the wild horses in western Texas, had a rope around his neck this morning for the first time in his fifteen years of life.

The giant bay, the only animal in the 120-section pasture of J. H. Tippett in Culberson county, at the foot of El Captain Mountain, the highest peak in Texas, gave up yesterday after five cowboys had trailed him in relays for three days and three nights. They never stopped. Sometimes they rode hard and sometimes they took it easy, but they got him.

The first time he was roped, he bit the rope in two parts, but the second time that it looped around his neck he gave up after a struggle that covered half the mountain side.

He is now in captivity, with his long mane and tail teeth about an inch and a half long. For many months the cowboys on the ranch had attempted his capture but it was only yesterday that the big fellow gave in and felt the restraints of man. J. H. Tippett, owner of the ranch and of rich oil production in the Yates oil field, had chased the horse many times.—San Angelo Times Standard.

FIRST SANTA LETTER

Plains, Texas, Nov. 17, 1930. Dear Santa: I am going to put some candy on the table for you when you come. So don't forget where I live. And when you come be sure to bring me a doll with long hair and curls, car, table, chairs, rocking chair, knives, forks, and spoons. I surely will thank you, and I'm trying my best to be a good girl.

Very truly yours,
Zada Bea Meyers.

Editor Note:—Santa Claus letters are always welcome at the Times-Signal and if parents will notify their children to take care of this detail at once, we shall be most happy to print the letters and send them on to the North Pole where Santa Claus can have plenty of time to read them.

SURPRISE FRIENDS
Mark Johnson, popular and accommodating helper at the Highway Garage surprised his many friends, Saturday night, by being married at Sweetwater. The couple returned here Monday morning and plans now in the making by the fire boys calls for a real old-fashioned "bell-ing" to be given Mark very soon.

HOLIDAY APPEARANCE
Snyder stores are starting to take on the Christmas tinge with interior decorations starting, and large boxes of gifts being received every day. Santa Claus will surely come to Snyder.

Can We Expect A Revival Meeting

(To be read 2 column head)

There was once a man who believed a revival was needed. He stood high in the court of the greatest empire of his day, Persia. He was a Hebrew, and had learned that the walls of God's city Jerusalem were broken down, the gates burned with fire, and the Jews who had returned there from the Babylonian captivity in great affliction and reproach. He believed in God, and he loved his people. The story of what followed is told in the book of Nehemiah. Nehemiah, cupbearer to King Artaxerxes, was the man who dared to hope for a revival. Nothing could have seemed less likely just then. But it came, in the face of darkness, discouragement and attacks of the most determined and desperate sort.

If there was to be a spiritual revival of God's people Israel, there must be a revival of wall-building also, so that Jerusalem might be honorable instead of a public dishonor in the land. Nehemiah was both spiritual and practical—neither of these can really exist without the other. After he had secured the royal authority for his work in Jerusalem, and systematic plans for rebuilding the wall of the Holy City had begun, an enemy made an attack upon the government. Sanballat, influential Samaritan, prompted perhaps by political motives, ridiculed Nehemiah and his fellow-workers. "What do these feeble Jews?" he exclaimed. "Will they sacrifice? Will they make an end in a day? Will they revive the stones out of the heaps of the rubbish which are burned?" Another enemy allied with Sanballat predicted with sarcasm: "Even that which they build, if a fox go up, he shall even break down their stone wall."

But Nehemiah's work went straight forward; the walls of Jerusalem were rebuilt; and one of the great revivals of history followed as God's people turned to the reading of His Word and the doing of His will.

Here is a lesson in revival that God's people need to take to heart today, when revival is sorely needed again. Revivals usually come to pass in the face of intense opposition, and in times of great darkness and declension. No intelligent observer can doubt that we are in such times today. Determined attacks are being made on the Word of God and the Gospel of Jesus Christ and the true Christian Faith. Immorality is on every hand. Open atheism flourishes. Materialism grips the hearts of men. All these conditions make a call to revival.

