"YOUR HOME COUNTY PAPER"

SNYDER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1932.

NUMBER 7

FORTY-FIFTH YEAR.

MANY UPSETS FEATURE POLL RETURNS HERE

Curnutte Becomes Judge; Leath, Longbotham, Williamson and Darby Take Leads.

The political football was booted in all directions here Saturday, and when the dust of the first primary cleared one new official had been crowned in Scurry County's official family, three old officials had been retained by handsome majorities, and eight campaigns had turned out to be upsets or "horse races."

R. H. Curnutte, leading John E. Sentell, incumbent by appointment, by less than 100 votes, became county judge. W. W. Nelson retained his collector's job for a second term against the opposition of C. E. Ross. W. B. Dowell easily kept his commissioner's job in Precinct No. 4 despite the threat of J. O. Leach.

Warren Dodson won a lopsided decision over Dick Webb, last-minute searcher for the county attorney's place, while F. I. Townsend was returned almost unanimously as county chairman, and H. J. Brice was named for his first elective term as county surveyor.

Leath Takes Lead.

In the five-cornered sheriff's race, G. H. Leath took a lead over Henry Newman, with Bill Taylor, J. M. Pagan and O. I. McClinton following in the order named. Bernard Longbotham led the incumbent, Sterling Taylor, for the assessorship, with Joe Wilson pushing hard for third place.

The three races in which a total of nine women and two men were candidates left six of the women in the run-off. Mrs. O. S. Williamson topped the treasurer's race, with the precinct of Edna B. Tinker, following for a run-off place. Mrs. Fritz R. Smith, Clara Whitley Jones and Mrs. W. W. Gross followed in order.

Louise Darby, district clerk, led Mrs. Mattie E. Trimble for the county clerkship, with Elmer Louder not far behind for third. Miss Mary Maude Akers led the district clerk field, Miss Mable Isaacs won the runner-up place, and Dr. Sed A. Harris dropped only a short distance behind.

Four More Run-offs.

Three run-offs will be necessary in the commissioners' races. In the first precinct, Forest Jones stepped ahead of J. C. Day, incumbent, with Little Westbrook trailing. Holly Shuler paced the Precinct No. 3 commissioner race, with C. W. Davis, E. V. Boynton running third. Lee Grant, incumbent, kept ahead in Precinct No. 3, closely followed by E. F. Wicker, who will enter the run-off, Ross Bishop, and F. M. Brownfield.

Zack Evans maintained a lead in his race for re-election as public weigher in Precinct No. 1, with Johnnie Jenkins running a close second, and R. L. Terry third. J. W. Clawson defeated C. W. Davis, and will continue as Precinct No. 2 weigher, while K. B. Rector took an easy lead in Precinct No. 4 for re-election over T. J. Hodnett.

Campaigning is already well under way for the second primary, which will be held on August 27. It is believed that an even keener interest will be seen in the run-off races than was shown in the first primary. About 2,400 votes were polled Saturday, while only 1,833 poll taxes had been paid.

TWO GAMES ON TAP THIS WEEK

The Snyder baseball club, unbeaten for five consecutive games, will attempt to continue its winning streak on two occasions this week. A picked nine from Dunn will be on hand this (Thursday) afternoon. The batteries have not been announced.

Hamlin, with a reputation for aggressive ball playing, will come to town Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for a game that was postponed last week. Horton, who has won all of the six games he has pitched for Snyder this year, will try for his seventh victory. One of the heaviest crowds of the year is expected for this tilt.

And another thing: It's worth a dime to see one of those games. Take your pocketbook along.

Pyron Resident Dies At Age of 71 Years

J. T. Miller, 71, passed away Sunday, July 24, at his home at Pyron. Funeral rites were conducted Monday at the family residence, with Rev. C. E. Leslie of Hermleigh officiating. Odom Funeral Home was in charge, and burial was in the Snyder cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, four daughters and two sons.

Funderburk Chosen As Associate Judge

O. C. Funderburk was an easy winner over E. M. Overshiner in his race for election to the associate judge's bench of the Eastland court. He carried all counties except Taylor County, Overshiner's home.

In Scurry County, where Funderburk was actively supported by a number of friends, the incumbent led by a two-to-one margin.

Election Extra Is Popular In County

The Times election extra, issued about 8:00 o'clock Sunday morning, proved to be extremely sought after in parts of the county, and 2,900 were printed to satisfy the demand.

Due to the lengthy ballot, returns were slow in coming into the office from county boxes, and state returns were likewise exceedingly slow. Practically complete returns were furnished from county boxes, however, and a check-up proves that they are substantially correct.

The extras were not delivered to Snyder homes, as promised because practically everyone interested in the election had copies before the demand could be supplied. All towns of the county were sent a liberal supply of the papers.

FERGUSON FAR AHEAD IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Allred and Shaver Win; All Other State Campaigns Are Carried
To Second Primary.

"Ma" Ferguson was leading in the governor's race by a margin of more than 97,000 votes over Governor Sterling, when tabulations were made late yesterday. One of the largest votes in Texas history gave Ferguson 302,578, Sterling 244,850, and Hunter 196,656, with 36,400 more votes scattered between four candidates.

Attorney General Allred was far ahead of Clem Calhoun and Becker, and no run-off will be necessary. Shaver was leading Woods for the state superintendency by 352,503 votes to 337,872.

The submission of the prohibition amendment was running better than two to one, with $12,404 favoring the issue and 125,613 against.

Returns in other counties, according to the election bureau reporter, were:

Railroad commissioner (six years)—Satterwhite 177,982; Tennant 128,256; Terrell 259,386.

Railroad commissioner (four years)—Cullerson 106,046; Hatcher 186,374; Thompson 195,654.

Congress, place one—Parrish 80,444; Terrell 106,298; Williams 67,651.

Congress, place two—Bailey 157,906; Davis 95,616; Holcomb 2,008.

Congress, place three—Burkett, 69,137; Hyer 49,570; McGregor 69,733; Strong 118,822.

Funeral rites were held Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, with Rev. Philip C. McGahey conducting. Odom Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in the Snyder cemetery.

"Uncle Charley" was born March 26, 1855, in Wayne County, Tennessee. He became a resident of Texas in 1876, and has lived in this state for the past 56 years. In 1892 he was married to Miss Belle McClean of Waynesboro, Tennessee, who survives him. Two brothers, Dr. J. E. Dodson of South Pasadena, California, and A. D. Dodson of Snyder, with whom he had been almost constantly associated all his life, also survive.

Forty-two years ago the pioneer was converted and became a faithful member of the First Baptist Church. He had been superintendent of the junior department of the Sunday school in the Snyder church for more than 20 years. Two generations of the same family are said to have gone to Sunday school under him in more than one case. Thousands of children knew him as "Uncle Charley," friend and companion.

Mr. Dodson taught for some time in Snyder and Scurry County schools, and also was in the drug business in Snyder before he retired several years ago.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. J. J. Anderson and son, Pierce Anderson, of Redlands, California, are visiting relatives and friends in the county. The Andersons formerly lived at Ira. Pierce is pressman on the Redlands newspaper, and called at the Times office for a visit Wednesday with two sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Perry.

Unofficial Returns in Scurry County Boxes

Below is a complete table of the unofficial Democratic primary election returns to Scurry County boxes, on district, state and county offices, exclusive of congressman-at-large and precinct races. Summaries of the latter will be found elsewhere in this paper. These figures, for the most part, have not been changed since the election extra was issued Sunday morning. In uncontested races and in one instance where only one name was on the ballot for an office, full totals are not available. Official returns will be given next week.

Grain o' Sand Meets An Army

By Lucile Robertson
A STORY FOR CHILDREN

Big Red Ant and Grain o' Sand were soon on their way to the ant's castle. Again the ant was carrying grain, for they could get there much faster that way.

"How far is it?" Grain o' Sand wanted to know.

"Um-m-m. Let me see," said Mr. Ant as he walked along. "You see, I walk to so many places before I come to that hole, that I can't exactly tell how far it is, but we won't be long, I think."

Just then the ant stopped and raised his head to look about. "Someone is coming!"

Grain then looked and said, "I think it is another ant and he is coming straight toward us."

"I wonder who it is and what news he will have."

"They didn't have long to wait, for the two ants reached each other."

"Do you come from the castle, or have you, too, just come from the search?" asked Big Red Ant.

The other had to blow his nose before he could answer. "I have just come from our Queen, who sent me to look for you. The young queens have not yet been found."

"I am on my way there now," Big answered. "What does her Majesty want, do you know?"

"I ask no questions. I obey commands," answered the other, again blowing his nose.

"You have a terrible cold," said Grain sympathetically.

The ant was startled. He hadn't noticed Grain on his friend's back. He sneezed twice in his astonishment.

"Why, how did you come to be up there? But I forget my numbers. . . . You say I have a cold. No, it is hay fever," the ant said politely.

"Well, you see, I didn't know," explained Grain, "because I can't tell when your eyes are red."

At that both ants laughed heartily. Then they took up their journey again.

