ISSUE NUMBER 15

375 BALES OF COTTON FROM 5 LOCAL GINS

Total in County's 14 Gins Probably In Neighborhood of 1,000 Bales Thursday

Snyder's five gins had turned out about 375 bales of cotton this morning, according to figures gleaned by The Times. The Tuesday afternoon rain centering in the Snyder vicinity held up much of the picking for 24 hours or more. No full report has been obtained from gins outside of Snyder, but partial reports indicate that the full county total is about 1,000 bales. Ira gin has turned out probably more bales than any other gin, for cotton in that area is well ahead of the county average. Principal reason for this is that most of that vicinity was outside the heavy hail strips early in the year, hail and high water forcing practically all farmers of the Snyder area to replant one to four times.

The county has 14 gins in operation this year, the same as last year. Five are in Snyder, three in Hermitage, one at Pluvanna, one at Ira, one at Dunn, one at China Grove, one at Inadale and one at Camp Springs.

Reports as to worm damage vary considerably. Generally speaking, however, farmers who poisoned heavily will yet make fairly good bales. Certainly, worm damage cut down the county's total yield from one-third to one-half.

Average guesses put the county cotton yield at 20,000 to 22,000 bales, and a few guesses are saying that the 25,000-bale mark will be passed if average weather prevails the remainder of the year.

Vaccination and Immunization to Be Offered Here

Smallpox vaccination and diphtheria immunization for school children will be offered with state assistance if it is wanted by the school boards, parents and teachers of the county, says County Health Officer H. E. Rosser.

The health official said requests for the disease protection should be made by school groups, not by individuals. If the demand is sufficient, he said, he will be glad to cooperate for the protection of the school children in any community.

Dr. George W. Cox, county health officer, in a statement issued at Austin last week, urged all local boards of health and boards of education to pass regulations making mandatory smallpox vaccination and diphtheria immunization for all school children.

"School children are exposed to so much infection during the school year that where a definite preventive against a disease is known, parents should be urged to take advantage of this knowledge. Vaccination may save a period of prolonged absence from school, doctor's fees, and even life itself," declared Dr. Cox. "It must be remembered that 238 children died from diphtheria in Texas during 1937."

"It is further to be urged that parents take their children to the family physician for a physical examination before school opens. Defects may be found which can easily be remedied and will prevent future illnesses. It has been demonstrated that almost all the physical defects of children are comparatively easy to correct—insuring the child of its normal strength and an ability to keep up with its school work without undue effort."

AMONG WINNERS.
At the Colorado City Frontier Roundup and Rodeo last week-end, Joe York of Snyder was third in the Friday wild cow milking, with time of 15.4. Gaston Brock, one of the managers of the rodeo, was first in Mitchell County calf roping, with time of 21.2. He formerly lived in Scurry County.

Dry Weather
That dry weather really prevailed in Scurry County prior to Tuesday afternoon's rain is proven by figures kept by Mrs. B. G. Johnson, official government weatherwoman.

August brought only .12 of an inch that fell on the eleventh. September, before Tuesday, had registered only the .04 drizzle on the first day of the month.

Last appreciable shower was July 28, when .42 of an inch fell. Thus Snyder received .16 of an inch of moisture during the month and a half prior to September 13.

July was quite a wet month, the climax of one of the wettest springs in recent years. Snyder received 3.51 inches in July, and most of the county received heavier precipitation.

Here Friday

J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, will speak in the courthouse Friday night of this week, 8:30 o'clock, on the domestic allotment plan of handling the nation's cotton, wheat and other major agricultural products. D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will also be a speaker on the program, his talk to relate primarily to freight rates on farm products.

SPUR WILL BE OPPONENT FOR TIGERS FRIDAY

Five Conference and Four Non-Conference Encounters Ahead For Greenhorn Squad

Lacking experience and power, but boasting more speed and probably more spirit than they knew last year, the Snyder High School Tigers will go to Spur Friday of this week for their first real encounter of the season.

Always noted for their punch and for taking advantage of every break, the host Bulldogs, in their attractive stadium, are expected to give the Red Hillmen a hefty initiation into the 1938 schedule.

Five conference meels, four non-conference affairs and one open date are on the local schedule. Coach Hill says the open date, November 4, will be filled later if the boys continue in good playing condition.

Three games will come in rapid succession after this week's away-from-home mix-up: Slaton, September 23; Rotan, September 30 (conference); Anson, October 7.

Second conference tilt will be at Roby October 14, the third will be at Loraine October 21, and the fourth at Merkel October 28.

The traditional Armistice Day game with Roscoe, cancelled when the Plovers were ruled ineligible for 1938 football, has been changed to a game with Post on Tiger Field. The yearly Thanksgiving embryo, the conference wind-up with Colorado, will be played November 24 on the Wolves' Cantrill Field.

The Spur, Slaton and Anson games will be played at night, the others in the afternoon.

Eiland Displays New Plymouth for 1939
A load of new 1939 Plymouths is being displayed by H. H. Eiland of Scurry County Motor Company—and the newcomers are receiving plenty of attention.

Coming out well ahead of most makes of cars, the 1939 Plymouth is said to be the largest the company has produced. The wheelbase is 114 inches, two inches longer than last year. Overall length is 182 inches without bumpers.

Chief innovation is the new-type coil springs of amola steel designed for greater comfort. Remote-control gear shift on the steering column, all silence auto-mesh transmission and a "safety signal" speedometer are other improvements.

Vets and Auxiliary To Install Tonight
Installation of officers for the new fiscal year will be held tonight (Thursday), 8:00 o'clock, at the legion hall by the Will Layne Post of the American Legion and by the Legion Auxiliary.

Boss Baze, selected commander recently, heads the list of legion officials to be installed.

Mrs. H. A. Lattimore is the new auxiliary president. Other auxiliary officers are: Mrs. J. E. LeMond, first vice president; Mrs. Sam Nations, second vice president; Mrs. J. E. Shipp, secretary; Mrs. Frank Arnett, treasurer; Mrs. T. A. Faver, reporter; Mrs. Harry S. Lee, chaplain; Mrs. W. P. King, historian; Mrs. W. M. Nichols, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Ray Hardin, song leader; Mrs. Lee T. Sinton, a past president, is installing officer for the auxiliary.

Russell Walker, Abe Steele and Roy Gray of Corsicana were in Snyder last week working on the Coffield-Guthrie well.

$5 PRIZE WILL BE GIVEN BEST SILOIST AGAIN

Guy Stoker, Precinct No. 2, Gets First Award—Contestants Must Be Present Saturday

If you are interested in the trench silo contest that is being conducted for the benefit of the entire county, here are three main things to remember:

1. A $5 merchandise order is offered by the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce each Saturday afternoon to a trench silo filler in the commissioner's precinct with the largest tonnage.

2. The award will be made promptly at 4:00 o'clock in front of The Times office, and the contestant or a member of his family must be present to receive the award.

3. Weekly progress of the contest is shown on the huge thermometer in front of The Times Building.

Stoker Gets First $5.
First award went to Guy Stoker, one of four men in Precinct 2 who trench silo tonnage was turned in last week. J. A. Merritt and A. M. Merket assisted with the contest.

Total tonnage turned in last week was 486 tons for new silos and 95 tons for old silos. This is a small fraction of the silos actually filled. Tonnage turned in for this week's contest runs well into the thousands of tons.

Final time for turning in trench silo fillings is 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. This information may be sent to The Times office by mail, telephone or in person. It should include name, precinct, whether silo is new or old, kind of feed, and mailing address.

Any feed placed in a trench silo January 1, 1938, or later, will be counted, if it has not been previously reported in the contest.

Judging the Contest.
The green column in the thermometer represents the old silos being refilled, and the red column indicates new silos dug and filled. Scoring points for each precinct are as follows:

Old trench silo refilled in 1938 with whole feed, chopped or in bundle—1,000 points.
New trench silo filled with headed feed, just stalks, in 1938, chopped or in bundle—500 points.
The $5 weekly merchandise order is payable at any Scurry County business house.

