

4-H Delegates Pay Visit to Governor Stevenson on Return Trip From A&M

Bruce Cox and Roland Davis delegates from Scurry County to attend the Texas 4-H Roundup, August 27-30 at College Station, accompanied by Nolan von Roeder, Adult Leader and Jamie Caviness, County Agent, toured the State Capitol on the return trip and visited Governor Stevenson.

While at A & M a good program of instruction and entertainment were planned. They visited the General Agricultural Building, Department of Animal Husbandry, Library, Freeze Locker Plants; the college head of registered Hereford, Shorthorn Aberdeen Angus cattle; and saw champion five galled saddle horses. They had their pictures taken at the sight of A & M's oldest building, "Gathright Hall" constructed in 1876. They enjoyed a long swim in A & M's huge indoor pool at "Downs Natatorium," Kyle Field.

At Austin where the Governor was visited, the boys walked 418 steps to the dome of the capitol; registered in the Senate Chamber and House of Representatives and saw Texas History in the making. From the capitol they visited the magnificent 27 floor University of Texas tower, where they received a bird's eye view of Austin and its surrounding topography.

Dr. Ida P. Trotter, Director of the A & M Extension Service welcomed the 1,600 4-H club boys, girls and adult leaders at the Roundup with the following address: "You are attending the first State 4-H Club Round-up ever to be held in Texas, planned by Texas 4-H Club members for Texas 4-H Club members, and it is with a feeling of pride and satisfaction that I extend to you a genuine welcome to your meeting. We, of the Extension Service staff, pledge to you that we will continue to strive from day to day to help you to reach the goal set forth in your motto, 'To Make the Best Better.'"

The theme for the 4-H Club Round-up is "Contributions That 4-H Clubs Can Make in Building Citizenship, Local, State, National and International." I'm proud of the good citizens that 4-H Club work has helped to produce, proud of the accomplishments of every one of the 101,000 members enrolled in the 4-H Clubs of Texas at the beginning of 1946. After completing the discussion program outlined for this meeting, yet each of us accept the challenge presented and concentrate our every effort toward living a fine wholesome life in a world community.

I would like to commend each adult leader for working so untiringly with 4-H Clubs in helping them to live up to the ideals of 4-H Club work in a better way. The success of 4-H Club work is dependent on voluntary assistance and leadership. What 4-H Club leaders think, what 4-H Club leaders do, the standards of life they have and the ideals they strive for will in a large measure be imparted to the 4-H Club members with whom they work.

Let us go forward together—Head, Hands, Heart and Health for a united, peaceful and happy world community." Representation at the 4-H Roundup was based on two boys and two girls from each county selected on the basis of accomplishment in club work in the 14 year age bracket.

WAA Officials To Tour Broad Area

Of interest to veterans of Scurry County who are having housing problems will be the 8,000 feet of cast-iron pipe, vitally needed for veterans housing, has been removed from the grounds at Bluebonnet Ordnance plant, McGregor, Texas, and will be offered for sale "as is" "where is," war assets administration announced today. Priority claimants will have an opportunity to buy.

WAA, using plant maintenance crews and surplus digging equipment, unearthed and stacked the pipe, at no cost to the government, making it available to help break one of the bottlenecks responsible for housing shortage. The pipe was purchased and installed at the Ordnance plant early in 1941. WAA estimated that the cost of removing the pipe by private concerns would have approximated 37 cents per foot.

Seventy-nine Years Ago Texas Had More Hogs Than Sties Hold In 1946

Although the accompanying figures on swine could not hold true, we believe, on numbers in Scurry County, the State of Texas as a whole has more hogs in 1946 than it has today. The full answer would of course revert to thicker populated sections of the state at that time, since this section would have had few hogs in 1867—if any.

That sounds like a blow to Texas swine production, the Extension Service relates, but a comparison of values shows that prices and quality are more important than mere quantity in production. Even though there are almost 3,000 less hogs in the state now than 1867, today's value of Texas hogs is set at $344,065,000, as compared with the 1867 value which was only $4,202,000.

These figures were released from the Agricultural Economics Service Center which has been recently set up at the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Figures from the service center are reminders of what did and can happen to values of farm and ranch products. For instance, hogs in 1919 were averaging $18.60, but were at a $2.59 average in 1933.

