

SCURRYLY SPEAKING

There is but one positive element in newspaper success or failure in all fields, under all conditions: The man or men who run the newspaper either make it or break it.—Houston Harbo.

BY JAKE.

THIS WEEK I shall write concerning the annual meeting of the Texas Press Association at San Angelo. Vital problems that concern each of us will be discussed, and personal observations that may concern you will be touched. You read at your own risk.

Frankly, the most memorable part of the trip was San Angelo, and not the convention to which it was host. Reflecting the spirit of the old West as probably no other city of more than 25,000 now does, the sheep and oil center of West Texas gives one an impression of future greatness and beauty.

San Angelo is not a diamond in the rough, by any means. Rather, it is a city almost perfectly hewn, and placed on the banks of three soft-moving streams.

One can go to San Angelo for business or for pleasure, for fishing or merely for vacationing; for curiosity or for downright interest's sake. In any case, the little city makes an impression with its wide streets, its beautiful homes, and lawns, its hospitality and its air of futurity. If you have never been there for any purpose, you have not seen the end of the West Texas rainbow.

FROM the very beginning our stay in San Angelo was destined to be pleasant. A pair of orioles greeted us from the mesquite that shadowed our cabin in the tourist camp. A climbing rose bush sheltered us from the sun's rays, and a cool breeze drifted in from the South Concho.

The grace created by these natural phenomena was almost sufficient to last throughout the convention. In the lobby of the hotel I found some of my "bosons" of a few years ago. They made me glad that I found the newspaper game to my liking. They made me remember that my "devilings" days had not passed yet, and that there is much to be learned about the nature of men and newspapers.

Little men were there, and big men. The little men as a rule, acted as if they were big men; and the big men acted as if they were little men.

In the end, the loud voices and the time-wasting orations gave way to the silent thinker and the hard-working committees. So the convention was a publishers' dream.

Many brilliant ideas were suggested at the convention. Some of them, if carried out, might solve our economic problems. Some of them were true, and almost disgusting in their own leader's disguise.

THE "Build Texas" theme of the three-day program, was followed part of the way. But, except in a few mountain-top resolutions and speeches, the theme seemed to be "Build my newspaper, build Texas, build my country."

If the Legislature had passed the bill that would have given Texas newspapers a deserved new source of revenue from legal publications, I verily believe that nine-tenths of the publishers in San Angelo last week would have lauded the lawmakers for their statesmanship.

Instead of looking toward the ultimate betterment of the state and of their country, publishers, who, most of the publishers, seemed to be interested first in increasing new sources of revenue for their papers.

Many of my newspaper friends will say that a newspaper must create its own prosperity before it can hope to be of much service to its community. My reply is that a newspaper must be of definite service to its community before it can hope to create its own prosperity.

Most of the publishers seem to follow the line of least resistance; to keep at peace with the world, no matter what the cost may be to their consciences; to print soft-soap editorials and news, never tromping on the toes of those who are enemies to their communities; to give the man with a fat pocketbook plenty of publicity and to give Mr. Ordinary Citizen no more than a line or type.

IT IS EASY, you see, to give a few of my friends the black eye after I get home. Down there at Angelo, I kept my mouth shut—and followed the line of least resistance, I guess.

Commissioners Court Explains Cutting of Agents' Salaries

SAYS GENERAL FUND NOT ABLE TO BEAR DRAIN

"Scurry County's Expenses Must Be Brought Within Its Income, Or Disaster Awaits."

Upon request of The Times, the Commissioners' Court has presented the following explanation of its recent action in discontinuing the county agents' salaries:

Gentlemen: Complying with your request that the county Commissioners' Court make a statement showing the reasons the court has for discontinuing the payment of the county's part of the monthly salary of the county agent and the county home demonstration agent, we will say that the county is no longer able to pay said salaries; in fact, has not been able to pay the salaries for the last several years.

These salaries must be paid out of the general fund of the county. The general fund is now about $75,000.00 and lacks that much of being out of debt. The annual income to the credit of the general fund when taxes are well paid up is about $17,000, which you see shows that the county would require more than four year's taxes to pay what the general fund owes. If nothing were spent. However, to make the situation more tolerable, the court has heretofore refunded $60,000 of this indebtedness, and has put it into refunding warrants that are payable serially in from 30 to 30 years and bear six per cent annual interest.

This general fund indebtedness of $75,000 has accrued over a period of the last 10 or 12 years; that is, during the last 10 or 12 years the county has spent each year, on an average, $7,000 or $8,000 more against its general fund than the income to that fund has amounted to. The limit has been reached. The county commissioners and being the expenses of the general fund within the amount received for that fund if possible and it cannot possibly be done if the county continues to pay $3,000 or any smaller sum salary for the county agent and the county home demonstration agent.

Anyone knows that if a county or an individual continues from year to year spending more than the income amount to, that sooner or later the county or individual is bankrupt. The things we would like to have but cannot afford to buy will just have to be left off, and Scurry County's expenses will have to be brought within its income, or disaster awaits the county's finances.

Mrs. W. J. Galloway Dies at Union Home
Mrs. W. J. Galloway, 45, died Sunday morning at her home in the Union community. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Union Baptist church, with Rev. E. B. Hester officiating, and the Odum Funeral Home in charge. Interment was in the Dunn Cemetery.

Kruse No. 1 Waiting For Eight-Inch Pipe
Standing at a depth of 1,260 feet, the Kruse No. 1 oil test near Ira was reported early this week to be waiting for a new supply of eight-inch castings before resuming drilling.

The deep test, the third to be spudded in the Ira country within a little more than a year, was begun several weeks ago.

R. L. Swint, 65, Loses Fight For Life Last Week

After hanging onto the last life threads for many days of suffering, R. L. Swint, 65, farmer in the Crowder community, died at his home Thursday morning of last week, at 9:30 o'clock.

The well known leader in his community leaves his wife, four sons and two daughters.

Rev. J. W. McGaha conducted the services Thursday afternoon at the Odum Funeral Home. Interment was in the Snyder cemetery. Pallbearers were Edgar Eades, Arthur Black, Clarence Rowell, Mr. Rollins, Jack Ramsey and Elmer Bentley. Flower girls were Misses Laura Rollins, Edgar Eades, Lollie Mae Ramsey.

DUNN NOTIFIED OF NEW CREDIT

Dunn has the second rural high school in Scurry County to be given enough affiliation for state college entrance.

Superintendent W. C. Hooks learned last week from the State Department of Education that his school had been awarded a third credit in English, bringing the total in all subjects to 18.