Neither of the ants said anything, which left Grain to his thoughts. He was dreaming that he killed the ants, who had captured the princess, and had restored them to their mother. Just as he was about to bow before the queen to receive her thanks (in his day dream), a whole army of ants appeared over at one side.

Big Red Ant stopped short, then asked in a low voice if they were friends or enemies.

The other ant didn't know, so they crawled into a clump of grass to watch, and Grain was almost brushed off by one of the blades. He didn't have time to think about it, though, for he had never seen so many ants in all his life, and they were coming straight toward the hiding place!

"Lie Down," whispered Big Red Ant to his friend. "We mustn't take any chances until we see who it is."

Prize Essay: Why the Eighteenth Amendment Should Remain Intact

(Note.—This is the second of a group of essays on prohibition written by Snyder High School students during a contest sponsored by the Altruism Club.)

By Dawson Bridgeman.

There is no question but that prohibition is the most vital issue before the American people today. It is a pending political issue and is clogging the wheels of progress, which will effectively prevent any constructive legislation worth while until the question is disposed of in our nation.

This matter should have been settled when the eighteenth amendment was ratified, but the persistence of the friends of the liquor traffic was too great.

Again this issue is before us. The battle must be fought anew, and it is a fight for the moral forces to champion.

America, as compared to other nations, is the greatest; we have more automobiles, telephones, radios and paupers we have only one to look for you. The young queens have not yet been found."

"I am on my way there now," Big answered. "What does her Majesty want, do you know?"

"I ask no questions. I obey commands," answered the other, again blowing his nose.

"You have a terrible cold," said Grain sympathetically.

Aubrey Wiese Gives Party for Friends.

Aubrey Wiese entertained a group of his friends at a party given last Wednesday evening at his home, 2312 Thirty-First Street.

Various games were enjoyed, after which refreshments were passed to Misses Ruth Williams, Martina Jo Jenkins, Frances Northcutt, Florence Winston, Estine Dorward, Evelyn Raybon, Roberta Ely, Frances McCarty, Mary Margaret Towle, Frances Stinson and LaFrances Hamilton; Messrs. William Boren, Sonley Huestis, Coleman Smith, Bob Hamilton, Lewis Wilford, C. C. Cross, Dallas, Grady Ferguson, Jack Martin, Horace Holley, John Blakey and Corwin Patterson.

Shuler Girls Are Party Hostesses.

Misses Geraldine Mavis and Maxine Shuler entertained with a treasure hunt and slumber party Tuesday evening and night.

The girls met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wren and from there the treasure hunt started. The sandwiches were served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shuler, after which the group attended the theatre.

Friendly Helpers Meet Thursday.

Mmes. A. D. Moore, Gus McClinton and Porter King were hostesses to the Friendly Helpers Class of the First Methodist Church at the home of Mrs. Moore Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Lee Stinson, class president, was in the chair and had charge of the business session. The class voted to order and pay for its own literature for one quarter. Mrs. Bill Crowder donated dutch doll blocks for a quilt, and this quilt was on exhibition, beautifully set together and ready for sale.

At the end of the business session, Mrs. A. D. Moore was the recipient of a handkerchief shower by individual members and a gorgeous bouquet from the class as a whole. Mrs. Moore is leaving for Abilene next week.

The hostesses served delightful refreshments to Mmes. J. G. Whitmire, H. C. Moore, L. T. Stinson, Tate Lockhart, Fred Joyner, T. J. DeShazo, Ivan Dodson, Joe Stinson, John Louder, H. C. Vann, R. H. Odum, Wellington Taylor, A. E. Wiese, Homer Snyder and Mrs. C. C. Harless. Mrs. Harless was a guest.

Mrs. Noah Huggins returned to her home in Pecos Sunday after a visit to Snyder. She was accompanied by Mr. Huggins and Harold Davis, also of Pecos, who were week-end guests here. Miss Wynona Keller returned home with Mr. and Mrs. Huggins for a visit.

Miss Leora Huggins, who has been visiting in Pecos, has returned to her home to spend the remainder of the summer. Miss Huggins teaches in Eastland.

Mrs. Bernice Doak of Fort Worth is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brownfield.

Lee Smyth of Fort Worth is a guest in the home of his brother, J. C. Smyth, and family.

Mrs. J. C. Stinson underwent a tonsil operation at the Emergency Hospital Monday morning.

Mrs. H. G. Towle and daughter, Miss Mary Margaret Towle, were visitors in Colorado Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Boren and little son have returned home from an extended visit in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bertram and daughter, Bonnie, and son, Tom, of Lamesa were week-end visitors in Snyder.

Mrs. T. S. Egerton and daughters, Misses Dorothy and Nana Bess Egerton, left Monday for a vacation stay in El Paso.

Mrs. T. J. Bryant returned home Sunday from the Emergency Hospital, where she recently underwent a minor operation.

VERY LATEST

by MARY MARSHALL

Here's a new collar that will give new chic to one of your summer dresses at very, very small cost. You may make it to match the trimmings of a dress or to match a hat and wear it with any one of several dresses as a substitute for jacket or other wrap.

The collar consists of a strip of side pleated silk and a band of the same silk used for the top of the pleating and the strings for the scarf. For the pleating you will need a piece about 10 inches deep, 75 inches long to make a strip of pleating 25 inches long. Cut the strip of silk 2 1/2 inches wide so that when folded over lengthwise, stitched one-fourth inch from either side and drawn right side out, you will have a band one inch wide. The 25 inches in the center should be used as a band on which to mount the pleating.

You may make a scarf of this sort of plain colored silk crepe to wear on a figured dress or of dotted or otherwise printed silk crepe to wear with a plain toned dress. To wear as a very light evening wrap or scarf you might make the pleating of light toned chiffon.

Two short ends and one long side of the big piece should be finished with a narrow flat hem or machine pleat and should then be taken to the professional pleaters to be laid in fairly wide side pleats.

Guests of the homes of R. H. Curran and family and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hagan Sunday were Mr. Curran's and Mrs. Hagan's sister, Mrs. Floyd Countiss, and son, Floyd Jr., and Jack Mills of Midland. Mrs. Countiss remained for an extended visit. Her mother, Mrs. W. W. Curran, has been very ill.

SEEING MEXICO FROM THE AIR

The following extract is from a letter written recently to friends in Snyder by Miss Maurine Cunningham, who is attending summer school at the University of Mexico, Mexico City. Miss Cunningham is teacher of Spanish in the local high school. The latter part of June she boarded a Pan-American airplane at Brownsville, and made the trip to Mexico City in a few hours.

The trip was fine. "Plain" things are the best, especially where trips are concerned. I was supposed to stuff cotton in my ears, but I didn't for fear I would miss something, and as a result I am nearly deaf. It was quite thrilling to be so close to heaven!

We flew over the Gulf of Mexico without seeing land for three hours. When I looked out and saw nothing but water I longed for earth. Then we flew for three hours 18,000 feet high above lofty mountains, and I could look down and see earth. Believe me, I was sure "stirred up."

My heart beat as fast as that as it was supposed to for 10 days, due, so the doctor said, to the trip.

The climate here is ideal for the summer. One needs a coat most of the time. I don't think I have yet recovered from the spell of enchantment that historical and romantic Old Mexico has thrown over me. At times, when I see the yoke of oxen, water carriers, packs of burros, ancient and medieval architecture, I feel as though I were living in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. Then again, I am conscious of the fact that I must be living in the thirtieth century so far advanced are some forms of civilization.

I am intensely enjoying the many glamorous beauties which Old Mexico displays half sadly, half coquettishly, but altogether charmingly.

Keeping Grocery Bills Low. A grocery bill not exceeding $2.50 per month for the last three months is the way Mrs. J. A. Hamilton of Nueces County describes the benefit of her work as a 4-H Club pantry demonstrator which has resulted in 727 cans of food of 30 different varieties.

Ruth Anderson Auxiliary Meets.

The Ruth Anderson Auxiliary of the First Methodist Church met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. P. W. Cloud, with Mrs. J. D. Scott as assistant hostess.

An interesting Missionary Voice program was enjoyed, the devotional being given by Mrs. Wellington Taylor. Mrs. R. H. Odum spoke on "Spiritual Life and Cultivation." A leaflet on "China" was read by Mrs. Cloud. "Stewardship" was Mrs. Homer Snyder's subject.

The auxiliary presented Mrs. A. D. Moore, a member, with a pretty set of shербets. Mrs. Moore will leave soon for Abilene to make her home.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Ivan Dodson, E. H. Odum, A. E. Wiese, Tate Lockhart, J. G. Hicks, Wellington Taylor, Homer Snyder, Hal Yoder, A. D. Moore, J. G. Whitmire, Wayne Boren and Fred Joyner and Miss Wauwita Darby.

CHINA GROVE IS LOSER TO TIGERS

Albert Carlton went into a batting slump as Snyder collected 19 hits off the offerings of Swan and Slater, in a baseball fracas played Tuesday afternoon. Batting six times, "Schoolboy" hit three long triples and a homerun for 13 total bases, and batted in five runs—probably a record for several years. The score: Snyder 22, China Grove 7.

