How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
2. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional, periodic causes. Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Dermott Baptists Announces New Time of Services

Members of the Dermott Baptist Church announce that regular fourth Sunday preaching services will be held at the church Sunday.

Rev. Leslie Kelley of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, is pastor of the Dermott church. Everyone in the surrounding area is urged to come to Dermott services Sunday.

The church recently voted in conference to have Sunday afternoon services instead of Sunday night during the winter months. Services Sunday will be at 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning with the sermon subject "The Angels of God—Genesis 32:1 and Hebrews 1:14" and the afternoon services will be at 3:30 o'clock with the sermon subject "The Good Man Barnabas—Acts 11:24."

People of the community are also reminded of the community Sunday School which meets at the church each Sunday morning at 10:00. Subject for Sunday's lesson will be "Paul's Widening Field of Service—Acts 13:1-14:7."

The Sunday School was organized in July and has been marked by growing attendance and a great interest. Jesse Browning is superintendent; Burton Moore, choirster; Mrs. Burton Moore, pianist; and Mrs. Jesse Browning, secretary. Teachers are Mrs. Burton Moore, adults; Sonnie Greenfield, young people; and La Verne Edmonson, children.

TIGERS ON VICTORY TRAIL AS ROBY FALLS BY SCORE OF 31-6

By Bill Schiebel

In a game Friday evening at Tiger Stadium in which Snyder's Tigers displayed a strong aerial attack, the Roby Lions were subdued in a District 8A clash by score of 31 to 6.

The Tigers started out strong with three touchdowns in the first half and then added two more in the second half to ice down the game. The Lions were held in check until late in the fourth quarter when they scored their lone touchdown on a long pass from Waddell to Kinsey.

Roby kicked off to Snyder and the Tigers returned the ball to the 20 yard line where they ran a couple of plays and kicked out of bounds on the Roby 49 yard line. Roby made a first down and then kicked and Snyder fumbled on the first play and the ball was recovered by Roby on the Snyder 35 but the Lions couldn't make any yardage through the Tiger line and the punted at the end of the quarter and Snyder ran the ball to the 49 yard line.

Starting the second quarter, the Tigers carried the ball on ground gains of from 10 to 15 yards each time to the 20 yard line where Donnie Everett went back into the passing position and threw a long one to End Richardson, who made a nice completion by catching the ball in between two Roby defenders and racing 10 yards for the first Snyder Touchdown. Try for the extra point was low and no good.

After receiving the kick off from Snyder, Roby ran a couple of power plays into the Tiger line and were stopped for no gain and then punted to the Snyder 45, where Donnie Everett took it and ran it back to the Roby 35 yard line.

A penalty of 15 yards put the ball on the Roby 20 yard line and then the Tigers ran their best play of the night on a triple reverse play that finally ended up with George Richardson going around the right end for the second Tiger Touchdown. Again the kick for extra point was low and no good.

To end the scoring in the first half the Tigers marched the length of the field and climaxed their drive by a pass from Donnie Everett to End Pop Blakley good for 29 yards and the third Tiger touchdown which left the score at 18 to 0 at the half.

During the half the Roby Pep squad saluted the Snyder stands and then formed a large star in the center of the field.

The Snyder Pep Squad marched on the field in an SHS formation and then went into a large heart and the Snyder School Football Sweetheart, Durelle Stokes, was presented with a large bouquet of roses by the co-captains of the night's game, Tackle Roy Trice and Guard Don Bynum. The Pep Squad left stick markers decorated with gold and black streamers sticking in the ground in the outline of the heart. The pep squad left the field again in the SHS formation.

After the kick off in the second half Snyder recovered a Roby fumble on the 15 yard line. Jack Gorman made a first down on the five and on the next play Louie Vaughan went over right tackle for the counter making the score 24 to nothing. Again the try for the extra point was no good.

At this point in the third quarter Coach Beene started making numerous substitutions, many of the boys getting into their first game. Late in the third quarter the Tigers made their last touch down on a pass play from Everett to Vaughan good for 12 yards and the touch down. A fake kick play ending up in a pass to Richardson added the extra point for Snyder final score, making it 31 to 0.

In the fourth quarter the Roby Lions got their passing attack clicking against the Snyder second string and managed to score a touchdown on a pass from Waddell to Kinsey. Their try for the extra point was wide and no good.

Running of Louie Vaughan and Jack Gorman along with the excellent passing of Donnie Everett was outstanding for the Tigers.

Captain of the Roby team, Harless, was the outstanding man in the Roby backfield closely followed by Waddell. The defensive play of the Tiger guards, Don Bynum and Jack Longbotham was the factor which held the Lions to 26 yards gained from scrimmage. Following are the statistics:

Snyder	Roby
Touchdowns	5 1
Point after touchdown ..	1 0
First downs	10 8
Passes attempted	12 20
Passes completed	9 7
Yards gained passing ..	143 58
Intercepted passes	0 2
Penalties in yards	75 45
Punts	2 4
Average yards per punt ..	21 30
Yards from scrimmage ..	83 26

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q—Will a cow produce more milk if milked three times a day rather than twice?

A—Yes, provided the cow has inherited the ability to produce large amounts of milk. Milk secretion is continuous, and when the udder is filled to capacity the nutrients for making milk return to the body. By milking more often, more milk is made.

Q—Do laying hens need more feed when their egg production is high?

A—Yes. When egg production is high, hens need more feed to keep up the body weight. If feed rations are not sufficient, body weight will go down and production will slump. The Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company, for example, recommends feeding according to the following tables:

When Egg Production Is	Total Feed Required Daily
40%	20 to 22 lbs. per 100 birds
50%	23 to 25 lbs. per 100 birds
60%	26 to 28 lbs. per 100 birds
70%	29 to 32 lbs. per 100 birds

Q—Do champion swine producers make use of pasture?

A—During the past two years, several swine producers in Michigan have made enviable production records. In every case, the proper use of pasture played an important part in their success. It was reported that 15 per cent to 20 per cent less feed was required when pigs could have plenty of good forage. About half of the protein needed was supplied by the pasture.

Q—How much coal is required for brooding broiler chicks.

A—About four to seven pounds of coal per chick is required, depending upon the region and the season of the year.

Fats Picture Bleak

"There will be no improvement in the fats and oils situation for a long time," according to E. A. Meyer, deputy administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration. Meyer urges every Scurry County housewife to save and turn in all used kitchen fats and oils to help solve the present shortage.

Developments in Oil Industry Aid Farm Operations

With deep oil play coming to Scurry County, new developments in petroleum products will be of keen interest to all county farmers.

New developments are helping county farmers by making equipment last longer and operate more efficiently. This is the gist of laboratory staff findings from a major oil company.

During the war the oil industry, working research laboratories at top efficiency, made rapid progress in developing such valuable products as rust preventives, insecticides and better lubricants for a variety of purposes. These products are now being made available to farmers in Scurry and other counties.

Vets Told to Cast Ballots Favoring Land Amendment

Every Scurry County veteran should go to the polls on Thursday, November 7, and in this special election assure—with other vets over the state—passage of a proposed constitutional amendment that will create a Veteran's Land Board designed to give 10,000 Texas vets farm and ranches.

The amendment, backed by the local American Legion and other posts over the state, received backing in the state convention recently in Galveston.

Highlights of the amendment are that it was passed unanimously by the house and senate of the last legislature; that the board will be composed of the governor, attorney general and general land commissioner; that such board is given authority in concurrence with the legislature to issue bonds up to $25,000,000 for the purchase of additional land from the federal government, individual and other state agencies located in every sector of the state; that bonds bearing three per cent interest will be sold to other state departments carrying heavy surplus funds now uninvested, thus eliminating the necessity of any additional taxes.