Under the leadership of Superintendent Hooks, the school has risen to a high place in the rural high school list in only three years. Two years ago the school was given 19 credits, and last year the total was increased to 14.

The Dunn school has persistently placed high in the Interscholastic League literary events, both her boys and girls' debate teams winning first places in the county this year, in addition to places won by other entries. The choice faculty from year to year, plus the largeness of the board of trustees, have been of great help to the superintendent.

High Water Maroons Scurry County Folks
The heavy clouds that hovered north and west of Snyder Sunday afternoon, and brought light rains to a corner of Scurry County, left a cloudburst in Garza and a part of Lubbock County. The young flood swept the first bridge south of Post completely away, leaving hundreds of cars marooned on both sides of the stream.

Among those marooned were S. T. Elza and family, A. E. Duff and family, John Stavelly and family of Fluvanna, and Joe Drinkard and family who live just east of Snyder. Some of the cars waited for several hours.

Inspector for Dairies Visits
Inspection of local dairies was completed Tuesday by M. Pierson of the state department. He was accompanied by T. G. Ferguson of Corpus Christi, dairy inspector of the coast city, who is making a survey of West Texas dairy conditions.

No report has been made by the inspector, but word from T. J. Ward, district sanitarian, who has been working in Scurry County for some time, indicates that the local plants are in excellent condition. Ward is high in his compliments for sanitary conditions in Snyder, especially citing the pit toilet system and movement and the full cooperation of the City Council in passing and enforcing sanitary ordinances.

YOUTH KILLED WHEN HE FALLS FROM WAGON YESTERDAY; FATHER INJURED

MONDAY NIGHT FIRE SMASHES LOCAL RECORD

The fire demon blew his destructive breath into Snyder Monday night, after an 84-day vacation. When lightning struck the Edward Thompson place on the outskirts of Southeast Snyder Monday night at 10:30 o'clock, the end of what local officials believe to be a state fire record was broken. The fire was the first since March 22, 1929, when a fire broke out in Snyder.

Only two alarms were sounded in Snyder, in February, and only two in January. None of the four resulted in heavy losses. Far from a fire plug, the house became a mass of ash, even though firemen attempted to stop the flames from the big engine's boiler tank. The fire began just as the heaviest rain of the month started, but the downpour had little effect on the flames, which had gutted the inside of the building before they broke out.

The Thompsons were visiting in Abilene when the fire occurred. No one was in the house. Insurance on the house totaled $1,500 and on the furniture, $800.

INSPECTOR FOR DAIRIES VISITS

Inspection of local dairies was completed Tuesday by M. Pierson of the state department. He was accompanied by T. G. Ferguson of Corpus Christi, dairy inspector of the coast city, who is making a survey of West Texas dairy conditions.

No report has been made by the inspector, but word from T. J. Ward, district sanitarian, who has been working in Scurry County for some time, indicates that the local plants are in excellent condition. Ward is high in his compliments for sanitary conditions in Snyder, especially citing the pit toilet system and movement and the full cooperation of the City Council in passing and enforcing sanitary ordinances.

Nine-year-old Clifford Madding was romping and playing yesterday morning, a boy among boys. At 5:00 o'clock he was dead, victim of an accident that came like a bolt of lightning.

Thrown from a wagon filled with oat hay, on which he was riding with his father, J. P. Madding, and two of his sisters, Clifford was instantly killed. The accident occurred when the front end-gates of the heavily loaded wagon broke as a ditch between the field and road was being crossed. The child was thrown head forward, and it is believed that the wagon wheels struck him.

The tragedy took place on the W. C. Wennigsen place, one and a half miles northeast of Snyder, where Madding is farming. The father and two girls, Lorene, 15, and Ruby, 12, were also thrown from the wagon, and Madding was painfully injured when the wagon ran across his legs as the mules, struck by the falling hay, attempted to run away. The girls were not injured.

Madding states that he held onto the reins and attempted to hold the mules in check not knowing that his leg had been seriously injured. After extricating himself, he rushed to the boy, but was too late to catch his last breath.

Clifford is survived by his parents, the two sisters who were on the wagon with him, an older brother, Elmer, of Breckenridge, and a younger sister, Mrs. J. E. Astin, also of Breckenridge.

City Cuts First of 1931 Alfalfa Crops

The first crop of alfalfa from the irrigated patch of six acres planted on the city farm, has been harvested with good results, says Mayor H. G. Towle. Plenty of weeds were in the batch, as expected, but the cutting was rank and rich, and promises plenty of future revenue.

The nine acres of irrigated cotton, as well as many more unirrigated acres planted to cotton and feed, are in good shape.

WHISKEY CASE TO BE TRIED BEFORE SMITH THIS WEEK

John Day and Bob White, indicted for manufacture of liquor in Borden county early in April, will be tried before Judge Fritz R. Smith at Gall Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

The two men were seized early on the morning of April 1, by Sheriff J. R. Jenkins of Borden County and two Howard County deputies, as they were allegedly running off liquor from a 65-gallon still 10 miles northeast of Gall. It was the largest whiskey-making apparatus ever captured in Borden county.

Several from Scurry County plan to attend the trial, as character witnesses and spectators.

More than 300 applications have already been filed for free vaccination against typhoid fever, smallpox and diphtheria, under the health drive sponsored by the national and state governments, according to a report made Wednesday afternoon by Chairman A. A. Bullock to other members of the central county committee.

It was impossible to set a definite date for giving the vaccinations, for the serums and vaccines are not yet on hand. Miss Catherine Vavra, the nurse who will assist physicians in this county, and T. J. Ward, district sanitarian, stated at the meeting Wednesday, however, that the medicines would arrive soon, and that every feature of the program should be ready.

Children and adults who wish to take advantage of this free service may yet send in applications to A. A. Bullock, Snyder, or to school trustees in any district, who are members of the sub-committees.

The sub-committees are asked to meet in the courthouse at 3:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon of next week. Plans for summer clean-up of pre-school children, and for completing rounding up of those who should be vaccinated, will be made, with Miss Vavra's assistance.

BOARD GRANTS GIRLS CREDITS FOR PROJECTS

Action Comes After Lone Fight at Austin by Superintendent of Scurry County Schools.

Another outstanding victory for the rural school child of Texas was won by Superintendent A. A. Bullock at Scurry County schools last Friday.

Four-H Club work done by high school girls working under a home demonstration agent authorized by the Extension Service of A. & M. College will be recognized in all Texas high schools, beginning with the next school year, as a result of Bullock's fight.

"Pat," as his thousands of friends have learned to know him, appeared single-handed before the state accrediting board at Austin last week, and then presented his plea before a special board committee, appointed by State Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs.

