EDUCATION TO BE DISCUSSED AT BIG SPRING

Hundreds Are Expected at Rally Designed to Arouse Interest in Public School Aid.

The crisis that is confronting the public school system of Texas will be the central theme of a West Texas rally to be held at Big Spring Saturday, beginning at 10:00 o'clock. Thirteen counties, Scurry included, are expected to send teachers, trustees, county superintendents, county judges and hundreds of other interested citizens, according to C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. The rally is being extensively advertised.

Frank Farmer, county superintendent, and C. Wedgeworth, local superintendent, are planning to attend the meeting in company with a number of teachers and others interested in providing a new deal for public schools. Among those prominent in state educational affairs who have accepted places on the program are Senator Julian P. Green, vice chairman of the educational committee of the Senate; Senator Arthur P. Duggan, State Superintendent L. A. Woods and H. W. Silwell, president of the State Teachers Association. It is evident that the public schools of Texas will receive only one-half the per capita appropriation for 1934 unless the citizenship becomes informed and interested, says Mr. Duggan, chairman of the special appropriations committee. "We believe the speakers who have agreed to meet at West Texas here on April 15 are better informed as to the pending legislation, possible per capita apportionment, and the real crisis that we are confronting than any speakers who could be heard on school matters," writes Mr. Watson to local school people.

Elaine Lambert Will Present Dance Pupils

About 40 pupils of Elaine Lambert will be presented in a dance recital Monday evening, 8:00 o'clock, at the Snyder High School auditorium. There will be no charge for admission, and everyone is extended a cordial invitation to attend. "The Slave With Two Faces" is the title of the play. Elaborate costumes will be worn by the characters, and the dances will be very unusual. Special songs also are included in the evening's program. Accompanist is Mary Ruth Spears.

A synopsis of the play reads: "Two girls meet on life's stage. One has learned that Life must be her slave. The other is afraid of what Life will do to her. Others pass down this stage, but wait..."

"It is with the hopes of acquainting all West Texas with the necessity of quick action that this meeting has been called."

Simmons Exes Plan Many Meetings For Recalling Birthday

Alumni and ex-students of Simmons University will gather in local groups throughout every section of Texas to observe Founder's Day on April 17, in response to a request being sent out by Dr. J. D. Sanderfer, president of the university, and Selon B. Featherston of Wichita Falls, president of the Alumni and Ex-Students Association.

April 17 will be the one hundred and fourth anniversary of the birth of Dr. James B. Simmons, principal founder of the school and the man for whom the institution was named 41 years ago. It is observed each year at S. U., as Founder's Day.

Presidents of various town and community organizations of exes are being asked to call their members together on that day, or at some other near date convenient, to arrange any fitting program to commemorate Dr. Simmons, to formulate plans for a closer union of their clubs, and to make a definite report to the alumni president.

Baptists Attending Santone Convention

A carload of Snyder Baptists left early Monday for San Antonio, where they are attending sessions of the annual state Sunday School convention of the denomination. Rev. Philip C. McGabey, and Mmes. Earl Fish, W. B. Rodgers and Edgar Wilson compose the party.

This year's meeting was to have been featured by the presence of several leading Baptists of the Southland. Thousands of delegates were registered.

Two Attend Meeting Of Rexall Agencies

Snyder sent two delegates to the annual state Rexall meeting, which convened at Fort Worth this week. They are Joe Stinson and Herbert Bannister, who are expected to return tomorrow.

A feature of this year's session is the presence of Walter K. Liggett, outstanding druggist of the nation, and one of the world's leading financiers.

Plans for conducting the regular spring One-Cent Sale were among the important matters to be discussed.

Mrs. Dora Crowder and daughter, Forrest, returned home Saturday from a visit in Shamrock. They were accompanied by Mmes. Will Gregg and A. S. Graham of Shamrock, who visited here during the week-end.

Mrs. Graham visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Stacy.

Says Her Husband Lost 16 Pounds In 4 Weeks

"I have never found a medicine that 'peps' you up like Kruschen Salts and better still, leaves you 'pepped up.' I take it two or three times a week—not to reduce but merely to feel good and clean. My husband took it to reduce, he lost 16 pounds in four weeks." Mrs. E. A. Ferris, Washington, D. C. (December 29, 1932).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts four weeks costs but a trifle—at any drugstore in the world, but be sure and get Kruschen Salts, the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.—adv.