School Students Get Bid To Rotan Event

Snyder and townspeople of Snyder are invited by the Rotan Senior Class to attend a Halloween Carnival on the Rotan football field on Thursday, October 31. The gaiety begins at 8:00 p. m.

Featured attraction of the carnival will be the selection of a carnival king and queen from the classes and organizations of both grammar and high schools. Other attractions will include bingo, food, surprise boxes, fortune telling, prize fights, the Crazy House, the House of Wonders, fishing, turkey raffle, and basketball goals.

Plans for the occasion are being readily completed and this is anticipated to be one of the largest carnivals of its kind ever to be held in this section.

Wheat Crop Loans to Be Closed October 31

All Snyder Area farmers who may need them are reminded that applications for wheat crop loans will close October 31.

The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office, Farm Credit Administration, finds merging of several government agencies makes it mandatory to quit taking wheat loan applications by October 31. These loans have usually been available until January 1.

Harold Wade of Snyder is living in a campus dormitory at Texas Christian University at Fort Worth this fall.

Some 650 students are residents of T. C. U.'s four dormitories, two of which are for girls and two for boys. Two additional dorms, one for girls and one for boys, are now being built, to be ready for occupancy in 1947.

Over-all enrollment of the school is at an all-time high, totaling approximately 4,000. There are 2,800 in day classes, some 1,200 in the Evening college. Veterans account for 1,967 of the 4,000 total.

Wade, freshman student in Clark Hall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wade, Snyder.

November 5 Red Letter Day for Scurry County Voters; Three Amendments Up

Tuesday, November 5, will be a red letter day for Scurry County voters.

For on November 5 county voters will have nominees on the Democratic Party ballot to approve from U. S. Senate to precinct officials—and three vitally important constitutional amendments to vote on.

The first constitutional amendment would authorize, if approved, the legislature to pay for a science building constructed away back in 1937 for John Tarleton Agricultural College.

Second amendment would empower and authorize the legislature to provide a retirement and compensation system for the State of Texas employees.

Third and most important amendment is No. 3, the Good Roads Amendment, which would freeze road funds in the State Highway Department and guarantee that such monies go only into road building and that one-fourth of gasoline taxes go to the available school fund. This is the most important constitutional amendment that has faced Texas voters in many years.

In addition to the official ballot for the Democratic Party, the Republican ballot will face voters, as will spaces for the Independents.

Official ballot of the Democratic Party for Scurry County, follows:

Hermleigh Romps On Highland Team In Conference Tilt

In a game last Thursday evening at Roscoe that proved a run-away for the Cardinals, Hermleigh defeated Highland by a tally of 20 to 0.

Friday evening's tilt, with resultant win for Hermleigh, ties the Hermleigh Cardinals and the Hobbs Panthers for the District 4-B conference lead with percentage of 87.5 each.

During the first stanza of the game the Cards were held scoreless, but reached pay dirt in the second, third and fourth quarters. Bobby Sims went around right end and pulled up 25 yards for the first Cardinal touchdown.

Hermleigh was roundly cheered when what looked like a touchdown was fumbled and recovered on the five yard line. The Cards marched 995 yards to reach pay dirt.

Third touchdown was tallied when Hermleigh blocked a kick on Highland and the ball was recovered by Lowell Wade for a touchdown.

Last mark for Hermleigh was through center by Dub Wright. Wright made extra point.

Wright, Wade and Sims looked good in the backfield. H. B. Lewis, Seaman Hudnall, Dale Stuard and Jake Smith looked mighty good in the Cardinal line.

Hermleigh goes to Loraine Friday evening for a non-conference game on the Loraine field.

Pat arrived home much the worse for wear. One eye was closed, his nose broken, and his face looked as though it had been stung by bees.

Saving for THE "LEAN" YEARS

In years of abundant crops, surplus grains and food are saved for the lean years of crop failures.

So, too, the individual needs to save part of his earnings during his most productive years, to meet emergencies and provide for his needs when disability or old age reduce his earning power, or death deprives his loved ones of his support.

That's an important part of the valuable service you receive as a member of the Woodmen of the World. For while you build financial security with Woodmen life insurance protection, you also may enjoy the "plus" benefits of Woodcraft's fraternal and social activities.

There's a type of Woodmen insurance certificate that exactly meets your needs. See the local Woodmen representative . . . let him show you how with small monthly payments you can provide this protection for yourself and your family.

Hobbs Gridders Win From Clyde Entry

In a District 4-B battle with the Clyde Bulldogs at Hobbs Friday afternoon Hobbs defeated Clyde with a 12-0 triumph.

Hobbs Panthers finally crashed through for a fourth stanza touchdown and then made a "break" a few minutes later to ring up the 12 to nothing tally.

After three scoreless periods, Charley Marshall White passed to Allen Cavitt into the end zone 20 yards away for the first touchdown.

On the next kick-off J. Wendell Kincaid fell on the ball in the Clyde backfield failed to pick up the ball and run with it—thus counting a second Hobbs touchdown.

Dick Ham, a tackle, and Grady Barr, right halfback, stood out for Clyde.

Turner PTA Hosts Pie Supper Friday

Sponsored by Turner's Parent-Teacher Association, a community-wide pie supper will be staged Friday evening at Turner School.

Ladies of Turner and nearby communities are asked to bring pies or cakes for the cats and fellowship feast.

P-TA officials report the pie supper will get underway at 7:00 o'clock. General public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Vocational Group Visits Experiment Station at Spur

Headed by Haskell O. Beard, instructor, and J. N. Caviness, county agent, Scurry County's Vocational Class visited the Spur Agricultural Experiment Station last week.

Members of the class report a very interesting and worthwhile visit.

Buck Mitchell, Polar; Bill Adams, Hermleigh; Bob Griffith and Clarence Brush, Snyder, have recently enrolled in the Scurry County Vocational Agriculture School.

A class in distributive education has been opened with the following enrolled: Clyde Boren Jr., Ralph Bryant, Foy Wade, Bob McKinney, Lloyd Gordon, Jeff Brown, George Light, all of Snyder and Charles Brannon and Billie Brown of Inadale, make up the enrollment.

Elmer Taylor is temporary instructor.

Rex Woodard of the Plainview community reports that he is already poisoning mosquitoes as per the method he learned from his visit to the Spur Experiment Station.

Friend husband should be excused for using sharp words. After all, he has to get them in edgewise.

John E. Jones Of Hermleigh Again With Former Buddy

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jones of Hermleigh received word last Tuesday from their son, Private First Class John E. Jones, who recently sailed for Germany.

John wrote a very cheerful letter home and stated that he and Private First Class Billy John Edwards of Eula were together again. They went through basic training as buddies and were separated when Billy John was sent about the first of May to study as a typist clerk at Denver, Colorado.

John went to Kelly Field, San Antonio, where he attended military police school.

Ira Seniors Sponsor Parties At School

Ira High School's senior class, sponsored by Miss Patsy Hardee, will give a forty-two and domino party Friday evening, beginning at 7:00 o'clock, at the Ira School gymnasium.

Funds derived from the forty-two party will go to the carnival queen candidate, Billie Jean Davis. Refreshments of pie, cake, cookies and coffee will be served.

People of Ira and nearby communities are extended a cordial invitation to attend the party. Prizes for the games will be only five and 10 cents.