The board assured the local man, before he returned Friday evening, that the work would be recognized beginning with the September term of Texas schools.

Although not certain as to details of the new credits, Bullock states that two full credits for the four-year 4-H Club course will probably be given. Only girls in high school at the time of taking the courses will be given credit, and it is probable that the home economics teacher in each school will be asked to place her approval on the granting of such credits.

It was pointed out by a member of the state board who is familiar with the 4-H work that 95 per cent of the county home demonstration agents are fully as well fitted for these places, educationally and otherwise, as home economics teachers of the state.

Appeared Last Year. Failing to secure the help of other superintendents in this fight last year, Bullock appeared before the board single-handed, but was unsuccessful in getting action. He presented at that time, as an example of the 4-H Club work in Texas, the excellent records of Miss Jessie Lee Davis, Scurry County agent. Renewing the plea this year, again without the assistance of anyone outside the state board, the aggressive superintendent was successful.

Not only Scurry County, but all other counties of the state having home demonstration agents from the Extension Service, will be affected by this decision. If the recent action of the county Commissioners' Court in cutting both the county agents from their payroll is not annulled, this county probably will receive no benefit from the new granting of credits.

More definite word concerning the state instructions will no doubt be available next week.

M. E. Church Has Special Day For Fasting, Praying
Wednesday, set aside by bishops of the M. E. Church, South, as a special period of fasting and prayer, was observed at the local church by three special services. Rev. C. Wright, pastor, describes the day as one of the outstanding experiences in his Christian life.

The first service was from 6:00 to 7:00 o'clock in the morning, with the pastor in charge. Bible study, prayer and songs filled the hour.

The two-hour service beginning at 11:00 o'clock was led by O. P. Thrane, Mrs. D. P. Yoder, Mrs. John Whitmore and Mrs. R. H. Odum. In the evening, the service beginning at 8:00 o'clock was concluded with administration of the Lord's Supper.

SPOTTED RAIN HELPS COUNTY

Weather of every variety has come to Scurry County during the past eight days.

The most far-reaching cloud of all spat sand, wind, hail, rain and young colts early Monday night. Some sections received nice rains from the Sunday afternoon clouds, and the threatening skies of Wednesday afternoon left some precipitation in the south and southwest.

Some communities are suffering from lack of rain, but most of the county will be fairly comfortable if no good rains come before a week or ten days. Neither hail, insects nor wind have taken a heavy toll of the county's crops as a whole, and thousands of acres give promise of bumper yields.

Snyder's share of the rain Monday night was 40 of an inch. A few communities received more, most of them less. A small twister in town wrecked a small barn on Gay McGlaun's place, and did minor damage in the neighborhood.

Several outbuildings were reported overturned in other parts of the county. Hail damage was said to be heaviest from Strayhorn, toward Lloyd Mountain and Camp Springs, and in a small Ira area.

Golfers Lose to Texon Sunday by Count of 30 to 14

Although winning three out of eight individual matches from Texon golfers at Big Spring Sunday afternoon, the local team was defeated 30 to 14. The match completed one-half of the schedule planned for the Sand Belt Golf Association tournament for this spring and summer.

Earl Fish, No. 1 man for Snyder, won from R. Kelly, W. T. Raybon won from Harvey, and Ivan Dodson won from Wright. Texon won the following matches: P. Kelly from Wayne Boren, Isbell from C. Blackard, Perry from G. A. Hagan, Satterwhite from J. G. Hicks, Folk from A. R. Norred.

The next tournament match will be played against Colorado on the local course June 28.

Dunn Girl, 15, Dies Saturday Morning
Ola Faye Fuller, 15 years old, died early Saturday morning at the home of her parents near Dunn. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fuller; two brothers, Odell and W. J., and a number of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist Church at Dunn Sunday afternoon, by a former pastor, Rev. J. E. McDermitt, of Westbrook, assisted by Rev. A. W. Shewmake, her pastor, and Rev. T. L. Nipp of Fluvanna. Interment was in the Dunn cemetery.

Hermleigh Planning Real Clean-Up Soon
With Mayor W. W. Early at the helm, Hermleigh is planning a real clean-up campaign next week. Assisting the citizens of the town in laying plans for the work is T. J. Ward, district sanitarian, who states that Hermleigh will probably be one of the cleanest places in the state.

Plans are also being laid at Hermleigh for installation of pit toilets.

Boss Due Back Soon.
Boss Baze will be back in town this week-end, following an operation in the government hospital at El Paso recently, according to friends who visited him there a few days ago. The local cafe man is said to have improved rapidly since his experience.

CONSOLIDATED HIGH SCHOOLS IN THIS COUNTY

There is perhaps no county in Texas which has made greater progress in school growth during the last few years than has Scurry County under the leadership of Superintendent A. A. Bullock. A few of the Scurry County rural schools are presented in pictures.

- (1)—This is the grade school building in the Fluvanna group. This building and the high school building will accommodate 16 teachers.
- (2)—This is the Dunn rural high school building. This school is the center of another high school group that is only partially completed. Eight teachers are employed here, and under the supervision of W. C. Hooks, the superintendent, 15 units of affiliation have been secured during the past two years.
- (3)—This is the Hermleigh High School center. This is the oldest rural high school in the county and has 16 1/2 units of affiliation. Ten teachers are employed in the school. Superintendent E. E. Kerr is assisted by a corps of about 15 teachers. Industrial training for boys and girls is carried on here.
- (4)—This is the Ira rural high school composed of four districts. This group is complete and takes the place of one four-teacher school, one one-teacher school and two two-teacher schools. This school has nine teachers and offers the full four-year high school course and in addition industrial work for both boys and girls. The frame building to the right houses the industrial work rooms and the rear of the building houses the buses. Three buses, two regulars and one six-wheel bus, transport the children from the outlying part of the district. Elmer L. Taylor is superintendent.
- (5)—This is the Pyron rural high school. This school was originally a three-teacher school. At this time we have six teachers. This district is one of the high school groups as approved by the State Department of Education and is composed of practically all of four original districts, two two-teacher schools and two one-teacher schools. This school is doing ten grades of work with industrial work for both boys and girls. T. J. Bryant is superintendent.
- (6)—This is the Fluvanna rural high school building and faculty and five buses that are operated in the district. This group is complete, being made up of three one-teacher schools, one two-teacher school and one five-teacher school. Eleven teachers are employed in the school, along with a full-time teacher in expression and a music teacher. This is a four-year high school, the unit being completed last year. Classification has been obtained. E. O. Wedgeworth is superintendent.

