

SCURRYLY SPEAKING

William Wrigley Jr., who died early this week, spent more than $100,000 advertising a chewing gum. "No matter what the times are, advertise," he once told his son.

BY JAKE.

IT IS NO simple task to jump into the big middle of a disillu-sion concerning the possibility of obtaining manufacturing plants for Snyder. It is a particularly disheartening task at a time when so many people use only the yardstick of "It can't be done," and rely on the attitude "Wait until the depression's over."

I find consolation in the hope—and belief—that Snyder, unless she keeps her eye peeled for prospective industries, will become a second rate small town with the passing of a decade more of good and bad years. Consolation, because if factories don't come, I will have an opportunity to spout that insipid "I told you so."

Scurry County and Snyder have considerably fewer people than they had several years ago. It is very probable that they had fewer people before this depression began than they did three years before it began; so we can't blame the poor depression for all our depopulation. My talent, if any, does not lie in the realm of prophecy, but I nevertheless am quite sure in the belief that Scurry County, barring an oil boom or some such miracle, will have fewer people in 1932 than she has at this hour—unless she puts her ear to the ground and listens for the footsteps of Sweetwater, who are approaching West Texas.

NOR DOES this belief concern Scurry County alone. I could with equal ardor write of Lamesa, Spur, Haskell, and a score of other West Texas towns whose growing pains have become severe headaches.

Let us use a few examples. There is Sweetwater. Not many years ago the county seat of Nolan was little more than a crossroads for the Santa Fe and Texas-Pacific. Now it has a refinery, a broom factory, a building material plant, a daily and a weekly newspaper, and a half dozen other points of industrial interest. If you can discover anything more encouraging about Sweetwater's outlook, than you can discover about Snyder's, as you finger the records of 15 or 20 years ago, it will be news for next week's paper. Sweetwater put her thumb into the industrial pudding, and pulled out some nice plums—that's about the only difference.

And Big Spring. Big Spring had oil, of course, but she would be just another dead boom town if she hadn't converted a rocky hill-and-valley town into a resort of optimism, enthusiasm and "Come to Big Spring—we'll give you what you want" attitudes.

COMING EVEN closer, there's Colorado. Despite her key place on the head and the T. P. she would probably be about the size of Snyder if she hadn't pulled like blue blazes for her refinery, her pump station, and her other little industries that put tens of thousands of dollars every month into her pockets.

Think of Lamesa. She is straining point after point in order to pull a creamery, a cheese factory, and other small industries that amount to a huge step in the right direction—and some of them she has already obtained and profited from.

Post. Check the revenue that has been turned loose in that below-the-cap-rock town by the Postex mills. Hard times have checked that revenue, of course, but there was revenue in 1931, enough to pull Post through many a tight place.

The examples could be multiplied. With more research on my part, they could be made more accurate and more lengthy. But my point is made. Snyder CAN win an industry or two or three if she will pool her resources and watch her chances,—then swing into them with all four feet.

EVEN THE VERY unwise men of our particularly West Texas, will start an unprecedented era of building manufacturing plants before prosperity has fully returned. Materials are cheap. Labor is cheap. Practically everything used in construction and operation of manufacturing of any kind probably is cheaper than it will be in years and years.

Take a look at the cities of Texas—Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio. Building materials are soaring. Skyscrapers, warehouses, railway terminals, hotels, office buildings, small factories and shops and assembly plants. They are preparing for prosperity, while most of the small towns are continuing to prepare for another year or two of depression. We usually find what we search for, if we search hard enough and often enough and with persistence enough.

Next week, health and happiness willing, I intend to point out a few of the natural and potential resources Snyder has to offer industrial plants. In other words, I shall try to get down to brass tacks—to put the cards on the table and discover whether I am talking through my five-year-old hat or not.

No Hard Freeze Yet. No extremely hard freeze has yet visited Scurry County, and several January days have been spring-like.

FARMERS WILL SHARE IN LOAN DUE TO JONES

Congressman Offers Amendment to Give Agriculture Part of U. S. Money.

The participation of agriculture in the $2,000,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation launched last week by the United States government was due directly to Congressman Marvin Jones from this district, a telegram to The Times Saturday indicated. Agriculture's share will be a minimum of $200,000,000. The Jones telegram follows:

"I have had a number of inquiries from Scurry County as to amendments offered to set apart a portion of the funds provided in House reconstruction bill. Amendment remained in bill as finally passed yesterday, and provides fund for loans for crop production on the crop as security."

Sunday's Dallas News has this to say of the Amarillo man's part in the House debate Thursday: "Representative Jones obtained from Charles Steagall of the House Banking Committee a construction that it is the purpose of Congress to fortify the farm loan banks so they may make loan extensions in the worthy cases, including interest and payments in default."

More Liberal Loans. The news, continuing the discussion, says: "This amount ($200,000,000) is made available to the secretary of agriculture for making loans to farmers unable to obtain funds for crop production this year. A preference is given those who suffered from crop failure in 1931, the loans to be secured by a first lien on the crop growing or to be planted. If anything, the provision is more liberal than were the drouth and seed loans of the last two years."

"This is only a starter for agriculture. The Federal Land Banks, joint stock land banks, intermediate credit banks, agricultural credit corporations and live stock credit corporations all may obtain money. In fact, there appear to be few agencies or organizations that would be barred from the bill which President Hoover is expected to sign by Saturday becomes probably the most liberal credit agency ever established by any government. The spokesman for the administration declared Thursday that the corporation should begin loaning money within two weeks."

$200,000,000 for Closed Banks.

"It is stipulated, however, that no more than $200,000,000 may be devoted to banks that have failed and closed. The total assets of the failures is $1,800,000,000, a goodly portion being foreign bonds which are barred from being accepted as collateral for loans from this corporation."

FARM CENSUS BEING TAKEN IN SCURRY COUNTY BY ASSESSOR

Sterlin Taylor Receives No Extra Pay for Work; Farmer to Get Chief Benefit.

Sterlin Taylor, tax assessor, began work last week on Scurry County's share of Texas' first farm census, which is to be gathered annually and used for the benefit of the farmers. The census was authorized by House Bill 539, enacted at the recent session of the forty-second Legislature. Its prime purpose is for the gathering of facts regarding the operation of farms in Texas so that farmers may be aided in production and marketing of crops.

The farm census is independent of the two questions being asked by the tax assessors relative to the number of acres in cultivation and in cotton in 1930 and 1931 for the administration of Texas' cotton acreage to 30 per cent of the cultivation land. J. E. McDonald, Texas' commissioner of agriculture, pointed out this week. The farm census will include a survey of all farm products.

To Be Used by U. S. Through the joint arrangement of the United States department of agriculture and the Texas department of agriculture, the statistical information obtained by the census will be compiled by and used in the periodical reporting service, under the direction of Carl H. Robinson, senior agricultural statistician. The law authorizing the survey included a provision permitting the Texas commissioner of agriculture to cooperate with the federal department in the work.

Accurate collection of the information will depend upon the various county tax assessors, who are not being paid for the work, and upon the farmers cooperating with the assessors.

For the reason that the assessors are not being compensated for their work, farmers are urged to cooperate with them fully, to give the desired information without reluctance, in order that the census may show a complete picture of Texas agricultural conditions.

DROUTH FAILS TO HINDER MR. CUPID

66 Couples Embark

Marriage turned out to be a fairly popular game in Scurry County during 1931, despite the drouth, the depression, and the gin marriage law. Sixty-six couples trimmed their sails in preparation for the matrimonial seas last year, as compared to approximately the same number during the previous year. Figures are not at hand for the month-by-month 1930 report, but the marriages from June 13, 1929 to the same date in 1930 totaled 68.

The common and popular theory is that the gin marriage law, which compels the man in the case to present a certificate of health and to file notice of intention to marry three days ahead of license-getting time, is extremely hurtful to Texas. Mrs. Mabel Y. German, county clerk, thinks, however, that the law is not the cause of the decrease in marriages in this county.

Here's an idea of how the proportion has increased during the past two years. In the year beginning June 13, 1928 and ending June 13, 1929, 162 licenses were issued. Other 12-month periods, using the same dates, follow: 1925-1926, 147; 1926-1927, 139; 1927-1928, 159; 1928-1929, 162.