Sixty-five per cent of the world's population live on farms.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS

By Estella Rabel, Scurry County Home Demonstration Agent

With cold winter nights on the way, Snyder area housewives will be glad to learn that Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent, has reports revealing through U. S. Department of Agriculture sources plenty of wool blankets on store shelves.

To help homemakers who are buying blankets to get the most for their money, Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent, has some information on what to look for in judging the worth of a blanket.

The label will tell the buyer how much wool is in the blanket. Miss Rabel says. As a rule, the more wool the warmer the blanket, but it takes at least 25 per cent wool to make much difference in warmth, fluffiness, elasticity or ability to absorb moisture without feeling damp.

Before choosing a blanket, the buyer should hold it up and inspect the nap to see that it is thick. Thick napping makes the blanket warmer. Poor blankets sometimes show thick in some places and thin in others when held up to the light. The blanket weave should also be studied to see that the yarns are smooth, even, regularly spaced and fairly close together.

Many blankets wear out early because they are too small for the beds they are used on, the county home demonstration agent points out. If too small, the sleeper will tug at it during the night and weaken the fabric. For a double bed, a blanket should be at least 72 by 84 inches; for a single bed, 63 by 84 inches.

Marine A. B. Sealy Sends Chinese Paper That Tells Plenty

From Tsingtao, China, where he is stationed, Platoon Sergeant A. B. Sealy, U. S. Marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Sealy of Snyder, sends a copy of the partially hand-set People's Herald that makes exceptionally interesting reading.

Giving a great deal of current news from the interior of China, the People's Herald carries notices of motion pictures being shown like "The Virginian," "A Medal for Benny," "Woman in the Window," and "The Bells of St. Mary's."

At Tsingtao people are advertising such things as good pianos, two-room apartments for rent and an Electrolux.

"Average receipt of merchandise tax," the paper states, "totaled $100,000,000 per month at Tsingtao. Cigarette tax takes the lead whilst tax on cotton yarn comes next, it is learned from the Tax Bureau."

"A large junk belong to Wang Feng-Cho was nearly destroyed by fire yesterday," the paper says in another news story. "A football game will be held at Huichuan Stadium today between the Ching-Nien and Lien-Yu teams."

Overseas a grand total of 65 months, Sergeant Sealy reenlisted in the marines for four years.

Sealy was at Pearl Harbor when World War II broke out. He has served in a number of places overseas. A 1939 graduate of Snyder High School, A. B. is now 24 years old.

Ginnings This Year Ahead of Last Year

Scurry County cotton ginnings for the 1946 season prior to October 1, stood at 3,480 bales, the Department of Commerce announces through Ira R. Sturdivant, county crop reporter.

Ginnings for the current season compare very brightly with 1,116 bales ginned prior to October 1, 1945.

2,474 Cars Loaded By Santa Fe System

Santa Fe System carloadings for week ending October 12, were 26,474, compared with 24,199 for same week in 1945, local Santa Fe officials report.

Cars received from connections totaled 13,730 compared with 11,585 for same week in 1945. Total cars moved were 40,204 compared with 35,784 for same week in 1945. Santa Fe handled a total of 38,654 cars in preceding week of this year.

Better Relations Established Here For Mexicans by Improved Facilities

Scurry County's migrant labor center, city tabernacle and grounds a block north of the square, is headquarters daily for dozens of hands who come here to obtain cotton bolls.

Not only does the city tabernacle furnish shelter for dozens of cotton bollers during rainy weather, but sanitation facilities have been installed on the city lot and plenty of city water is available for cooking and washing.

C. W. Stimson, Scurry County Farm Labor field assistant, is doing a grand job in placing these hands and in listing farmer needs for cotton bollers.

Migrant labor is welcome at the city tabernacle, but in pre-war days remember how jalopies loaded with hands came through here, members of families often going from August to January without taking a bath? And how many migratory workers went from one January to the next without a square meal? When some migrants found it necessary to buy tweezers to pick "knits" from the "nogginns" of some boys and girls?

With advent of pretty weather this week Scurry County farmers are doubly thankful for approximately 850 migrant laborers at work in county cotton fields.

Each fall we depend on Mexican Nationals and migrant white laborers to help us harvest cotton as a major cash crop, and not only farmers but professional people recognize the friendlier attitude shown this year toward the hands.

In the pre-war years we had plenty of migrant harvest hands, coming through Snyder all during the fall and going north to Lubbock and the South Plains. They came from Brownsville, from Hidalgo and Cameron Counties and with killing frost already hit the pavement back to a warmer climate.

The 100,000 to 200,000 persons who each fall made up this army were the state's lowest-paid, worst educated and sickest population with an average annual income of less than $400 a year.

By means of sharp contrast we have Latin Americans coming into this area who are neat in appearance; speak fair English and have a much higher living standard than the old "greaser" type of person who formerly came up here from the slums of cities along the Texas Border. We have Mexican families who wash at least once a week and who have taken to heart the admonition of cleanliness.

This fall the average cotton boller can earn $5 per day. With a minimum of 850 hands busy, this means $4,250 paid out daily to hands who in turn spend the greater part of that money in this trade zone. Groceries, clothes and recreation come in for consideration this year even with migrant workers.

Most helpful in keeping the cotton bollers content and keeping down prejudice against Latin Americans is the Good Neighbor Commission and tireless work of Secretary Pauline Kibbe. The center at Snyder is now listed as one of 15 improved this year.

About 30 per cent as many pickers will work West Texas this fall as in previous seasons (because of the exceptionally short over-all cotton crop) but Mississippi is taking thousands to pick bottom-land cotton at $3 per hundred pounds.

Now that Scurry has joined the parade of other West Texas Counties sharing migrant labor centers with suitable facilities, problem of educating the children is a major one. Since the boys and girls are in the field from August to December our public school system cannot be changed to meet this need alone. What the proper remedy will be is anyone's guess.

Olan Culp, Billy Gene Pylant, Win Prizes

First prizes seem to be natural with Olan Culp, Hermleigh 4-H Club member.

Young Culp, who copped first in the Scurry County 4-H Club show, placed first Saturday, in the district Sears, Roebuck & Company show at Sweetwater and received first place award of $50.

Culp's gilt proved an outstanding entry in the district show at Sweetwater before judging began, attendants reported.

Billy Gene Pylant of Fluvanna won 100 baby chicks in the district Sears show Saturday.

County Agent J. N. Caviness accompanied Young Culp and Pylant to Sweetwater for the exposition.

TUCC Field Auditor To Be In Snyder Soon

C. F. Peyton, Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission field auditor, will be here on October 29, 2:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m., at the Chamber of Commerce. TUCC officials announced this week.

W. H. Donathan of Abilene, district supervisor, says this service to unemployment compensation taxpayers and to those who may later become subject to the Texas law is being made available because of demand for this help.

All persons in this vicinity who have business to transact with the TUCC are urged to contact Peyton October 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Ody Cunningham and children of Seminole spent the week-end in Snyder visiting Mrs. Cunningham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Parker.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Chambers of Lampasas visited over the week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Chambers.

American Legion To Stage Junior Rodeo

Interest is being shown over a wide area of surrounding counties in the Junior Rodeo, American Legion sponsored, that will be staged November 10 and 11 at Scurry County's rodeo grounds in North-east Snyder.

Snyder Legion officials state rules and regulations for the two-day rodeo, for contestants up to 17 years of age, will be a parade each day preceding performances at 1:00 p. m.

Brother of Dr. H. G. Towle Dies Monday

Accompanied by his associate, Dr. John Blum, Dr. H. G. Towle flew to Trenton, Nebraska last Tuesday upon receipt of word that his brother, Gordon Towle, passed away last Monday night.