For an over-all view of what the "depression days" did to agriculture in this state, the service center has figures showing that it took Texas farmers 13 years to again reach a cash income of 20 million dollars after seeing it fall below that figure in 1929.

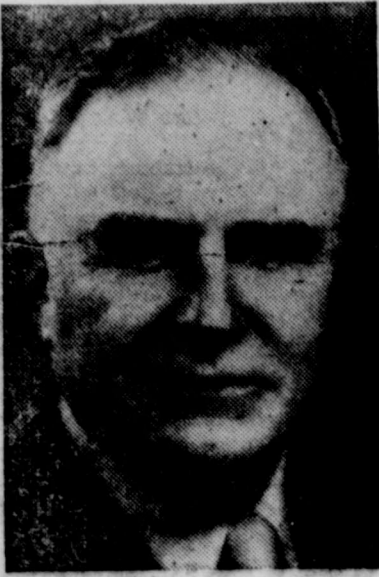

Mrs. Dan Sealy, Joy Sawyer, and Sam Head were in Lubbock Wednesday visiting friends.

This would be a safer world for pedestrians if auto manufacturers could improve the drivers as much as they have the automobiles.

When our cook asked an old maid friend of ours how she would like to have her rice, she said she would prefer to have it thrown at her.

Texas is an Indian name meaning "friends"—as is Dakota.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help: 1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. 2. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

When one has lived a long, full life and his step becomes feeble and his friends of the olden days are gone, then falling into the last sleep is the natural, the inevitable end of life's chapter—on this side of the veil.

This is somewhat the thought that a friend of mine, Frank Jensen of Dallas has beautifully expressed in a poem written after his father passed on. His father had known the hardships of pioneer days—drouths, depressions, cyclones, hailstorms and has earned his rest. The poem is entitled "If We Could Call Them Back" and has a message of philosophic resignation:

If we could call them back,
Would you—would I?
And ask that they go with us
down the road,
And take again Life's weary,
heavy load,
And all the sorrows—now forever
flown,
Or would we choose to travel on alone,
If we could call them back?

If we could call them back,
Would you—would I?
From out the far, sweet realms of peace and rest,
To toil once more, with troubled,
aching breast,
Along the steep, the stony, thorn-
grown way,
Or would we rather they might stay,
If we could call them back?