Licenses were issued in 1931, by months, as follows: January, 6; February, 6; March, 4; April, 1; May, 2; June, 6; July, 2; August, 5; September, 7; October, 9; November, 5; December 13.

First Two Games Split By Snyder Basket Shooters

Opening their long-delayed basket ball season last week, the Snyder Tigers journeyed to Hobbs, in Fisher County, to take a 21 to 14 decision from the high school boys there.

Playing host to the fast Fluvanna quintet Tuesday afternoon, the locals were downed, 21 to 15. One or two other games will probably be played this week-end, Roby being tentatively scheduled.

Failure to shoot goals when opportunity comes seems to be the biggest trouble with the Mooremen, who have not been in actual training long enough to get their eye on the basket. Their guarding has reached a high standard, and improvement in hitting the loop may put the Tigers into a lead place for the county championship next week.

The Tiger squad features Ben Howell, Carl Young and Bedford McClinton at forward; Elmo Dunn, Theo Risby and Leslie Browning, guards; and Forest Beavers and Roy Burnett, centers. Other members are: Sonley Huestis, Travis Green, Ester Jones, Eldon and Weldon Bricce, Otis Martin and Richard Jenkins.

When Old Man Winter spread a layer of ice over a portion of Snyder early this week, he laid the foundation for a siege of hooks, slides and bruises that have brought many a bottle of liniment and mercurochrome.

Dr. W. R. Johnson provided one of the biggest upsets of the week, when he slipped at his home and jerked a kink in his back.

Joe Caton gave his elbows a good shining quite backwards, on one of the courthouse approaches. He is still grinning.

R. C. Huggins received more severe bruises when he also slipped near the courthouse.

Little Marilyn Roberts was among the school-child victims, but she lost nothing more than a lot of blood from her nose and an hour from school.

Mrs. "Eller" Brownfield injured her shin and her car's running board when she slipped Monday.

The comedy and bruises ended with the afternoon's sunshine.

FRIDAY LAST DAY FOR COUNTY BASKET TEAMS TO ENTER MEET

Only 20 Divorces Granted in County During Past Year

If Dallas and other popular divorce centers would follow the worthy example of Scurry County, peace and happiness in the home would probably become as common as of yore.

For in this county of more than 12,000 souls only 20 couples decided last year that they could live more abundantly as ones than they could as twos. At the same time 66 couples were beginning man-and-wife drama.

The proportion was slightly less in 1930, when 17 divorces were granted and approximately 68 marriage licenses were issued.

BATTLE ROYAL FEATURE BOUT

A battle royal, in which five 180-pounders will pummel each other around the ring for four rounds, will feature the boxing exhibition Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the vocational agriculture boys of Snyder High School.

Seven regular bouts, featuring heavyweights, middleweights, lightweights, bantamweights and featherweights, are on tap, with Andy Jones engaged as referee. The bouts are as follows: Fred Day, Buck Hood, Edward Hollingsworth, Eugene Gladson and Rosser Chapman are the battlers.

Officials have issued a warning against ineligible players, and urge faculty members to check each player carefully before he is allowed to enter any tournament game. Ribbons will be given this year as the awards in all League events.

Snyder was 1931 county champion in the boys' division, and also won the title on the three previous years. Dunn was defeated in the finals on each occasion. Ira girls won from Dunn girls in the finals last year.

Dunn boys, with one of the fastest guards in their history, are expected to take top honors this year, unless Fluvanna and Snyder, ranking next in favorites' row, show rapid improvement during the next week.

Fluvanna Makes Plans For Union Meeting Sunday

Fluvanna Baptists will be host Sunday afternoon to the quarterly meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry B. Y. P. U. Association. Mrs. T. L. Nipp, who is in charge of arranging the program, says a fine crowd is expected, since it is the first meeting of the new year and since unusually attractive features will be presented.

The Snyder junior B. Y. P. U. will present a model program from beginning to end, under direction of Miss Effie McLeod. Mrs. Guy and Mrs. Melvin Newton, local leaders and sponsors. Several carloads of delegates are expected to attend the meeting from Snyder.

Rev. C. C. Scott will deliver the inspirational address of the afternoon. His subject has not been announced.

E. O. Wedgeworth of Fluvanna will lead the song service, and also render a trombone solo. Other numbers will also be on the program. Rev. L. L. Trot of China Grove, association president, will preside at the business session. The meeting will open at 2:30 o'clock and close at 4:30 o'clock.

Upon a Long-Ago Time...

Once Upon a Long-Ago Time There Was a Man Who Stood on the Street Corner Day After Day and Cussed Everybody from the President Down to the Dog Catcher. He Cussed the President Because the President Was a Republican. He Cussed the Governor Because the Governor Was a Millionaire. He Cussed the Senior Senator Because the Senior Senator Was Too Dry, and the Junior Senator Because the Junior Senator Was a Great Orator and a Rotten Legislator. He Cussed His State Representative Because His State Representative Was Too Young, and His Congressman Because His Congressman Had Been in Office Too Long. He Cussed the Sheriff Because the Sheriff Wouldn't Arrest Whiskey Suspects That Could Never Be Convicted, and the District Judge Because the District Judge Looked Too Much Like a Farmer. He Cussed the Mayor Because the Mayor Was Too Hard-Boiled and the Marshal Because the Marshal Wasn't Hard-Boiled Enough.

In Fact, He Cussed Everybody That Had Anything to Do With His Government. He Cussed His Government Before It Made Farmer Seed and Feed Loans, and After It Made the Loan. He Cussed the Democrats One Year for Being Too Wet, and the Republicans Next Year for Being Too Wet. And He Cussed the Progressives and the Conservatives Because They Were Too Conservative or Because They Were Not Conservative enough.

He Wrote Long-Winded Articles to His Home County Newspaper Once in a While, Belaboring These Modern Times, and Longing Calmly for the Good Old Times That Used to Be, When Washington and Jefferson and Jackson and Wilson Were Political Gods.

Then He Went Home at Night and Told His Faithful Little Wife That They Were Too Poor to Pay Their Poll Taxes; and Besides, Said He, Politics and Government Are Rotten Anyway and Would Stay That Way No Matter How Many Good Citizens Such as He Voted for Honestly and Righteousness and Democratic Principles.

And When Election Time Was Over, He Said, "I Told You So," and Snuggly Assumed His Accustomed Place on His Accustomed Corner and Did His Accustomed Cussing of the Government That He Hadn't Even Voted for.

Mogel: You May Pay Your Poll Tax on or Before January 31.

Nurse Examines School Children in Seven Places

Children in seven Scurry County schools, hundreds of them, have been examined within the last two weeks by Miss Catherine Vavra, district health nurse. The examinations have included eyes, ears, nose, throat and other parts of the body, following preliminary examinations by teachers.

Hermleigh, Dunn, Ira and Ennis Creek schools were visited last week. Miss Vavra was accompanied by T. J. Ward, district sanitarian, and A. A. Bullock, county superintendent. The trio were scheduled for Pylon school Monday, and for Fluvanna and Canyon schools Wednesday of this week.

The nurse gave instructions to teachers concerning health examinations in the recent institute, and it is said that untold good has been done as a result. On her rounds the last few days, Miss Vavra has invited parents to bring children of pre-school age, and many of these have been examined along with the children of school age.

The sanitarian reports that sanitary conditions at the rural schools are 80 to 100 per cent perfect. He said preliminary work in this line several months ago, and has been merely checking the efforts schools have made to fulfill his recommendations.

Other schools of the county will probably not be favored with this work, which is considered by school authorities and parents as highly worthwhile. Miss Vavra and Mr. Ward are working in their Abilene district because the government provided for such a health movement in drouth-stricken areas, but they will be recalled in a few weeks. Six counties are in the district.

County Director Explains League Declining Rule

A copy of the new and revised constitution of rules of the University Interscholastic League has been received by Miss Ollie Coston, of Hermleigh, recently elected director of declamation in this county.

The junior divisions, both boys and girls, use standard poetry for declaiming, and the senior divisions, both boys and girls, use standard prose.