RAIN OF VITAL AID TO CROPS

Tuesday afternoon rain, totaling .90 of an inch in Snyder, center of the rain belt, was of vital aid to late cotton and feed, as well as pasture, that were beginning to feel the pinch of summer drought.

It was the first rain, with the exception of two slight showers, that has hit Snyder in more than six weeks.

Most portions of the county received showers of a quarter to a half inch, but the precipitation ranged lighter southeast and played out completely in the Dunn area.

SINGERS NAME HOBBS, DEWEY

Hobbs was selected as the March convention site during the business session of the Four County Singing Convention at Sweetwater Sunday. Dewey Niedecken of Snyder was elected president, taking the place of T. H. Westbrook, who has served as convention chief for several years.

In the election of new officers Miss Treasa Williams of Hobbs was elected secretary, taking the place of Sweetwater's long-time secretary, O. A. Westbrook. Edie Williams, former president of the Four County convention, is the organization's vice president for 1939. He also lives at Hobbs.

A total of 1,500 West Texas singers gathered at Sweetwater for the Sunday song fest of the four county convention. When the spring session convenes at Hobbs the second Sunday in March, the new line-up of officials plan a more complete program than was offered at Sweetwater. Dewey Niedecken states announcements will be made later.

Welcomed by Home Town Folks

A rousing welcome was given this low-land blonde Tuesday night. Fresh from a season of hurdles conquests that included all of North America and Europe, the sensational Snyder boy was feted at the Manhattan Hotel by many of his old and new friends, along with several out-of-town visitors. This picture reveals something of the Wolcott stride, said by many track experts to be the longest and healthiest stride in hurdling history. Wolcott left Snyder for Rice yesterday.

Wolcott Feted By Home Town Folks

Snyder's tribute banquet to Fred Wolcott, who returned home Sunday after a summer hurdling tour of Europe, was highlighted by the unassuming athlete's answers to questions from the home-town banqueters.

It was largely a home-town affair, with more than 60 men saying by their presence that they appreciate Wolcott's accomplishments in a dozen countries during 1938. Hal Sayles, Abilene Reporter-News sports writer, and M. H. Greenwood, Pylon superintendent, were included on the guest list.

This telegram from Congressman George Mahon was read during the banquet: "Please congratulate Fred Wolcott for me. I am proud of his fine accomplishments and wholesome sportsmanship. All of us would like to share in the glory which he has brought to Snyder and West Texas."

W. W. (Red) Hill, Wolcott's coach in high school, main speaker next to the guest of honor, said he learned track from Fred. "He was the kind that made a coach look good. As a low hurdler in high school he went to the state meet and won without a good race. He has never lost a low hurdle race yet."

Fred wasn't fazed when, not long after he was kidded about the Scandinavian beauties, he admitted that if he went to Europe again he would want to visit Sweden. "It's more like the United States than anywhere else we visited," he declared.

Other speakers included Forest Sears, Scurry County Chamber of Commerce president, who introduced Wolcott; W. R. Bell, Lions Club vice president; Glenn Berry, assistant high school coach; C. Wedgeworth, superintendent of schools; Dr. H. G. Towle, mayor. Mrs. F. W. Wolcott, Fred's mother, and Mrs. ARMOR McFarland, his sister, spoke briefly. Rev. James E. Spivey gave the invocation.

"Our Director," the Rice song, was given as a clarinet duet by Fred Boren and Richard Brice, accompanied at the piano by Horence Leath.

Bud Miller Agency, Chrysler-Plymouth

Agency for Chrysler and Plymouth cars was announced recently for R. L. (Bud) Miller of Olds Service Station, who is displaying a new model of the 1939 Plymouth.

Smart changes in body style, remote control gear shift on the steering column, new-type coil springs for more comfort, and other features are seen in the new Plymouth.

Miller says many local folks and visitors have ridden in the new Plymouth, and all pronounce it the greatest Plymouth ever built.

CONGRESSMAN GOES INTO NEW QUARTERS
Congressman George Mahon advised "The Times" this week that he has established a temporary office in Lubbock for a period of possibly two months.

He plans to visit as nearly as possible every county in the district before returning to Washington, but stated that he will spend considerable time in his Lubbock office in order to be more easily accessible to those from surrounding counties who wish to see him.

All correspondence with the congressman will be handled through the Lubbock office, located in the Federal Building, during this temporary period.

Mahon's secretaries, Lloyd Crossin and George Witten, accompanied him to Lubbock this week.

CRIPPLED BUT EAGER SCHOOL YEAR STARTED

Students, Teachers, Patrons Crowd Into Gymnasium for Spirited Opening Program

Crippled physically because fire recently claimed all the school plant except the high school building, Snyder schools opened Monday morning with a near-record enrollment and with enthusiasm for a successful session.

More than a dozen civic, church and club leaders, at the opening program in the gymnasium, pledged their cooperation in bringing the school through a successful year in the face of handicaps.

Meeting in eight buildings, including four churches and one residence, the 11 grades were off to a well-organized start. Superintendent C. Wedgeworth, beginning his twelfth year of work here, said yesterday:

"Better Than Ever."
In an appeal for full cooperation, the superintendent declared that the school is better than ever before except from the standpoint of physical equipment. He cited the increase in high school affiliated credits by four and one-half units, in the face of unusual conditions last spring. The high school now offers 41 credits of affiliated work.

Status of the application for PWA assistance for replacing the burned building was explained by John E. Sentell, board member, who was introduced by Dr. J. G. Hicks, board president.

At the conclusion of the morning program, adults were urged to sign a petition that urged Secretary Lacey to make haste in approving the school district's emergency application for PWA funds. At least 1,500 names are sought for the petition.

Nine New Teachers.
These nine new teachers were introduced: George B. Thomas, M. E. Stanfield, Mrs. M. E. Stanfield, Peggy Elliott, Gwendolyn Wright, J. M. Hensley, Edward E. Wahlkamp, L. H. Butler and Katherine Northcutt. These and the other teachers in the 32-teacher faculty are directed by King Slides, high school principal, and Hadley Reeve, grammar school principal, who spoke briefly at the opening program.

Several numbers were given during the morning by the Tiger Band, under Hensley's direction. Two groups songs were led by A. W. Yeats. Mrs. Earl Louder and two of her pupils, Mary Ellen Williams and Betty Jean Joyce, gave accordion numbers.

Community leaders who spoke briefly included: Rev. James E. Spivey, Rev. H. C. Gordon, Rev. Ira Harrison, pastors; H. L. Wren, Lions Club president; E. H. Lilly, Scurry County Chamber of Commerce secretary; Mrs. J. E. LeMond, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Nelson Dunn, 20th Century Club; Mrs. John E. Sentell, Musical Coterie; L. T. Stinson, American Legion; Mrs. Wraymond Sims, P-T Association; Mrs. J. C. Smyth, Alpha Study Club; Mrs. D. P. Yoder, Band Parents Association; Mrs. Harold Brown, Ingleside Study Club; Mrs. A. C. Preuit, Altruistic Club; Mrs. E. F. Sears, Woman's Culture Club.

October Has Double Importance for "Bo" Moffett, Colorado
Early October promises to be one of the most eventful times of the year to Pierce Moffett Jr., familiarly known to Snyder people as "Bo." He will attend his first national convention, and he will be married.

Moffett will accompany his employer as a delegate to the National Dental Association convention, being held at St. Louis, Missouri, the first of October, and several days later will celebrate his marriage to Mary Lytle, a teacher in Missouri.

The past two and one-half years Bo has been in the government CCC service, and for nearly all of that time he has been training with the leading dentist in Morrison, Colorado, as an assistant. Earlier he attended the local high school, where he was an outstanding athlete. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Moffett, who enjoy a visit with their son recently.