Relieved By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Baranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous, I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all."

Snyder, Texas, Thursday Afternoon, April 13, 1933

The Times Creed.

For the cause that needs assistance;
For the wrongs that need resistance;
For the future in the distance,
And the good that we can do.

THE WEEKLY DOZEN.

They Never Stop.
Easter may come and Easter may go, observes pessimist Pete, but the jack rabbits go on forever.
Beauty and the Beast.
The old tale of Beauty and the Beast has nothing on the new tale of beautiful women and the beastly little hats.
Meat in a Small Morsel.
Says W. A. Meeks of Philadelphia: "Some like their sermons by radio because there is no collection plate. Some business men support their trade associations in about the same manner."
And Again We Say:
Clean-Up Week officially ended Saturday, but we know of several places around town that apparently haven't discovered that the special week ever began. A little clean-up around your place would be a wonderful thing.
A Voice from Chicago.
Carl Sandburg, Windy City poet, reveals: "The past is a bucket of ashes, a wind gone down, a sun dropped in the west. I tell you there is nothing in the world but an ocean of tomorrows, a skyful of tomorrows!"
Fix Up for Spring.
Several folks are taking the spring fever in such heavy doses that they are remodeling and improving around their homes. The New Deal is on its way, and it will be accompanied by skyrocketing prices. You'd better fix up now, while labor and material are dirt cheap.
Keep Your Car Penned—Unless.
A few car owners seem to assume the attitude that a great injustice is being done them when officers insist on collecting fines for driving without 1933 tags. Except in rare emergencies, pray tell us, how can a fellow find money to buy gas and oil if he can not find funds to help pay for the road he runs on? Arrest 'em, Mr. Sheriff, say we.
Speaking of Clean-Ups.
We learn from a trade journal that one newspaperman, cleaning out behind the drawer of his cash register, was rewarded with the discovery of $23.18 in cash, a check for $6.25, some slot machine slugs, a piece of poetry, three rent receipts, and two I. O. U.'s. But that trick didn't work in the Times office, even if dust does get in deep sometimes.
Righteous Indignation.
The Akron tragedy is almost past history in most of our minds, but righteous indignation is yet stirring in many hearts. If any man can give a sensible reason for building a $5,000,000 craft that can be punctured by a round of machine gun bullets or destroyed by an ordinary storm, we'll give him what remains of the freedom of the press.
Education at the Crossroads.
The average layman apparently has little conception of the tragedy that faces Texas' public school system unless the Legislature gets up some extra steam on the question. This sluggishness will be partially corrected in a giant rally for West Texans at Big Spring Saturday. Fortunately, Scurry County's two school leaders, C. Wedgeworth and Frank Farmer, are unselfishly and actively interested in giving the public school student the opportunity he deserves. They expect this county to send a fine representation to Big Spring.
You Are Paying, Too.
If you think all this talk of increase in government expense is bunkum, take a squint at figures just released by the Department of Commerce, Washington. Based on an estimated population of 5,893,000, the per capita cost of operating our state government in 1931 was $12.12, or $71,418,296. In 1917, the per capita cost was $4.59. Figures are not given for 1932, but it is certain that the per capita was more than $12.12. Of the government costs, $41,663,273 was for highways, $10,671,435 for maintenance, and $31,011,838 for construction.
Texas Insurance.
In most cases, any restrictive measures that would keep capital out of Texas are not wholesome for our economic appetites. But the Robertson insurance law, over which legislators and outside capitalists have wrangled so long and bitterly, gives a type of protection for state capital that is difficult to over-estimate. Texas boasts some of the strongest—and probably as many—insurance concerns as any state in the nation. Their earned proceeds are re-invested in Texas. We say keep the Robertson law intact. If outside concerns want to operate in the Lone Star State, let them invest most of their earnings with us.

On Codes of Morality.

The Scurry County Times quotes a portion of the Star-Telegram editorial favoring adoption of the Duvall bill to permit horse-racing, in which the statement was made that "wherever the American public has been permitted to express its opinion, it has passed judgment of failure and condemnation upon those laws which, in the effort to enforce a private code of morality, have placed taboos affecting the private conduct of its citizens." The Times says: "We would like to see The Star-Telegram's definition of a private code of morality as opposed to a public code of morality."