Gordon Towle, 60, was agent and express men at Trenton, Nebraska, for the C. B. & Q. Railroad.

Funeral services for Gordon were held last Thursday afternoon at Trenton's Congregational Church. Interment was in Trenton Cemetery.

Gordon is survived by the widow, Mrs. Gordon Towle of Trenton, Nebraska; three daughters and one son; a brother, Dr. H. G. Towle of Snyder, and an only sister, who resides at York, Nebraska.

Sixty Nine Capes Sent By Red Cross

Mrs. E. L. Farr, production chairman for Scurry County's Red Cross chapter, reports this week shipment of 69 children's capes for overseas emergency relief and 29 sweaters for wounded soldiers in hospitals of the United States.

The Red Cross needs your help. Mrs. Farr states, and Snyder women who want to assist are urged to get yarn and material at Mrs. Farr's home, 2706 Avenue R.

J. W. Hess, Pyron Dies After Siege Illness in Roscoe

J. W. Hess, 61, prominent farmer of the Pyron community, succumbed Saturday evening, 8:20 o'clock, in the Young Hospital at Roscoe, following a four-week siege of pneumonia.

Born December 23, 1884, Mr. Hess had lived in the Pyron community over 40 years and was prominently known in adjacent communities.

Mr. Hess was married June 1, 1908, at Seminole, Gaines County, to Miss Nora Barnett.

Funeral services for Mr. Hess were held Monday afternoon, 3:00 o'clock, at the Inadale Methodist Church.

Rev. S. A. Sifford, assisted by Rev. A. T. Mason, Hermleigh Methodist minister, officiated.

Palbearers were Roy Coston, Orval Allen, Dave Ammons, Olan Culp, Bernad Simmons and Schley Adams.

Mmes. B. Simmons, Arval Allen, Theodore Soules, R. W. Coston, Olan Culp and Dave Ammons were in charge of floral offerings.

Mr. Hess is survived by the widow, Mrs. Nora Hess; two sons, Orval Hess of Inadale and Dale Hess of Pyron; two brothers, D. Z. Hess of Hermleigh and A. F. Hess of Lubbock, and one sister, Mrs. R. N. Garrett of Tyler.

Odom Funeral Home directed arrangements, and Mr. Hess was laid to rest in Pyron Cemetery.

Redistricting Project Given Another Jolt

Redistricting, dear to the hearts of people in Scurry and adjacent neighboring counties, received another setback this week when Acting Governor William C. Graves of Dallas said he was not hopeful the next legislature would enact a bill redistricting Texas.

Redistricting the state for legislative representation would give virtually all of West Texas additional lawmakers at Austin.

Graves, president pro tempore of the senate, became acting governor when Lieutenant Governor John Lee Smith crossed the international line into Mexico. Smith became governor last Thursday when Governor Coke R. Stevenson went to Colorado on a big game hunt.

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, October 23 —
(AP)—The Agriculture Department says Texas tick fever is about whiped.

Reviewing the cattle disease in one of its periodic bulletins, the department notes that steady and persistent eradication efforts started in 1906 have done the business. Embargoes that once impeded movement of cattle through stockyards seldom ever have to be imposed these days.

While commonly known as Texas fever, the disease formerly was widespread throughout the entire south and caused an annual loss of about $40,000,000. The loss now averages less than $400,000. The quarantine area has been reduced to one per cent of its original size.

The catch of fur-bearing animals in Texas is heading for an all time high in 1946.

A report just issued by the interior department shows that the number of such animals, excluding rabbits, has exceeded any previous years and should increase another 20 per cent before December 31. Estimating its report covers 80 per cent of the current year's catch, the department says 1,264,707 animals have so far been trapped.

While pointing out that conditions in Texas make it impractical to obtain a comprehensive and accurate count, the report states that the highest previous catch was 889,317 animals in 1941.

The catch this year includes: muskrats, 417,339; opossums, 330,066; raccoons, 164,327; skunks, 135,358; foxes, 56,253.

Around the Capital:
Mrs. Bonnie L. Langford has been recommended by Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex) for appointment to the postmastership at Mertens.

Attorney General Tom Clark and Representative Hutton W. Summers were among those present for the opening of the fall term of the Supreme Court. Elmore Whitehurst Dallas attorney who serves as an aide to the tribunal, is to speak October 24 before a judicial conference of the sixth federal circuit in Cincinnati.

A Rio Grande Valley man, Terry B. Sanders of Edinburg, has been transferred from the State Department here to Moscow as third secretary and vice consul.

Every day sees an increase in the mail which comes into the office of Representative Teague, Texas' newest congressman. From a beginning of two or three letters a day, it now has risen to more than a score.

Two farm officials from College Station here for a national conference of agriculture leaders were guests of Teague at lunch in the House Office Building cafeteria. They were C. A. Boren, Experiment Station farm management research expert, and C. H. Bates, farm management official of the Extension Service. Also with them at the lunch was Ernest Holcomb, who was a classmate of Teague's at Texas A. & M. in the class of '32. Holcomb is with the Production and Marketing Administration in the Agriculture Department.

Officials of the Texas State Society of Washington, headed by attorney Ralph Pittman of Wichita Falls, have an unusual problem on their hands.

They're trying to figure out how to make their monthly dance less popular. Too many persons who never were west of the Alleghenies are crashing the gate. From a financial standpoint it's profitable, but the organization doesn't seek a profit.

At a recent dance opening the fall season Miss Helen Snelling of Abilene, who runs the Washington office of Braniff Airways and serves as secretary of the Texas society, circulated blank identification cards among the 1,200 or so persons who jammed a dance floor suited for 500. She asked for names and addresses and invited comments.

The number of cards returned indicated fully half those present were from other states. A means of eliminating the "outsiders" is sought. Here are a few of the comments and suggestions scribbled on the backs of the cards:

"Want to go back to Texas."
"Show poll tax before purchasing ticket," a thought from Mrs. Mary Standee of Hillsboro. "Fewer Yankees, please."

Riley Boy's Unit Gets Drill Merit Pennant

Warren Douglas Riley of Snyder, Clairemont Route, who recently enlisted in the U. S. Navy, is a member of Company No. 286, which last week was awarded the pennant for excellence in the performance of military drill at U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, California, for the second time.

Young Riley, a graduate of Snyder High School, was active in Future Farmers of America chapter work while in high school.

A competitive parade is held weekly at the U. S. Naval Training Center as a part of the training program, Riley states. Winning of this pennant is a much sought after prize.

Riley says the companies keep the pennant for a week and if they win it a second time it becomes a permanent possession of the company.

Ira Hallowe'en Carnival Slates Games, Program

Sponsored by the Ira Parent-Teacher Association, annual Ira community Hallowe'en carnival will be held in the school gymnasium on the evening of October 31.

Festivities will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Carnival attractions will include bingo, doll rag, cake walk, grab box and pantry.

Mrs. Perry Echols, Ira P-TA president, states a carnival queen will be crowned in conjunction with the annual carnival.

Ira School Superintendent W. T. Falls says carnival profits will go into the general school funds.

The southern county P-TA has as one immediate goal purchase of new sweat suits for both Ira boys and girls.

People of Snyder and other parts of the county are extended a cordial invitation to participate in the Hallowe'en carnival.

Contour Grain Plan Must Get Approval

Announcement that seeding small grains on the contour has been approved in Scurry County for payment under the 1946-1947 program, bringing approximately $3,000 extra money to the county, is being greeted with enthusiastic response from grain producers.