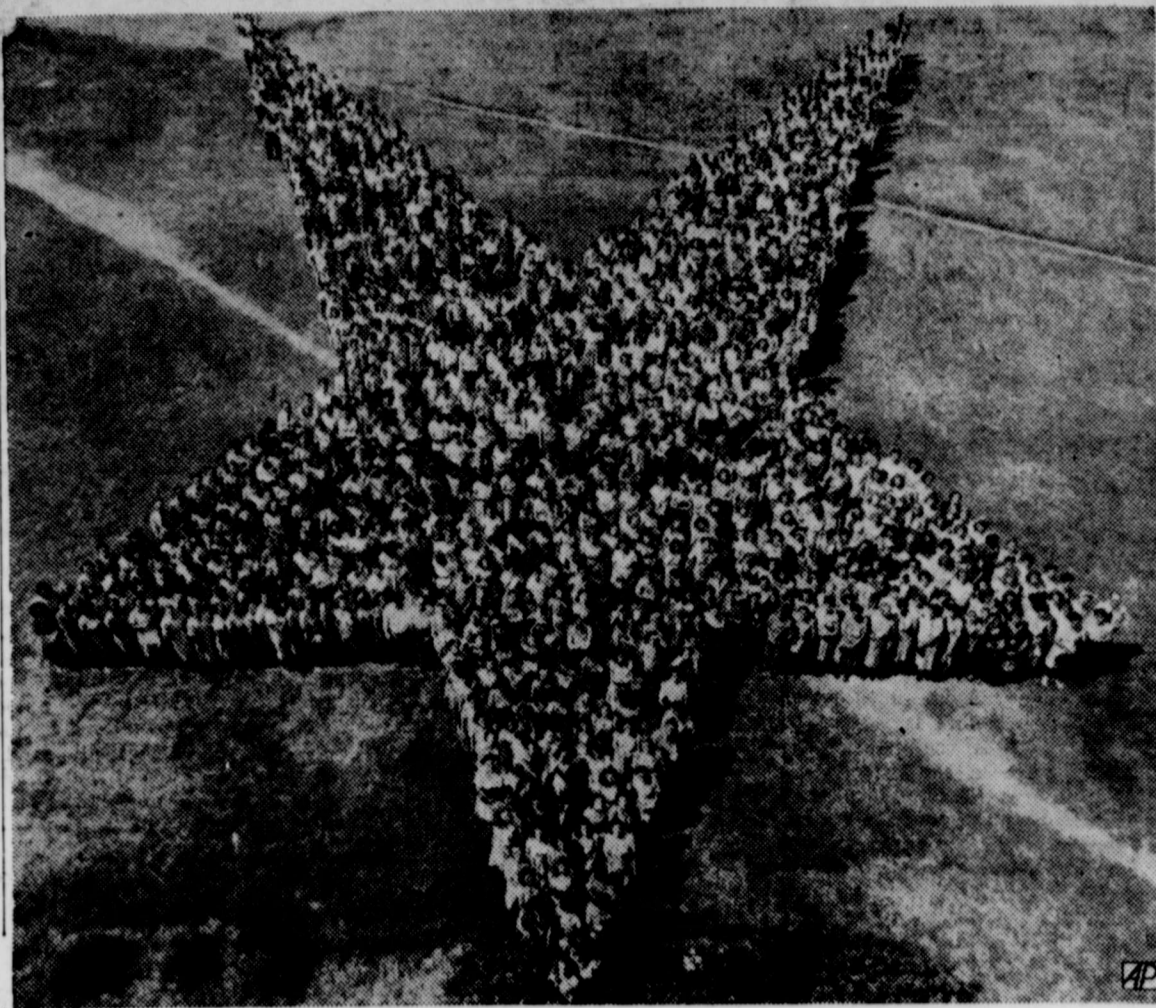

If we could call them back,
Would you—would I?
E'en though it be to pleasures as of old,
And to the joys that come when hearts unfold
With Love in all its wondrous power—
Ah! would we ask it for one little hour,
If we could call them back!

We can not call them back—
Not you—nor I—
But we will travel on a little while,
And try, despite our grief, to smile,
And when we reach out eager hands
To waiting ones in better lands,
May no one call us back.

We can't understand why house-flies bite so, just before it rains, neither is it to encourage you to go inside, so they can slip in through the door.

Opportunity would have to knock the door down before some people would become interested.

Texas Leads Nation In FSA Loans To Veterans

WASHINGTON — AP — Texas again leads the 47 other states—this time in the number of Farm Security Administration loans made to World War II veterans for purchase of farms.

With 311 farm ownership loans totaling $2,862,715 already made to veterans, Texas is far ahead, FSA records show. Oklahoma is second with 128 loans.

As of June 30, this year, Texas veterans had filed 4,362 applications for farm purchase loans and would have filed more, FSA said, except for the difficulty in finding family-sized farms that can be bought at a price in line with their long-term earning capacity.

Texas was second in the number of "operating" loans made to veterans by the FSA under its new program set up by the last congress. Through June 30, FSA made 1,791 such loans totaling $2,852,977 to Texas veterans. Oklahoma was first in this type loan with 1,897.

"Operating" loans are for improving farms and purchasing machinery and other items needed for crop production.

Thirteen rural resettlement projects in Texas, established under a former program, rapidly are being liquidated at the order of congress, FSA said. Nine have been sold to private owners. Of the 141,280

Roddy Family Holds Reunion Recently

Sunday, September 1, was a very happy day for the J. L. Roddy family of Snyder, when they had present in their home all of their children and grandchildren for the first time since 1938.

The reunion was in honor of John Henry Roddy, chief electrician in the United States Navy who is visiting with his parents.

Those present for the occasion were Mrs. F. O. Stark of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Roddy and children of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Fulford of Ft. Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Lane Roddy of Ira. Present also for the reunion, were H. L. Roddy, brother of Mr. Roddy from Tahoka, Bill Neal of Hico, and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Greenfield, of Snyder.

SAVE THE GRAIN

A number of years ago the food chain stores staged "producer-consumer" campaigns to move surplus crops. At that time there was a surplus of nearly everything. The chain retailers' campaigns to move these surpluses were in reality drives to teach consumers to eat a greater variety of foods, and more of them. The efforts were a spectacular success.