DIAL RETURNS FROM SERIES OF SERVICES
O. D. Dial, minister of the Church of Christ, returned early this week from a series of summer revivals that continued two weeks in each of four communities.

First revivals were at Ira, and others followed at Lorenz, Ivan, Burk Burnett.

"We are ready to begin a fall season of earnest, enthusiastic work," he said yesterday, "and we invite all our friends to regular preaching services at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Sunday."

THANKS SNYDER.
With full thanks to Snyder and a special word for The Times, Manager H. B. Spence of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce said in a letter this week: "The splendid operation we received throughout this section is greatly responsible for the success of our Colorado City Fortner Roundup and Rodeo."

Domestic Allotment Plan To Be Outlined By State Farm Chief

Horse and Mule Event in Fisher Shows 222 Head

With 222 head of mares, stallions, jacks and colts entered in the fifth annual Fisher County Jack and Stallion Show at Roby, the event last Friday turned out to be probably West Texas' greatest bid for better horseflesh.

From Snyder went Luke Ballard, county agent, and E. H. Lilly, secretary of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce. They returned with high praise for the event—and with fervent hopes that such a show might be staged in Scurry County.

Many other Scurry County people also attended the show, which witnessed keen competition in all of the 27 classes. J. W. Moore of Camp Springs, Scurry County, won the class for jacks with a fine three-year-old. The animal has been used for breeding purposes by a number of horse fanciers.

The many entries represented a portion of what is considered approximately $300,000 income in Fisher County, because there are approximately 1,500 colts raised annually in the county.

SHOW CATALOG ALMOST READY

Catalog for the 1938 Scurry County Free Products Show will be printed within a few days, and will be ready for distribution to all who wish to secure copies, according to E. J. Anderson, general show chairman.

Merchants and several other advisers responded liberally with paid space, according to Scurry County Chamber of Commerce members who solicited advertising for the catalog late last week and early this week.

Special attention is being given Four-H Club boys' and girls' exhibits, community exhibits and livestock exhibits of all kinds, as advance preparations move along rapidly, according to members of the general show committee. The committee is composed largely of farmers and ranchers.

Friday and Saturday, October 14 and 15, are the show dates. Encouraging reports of cooperation continue to come in from all parts of the trade territory.

Ad solicitors included: Melvin Blackard, Joe Graham, J. E. Blakey, R. J. Randalls, H. A. Lattimore, E. E. Weathersbee and A. C. Preuit.

ROGERS TO SCHOOL.
Jay Rogers, who has been "deviling" for The Scurry County Times about two years, left Saturday for Stephenville, where he has enrolled as a student in John Tarlton College. He received his diploma from Snyder High School last June. His shoes in The Times office are being filled by Vernon Moffett, a student in the local high school.

CAFE RE-OPENED.
Worley Early this week re-opened his cafe on the edge of the Ely-Arnold gin lot in Southeast Snyder. It has been closed since the bulk of ginning was over last year. Clark Hudnell is in active charge of the E. & H. Cafe, which Early and Hudnell have been operating jointly for about two years.

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place. In such cases, Cardul has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

Leaders Appear Before Baptists In 1938 Meeting

Several state leaders of the Baptist denomination appeared on the program of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association, in annual business session at the Union Baptist Church, five miles west of Snyder, last Thursday and Friday.

George Mahon, congressman, was another outstanding speaker on the program. He talked on "Christian Citizenship" at the Thursday laymen's conference.

Dr. M. E. Davis of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, on the same program with Mahon, spoke on "Religion in Business." Other well known Baptists who were heard included: Dr. R. N. Richardson, vice president of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene; R. A. Springer, Baptist state treasurer, Dallas; Mrs. Matthews, state young people's leader, Dallas; Robert Cooke Buckner, Buckner Orphans' Home, Dallas. Rev. D. G. Reid of Roby was another out-of-association speaker.

Rev. Ira Harrison of Snyder served as moderator temporarily, his predecessor, Rev. Lawrence Hays, having been elected to that place last year. Rev. I. A. Patterson of Colorado is the new moderator, and Rev. Cone Merritt of Dunn is clerk and treasurer.

Excellent reports were heard from practically all churches of the association, church memberships by baptism having increased 63 more during the past fiscal year than during the previous 12 months.

Separate and joint sessions of the Women's Missionary Society and the men's Brotherhood were held both days. Gene Spearman, local educational director, led the song services both days.

Evidently Something Did Happen

J. H. Lewis, 64, Succumbs Early Monday Morning

A heart attack claimed the life of J. H. Lewis, 64, as the farmer slept at his home nine miles southeast of Snyder Sunday night. Mrs. Lewis discovered about 1:00 a. m. that death had come.

Mr. Lewis had been in ill health two years, and had suffered several heart attacks recently. He was recently in a local hospital for a short time.

He had lived in Scurry County 32 years. He was a member of the Baptist Church and of the Masonic Lodge.

Rev. R. H. Montgomery of Sweetwater and Rev. J. W. McGaha officiated for final rites at the First Baptist Church here Monday afternoon, 4:30 o'clock. Burial was in Snyder cemetery, with Odum Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

All the pallbearers were nephews, as follows: Buell, Joe, Eugene and Ernest Lewis, Claude Marlin and Clifton Ryan. Misses, Velma Lewis, Junie Lewis, Cleo Marlin and Nellie Lewis were in charge of flowers.

Another streamline train—the train of thought. But don't overlook the need for better terminal facilities.

Snyder General Hospital

Discharged since last week have been the following: Clyde Boren Jr., Mrs. S. W. Crow, Mrs. Herman Darby, Claudine Cox, all of Snyder; Ollie Dunn of Dunn, Lee Cumble of Plevanna, L. V. Whittington of Post, J. B. Scott and Sam Landon of Snyder.

Mrs. E. O. Ritchie, admitted as a medical patient last Thursday, was discharged yesterday. Mrs. Billie Lee Jr. medical patient from Monday until Wednesday, has also been discharged.

Jack Bel-Mar, registered at the hospital from Cincinnati, Ohio, was treated for injuries received accidentally Monday. Bel-Mar, a circus employee, fell from a truck while passing through Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunn of Cuthbert are announcing the arrival of a daughter, Jacqueline, born at 5:15 o'clock Monday morning. Mrs. Dunn and her eight-pound four ounce daughter were still in the hospital Wednesday.

Others remaining from last week are: Mrs. W. H. Ward of Hermle, convalescent; Mrs. Carl Herold of Arp, surgical; Mrs. A. C. Ballard and her small son, Arthur Charles; J. W. Greene, Snyder surgical.

THIS ARTICLE MAY PUT MONEY INTO POCKETS OF PRODUCERS

Figures Given by County Committee Show Farm Association May Be Termed Big Business

Final figures—total earnings paid to Scurry County producers during 1938 for cooperative compliance in the 1937 AAA program—will approximate $324,000, according to figures presented by the Agricultural Conservation Association of Scurry County, through its executive committee.

Operations of the ACA thus approach those of "big business" in terms of cash earnings.

The $324,000 total is made up of $116,000 as agricultural conservation payments and $208,000 as cotton producers' subsidy payments.

Could Have Been More. The 1937 conservation payments were reduced some $56,000 in 1938 as the result of the large number that failed to comply with the program, says County Agent Luke Ballard, and this fact has a material bearing on the price of cotton with its heavy carryover as a burden on the 1939 production and market price.

The county association has for its stockholders the 1,600 farm and ranch producers of the county. Their membership is evidenced by a "work sheet" or "range application" on file in the office of the secretary of the association, who is the county agricultural agent.

The executive committee, or county committee, is composed of Chairman J. H. Jean, Vice Chairman Perry Echols, C. V. Thompson, third member, and Ben Brooks, alternate member.