"This contest is designed to train boys and girls in sincere and effective public speaking by requiring them to memorize prose and poetry by the great literary masters. It is hoped that there will be a large number of entries in this contest in our county meet."

Consolidation Move in Mitchell County Aided by Local Men

The movement just inaugurated by Westbrook and four smaller Mitchell County schools to consolidate in the near future is being given a healthy boost by A. A. Bullock, Scurry County superintendent, whose seven-year experience with school combines makes him an authority on the question.

Mr. Bullock last week presented his consolidation platform before 40 trustees and other patrons from all the districts involved, and again Monday night spoke to a large group who gathered in the Westbrook school auditorium. On his last trip he was accompanied by D. P. Yoder, chairman of the Scurry County school board, W. C. Hooks, superintendent of the Dunn schools, and J. C. Smyth. Each of the visitors made brief talks outlining the benefits of consolidation.

Superintendent Dunnegan of the Divide consolidated school in Nolan County, and Miss McGill, Mitchell County superintendent, also spoke. Superintendent Patterson of the Westbrook school, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Patterson of Snyder, presided.

Bank Re-elects All Officials for 1932

All officers and directors of the Snyder National Bank were re-elected at the annual business session held several days ago. The officials are continuing their sessions into this week.

Officers of the bank are: M. A. Fuller, president; O. P. Thrane, vice president; A. C. Alexander, cashier; A. J. Cody, assistant cashier.

Directors are: M. A. Fuller, Harrie Winston, J. J. Koonsman, O. P. Thrane and A. D. Ewins.

FOREST GETS COAT BUT LOSES BREATH

Despite his advancing years, Forest Sears proved a few days ago that he still has some of the elixir of youth in his veins.

He caught a Mexican shoplifting some trousers from the Sears store, and proceeded to divest the petty thief of his coat, beneath which the trousers were stuffed. With the coat in one hand, and the Mexican's collar (containing the Mexican) in the other, Forest marched toward the city jail.

Just before the goal was reached, the foreign gentleman jerked loose from his captor, and beelined for Deep Creek. Forest beelined, too, and threatened his quarry with "Stop, or I'll shoot!" But Forest's sprinting days are limited, and the Mexican high-geared it beneath the nearest bridge.

Forest lost his wind, but kept the shoplifter's coat as a souvenir.

SCHOOL USING NEW SCHEDULE

Superintendent C. Wedgeworth and his faculty have inaugurated a new winter-time high school schedule that is proving of benefit in several respects. The new plan has meant extra work for teachers in arranging classes, but it is now operating with few hitches.

Under the new arrangement, the school day opens at 9:00 o'clock in the morning, and regular class periods end at 3:30 o'clock. Four 45-minute periods are scheduled in the mornings, and two hour periods are used in the afternoons. Chapel has been moved from 10 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. This time is devoted to clubs and other school activities.

Principal R. L. Williams, who has charge of the chapel exercises and club work, and who assisted the superintendent in working out the new schedule, states that the principal advantage of the new plan is to help mothers in getting their children to school on time, and to let students out of school in the afternoon before they become too "brain-weary."

Prohibition Will Be Subject Used in Club Project

"Why the Eighteenth Amendment Should Remain Intact" is the general subject on which Snyder High School students will write essays during the present semester. The Altruism Club is sponsoring the contest in order to help educate school children and others on the prohibition question, and to arouse a public sentiment against repeal or revision of the present liquor statute.

The high school faculty is cooperating in the effort to have a number of students enter papers in the contest. Winning essays, and possibly others will be published in The Times, and winners will be publicly recognized. Active work on contest papers is beginning this week.

Mrs. C. R. Buchanan is chairman of the Altruism education committee, which is actively in charge of the contest. She is assisted by Mrs. C. J. Yoder and Mrs. J. W. Leftwich, committee members, and by Mrs. R. D. English, president of the club.

A similar contest in the grammar school, in which students will write compositions on the harmful effects of tobacco, will also be conducted by the club.

THIS IS GARNER

Recognize him? It's John N. Garner, Texas' speaker of the House of Representatives and a prospective candidate for president. This likeness of him appeared thirty years ago on a button which bore this inscription: "John N. Garner for Congress, 16th District." And he won, too.

JUST TWO DAYS OF TAX PAYING IN 1932 REMAIN

Less Than 1,000 Poll Taxes; Car Licenses Below 600; Other Taxes in Proportion.

Saturday at midnight will mark the end of tax-paying and car-registering time in Scurry County. Since January 31, the usual closing date, falls on Sunday, January 30 will be the last day of grace this year.

Considerably less than 1,000 poll taxes had been paid up to Thursday morning. Unless the number shows a large increase during the next two days, less than one-half the people who voted at the last primaries will be privileged to vote this year. More than 2,800 poll taxes were paid in 1930.

Car Registrations Low. Car registrations are far below the number of cars in the county, with less than 600 licenses having been issued through Wednesday. A warning to motorists to obtain their plates before Sunday has been issued by L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, who has issued strict orders to require compliance with the automobile registration statute.

Many motorists must pay the 20 per cent penalty after January 30, unless they register their vehicles at once, says Uncle Billie Nelson, county tax collector. "We want to impress on the public that there will be NO extension of time for payment of registration fees in the county and no one has authority to make any extension," said Mr. Phares in a statement last week.

Tax Questions Answered. Mr. Nelson points out again that poll taxes may be paid without payment of property tax, and that in this case either the man or wife, or both, may obtain poll taxes. If a man pays his property tax, however, he must also pay taxes for both himself and his wife.

It will be remembered that old taxes may be paid until January 31, with both interest and penalty cancelled. If not paid by that date, all interest and penalty will be added. The penalty for non-payment of 1930 taxes is 13 per cent of the assessment. Interest is at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, and becomes effective February 1.

Property taxes are also extremely slow. Officials of the city, schools and county join in a plea for more prompt payments this year, and school tax payments have begun to function this year with any degree of efficiency.

New Grocery To Open For Scurry Public Saturday

A streak of optimism will open in Snyder Saturday morning in the form of Piggly Wiggly No. 2. The second branch of "Snyder's Leading Food Store," as Piggly Wiggly No. 2 is called, begins business on the southwest corner of the square, where the Wilhelm-Morton store was located until early January.

The grand take-off will be made under direction of Max Brownfield and Henry Wilhelm, both well known to the Scurry County community. Maurice Brownfield, a d Charley Kelly, operators of Piggly Wiggly No. 1, own the new store.

Regulation Piggly Wiggly fixtures are used throughout the store, and provision is also made for fresh goods such as vegetables and fruits. Special features of the grand opening are given in detail on pages four and five of The Times.

Fluvanna, Dunn Advance To Last Rounds At Meets

Two basket ball teams of Scurry County advanced to the semi-finals in invitation meets held at Lamesa and Big Spring last week-end.

Fluvanna's quintet, showing rapid improvement in recent days, took fourth place in the gamesa tournament. Maurice Brownfield, center, 16 to 21, in the semi-finals. They took high point honors for their meet, with a total of 90, and presented the two high-point men of the two-day session. Weems, lanky forward, took first with 38 points, and Odum was second with 28 points. Weems made 20 of his points in the first game played.

E. O. Wedgeworth, coach, took the following men on the trip: Captain Bryant, Strudivant, Borek, Odum, O. Odum, Burdine, Weems, Odum, Huffine, Squyres.

Dunn advanced to the semi-finals of the Big Spring meet, as she did in the recent Colorado meet. McCamey, defeated by a two-point margin by the Owls at Colorado, whipped the Scurry County boys in the last half, although Dunn led, 9 to 10, at the half. Coach Stark is pointing his boys towards the county championship, which Snyder has won for four consecutive years. Dunn was the finalist each year.

The Times Creed.

For the cause that needs assistance;
 For the wrongs that need resistance;
 For the future in the distance,
 And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN

He Could Have Been Wrong.

We take issue with V. Earl Karp, state Legion commander, when he says disarmament under present conditions is fatal to the United States. "Peace at any price" and "prepare for war if you want peace" are the arguments that have been at the root of our war evil. Universal conscription of persons and property has been suggested as the only way to make the "war racket" fail.

Winter Slips a Notch.