Swan was ineffective for China Grove and went out in the fifth in favor of Slater, who fared no better. Slater hit a long homerun and walked three times. Horton and Hill each got three hits, and Joyce and Curry and West got two each. Every man on the Snyder club got a hit except Jones, who relieved Curry in the seventh and only batted once. Snyder hit five triples and two homeruns for 16 extra bases.

Curt Horton kept his slate clean in pitching Snyder's sixth straight win. Horton has won every game pitched this year for Snyder.

The box score:

| Snyder          | AB | R  | H  | E |

China Grove Church To Be Sunday Host To B. T. S. Workers

China Grove Baptist Church will be host Sunday afternoon to B. T. S. (for B. Y. P. U. workers from the Mitchell-Scurry Association). A program that includes several members of the Snyder church will be given from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock.

Melvin Newton, vice president and program chairman, announces the following program:

2:00—Song service, led by China Grove.

2:15—Devotional, "The Pathway to Leadership," Rev. L. L. Trot, associational president, Champion.

Special music—Snyder.

2:30—"Better Christian Leaders for Tomorrow," Mrs. A. G. Eiland, Snyder.

Special music—China Grove.

2:30—"The Fruits of Extension Work," J. C. Smyth, Snyder.

3:10—Business session.

Special music—China Grove.

3:30—Address, "The Transformed Leader," Rev. Dick O'Brien, Colorado.

4:00—Adjournment.

New Line-Up Seen On Golf Ladder as Test Matches Close

Yesterday afternoon after the dust had settled and cards had been checked at the close of the qualifying test at the Country Club, Snyder golfers found that many positions had been changed on the team's ladder. Some new faces broke into the first flight unexpectedly and consequently some of the old ones had to be content with positions on the B team. Scores ranged from 71 to 120 on the 18-hole medal play test.

Following is the order in which the players lined up: Earl Fish, P. W. Cloud, Wayne Boren, Otis M. Moore, Creston Fish, J. W. Roberts, W. W. Hill, W. T. Raybon; second flight: W. F. Cox, Buck Stacy, W. E. Holcomb, G. A. Hagan, Robert Curmutte, R. H. Odom, Hugh Boren Jr., Sam Williams; third flight or all-stars: C. Blackard, Ivan Dodson, F. M. Brownfield, W. C. Hooks, Lex Wilmet, J. W. Scott, Charles Kelley, A. Norred, H. Bannister, Loren Cotton, G. B. Clark Jr., J. P. Nelson.

"Drink," said the Irish preacher, "is the greatest curse of the country. It makes yer quarrel with yer neighbors. It makes yer shoot at yer landlord; and it makes yer miss him."

Patient to dentist—"I think you could have got my tooth out easier than that. I could move it about with two fingers."

Dentist—"Yes, and you could move a cow's tail with one finger."

Can or Jar Size Important Urges A. & M. Expert

In the midst of the biggest home-canning season in Texas history comes warning to canners to be sure to select the right sized can or jar according to kind of food to be preserved and size of family, and to can the varieties of fruits and vegetables that will give a healthful diet.

For families of two, points out Miss Lola Blair, nutritionist in the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, half-pint jars or No. 1 cans should be used; for families of four or five, pint jars or No. 2 cans; and for families of six or more, quart jars or No. 3 cans because of the rule to can in the case of bulky vegetables like greens, and corn, which should not be put into quart jars or No. 3 cans because of the difficulty in getting the heat to penetrate the centers.

"With big gardens this year filled with many varieties of vegetables," says Miss Blair, "it is foolish to invite stomach troubles and sluggishness next winter by an unbalanced selection of canned products. Everyone should have at least three servings of leafy or green vegetables every week, and preferably every day. There should be at least one serving a day of starchy vegetables, and at least one serving daily of other vegetables. Tomatoes or citrus fruit should be eaten at least three times per week, and one serving of some kind of raw fruit daily.

"A family of five should have about 120 cans of leafy or green vegetables, such as greens or string beans or peas for the six winter months; 100 cans of starchy vegetables, such as corn; and 80 cans of other vegetables, such as beets, okra, squash or carrots. Of tomatoes there should be preserved 120 cans, and of fruits 150 cans. If other fruits cannot be afforded, people can get along with tomatoes, so far as health goes. Roselle is a garden fruit which can be substituted for more common fruits, and in sections where it will grow rhubarb can be substituted."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, D.D.

International Sunday School Lesson for Sunday, July 31.

Lesson Text—Exodus 16:1-5, 14, 35.

Golden Text—James 1:17.

When God wrought the deliverance at the Red Sea, bringing Israel over on dry ground and destroying the Egyptians in the sea, there was great jubilation. They sang a song of victory and praise. How ashamed of their complaints and grumblings they must have been in the presence of such a wonderful display of divine compassion and power!

Would it not be supposed that this experience would inspire a new trust in Jehovah and that when the next trouble appeared they would humbly wait upon Him to show the way? In a few days, however, the spirit of complaint again appeared and, shortly, the whole congregation was murmuring against Moses and Aaron and crying for the flesh pots of Egypt.

Human nature is always the same, rebelling against the discipline and hardship which is essential to the making of character, and forgetful of the mercies of God.

In reading the story of Israel's wanderings, it is easy to discover that though God bore patiently with their complaints, bestowing constant mercy and care, nevertheless unbelief was continually robbing them of highest blessing. God knew their physical need and a trustful faith would have assured a full supply.

It is clear that God had something higher in the Psalms. "He gave them their request but sent leanness into their soul." Psalms 106:15.

How often do God's children, by their impatience crying for some present selfish need, sacrifice or delay some greater blessing! It is to be observed, also, that God's provision was one day at a time and the attempt to hoard the manna brought only disappointment and sorrow. Likewise we should receive early and receive each day our spiritual food. Spiritual life is sustained one day at a time.

Tennis Players Get Hot During Summer

Tennis players at Fluvanna are itching for a county-wide tournament, and Luke Weems was a committee of one to ask The Times to sponsor a racquet clash soon.

After consultation, it was decided that the tournament would be postponed until the latter part of the summer, when baseball interest will have died and summer school attendants at colleges would be back home.

If sufficient interest develops, definite plans will be made for the tournament during August. Entries are expected from Hermleigh, Fluvanna, Dunn, Pyron and other points in the county.

Former Snyder Boy Does Record Solo Hop

Aviation is a fast game for youngsters, but Sam Werner Wilborn, a former Snyder boy, is just a little faster.

The 16-year-old Austin boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilborn, who formerly lived here, will be a high school senior next year. He is "walking on air" these days, after making his first solo flight over Robert Mueller municipal airport recently.

He made the solo journey after only three hours and 35 minutes instruction in the air. The average time is 10 hours. Young Wilborn snatched his flying time in terms of minutes here and there when Hal Naylor, instructor, could take him up.

There is not room for fame and happiness in the same home.—Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett, divorced wife of the famous singer.

Seventeen Students From Scurry County Go To W. T. S. T. C.

"A very enjoyable and profitable summer" is being spent in West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, by 17 students from Scurry County, according to information from Victor Drinkard, teacher in county schools.

C. S. Harris, principal of the Canyon (community) school was recently elected as president of the newly-formed Scurry County Club, whose membership includes the entire group of 17. Victor Drinkard is secretary.

In addition to the student members, C. Wedgeworth, superintendent of Snyder schools, is a member. He is teaching in the college this summer.

The club membership includes: C. S. Harris, J. R. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Irvin, Marybob Huckabee, Mrs. Irvin, Gladys Bullard, Ruth Truss, Myrtle Woodfin, Mrs. Della

Vanns Enjoy Living In Town and County

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vann and their son, Bobbie, declare that Snyder and Scurry County have made a hit with them during their brief residence here. Mr. Vann is manager of the J. C. Penney store.

The enthusiastic merchant, who has been associated with the Penney company for 15 years, and who has managed stores for several years, is anticipating a gradual recovery of business conditions, and thinks Scurry County will be among the first to go upward.

Mrs. Harty: "Yes, we can trace our ancestors back to—well, I don't know exactly who, but anyway, we've been descending for centuries."

McPherson, Weldon Alexander, Earl Horton, Dorothy Egerton, J. G. Biggs, Mrs. A. A. Brock and Victor Drinkard.

Final Rites Held for D. R. Bright Friday Morning At Home

Funeral services for D. R. Bright, 72, who died Thursday, July 21, at his home, 1207 Twenty-Ninth Street, were held Friday morning at the Odom Funeral Home.

Rev. S. H. Young, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated and interment was in the Snyder cemetery.

Palbearers were J. R. Joyce, E. A. Black, W. P. Smith, Homer Jenkins, J. S. Curtis and P. E. Devenport. Misses Margaret Miller, Marie Devenport and Willie Mae Willis were in charge of the flowers.

Mr. Bright is survived by a daughter, Miss Florence Bright, of Snyder and by other relatives in Abilene.

The wages of sin are paid—but not regularly—every Saturday night.—Ralph W. Sockman.

Sand Belt Team Will Meet Big Springites

Snyder Sand Belt golfers will go to Big Spring Sunday afternoon for their next scheduled game. The team that makes the trip Sunday will carry some new material as well as one old member that has recently returned to the fold. The new members are "Red" Hill and Creston Fish, and the old one that will be back in the line-up is Wayne Boren.