Little Change Ahead. Little change is anticipated in the 1939 conservation program. The cotton subsidy payments, according to information now available, with cooperative planting, should show for 1939 cash benefit payments or earnings of about $218,000, with the cotton subsidy nearing the $275,000 mark. The latter is paid on the normal yield or the actual yield, whichever is the larger for 1938.

Thus, a grand total is available for the producers of Scurry County that amounts, in round numbers, to $493,000 in cash benefit payments.

To bring about these results, much work is required in the office as well as in the field, since it is mandatory that the guess be removed from all operations before cash dividends can be made. These necessary employee payrolls are paid to farm and ranch family members, since it is the policy of those who interpret the law in the Washington office that agricultural people operate their business.

Many Have Not Filed. Many of the producers have not yet filed their application at the county agent's office for their 1937 cotton subsidy. This should be done at once, although all applications received are now forwarded to the state board, on which payments should soon begin to arrive through the association's office.

Producers of C-5-1 certificates, known as "brown participating trust certificates of the cotton producer's pool," as a result of the cotton plow-up in 1933, may now turn them in and receive payments at the rate of $1 per bale, and to trans-ferree holders on record before May 1, 1937. Holders to whom certificates were transferred after May 1, 1937, will receive the purchase price plus four per cent interest, all not to exceed $1 per bale.

Other Instructions. Certificates to be tendered for sale to the pool should be attached to the proper forms, available at the county agent's office, and mailed to D. F. Mallette, Room 206, Post Office Building, Washington, D. C., before December 31, 1938. Lost or misplaced certificates will be re-issued if the holder signs affidavit forms.

Liquidation of this pool completes activities of the first AAA program, that of 1933.

The gradual understanding of all producers as to details, causes and effects of the business of administering the various laws as passed by Congress for solution of their financial problems is bringing about a greater realization of the benefits of cooperative efforts for definite results, believes J. H. Jean, chairman of the county association. These factors which have long been known and appreciated by the industrial and financial sections of the nation also apply to the agricultural section, he said.

CANCEROUS DEATHS. Deaths from cancer in Texas reached a total of 4,305 during the past year, indicating that a warning against cancer quacks and so-called cancer cures is justified by the State Health Department. Early diagnosis and competent treatment could have prevented many of these deaths, states Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

"Did I ever tell you I tried my jiu-jitsu on a burglar?" "No?" "Well, I got hold of his leg and twisted it over his shoulder. Then I got hold of his arm and twisted it around his neck, and before he knew where he was I was flat on my back."

Emergency Hospital

Cullen Robinson, surgical patient for over two weeks, was moved here Saturday. He is doing well.

L. G. Ely received treatments for head and hind cuts at the Emergency Hospital Tuesday following an accident at the Ely, Arnold & Ely Gin.

Marion Newton, who received a badly broken right leg when a horse fell on him recently, is resting well. Cast on the two broken bones was not removed last week, but his condition is satisfactory.

"Dear sinners all," the fool began, man's life is but a jest, A dream, a shadow, bubble, air evaporate the best.

In a thousand pounds of law I find not a single ounce of love, A blind man killed the parson's cow in shooting at the dove:

The fool that eats till he is sick must fast until he is well, The wooer who can flatter most will bear away the belle."

And then again the woman screamed, and every staghound bayed: And why? Because the motley fool so wisely a sermon made.

Dr. Lancett—Mrs. B Jones, your little boy is all right. All he needs is a little soap and water three times a day.

Anxious Mother—Before or after meals, doctor?

Blonde Hurdler Slept Too Late

The piston-legged blonde bullet who put Snyder and Rice Institute on the international track and field map of 1938 overslept Monday morning.

Yes, 22-year-old Fred Wolcott, who in a single season whipped all the world's top hurdlers, overslept his first night at home. While his mother, Mrs. P. W. Wolcott, cooked bacon and eggs at her modest home in North Snyder, the travel-weary only son wore off some of his homesickness—and dreamed, no doubt, of the Olympics of 1940.

He was in Europe two months this summer, performing in seven countries, along with several other top-ranking American track and field stars. Even in cities up in Scandinavia that are just specks on our maps of Europe, he performed before 30,000 to 50,000 persons. In the larger cities—Berlin, Vienna, Stockholm—the sports-loving folk of the eastern world packed into giant stadiums by the 75,000's and the 100,000's.

"Screw" Information. You have to screw information out of this West Texas boy who has put Snyder in so many world headlines. He is as modest as if he had won no more than the tobacco-spitting championship of Scurry County.

But if you are "screw" enough, you can learn that he set a new official world's record in the low hurdles for a circular course (23.2 seconds) at the national intercollegiate meet at Minneapolis, not long before he boarded the Atlantic-lying Europa; that he ran the first low hurdles race ever seen in Scandinavia when he competed in the nine-country meet at Stockholm; that he swapped a wrist watch that he won in Berlin for a dainty timepiece that now adorns the arm of his mother.

The Swedish hurdling champion, Leidman, became a close friend of Wolcott. Leidman, anxious to become Europe's champion hurdler, achieved that distinction at Malmo, when he hopped over the high hurdles in 14.3 while Wolcott was making the distance in 14.0. The friendly Swede told Wolcott he could never have achieved the feat without the local boy's pointers on the American style of hurdling. Leidman was easily the best European hurdler again whom Wolcott pitted his skill.

Individual farm and ranch exhibits at the Scurry County Free Products Show October 14 and 15, are creating plenty of interest, it was reported Saturday afternoon by central and sub-committees, meeting in the courthouse. Two people were walking along a road together. One was a young woman, the other a handsome farm lad. The farm lad was carrying a large pail on his back, holding a chicken in one hand, a cane in the other, and leading a goat. They came to a dark lane.

Said the girl: "I'm afraid to walk here with you. You might try to kiss me."

Said the farm lad: "How could I, with all these things I'm carrying?"

"Well, you might stick the cane in the ground, tie the goat to it, and put the chicken under the pail."

Dinocan—Would you object to a husband who smoked in the house?

Sola—Yes, but I intend to keep quiet about it until I get one.

ords this year and next year. And sports writers the world around agree that the serious blonde, with his powerful driving legs, his blazing finish and his quick jump to world stardom, will carve some more notches in the hurdlers' hall of fame.

Early-Year Triumphs. A quick check-up of his American triumphs, prior to the trip to Europe, gives these prophesies plenty of prestige. He started the year with his only defeat, losing to the famous Spec Towns and Allen Tomlich at the Sugar Bowl, New Orleans. After that he was whipped in none of the track events he entered—the high hurdles, the low hurdles, the 100 yard dash and the two relays, except for one meet in which the Rice sprint team, of which Wolcott was a member, was nosed out.

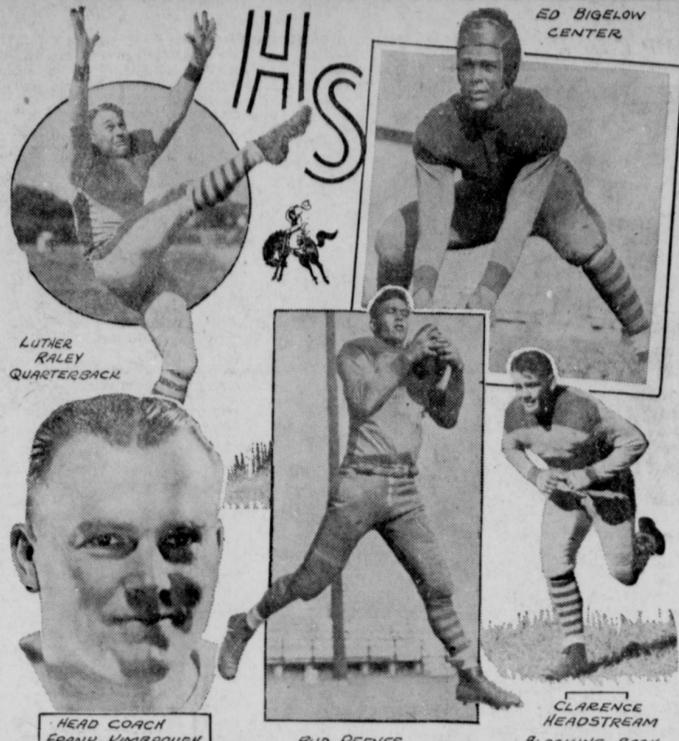

He went over the high sticks in 14.4 at Laredo during the Border Olympics then hurdled for an unrecognized world record of 13.9 at the Texas Relays, where he also won the 100 yard dash.