Each Scurry County producer is reminded, however, that a prior approval must be obtained from the county committee before payment can be made.

Any producer seeding small grain who expects payment for such practice should contact the county AAA office before seeding in small grain.

Methodist Conference Set at Pampa Nov. 6

Attention of Methodists in Snyder and Scurry County is called to Annual Northwest Texas Methodist Conference, which will be held November 6 at Pampa.

Snyder's trade zone, it was reported this week, will be well represented in the conference.

Bishop Charles C. Seletman will preside at the annual convocation.

Future Beefsteak on Way to County Tables

Scurry Countians hungry for meat will appreciate this picture, indicating part of the cattle which jammed the Fort Worth stockyards October 17, when receipts of cattle and calves reached a near record high. Trucks formed a line over two miles long.

Seven from County Among Record Roll At ACC This Year

Abilene Christian College, opening her forty-first session on October 3, had a record enrollment of 1430 students, a 115 percent increase over last year. Of this number, 585 were veterans. By classes there were 771 freshmen, 320 sophomores, 195 juniors and 144 seniors.

Included in those enrolling for the 1946-47 fall semester were the following students from Snyder: Seaborn Eicke, sophomore agriculture major, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Eicke; Bobby McCormick, freshman business administration major, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCormick; Mary Dovie Poque, freshman chemistry major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Poque; Merrian Crowder, senior art major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Crowder; Bette Joyce, sophomore art major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Joyce; Jimmie W. Duncan, freshman Bible major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Brown; Joy Brown, sophomore home economics major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown.

County Singers Meet at Snyder This Week-End

Attention of Scurry County is directed this week to semi-annual sessions of Scurry County's Singing Convention, which will be held Sunday in Snyder's High School auditorium.

Jack Patrick, convention chairman, and other convention officers ask that Scurry County people bring basket lunches so out-of-area singers can be fed.

Initial convention session will begin Saturday evening, 8:00 o'clock, and reconvene Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

An old-fashioned basket lunch will be spread on the school grounds at noon. Convention officials will furnish bread and coffee.

In addition to the Stamps-Baxter men's quartet of Dallas, outstanding feature of the song fest, other quartets from this area will appear on the program.

Ample supplies of new song books will be on hand for the all-day convention. Singers of Scurry, Fisher, Borden, Garza, Mitchell and Nolan Counties are slated to pack the local high school auditorium to capacity.

Harold Lewis Wade in Horned Frog Bands

Harold Lewis Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wade of Snyder, is playing in the Horned Frog Band of Texas Christian University.

The band, directed by Professor Leon Breeden, is organized three ways this year—the marching band, which plays at football games; the symphonic band, which will give a series of concerts during the school year; and the stage band, which plays at students assemblies, at Fort Worth affairs, before various high schools, etc.

The band has 47 members this year, largest it has been since before the war.

Wade, a freshman at T. C. U., plays the baritone horn.

Glenn H. Koonce Gets Fort Sill Assignment

Technician Fifth Grade Glenn H. Koonce of Snyder, has recently been assigned to Headquarters School Troops, Field Artillery School, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Prior to his arrival at Fort Sill, he was stationed at Camp Hood, Texas, taking basic training as a member of the 95th Regiment, 173rd Battalion.

In civilian life, he worked as a mechanic in Snyder. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Koonce, 701 25th Street.

Graphic History Of 36th Division Being Sent Out

Not only the sons of Scurry county who as members of Company G, 142nd Infantry, Texas National Guards, saw service with the colorful 36th Division, but many relatives will want a copy of the division's history, which is just off the press.

The 360-page pictorial history of Texas' own 36th Division graphically describes combat from the bloody shores of Italy through France, Germany and Austria.

Scurry County furnished hundreds of men for the 36th Division—men who helped the division write the outstanding history of World War II.

Publication of the division history, The Times learns, consummated an agreement made with the soldiers of the division when they were on occupation duties in Germany.

After deactivation of the division, the association agreed to fulfill all terms of the contract, although the price of the history had been set overseas so low there was question whether or not publishers in the United States could deliver on all promises.

Through more than 200 pages are pictures and text that tell the story of the division's gallant fighting through the tortuous Italian mountains and winter; its rout of the enemy from Rome and north; its brilliant drives through France; its conquering of the vaunted Siegfried Line that was supposed to guard Germany; and its rapid push through Hitler-land into Austria, where it was pursuing the Boche when surrender came. Through 150 pages are a roster of the more than 50,000 soldiers of the division in combat.

All initial subscriptions having been filled in accordance with contract, the book is now available to others. To veterans of the division, a price of $4.20 has been set. That includes, also, one year's membership in the 36th Division Association, which has a headquarters address of Box 2174, Capitol Station, Austin. To all others and the general public the price is $5.00 per copy.

Drivers Licenses To Be Issued Saturday

Due to illness, Mrs. Thaba Groves was not able to be in the sheriff's office Saturday afternoon, but will be there this Saturday for renewal of driver's licenses.

Any person who may not have a valid driver's license is urged to attend to this matter immediately.

West Texas Norther Strictly a Texas Institution: Comes Yellow and Blue

New Minister Here

New minister for the Snyder Church of Christ, east of the square on 25th Street, is Brother Austin Varner, who conducted services Sunday at the local church. Brother Varner, who came to Snyder from Electra, succeeds Clifton Rogers, now minister of the Humble Road Church of Christ at Houston.

It all started Friday morning when some one called the cool wave that hit Scurry County last Thursday night a norther.

Cool wave, or norther, pioneer residents like to refer to this phenomena of weather as "strictly a Texas institution."

Northers, however, according to A. M. Hamrick, head of the U. S. Weather Bureau at Dallas, are not indigenous to Texas. All other 47 states have them but they are termed cold waves. In North and South Dakota they are blizzards.

Veteran weather observers don't quite agree with the advanced theory of some that it's open season the year around on northers. In order to properly define a norther as something as American—and Texas—as corn on the cob, peach cobbler or barbecued short ribs—northers, it is said, should be limited to the fall and winter months.

In the latter part of October and in early November there is nothing quite so "bummy" to a West Texan as a day when a yellow tinge colors the air, a blue, low hanging bank appears in the sky to the north and a breath of ice (where someone left the north gate down) reminds us a good, old-fashioned blue norther is on the way.

Perhaps the day in the fall has been a "weather breeder." It may have been hot and still all day, yellow jackets, dirt daubers, and flies whirring around like mad to find a sheltered spot inside house and barn. . . . Ants may have been pulling seed and stems into dens by their patient relay system.

Then the first breath of the norther hits. You may have a clothes line full of half-dry clothes to worry about, or maybe your butane bottle is low or you haven't gotten the pipe up on your oil heater.

Anyway the winter coats and jackets are hauled out; stock are gotten up and milking done early and the family finds the four walls of home a haven—and refuge—from the elements of the outside world.

Correctly speaking, the yellow tinge in the air comes from dust particles stirred up by advance winds, gleaming in the winter sun against a dark backdrop.

While a real blue norther in this vicinity often originates in Western Canada and charges into Texas through the Panhandle, snow storms in the Rocky Mountains affect frequency of northers and snow flurries here in mid-winter.

After frost kills vegetation here, there is nothing quite so American and fitting as a spanking good norther to start hog killing out right. Spare ribs and back bones—not to mention fresh sausage—just naturally tastes better when winter winds bite face and hands and sweet potatoes, apples and seasoning ingredients are easily available for meat preparation.