A gigantic producer-consumer campaign is now being inaugurated to help indirectly with Europe's famine. This country is raising a record crop of early white potatoes—60 per cent above last year, with nearly all areas from California to the Carolinas ready to harvest. Also, onions are coming on the market in abundance, as well as a wide variety of vegetables and fruit. With old-fashioned enthusiasm and typical promotional efficiency, the food chains have swung into the job of helping move the record potato crop onto the consumer's dining table as an alternate for bread. Other crops will be included in the program.

If past experience is any criterion, the organized assistance of the mass food distributors in the present emergency will prove effective. Thousands of stores in every section of the country will make it their business to shove the sales of abundant food items with every resource at their command. This will automatically ease demand for grain products essential to European relief.

The program of the organized food retailers is in accordance with recommendations of the President's Famine Emergency Committee, the Production and Marketing Administration, and other government agencies. It differs from any previous promotional effort in one all-important respect—lives depend upon its success. If the public will keep this point in mind, the efficient use of American abundance will be assured.

A CEILING ON RED TAPE

Regardless of whether the Emergency Price Control Act is renewed or abandoned, something must be done to put a ceiling on the red tape issuing from OPA. The variety trade, which accounts for a tremendous volume of retail sales in the United States, must abide by thousands of confusing orders. Following is a summation of them as of March 1, 1946.

First of all, there is the General Maximum Price Regulation to which there have been 66 amendments. There are 15 supplementary regulations under the GMPR and 390 amendments thereto affecting goods and services sold through the variety trade. There is a Maximum Import Regulation and 9 amendments, all of which are potentially of interest to the variety trade. There are 268 numbered price regulations with 2,506 amendments covering goods and services sold through the variety trade. There are 4 food product regulations that affect the thousands of variety stores that have soda fountains, luncheonettes and food departments, and these 4 food regulations now include 25 supplements with 97 amendments. There are 3 procedural regulations with 12 amendments which variety stores as well as other retailers and business concerns must observe. There are 39 supplementary orders with 131 amendments that directly cover goods and services sold through the variety trade. There are 3 general orders with 6 amendments. The total of these regulations, orders, amendments and interpretations is 3,576.

But in addition to these there have also been 11,848 individual orders of which half or more probably two-thirds, affect either the purchase costs or the selling prices, or both, of goods handled in variety stores.

Finally, the OPA has issued and is issuing a large number of individual orders that are not even printed in the Federal Register, known as letter orders. These orders authorize prices in individual cases of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. There have been hundreds, perhaps thousands, of them. The variety trade is concerned with every one of these letter orders that fixes a price for one of its members, its sources of supply or its competitors.

The variety trade which was affected by a mere 800 regulations, orders, amendments and interpretations back in April, 1944, was, on March 1, 1946, affected by 3,576 general regulations, orders, amendments and interpretations. If one may include the individual orders listed in the Federal Register, not to mention the letter orders issued to individual concerns that are not even printed in the Federal Register, the present number of regulations, orders, amendments and official interpretation that do concern the variety trade is in excess of 8,000, ten times the number reported in 1944.

Mother: "I hope your roommate at the training school is a nice boy, Robert."

Robert: "Judge for yourself, Mom. The other night he barked his shins on a chair in the dark, and I heard him say, 'Oh, the perversity of inanimate objects!'"

Apparently the shorter the dress the higher the price; but it just goes to show that sight-seeing costs money.

AMERICAN BONFIRE

France has her eternal flame which tourists may visit, but that is nothing compared to America's perpetual bonfire that roars along to the tune of a half billion dollars' worth of property annually.

In April alone the American bonfire consumed $52,000,000 worth of homes, farms, hotels, restaurants, dance halls, and heaven alone knows what else. It is getting hotter all the time. Currently it is burning at a rate that has never been equaled since the National Board of Fire Underwriters began compiling losses sixteen years ago.

One of the most effective ways to ease the housing shortage would be to use a little more care where fire is concerned. There are very few unavoidable fires. Cigarettes and matches are the great destroyers. Greater caution in the use of these two items alone would work miracles.

Next to preventing destruction, the most important consideration is the rising cost of the fuel that keeps the American bonfire blazing. Property values are rising rapidly—so rapidly that contractors hesitate to commit themselves on building costs. This means that fire insurance policies can become outdated. A fully insured home of ten years ago would be only about half insured now with the same dollar coverage. Insurance companies are trying to impress upon the insuring public the onerous menace of inflation to yesterday's insurance policy.