Consequently, after that, he won all high hurdles at the A. & M.-Rice meet, the Kansas Relays, the Drake Relays, the Texas-A. & M.-Rice meet, the Texas-L. S. U.-Rice and the Southwest Conference meet. He was high pointer in the conference meet, winning the high in 14 flat, the low in 23 flat, the 100 yard dash in 9.8, and taking part in both 400 and 800 efforts. During the Texas-L. S. U.-Rice encounter he came close to the 100 yard record by running in 9.5.

Wins All Big Meets. In succession he captured all comers, including Tomlich the great, at the Central Intercollegiate meet, Milwaukee, the National Intercollegiate meet at Minneapolis and the national A. A. U. meet at Buffalo, New York. He will not have another chance to race Towns, for that University of Georgia celebrity has canceled his amateur standing by turning coach. But he hopes during 1939 to equal or pass Towns' high hurdle mark of 13.7, established in 1936 and recognized just in recent weeks as the world's best in the tall timbers.

Yes, Fred Wolcott has given this mid-West Texas town of 3,500 persons a sports celebrity; and the town, in turn, recognized the tow-headed youngster with a Tuesday night banquet that was typical of cow country informality.

But Fred was still just Fred as he loafed around the public square with his old cronies. And his mother's bacon and eggs, his mother's modest home and his home-town friends' enthusiastic praises are still better than anything he found in 10 other countries—in the face of the trophies of power and bronze and gold that line the Wolcott mantelpiece.

The Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, Abilene, Tex., have four co-captains, all West Texans, for the fall gridiron campaign. Two are line men, Bud Reeves, Wichita Falls, an end, and Eddie Bigelow, Amarillo, center. Two are backs, Clarence Headstream, Roby, and Luther Raley, Hamlin. All are seniors. Coach Frank Kimbrough's Cowboys enter the 1938 grid wars with an unfinished streak of seventeen games without defeat, compiled during the late 1936, and the 1937 games.

“Do It the Easy Way”

(Editors' Note: This is the 11th of a series of articles furnished by T. C. Richardson, secretary of the Texas Breeder-Fecder Association, at the suggestion of Texas Press Association. Purpose behind the articles is to cooperate with Texas farmers in using to the best advantage the acres taken out of one-crop production under the AAA.)

The fall litter of pigs is the second semi-annual dividend the sow pays if she is well cared for and bred on time. By the time the pigs are weaned they will weigh more than the average two-year old sow, which amounts to the sow doubling her own weight in potential pork every six months. It is becomes common for litters to weigh a ton at six months of age, and two ton-litters a year are equivalent to multiplying the sow's weight 12 to 15 times.

Of course this does not always happen under even the best management—in fact it never happens at all. It is the result of a definite purpose which is achieved only by the exercise of good judgment, close attention and care.

Generally speaking, a fall litter is as good in the Southwest as a spring litter, requires a little more attention after the critical farrowing period is over and the pigs begin to eat, than does a litter farrowed in the spring. If—and this is a pretty big "if"—green pastures are provided.

Exercise and sunlight are as essential as food to the health of pigs, and our open winters permit hogs to live a more natural life than in the North, where expensive houses with glass windows still leave much to be desired in the way of healthful conditions. We are so accustomed to raising hogs out of doors that we scarcely appreciate the great advantages the Southwest offers over the laborious and expensive methods which the northern swine breeder cannot escape.

At this time of year the pastures and fields of Southwest are still green, and there are cleanings of grain which pigs will save while getting sunlight and exercise. Many a corn or grain sorghum field, pea, peanut, or sweet potato patch has enough waste to make as much pork as the family will need, and which the pigs will thankfully work.

When the waste grain has been cleaned up and pastures are still green, grain can be supplied in a self-feeder, enclosed in a creep to keep the sow out. Grain will go farther while the pigs are sucking than at any other time in their lives, and it is poor economy to stint them. A self-feeder large enough for an ordinary litter can be built with very little expense of lumber and time and filling it once or twice a week does away with the double-daily chore of hand feeding.

When the elements of a good ration are always accessible to hogs they take care of their needs better than the owner can, and instead of being wasteful, as people are sometimes inclined to think, the self-feeder method is more economical of feed (as well as time) than doling feed out by hand.

Protein supplements and mineral mixtures are not always necessary when hogs are on good pastures, but it is worth while to let the hogs decide. Put the protein supplement in the self-feeder (in a separate compartment from the grain) and if the hogs don't need it they won't eat it. Mineral mixture is so cheap and easy to prepare there can be no good reason for withholding it, and again, if the animal's are getting plenty of minerals in pastures that in the box will last indefinitely.

Water should be accessible at all times. The hog's stomach is small, and he cannot "tank up" once or twice a day, and still do his best in digesting his feed.

The pasture and self-feeder method of producing pork is a good "best economic" from every standpoint. As "Hico" Eudaly says in his trenchant talk, "Do it the easy way and you'll like it."

When foul to the senses the old-fashioned hog-pen When harsh recollection recalls it to view; Its fly-swarming s'op-trough, its muddy job s'ly— The cob-cluttered hog-pen which my boyhood once knew.

"He was kicked out of school for cheating!" "How come?" "He was caught counting his ribs in a physical exam."

The Huddlers— TWO'S A CROWD around such a lamp!

• "Huddling" is perfectly proper on the football field, but it isn't so nice when all the family has to huddle around one reading lamp, just because someone forgot to get a fresh supply of lamp globes. Light is one of the smallest items of household expense, and really there is no reason to crowd around one lamp when you can have all the light you need for only a few cents a day more.

REDDY KILOWATT SAYS:
It's easy to buy lamp globes these days. They are cheaper and you can get them in assorted sizes at drug stores, grocery stores, as well as other stores which sell electric appliances. Put lamp globes on your shopping list and keep a supply on hand to replace burned-out bulbs.

WPA Contributes Much to Health Of Many Sectors

The Public Works Administration has assisted in financing 620 projects which directly affect the health of residents in the seven-state fifth region of the PWA, it was reported last week at a meeting of public health officials in Oklahoma City. The projects include waterworks, filtration plants, sanitary sewers, hospitals, laboratories and other related projects.

This information comes from John Alexander, engineer inspector for PWA, now stationed at Roscoe, Texas. Alexander has been working with the gymnasium project at Hermleigh, which is being built with PWA assistance.

Since the beginning of the PWA it has assisted in financing 431 waterworks and water distribution projects in the seven states. Forty hospitals, clinics and laboratories also received PWA financing.

Many communities which previously had not had the benefits of publicly owned waterworks systems have obtained such systems through PWA assistance. New sewerage and disposal plants as well as extensions of present facilities in many cities have also aided in reducing possible danger from such diseases as typhoid fever.

Hospitals built and under construction with PWA aid range in size from the great $13,000,000 Charity hospital at New Orleans to small 25-bed structures in semi-rural communities. PWA has also helped finance the purchase of modern and up-to-date equipment for these hospitals.

PWA projects must be a permanent contribution to the social as well as material welfare of the localities for which they are designed to serve, according to George M. Bull, regional director. "No projects can be more useful, under our interpretation of that word, than those which contribute to the better health of citizens," he said.