Weather Wisdom

Morning fogs usually are allowed by fair weather.
Rain before seven, stop before eleven.
A rainbow at night—sailor's delight; rainbow in the morning—sailor's warning.
A hazy morning and the sun seen through a mist in blue sky brings a warm day.
Unusually strong perfume from flowers indicates rain.

Euzelian Class Families on Picnic.

Members of the Euzelian Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church were hostesses Thursday evening to a picnic for their families, given in the Winston pasture. The chief diversions were eating and the conducting of a kangaroo court.

Willing Workers at Canyon in Social.

The Willing Workers Club of the Canyon community met in the home of Mrs. R. E. Bratton June 2 for a business meeting, after which on June 4 we met in the home of Mrs. L. F. Sterling in a social gathering, given in honor of Rev. J. W. McGaha's wife's seventy-first birthday. A beautiful birthday cake was presented to Mrs. McGaha, with gifts from all who were present. We all love her as a mother, and hope to have her with us for years to come.

Baptist Women in Missionary Meeting.

Monthly missionary program of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church was held Monday afternoon at the church. Mrs. J. P. Morgan had charge of the program on "Youth and Christ's Program." The leader conducted the Bible study, followed by prayer by Mrs. G. B. Clark Sr. "Christ's Program Appeals to Youth" was discussed by Miss Alice E. Ross. Miss Laverne McFarland spoke on "Our Jewels and Flashing Oil Their Light." Mrs. Willard Jones and Miss McFarland sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Melvin Newton. A C. A. girl, Jeanie Lee Green, sang "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations." Mrs. Ollie Butler led the closing prayer.

How One Woman Loses 47 Pounds in Three Months

Mrs. S. A. Solomon of New Bern, N. C., lost 47 pounds in 3 months with Kruschen Salts. She reduced from 217 to 170 pounds. She feels much stronger, years younger and pains in sides, back and abdomen that bothered her for years are all gone. She says she not only feels better but looks better, as all her friends tell her.

Feels Years Younger

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the best good that is in it." A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Stinson Drug Company and drugists the world over. Take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast. Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.—The Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—your money back—adv.

4-H Club Work

Turner Club Meets Thursday. The Turner Home Demonstration Club met Thursday, June 1, at the Turner school house. An interesting program was rendered on "Children's Reading Hour."

Union Women Make Cheese. The Union ladies' Home Demonstration Club have been very active during the spring months. They report that the members of the club have made 150 pounds of cheese from one demonstration, which was at the home of Mrs. J. T. Biggs. In addition, cheese has been made by the women who do not belong to the club.

Union Girls Enjoy Picnic. The 4-H Club girls of Union community enjoyed a picnic on Sunday, June 7, on Turner Creek. The girls, with their sponsor, Mrs. Della McPherson, left immediately following the Sunday school services. After the girls had explored for awhile a delicious lunch, consisting of sandwiches, salads, chicken and ice cream, was enjoyed. The girls report lots of fun on the outing.

Plainview Club Meets Tuesday. The girls' 4-H Club of Plainview met Tuesday of last week at the school house, with only four girls present. This is just a small portion of the membership, and we are hoping that by next meeting time a good percentage will be present. Do your best to be there, girls. We don't want our club to die—and it depends on you.

Miss Davis discussed window draperies and taught those present some games. Each one gave a good report of her work.

Two new officers were elected: Imogene Brooks as reporter, and Quinta Mitchell as secretary.—Reporter.

Plainview Women Meet. The Woman's Home Demonstration Club meets Monday at the school house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenberg of Brownwood will make their home in Snyder beginning next week, according to their son, Nathan. They will live in Mrs. Zack Taylor's home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Williams and son, Elmer, accompanied by Miss Alma Casey, returned home Friday from a visit to Wichita Falls. They attended the wedding of H. V. Williams Jr. at Electra while away.

S. D. Hays and family have returned home from Fort Worth, where they attended the funeral of R. L. Hays, brother of Mrs. Hays. They also visited friends and relatives at Pecos, Lewisville and Lake Dallas.

Mrs. Fred Trice, who underwent an operation in the Lubbock Sanitarium last week, is recovering rapidly, according to her mother, Mrs. C. C. Head, who returned from the bedside Friday. Mrs. Trice's husband and father visited her Sunday.

Esrudoma Class Meets Wednesday.

The Esrudoma Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met Wednesday afternoon of last week in the home of Inez Hamlett. Ruby Daugherty and Inez Hamlett were joint hostesses.

Golden Wedding Celebration Held.

After fifty years of married life, Mr. and Mrs. James Cruickshank of Snyder are feeling as fit and optimistic as newlyweds, the group that helped the couple celebrate Wednesday found.

Miss Stokes Is Hostess at Bridge.

Miss Maurine Stokes was hostess Thursday evening of last week to a bridge party in the home of Mrs. Maurice Brownfield. A tempting ice course was served following several games of bridge.

Woodman Circle Meets.

4-H CLUB BOYS TO BE AWARDED ANNUAL PRIZES

Scurry County Members Have Won Several Times—Entered Again This Year in Contests.

Winners in 4-H Club boy contests in Texas this year will be the recipients of numerous awards, including 24 free trips to Chicago, Washington, Fort Worth and St. Louis, announcement by M. T. Payne, state boy club agent, extension service, Texas A. & M. College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, discloses.

Cash awards and in one contest a gold watch are among the prizes for which each of the 17,000 4-H Club boys in the state is eligible to compete. Seven business organizations are in the list of those offering prizes for the winners in the various crop and livestock contests which will be under the supervision of the county agents in the various counties.

Scurry County 4-H Club boys have won a number of prizes in this group in the past, and are to be entered in several events again this year. John Henry Trussell and Grady Wallace won trips to Chicago in 1929, and a number of Dallas and Fort Worth trips have been won each year. One gold medal was won last year, and three were awarded in 1929.

The Santa Fe Railroad system, continuing past awards, will give 19 prize trips to the International Exposition in Chicago in December to outstanding crop and livestock club boys in Texas counties touched by its lines. Armour & Company will again give a similar trip to the boy 14 years or older adjudged the best baby beef producer. Swift & Company will give the champion livestock club boy of Texas a trip to the Southwest Exposition & Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth.

For the sixth time, the Texas Bankers Association will give free trips to Washington to the two boys selected to represent Texas at the National 4-H Club encampment there next June. Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago, repeating awards of the past year to outstanding livestock club boys, will give a gold medal to county champions and a gold watch to the state champion, who will be eligible to enter sectional and national competition. Sectional winner will receive a trip to the International Exposition in Chicago and national champion and the two runners-up will receive $300, $200 and $100 scholarships, respectively.