Next month another forty or fifty million dollars' worth of property will disappear in smoke and flame. Night and day the awful pageant will go on, until the American people realize their bonfire is a disgrace to the nation—then maybe they will do something about it.

HEADED FOR TROUBLE

In spite of this country's great wealth of men, machines, natural resources and technical ability, we are headed for trouble. The principle reason for the trouble is that in the wake of the war there is a crying need for everybody to work harder and longer than ever before and perhaps suffer a decline in living standards to boot, but nobody seems willing to do so. The theme song is shorter hours, higher wages, lower taxes.

However, unless more work and higher production accompanies wage raises, nothing has been gained. As Mr. Bernard Baruch said, "To make the take-home worth while, more things at lower prices must be produced. That is up to labor more than management. Unless each man produces more for what he receives, increases his output, there will be less for him and all the others. Each one will receive more money but have fewer things . . . Who gets any advantage if goods are not produced faster than wages are advanced and money printed?"

What has been happening in the coal industry gives point to Baruch's warning. Mine operators, knowing they were bucking an irresistible trend, offered the miners wage increases and shorter hours in conformity with settlements in the steel and automotive industries. This was before the latest coal strike. The offer would have added between 100 and 1500 million dollars to the cost of producing bituminous coal in the course of 12 months, all of which would have been added onto the nation's fuel bill because the profit margin in coal can be squeezed no thinner. However, the strike went on for even higher stakes. The union now demands a 10-cent royalty or excise tax on every ton of coal, which would also have to be paid by the consumer. The royalty would put fifty million dollars annually into the hands of the union—more money than the bituminous coal industry netted after taxes, in 1943, the most recent year for which the figures are available.

Thus there will be less coal at a higher price, when all that stands between the country and uncontrolled inflation is high production at a minimum price. This probability of less goods at higher and higher prices will become a certainty in all lines of industry if steps are not taken to curb the monopolistic power of the modern labor union.

ELECTRICITY FOR AGRICULTURE

The Prize Awards Committee of the Edison Electric Institute has announced the resumption of the Thomas W. Martin Rural Electrification Award, which was suspended during the war years. It will again be presented annually to the electric operating company which makes the greatest contribution to the progress of rural electrification and agricultural advancement.

It is particularly fitting that this award should be resumed at this time. For the electric utilities of the nation are inaugurating a rural electrification program of record scope. Utilities in all parts of the country are involved. An idea of its magnitude is found in the fact that if all agencies concerned with rural electrification continue their present growth, the big job of connecting farmers to electric lines is expected to be almost completed by the end of 1948.

The utilities do not stop with building power lines to serve the farmer. They are equally interested in helping him apply his power to farm tasks as efficiently as possible. With labor costs increasing, the farmer must rely more on machinery to get his work done. So the utilities are cooperating with state universities and other agencies in developing new and better methods of power utilization in agricultural pursuits.

Texas Boys Win

Carson Barton McLendon

TOP HONORS for Texas in the 1946 model car design competition of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild went to Jean Carson of Borger, who won the state junior award, and Charles D. McLendon, of Longview, who took senior division honors. Young Carson's model also received a regional award as the best junior in the states of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma. Because he is the son of a GMC truck dealer, Craftsman's Guild rules require a duplicate award to the next highest ranking boy for state junior honors. This was received by Dan K. Barton of McAllen, while Robert Ekridge of Little Rock, Ark., was named a junior co-regional winner. Carson and Ekridge will attend the national convention at Detroit, Mich., to compete for university scholarships. The Craftsman's Guild is an educational foundation sponsored by General Motors to encourage development of handwork and craftsmanship among teen-age boys.

A. It is anticipated that classes will be held both in the daytime and at night. However, the exact days and hours will be worked out by each individual class and their instructor.

'Home Prescriptions' Grant For Veterans

Veterans of Scurry county will be interested in knowing that the Veterans administration has signed a contract with the Texas State Pharmaceutical association to provide "home town" prescription service to veterans with service-connected disabilities, the VA announced this week.

Under the contract, authorized druggists will submit their bills to the state association which in turn will be reimbursed by the Veterans administration. Dr. O. J. LaBarge, Chief Medical Officer, West Texas VA regional office, Lubbock, Texas said.

Dr. LaBarge said the VA has been furnished, by the state association, with a list of local pharmacists are, in turn, being sent a list of the authorized pharmacists. The service is available only to veterans with service-connected disabilities, he emphasized.