The new members made the team in a qualifying test the past week and some of the old members have changed positions on the ladder. Sunday's results will prove whether or not the team has been strengthened by the shake-up.

The Times Creed.

For the cause that needs assistance; For the wrongs that need resistance; For the future in the distance, And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN.

Two of a Kind.

Someone has suggested that Hoover's double-breasted coat was built for a purpose: One breast for the railroads, the other for the banks.

The Can Rules Supreme.

If Scurry County has a master this summer, it is King Can, whose spouse is Queen Jar. These rulers, like Joseph of old, are making sure that there will be feed in the storehouse when the drouth of winter arrives.

The Tide Will Turn.

Pessimism Pete says that if he ever again has to vote a ticket containing more than 130 names, he will turn Republican or Bolshevik. Then he can draft either a Coolidge or a Hoover, or wave the red flag and scare most of the candidates out of the race.

Texas Did a Good Job.

Considering the tremendous number of names from which Texas voters had to select their second-primary candidates, the happy old state did a remarkably good job. In our humble editorial opinion, she went far wrong in a few cases, but for the most part she used the wisdom born of necessity.

Flowers For You.

Many Snyder homes—and rural Scurry County homes—have been changed from spilt-siding chalets to cozy homes because someone discovered that flowers change attitudes and ideals. It is better to have petals at your doorstep, and know happiness, than to have gold in your deposit box, and know discontent. There are flowers for you.

The Way of the Women.

Women have a way all their own, in highways political and otherwise. Again we will have a woman county clerk, a woman district clerk, and a woman treasurer, regardless of the second primary's outcome. We would have welcomed the men into office, too, but we make room for the women, and spread olive branches along their August way.

A West Texas Weakness.

West Texans have a capacity for absorbing more hard knocks than any other people on United States soil, but they also star when it comes to complaining before complaining time is at hand. Maybe that is the reason we hear a minimum of complaints when hardships actually arrive. After all, anticipated set-backs are not so sharp as realized set-backs.

We Get a Kick.

Financially speaking, The Times special edition was not such a success, but we have received so many compliments concerning the election news service rendered early Sunday morning that we are as happy as if we were not newspaper men. The weariness of our bones when the extra edition was at last printed and delivered was easily cured by the liniment of public favor.

Now You Give a Plank.

It would be interesting, if it were possible, to ask each voter in Saturday's primary to name one accomplishment or characteristic or platform plank of each candidate for whom he voted. We would discover, no doubt, that Americans vote too often for a name or for a rallying point. As a result, we are assured too often of a governmental reign of powerful names, powerful words—and powerless accomplishment.

Prohibition Jolted

Some observers believe that prohibition was severely jolted when Texas voted about three-to-one for submission of the eighteenth amendment to the year or nay of the separate states. We disagree. It is our belief that not more than 10 per cent of the people of the United States want to cast prohibition into the trash can. But the vast majority is convinced that present laws and enforcement methods are inadequate.

If Figures Could Win.

Votes have a way of winning elections, but if figures could turn the tide, many a local prognosticator could become a prophet with honor even in his own country. Figures showing that Sterling hasn't a chance, that Colie is a sure winner, that West Texas won't have a congressman-at-large, and that Terrell and Thompson will lead their fields, already have been produced several times. Watch for the Times prophecy on the morning of Sunday, August 28.

The Wisecracks Were Fooled.

The political wisecracks who saw no chance for Saturday's election, to create new records for interest are still scratching their heads and wondering how

A Clean Campaign.

The county political campaign that closed its first chapter Saturday night was the cleanest series of races ever witnessed by the Times publishers. From the beginning, candidates put their own qualifications uppermost, and left the ungentlemanly past conduct of their opponents, if any, to the vagaries of the voters' memory. The second primary, we believe, will continue on the same high plane. The remaining candidates already are campaigning like fury, but they are soliciting support and not condemning opponents. The public can do much toward keeping unpleasant personalities out of local campaigns. Unthinking tongues and polite innuendoes have ruined political futures of promise as well as the life of many a young man and young woman. Our county officers occupy places of trust and honor. Let us not vote our prejudices or our hearsays.

"Uncle Charley" Lives.

"Uncle Charley" Dodson died a few days ago, this week's paper will tell you, but those who were closest to the pioneer and friend-to-all will tell you that "Uncle Charley" would yet live in the heart of Scurry County, even if there were no life after death. Not long before he died, "Uncle Charley" wrote an article on the travesty of wasted opportunities, and The Times planned to publish it when it was revised by the author. But the publishers do not regret the loss of the article so deeply, for our friend who has gone lived the life of grasped opportunities for good. If we know a scrap of human nature or if we have an ounce of human understanding, "Uncle Charley" has changed the lives of more Scurry County children, some of whom now have children of their own, than any other man who ever moved in our little world.

EDITORIAL OF THE WEEK.

CALM CONSIDERATION NECESSARY.

Every thinking American must recognize the importance of the problem presented today after 10 years under the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law.

There are evils connected with the administration of the law. Enforcement is not without its difficulties. This cannot be ignored. There are, moreover, benefits that have resulted from prohibition which cannot be set aside and left out of the equation. There are new problems of vital import arising every year under the prohibition regime. These problems must be fairly and frankly faced. There are possibilities of improvement of method, of increasing efficiency and of decreasing friction, that are vital.

There is only one reasonable course open for those of all opinions and beliefs in regard to this important question. That course is to seek after the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth—the truth about the nature and effect of beverage alcohol, especially in this modern mechanized, closely integrated civilization in which we live; the truth about every method tried or proposed to better conditions; the truth about enforcement under varying situations; the truth about prohibition where a fair trial has been given; the truth about observance, which in a free government is of even greater importance than enforcement. The knowledge of the truth eventually will bring a solution to this perplexing problem.

It is not easy to get at the truth. There is a constantly rising fog. There is smoke and dust in the air. There are strong emotions and prejudices of various kinds. There are superficial facts and sophistries and false logic galore. All these tend to obscure rather than to reveal the truth.

One should not be so narrow and hide-bound as not to recognize the serious question the wets have raised and the many facts they have presented. Not often does it happen that one side is all right and the other side is all wrong. Both sides are usually partly right and partly wrong. Years ago, the dregs were supposed to have had all the fanatics on the liquor question, but times change, and now the dregs have no longer any monopoly. They must share that honor with their friends, the wets.

What all of us need is more light and more truth. Whatever the final solution of this perplexing problem may prove to be, the greatest obstacle in the way of finding a solution at the present time is nothing more nor less than ignorance on the part of both wets and dregs.—Dr. Ernest H. Cheagrington, General Secretary, World League Against Alcoholism.

Saying It In Rhyme.

BRIEF MOMENT.

I knew a skilled musician, Exquisite as orchid spray, Who could dry away life's teardrops By her magic touch of play.

Her career was bright and starry, Her voice could charm the ear— But instead of tinsel footlights She says: "I will stay here."

Married a handsome farmer, Who'd been kicked around by life; Lifted his thoughts to heaven Like a bar from a silver file.

Now a youngster sees him coming, Lifts his face his dad to see; The teardrops are turned to laughter By the youngster's talking spree.

I visited that same musician In their cozy, country home. Love's career was here in training A navigator of the emerald foam.

How inviting was the picture For an artist's brush to paint; Memory prints we cherish dearly We would love to etch, but can't!

—Leon Guinn.

"Oh, Gerald, I've been stung by a wasp!" "Quick, put some ammonia on it." "I can't—it's gone."

A certain Missourian recently went to his physician to tell him his troubles, saying that last night he dreamed he saw his father, who had been dead for many years. The doctor said: "What have you been eating in the way of pie for supper?" "Only one piece of mince pie," the man replied. The doctor looked at him gravely, and replied: "Well, eat two pieces of mince pie for supper and you will see your grandfather."

It all happened. The fact is that it didn't just happen; it was pre-arranged by a public which had very set ideas about how it planned to vote. The thirteenth-hour silence was perhaps a product of the depression. Men and women have learned that silence on the part of the voter is golden, and that it will mean more friends in the hereafter.

CURRENT... COMMENT

BY LEON GUINN

Fortune has concluded a survey on American housing conditions; finds complex building codes, tax levies, speculative realtors a building hindrance. . . . The conclusion being that the frontier in American housing is yet to be crossed in the low price field. . . . General Houses, Inc., a new company that proposes to build steel houses, standardize parts, sell the houses for $3,500. This definite value should make these houses easy to trade in just as you trade in your old car. . . . And numerous windows, bright colors will add to the appearance of the steel home. . . . This "machine-made" fad may be a brilliant splash of modernism on a pigmented canvass of new industrialism, but it is a complex thing this America is coming to.

Jim Ferguson, fiasco expert and occasionally called an adroit speaker, seems to think that he will sidetrack public opinion by charging the highway department with fund shortage, etc., but what ought to bother him is that income tax dodging, as summed up by the United States Internal Revenue Department. . . . Rev. Louis Entzinger of Fort Worth is a "Sunday School expert." At the convention of the World's Christian Fundamentals Association meeting in Columbus, Ohio, he told the brethren he lived not in the millennium but in Texas!