The Dairy & Ice Cream Machinery & Supplies Association, New York, will give a free trip to the National Dairy Exposition, St. Louis, for the best story on "My Trip Through a Dairy Plant." First prize of $100 and second of $50 will be

Uncle Sam Says—

Many farmers are already beginning to repay the drought relief loans they obtained only a few months ago. In seven months of the current season the United Kingdom imported nearly 10,000,000 pounds more of prunes than for the first seven months of the previous season, most of the increase coming from the United States. Sales of timber from the national forests have been curtailed to help relieve depression in the lumber industry. Only about 500,000 out of the 23,500,000 cows in the country are on test for milk and butterfat production. The proportion is too small.

Publishers And Families Attend Three-Day Meet

Laying their pens and line gauges aside for a brief season, the Times publishers and their families took "turn-about" in attending the sessions of the annual Texas Press Association meeting at San Angelo Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones and son, June, with Mrs. H. L. Jones, were present Thursday, returning Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smyth attended Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

E. L. Scott, publisher of the De Leon Free Press, was elevated from the vice presidency to the presidency of the press group. Lowry Martin, Corsicana Sun advertising wizard, was made vice president. Other officers were re-elected. An executive board, composed of three weekly representatives, two daily representatives and one periodical representative, was created.

Resolutions read Saturday morning at the well attended business session by Peter Molyneux, publisher of The Texas Weekly, called for a change in the Texas road building program, and pledge allegiance of the press to the Texas Centennial Exposition and to the forthcoming national celebration of George Washington's anniversary. The marvelous hospitality of San Angelo, and numerous items of interest to the entire state, were also given the publishers' approval. Mineral wells chosen as the 1932 meeting place. Port Arthur and Bryan also sought the convention.

"Africa Speaks" In Palace Picture Friday-Saturday

By Robert D. Dwyer.

Snarling and roaring, six great African lions, crouched over the remains of a zebra, tearing and snapping. Close by, standing out in the open plain calmly turning the crank of a motion picture camera, a white man, a white friend and a native packer close by. Thought of danger denuded by the excitement of getting a perfect picture.

Suddenly a great female arose from the kill and turned toward the camera, ears erect, long tail swishing from side to side. Two steps forward and she stops to look again. "The rifles. Get the rifles," the camera man cries to the native, never stopping the steady grind of the camera.

Across the clearing in front of the camera dashes the black man, and his movements turn the attention of the great beast away from the man taking the film.

She springs forward as he runs and is soon at his heels. Realizing he is facing death, the native turns and screams, a never-to-be-forgotten death cry, and goes down under the bulk of the queen of the jungle.

She tears his body to shreds as the other animals come to join in the feast. And still the white man, wild-eyed, turns the crank of the camera.

Just one short unadvertised scene in "Africa Speaks," the feature at the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday. The action is real, the man is actually eaten before your eyes. You watch Paul L. Hoefler and his companion forsake their cameras at last when the beast makes a new charge toward them, and back toward the shelter of a nearby thorn coral, firing their revolvers with little effect.

A swarm of locusts 100 miles wide and 50 miles long sweeps through the air they darken as the sun is hid. Their flight is recorded in the sound apparatus that is set up outside the tent and on the film that is taken through special windows built in the side of the tent.

You see the result of two and a half years of well planned effort and admit that the long, tedious work has been a success.

Niedecken Were There.

Spanish veterans of the George Green Camp will meet in special session in the courthouse at Sweetwater Saturday evening, according to T. H. Chilton, commander. Plans will be made for the state convention, which begins in San Antonio, June 28, and other matters will also be discussed. Chilton urges a full attendance.

Here's Another Boy From Snyder That's With the Navy Now

Earl Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Parker of near Snyder, is among the group of Scurry County boys who have enlisted with the marines and sailors of Uncle Sam. Earl happened to choose the sailor's life, and he says he is enjoying life on the deep sea, and is working hard for his first rating, which will be Electrician's Mate 3-C—whatever that is. The former Snyder High School student enlisted in the navy January 14, in Fort Worth, whence he went to Dallas, then to the U. S. Naval Training Station at San Diego, Calif. After three months in the training station, he was transferred to the U. S. S. California, his present abiding place.

Fire Chief Back From Bryan Meet Of Flame Eaters

"It wasn't such a wonderful program, but we surely did have plenty of eats," is the way Fire Chief N. W. Autry sums up the trip he and Fireman A. P. Biggs made to the annual state session of firemen at Bryan Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Several of the major speakers on the program were unable to attend the meeting, but the two local representatives state that those who did perform brought plenty of food for thought as regards fire fighting. A feature of the three-day meet was a chicken barbecue, served by the business men of Bryan. More than 1,100 chickens, with all the trimmings, were served to the crowd of 2,000 firemen and other visitors.

"I know my Baby's Food is Free from Harmful Bacteria"

Most mothers know that fresh, pure milk is one of the essentials in preventing the illness of babies during summer months. They are aware that on many occasions, illness at this time of the year can be traced directly to their food. The first precaution they take is to buy milk that is fresh and pure; and the second precaution is to see that the milk is kept wholesome after it is in the home.

Proper refrigeration is the only means of keeping baby's milk free from harmful bacteria, and the modern mother knows that her electric refrigerator with its automatically controlled temperature—always below 50 degrees—will keep baby's milk and other foods for the family at safe temperatures.

Drop by our office and see the new models of electric refrigerators, a size for every family. Refrigerators may be purchased for a small cash payment and convenient monthly payments.

Thirty-five acres of alfalfa planted in February, 1928, have made $1,350 from November to April for E. Clay Williams, Bastrop County demonstrator. He grazed 150 head of hogs from November to March, which was worth 90 cents per head per month to him, he says, and then took them off to cut a 1 1/2-ton-per-acre hay crop in April worth $30 per acre after counting out baling costs. More hay crops are coming.

Better Grade Fresh Stuff Being Sought.

Texas gardeners are going in for bigger and better fruits and vegetables. At least that's the opinion of W. A. Canon, marketing chief in the department of agriculture. Not only is the demand for inspectors in the usual truck garden areas heavier than ever before, but sections outside the regular commercial areas apparently are seeking to bring their vegetables and fruits up to standards set by the state and federal departments of agriculture. New cabbage, one of the most appetizing and nutritious of all vegetables, is on the market now in such quantities that its cost is approximately the same as for last year's crop sold in the winter. It can be bought for from three to four cents a pound. A pound of cabbage, when cooked, makes about five servings. Practically the whole head is edible. Cabbage cooked quickly in an open kettle, or served raw in salads, is of great benefit to diet for children and adults.