The program is designed to reduce the reported delays which arose when all prescriptions from fee-basis physicians had to be mailed to the nearest VA office and then sent to the veterans by mail, Dr. LaBarge said.

Under the new project, eligible veterans simply take the prescription to their neighborhood drug store and the Veteran's administration pays the bill.

NORTH SIDE BAPTIST CHURCH HAS 'SPECIAL' FOR SERVICEMEN SUNDAY

The Sunday morning services of the North Side Missionary Baptist Church were dedicated to the men who had seen service in both World War I and II.

The pastor, Earl Creswell, spoke from the subject, "In Service for Christ," and pointed out that though the Christian battle was a spiritual one yet in many ways the army of the Lord was like our regular army, in that it was "a service of volunteers, a sacrifice, a serious combat, it requires strenuous training and that it had a capable ranking officer, Jesus the Captain of our salvation."

A keepsake flower was given to each service man present. There were 31 flowers given. Two of these were given in memory of Buddy Greer and Curtiss Henely who gave their lives in service, and two were sent to those who were out because of sickness.

The auditorium was filled to capacity for this special service, and the Sunday school also set a new attendance record.

J. D. Mitchell now associated with Seminole State Bank of Seminole spent Saturday night here on his way to Austin to the State Bankers convention. Mrs. Mitchell is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Periman.

Add-on House

Add-on house forestalls those three unhappy results of attempting to build too much with too little money; undersized rooms, limited conveniences, compromised quality. Designed especially for the September issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, the add-on house starts life as a small two-bedroom home of only 17,500 cubic feet. When the budget permits, the 12 1/2 foot wing with garage, laundry and bedroom may be added. Shown above is the street side with the solid assurance of its American lineage, dominated by a striking picture window.

GENERAL FARM NEWS

With the major acreage of Scurry County receiving a good rain during the past week, most farmers will be inquiring about the planting of small grains (wheat, oats, barley, rye).

General Statement
 Small grains constitute a major crop throughout this area and their high value as a grazing crop has only recently been fully recognized. Their plan in the rotation varies greatly with the needs of the individual grower. In general, continuous cropping of small grain is not conducive to the highest yields or control of weeds, but early preparation of the seedbeds is especially desirable. September 15 is a good planting date if the rains are to be used for pasture, but if grazing is not planned, October seeding is recommended.

Wheat
 Only varieties of hard red winter wheat should be grown in this area. The varieties Comanche, Westar, and Wichita are the most productive and should replace all others as rapidly as seed becomes available. Until that time, the varieties Tenmarq, Blackhull and Turkey may also be recommended. Wichita a cross between Early Blackhull and Tenmarq is an early variety and should replace Early Blackhull because it has much better baking qualities. Seeding rates may vary from 30 to 60 lbs per yield under favorable conditions. Their recommended rate is 45 pounds but rates may be reduced for early seeding and should be increased when seeding is late.

Oats
 Fall seeded oats is more productive than spring seeded oats but may be winter killed. The Red Rustproof strains New Nortex and Ferguson 922 and the early maturing combine oat Futlex are recommended for both fall and spring seeding in the area. For spring seeding the Pulghum strains Pra-

Barley
 Fall planting of barley is recommended and spring plantings should be made only when the fall sow crops is winter killed. The varieties Wintex and Texan are recommended. The varieties Reno and Ward are more winter hard but less productive unless winter killing is a factor in yield. Rate of seeding in the fall should be 3 to 4 pecks per acre; rates for spring seeding 4 to 5 pecks. Barley usually increases the chinch bug populations which in turn may cause damage to grain sorghums in the area.

Rye
 Abruzzi rye is an adapted variety that is recommended. Rye is well adapted to sandy soils. Rye should not be allowed to go to seed where planted on land that will be planted to wheat because of the danger of getting mixed with the wheat and lowering the quality. Early September planting of rye is advisable.

COTTON CROP INSURANCE CONTRACT SIMPLIFIED

Farmers that sign up for insurance on their 1947 cotton crop will get a simplified contract that provides coverage more nearly equal to the investment in the crop at the different stages of production. Protection against all risks remains the same as in 1946.

The insured farmer will be supplied with tables showing exactly the amount of indemnity he can expect at any stage of production, if he suffers a loss. This should prevent misunderstanding at adjustment time.