The eyes of Texas have recently been focused on Texas Tech at Lubbock, and it is indeed gratifying that Dr. Bradford A. Knapp should be elected president of this illustrious educational institution. . . . Old ranchers will long remember the late "Lo'd" Colohan, employed by Texas ranches to inspect West Texas cattle at Kansas City, for his boldly pigmented speeches of description. . . . Mill-ions of caterpillars recently stopped a freight train near Durango, Colorado, by getting on the track. . . . We wonder if the caterpillars didn't think that they could outcrawl the train?

A. H. Quin Jr., editor of the Fort Dodge Bio-Chemical Review, roundly raps biological racketeers for victimizing ranchers by selling cheap-skate vaccine. . . . And as farmers should never purchase vaccine or serum and virus except from veterinarians professionally licensed, it might be of interest to warn Scurry County ranchers not to purchase said items from unlabeled sources. You will please inform the proper authorities if any such racketeers appear here. . . . The cigar tax produced $1,501,010 in revenue for Texas during the first six months of 1932. . . . The fellow who saves his money usually is the sap who rattles his change at the counter.

If all the energy developed cheering at Snyder Saturday night could have been turned into motive power it is believed the energy would run the ice plant for a couple of weeks. . . . In other columns of The Times a full account of election returns awaits you. . . . Uncle Charlie Dodson was a great religious leader, and his joining the innumerable caravan causes us to miss him from our citizens' midst. . . . Summer vacation precautions include the important fact that you should never use a public drinking cup at any stops, because a whole rigamaroll of diseases are scattered just this way.

I remember a science experiment showing the circulation of a water heating system. After lighting the burner it was easy to trace the route of the colored water diffusing all through the cool liquid. . . . So often a merchant is fired by action and sets an advertising flame under a flask of merchandise and promptly he sees sales diffusing through the entire system; and what is more, it is easy to write the conclusion to the experiment by this notation: Increased sales! . . . George Brent's favorite role was opposite Ruth Chatterton in "The Rich Are Always With Us." He and Ruth plan to wed soon. . . . Of Hollywood's peroxidized glamor only Marlene Dietrich, Ann Harding and Greta Garbo are the natural blondes, and Jean Harlow is the genuine in the platinum field.

Washington police will eventually order the bonus boys from the town, it is hinted, although legal processes must be exploited before they leave. . . . The imperial conference at Ottawa is advocating more trade between British subjects, and America's and Canada's retaliatory tariffs have caused Canadian-American trade to fall very low. . . . The St. Lawrence waterway agreement will mean millions to America, so three cheers for the proposed ditch. . . . The cost will only be about $600,000,000 for Canada and the United States, which isn't so much as the government finds money to appropriate in numerous other ways.

Comfort Despite the Heat.

I called on President Hoover the other day. Outdoors thermometer stood at 88 in the shade. In the president's office it was a comfortable 68. That is one of the reasons why Mr. Hoover is able to stand up under his heavy task and still keep in first-rate physical condition. I went with the president to the opening of the exhibition of the Pantheon de la Guerre, the world's largest painting, commemorating the war. This is shown in a circular sheet metal building which might be expected to have the characteristics of an oven. But the same air conditioning system used in the president's office made it comfortable even under a blazing sun.

I went up to the capitol to call on a congressional friend, and found senators and representatives debating in an atmosphere of fresh, cool air in which it was difficult for even the most fervent orator to work up a perspiration. And I came back from Washington on an air conditioned train of the Baltimore & Ohio, the most comfortable railroad journey I ever made.

Mr. Hoover believes, with many others, that this air conditioning process, still in its infancy, is going to develop as big as the automobile industry.

Bonus at the Front Line.

I half expected in Washington to find squads and detachments of the "Bonus Expeditionary Force" parading all over town. I traveled pretty well over the District of Columbia and except in the vicinity of the B. E. F. Camp on the Anacostia Flats I saw nobody who could be identified as a member of the bonus seeking army. I talked with one man who had been active in getting Congress to appropriate $100,000 to send these men back to their home states.

"Most of these chaps are decent fellows out of jobs, with no resources, who just came for the lark," he said. "A few of them are rather simple-minded people who really think the government owes them a living. But in the center is quite a strong corps of Communist agitators, who have been hopeful that there would be some sort of a military or police demonstration that would give an excuse to start shooting. The Communists are looking for martyrs, but the Washington authorities have not permitted themselves to be trapped into anything out of which inflammatory propaganda could be made. But the B. E. F. certainly had some members of Congress badly scared."

Beauty at Washington.

Work on the enormous project of improving and beautifying that part of Washington which lies between the capitol and the Washington Monument has so far progressed that it is now possible for the visitor to grasp the scope of the whole work. Between the two main avenues radiating from the capitol—Pennsylvania and Maryland Ave-nually sent over the wires of the Bell Telephone System. . . . Priceless cargoes were anciently silks and spices, but today the transmission of the human voice is considered a priceless cargo.

J'EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York says: "We, in the city and state of New York, have made great contributions in the past to the non-materialistic side of American life and these contributions have borne fruit in every part of our land. We have before us the opportunity of still further service throughout America.

"And this brings forward the thought that if we are to extend that service outside our own borders we must be competent to think in terms of the whole American population, and not merely in terms of our own more narrow circle. One of the greatest privileges which I have had in connection with civic service has been the chance which it has given me to learn something of the United States as a whole. It is true that many people in other parts of the country do not understand the higher purposes of the state of New York, but it is also true that some of us in the state of New York are not sufficiently understanding of the high aims and purposes of our fellow citizens in other parts of the nation.

"In the final analysis, there is much of truth in the thought that one cannot hate a person whom one knows. Most prejudice is founded on ignorance. Most wrong thinking and most dislike is on the part of those who are strangers."

After a well known socialist had made a tour of the South, two negroes were discussing the socialistic idea of having everything in common. Joe had been converted to socialism.

"So," asked Amos, "if you had two horses you'd give me one?" "I sure would," answered Joe. "And suppose you had two pigs, would you give me one of them, too?"

"I don't do you I would." "And," continued Amos, "if you had two goats, you'd give me one of them, too?" "Go on there, you nigger, you knows I've got two goats."

First Sailor—"What did you do with your bonus?" Second Hard Worker—"Well, I spent a hundred shooting crap, fifty in a poker game, fifty on liquor, twenty-five on taxi fare, and seventy-five on a girl."

First—"But that only makes three hundred. What did you do with the other two hundred?" Second—"Oh, I don't know; I must have spent that foolishly."

Clerk (to manager)—"I've been here 10 years doing three men's work for one man's pay. Now I want a raise."

Manager—"I'm sorry, I can't give you a raise just now, but if you'll tell me who the other two men are I'll discharge them."

NOT ONLY WILLING TO SERVE YOU HE KNOWS HOW!

Willingness to serve doesn't come through training; ability does. So Conoco chooses as station salesmen men who want to serve . . . who like it . . . and trains them to be experts.

When a Conoco man fills your gas tank or supplies oil, he gives you exactly the amount you want. There's no splashing, no mess.

He gauges the air in your tires accurately and supplies the proper pressure to each, including spares. He cleans your windshield spotlessly. He fills your radiator without splashing.

The Conoco man's information service is just as expert as these things he does with his hands. Ask him about roads, mileage, hotels, camps, sports, places to buy supplies. He is ready with accurate information on these and many other subjects. He keeps his station rest rooms clean and his station inviting. He checks parcels and cares for mail and telegrams. Everything he does for you is done cheerfully, expertly. He wants to make your stop at his station a pleasure for you . . . and he knows how!

Eleventh Installment

Maggie Johnson, whose father is a letter carrier, her mother a lazy woman who has "seen better days," and her sister a boot-legger's sweet-heart who works in a beauty parlor, is stock girl in the saloon across the Five-and-Ten of San Francisco. A boy who she knows only as "Joe Grant," but who is really Joseph Grant MacKenzie Merrill, son of the owner of the "Mac," is learning the business by starting at the bottom. He doesn't like the job until he meets Maggie. And neither of them realizes that they are falling in love with each other, at first. Joe is impressed, however, by Maggie's intelligence and goodheartedness, and gives her advice on the subject nearest her heart, how to live the ideal life. She makes a suggestion for a better way of selling certain goods. He tells her father, as if it were his own idea, greatly pleasing the old man. He finds the girls he used to know don't interest him as much as Maggie does, and when Maggie discloses her love in a burst of jealousy, he realizes that he loves her, too.

Roosevelt Ends Cruise

Democratic presidential nominee, Franklin D. Roosevelt, brought his vacation cruise aboard the 40-ft yacht, Myra II, to a close at Hampton Beach, N. H., where he greeted 50,000 New Englanders in an informal address.

Joe is afraid that if Maggie finds out who he really is she will not have anything more to do with him. So he pretends that it is some fellow's car when he takes her home in his big yellow roadster. And on the way they talk, at last, about marriage.

Joe that night reveals to his father for the first time that he has been working in the store under an assumed name, and tells him about Maggie.