Winter seemed ready a few days ago for one of his famous West Texas hand springs, but he decided to let us off with a bit of slush and some disagreeable cold winds. If this unpopular season doesn't make haste, the old-timer's prophecy that he would leave a trail of bitter cold in his wake will be shot to smithereens. If winter is as kind as he was last year, he will save many a poor family from intense suffering. Let us hope he is kind.

More Rumbblings of War.

We common mortals bow and scrape before the men we call our statesmen, but most of us manage our personal affairs better than the world's statesmen handle the world's affairs. It seems inconceivable that great nations keep preparing for war which, if it comes, will make the world little more than a scene of wholesale carnage. But such is "statesmanship" in the councils of France, Russia, Japan and Italy.

If We Were Charity Officials—

If we were the officials who deal out the little fund for unfortunates from Snyder, we would find it terribly hard to help a family that had made no pretense at raising a garden last season—and a family that was making no plans to raise a garden this year. Self-reliance is the secret of America's and Scurry County's success. We shall let no one suffer, but we should not begin a dole system that makes beggars out of citizens.

Stranger Than Fiction.

The history of this little planet on which we live is much stranger than the fiction of Sinclair Lewis or Edna Ferber or even Daniel Defoe. Those Camp Springs fellows who have unearthed several evidences of pre-historic animals have set one of those strange myths of other days to rolling. They say the huge animals bogged down in Scurry County swamps and died. But that's the most every-day feature of their explorations, for bogging down has become a Scurry County pastime again.

Harry Lauder Brings a Smile.

Harry Lauder, famous Scotch comedian and singer, appeared in a little skit at the Palace early this week that almost took our breath away. He said, between tunes, that he has the greatest job in the world—making people laugh—and that we surely need to laugh a lot during these times. He sang that every road in life is a hard road, and that it is up to us to keep on going to the end, no matter what falls across our trail. No wonder Sir Harry is famous, with such philosophy as that.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a movement to make this great country of God's a more glorious thing of beauty. They propose to do it by furnishing trees, flowers and shrubs, through local nurserymen, at the lowest possible cost, and spreading the gospel of home beauty from El Paso to Fort Worth, from Texline to Del Rio. West Texans will soon be quoting "But only God can make a tree" and "Beauty is its own excuse for being," and know exactly what they are talking about.

Pessimism Pete on Candidates.

After taking a peep at the almost-forty candidates whose names appear in the Times columns this week, Pessimism Pete lets it be known that he won't support a man who doesn't have kinsfolk in at least three county communities. "The candidate without kinsfolk," says he, "is just about as useful and has just about as many chances of success as a wart on the end of your nose. My advice to candidates is: If you don't have plenty of kinsfolk, you'd better inherit some, or your political name is mud."

Garner Boom Gets Going.

A national political writer in a Sunday daily avows that the Garner-for-President boom is a reality, and not merely a mirage originating in Texas, his home state. Volumes of editorials have been written on this Lone Star prospect. We have yet to see a derogatory note struck against him. Although it seems almost beyond the realms of political possibility that he should be given the Democratic nomination, he has struck a responsive chord throughout the 48 states, and may be elected on a platform created from the needs of the common man—you and I.

Back to the Farm Movement.

A few days ago we saw an experienced farmer on the street who said he couldn't find a farm on which to live this year. He said he had searched in vain for just any kind of a farm, and that "Back to the farm" cry has spread into Scurry County as Poultry for Ready Money.

The poultry business, along with practically every other business, has hit a slump within the past year or so. From all indications, however, its boom days seem to be returning, and Scurry County is doing her part to bring poultry prosperity.

A few years ago many farmers—and townspeople too—got it into their heads that they could spend a hundred or so dollars on eggs or baby chicks and reap 100 per cent profit in a few short weeks. Like all other get-rich-quick schemes, this one failed, and folks began putting poultry-raising on a business basis. That basis, thanks to the depression, is continuing to hold sway, and a little money is being made out of good chickens despite low prices on poultry products.

It is bad business for a man who has had little experience in the chicken business to tackle a whole poultry farm at one time. But it is mighty good business for one farmer in this county to raise as many chicks as he can conveniently handle, learn all he can about feeding and caring for them, and then market them at the proper time.

Two up-to-date Snyder hatcheries are at your disposal. They are operated by men who have the welfare of Scurry County at heart, and who have invested much money in scientific hatchery and brooder equipment. Talk things over with them, with your banker, with the fellow who is already making money from poultry. Then get the kick of your life out of watching those little fellows grow into money.

This is just one of the safe-and-sane diversification ideas Scurry County must resolve to carry out if she is to hold her own while the waves of depression are rolling away.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK

WHY MUST WE PAY BACK $1.43 FOR EACH $1.00 BORROWED?

If Congress had passed a law in 1926 requiring every debtor to pay back $1.43 for every $1 he had borrowed, besides interest, we would have had a revolution in this country. Yet that is just what has been done by the deflation of the past two years, which has forced down the general average of prices to 70 per cent of what they were in 1926—65 per cent in the case of farm products.

When we borrow money we expect to pay it back, and usually have definite plans for paying back. But we do not expect to pay back $1.43 or more for every $1 we borrow. Most of us can not do so. The debts of this country and of the world, public and private, can not be paid back in dollars that are 30 or 40 per cent bigger, and twice as hard to get.

Grain prices, for example, have been hit hard. Suppose Congress had passed a law in 1926 doubling the size of the bushel basket, or the number of pounds in a bushel, and had told us that in measuring out grain to pay our debts, we must give the same number of bushels of grain, but measure it out in these new and enlarged bushel baskets. Congress would not pass such a law, for no Congressman would dare to vote for it. But by failing to take action to stabilize the value of money, Congress has done what amounts to the same thing.

The effect of deflation has been to increase our public and private debts in this country by $80,000,000,000. On present price levels, after we have paid off our debts on the basis of what those debts were worth in terms of commodities in 1926, we will still have $80,000,000,000 more to pay. That is fine for the money lenders—but it is crucifying the people who work for a living, and it is those people who are the bone and sinew of the country.—C. V. Gregory in the Progressive Farmer-Ruralist.

BETWEEN THE SANDGRAINS.

Some days are like a cloud
 Of sand in a pyramid heap,
 Some days are perfect lays
 And again it's azure deep.
 Between the sandgrains
 You breathe the Texas air,
 Between the spells of rains
 You catch a day that's fair.
 Some are sandy beams
 That shoot a sandy spray,
 That grits into the beans,
 And chokes your lungs all day.
 Then you need a book,
 And relax in the rocking chair,
 To change your mental look,
 And forget the sandstorm's scare.
 You need a streak of laughter
 To keep the sand meals down,
 Your face becomes a tan,
 So it's lux your ears around.
 I don't suggest it's healthy
 To laugh loud in the air,
 Because you swallow molecules
 That give you a creepy flair.
 Like politics, much air is hard to keep,
 Look for the fair tomorrow,
 When a campaign makes a sweep;
 For silence is joy, not sorrow.

well as all other sections of the state and nation. With industrial life in all parts of the country becoming stagnant, young folks and old folks, some of them former farmers and some of them going-to-be farmers, are making a trek back to the farm, where they can at least raise something to eat.

Our heart goes out to the family that finds it difficult to keep the wolf from the door, but we have more sympathy for the family that has already become a subject of the worm of hopelessness.

Our Neighbor Sends a Merchant.

It seems that a neighboring town, having an over-supply of whiskey merchants, has exported one of them to Snyder, and that the gentleman is now dwelling—and selling—in our midst. Rumor has it that his sales are increasing, and that his reputation is rapidly spreading. Someone has suggested that we boycott the newcomer in order to keep our local bootleggers prosperous and happy, but the consensus of opinion is that the demand will be sufficient to make the newcomer feel perfectly at home. We humbly suggest that a committee of our leading citizens, whose judgment can not be questioned, sample some of the new wares, and make a detailed report for publication next week.

CURRENT... COMMENT

Last week an able engineer predicted that not long hence we were mites on this sphere would be buying dried fruits, vegetables, and the like in cellophane envelopes, as the housewife would not be bothered with the clutter of cans. Basis of his conclusion is the fact that science has so perfected dehydrating machines that 90 per cent of the water may be removed from fruits, then wrap and hermetically seal them. When again watered they can not be detected from fresh fruits. Look for an analysis of cellophane in this column soon. It's a story of brains vs. preservation, of science plus determination.