Instead of the former 50 and 75 per cent levels of coverage, the new cotton regulations provide three levels—A, B, and C. Premium cost will range according to the level of coverage, with highest costs and coverage under level C.

Closing dates for filing 1947 applications will be earlier in most areas than they were for 1946. The new regulations are expected to reach county agricultural conservation (AAA) offices in cotton states by October. This should give farmers ample time to consider the new program before applying for insurance.

Back in 1906 John Holmes, president of Swift & Co., was a messenger with that concern.

MRS. P. W. COBB WRITES OF SON FROM COLORADO

A letter received this week from Mrs. P. W. Cobb, now residing at Bayfield, Colorado, is greatly appreciated by the Times for furnishing information about her son Sergeant Palmer W. Cobb.

Mrs. Cobb's letter follows in part: "I see you are asking for the names of boys killed in action. My son was a Scurry County boy for some 12 or 15 years, however, he was sent (into the army) from Colorado."

Sgt. Cobb, Mrs. Cobb relates, was killed on Okinawa, June 10, 1945. Sgt. Cobb would of course not be listed as an enlistee of this county on the rolls, but many friends here will be glad to hear from Mrs. Cobb, and the Times extends appreciation for her thoughtfulness in answering our request for the names. Friends of Sgt. Palmer here will join, too, in honoring him.

Mrs. Jo Ann Curnette of Redwood Drive, San Antonio, Texas, has been visiting this week with her uncle and family the Dick Henderson's, also her aunt, Mrs. Claude Williams of Snyder.

Roe Home & Auto Announces New U. S. Royal 'Air Ride'

M. H. Roe of the Roe Home & Auto Supply, the U. S. Tire distributor in Snyder, is sending out a general invitation to the public, and especially to car owners interested in good tires, this week to come to his store at 2110 Avenue S to see the new U. S. Royal Air Ride Tire.

"It's not yet for sale," Roe commented, "but many people will want to preview this tire. . . America's newest, most modern Premium Tire."

The new tire is designed by the United States Rubber Company, and "the new U. S. Royal Air Ride is more than a new tire," Roe explained, "it represents a completely new concept of tire engineering."

"We already have one of the new Air Rides for display only," Roe informed, "and the result of it is an entirely new kind of tire performance. The average car owner will naturally know I cannot supply the demand right now, but I think most people, when they see the tire, will admit that it is really worth waiting for. I'd like for everyone in this territory to come in and see it. I hadn't looked for so much in a tire myself."

The Roe firm is open until six o'clock each afternoon.

Mrs. Forrest Sears and daughter Carolyn returned Sunday from two weeks vacation in Ruidoso.

Search Being Made For Oldest Canine

In the hope that it may be found in this locality, the Scurry County Times has been asked to aid in the Gaines Dog Research Center's search for the oldest dog in America.

The dog is wanted so that it—and its owners can be duly honored during the forthcoming observance of National Dog Week, September 22 to 28.

Persons owning or knowing of extremely aged dogs are urged to send the complete data and pictures immediately to Harry Miller, executive secretary, Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. In the case of a purebred, a copy of the registration papers should accompany the communication, while in the case of a crossbred, an affidavit from the owner accompanied by sworn statements from persons acquainted with the dog since birth should be sent. The final selection will not be made until the leading candidates have been investigated, according to Mr. Miller, who adds that any documentary papers submitted will be returned after National Dog Week is over.

Agricultural Experiment Station Issues Final 'Seasonal' On Cotton

In its far-reaching report, although not touching to any extent on Scurry County cotton conditions which have advanced on account of dry weather ahead of many sections, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station states that most cotton has matured rapidly and that many fields except where squares and young bolls are present.

Leafworms are generally distributed over the state but comparatively little damage has been done because of poisoning and rapid maturity of the cotton crop.

Pink bollworms have been taken as far north as Bee, Goliad and Victoria Counties. The infestation in Cameron and Hidalgo Counties has not been as great as last year, and the situation in general appears favorable for a considerable reduction in the spread of infestation to other counties.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance of early fall plowing under of cotton stalks. This practice is a preventive measure for both pink bollworms and boll weevils.

This is the final report for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Blodgett and Mrs. Joe Caton spent Sunday, August 31, in Post visiting with Reverend and Mrs. L. A. Smith, Rev. Smith is pastor of the First Methodist Church there and is formerly pastor of the Snyder Methodist Church.