"All weather, in the northern hemisphere, moves sooner or later in an easterly direction," Hamrick informs Times readers, pointing to a maze of concentric circles, wavy lines and yellow spots on a map.

The circles, mostly elongated and never uniform, came from a high pressure area, which, the weatherman added, was a mass of dry air stagnated over one area so long that it took on the aspects of the weather of that area.

That's why northers form in Canada or Alaska, where snow and ice abound.

"Sooner or later," the weatherman went on, "the rotation of the earth starts moving the high pressure area east, and low pressure area to the south start drawing the cold air."

New Church of Christ Minister from Electra

New minister for the Snyder Church of Christ, two blocks east of the square on 25th Street, is Brother Austin Varner, who moved here last week with his wife and son, Leslie, from Electra.

Brother Varner occupied the pulpit for morning and evening worship Sunday at the local church. He was at Electra two years and four months.

Brother Varner succeeds Clifton Rogers, who resigned to accept work with the Humble Road Church of Christ in Houston.

Stamps Baxter Four Sings Saturday Night

October treat for Snyder and Scurry County singers will be a concert that will be staged Saturday evening, beginning at 8:00 o'clock in Snyder High School auditorium by the Stamps-Baxter men's quartet of Dallas.

The well known radio and convention quartet will be featured Sunday in all-day sessions of Scurry County's Singing Convention, which will convene in the school auditorium.

Concert tickets go on sale Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Homemade Psychology

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"The world is full of women, once plain and superfluous, who have made themselves popular and beloved."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS
IF YOU feel that you can't afford the high prices that psychoanalysts are charging in these days of nervous disorders, there are less expensive ways of helping your young people—ways that have been in fashion for many hundreds of years and not only work a certain cure today but prevent any recurrence of the trouble tomorrow.

There is always a reason if your small girl of five begins to act queerly, to do inexplicable things. There is a reason for adolescent depression, insubordination, timidities, insolence, inhibitions. But when a child is loved, protected, well-fed, carefully educated, these symptoms are bewildering to a good mother. She looks in perplexity at the baffling small girl, and finally washes her hands of the whole problem and takes the child to a child psychologist—and pays him $10 a visit.

"My little boy is six," writes Mrs. Harris from Newport. "He has always been the sunniest, best-balanced youngster alive. But since the arrival of a small brother, Vance has been completely unmanageable. He has gone back to baby tricks of wetting the bed, wanting his food from a bottle, crying a great deal, starting his sentences with 'me wants' or 'please feed Vanny.'"

"My daughter Beatrice is 17," says Martha Johnson of Seattle. "She has never been as attractive as her younger sister, nor especially popular with her older brother. She has an unfortunate skin, rather heavy dark Spanish features, and owing to much illness in childhood, is backward in school, nervous, fearful and entirely lacking in initiative or self-confidence."

'Let Me Alone.'
"She takes the haughty position that nobody likes her and that she doesn't care, slams through the house, is never helpful or obliging, and alternates dark moods of gloom with bursts of silly, school-girl laughter. We have spent good money on doctors and psychologists; the latter can only remind her that she is young, healthy, loved by her family, and leave it at that, and any such treatment invariably angers and humiliates her so much that she now refuses to consult anyone, saying irritably, 'Let me alone. There's nothing the matter with me.'"

Personally, I have small patience with nine-tenths of this psychologic stuff, although in perhaps one case out of ten I have known it to be of invaluable help. For healthy, favored and fortunate Americans to work themselves up to such a pitch of self-pity and self-absorption that they have to retail the whole boring story of injustices and slights and imaginary wrongs to a complete stranger, and pay him for listening, seems to me—in a world so full of real suffering—to be not only foolish and weak, but actually wrong. Of course it is a luxurious delight to go to the office of a fascinating physician, lie on a couch and talk about yourself for exactly 60 minutes, at a cost of 25 cents a minute. It is restful, instead of straightening out your small boy's problem yourself to pay $10 to have someone tell

TREAT YOUR OWN MIND

We have all heard a lot about phychoses and psychiatrists since the war. True, there are people with twisted minds, and psychiatric treatment has done wonders in many cases. But too many people have turned to this new science of the mind to escape from responsibilities and irksome situations. After all, about all any psychiatrist can do is to help the patient to make the best of his circumstances, "to adjust to his environment."

Miss Norris writes today about the many women who have to overcome some physical defects. The woman who is homely and awkward has a hard time. She is not wanted in many jobs, and she is shunned socially. It is easy for her to slump into a defeatist attitude, to wallow in self-pity. She feels that she has no friends, no opportunities and that there is no use trying to amount to anything.

It is to these women that Miss Norris addresses this article. She tells them how they can surpass their lovely sisters by making themselves so useful and necessary that in time they will gain everyone's affection.

you that he is jealous of baby brother, that his naughtiness must be much ignored and all forgiven and that in a year or two the baby will be the one to get the spankings and criticisms, and big brother will be the lord of the nursery.

'Useful and Beloved.'
As for Beatrice, what she needs, and what her family needs, is character. No outside analyst can do any good there. The family needs patience, generosity, love and confidence for its least-fortunate member. And Beatrice needs a good strong dose of some such creed as this:

"I am homely, awkward, not popular with the family. But I am well and strong and my people certainly have tried to give me a fair start. The world is full of women, once plain and superfluous, who have made themselves popular and useful and beloved."

"How did they do it? Well, by practicing humility, cheerfulness, service. By making themselves as inconspicuous as possible, making no demands, finding ways of helping everyone, forgetting themselves. By keeping to simple rules of eating and exercising, always being physically fresh and scrupulously neat."

"Easy? No, this is no easy mountain to climb. My back will ache, my breath will come short, my soul within me will sicken with discouragement. But the reward will be very great. Slowly, slowly, I will pass my lovely spoiled sister Margaret in charm and strength of character; slowly I will win my big brother's respect and love; slowly I will convince my mother and father that their middle child is the most devoted child of all. It can be done, and it is worth the doing."

Often a serious study of the early chapters of Saint Mark, where you find the beatitudes, is worth all the psychology in the world!

More British Babies

The number of live births in the largest cities in England and Wales from the beginning of the year to September 21 totaled 309,525. This is an increase of 56,392 over the same period in 1945. London alone accounted for 46,378, which was 18,193 more than last year. The trend in the birth rate, which in the quarter ending in June was the highest for 21 years, was reversed, however, during the final week in the current return. Births during that week were 8,617.

"Homely and awkward, but popular and useful."

X-Ray Believed to Be Best Treatment for Ringworm

Ringworm, which recently has been epidemic throughout the United States, is best treated by x-ray, four groups of investigators report to the Journal of the American Medical Association. The groups agree that the infection predominates among boys and has been traced to barber shops, where infected clippers were used.

Approximately 65 per cent of the boys had the infection in the "clipper area" only, 31 per cent in the clipper area and other portions of the head, and 4 per cent on the crown of the head only, the report says. "Clipper area" includes those portions of the head which are in contact with clippers during barbering. This seems to indicate that the clippers were the main source of infection and that the combs and brushes played a comparatively minor part. The infection among the girls was always along the hair parting.

EISENHOWER HONORED IN EUROPE . . . More and more honors were heaped upon Gen. Dwight Eisenhower on his trip through Europe. With Mrs. Eisenhower, he is shown chatting with King George of England at Balmoral, Scotland, where the Eisenhowers were guests of the royal family. General Eisenhower previously visited the castle which was presented him by the citizens of Scotland. Every city presented him with medals and keys to the city. He was also given freedom of the city wherever he appeared in Scotland and England.