From the result of a month's playing, from the haze of continuation, from phisic bids, we have the Culbertson winner of the Culbertson-Jacoby match. Seventy-seven rubbers were won by the Culbertsons, while Lenz and partner followed with 72 won, and at that the winners only had 8,890 points ahead. Which proves perseverance will do wonders with jaded pros. Wouldn't it be great if we could take our 7,000,000 unemployed and use them in a road match, the four-some constructing the most road in a week getting a stuffed ostrich, or a bridge vase prize, and $6 for overhead? All unemployed would get three square meals at a round table, each receive 25 cents per day, and the four out of every eight (eight to a given mileage part) getting the stuffed bird, or vase. Of course that may be taken to hearts, or call it a four flush, if you wish.

Senator Patman of Texas starts Old Billy by his thunderbolt shot at Andy. Being a Texan, and democratic, he has for a year warned Mr. Mellon that he would bombard him, if he didn't retrench from commerce. Andrew W. Mellon is a smart financier. From a brilliant mind he has advanced wise financial suggestions, and is secretary of the treasury. But, from an unbiased standpoint, Democratic Pat-

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE
 OUR READERS' OUR VIEWS

I will say that the skeleton I found three miles south of Camp Springs, and which was co-jointly excavated, measured approximately 66 feet in length, and 16 feet high. The horn (or tusk) on the nose measured seven feet in length, it weighed 136 pounds and was 36 inches in circumference. This tusk is now co-jointly loaned to Texas Tech by myself, my son, and W. F. McCollum.

It was no trouble to measure the skeleton, as it lay on the creek bed. Another horn discovered was 9 feet long, that belonged to another animal. This skeleton was a half a mile from the first mentioned. Still another horn found measured 12 feet.

A Minnesota college has a tooth I did have weighing 5.5 pounds, found on the Round Mountain Creek south of Camp Springs. Hence Rhinasonodon skeletons are often mixed with other dirt constantly washing away and filling in. Yours truly, Camp Springs. J. O. GUINN.

(Editor's note: In the excavation article used in last week's Times, to which Mr. Guinn refers, it should have been stated that the land on which the remains were discovered belonged to J. A. Hood of Snyder).

 Additional development of another raw material of which Texas has a huge store is seen in the announcement that Arkansas men have secured a mountain of limestone near Big Spring and will establish a lime-making plant that will give employment to 150 men.

What My Job Means to Me

MY JOB means far more to me than just a paycheck.

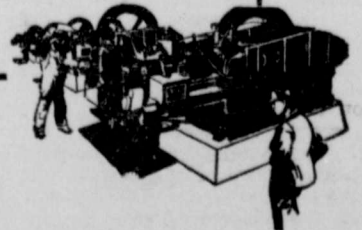

I realize the responsibility that goes with it.

I know that homes must have heat and that most of them depend entirely upon natural gas. I am a part of that service which provides instant heat as soon as you light the burner on your gas equipment. If I should fall down on the job, there would be inconvenience, discomfort, suffering in many homes.

I know that, even though our customers seldom think about it, they rely upon the dependability of our service and depend upon its being available instantly and without interruption... day or night... regardless of the weather. I know it's my responsibility never to fail that trust.

This is what my job means to me.

With one accord, the small army of men responsible for bringing natural gas from the wells to your burner subscribe to this code. Their cooperation is an important part of our gigantic effort to provide for you the safety and security of an unexcelled fuel service.

MISS ANNE ROOS

Miss Anne Roos, a member of the national leadership training staff of the Girl Scouts, who was in Snyder with Miss Alice Mulkey, also a member of the Girl Scout national staff, January 24 to 26, as a guest of the local committee.

Miss Roos has had wide and varied experience in the nine years that she has been associated with the Girl Scouts. She has taken all the courses at the national leaders' training camp, Edith Macy, Briarcliff Manor, New York, where she is an instructor during the summer months. Two years ago she took courses at Foxden, the English training camp for Girl Scout Guides. Miss Roos is a graduate of Syracuse University.

LEADERSHIP IN GIRL SCOUTING CITED AS NEED

Volunteer leadership is the backbone of the Girl Scout movement, in the opinion of Misses Anne Roos and Alice Mulkey, members of the national field staff of the Cactus Region, who were in Snyder this week. The region embraces Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

"There is no lack of girls who want to be Girl Scouts," Miss Roos said. "Many more troops could be formed in every community if there were enough enthusiastic young women willing to work with them."

It is upon the development of the right type of leadership that the growth of the movement depends, Miss Roos said. For this reason the organization has worked out a system of training courses for potential leaders.

"It used to be that anyone who had a little spare time on her hands could start a Girl Scout troop," said Miss Roos. "Now the idea is discouraged. Certain definite qualities are required for the handling of young girls. The organization is looking for joyous, young women who can share in the adventures of the girls and who will help them to work well with others and to develop initiative and resourcefulness."

"To such women, girl scouting offers a wider horizon and a possible vocation. Keeping in close touch with young people is the surest way to retain one's own youth. Through the training courses offered to leaders, young women may find their own hidden talents and develop hobbies which will mean much to them in later life. But above all they have the pleasure of working for and with youth, helping to build for the future citizens of the country."

Mrs. Whitmore Is Club Hostess.

Mrs. J. T. Whitmore was hostess to the Altruistic Club Friday afternoon at her lovely home.

MODERN GROCERY ON SQUARE REFLECTS FAITH IN NEW YEAR

Max Brownfield and Henry Wilhelm
Manage Store: Owned by Kelly and Brownfield.

Piggly Wiggly No. 2, its interior glistening with fresh paint, crisp groceries and the smiling faces of Managers Max Brownfield and Henry Wilhelm, will open its doors to Scurry County food buyers Saturday morning.

Disregarding the soul-weary "Hard Times" cry that comes from many sources, and believing that expansion is possible when one can deliver the goods, Maurice Brownfield and Charley Kelly, owners of Piggly Wiggly No. 1, present a modern grocery store in every respect, plus the kind of service for which their first house has become so well known.

Special features, plus the opportunity to select food from a brand-new stock, will be offered all day Saturday. Plenty of extra clerks will be on hand to care for the expected crowds of shoppers, say the managers.

From one end to the other, and on to the front, the new store, located on the southwest corner of the square, contains standard Piggly Wiggly fixtures, a newly installed refrigerator, and other equipment to make it up-to-date in every respect. Besides a full line of staple groceries bearing standard trade marks, the new Piggly Wiggly will offer fresh fruits, vegetables, and other supplies expected in a well-refrigerated store.

The new managers, as well as the Piggly Wiggly owners, extend an invitation to all Scurry County shoppers to inspect the new store during the grand opening Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mathif of El Paso were week-end guests of J. M. Harris and family.

Here's Introducing Piggly Wiggly and Her Snyder Family

When Mrs. Piggly Wiggly came to Snyder in 1927 her family was rather small, and all the original members have already departed to other climates.

Now the family has grown to such proportions that they need two homes—and Piggly Wiggly No. 2 is the result. In case you haven't become acquainted with this jolly crew of grocery-vendors, have an introduction:

Maurice Brownfield and Charley Kelly are the papas of the family. Believe us, they are wise counselors, and know how to buy family necessities at rock-bottom prices—and to sell them the same way. They manage No. 1.

Max Brownfield is one of the managers of the new store. "Hank" Wilhelm is the other. Young fellows, but as pleasant as ever you'll meet.

Oscar Mustian is the butcher in the case. He slings a wicked meat knife, and how he can decorate that showcase!

Frank Hall is the "house" boy. He's turning out to be a merchant in the making. And there are two or three other youngsters who do what there is to do about the two stores. You'll know them by the help they give and the smiles they keep.

Max Brownfield, Henry Wilhelm in Charge of Store

Max Brownfield and Henry Wilhelm are the smiling young men who will have charge of Piggly Wiggly No. 2 when the spick-and-span grocery opens for business.

Both of these popular young men "know their onions." They know their other groceries, too, and have been given their new places because they have proven themselves capable young business men.