Nehemiah's first move toward revival was significant. When he learned of the dire distress of the people of Jerusalem, he said; "I sat down and wept, and mourned certain days, and fasted, and prayed before the God of Heaven."

His very prayer was the sure pathway to revival. It began with worship of God "that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that love Him and observe His commandments;" and at once it went on to confession of sin. Then Nehemiah boldly reminded God of the divine promise to forgive and to restore of confession was made. God heard and honored that prayer.

Revival has never come in any other way; but it has come over and over again in times of darkness and need, in just that way. There is a passage of Scripture that may well be used in prayer for revival today: "When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him."

The enemy is coming in like a flood today, not only in Soviet Russia, not only in war-torn China, but also in every favored land where Christianity is a glorious reality—and where also the working of the powers of evil is a dread reality.

Not only are there plenty of dark signs that a revival is needed; there are also many bright signs of its coming. For almost a score of years many individuals and groups of Christian people have been praying persistently for revival. The Great Commission Prayer League of Chicago has been used of God to stir up people to prevailing prayer. At its world-wide call many Watch-Night meetings of prayer for revival were held as the old year died and the new year was born. Those who are in touch with the prayer life of the Church are continually receiving news of intense, persistent prayer in Europe, in Asia, in Canada and the United States, in South America, in Africa, that God's people are pleading for a Heaven-born, Heaven-sent revival.

In parts of the world where, humanly speaking, there is reason for the greatest discouragement, there are also brightest signs of coming revival. Russia is one of the parts. In spite of—or shall we say because of?—the devilish and official activity against all true religious life, and indeed against God Himself and His only Son, heart-hungry people are turning to God in their tragic need and are finding salvation through Christ as Savior. Revivals have broken out in various parts of China since—and because of—the political turmoil and tragedy of that land. The Jews everywhere are showing a readiness to consider the Messianic claims of Christ such as they have never manifested since they cried out to Pilate, "Crucify Him."

The distribution of the life-giving Word of God is going on in a way known to no other literature. China was sown with a million Testaments not long ago, and now the Million Testaments Campaign for Latin-American Lands is under way. The various Bible societies in a recent twelve months circulated 36,500,000 copies of the Scriptures, which means an average of about 70 per minute night and day. The Canadian Sunday School Mission, of Winnipeg, is doing a revival work by its campaign for the children, as is the Canadian Christian Crusade in meeting the attacks of atheism.

Yes, we can expect a revival. But our expectation must be from God; only He can send it.—Toronto Canada Globe.

Minister, 101 Becomes Elder At Sweetwater

His 101 years proved no bar to the Rev. T. A. Boycan, who was recognized a local elder of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at Sweetwater, Friday. "If I become too old for the Lord to use me, I'll not be a burden to the church," was the centenarian's promise in accepting the eldership.

The Rev. Mr. Boycan, a native of Belfast, Ireland, comes to the Methodist church from the ministry of the general Baptist church, which has no organization in this section.

He was received into the Methodist membership by Rev. L. A. Webb of Lamesa last spring, and credentials of Boycan, dated May 17 1930, are signed by Bishop John M. Moore, formerly presiding officer of the Northwest Texas conference in session here. Boycan, who preaches two and three times each Sunday in and near Lamesa, was unable to attend conference. He was educated to be a Catholic priest and speaks Latin, Greek, Hebrew and English.—Abilene Reporter-News.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Okla.

Frederick B. Patterson, President of The National Cash Register Company, says:

"Business always is looking for the unusual man—the man who does the unusual thing under unusual circumstances. It is not so difficult to pick a man who stands out when conditions are good, but it is an entirely different thing to make a selection of a man who rises above bad times. Business wants men who think for themselves; who are a jump ahead of the crowd. It seems to me that we have passed into a new era of business in the world. In the course of a changing condition business needs men who have been thinking in terms of precisely such situations as we face at this moment. Successful business is a question of having thinking men at the helm.