"While waterworks, disposal plants and hospitals directly improve public health, many other PWA projects also serve this end. A large percentage of PWA projects are for educational purposes. We believe that school projects also tend to improve public health in that they contribute to enlightenment and an enlightened citizenry as essential to improvements in public health."

The Flaw.

The teacher was explaining to the class the importance of detail, and wanted an illustration, showing how one small flaw can spoil a beautiful ensemble.

"This morning," she said, "I saw a man wearing a top-hat and morning coat, white waistcoat, beautifully creased trousers, and smart brown shoes. Now, which of you can tell me what small error in detail spoiled the whole picture?"

Quick as lightning a small boy shot up his hand. "Please, miss, maybe he hadn't washed his neck."

—Edinburg Dispatch.

Charitable Profession.

A group of men, of which a celebrated comedian was the center, were discussing actors. The comedian remarked "No matter what is said," remarked a nonprofessional, "no matter what foibles they may have, actors are always charitable."

"Charitable?" remarked the comedian. "You are right. I never saw one yet who wouldn't take the other's part if he got the chance."

Hurry! Hurry!

The bricklayers had just finished the foundations of a house on a suburban estate, when a workman, carrying a ladder, stopped to watch them lay the first row of bricks.

One of the bricklayers, looking up from his work and catching sight of the man said: "I say, lads, we'd better hurry up—there's a chap 'ere waitin' to clean the windows." —El Paso World News.

Honesty—Fear of being caught. Good Sport—One who will always let you have your own way. Moron—One who is content with a serene mind. Pessimist—One who sees things as they are. Coach—Fellow who will gladly lay down your life for the school. Consistency—The voice that tells you not to do something after you have done it.

Foresight.

"Are there any questions you would like to ask about your new house?" inquired the architect.

"Just one," replied the man who intended to build. "Couldn't you stick in an extra room some place, so when my wife takes the den for a sewing room, I'll have a place to call my own?"

History Repeated.

Two clergymen, one highly educated and the other quite the opposite, were discussing the value of education.

"I suppose," said the latter, "that you have gone through college."

"Yes, I have," modestly replied the minister.

"Well," declared he of little education, "I am thankful that the Lord opened my mouth without an education."

"Yes," courteously assented the other. "A similar thing, we are told, happened in Balaam's time."

Experience.

Appropos the recent reference to applications for a situation, a reader relates that a shipping firm received a letter from a youth applying for an office boy's job stating:

"I have been constructing and selling model yachts for some years now, so that I have a little shipping experience." —Edinburg Dispatch.

Plainview Man Dies Suddenly in Scurry

J. M. Redfearn of Plainview, 55, appraiser for the San Antonio Joint Land Bank, dropped dead Friday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock while he was inspecting some property northeast of Snyder.

The heart attack came while the Plainview man was accompanied by Jack Simpson and Mr. Fowler. They were on the J. M. Stewart place, formerly the McMullan place.

The body remained at Odum Funeral Home until it was taken to Plainview Saturday by Roy G. Wood, whose funeral home made final arrangements for rites that afternoon.

"Senator, you promised me a job. 'But there are no jobs open.' 'Well, you said you'd give me one.' 'Tell you what I'll do: I'll appoint a commission to investigate why there are no jobs, and you can work on that.'"

The foreman of one of the WPA projects found that due to breakage and wear and tear he had run short of shovels, so he wired to Mr. Hopkins in Washington, requesting that more shovels be sent to him.

The next day he received a reply, which read: "Have no more shovels. Tell the men to lean on each other."

"Tom, how much does a twelve-pound turkey weigh?" asked the teacher.

"I dunno," confessed Tom.

"Well, what time does the nine o'clock train leave?"

"Nine o'clock."

"That's right. Now how much does a twelve-pound turkey weigh?"

"Oh! Now I get it—nine pounds."

IN FORT WORTH.

Geraldine Longbottom, who has for several months been a teacher in Draughon's Business College, Abilene, has recently accepted a government place with the district Public Works Administration in Fort Worth. The office is headquarters for seven southwest states for the administration. Miss Longbottom is the second Snyder girl to begin stenographic duties in the office. Virginia Egerton is also in the department.

The midge had obtained a job in a factory. At the end of the first week, however, he gave notice. The foreman expressed his surprise.

"Well, you see, sir," explained the midge, "one of the first questions my mates asked me was how tall I am. I told them I was exactly two feet high."

"Well," returned the foreman, "why should you want to leave us? Didn't you like the question?"

"Oh, I didn't mind that," came the response, "but I do object to being picked up every five minutes and used as a two-foot rule."

"I'm just writin' Paw that you're sick. Does cemetery begin with a 'c' or an 's'?"

Teacher: "Johnny, will you please tell the class what an octopus is?"

Johnny: "It must be a cat with eight sides."

Leaf Hopper Fight Ideas by Barnhart

George Barnhart of Snyder has what he claims is a sure-fire recipe for extermination of leaf hoppers on grapes and other leaf-eating insects. The recipe is good for spraying all trees and vegetation for leaf eating insects, he says.

Here it is: To 50 gallons of water add one and one-half pounds of arsenate of lead and one-half pint of black leaf 40. In spraying vines always spray underneath, as the hoppers stay under the leaf.

If it is not handy to have a sprayer, another good way to get rid of the insects is to select a time when the wind is blowing hard and take a stick and stir up the vines. This will cause the hoppers to get out, and the wind will blow them away.

MRS. BROWNING ILL.

Mrs. E. C. Browning of Hobbs, New Mexico, formerly a Scurry County resident, is in the Lubbock Sanitarium for an operation to come late this week. Her two-month-old baby is also ill. Browning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Browning of Pflugmann, was reared at Dermott and Pflugmann. The Pflugmann couple has visited in Lubbock since the younger woman was taken to the hospital.

THEY WANT MAIZE.

It is reported that two Plainview men were in Hermleigh a few days ago trying to buy 200 tons of maize. They were unable to get any of the fine milo in that country for their offered price of $3.50 per ton. Evidently, most Hermleigh farmers have decided that the trench soil is far better than cheap feed selling. The Plainview men wanted to move a thresher to Hermleigh.

The famous detective arrived on the scene.

"Heavens," he said, "this is more serious than I thought—the window is broken on both sides."

Young Coed: "Oh, Dad, I've just discovered that the girl who sits next to me in Bio. has a hat exactly like mine."

A skillful young doctor named Hallett.

Was slicing up somebody's palate; But rather pathetic Was his anaesthetic, Which was merely a blow from a mallet.

Mrs. Jones: "Weren't you told to watch when the rice boiled over?"

Maid: "Yes, ma'am, I did. It was just half past seven."

"Where yo' all goin', niggah?"

"Ah's been' rushed by Tri Kap-pah."

"What you' all mean, Tri Kap-pah?"

"KKKK, niggah!"

He is so tough he can drink sulphuric acid and the only results are holes in his handkerchief when he blows his nose.

Mrs. Eltheridge and Albert Goss. Grandmother Corbell has been very ill the past week. Those visiting in the G. P. Fisher home this week-end were his mother, Mrs. M. E. Fisher, and brother, Joe, of Brownwood and sister, Mrs. O. E. Renfro and son, Troy, of Cross Plains. Florence Fisher spent Thursday and Friday nights with friends in Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Roe Rosson and son, Fred, and Garland Jacobs spent Saturday afternoon in the Will Mullins home of Sweetwater. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hooper of McCamey are visiting in the Oscar Hooper home. Tate home Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Tate and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Buttrell and daughter, all of Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Tate of Strathroy community. I wish to express my appreciation to the people who send me their news each week and I also want to ask the rest of the people to write down their news and send it to me by the school children or hand it to me or the family at singing. I enjoy writing the news when people help me, but it is rather disgusting to try to write without any news. Everyone remember that Sunday night is singing night here at the school house.