Joe's mother has him invite Maggie to a fine dinner party at a fashionable restaurant. There Maggie gets her first intimation that he is something besides a boy in the store. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Quiet! He had never seen her so quiet. She had conquered her first suffocating rush of shyness, she was sitting erect, and when he or his mother or father spoke, she answered.

Her look told him that he had betrayed her, bound and helpless, to her enemies. "I trusted you—I loved you when you were a shabby, dirty drunk clerk, beside me in a cheap store," said Maggie's eyes, and all the time were my employer's son, ready to make fun of me, ready to shame me—when your moment came!"

"She helped herself, awkwardly, unfamiliarly, to food, when it was presented at her left elbow on the big platters. But he noticed with a real pang of shame and concern that she hardly touched it."

"Would you ask the help if I could have some more water?" she said once. And Mrs. Merrill said quite audibly, if in an aside, "Oh, pre-lease!"

Joe looked down, his face dark. "Mother—" he murmured, choking.

A faint smile touched the older woman's painted mouth, and she said graciously, "I beg pardon?"

"Water to Miss Johnson," Mrs. Merrill said, annoyed. It was the waiter's business to see that the guest's glass was filled, but Mrs. Merrill felt illogically irritated with the guest who had had to call attention to the omission.

"And a fork, please," Maggie added.

She said it so low, with such embarrassment, that nobody heard it. "And a fork, please," Maggie repeated, audibly now.

"A fork for my fish," she said, clearing her throat. "And a fork—while you're up!"

My son Joe, here, seems to have gotten a lot more out of it than he ever did out of college!"

Maggie looked at him unemotionally. "He didn't do very well there, for awhile," she admitted quietly, "but now he is doing very well—good!" she changed it again, under her breath—very well. They all liked—

"I'm proud to hear it," George Merrill said thoughtfully.

"Maggie, Joe began at this point uncomfortably, "I thought that I was the dumbest thing she had ever gotten hold of, didn't you, Maggie? She gave me my first start."

"I didn't know who he was," she explained, with a patient glance at his mother.

"Something happened to Mrs. Merrill at that second."

"You had no idea who Joe was?" "Nobody did," said Maggie.

"What did you call yourself, Joe?" his mother asked.

"Joe Grant."

"There was an interruption. A dance had ended, and a girl and a young man came up to the Merrills' table. Joe and his father stood up, and a waiter pulled up another chair, and the girl—perfumed and rouged and beautifully gowned—sat down negligently and easily and was introduced to Maggie Johnson. Miss Millicent Russell studied the other girl comfortably, insolently, as she talked."

"Joe, I hear you're going to Japan?"

"I may go."

"I'll say anything more about this just now, Joe."

"You don't have to come with me," Maggie said stonily, to Joe. And she turned to the older man. "Thank you, Mr. Merrill. Good-night."

"You'll be with me," he said, he saw her eyes move beyond him to the door of the room and saw her face whiten. She sank down weakly into her seat again.

The party in which Millicent Russell was prominent was still lingering about its big round table, and all of its members and everyone else in the room were staring, as Maggie was, at the man and woman who were somewhat hesitatingly making their way across the floor, restrained, rather than guided, by the scandalized headwaiter.

It was all like a horrible dream to Maggie, exhausted, confused, and wearied almost beyond bearing, this fresh blow. The approaching couple were her father, diffident and bashful and frightened, and her mother, agitated and bold.

Pop's shabby old suit, buggy and limp, Pop's searching rabbit eyes and bowed, meek little shoulders, looked doubly pitiful here and Ma with the black veil falling impressively from her hat she had evidently assumed in great haste, and the dark hair in untidy strings beneath it, and the voluminous black cape she wore to funerals belying about her like a sail, was the target for all the eyes in the room.

Maggie felt her mouth fill with salt water, and her throat thicken, and her legs grow weak. She said, "That's my father and mother, Joe."

Joe had the water once again drag two chairs to the table, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, obviously gazed and astonished, sat down and were introduced.

"I am here, there someone here named Grant, and he says, 'No,'" said Mrs. Johnson. "It was just luck I happened to look in the door and seen Maggie."

"What is it, Pop? Why'd you come?"

"Maggie, a cop just why'd you come?" "That feller Elizabeth runs with has been arrested, and she's at the night court. Pop and me didn't know what to do! I give you my word that nothing like this has ever happened in our family before," Mrs. Johnson said, gently, yet in a tone of shame, to Mrs. Merrill.

"What's the charge?" George Merrill asked quickly.

"They say they were speeding," elucidated Maggie's mother, "an Chess—my daughter's friend is named Chess Rivers—had some hooch in the car."

"You'll want some money!" George Merrill said suddenly. "How much have you?"

"It happens that I ain't got more than a quarter," Len Johnson said, in his ready, troubled little voice.

"But we really were here to get from you," Ma added. "I s'pose young folks will be young folks," she said to Mrs. Merrill, "and it ain't as if Liz had been stealing or anything like that. But I thought I would warn where I stood when they got walked in. I'm not accustomed to having my daughter get into any trouble."

"Ma," Maggie said. And Joe's father noted that she only touched the older woman on the arm. But her mother immediately began a sort of rotary curtseying in farewell.

"Maggie—Maggie—why do you go in this?" Joe said wretchedly and incoherently, trying to draw her aside, catching her by the arm.

RADIO DRAMA IS PALACE FILM

Joan Bennett plays the leading role in "The Trial of Vivienne Ware," the Fox picture coming to the Palace Theatre Friday night. Based on Kenneth M. Ellis' radio drama and widely read novel, "The Trial of Vivienne Ware" depicts the thrills of a murder trial and shows to what extent circumstantial evidence may be employed in convicting an innocent person. As Vivienne Ware the beautiful society girl and heiress, Miss Bennett is tried for the murder of Damon Fenwick, millionaire architect to whom she was affianced.

The circumstantial evidence is so convincing that conviction seems certain. But the girl's innocence is established finally after the district attorney has demanded her life and her own attorney advises her to plead guilty and accept a life sentence.

How all this is brought about forms the basis of what is said to be one of the most powerfully dramatic and tensely absorbing pictures to reach the screen in many months.

Donald Cook, dark and handsome, appears as counsel for the defense. Allan Dinehart is the prosecutor and Herbert Mundin, the star witness. Others contributing to the success of the picture are Lillian Bond, Skeets Gallagher, Ruth Selwyn, Maude Eburne, Noel Madison, William Pawley and James Thomas.

Besides the courtroom scenes, the backgrounds include a prestigious night club, a hockey rink, a furniture store and street scenes. More than 2,000 extra players were required in transferring the story to the screen. William K. Howard directed.

Resolutions Passed By Baptists Praise Roscoe Man's Work

Resolutions passed at the monthly Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association meeting at Roscoe, Texas, last week, praised the work of Rev. W. H. Howell, who recently resigned as pastor of the Roscoe Baptist Church. The commendatory paper, signed by Rev. Philip C. McGahey, moderator, by Rev. W. S. Brown and Rev. A. D. Leach, follows:

"We, your committee appointed by the Mitchell-Scurry Association, beg leave to present the following resolutions concerning the going of Rev. W. H. Howell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Roscoe, from our association."

"Be it resolved, therefore: That we express our appreciation of Bro. Howell and his faithful and efficient service in our association. No pastor has been more loyal to all our associational work than he has. He is a worker; a man who can be depended on. He is everlastingly on the job for all our work. He has been vice-moderator of our association."

"Be it resolved further: That we express our appreciation for his willingness to work and to help carry on all our associational work. He has been faithful to the small tasks as well as the great. He has been a member of almost every important committee appointed in our association, and he has done his work efficiently and well. He has been a member of the associational organization for the past several years. He has been especially active in the Member Canvass and the Baylor College Campaign, working hard to make them both succeed in our association."

"Be it resolved further: That we express our faith in his consecration and earnestness concerning the work of the Lord. No man among us more consecrated than is Bro. Howell. More than that, he is a real gospel preacher, a man with a real passion for the lost and for his church and his people. Except for the above facts he could not have done the monumental piece of work that he has done at Roscoe the past two and one-half years."

"Be it further resolved: That we recommend him to the people everywhere as a man of sterling character, rugged faith, tact and persistence; a preacher of unusual ability, safe, sane, loyal and true; unwavering in his loyalty to all of our denominational causes."

"Be it resolved further: That we recommend him and his most splendid wife and family to the people everywhere. We commend them to the grace of God, and pray that the great church will call them in the near future. Our loss will be the gain of some other association."

"As per the passed motion and second of the Mitchell-Scurry Association we are preparing these resolutions for insertion in all denominational papers and our local county papers, and a copy be sent Bro. Howell."

Dr. Rosser Chooses Winners In Advance

A diary kept by Dr. E. E. Rosser reveals that the local physician picked every Scurry County first place winner several days in advance, and that he missed only one commissioner's race. In some cases, he guessed and almost hit the number of votes separating first and second place winners.

The doctor says he did not make any prophesies concerning the state races. Times reporters have found no one else who can claim this amazing distance of guessing at success.