"The unusual man, in good times, is far seeing. He observes the trend of things the world over. He is both a student of men and a student of conditions. I do not mean that he should have been able to put his finger exactly on the date when the pendulum began to swing away from our accustomed prosperous conditions. But he should know that things were in a course of change, and in good times he was building a structure that could weather the winds of adversity that blow in so-called bad times.

"Business men want men of this calibre—creators of principles that will fit the new order. And it is not so easy to find men of this type, because humanity, after all, follows along pretty much the same course of thinking in commerce and industry. In days of prosperity it takes as level headed a man to keep the ship of trade on an even keel as it does to ride out a storm of depression. This seems to be a pretty hard lesson to learn, but until we learn it we shall go on meeting new world conditions by applying old principles and traditions. The unusual man will be able to match his wits against constantly changing conditions and keep himself poised and balanced."

WORKING FOR IMPROVED TEXAS TURKEY MARKET

College Station—How to feed and fit turkeys to meet the United States grades which will be used in buying and selling at many Texas points this year is the object of a series of one-day turkey schools for farmers, inaugurated recently by the A. & M. College Extension Service thru county and home demonstration agents in cooperation with local dealers and cooperative associations. Beginning in South Texas with Cuero as the starting point, Paul A. Gonyus, assistant Extension poultry husbandman, and H. L. Shrader, Extension poultryman, United States Department of Agriculture, are helping local Extension agents in drilling turkey raisers in the essential points in the new grading system outlined at the recent Southwest Turkey Grading School at San Angelo. Farmers are told that because turkeys wait until real cold weather to put on fat and to mature their feathers, it is very hard to produce high grade Texas turkeys for the Thanksgiving market. Lack of finish and excessive pin feathers cause the early season Texas product to sell at a disadvantage many times. Furthermore, it is pointed out that in seven out of ten years the Christmas market. Systematic feeding the Thanksgiving market, and that half the time the January market is equal to or better than the Christmas market. Systematic feeding and watering during several weeks of cool weather prior to selling is recommended to producers as a means of making turkeys take the prime choice grades which top the market.

Other important factors lowering the grade of Texas turkeys are careless handling, poor bleeding, and late forced feeding, farmers are shown in these schools. Tying wings or feet, loading in shallow coops, or any kind of rough handling from farm to market or in the dressing plant will produce bruises which materially reduce the grade. Feed

BIGGER AND BETTER

PRESENTING THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the smart, graceful, new bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. In fact, wherever finer materials and more advanced design could add to Chevrolet quality or increase Chevrolet's traditional economy of ownership—improvement has been made. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!

PROHIBITION Last week I was, and until this week have been, what is termed an anti-prohibitionist.

While I acceded readily enough to suppression of the saloon and of drunkenness, I resented the provisions of legislation which took from me what I considered to be personal rights and privileges.

With the last week, however, a fundamental change has been wrought in my attitude upon the prohibition controversy.

I am sick and tired of reading newspaper reports of orders, dictated to the people of a great American city by an illiterate captain of "beer-craziness" proscribing the sale or purchase of products deemed by him to interfere with the profits of an illicit monopoly.

These occurrences evidence a rotten condition, conducive to disrespect for all law, either statute or moral. It leads into high places, and writes a question mark across the vaunted integrity of our courts and our congress.

Organized crime—conceived in the determination, and nurtured in popular willingness, that the eighteenth amendment be nullified—so brazen and powerful as to challenge the government of the smallest portion of these United States, deserves immediate and merciless extermination.

ADVERTISING

That crust of severe dignity which enshrouds the Beaumont Journal was sufficiently thawed Wednesday to permit the printing of one of the best among recent examples of newspaper humor.

According to that Texas paper, California, fearing the achievements and progress of Texas would focus the attention of the world upon this section, pulled off a train robbery.

Seriously, Texas could learn a lot about the advantages of publicity from the native sons of the Pacific's favorite shore.