URNS NIGHT INTO DAY . . . Prof. Etienne Vassy, 37, expert on atmospheric physics at Sorbonne university, Paris, pictured with his wife in their laboratory as they announced discovery of formula for turning night into day. By means of radio transmission of optical waves directed at luminous strata, Professor Vassy says he will be able to capture enough light from the sky to read without lamps or to drive without headlights at night.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS . . . Mountains of Long Island, N. Y., potatoes, nearly 4,000 bushels on the Charles McVay ranch at Riverhead. They were purchased by the U. S. government at approximately $1.67 a hundred pounds. While Suffolk county potato growers have enjoyed bumper crops this year, they are encountering difficulties in getting their yields to market. Many of the potatoes started to spoil in the field before freight cars were made available.

WHO SAYS THERE'S A MEAT SHORTAGE . . . With retail butcher shops closing in most cities, this is a rare scene at the Reevytown, N. J., abattoir, where owner, John Martiniuk, ex-G.I., decided to sell retail at OPA prices his big supply of all kinds of meat. Martiniuk, who employs 12 butchers, all veterans, opened his slaughterhouse to the public in order to keep his men on the job and at the same time give meat hungry customers their favorite cuts.

NEW CHIEF JUSTICE . . . When the United States Supreme court began its new term, in a brief but ceremonious session, Fred M. Vinson, was installed as the new chief justice. He is shown above as he took his place on the bench.

NEW LEGION COMMANDER . . . Paul H. Griffith, Uniontown, Pa., newly elected commander of the American Legion. Twenty-eight years ago he was rolled in an army blanket and left on roadside for burial after being reported dead.

TYPING KING . . . Albert Tangora, seven-time winner of the world's championship typing title, is shown at the National Business show, New York City. He set a record of 142 words per minute for an hour straight to make record.

KING OF PICKERS . . . Eugene Chinault, 41, of Memphis, Tenn., grins delightedly at the $1,000 first prize which he won as champion picker at the National Cotton picking contest at Blytheville, Ark. He picked 109 pounds in two hours.

LEGION AUXILIARY HEAD . . . Mrs. Dorothy W. Pearl, Detroit, Mich., who was recently elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary, succeeding Mrs. Walter G. Craven, Charlotte, N. C., at the national convention.

GREEK TRAGEDY OF THE WAR . . . One of the most tragic ironies of the war through which the world has just passed is the condition in which the Italians left Greece. Today Greece is in worse shape than the nations of the vanquished. Former prosperous farmers are without buildings, few have cattle. One out of every five schools in Greece was destroyed by the invaders.

VEST POCKET WEISSMULLER . . . Duncan Richardson, born in Louisville, Ky., the son of Lt. and Mrs. Marshall Paul Richardson, is now in Hollywood. Duncan could scarcely be more at home in the water if he had been born with fins. At four years of age, Duncan is a natural swimmer. He not only has excellent form, but also can do all kinds of intricate dives, swims the crawl, back stroke, breast stroke and butterfly. He can swim the length of the average pool under water—and he enjoys every minute he is in the water.

VETERANS' PARADISE . . . Hunter college, New York City, largest women's college in the world, broke a 75-year precedent by opening enrollment to men. One thousand G.I.s enrolled. Here Gil Alexander, Jamaica, L. I., N. Y., carries a load of books for some of the girl students—and doesn't seem to mind the job.

THEY FED PLAYMATES . . . These three young Vlachos children have made an international name for themselves as musical prodigies. George Jr., 8, Madeline, 10, and Sophie Vlachos, 12.

SHAKE HANDS AND GO IN FIGHTING . . . Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, and Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, right, shake hands before the first game of the 1946 world series got under way—and again as it ended. Both managers were proud of their teams, winners in the National and American leagues, and both were popular with their teams as well as the fans who attended the world series at St. Louis and Boston.

RUGGED HERMIT . . . Living a rough and rugged life in a truck with white rats, guinea pigs, puppies, skunk and pet coyote, Willis R. Willey, 66, of Spokane, Wash., was arrested by Boston police because his pet coyote bit a girl.

10 BIG DAYS—OCTOBER 24 THROUGH NOVEMBER 2

This week we are celebrating our first anniversary in business in Snyder. When we came here a year ago we determined we would build a business on the principle of giving 100 cents in value for every dollar received. Our patronage has steadily grown, for which we are sincerely grateful. We want to thank the people of Snyder and this territory for their patronage and confidence by offering here special prices on drug and other items in our store—and there are many more articles throughout our store not listed. There is no inflation at Snyder Drugs. Here's a tip: Do some of your Christmas shopping during this event—make your dollar go further. New goods arriving daily.

MOST REMAINING PRICE CONTROLS ON FOODS MAY GO NOVEMBER 1 SAYS TOP OPA LEADER

A top level official who preferred to not be quoted predicts for Times readers that OPA is setting November 1 as deadline to do away with most of the remaining price controls on foods, commodities and services.

The disclosure was made as OPA released all price controls on coffee, and millers finished arguments for lifting ceilings from flour.

The government official said plans are laid for "an orderly retreat."

"We are going to carry out the president's decontrol program to the fullest possible degree," he said, "but it is not going to be a riot or chaos."

"We must keep ceilings on rent. We also must keep them on automobiles, building materials and certain durable goods."

Health Official Says Many of Middle Age Ills May Be Avoided

From a health standpoint, life after 40 begins to be more complicated for the average Scurry County individual, than it was in his earlier years.

According to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, the principal health foes confronting people in middle life are heart disease, cancer, kidney disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, diabetes, and arthritis.

Middle aged people of today are healthier than were those of preceding generations, and the preceding generation, when they reach middle age, should enjoy even better health than their parents of today.

Medical care in middle life has two important phases. The first is going to the doctor at regular intervals for a complete physical checkup, whether or not there have been symptoms that suggest the need for medical attention. The second is prompt attention to any illness which may mean the differ-

Scheduled to stay under ceilings are many household appliances such as refrigerators, certain basic clothing items, furniture and farm implements.

Removal of OPA controls on coffee Thursday was cited as an example of other actions to follow. Coffee prices had been raised so high under ceiling that it was a fiction to retain controls when supply came into balance with demand, the official said.

He related that OPA divisions now are busy compiling a complete list of all controlled products, both food and non-food, and listing those on which the public spends less than $75,000,000 a year.

These items will be decontrolled, the official added, as unimportant to living or business costs.

Congress had directed that all such items be freed from ceilings before next January 1 but the OPA schedule now calls for action two months early.

Other items and services with an annual outlay or volume above $75,000,000 are to be freed from ceilings as soon as it is determined between prompt recovery and good health and prolonged invalidism. It is difficult to say which of these phases is the more important.

It has been found that men and women who faithfully pursue the habit of regular health examinations and who follow the advice arising from them tend to live longer, more satisfactorily, and freer from disease than those who simply take a chance and go to the doctor only when pain or disability forces them to give up their normal activities.

It is also a fact that many diseases of middle age respond to treatment in early stages whereas if neglected until later stages they often cause permanent invalidism and even death.

Good advice for persons over 40 is that they have regular physical examinations and obtain prompt medical attention for any and all illnesses.

that such action will not upset stabilization efforts against wild inflation.

Administration leaders are reported agreed that, before Congress re-assembles in January, the entire OPA staff and its functions must be whittled to the minimum. This is necessary, the official said, if any controls are to survive. Officials expect a drive aimed at killing off of them, including rent controls and the complex veteran housing program.