Investments That Hide Behind False Faces

You laughed at the small children behind Halloween faces. But beware of masquerading investments with smooth swindlers behind them. They can bring bad luck that may ripple you financially for a lifetime. Don't trust strangers. Be suspicious of glowing promises of quick profits. Before you invest—investigate. Let us help you. We have no axe of our own to grind. We simply do not want you or anyone else in this community to lose money that will hurt you and subtract from the prosperity of this section.

Fred Wolcott

The most phenomenal thing in sports on this side of the Atlantic this year is Fred Wolcott. The tow-headed Snyder boy has just returned from a 10-country European tour that included easy conquest of the best hurdlers the Old World has to offer.
Fred's winnings have been phenomenal because he arose from an unknown stick-jumper in a far-South Texas college—in a single strenuous season—to the world's top hurdler. "He's the hottest thing in sports" is the way the Associated Press sports editor put it a few weeks ago.
Even the accomplishments of Sweetwater's Sammy Baugh are not comparable to those of Wolcott, for the fame of the de luxe passer was piled up in a half dozen seasons; Fred's came in a half dozen months.
Snyder is proud of her native son. We are not such an expressive people. The Tuesday night banquet was without too much ballyhoo or razzle-dazzle, but it came from our hearts. The informality of it and the sincerity of it seemed to leave Fred with the feeling that he is really and truly appreciated.
But the most phenomenal part of the whole story is that Fred remains the clear-headed, conservative, unaffected boy who first found his speed and stamina on the Tiger track and football field.
We are proud of you, Fred. We are proud because you put Snyder (Texas) in thousands of headlines. But we are prouder still because you have left the customary cockiness of sports celebrities to the fame-giddy minds of other heroes of sport.

Ickes "Digs" Snyder

The San Angelo Morning Times a few days ago roundly scored Secretary of Interior Ickes for "taking a dirty dig at Vice President John Garner and literally giving Texas the horse laugh, as far as PWA funds are concerned."
The paper referred to Ickes' statement that Texas is not to get any more federal money—until PWA revises its state allotment funds.
Because Ickes' attitude directly affects Snyder's chances to get a PWA grant for construction of a new school plant, the remainder of the San Angelo editorial is quoted:
"Declaring Texas already has received 'more than its equitable share,' he makes the assertion in Washington that 'The bill, you know, wasn't passed to give Texas all it wanted and the other states what was left.'"
"What is an 'equitable' share of PWA? And, if Texas has received more than an 'equitable share,' why was Mr. Ickes so negligent as to permit such squander of federal money, entrusted to his department? Could it all have happened while the 64-year-old secretary of the interior was honeymooning with his 25-year-old-bride, or during their courtship? And, he was too busy with personal affairs to watch the expenditure of millions?"
"The secretary apparently looks upon Texas as the proverbial red-haired step-child, in saying that, as far as federal money is concerned, Texas got in when the flag went down, but they've still got both hands out, you bet."
"What more could Texas, a Democratic state all the way, expect from Republican Ickes, who, against Woodrow Wilson, in 1916, was a member of the national campaign executive committee for Charles Evans Hughes?"
"Texans, though, do not vote for cabinet members and Mr. Ickes is in the saddle, rounding up the money for other states."

King Football

One by one the dyed-in-the-wool foes of football have been won over to the sport's sideline battalions. Today, as the gridiron season begins in earnest, practically the only non-rooters left are those who are too old to root or those who have never had an opportunity to get into the spirit of the game.
"The game"—that's it. The game gets you, whether you want it to get you or not. Although King Football always comes out of a season with a few black eyes, a few bent limbs, a few limps and a few bruises, he is still king—and he will probably not be replaced for years to come in the affections of the American people.
Someone has said that football is typical of America. It is a rough and tumble affair still, but it is becoming saner and more scientific as America herself comes out of the swaddling clothes that always swathe a new continent. It is just about as rough, just about as sane, just about as unpredictable as the course of history in these United States.
So hail to King Football! And may he reign in full glory long after the Hitlers and the Mussolinis have done their little do.

Pesky Mosquitoes

Where do all the mosquitoes come from? Maybe they are just in this writer's neighborhood. But they are eating great holes into the patience of that particular end of town. No rain; plenty of mosquitoes. Plenty of rain; few mosquitoes. It doesn't make sense, but it makes plenty of red blotches on the sleeping body. Spray 'em and swat 'em and fix your screens.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN
In one of his boldest left wing moves since election, President Roosevelt told his press conference Friday the Nation should abolish state poll taxes. Terminating poll taxes an outgrowth of the American post-revolutionary period, when voters were required to be property owners, F. D. R. said in effect the vote of the now "disenfranchised" would be necessary to keep his party in power after 1940.

The implication behind this move is that the state levy should be abolished in favor of federal taxes that would then be necessary to pay election costs with. Only hitch: Our public schools would be deprived of some much needed revenue if state poll taxes were done away with. No one has suggested how this would be made up. Loyal Democratic party leaders fail to catch F. D. R.'s point, however, since the only property one must own in order to vote is the $1.75 needed to get a poll tax receipt with.

We object to this Jim Ferguson move (on a grander scale) because it would remove the final barrier to dictatorial authority from Washington. State primaries and run offs cost the 48 states a neat $50,000,000, which sum would have to be replaced by federal taxes if poll taxes were abolished. Of this sum, the Nation's public school system gets $32,175,000, which would also have to be replaced by other taxes besides the net cost of holding elections. Endorsement of the poll tax abolition thesis would in effect be saying we will depend on American hobos, tramps, transients, and unemployed to keep "their friends in power."

In voicing his opposition to state poll taxes, President Roosevelt evidently overlooked the fact true liberalism always leads to a final conservatism in state and nation. If the Republican party were not so impotent at present, O'Danielism trends like the poll tax movement would give that loosely joined party its best ammunition. Which reminds us that one high official of Soviet Russia, on visiting America recently and seeing AAA check writers at work, said "the true revolution today is securing in America." Well, we've plowed under almost everything to date except one-arm drivers, government employees, and poll taxes. We'd at least like to keep these remnants of the America that was!

In Daughter of Divorce, a serial that started in the October Ladies Home Journal, an otherwise good story is going to be murdered by referring to Nebraska as "the country out west." If effete New York writers, who have some tall ideas about Texas for instance, continue to so misinform the public, we may soon see the sector west of the Pecos, for example, being referred to as the "Far East," or something to that effect. Nebraska was called the "western state" fifty years ago; but fifty years ago cannot very well be called today; for geography, like people, marches on.

Here's some bad news for poultry men, whose pet hate is a cold storage egg, but recent experiments show that a shell treatment of vacuum-carbon dioxide oil will preserve the eggs longer than any other method will. The ordinary dip method on cold storage eggs will last about four months, but this dioxide oiling is supposed to retain that "just laid freshness" six months or longer. Had the bright boys of science gotten around to the egg situation sooner, we today might be eating eggs laid during the Civil War! We hate to see eggs, however, that should have "pipped" thirty years ago!

Along with eggs that are going into cold storage vaults, about 75 fresh foods (poultry, vegetables, fruits, and fish) are being frozen now for out-of-season consumption later on. Stripped of waste and leafage, many foods are just now being frozen at production centers and stored at low temperatures for distribution later on. If we continue to have out-of-season things the year 'round, some people will doubtless forget when some eats are in season, as the catch line goes.
One probably wouldn't ever connect coal smoke with cottonseed oils, but a West Virginia plant is at the moment collecting coal smoke to make edible fats out of cottonseed and vegetable oils, strange as it seems. The idea is, "silica black," which is condensed coal smoke, is used to make vegetable and cottonseed oils edible, or fit for cooking purposes. It's getting to be a rather grand old world after all, when one considers the amazing things done by researchers these days to make our foods and cooking compounds the "best yet."