Texas has the resources, the climate, the scenery—everything necessary for duplicating, and even improving upon, California's notable advertising triumphs.

Wherefore, in addition to a good five-cent cigar, Texas needs a salesman capable of selling Texas upon the worth of the modern worker of miracles, advertising—Editorials of Month.

Hon. A. R. F. Webber, Editor of the Georgetown (British Guiana) Daily Chronicle, says:

THAT in a world more or less glutted with over-production of nearly every commodity, or, as Arthur J. Cook, the noted English socialist and labor leader, puts it, over-production, it is a comfort to turn to one country which produces two commodities in which there is neither over-production nor under-consumption.

A real test of a woman's ingenuity and good taste comes when she tries to group different periods together in her rooming in her rooming. This eminently good is now the most approved method of interior decoration.

It might appear to some that reference is often made in this column to lines of business in a way that could appear as a boost for that business.

I am against anything, whether a business, an idea or anything else, that will retard the growth, progress and prosperity of a community.

Why I know not, but it appears that the average merchant thinks that when he "gives an ad" to a paper that he is doing the newspaper a favor.

Now, more than ever before, will it pay you to read the advertising in your paper. Look at this advertisement as informative-giving you information on which YOU can make money.

Don't be misled. Newspaper advertising favors YOU. Newspaper advertising PAYS—it pays the newspaper, it pays the merchant, and above all it pays you.

UNEMPLOYMENT IT'S PRIMARY CAUSES AND REMEDY

By Jas. H. Tate

Mentone, Calif., Nov. 13, 1930. Editors Times-Signal, Snyder, Texas.

Dear Sirs: I have a message which I have conceived to believe is worthy of the careful consideration of many people—especially so just now when millions of people, out of work, tramp the streets of our American cities, and multiplied thousands of families are starting into winter facing the most dire privation and, unless aided, possibly starvation. In view of these facts, I confess that my subject is a serious one.

But before going further, I wish to digress long enough to say that in my humble judgement, the article under the caption—"When will prosperity return?"—published in your excellent paper of November 6,—the same being copied from Temple Telegram of October 20,—is a most timely and worth-while article; one which if its truths should be put into practice by all, or even a liberal majority, of our people would indeed go far towards relieving much embarrassment, build up personal character and contribute largely to the stabilization of general business. The author has made a timely contribution to the press and the Times-Signal has rendered a most valuable and constructive service in republishing said article. I wish it might be published and republished until we all learn our lesson.

Back to my subject,—Unemployment, its Causes and Remedy. It may be remembered that I touched upon this subject in a letter to this paper some months ago. In that letter (among other causes of unemployment mentioned) was the extensive use of modern labor-saving machinery. No argument is necessary on this point; for any one can readily see that labor-saving machines are displacing multiplied thousands of wage-earners. We are all proud of our marvelous machines and most of us are using some of them. Then who is to blame? No one, of course.

This is simply a condition that has gradually evolved among us; and it is here not only to stay but to increase.

But here is another and, perhaps, equally serious condition—one which I have not heard mentioned in connection with the unemployment situation; and yet it is one of the basic causes of the present alarming situation. It is the constant migration of our people from the country to the town and city. During the last forty or fifty years there has been a growing feeling of dissatisfaction and consequent unrest out in the open, quiet country-side. During the last twenty-five years, especially, there has been an ever increasing flow of the rural population to the towns and cities. This toward movement of our people has continued and increased until the present when MORE than half the entire population of the U. S. reside in towns of 2500 people and upwards. Note the fact that villages, having fewer than 2500 people, are not included in this count. If villages of, say, 1000 up to 2400 people were taken into account, we would probably find eighty percent of our people living in places of 1000 population and upwards. Possibly 25 percent of this total may be offset by those people who reside in the towns but who operate farms and ranches in the country; but, even so, the fact remains that more than half our people earn their living in the towns and cities; and this means that a large percent of the people who once made their living in the country are now depending on town "jobs" for a livelihood. The result is, there are entirely too many people depending on jobs. However, worthy and honorable the jobs may be (and they are both worthy and necessary) there are not enough and can not be enough, on the average of these jobs to go around; and still the influx to the towns shows little or no sign of abatement, and this in spite of the fact that many city wage-earners, as they come to more mature years and are facing approaching physical disability, are longing for a little quiet country home where they can grow their living and have a day off, when it is needed; and where there will and where, in case of unemployment, the bills will not pile up so rapidly; for,