Max has been associated for some time with Piggly Wiggly No. 1. Henry or "Hank," as he is usually called, was associated with the Wilhelm-Morton Company, Inc., until his recent assumption of a junior partnership in the Wilhelm & Son store.

Max and Hank have the enviable reputation of knowing just about everybody they meet, and meeting about everybody they know. With this combination of knowing their folks and their groceries, the Piggly Wiggly owners know they are making no mistake in their choice of managers for Piggly Wiggly No. 2.

Mrs. C. P. Coches and son, William and Misses Vivian and Anna Bess Curry of Seminole stopped in Snyder for a short visit Tuesday with friends. They were en route to Fort Worth, where Miss Anna Beth will enter R. C. U.

Mrs. C. H. Cooper returned to her home in Fort Worth on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Tom C. Davis had as her week-end guests, her two brothers, Oscar Pollard of Kansas City, Missouri, and N. P. Pollard of Sweetwater; also Mrs. N. P. Pollard and Miss Lois Pollard of Sweetwater.

* SIMMONS UNIVERSITY STAR BASKET BALL QUINTET *

G. L. Huestis, former Snyder High School three-letter man, is one of the five standouts on the Simmons University Cowboy squad, which won overwhelming victories over their first two Texas Conference foes. Besides playing guard most capably, he has proven himself a goal taker of note, stacking up several points against Tech last week. It will be remembered that G. L. starred on the local quintet of 1929 that whipped the Abilene Eagles in two successive games. The Cowboys loom as strong contenders in the title race which they have won for three successive years. They hold the distinction of being strictly a sophomore team. Every regular is a second year man and four of them are only 19 years old.

Only One Vacant Space on Square Found in Snyder

With the opening of Piggly Wiggly No. 2, the vacant buildings on the Snyder square have been reduced to one—the southeast corner building formerly occupied by the Scurry County Oil Exchange.

The only other building on the square not now being used for business purposes is the Cozy Theatre, which is temporarily closed. The fixtures and stage remain there, however, so the space is not available for use of any other business.

A remarkably large number of buildings on streets running into the square are also filled, giving Snyder an enviable reputation as a town where business keeps on keeping on despite depression and drought.

Opening of the new Piggly Wiggly store is an example of the faith Snyder business men hold in their home town.

Internationalism Leading Subject At League Meet

"Keeping International Relationships Christian" was the principal discussion at the quarterly meeting of the Sweetwater district, Epworth League, in Colorado Sunday. D. P. Yoder of Snyder talked on the question and a round table discussion followed.

One of the largest crowds in the organization's history was present for the entire program, which opened with a social period Saturday evening. Snyder will be host to the next meeting of the young people, which will be held late in April.

Clarence Walton, district president, led the following Snyder delegation to the meeting: Ruth Yoder, Dorothy Darby, Allene Curry, Raylene Smith, Virginia Yoder, Mrs. Homer Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Yoder, D. P. Yoder, Felix Jarrett, LeRoy Pesmire, Carl Young, Jack Isaacs and Happy Talley.

ONLY QUALITY MEAT HANDLED

With the opening of the Piggly Wiggly market late in 1930, the owners let it be known that only quality meats would be handled. That same policy has been followed to this very day, and it will continue to be followed, say Brownfield and Kelly.

"We will always offer quality meat—live-and-let-live prices, but we will buy cheap meats and slash them to the bone," declare the owners. "The same policy is carried out in regard to our delicious home-made sausage. Our other market specialties."

Oscar Mustian, the Piggly Wiggly butcher, has had plenty of experience behind a meat block, and he has become well known in Snyder for his ability to display his products artistically and to give you what you want.

Miss Johnny Lou Callison of Colorado has been a guest of Miss Pauline Jones for several days. She was a pleasing soloist at the First Baptist Church Sunday evening.

Miss Frances Sears of El Paso is here for an extended visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McClinton.

Plenty of Parking Room Provided for New Piggly Wiggly

If it's plenty of room you want when you go parking for groceries, Piggly Wiggly No. 2 has it.

Located on the southwest corner of the square, with "wide open spaces" running in two directions, the new store offers relief from regular Saturday afternoon trouble about finding any parking room.

Max and Henry are ready and anxious to give you curb service, if you need it, and if not, to at least sell you the groceries you need within a few feet of where your car is parked. The curb at the front of the store has been reconstructed to provide even more convenience than that corner formerly offered.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Scott and son, J. D. Scott, were called to Wichita Falls during the week-end because of the serious illness of their daughter and sister, Mrs. O. D. McCoy, who is now improving.

Miss Claraella Freeman has returned home from a two weeks visit at her home near San Antonio.

Welton Hawkins of Fort Worth was a guest in the Guy Adams home over the week-end.

Carl Green of Abilene was the week-end guest of his sisters, Mrs. Clyde Shull and Miss Vesta Greene. H. H. Thomas will attend the J. C. Penney Company convention to be held in Dallas Saturday.

Mrs. John Whitmire and little daughter, Mary Alice, visited with relatives in Fort Worth Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. McGahey and son, Phil Jr., are back at home after two weeks in Rotan, where the local pastor led in a revival meeting.

QUICK GROWTH REFLECTED BY SECOND STORE

Present Owners Took Charge of Small Grocery Business on November 26, 1928.

A Horatio Alger story could almost be written about the remarkable growth of the Piggly Wiggly system of grocery selling in Snyder, under the direction of Charley Kelly and Maurice Brownfield, the owners.

Back in 1928—November 26—these two young men, ambitious to begin a business of their own, purchased the Piggly Wiggly store, which was then operated by H. G. Sanders. The store had been opened under the Piggly Wiggly banner only a little more than a year before—October 1, 1927.

Charley was a groceryman when he formed a partnership with Maurice, but the latter had been associated with J. H. Sears & Co. for some time, and was new in the "prune-peddling" business. But both of them had the same idea in mind—the sell quality groceries at the cheapest prices possible, and to give those little extra touches of service so appreciated by the buying public.

The combination worked! At the end of two years—December 8, 1930, to be exact—the business in the small building had grown to such proportions that the Saturday overflow crowds were tremendous, and the week days were little better. So Charley and Maurice moved to their present No. 1 location from the building now occupied by Ware's Bakery.

They not only moved to a new building, where they had more storage room and more room for display and customer convenience, but they installed one of the most modern markets in West Texas, and put a capable butcher in charge.

This is just a brief, sketchy history. Behind the scenes Charley and Maurice were cultivating the friendship and caring for the grocery needs of a fast-increasing number of housewives, farmers and ranchers. They were working long, weary hours. They were trying new

"Advertising Pays" Proves Good Motto Says Piggly Wiggly

That famous stage play, "It Pays to Advertise," which was recently translated to the Palace Theatre screen, has been enacted on a somewhat smaller scale in the case of Snyder's Piggly Wiggly.

Consistent advertising in The Scurry County Times, Brownfield and Kelly have discovered, has been the spark plug in their successful grocery business. Since they started their regular campaign back in 1928, they have missed only one week, and that was a holiday edition which didn't reach all their customers in time to be of full benefit.

"It's consistent advertising that really counts," Charley and Maurice will tell you. "And we have found through experience that The Times is the best medium possible for telling folks of Scurry County about our store news."

Beauty Expert Will Give Services Free

Miss Lillie Mae Smith, beauty expert, will give free demonstrations at Stinson Drug Co. No. 1 beginning Monday and ending Saturday of next week. The well-known specialist will give advice on personal beauty problems, give free facials, and show how women may give facials in their homes.

Patrons of both Stinson stores are invited to take advantage of Miss Smith's advice and free demonstration.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boren visited in Fort Worth last week-end. They were accompanied as far as Breckinridge by Mrs. Gertrude Smith, who visited with friends and relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. West and son, Lewis West, of Lamesa, have been visiting with relatives in Snyder this week.

Boss Baze and Ernest Taylor are in Las Vegas, Nevada, on business this week.

merchandising schemes, introducing new products, but always keeping up their quality, low prices and extra service.

Charley and Maurice have succeeded. Their latest conquest is reflected in Piggly Wiggly No. 2.