Farm Unit Demonstrators Raise Living Standards Rural Families

Many Texas rural families are now living better and enjoying farming more than ever by taking part in the Farm Unit Demonstration program, says FUD Supervisor of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, Roy L. Donahue.

A typical Farm Unit demonstrator is C. B. Adams, Smith County farmer, who tells what the program has meant to him and what it can do for other farmers.

"The Farm Unit Program has taught me quite a lot about farm management, planning, fertilization, and rotation," says Adams. "Had I known while my family was growing up and my boys were at home what I know now, our farm life would have been much easier and much more profitable."

Before he began using Farm Unit methods, Adams grew mostly row crops and had to cut hay on the halves to support ten cows on his pasture. After learning about phosphate fertilization and seeding pastures, he carries 35 head of cattle on the same pasture and this year has cut 853 bales of hay. As a result of his demonstration, begun aintling soil building legumes and are fertilizing their pastures with phosphate.

"I feel that the Farm Unit Demonstration program has helped me to receive a fuller enjoyment from farming," Adams points out, "as well as to increase my farm income."

To those who are awaiting delivery of their New Oldsmobiles

A Word of Appreciation . . . and a Suggestion, too!

We know how anxious you are to get your new Oldsmobile. And there's nothing we'd like better to do, right now, than to say to every Oldsmobile buyer: "Your car is here. Come get it!"

But frankly, it just isn't possible to do that. There still aren't enough new Oldsmobiles to go around. Due to shortages in materials and unavoidable limitations on production, the output of new cars still is behind schedule. And our allotments are far below the figures that we originally anticipated.

We want to assure you, however, that everything possible is being done, both here and at the factory, to get your car in your hands promptly. And we'd like to take this occasion to thank you sincerely for the patient and considerate way in which you have borne with us during this period of waiting.

Meanwhile, we have an important suggestion: Don't neglect the car you drive today.

When dining tablecloths, fold them hem to hem occasionally, instead of lengthwise, and they'll last longer. As explained by Mrs. Julia Kiene, director of the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, creasing at the same point tends to increase wear at that point. Thanks From German Minister To Hermleigh Christian Service Group Profuse in its thanks for aid rendered to them, a letter arrived in Hermleigh recently from Germany which testified that boxes sent from Hermleigh almost a year ago had arrived there—late but appreciated.

According to Mrs. Louie Brock, who showed the Times staff the letter, the Hermleigh women were very pleased that their efforts were showing some results. Almost a year ago, or in October, 1945, a number of women of the Society of Christian Service of the Hermleigh Methodist Church packed 20 boxes containing various needs for war-stricken people overseas. The boxes were packed according to specifications of the United States government, containing baby needs, clothing, thread, material for covering, and sundry other things.

The letter to the Hermleigh women follows (and though it is addressed to the Brothers, it seems that the Sisters may be entitled to credit for the packages).

Dear Christian brothers

Yestarday, 10th of July 1946 we received your wonderful Church Christmas Package, which you transmitted us for our true spirit believers. It contained: 3 packets for making soups, 1 towel, 1 dish-cloth, 4 rolls of linen thread, 1 comb, and wonderful stuff for cover, and last not least sweet meats. I delivered it two widows, who both have little children, the one 3, the other five years old. The fathers are dead near Stalingrad. Mothers and little girls are very much enjoyed by the hardy contents and were filled with enthusiasm. They beg me, to thank you in their name very heartily. God bless you for your charity!

Now, I want to tell you, where your beautiful package came—because my bad English!—The name of our village is: Eggenstein near Karlsruhe on Rhine in the province of Baden in Southwest Germany. We are here 2500 protestant inhabitants and thereto yet nearly 400 fugitive refugees from Yugoslavia. Our village has very suffered by the war and has wrong to forget. The poverty is very great and if you didn't help us by your christian fraternal love, and if the American liberty government didn't care for our country, we were indeed forced to die of hunger. That does so good us, to know, that beyond the great water, are hearts of christian brothers, who remember the words of our Lord: "What you did for one of my honest brothers, that did you for me." (Sr. Isaiah 24-40.)

Again, dear christian brothers, thousand thanks! I greet you with all my heart in the name of the receivers, in the alliance of our christian faith!

Your most devoted Rev. Rolf Schulling Evangel-protestant parish-priest of Eggenstein.