The distinction is one which, our history proves, a great many people have been unable to make—though it is not to be believed that the Snyder writer is one of these. In certain regions of the earth the code of public morality requires that every person shall bear a certain number of slashes on each cheek. In another region the public code of morality requires that no animal shall be killed, and that accordingly the people must refrain from eating meat and suffer the attentions of insects without attempts to exterminate their tormentors. In another region closer home playing cards outside a private home is forbidden by the public code of morality, no matter what the game being played or whether it is for stakes or not. In each case, the thing forbidden is what is deemed immoral in the private code of some persons, and these have enforced their private code of morality as the law of the land.

Of course, what is not moral in private is not moral in public; but the discussion does not turn on what is moral and what is not. It concerns the assumption, for the ruling of the public, of the idea of an individual or of a group of individuals of what is moral.

There are instances of private codes of morals whose adherents make no effort to enforce them as public codes of morals. The Hebrew religion places a taboo on the consumption of the meat of swine but the Jews do not seek to have the eating of swine flesh forbidden to the public by law. Some religious groups abstain from meat during certain periods, but they do not seek to have their private code of morality enacted into law for the whole people.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Alas, a lack and a jockey! Readers of The Times will probably be deeply moved to learn that this editorial writer, instead of being an average Gulliver, is a moronistic Lilliputian. For, even in the face of Star-Telegram sympathy, he clings to the old-fashioned—and biblical—idea that morality is morality wherever it is found.

Morality, the meticulous Mr. Dictionary Webster relates, is "conformity to the standard of right; righteousness; virtue." Despite its constant conformance with the Waggoners and their millions, the Star-Telegram would probably not assume that gambling is moral, publicly or privately. We gain an added impression from the fact that Mr. Among Carter, S-T publisher, is one of the outstanding civic leaders of the nation. We venture that not more than 10 per cent of Uncle Sam's population would question the immorality of gambling, on horse races or on poker chips, although a much higher percentage actually gambles occasionally.

The Star-Telegram accepts the popular rather than the literal meaning of morality. The three examples it gives of so-called private morality being imposed as public morality are far-fetched. Two are forms of fanaticism, not morality. The other—the public taboo on card playing—we grant, may be interpreted as an unjust taboo placed by a misnamed sense of private morality.

In short, card playing in public places, simply for entertainment, is immoral to a small group of persons; we do not believe it should be outlawed. Horse race gambling, or any other form of gambling, is immoral to practically all of us, although we condone gambling because the flesh is weak; we believe it should stay outlawed. In the same tenor, murder is immoral to most of us, although Chicago—and Fort Worth—gangsters employ it for private gain.

Speaking of gangsters reminds us that Fort Worth citizens recently became so upset over vice in their city that a gambling den was broken to smithereens, several prominent officials were ousted, and a general clean-up was staged. In general, we admire the Star-Telegram. But in this instance, Fort Worth people who wanted the most startling facts concerning the indignation clean-up read another Fort Worth daily. The Star-Telegram was strangely silent.

Yep, we are old-fashioned. We accept Webster's definition of morality, not the Star-Telegram's. We believe horse race gambling is immoral, publicly and privately. And we believe the Star-Telegram to be strongly civic minded, but extremely weak-minded morally.

If you would have a faithful servant and one that you like, serve yourself.

CURRENT COMMENT

BY LEON GUINN

When the silver cigar of the United States Navy, known as the U. S. S. Akron, had its fabric cover torn by a storm and its framework cracked like macaroni by terrific air currents off the New Jersey coast, radio flashed the news in split seconds. . . . The disaster assumed a tragic aspect when 73 enlisted men went down with the dirigible, upholding all the fine traditions inherent with a line of work as national in scope as defense routine. . . . If the loss of the Akron ($5,500,000) were all attached to the deal, replacement could be assured, but the loss of Rear Admiral Moffett and the other gallant men is beyond human replacement.

Three survivors are left, fortunate in their escape from churning waves. . . . Most of us recall seeing the Shenandoah in 1925, as the huge cigar crossed Texas. . . . And we, of course, saw the Akron more recently crossing West Texas en route to Lakehurst. . . . Since most dirigibles have crashed during windstorms, reasons may be deducted, for future consideration, in operating lighter-than-air ships, paid for by the all of us.

