National Home Modernization Program Getting Under Way

Snyder National Bank Cooperates In Housing Plan

With approval of the Snyder National Bank by the Federal Housing Administration for the purpose of extending modernization credits to property owners for housing improvements, the national drive was extended this week to Scurry County.

The four local lumber yards have announced that they are anxious to assist property owners in working out plans for repairing, rebuilding an dother improvements for homes, offices and store buildings.

Three local men were in Lubbock Thursday of last week to hear an explanation of the federal housing plan by R. A. Stuart, director of the West Texas district. They are A. C. Alexander, cashier of the Snyder National Bank; Harrie Winston, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and C. W. Harless, local manager of the Burton-Lingo Lumber Company

Home owners who are interested in the plan may confer with the local bank concerning credit arrangements and with their lumber yard in regard to plans for actual construction.

Local lumbermen report that several inquiries have already been made concerning rebuilding, repairing or modernization of residences under the new federal plan.

Stuart Declares Housing Plan To Be "Big, Sound" R. A. Stuart, director of the West Texas district under the Federal Housing Administration, declared in an area meeting at Lubbock Thursday of last week that the new federal housing program is the "big-gest and soundest proposition that has been brought forth for recov-

Declaring that success of the venture was dependent upon cooperation of the citizenry, Stuart cited four specific reasons for success: Financial institutions cooperating in the making of loans, labor, supply and material men, and the home wner.

Loans will be made on a sound tasis, asserted Stuart. "The gov-ernment doesn't want the bankers to play Santa Claus. The governent wants this to be on a sound financial basis," he added.

Government Guarantee.

He explained that the government will guarantee loans to the extent of 20 per cent of all the aggregate that banks could liquidize their loans by rediscounting them to the overnment provided they endorse the paper. To obtain a loan, he said it would

Trades Day Gives Lamesa Big Smile

The Dawson County Courier had this to say last week con-cerning Lamesa's Trades Day: "A nice business was reported Monday by Lamesa merchants as a result of trading first Monday. The crowd was not as large the ones that came during the election days, but those who came here to trade took advantage of the specially priced mer-chandise offered by Lamesa merchants."

The paper proceeded to list 14 persons, 12 of them farmers, who were interviewed as to their attitude toward Trades Day "All gave a very favorable re-port. They will tell you, too, if you ask them.

We suspect there's either an industrial nigger in the woodpile or Al Smithian sour grapes in the political jug.

Clyde Rowe's Resignation.

Clyde Rowe's resignation as director of the Tiger Band should set Snyder to thinking.

Since the depression began, Snyder has given her band little support. Yet we have been fortunate in getting men as directors who were willing to give pienty of extra time in order to build a decent band. None of the four directors who have been here these five years has surpassed Clyde Rowe in musical ability and genuine human likability. And he was a demon for hard work.

What man of us woulld work our heart out nine nonths in the year for $80 a month, after having spent several years of training for that particular job, then relish the idea of scraping enough together during the remaining three months to keep body and soul together?

A potshot was certainly taken at Clyde Rowe in the name of economy. The chief sorrow of it is that we, as citizens laggard in support, are as much to blame as the school board.

We must pay the piper, in money and support, if we expect him to continue his piping.

Defeated in 1922, Illinois neighbors found him back in Washington in 1922, and when Roosevelt called a special session just after inauguration Henry Thomas Rainey was elected speaker. . . . In agriculture and foreign affairs he was shrewd, and on the Ways and Means Committee he was a tariff expert. . . . Well remembered by colleagues was his work presiding over two of the stormiest sessions in the House of Representatives, and in the last session he put through 22 New Deal measures without amendments added, . . . Accordingly, each night the fox slipped up to the chicken house, clawed open the unlocked door and made away with good chickens. . Aware of the undercover hauls, Juan Mendito fox came the following night, only to jingle the bell and go back without his plumed fowl. . . . A surprise visit to the Snyde Lions Club was made at the Tues-day luncheon by E. L. Pitts, county judge of Lubbock County, who is Lions governor of District 2-T, comprising about one-third of the state. "Your club has won recognition by Lions International because of its amazing comeback after a lapse of some time," the district governor told 40 members and guests. "I am here not only to assist you in doing better things for your community but to compliment you for the work you have already done since your ation in February."

Judge Pitts told of his recent visit to Hillsboro, where he and other district governors conferred with "Stub" Hascall, president of Lions International, and Melvin Jones, director general and organizer the service club group. He said that plans were being made for Texas to send as many delegates the international convention at Mexico City in July of 1935 as all other states and nations combined.

H. D. Agent Talks.

Nellie Ward, who became Miss county home demonstration agent early in the summer, told the Lions of her work since she came to Scurry County, placing emphasis on the 4-H Club work, which trains girls to be better homemakers and better citizens in the future. She cited incidents to prove the lasting nature of the work, among women as well as girls. "We are interested not so much in living," she said, "as we are in building lives."

Although the work has been progressing but a short time here, the agent said, plans are being completed for holding a public demonstration of the work later this month

Miss Virginia Will read a Kipling poem. At the beginning of the program the club sang "How D'ye Do, Lion Pitts, How D'ye Do?" as a tribute to the district governor.