With every good wish, I am,
Most Cordially,
JAS. H. TATE.

WHO WAS IT?

Some one called the Times-Signal Tuesday morning, stating they would bring in a Thanksgiving turkey but connections were broken before full information could be secured. Whoever this was, will be conferring a wonderful and appreciative favor to the folks who operate the paper. That sure was "muffing" a fast ball and really was a terrible social blunder on our part but when the phone connections went "bluey" we went "bluey" too, insofar as getting all the things we wanted to know.

STATE RURAL SCHOOL SUPERVISOR HERE

Up to Tuesday afternoon every school examined in the county had been granted the money limit under the law.

PANTRY ADDS TO HOMES OF COUNTY

The Home Demonstration Pantry boosters for Scurry County gave two days to real demonstrations last week-end, with Mrs. H. B. Patterson and Mrs. L. P. Smith being points that were visited by large groups.

Mrs. H. B. Patterson told a Times-Signal reporter in her home, Thursday night, that with her pantry in action, she could prepare a well-balanced meal in 25 minutes. This is Mrs. Patterson's first year in club work and she enjoyed the work very much. The entire cost of lumber for eight shelves, 7 feet high, was $3.50 and according to Jessie Lee Davis, Mrs. Patterson's is a most complete pantry that would do credit to any home.

Friday afternoon, a large group went to the home of Mrs. L. P. Smith whose success in pantry and demonstration work is widely known.

The Seifert-Dibble Blackburn No. 1 well topped the salt at 720 feet. That's fine.

"I'm A Producer And A Shareholder In The Swift Family"

- "You can't blame me if I take more than an ordinary interest in the affairs of Swift & Company. I'm interested in two ways. First—as a producer. Second—as one of 45,000 shareholders."
- "I'm glad to belong to this big family. And if you'd ask me to sum up why, I think I'd say—
- 1—Swift & Company is one of the most efficient organizations in America. Only an exceptionally well run concern could possibly thrive on an average margin of less than 2 cents on every dollar of sales.
- 2—As a producer I receive the going market price for the best butterfat, eggs and poultry I can deliver. Swift's nation-wide distribution, because of their 600 car routes and 400 branch houses, assures me of an ever ready market. I am not subject to local glut or shortages.
- 3—Swift & Company employs 58,000 people who receive just wages. These employees live in the communities where they work. Many of them are our own neighbors. They spend their money with our merchants, build their homes here, pay taxes like you and me. They contribute to the well being of this town.
- 4—As one of 45,000 shareholders, I receive a return on my investment.
- "You can see that there are many benefits in having contact with Swift & Company. I'll keep on taking my butterfat, eggs and poultry to the nearest produce plant. The more I raise, the more I make. No wonder I'm glad to be in the Swift family."

Felt Bad After Eating

"BEFORE I started taking Black-Draught, three years ago, my health was very bad," writes Mrs. C. C. Carson, 945 Concord St., Beaumont, Texas. "I suffered constantly from constipation. I had headache when I got up in the morning, and I felt dull and sluggish. I hardly ate a meal that my food agreed with me. Frequently I would have gas on my stomach, and felt awful."

"I read about Black-Draught, and I thought it might help me. After I had taken it a little while, I felt much better. It relieves constipation. I keep it on hand so when I need a laxative I will have it. In the three years I have been taking it, I have never found anything as good for constipation."