Texas-Made Goods at Fair. Practically every line of manufactured goods will be on display in the Texas manufacturers' exhibit, which is now being arranged for the position. Band music should be plentiful. Two of the most famous bands which will be heard at the state fair are Henry Santrey's band, which will be at the auditorium, and which will be at the auditorium, and which will be on the Beckman & Gerety midway.

She—"What a lovely statue over there. Whose is it?" He—"Oh, it belongs to the town."

Mystery in Tragedy

Libby Holman Reynolds, famed Broadway "torch" singer and central figure in reported suicide of wealthy youth, husband of Z. Smith Reynolds at Winston-Salem, N. C., was held as a material witness pending clearing up of detail surrounding the death.

The FAMILY DOCTOR

by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

The Day of Rest. I feel sure our editors will pardon me, if I seem at times a little old-fashioned; there are so many funny, new theories now—and so much untried stuff advanced, that it is refreshing to go back to the old trundle-bed for a bit of old-fashioned comfort once in a while.

Isn't the family doctor a sort of guardian in his community? I think so—a trusted mentor and friend. He, above all others, must conclude God's laws are always right.

So, there's a seventh day for rest. It has been so for centuries. That assumes that we work six days. He set the example for us, in this matter of first importance. Well, how many of us observe the law—or follow the divine example? How many of us pay the penalty which is sure after many flagrant violations?

I am afraid that the church, ambitious to succeed in a holy cause, approaches very close to transgression when it fills the Sabbath with exacting ceremonies. Sunday is the day of all days when I keep my eye on the clock, to see that I shall not be late at any of my denomination's ordinances. I have somehow acquired the feeling that, if I am late, or neglectful of formal statutes on Sunday, I am not living up to my duty as a God-fearing man—a would-be setter of good example in my community. So Sunday has become almost a day of exacting requirement, with little rest. I wonder if God wants it that way?

Of course, business desecrates, gallops over, takes no notice of the Sabbath. It's the day when soft drink trade is best, and when grease and gasoline are most in demand. Even drug stores remain open on account of emergency (?) prescriptions! Would God have it so—I wonder?

New Shows for State Fair.

The Beckman & Gerety Shows, million attractions for the 1932 State Fair of Texas, are bringing 20 new shows to the fair, and two new rides, according to advance notices received from Barney Gerety, general manager of the aggregation. Features especially with the tented shows will be the famous Singers Midget Band.

Record Broken By Community Letters

Last week was something besides a banner political period for The Times for community letters than ever before.

Thirty-five writers from as many communities sent newsworthy letters of neighborhood happenings to Your Yom County Paper. Thirty-four letters had been sent in on two occasions before, but the 35 mark had never before been touched.

The publishers join Times readers in saying "Thank you!" to the faithful writers who have made our community pages so popular.

More Monkey Business.

Dr. O. L. Tinklepaugh observed the actions of two monkeys, male and female, which he had in his laboratory. He reported to the Journal of Mammology as follows:

"On two occasions, when the two animals were separated for several weeks, the eye-brows and cheek tufts of the female grew sufficiently long to alter her appearance definitely. Both times when the pair were reunited the male immediately proceeded to pull out part of the hairs of the eyebrows of the female and to bite off others which were unusually long. One by one he pulled out practically all of the long hairs of the cheek tufts, greatly changing the female's appearance. During this hair pulling activity, the male frequently leaned back and surveyed the female as if evaluating the results. This is the first recorded instance to my knowledge, of one animal's appearing to contribute to the adornment of another."

I HEARD THEM SAY WE ARE TRAVELING 900 MILES TO THE BEST MARKET

Under refrigeration and in carload lots Swift & Company ships the eggs to more than 400 branch houses, each the distributing center for a great population. Every retailer customer of every branch house is a possible customer for any eggs that arrive at a produce plant.

IT LOOKS LIKE WE ARE THROUGH! IT'S A SHORT LIFE AND A MERRY ONE.
ANYHOW WE MADE THE BEST OF OURSELVES

In these branch houses the best eggs are packed in cartons with the Brookfield label. Thousands of salesmen daily make their rounds, selling eggs, poultry and butter as they sell meat. That means economy in sales cost. Deliveries are so frequent the eggs reach the consumer in perfect condition just as they were when Swift & Company selected them.

With Swift & Company as a guide, every egg has the chance to make the most of itself. Demand is dug up by the sales force and fostered by product advertising. Costs of service are as low as long experience and great volume can make them. Profits are low—over a period of years our profits from all sources have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Democratic Storm Center

A most recent photo of Mayor James J. Walker, (Dem.) New York, around whom centers a political storm—as to whether President Roosevelt, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, remove him from office on charges filed by the Hofstadter Committee.

To the People of Scurry County:

I want to thank each and every one of you for your support and influence in my race for county treasurer, and I am counting on you again August 27. To you who supported my opponents who were eliminated in the first primary, if you can support me in the run-off I can assure you it will be greatly appreciated.

As it will be impossible for me to see each you between now and August 27, I am taking this method of soliciting your vote and influence. Gratefully yours MRS. OTTO S. WILLIAMSON.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

I wish to take this method of thanking you for the liberal support you gave me in my race for tax collector. It is not necessary for me to try to tell you how much I appreciate your support, for you cannot make it strong enough. And to those who saw fit to support my opponent, I wish to say that I hold no ill will against you for it was your privilege to vote for the one of your choice, and when you meet me just come up and let's have a good friendly handshake and be friends as ever.

My Friends Voted Me As the Leader.

My Scurry County friends proved their confidence in my ability to make them a worthy district clerk when they cast their ballots last Saturday. I am grateful for the support that gave me the leading place for the office.

In proof of my appreciation, if a majority sees fit to honor me with the office, in the second primary, I pledge my efforts toward an efficient, courteous, dutiful administration.

The support and influence of those who voted for either of my opponents is earnestly solicited in the August primary. MARY MAUDE AKERS.

To Fellow Citizens of Scurry County:

To my fellow citizens of Scurry County, and especially the voters of precinct No. 2: I wish to take the opportunity through the county paper to thank and assure you of my appreciation for the confidence you showed to have in me by placing me in the lead as your commissioner of precinct No. 2 in the first primary.

To you who voted against me, I assure you there is no ill feeling on my part. We are citizens and county neighbors; may we continue to be such.

To those out of my precinct who used your influence for me, I thank you and appreciate it. We must have the welfare of the entire county at heart to be worthy of a place in serving any part of it.

Words cannot express my appreciation to the voters of precinct No. 2 for the confidence you have shown to have in me. Far be it from me to ever betray that confidence. I solicit your continued support in the second primary and covet the support of others who voted for my opponent. I honor you with the opportunity to serve you as commissioner of precinct No. 2. I promise you an impartial and economical administration as far as it is in my power to do so. Yours very truly, HOLLY SHULER.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

I wish to sincerely express my appreciation to all those in Scurry County who received so courteously and graciously in their homes during my recent campaign for the office of county treasurer.

Especially I wish to thank my loyal friends who so faithfully stood behind me by voting and working for me otherwise.

I hold no resentment or malice toward anyone. I have been loyal to Scurry County for all my life, and my faith in her citizens as a whole has not been shaken. I still have Scurry County's welfare at heart. Sincerely yours, MRS. FRITZ R. SMITH.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

On February 17, 1932, the Commissioners' Court of Scurry County appointed me to fill out the unexpired term of Hon. W. L. Gross, deceased, as county surveyor of this county. By your vote in the Saturday primary election you have indicated your hearty approval of my acceptance of this appointment.

I want to thank each and every one of you for this vote of confidence extended to me in this election and say that I appreciate more than I can say in words the large number of votes recorded for me. I also want to say that it shall be my purpose to give each and every subject submitted to me under the jurisdiction of this office prompt, fair and impartial consideration.

Again thanking you, may I be and remain, Yours very truly, H. J. BRICE.

To the Good People of Scurry County:

I wish to take this method of thanking every one of their help and support as given to me in my campaign for sheriff, and especially to those with whom I spent the nights for their courtesy and unflinching kindness to me.

I think the support tendered to me will be an inspiration to me in the future and trust that those who supported me will have no cause to regret their support. I sincerely hope that the people of Scurry County will get wholeheartedly behind whoever is finally elected as sheriff.

Thanking each of you personally, I am, Very sincerely, W. B. (BILL) TAYLOR.

Thanks to My Friends.

I wish to thank all those who in any way supported me in my race for county clerk, and to assure those who did not support me that I hold no ill will against them.—Elmer Leader.

To Voters of Precinct No. 4, Scurry County:

I wish to thank the voters in precinct No. 4 for their loyal support which gave me the office of public weigher for another term. It is my desire to serve everyone to the very best of my ability, and I shall endeavor to extend courteous and efficient service to all. Yours very truly, K. B. RECTOR.

To My Friends in Precinct No. 1:

Your support in Saturday's election enabled me to enter the run-off as high man, and I am deeply grateful. If you see fit to honor me with the commissioner's office in the August primary, I shall do my best to make you an honest, economical and efficient servant.—Forest Jones.

Judge Funderburk Expresses Thanks.