First, dirigibles are primarily for observation purposes in clear weather. Therefore, it is doubtful if U. S. Navy-owned ships should be on flight duty when a foggy condition prevails, or when weather forecasts indicate unsettled air currents.

Second, lighter-than-air ships are not by nature an all-weather method of transportation, hence it is obvious only 75 per cent of schedules could efficiently be maintained (75 per cent is a high rating).

Third, after all, the non-technical viewpoint of the people will govern future dirigible building or flight, congressional courts of inquiry not considered, so it should be of interest to note that the public only demands that such a mass of hellum and framework be flown when feasible weather permits marginal safety in excess of safe flight requirements.

Sixth Installment

SYNOPSIS—Pauline, sentimental, trustful, sincere and loving love, becomes engaged and marries Dennis O'Hara in the belief that their blissful happiness will continue through all the years. On her wedding morning she awakens with a strange premonition that maybe love does change, a thought buried in her mind by a letter from her closest friend, Barbara, the night before. Pauline adored Barbara, who had been married, was the mother of a child which died, but now divorced and living a life which some of her friends could not understand. Between Dennis and Barbara is a seeming wall of personal dislike by both. Six months after Pauline's wedding, Barbara comes for a short stay. During this visit Barbara confesses to Pauline that there is a man she really loves, but she refuses to tell his name. Barbara decides suddenly to go home and Pauline insists Dennis bring her to the station. Irritated, Dennis drives recklessly, and they are in a crash. Barbara escapes injury but Dennis' leg is broken. As he returns to consciousness he learns who the man is that Barbara loves. It's himself. Dennis spends several weeks in the hospital. Barbara returns to stay with Pauline, but on one pretext or another fails to visit Dennis with Pauline at the hospital. Pauline plans highly for Dennis' return home. Barbara stays only one day after Dennis' return from the hospital. Much against his will Dennis finds a new attraction in Barbara, who plays the same, cool and detached role as formerly. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

"That's very unkind. What mischief am I in? I've never done you any harm, have I?"
"I should never give you the chance," he answered grimly.
Barbara laughed, a cool laugh of amusement. Then she moved away from the fire and sat down on the couch. "Well, tomorrow I shall be gone," she said with a little yawn.
Dennis fidgeted. "Where are you going?" he asked rather jerkily.
"Home—you must come and see me some day. Get Pauline to bring you," Barbara said with a faint mockery. "If you don't care to come alone."
He turned around, looking at her squarely. "Do you imagine that I am afraid of you?" he asked angrily. Barbara opened her eyes wide; they looked very dark, like deep pools of still water.
"My dear man, what a question! Of course not."
"That's fortunate," he said, "because I've never been afraid of a woman yet, and I'm not likely to begin now."
Barbara's sounding words—when in his heart he knew that he was most afraid of Barbara Stark than he had ever been of anyone in his life.
"There is no need for anyone to get up and see me off," she told Pauline. "If the maid will bring me some toast and a cup of tea—that's all I want. I'm catching the night something."
"It used to be Dennis' train," Pauline said reminiscently. "I know it's wicked of me, but I'm so glad he can't go back to business yet. It will be heavenly to have him all to myself for a little while."

Jerry Barnet met Barbara in New York.

He was a square-shouldered, cheery soul, with a loud laugh and an absolute gift for making a hash of things. He boasted rather proudly that nothing ever went right for him.
"Born under an evil star," he would chuckle. "Well, it's all in the game of life, I suppose. Awful!"
He had failed in business and failed in marriage, and at the moment was keeping his head above water and having what he called a "bon time" because his father had recently died and left him a considerable sum of money. "I shall lose it all, you see, if I don't," he told Barbara cheerfully. "The only hope is for you to take me in hand and look after things a bit."

"My dear man! What would your wife say?"
He grinned. "She'd say what she always did, I suppose: 'Jerry, you're a damned fool!' Not so sure she's not right, too."

ROTAN SHOULD WHIP TIGERS IN DISTRICT MEET

Snyder and Abilene, Winners Last Year, Will Probably Drop to Second and Third.