Grammar School Honor Roll Shows Names of 156 Youngsters of Snyder

One hundred and fifty-six youngsters earned places on the honor roll for the third six weeks of school, or the last part of the first semester, according to R. S. Sullivan, principal who has prepared a copy of the roll for publication.

Superintendent C. Wedgeworth joins the grammar school principal in saying that the work during the first half of the school year was of exceedingly high caliber in comparison with years where equipment and faculty were more complete. Many new children have enrolled since the second term opened, and it is possible that a new record may be established in this respect.

Penney Manager Off For Dallas Session

H. H. Thomas, manager of the local J. C. Penney Company store, leaves Saturday for Dallas to attend the annual spring convention of the organization he represents. Sessions will be held at the Baker hotel. Managers from 200 stores covering this section will be present.

Before leaving, Mr. Thomas said, "Two very important subjects will be thoroughly covered at the meeting. First will be the matter of merchandising of products at the new low price levels which have been established during the past two years. The other will be the matter of our relations with the public, which should result in a better understanding between the buying public and the retail stores they patronize."

Sweetwater Stages Well Known Play by Pollock Next Week

For the first time in two years, a theatrical road show will be seen in Sweetwater on Thursday night, February 4. Arrangements have been completed by H. M. Rogers of the R. and R. Theatres whereby Channing Pollock's latest play, "The House Beautiful," will be seen at the city auditorium. This is a play which originally was presented at the Apollo Theatre, New York, last spring, and ran well into the summer. Its success was regarded so highly that two companies are offering it throughout the United States and, despite the general condition of theatricals, they have been highly successful.

Probably one of the great reasons for their success is the fact that "The House Beautiful" is not only good entertainment but it suits the times and is a play that not only thrills its audiences but it sends them away in a comforted mood. It deals with a couple, Archie and Jennifer Davis, who, as newlyweds, buy a lot on which they build a home. The play carries them through their 30 years of married life during which time they suffer the misfortunes that come to most people and enjoy the happiness that come to the average couple. In fact, this play has "knighthood Mr. Average Man," according to Cosmo Hamilton, the author, who is one of the thousands who have approved it.

A little grandson of Colorado was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Boyd last week.

"BOTTLE LEGGER" Customers Return MAKES BAD SALE

A new "bottlelegger" was introduced to the Dunn populace a few days ago, when J. C. Beakley sold a pint of one of nature's chiefest beverages.

Two youths from the Cuthbert community, seeking some of the brew that burns, inquired of Dunn's lazing delegation where they could buy a pint. Mr. Beakley was designated—Mr. Beakley, whose stand on prohibition and things moral is known all over the countryside.

"Do you sell whiskey?" the Cuthbert leader asked the Dunn citizen. Thinking he was talking to a local boy whom he didn't recognize, Mr. Beakley told them he had plenty of the stuff. When the visitor actually called for a pint, the pioneer saw that he was a joke victim. Instead of letting his identity be known, however, he carried out his part to the letter, and questioned his young visitor about where he had been getting his drinking whiskey at other times, etc.

Going to the kitchen, he secured a pint fruit jar, filled it with water, put it in a paper sack, and exchanged it for the Cuthbert youth's dollar. "It's guaranteed," were his parting words. "If it doesn't please you, bring it back and I'll refund your money. He urged them, however, not to stop in town, lest someone learn that he really was bootlegging.

In less than an hour, the boys returned. They wanted their money back. Mr. Beakley carried his high-poweed joke a little farther, then proceeded to preach the leader a full-grown sermon on prohibition. In the meantime, the second visitor became impatient. He honked the car horn several times, whereupon the Dunn "bottlelegger" went to the door, and told the driver he'd turn his buddy loose before long.

He did turn him loose; but it is more than probable that those two Cuthbert youths avoid Dunn the next time they get the whiskey urge. Mr. Beakley returned their dollar, of course, but he says he received enough kick from the experience to pay his laugh bill for many days to come.

J. H. Hurley and son have recently moved to Snyder from Coke County. They are operating the Owl service station.

Dunn News

Susie Johnston, Correspondent

Rev. Showalter of Abilene preached at the Christian Church here Sunday night.

The junior boys and senior girls played Colorado basket ball teams Thursday night at Colorado. Scores were 16 to 4 in favor of the Dunn boys, and 20 to 32 in favor of the Colorado girls.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Moon of Brownfield are visiting their daughter, Mrs. T. J. Fuller.

The senior boys' basket ball team entered the tournament at McCamey last week-end. They drew Odessa, a hard team, as their first opponent, but this team failed to arrive, so they played Rankin and beat them. They next played McCamey and were defeated by about 10 points, the writer failing to learn the exact score. Those making the trip were Coach Guy Stark, Royce Johnson, Morris Ashley, Alvis Gary, Ernest Lassater, Hugh Brown, Ray Sherrard and Paul Johnson.

Miss Arvie Bishop is very ill at this writing.

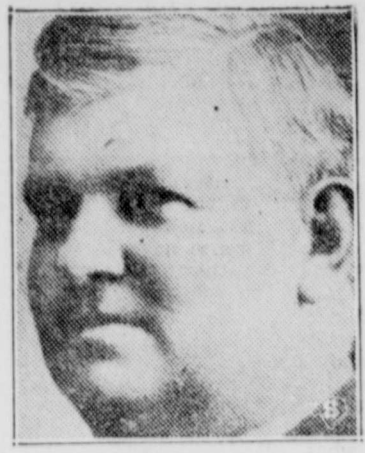

N. W. West, accompanied by B. M. West of Snyder, left Tuesday to attend the funeral of their brother-in-law, Larry Malloy, at Kennedale.

Martin Murphy, who is attending Texas Tech at Lubbock, spent the week-end with homefolks.

J. T. Clay, accompanied by Walter and Charlie Clay of Pleasant Hill attended the funeral of their sister and aunt, Mrs. J. T. Guinn, at Rusk.

It was very cold in our community Sunday.

GRESHAM DEAD

O. P. Gresham, 60, widely known editor and fraternal worker, died last week after a brief illness at Temple, Texas, his home. Gresham was editor of the Pythian Banner Knight for 30 years and was chairman of the executive board of the Texas Editorial Association at his death. He established early newspapers at Temple.

Pyron Correspondent Tells of Sights Seen on Recent Trip to South Texas

Miss Addean Reed, Times correspondent at Pyron, returned a few days ago from a two weeks' visit with relatives in South Texas. She writes of some of the sights she enjoyed while gone in her regular news letter to the home county paper.

The following paragraphs are taken from her letter this week:

I landed in South Texas, about 75 miles south of San Antonio, January 9. The trees were all green and the cotton stalks that had not been plowed up were still green and in bloom when I left.

The scenery that caught my attention most was about the Rio and Nueces Rivers. The big elm, ash and oak trees covered with mustang grapevines and hanging with long-grained Spanish moss, were beautiful. The moss hangs from 10 to 12 feet from the trees.

Another thing to impress you with that was different from that now in West Texas, was the fact that we would go driving at night in open cars without wraps and be perfectly comfortable.

The people down there have gardens growing and have fresh vegetables just like we can here in the summer. I really believe the prettiest sight is the rich green leaves and big yellow fruit on the orange and grapefruit trees.

Another thing of interest to me was the glass factory at Three Rivers, Texas. It is very interesting to see how glass is made from sand and shaped into bottles of all sizes and shapes.

An old crater of an abandoned gas well furnished a thrill for me. The crater was formed when the well exploded as it was being drilled. The derrick and machinery fell into the hole. The top of the crater is 75 feet in diameter, and one can walk down to the water, which is standing about 30 feet from the top. The old well blows off a head of gas about every 15 minutes.

There is a flowing well close by this crater, the water from which is very salty.

41 MILES without Water...

... Conoco Germ Processed Oil Saves Motor

When Walter H. Freed reached Pueblo, Colorado, after a 41-mile drive from Colorado Springs, his car was so hot it had to be put into gear before it would stop!

Had plenty of Conoco Germ Processed Oil in the car. No steam was coming from the radiator, so he did not suspect the cooling system.

But a garage man found not a drop of water in the radiator! The 41 miles had been driven without water in the radiator—only the oil to keep the motor from burning up.