First Aid to Hail Beaten Cotton.

According to a bulletin published by the school of agriculture in John Tarleton College, hail beaten cotton or other plants will give immediate response to a side dressing of about 100 pounds of nitrate of soda applied as soon as the fields are dry enough to permit driving on. The mixture may be distributed with a fertilizer horn or sowed by hand, in either instance, covered with a cultivator, and the results will be immediate. Ten to 20 pounds of potash added to the mixture gives excellent results in producing strength in the bruised plant.

We're Learning About Animal Diets.

Recent research has disclosed a close relationship between diet and disease in farm animals, and lack of certain substances in the diet have been found to be the cause of certain hitherto unexplained diseases. Dr. H. Schmidt, acting chief of the division of veterinary science, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, explains in pointing out that lack of minerals, particularly lime and phosphoric acid, presents serious problems to many Texas farmers and stockmen. His discussion will be a feature of the 1931 Farmers Short Course at the college, beginning July 27.

Cooperation and Organization Is Way Out.

In a recent interview in The Country Hour, Alexander Legge, retired head of the Federal Farm Board, warned farmers that the board is no fairy godmother, and that farmers must help themselves. Last year, Mr. Legge says, the walnut growers—who through cooperation control ninety per cent of the crop—sold Scurry Schools, Deserve It.

When The Texas Outlook, official state teachers' publication, gave a full page to pictures and a write-up of Scurry County's rural high schools, we were all pleased but none of us were surprised.

Our schools deserve all the publicity they can get. Five high ranking rural high schools in a county having less than 13,000 people represents an investment in our children that cannot be measured. This year, during which so many of our most worthy institutions have suffered heavy losses in finances and influence, has brought new growth for these five schools.

Heading the list of those responsible for this outstanding group of rural high schools is A. A. Bullock, county superintendent. He works at the job. He holds the educational wires of the county with efficient hands, and he doesn't rare back like so many public officials and say, "See what I can do?" Bragging is not Pat Bullock's meat; doing is.

The trustees and the superintendents, the teachers and the rural communities as a whole also deserve high praise for their cooperation in the expansion and growth of Scurry schools.

The one serious flaw in the Scurry County school system is the lack of consolidation in a few communities. When these few communities see the facts as they really exist, and when they forget their prejudices, further development of these five rural high schools will be inevitable.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

THE WAY TO SOUTHERN AGRICULTURAL PROSPERITY.

The agricultural colleges and extension workers of the South are continuously advocating the development of diversified farming on a much larger scale. They are urging, as an essential supplement to the cotton patch, more livestock and the type of farming that goes with the "cow, sow and little red hen."

Here again is where the cottonseed products mills are aiding and can still further advance Southern agricultural wealth.

The average annual production of cottonseed cake and meal for the past seven years has been 2,241,028 tons. This tonnage exceeds, approximately, the combined production of corn gluten meal and linseed oil meal—the two concentrated protein feeds ranking next to cottonseed meal in protein content.

The wide distribution of the mills makes the meal available to Southern livestock feeders at a minimum transportation cost. Cottonseed hulls are likewise available, and as roughage are equal to Johnson grass hay, or approximately twice the value of corn silage.

Cottonseed meal is today used on the cattle and sheep ranches as the only source of concentrates for millions of head of breeding cattle and breeding sheep. It is the most universal protein in the feed lists of America. Dairy farmers, both in America and in Europe, use it along with grains in large proportions to enable the modern high-producing cow to maintain high yields of milk. For many years large plantation owners—using from one hundred to several hundred horses and mules—have found that from one to three pounds of cottonseed meal added to the ration of work stock improves the condition and vigor of these animals. Poultry authorities in recent years have found that cottonseed meal makes a valuable addition to the baby chick ration. Swine feeding has been made more profitable by adding to the corn and other grains the protein supplement made up of equal parts of cottonseed meal and tankage.

A valuable by-product of the feed lot and the dairy farm is manure. This is an important factor in modern, successful farming. The manure from livestock fed with cottonseed meal retains 85 to 89 per cent of its original fertilizer value. The manure from a hundred pounds of cottonseed meal contains 5.7 to 6.9 per cent nitrogen, about 2 per cent phosphoric acid, and 2 per cent potash. The fertilizer valuation is often a very high percentage of the selling price of the feed. Therefore, feeding meal and cake to livestock gives two possible sources of profit—the feeding operations and the fertilizer.

Corn and livestock have enriched the corn belt states. Cottonseed and livestock will likewise build a more prosperous Southern agriculture.

For many years farmers in some of the Southern states have been handicapped and perplexed by the fact that their hogs have not brought prices comparable with corn belt prices. After a study of the problem the government reported that the difference in price was due to the fact that hogs raised in some of the Southern states have yielded a soft pork with a lower market value than firm pork produced in the corn states.

Now, the United States Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Maryland, experimental farm has demonstrated after a long study of the soft pork problem that cottonseed meal is especially adapted for producing a hard pork.

The feeding of cottonseed meal to hogs has been found to have a remarkable and specific hardening effect when properly fed with other oil bearing seeds. Apparently the government has been unable to find any other feeding material that can compete with cottonseed meal in this hardening effect.

The cottonseed products mills make available to the Southern farmer in his own locality a feed concentrate that is unsurpassed in the production of high grade pork.—National Cottonseed Products Association, Inc.

it at the best price in history. The same thing can be done with wheat, with dairy products and with any other staple commodity produced on the farm.—The Manufacturer.

And Still We Must "Live at Home."

Senator Tom Connally: "The new agricultural West Texas must 'live on its resources.' We are getting away from the fetish of a single crop. We are going to provide a balanced ration for our people. It is astounding to know that today every Southern state is importing meat of some kind. Even Texas is importing pork. Raising cotton to sell to Japan in order to get money to buy salt pork from Iowa hogs, fattened with Iowa feed and packed in Kansas City is a round-about way to get pork. With packing plants within the borders of our own state, with corn and grains and feed and alfalfa suited to our soil, and favored by our climate, West Texas can furnish pork products to supply her own population."

New Standards for Farm Products.

United States Secretary of Agriculture Hyde told the members of the American Institute of Cooperation at Manhattan, Kansas, recently that the question of whether we shall continue to produce price-breaking surpluses of certain agricultural products "boils down to how we want to live." He said he believed that the intelligence, thrift, industry and efficiency of the American farmer are "great enough to meet and defeat the world in producing any of our great agricultural crops." "But," he added, "to do so they will have to sell on world markets at world prices. That means that Southern planters shall measure their living standards against those of India and China, and that wheat growers must meet Russian standards of living."