Unless the Rotan Yellowhammers show down considerably at Abilene this week-end, they should win the district track and field meet with little ado.

The local Tigers, winners of the event last year, have a mathematical chance to win, but the chances are that they will fall behind Rotan and possibly behind Abilene.

Buck Howell's graduation will probably prove the fly in Snyder's ointment of repeating hopes.

Four Record Holders. McClinton set a mark of 24.9 in the low hurdles last year.

Incidentally, Scurry County's two leading stars—McClinton and Ashley—are two of four district men to compete this year who hold high marks at the Abilene meet.

Rotan Wins Everything. Rotan has been uniformly successful in a series of practice meets.

The annual district meet will be held at Abilene High School's new stadium, rather than at the old stadium, as has been customary.

Coach Moore expects to carry a squad of seven men, with the expectancy of winning several seconds, thirds and fourths to carry up the local pointage for a chance of repeating the 1932 conquest.

big help to BOWELS What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork every day! It's easy, if you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor: 1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day. 2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself. 3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day. Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get a thorough cleansing-out, and won't leave your insides wet and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! How good you feel with your system rid of all that poisonous waste matter.

FRIGIDAIRE

We invite you to see the new Super Series FRIGIDAIRE holds 1/4 more food freezes more ice

AND SETS NEW STANDARDS OF BEAUTY, QUALITY, CONVENIENCE AND ECONOMY

We want you to see this new Frigidaire. With its smooth flowing lines, panelled design and sparkling lifetime porcelain it introduces an entirely new trend in refrigerator style and beauty.

Never before have so many conveniences been assembled in one refrigerator—1/4 more food space with no increase in outside dimensions—automatic tray releasing that causes the ice trays to float out at the touch of a finger—shelves that are adjustable—a frozen storage compartment—double hydra-tor capacity—interior light—automatic defrosting—and many other features that save time, work and trouble.

The efficiency of Frigidaire's famous two-cylinder unit has been increased twenty per cent. It uses only a small amount of electricity—no matter how hot the weather. In its chromium fittings, porcelain cabinet and powerful mechanism, the Super Series Frigidaire reflects that quality which means inbuilt dependability and longer life in the home.

There is a model in the Frigidaire Standard Series priced as low as $96 plus freight—installation and Federal tax paid.

How to Thrive Sunday

What Is Right With the Church?

By Rev. Philip C. McGahey, Pastor, First Baptist Church

HERE IS so much discussion in the papers and magazines concerning the subject, "What is Wrong With the Church," until I think it fitting that there be a discussion on "What Is Right With the Church?"

The Church Is Right in Its Relation to Time. As the Bible says of Christ, that He came in the fullness of time, so it may be said of the church of Jesus Christ. It had its institution in the proper time, just in the very hour when the world needed just such an organization.

The Church Is Right in Relation to Truth. It preaches the gospel of God in truth—salvation by grace through faith and baptism in obedience to the command of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

The Church Is Right in Its Relation to Character Building. "No institution in this world has helped to formulate character as has the church. Think of its character forming power in the distant past—what an influence it exerted on the lives of such men as Peter, Paul and John and many other New Testament characters.

The Church Is the Trainer and Developer of Our Boys and Girls. You rob them of the greatest advantages when you keep them away from the house of the Lord. One of our greatest judges said recently that in all his years on the law bench he had never had a boy or girl to appear before him in his court on a serious charge who was regular in his or her attendance upon church and Sunday School services.

The Church Is Right in Its Relation to Home. The church and the home are the only divine institutions. The church helps to make the home sacred. The church fights with all its powers the sins that will blight the home. The evils of today are making their hardest fight on the homes, realizing that if they can lower the standards for the home they have won their fight.

Above Everything Else, the Church Is Right in Its Relation to Christ. It is His; He instituted it. It is still in the process of organization (Matt. 16:18). Christ assured it of its final triumph. According to this, there is no other institution like it in all this world, because it is divine, and Christ is its head, and it has His assurance of victory.

PEACE...

Don't wait until something happens and then feel that you need the help of your church, even though it stands ready to help you in those trying times. Know now, when you are happy with your home and family the still greater peace that comes of going to the church you prefer. Its peace will permeate your whole life, it will be with you through happiness and sorrow, it will comfort you and bless you. This peace awaits you today.