We neither encourage "dry radiator" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, testify to this and hundreds of other annual tests of Conoco Germ Processed Oil—run of ten to over fifty miles, with the crankcase empty.

Holly Shuler Seeks Commissioner Place For Precinct No. 2

I am herewith announcing my candidacy for commissioner from precinct 2, and feel that I am capable of handling the affairs of the precinct. I have lived here over 33 years, with the exception of the time I spent in school and in the army.

I believe in handling the affairs of the county as one would do in handling his own affairs, that is in a most economical way and is one that you get value received for each dollar spent.

I am sure I do not need any introduction to those that have lived in this county or precinct a number of years, but to those that have recently moved here I earnestly request that you inquire of my character and ability.

I intend to see each voter in this precinct, but if I should fail to do so, I trust you will not hold it against me, but give me your careful consideration.

Assuring you that I shall appreciate your vote and influence and promising you that I shall do my very best to make you a good, economical commissioner, I am, Yours very truly, HOLLY SHULER.

"I am in favor of starting at home with our tax reduction program, and making the tax burden fit the productive value of real estate and other property."

"As a pioneer of this great western country, I feel that I know its needs, and can render the type of service needed in these trying times. I earnestly solicit the influence and vote of citizens in my precinct."

Cavern Elevator Now Being Used; Guide Fees Drop

National Park Service, through Thomas Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns National Park, has just made the important announcement that the recently completed electric passenger elevator, through the 750-foot shaft, was placed in public operation last Sunday. At the same time, the government's guide fee through the caverns will be reduced from $2.00 to $1.50 each person, and a fee charged for elevator service at 50 cents for each one-way trip. There will be no change in the regulation that children under 16 years of age are admitted free, when accompanied by parents or guardian. Children will be charge 25 cents elevator fee, however.

The elevator at Carlsbad Caverns was installed with the view of accessibility to persons that could not comfortably negotiate the trail system, and the National Park Service urges the visitor to enter and leave the cavern via trail. Each person thus would save 50 cents.

Governor Arthur Seligman, of New Mexico, on Saturday, January 23, formally dedicated the elevator at the invitation of the secretary of the interior and the director of the National Park Service. The New Mexico newspaper association was in session at Carlsbad on January 22-23, and participated in the ceremony, together with many persons whose interest and work for the caverns, has so rapidly placed it in the front rank of America's showplaces.

FARM CENSUS

McDonald pointed out. Indirectly it will aid them, he further explained, in preventing the ill effects of misleading crop reports based on erroneous estimates of acreages, by reducing speculation in farm products through giving farmers dependable information on the supply, thus reducing the speculation margin that is necessary when an uncertainty of supply exists.

Helps Crop Reports. Statistician Robinson declared that the census will be of great value to him in compiling Texas crop reports and estimates, for it will serve to correct an error.

"The census material is important to the farmers for it will be an inventory for the benefit of the farmers," he declared. "As all big businesses annually make an inventory so that they can plan their next year's program, the census will be an inventory for the farmer so he too may logically plan his next year's program."

He complimented the tax assessors of Texas for their indicated willingness to do the work of gathering the census information without remuneration.

"The tax assessors by their work will do a great service for the farmers of Texas," Commissioner McDonald said.

Mr. Robinson, who will have in charge the compilation of the information obtained through the census, pointed out that the individual reports will be held confidential. "Individual information obtained by the census will not be used for tax purposes, but it will be held very confidential, with only the tax assessors and the compilers seeing it. Individual operations will not be disclosed under any circumstances," he said.

Commercial interests in virtually every line of industry will likewise benefit from the information to be obtained by the census. It will tend to stabilize the marketing of farm products, it was pointed out.

Value of crop reports, based on a farm census, information, are summarized briefly:

To farmers—Directly: Guide to changing acreage of particular crops; guide to marketing, best indication of future price.

Indirect Benefits. Prevents ill effects of misleading crop reports; reduces speculation; aids in determining whether to expand or contract business operations.

To bankers and financiers—Basis for providing credit for production, storage and marketing of crops.

To manufacturers—Guide for determining quantities to be manufactured; basis for distribution of manufactured products.

To meat packers—Reduces the uncertainty of supply, reflects future price trend and reduces the necessary handling margin and enables the payment of maximum farm prices.

To agricultural college workers—Best basis for crop production programs.

To business men—Basis for determining relative agricultural resources and advantages.

To economists and business analysts—Essential for analyzing agricultural and business conditions.

To business men—Valuable guide for determining whether to expand or contract business operations.

For general public welfare—Nearly all business is inter-dependent. That is, the prosperity and development of one business depends a great deal on the prosperity and development of all other business. Crop reports furnish an indispensable link between agriculture and other lines of business. Agriculture prospers directly and indirectly through the more economical manufacture, transportation of products, which in turn increases the buying power of consumers for farm products as well as manufactured products.

"As a pioneer of this great western country, I feel that I know its needs, and can render the type of service needed in these trying times. I earnestly solicit the influence and vote of citizens in my precinct."

poration. A difficulty, according to one view, is that even a small percentage of the prospective borrowers could, if permitted, absorb the entire capital of the corporation. The corporation bonds, however, are not available for discount through the Federal Reserve system, but are made available for trust and other funds the security of which is controlled by law.

"Provision is made for financing transactions involving the exportation of agricultural or other products, which covers the entire export field. Foreign acceptances are usually taken through banks for short periods up to ninety days. The corporation would be empowered to accept 12-month acceptances payable by payment in the United States in dollar acceptances, and pledged by American securities. It does not make eligible obligations covering goods in transit or in warehouses in foreign countries, but requires dollar acceptances or American-secured acceptances.

"According to the members who steered the measure through Congress, organizations of export corporations are being formed with expectation of stimulating the sale of American farm products abroad, particularly wheat and cotton. Months ago officials of the administration sought to induce greater export of both commodities but found banks cautious about accepting the foreign paper. The gigantic government organization will be in position to furnish the credits on a long time basis when they fall within the country's foreign reserves have insisted on the long time terms.

Condition of County Finances Discussed In Detail by Judge

In the issue of this paper which came out January 7, carrying my announcement for the office of county judge of Scurry County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary July 23, I stated that my formal announcement would follow shortly, and I am offering the following for your consideration:

I think the voters are entitled to know something of the life of a person offering for public office, and my financial condition is one of the policies involved, then something of the policies proposed by the person offering for such office.

I am 38 years old. I was born on a farm in Parker County and my father still owns and lives on the same place. I have never lived within a mile of the place where he was born. During my boyhood I attended the rural school in our community, and later attended Weatherford High School, and the State Normal at Denton.

After the war I did half-time teaching in a rural school at Weatherford and took a full course in law. When the United States entered the World War I entered the service, being discharged after the Armistice. Soon after the war I tried my hand as a teacher in New Mexico, where he now owns and works on a ranch during this time. In all I taught in the public schools about seven years, the last of which was in Snyder as principal of the high school. I married in Snyder in 1924 and entered the practice of law in June of the same year, in which practice I have been actively engaged since.

On September 28, 1931, I was appointed by the commissioners' court to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Judge Buchanan, which was already in operation a well defined program of economy and I simply took where Judge Buchanan left off, and have continued to carry on. Probably of most significance to the county was the curbing of unnecessary expenditures and the stopping of various leaks which have crept in over a period of years. That I took over the duties of county judge under very trying circumstances, I think generally recognized. Some of the more important items were: The failure of the county depository which caught all of the county's funds; all of the sinking funds, and there are 11 such funds, without money to meet the payments coming due regularly. This was the principal financial condition that only approximately 50 per cent of the taxes were collected in 1930; all current funds except the jury fund heavily in debt; and the fact that during this winter would be enormous; and the additional fact that so-called high finance is in about the same condition that we are in, and to refund any of the county's indebtedness is extremely difficult, if not impossible at this time.

Principal and interest on debts made when times were good and money cheap are coming due regularly and the responsibility falls upon the commissioners' court to provide their payments now when conditions are bad, money high, and taxes not being paid. To go into liquidation is to reduce the party's credit to a minimum. The party's credit is to be maintained as long as possible, and the party is to be kept in a position to meet its obligations when the time comes.