CURRENT COMMENT

By LEON GUINN

The U. S. Army Air Corps has had its chance at last. From Chicago to New York, then to Boston, where the best show was held, the Air Corps took the applause as only a part of the day's work. The sham battle, the air attacks, and the efficient maneuvers demonstrated one of the strongest walls of National defense.

In effect over 650 planes were used, 2,000,000 air miles were flown, and $3,000,000 was the cost. $1.50 for all expenses was the cost per air mile flown. The rhythmic heat of 650 perfectly tuned motors spoke of unlimited power. To one that doubts the Army's efficiency, not a major mishap occurred. This new phase of defense is efficient. It is expensive. All defense programs are.

Man has perfected machines to swim like a fish and fly like a bird. This conquest of the air has resulted in extensive defense programs using airplanes. Aviation is, and will be, the swiftest means of transportation. But just what does the army's defense program mean? First, it means security. Second, it means an effective line of defense, and third, it means that we are keeping up with other nations in adopting new army and navy tactics.

If national defense is to be protective it must be efficient, it must be flexible, and it must be representative of American character. The Army's Aircraft program will advance to new heights of importance in spite of what you or I say. Since the Wright Brothers flew at Kittyhawk aviation has been looked to as the next logical step in defense. It has won its laurels, it is backed by Congress, and it deserves our cooperation.

Our army buddy can now scale the heights of the most majestic mountain as easily as the eagle and swoop down on an enemy as gracefully as the hawk. The army, the navy and the war department now cooperate. Each is not a cold frozen unit. They could not be to be effective. Whether we like the present defense program, or not it is permanent. Let's pull for it 100 per cent. National defense is the backbone of the constitution's guarantee of security.

The provincial dove of peace may flutter its wings alluringly, but we must have assurance the dove will stay at her place of abode. What would Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln say if they could reawaken to see man fly across the limitless sky? They were constantly striving to be constitutional exponents, yet each was aware of drastic changes. They were for any adequate line of defense. So must we be. The men that fired the shot heard round the world were defenders of womankind, liberty and justice.

So must the army and navy of today be defenders of liberty, life, and property.

Little Boy (calling father at office) — "Hello, who is this?"
Father (recognizing son's voice) — "The smartest man in the world."
Little Boy — "Pardon me, I got the wrong number."

The favorite diversion of a bachelor, fat and forty, is to flirt with young women, although he is persona non grata with most of them. The other evening at a dance he cornered one and said:
"What would I have to give you for just one little kiss?"
"Chloroform," she promptly answered.

Give Me a Friend.

Give me a friend and the road;
A fire when the day is done;
A song to cheer the weary,
While the shadows go and come.
Give me a bit of laughter,
And a story sweet to tell;
A spare cot by the fireside
And quiet—a sweet-toned bell.
Give me the bird's sweet chirp;
A shower to clear the dust;
A tent—a shelter from dew drops,
'Afar from the traffic and lust.
Give me one heart to love me;
A fire when the sun is low;
And my song shall cheer the roadside,
Where the weary come and go.
—Minnie Roberts Dreesen.

Mrs. Smith was firm with her children. She flattered herself that they never made any reply to any of her commands. In fact, they were afraid to, and they knew it was no use.

One day, seeing a storm coming up, she bade Bobby run up and shut the trap door to the flat roof where the family often sat.

"But, mother," the boy began to object. His mother almost froze him with her stare.

"You heard me," she said icily; "shut the door!"

Bobby shut it, and the rain came on in torrents. Finally Mrs. Smith happened to think of something.

"Where's grandma?" she said. "Is she having her nap? Run and see, Bobby."

"No, ma'am," said Bobby, falteringly, "she's out on the roof."

Liza—"Rastus you always reminds me of brown sugar."
"Why is dat, Liza?"
"Cause you is so sweet and un-refined."

The hired man asked little Johnny to pass the salt.

Looking at his mother, the boy hesitated.

"Shall I give him the salt?" he whispered. "Daddy said he wasnt worth it."

Father (reading aloud to son)—
"And after a time he awoke to find himself a very rich man."
Mother—"I wouldn't read Bobby fairy stories, dear."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

OUR READERS' OWN VIEWS

Editors of The Times: Your paper of June 5 carried on the first page mention of my recent, and present, illness. Naturally, I am wondering how you found it out; but perhaps, in this, as in so many other cases, it is all due to your usual diligence and efficiency in gathering the news.

I appreciate the fact that you saw fit to mention my affliction. I am glad to be able to say that I am now much better, though by no means well. I have been sick more than a month, having trouble in my left pleural cavity.

We have received a good many letters, expressing sympathy and good cheer, from Fluvanna friends. It is also just to say that many friends here have visited us, bringing fresh fruits, kind words and proffers of assistance and lovely flowers. This all reminds us of the many kindnesses shown us seven years ago when I was ill.

I mention these things, not to place them to my credit, but to the credit of those rendering such beautiful service. All of this, including the letters, is Christianity in action. It was about just such service that the Master said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Greetings to all the readers. JAS. H. TATE, Mentone, California, June 13.

A colored man, injured in a motor accident, died and the insurance adjuster went to investigate.

"Did Washington P. Johnson live here?" he asked the weeping wife as she opened the door.

"Yassah," she replied, between sobs.

"I want to see the remains."

Wiping the tears away on her sleeve, the bereaved wife looked up sadly and said:

"Tse de remains."

"Here, hold my horse a minute, will you?"

"Sir! I'm a member of Congress."

"Never mind, You look honest. I'll take a chance."

Pike—"Is John a popular boy?"
Wick—"Popular? Why, when his left the city thirty girls went back into circulation."

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Eve started it and the daughters of Eve inherited it. Eve gave Adam the apple, and it seems that Adam must have passed it on. For every man and every woman has an Adam's Apple. Put your finger on your Adam's Apple—that is your larynx, your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. Consider your Adam's Apple—when you do so, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which brings you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. It is this exclusive process that expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

A Critical Time In Every Woman's Life.

"During a critical time in my life I took Cardui for several months. I had hot flashes, I would suddenly get dizzy and seem blind. I would get faint and have no strength. My nerves were on edge. I would not sleep at night. Cardui did wonders for me. I recommend it to all women who are passing through the critical period of change. I have found it a fine medicine."—Mrs. Hattie Murphy, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

TEACHERS GET TRIBUTE FROM COUNTY SUPT.

Sacrificial Spirit Keeps Many Rural Schools From Closing During Session Just Closed.

By A. A. Bullock, County Supt.