Our nomination for the month's most beautiful bit of ingenuity goes to unemployed artists Eugene De Graff and Ray Derby of New Britain, Connecticut. These two boys, who recently hitch-hiked their way on a vacation trip, didn't like the idea of something for nothing, so they obliged motorists who gave them a lift by drawing free sketches of each samaritan who befriended them. At least this is a relief from the usual Texas hoo. On leaving Snyder one day last week, I passed eight hitch-hikers on the highway before I got to the city limits. For some reason or other, most hitch-hikers act like their feelings are hurt, if one doesn't pick up every gaunt carcass ambulating down the road. But to pick up hitch-hikers these days is dangerous business, although a few now and then may be just brothers under the skin—like Graff and Derby.

Enlarged Circus Offers Gargantuan The Gigantic Ape

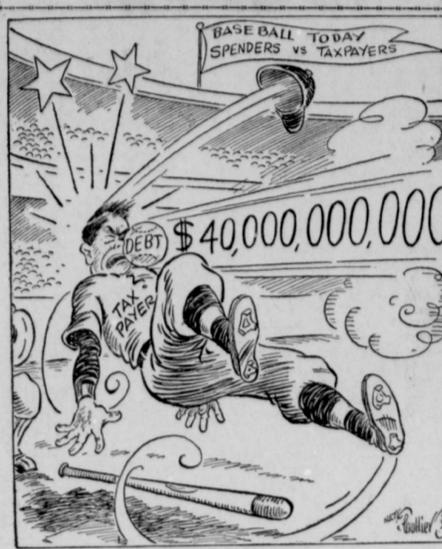

Gargantuan the Great, the world's most terrifying living creature, makes his first appearance in this vicinity when he comes to Sweetwater Thursday, September 22, with the mighty Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto Combined Circus, now augmented with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey stupendous new features.
The huge antitropical ape, with the strength of 27 men, is exhibited at each performance in a mammoth nine-ton air-conditioned cage. This moving Alcatraz has double rows of chilled steel bars, outside of which are double thicknesses of shatter-proof plate glass. As an extra precaution guards, night and day, armed with high power rifles march up and down outside the cage.
Gargantuan the Great, captured by natives at the age of two and traded to a sea captain is now seven years old and stands 5 feet, 6 inches, weighs 450 pounds and has an arm stretch of over 8 feet. He is introduced to the audiences by Bring 'Em Back Alive Frank Buck, intrepid explorer who played an important part in obtaining him.
For the past year Gargantuan has been growing more evil tempered and now his keeper, for all the years he has watched over him, must keep outside the range of his powerful hands. Gargantuan and Frank Buck, until recently the super-features of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey organization now head the most imposing array of big top attractions ever exhibited by the Sells-Floto circus, or any other major tented amusement institution.

His daily diet consists of 16 bananas, 12 oranges, two heads of lettuce, several stalks of celery and three, equal milk shakes. Once each day to he gets a half pound of calf's liver brought to the boil. This is the only meat diet. His milk shakes, which he relishes contain chocolate flavoring, mineral oil and sometimes a little cooked rice. During feeding of the milk shakes is the only time his keeper ever approaches near the great monster. At these feedings Gargantuan grasps the bars with his huge hands and the keeper, from an ordinary milk bottle, pours the liquid refreshments down his giant throat.

In the constellation of big top stars are: Terrell Jacobs, the lion king in a startling demonstration with the world's greatest group of ferocious performing jungle-bred black-maned lions; Mabel Stark, the tiger queen, fearlessly performing with the savage Royal Bengal man-killers; Reckless Ralph, Clark in a sensational two-horse Roman standing jump over a standard size automobile.
The flying Concellos, absolutely fearless performers who fly like winged birds through space; the marvelous Cristiani riding family with Lucio performing a double-twisting somersault from the back of one galloping horse to another; the world-famous Rieffenach Family, with Clarence Bruce the incomparable riding comedian; William Hoyer, Europe's foremost horse trainer in the most notable display of high school equestrianism ever witnessed; Naitto Troupe, wire wizards who have astounded two continents; Yom Kam Troupe, Chinese acrobatic marvels; Walkmir Troupe, daring high-perch wizards; Janet May, world's foremost aerial gymnast; Ann Merkel in a startling exhibition of up-side-down ceiling walking; Jack Joyce, offering free running Liberty Horses in amazing evolutions, plus hundreds upon hundreds of the world's foremost circus stars and 70 world famous clowns.

An afternoon and night performance will be given at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m. To permit leisurely inspection of the vast menagerie the doors will open at 1:00 and 7:00 p. m.
Ephram: "Dat child o' yours am mighty slow learning! at school How does 'at' account for 'dat'?"

Guinn Contribution In Folklore Volume

J. Frank Dobie of the Texas Folklore Society, Austin, stated Monday that Times Staff Writer Leon Guinn was one of the contributors to the society's 1938 yearbook. The yearbook will be released in the near future.
The fourteenth volume published by the Texas Folklore Society, "Coyote Wisdom," will contain over 300 pages of animal and other lore. It is described as the "most superb editions yet brought out; our most ambitious attempt to recreate folk and animal lore."
Guinn's contribution is a summary of the talk he presented in May, 1937 before the West Texas Historical Association at Anson. It was sent to Dobie at the request of Dr. R. N. Richardson of Hardin-Simmons University.
A school teacher relates that she was giving her small pupils a lesson on birds, and after telling about the hatching of the eggs, the care of the mother bird and the first lessons in flying, she said: "Now, children, I am the mother bird and you are the little birds nestled in your cozy nest. I want you all to spread your wings and fly away."
Each child, waving arms to the music she beat, skipped to the dressing room, with the exception of one little fellow, who remained in his seat. Turning to him she said: "Donald, why didn't you fly away with all the other little birds?"
"Cause," came the prompt unexpected reply, "I was a bad egg."

Snyder Hatchery to Begin Another Year

Its second year of operation under management of Chuck Niedecken and Alfred Vernon will be begun Saturday of this week by the Snyder Hatchery, first door west of Snyder Produce on 25th Street. Niedecken and Vernon offer two electric Buckeyes with total capacity of 32,000 eggs. They will accept eggs Saturday and will have their first setting Monday of next week.
Have you seen a sheet for the river bed?
Or a single hair from a hammer's head?
Has the foot of a mountain any toes?
And is there a pair of garden hose?
Does a needle ever wink its eye?
Why doesn't the wing of an army fly?
Can you tickle the ribs of a parrot?
Or open the trunk of a tree at all?
Are the teeth of a rake inclined to bite?
Have the clock hands any left or right?
Is the garden plot quite deep and dark?
And what is the sound of a birch's bark?
Nor you, nor I, nor anyone
Can see a thing in this but fun!
A young lady was called to the phone at 5:00 a. m. The following dialogue ensued:
Voice: "Hello!"
Lady: "Hello!"
Voice: "How are you this morning?"
Voice: "Then I guess I have the wrong number."

Golden Wedding Celebration For Local Pioneers

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown, residents of Scurry County the past 40 years, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday and Monday, not because it took them two days to marry, but several out-of-town grandchildren could be with them Sunday, Monday was the golden anniversary.
Marriage of the couple took place in Kansas City, Missouri on September 12, 1888, moving to Olathe, Kansas, several years later. The two older sons were born in Missouri, and the other children in Kansas. From Olathe the Brown family moved to Slurry County, settling on their place six miles southeast of Snyder. Mrs. Brown was Mary Tinker before her marriage, and her people still are living in Missouri.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown enjoy good health. Mr. Brown has been actively engaged in the carpenter's trade here for many years. Two of their sons, Earl and Roy, are Snyder businessmen. Another son, George H. Brown, lives in Odessa, and the only living daughter is Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Naacogoches. Two other sons are not living.

The local relatives and visiting ones enjoyed lunch Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Brown. Feature of entertainment during the afternoon was a showing of moving pictures taken by a grandson, Burgess Brown, and wife on their trip to the northwest.
Out-of-town guests besides the Burgess Browns of Pecos were Mrs. Earl Brown and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, and son, Earl, Jr.