To the people of the eleventh supreme judicial district who on Saturday last Saturday, and to my many friends who worked for my re-election, including especially those who, unknown to me, endorsed me and urged their friends to vote for me, I take this means of expressing my sincere thanks. Let me assure you one and all that I shall endeavor to merit your confidence by rededicating to this public service all of the ability I possess and all the industry of which I am reasonably capable. O. C. FUNDERBURK.

Longbotham Thanks Voters.

I want to express my sincere thanks and appreciation from the depth of my heart for the splendid vote I received in the tax assessor's race last Saturday. I shall always be grateful to you. I earnestly solicit the support of every person in Scurry County through the remainder of this campaign. Sincerely, BERNARD LONGBOTHAM.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

I want to express my appreciation for the splendid support and courtesy given me in the district clerk's race in the primary Saturday.

I earnestly solicit the support of every person through the remainder of this campaign. Gratefully, MABLE ISAACS.

To the Citizens of Scurry County:

I am deeply grateful for your hearty support and vote of confidence, which enabled me to lead the sheriff's ticket Saturday. Your vote and influence in the second primary is solicited on my ability to make you an honest and efficient officer. I especially crave the consideration of those who did not see fit to support me in the first primary. If I am your choice for sheriff, you may be sure that I shall be your servant in enforcing the law without fear or favor. Sincerely, G. H. LEATH.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

I wish to express my appreciation for the overwhelming vote you gave me in last Saturday's election. I would not be so egotistical as to boast of my success over my opponents, as these boys are all my friends and not a word of criticism from any of us during the campaign so far as I have heard.

I only hope that my life as a citizen here in the county for 27 years merits the support I received, and it looks now as if it will in the run-off, and I will appreciate every vote cast last Saturday for any of the other boys in the contest as well as those who voted for me, as I hold no grudge against anyone who did not vote for me. Very respectfully, JOE A. MERRITT.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

I wish to express my appreciation for the splendid vote I received in my race for county clerk during the first primary, and for the many courtesies shown me during my campaign.

As we near the second primary I continue to base my candidacy on my qualifications and merits. It is my desire that the remainder of this campaign be conducted on qualifications and merits and not upon personalities, and on my part it shall be conducted in such manner.

Again thanking you for soliciting your vote in the second primary, I am, Sincerely, LOUISE E. DARBY.

Thanks, Voters of Precinct No. 1.

I want to take this method of thanking the voters of Precinct No. 1 for their support of my candidacy for public weigher.

I will be in the run-off August 27, and solicit your continued influence and votes.

Duties of the office have hindered my making an active campaign heretofore, but I hope to see most of the voters of the precinct before the second primary. ZACK EVANS.

Stanton Takes Soft Match From Snyder

The Snyder Kat Klawlers found the Stanton club just too tough Sunday afternoon, and lost by a score of 10 to 34. The game was played on the Stanton course. It was the worst defeat the local Kat Klawlers have suffered since their schedule opened. W. W. (Red) Hill was the only Snyder man to win his match.

RETURNS PARTY BEST YET HELD

The election party staged by the Stinson Drug Company on the west side of the square Saturday night attracted probably the largest crowd that has ever watched poll returns in Snyder. Thousands of watchers used the seats provided, stood in front of the election board, or sat on the court house lawn.

Tuscola Pastor To Preach Here Sunday

Rev. Raymond Collier, pastor of the Baptist church at Tuscola, will preach at morning and evening services at the First Baptist Church here Sunday, according to Rev. Philip C. McGehey, local pastor, who was in town Tuesday between services of the Roscoe revival meeting he is conducting. The visiting preacher comes highly recommended as a minister. In the absence of Rev. McGehey, who ended a revival at Tuscola and began the one at Roscoe Sunday, the local pulpit was filled by Rev. W. R. Derr of Abilene, representative of the West Texas Baptist Hospital. The Roscoe meeting will continue another week. Public speaking is a form of dramatic art and has nothing to do with thinking.—Samuel Crowther.

THE GROWTH OF STATE EXPENDITURES IN TEXAS

This is the third of a series of Times articles on the state tax situation. We are quoting again from a pamphlet issued by the Legislature Committee on Organization and Economy).

Table with columns: Year, Increase, Decrease. Rows include Legislative (two-year period), Judiciary, Executive and Administrative, Military and Law Enforcement, Regulation of Business and Industry, Conservation, Health and Sanitation, Develop. and Conserv. Natural Resources, Highways, Eleemosynary and Correctional, Education—Public Free Schools, Education—Higher Education, Education—Eleemosynary, Parks and Monuments, Miscellaneous, Confederate and Other Pensions, Population.

This statement was compiled from figures shown in the comptroller's reports for 1920 and 1930, with one exception. Expenditures from local funds and certain other special funds not deposited in the state treasury were not included.

Table with columns: Receipts, Disbursements. Rows include Receipts—Taxes and Licenses, Fees and Assessments, Land Sales, Rentals, Oil Royalties, Interest, County, Federal and Other Aid, Other Revenue Receipts. Disbursements—Legislative, Judiciary, Executive and Administrative, Military and Law Enforcement, Regulation of Business and Industry, Conserv. Health and Sanitation, Natural Resources, Highways, Eleemosynary and Correctional, Educational—Free Schools, Educational—Higher Education, Educational—Eleemosynary, Parks and Monuments, Pensions, Interest on Public Debt, Miscellaneous Government Cost, Claims and Refunds.

Note.—The above reports were prepared by the state auditor and the state comptroller.

In 1930, when the population of the United States was more than five times the present population of Texas, the ordinary disbursements of the federal government totaled $63,200,876. The Texas Highway Department, shown in the above compilation as the largest spender of state revenue, collected from gasoline taxes for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1930, $21,180,893, from motor license fees $4,625,478; received $5,931,000 in federal aid and $10,937,000 in county aid. For the two fiscal years ended August 31, 1931, this department collected a total of $44,139,733 from gasoline taxes and received $9,666,562 in motor license fees. The state available school fund receives one-fourth of the revenue from gasoline taxes and this amount, in the two years under consideration, to $14,713,244. Thus all gasoline taxes collected for the two years amounted to $58,822,960. Gross motor fees collected for the same period were $27,531,846, of which $18,465,346 went to the counties of Texas. Thus the contribution of motorists in auto registration fees and gasoline taxes amounted to $86,584,829—this, of course, is in addition to ad valorem taxes and headlight testing charges.

Of all the state's expenditures, 44.86 per cent is for highways and 36.40 per cent for schools of all descriptions. The highway department alone has more than 6,000 employees. On the state's payroll in all departments, institutions and bureaus are 12,690 officials and employees. Stated another way, one person out of every 485 in Texas is a state employee; or, put in still another way, one family out of every 100 is supported from the state's payroll. In spite of its great volume of revenue, the state of Texas now faces a deficit of millions. This situation alone would necessitate an early and substantial reduction of state expenditures. Even without it, such reduction would be necessary to meet the need of the people for tax relief.

To the Voters of Scurry County:

I take this opportunity to thank the many voters of Scurry County for their loyal support that I appreciate so deeply, and by this means I ask for your vote and influence in my behalf for the office of county clerk in the second primary election, August 27. Yours gratefully, MRS. MATTIE B. TRIMBLE.

In Appreciation.

The voters of Scurry County, as well as many friends who were not privileged to cast their ballots, gave me such overwhelming support in Saturday's election that I am powerless to thank you enough. I shall do my best to merit your confidence, however, by making you a good district judge. I crave your continued support in this effort. A. S. MAUZEY.

To Precinct 3 Voters:

I sincerely thank the voters of precinct No. 3 for their loyal support in my race for commissioner. I am especially grateful that I was able to carry my home box, where I am better known, by a nice majority. I am still soliciting the votes and influence of my friends, and I earnestly solicit the votes of those whose favorite candidates were eliminated in the first primary. If elected, I shall put forth every effort to economize and save the taxpayers every dollar possible. Respectfully, E. F. WICKER.

To Citizens of Scurry County and Voters Of Precinct 1:

I want to thank you for the vote and influence given me in the first primary. I ask a thorough investigation of my qualifications, and if I have been a fair, efficient and courteous commissioner for our county, I solicit your support in the second primary. Respectfully, JOHN C. DAY.

A Word of Thanks.

The loyal support of my friends in my race for tax collector is sincerely appreciated. To those who did not support me, I wish to say that I bow to your decision and shall continue to consider you as my friends and neighbors.—C. E. ROSS.

To Voters of Scurry County Precinct No. 1:

I wish to sincerely thank each and every one who supported me in the past primary for the office of public weigher, and I also wish to thank all of you who gave me any consideration.

All people who live in the school districts of Snyder, Ira, Dunn, Canyon, Bison, Camp Springs, Bethel, Turner, Ennis Creek, Hudd, Lloyd Mountain, Crowder and County Line are eligible to vote for public weigher in precinct No. 1. Thanking you again for your support which placed me in the run-off, I am earnestly soliciting your vote and influence for the coming primary on August 27. Trusting that you will let me be your next public weigher, I am, Yours truly, J. T. (JOHNNIE) JENKINS.