During these hard times, with depression on every hand and money so scarce, we often forget the sacrifices made and the hardships endured by a few for the benefit of the many. At this time I want to pay tribute to the public school teachers of Scurry County.

During the past year the banks have been unable to carry teachers' warrants as heretofore. Very little state money and still less local taxes came in until after the first of February. This means that there was no money in the treasury of the various schools until some five months after the schools started in proportion. Therefore, the teachers this year either had to do without their money or discount their warrants to get any pay at all. This was not so bad, but a sacrifice nevertheless.

But coming to the latter part of the school year, and after taxpaying time had passed, it was readily seen that all schools would have to close from one to two months short, with one exception. Herneigh had plenty of cash to finish their term. Closing the schools at this time meant the loss of a whole year's work on the part of the children. None of them could make their grades.

This is where the teachers stepped into the breach and without an exception offered to finish the regular term even though no money was available. Some even went so far as to offer their services free of charge before they would let the schools close. As a result of this sacrificial spirit not a school in the county closed short of the contracted time except one, and this was because the trustees desired that the school stop two weeks short and not because the teachers refused to teach on credit.

This willingness on the part of the teachers to do their part kept the children of Scurry County from having to spend another year in the grade that they were in this year and showed to the people of the county that after all there are still those in public service that think more of the duty imposed upon them than they do of the dollar.

Another tribute to the teachers of Scurry County: The men and women from the State Department of Education at Austin who have visited the schools of the county are frank to say that the teachers of the county rank far above the average teaching force of the counties of Texas. There are many counties that have just as good teachers, but the average for the state finds the teachers of Scurry above that average.

This is Miss Crawford's second straight dramatic role, her first having been in "Paid," in which she scored an emotional triumph. In the new picture the star is directed for the fourth time by Harry Beaumont, one of filmdom's foremost box office directors, who first took her to stardom in "Our Dancing Daughters." He also screened "Our Blushing Brides" and "Dance, Fools, Dance," Joan's last film.

The dramatic feature is an adaptation of the stirring Kenyan Nicholson play, "The Torch Song," which was an outstanding hit on Broadway last season. Additional dialogue was supplied by Martin Flavin.

In the new production Miss Crawford again sings a song number, the first she has rendered in a picture since the tuneful "Montana Moon." The number is "What Can I Do—Love That Man," and was written especially for the star by Martin Brookes and Arthur Freud. The song is by no means a musical interpolation or "theme song" but plays an important part in the motivation of the dramatic plot.

Sharing leading man honors in the picture is the stage success as Nell Hamilton and Clark Gable, the former playing the part of the traveling salesman lover and the latter cast as the devoted Salvation Army sweetheart of the capricious roadhouse singer who turns to religion to obliterate a sinful past, only to yield to temptation when the old love comes back in her life.

Hamilton recently was seen opposite Norma Shearer in "Strangers May Kiss" and Gable last played in "The Secret Six."

D. W. Shaw of Upshur County diverted the water from a spring branch to a quarter-acre fall garden at a cost of eight hour labor with team. He has sold truck for $154.40 besides that used in the home. He figures a profit of $63.90 after paying himself 20 cents an hour for his time.

Dock McElroy of Grace community in King County is enthused about the terracing introduced by the new farm demonstration agent. This is not strange, for Mr. McElroy made 40 bales of cotton on 300 acres of last year's terraced land while adjoining unterraced land made three bales on 140 acres.

"Doctor, if there is anything the matter with me, don't fight me half to death by giving a long scientific name. Just tell me what it is in plain English."

Recipe, Directions For Disinfectant at Home Given by State

The following recipe and instructions for home-made disinfectant were received by County Agent W. O. Logan from the Extension Service. It was worked out by Prof. H. C. Jones of the chemistry department.

Stock Solution.

Use—One can (12 ounces) bleaching powder; two pounds washing soda.

Mix in a two-gallon colored jug or bottle with one gallon of water. Shake well, then fill jug nearly full of water, shake again. Let it stand for several hours in a cool dark place. Draw off about a pint in a colored bottle for convenience in using.

Mix fresh stock solution every ten days.

About one teaspoonful of the stock solution per gallon of water is strong enough for ordinary use. A teacup full of this second mixture may be used as drinking water disinfectant for poultry by mixing with two gallons of water.

This stock solution is an approximate 4 per cent sodium hypochlorite solution and sold under various trade names at about $2.50 or more per gallon. It is slightly corrosive to metals.

"Aid who is the galoot over there holding up both legs?" shouted the hard-boiled sergeant.

Scouts Get Many Awards at Camp Near Balmorhea

Two local Boy Scouts were advanced to the second class rank, two received first class rating, and one was awarded a merit badge at the annual Buffalo Trail Council camp, held this year near Balmorhea, in the Davis Mountains.

The eleven boys who attended from Troop No. 48, with Lee Price, former scout, and Rev. Philip C. McGahey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, were in camp from Tuesday morning of last week until Monday morning of this week.

Truck trouble delayed the group several hours on the downward trip, but they made the return jaunt without a mishap.

The truck was furnished by John C. Day, and incidental expenses were donated by members of the Baptist Church, which sponsors the troop. Several merchants and other citizens gave the boys work for earning of their camp expenses.

Jack Reynolds and Garth Austin were given first class honors, and Garth received a marksmanship merit badge, as well as a promarksmanship medal. T. J. Kite and Murray Gray completed their work for second class badges, and other members of the troop completed several tests in both divisions.

Other scouts attending were E. E. Wallace, Studie Smith, Sonley Huestis, Curtis Jarratt, Cullen Clements, Frank Pinkerton and A. C. Alexander.

Swimming, hiking and other forms of scout work were features of the week in camp. A barbecue given by a nearby ranchman Sunday will also be long remembered by the boys and their two leaders.

Wanted to Thank

We take this method of thanking our many friends for the help and sympathy extended to us during the recent illness and death of our dear daughter and sister, Ola Fay, whose funeral was attended by so many hundreds of our friends last Sunday afternoon, and for the beautiful floral offering. These expressions made us realize that so many were thoughtful of her and us and they did what they could to show that affection. It makes us feel that in life we may live for each other, and in departing leave behind that sublime remembrance that will be passed on to others. We wish to make special mention of the faithfulness of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moon; her physician, Dr. J. M. Bannister; and her pastor, Rev. E. W. Shewmake. Each of them went beyond what we call duty of kindred, physician and pastor, and entered into our sorrows in a way that made them more tolerable. May God's richest blessings abide with you all as you pray.—O. J. Fuller, Mrs. T. J. Fuller, Odell Fuller, W. J. Fuller. 1c