No Improvement In Fats Situation From War Years

Shortages of fats and oils, Scurry County housewives are advised, are now more serious than during the war years and little improvement can be expected, according to B. F. Vance, state director of the Production and Marketing Administration.

Per capita consumption of fats and oils in 1942, for both food and non-food uses, was about 71 pounds. That figure has been dropping gradually since then, with preliminary estimates for 1946 placed at 62 pounds, the lowest since the depression year of 1933.

Loss of imports and low output of domestic oils have caused a decline in food use of fats and oils from 45 pounds per person in 1942 to 39 pounds this year. Non-food uses, especially of fats for soap, have remained fairly constant, declining from about 14 pounds in 1942 to only 11 pounds for 1946, Vance explains, in a release to The Times. This figure would be even less, he adds, if Texas housewives had not done such an excellent job of saving used fats. But the job is far from complete, he warns, as a slack in the efforts of housewives in saving fats now will mean even less soap.

The present meat shortage places additional responsibilities on every housewife to do a more conscientious job of saving used fats.

Livestock and Feed Go Up as Cotton, Grain Eggs and Poultry Markets Sag

Latest Swing of Southwest Farm Markets, carrying accurate market reports on cotton, grain, eggs and cattle for the past week. Production and Marketing Administration release for Times readers, follows:

Livestock and feed went up as cotton, grain, eggs and poultry went down last week while most vegetables, rice, peanuts, butter and milk held steady at southwest markets USDA's Production and Marketing Administration reported today.

Cotton tumbled about $25 a bale last week. The trade associated with this drop with speculation regarding decontrol of cotton textile prices and uncertainty as to outlook for sales of cotton textiles. Also, seasonal heavy movement of the crop into trade channels may partly explain the break.

Hog prices took one of the biggest jumps on record last week when ceilings came off and soared $8 to $10, but later declined $2 to $4 a hundred as receipts increased. Friday's quotations for good and choice butchers stood at $22 a hundred, San Antonio; $22.25, Oklahoma City; $22.50 to $23, Fort Worth; $23 to $23.50, Denver; and $23 Wichita. Higher prices brought out 16,059 hogs at six southwest markets compared to 7,545 for the corresponding week last year and 4,350 for the previous week.

Decontrol of meat brought a rush of cattle to market last week. Receipts at six southwest terminals for the corresponding week last totaled 90,400 compared to 82,000 year and 55,375 for the previous week. Cattle advanced $2 to $4 a hundred at southwest markets in contrast to gains of $5 to $10 at Midwest markets.

Friday's prices quoted were down from the week's peak. Houston sold common and medium steers and yearlings at $13 to $15 a hundred and good beef cows $12 to $13.50. $12 to $16, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

Southwest sheep and lamb markets reported advances of 50 cents to $5 a hundred on lambs and 50 cents to $1.50 on ewes. Friday's prices were somewhat lower than the extreme highs following meat decontrol. Common and medium lambs brought $13 to $15.50, San Antonio; medium and good fat lambs $17.50 to $21, Fort Worth; good and choice lambs $22 to $23, Oklahoma City and $22, Denver.

Trading in domestic wools was nil last week. Prices were up three to five percent under the new schedule. Finer grades of sorted mohair could be readily sold as soon as offered.

Most grain prices started down grade last week. Sorghums and corn lost the most ground. However, feed markets were unsettled as a result of the end of price control and restrictions on the use of by-products and mixed feeds. No prices were quoted, but the trade expected urgent demand for tight supplies would push prices well above former OPA ceilings.

Rough rice flowed in good volume to millers last week and brought mostly ceiling prices. Milled rice markets became more active. Buyers were anxious to contract as far ahead as possible and demand was quite active.

Colorado onion and potato producing areas reported light shipments last week due to a freeze. Demand and prices were better for both. Most haulings of Louisiana and Texas sweet potatoes went into storage.

Southwest egg and poultry markets felt the impact of meat decontrol. Demand sagged and prices dropped about two cents a dozen on eggs and about three cents a pound on fryers and hens.

Cecil James Added at Merritt's Smith Shop

Merritt's Blacksmith Shop announces this week that Cecil James weldore, from Hamlin has been added to blacksmith shop personnel.

Merritt's Blacksmith Shop has enjoyed a fine patronage this year, and Homer Merritt, owner, invites the public to take their welding and general blacksmith work to the shop a block north of the square.

JUST
THIS HOME-MIXED COUGH RELIEF IS TRULY SURPRISING
So Easy. No Cooking. Big Saving.
You may not know it, but in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it's hard to beat.
First, make a syrup by stirring 3 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.
Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Finex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in throat and bronchial irritations.
Put the Finex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils. Children love its pleasant taste.
And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Good Reason
Wife—Downtown today I saw a dog bite three men.
Hubby—Was the dog mad?
Wife—I don't know, but the three men were furious.
Admiration
The pretty young lady took the pen from his holder on the hotel's desk. But before she could use it, the young clerk shook his head sadly and said, "I'm sorry."
"Don't register with you?" she asked.
"Lady, you sure do," he replied. "But that doesn't matter. There's still no room."
He Did!
She—Don't you ever do anything on time?
He—How do you think I bought our car?
Life may begin at forty, but so do rheumatism, fallen arches, bad eyesight, falling hair and a dozen more ailments!

DOAN'S PILLS

The Sweeping Tides by H.M. EGBERT W-N-U-SERVICE

Mark Darrell, young American lumberman, is busy with his camp near St. Victor, Canada. He and his assistant, Nat Page, almost lose their lives when their boat strikes a rock. They clamber ashore and are met by the lighthouse-keeper, Andre Galipeau. When the old man discovers their identity, he immediately becomes hostile. With him is a young and pretty woman, Madame Madeleine Kinross, a widow. She owns the timberland that Mark and his backers have leased. She, too, shows her dislike for the two Americans, but is coldly polite and provides them food and lodging. Mark and Nat are puzzled by this reception, but are too tired to wonder much.

CHAPTER II

The sun was streaming brightly into the room when they were awakened by the boy, carrying a tray with eggs and toast, coffee and preserves of wild strawberries. He set it down on the table, favored them with a sour grin and withdrew.

"They stared about them, with difficulty taking in, for the moment, the circumstances of their arrival. "Breakfast in bed! Can you beat that?" asked Nat. "Gosh, I'm as hungry as a bear, Mark."

"They ate and drank, changed the clothes in which they had slept for their old ones, now dry, looked at each other and laughed. "Everything I had in the world was in that old valise," said Nat. "Guess we'll make quite a sensation in the local dry-goods store, buying out their stock. Let's take a look-see outside."

Nobody was stirring outside the house, and the shades of Madeleine Kinross' room were down. In front of them were more roughly traced steps, leading up to the elevation of the ridge.

At the top, Nat looked about him and whistled. Slowly he moved around the compass, taking in the whole view. And Mark, who had never seen it from that point before, looked about in equal admiration. But mixed with this was a passionate determination not to be ousted by Broussac, whatever reason he might have to allege for his communication.

They were standing at the commencement of a sort of natural rock bridge, about wide enough for two carts to pass each other. On either side the land fell away so sharply as to convey the impression of tremendous height.

Behind them was the all-but-island on which stood the lighthouse and the other buildings, with the blue St. Lawrence beyond, and the dim outlines of the south shore, hazy in the far distance. In front of them, straggling down to the little harbor, was St. Victor, a mere line of wood shacks.

In the harbor some dozen fair-sized schooners were lying at anchor—in fact, the sailing-fleet making ready to join in the annual hunt of the harp and hood seals off Newfoundland.

Beyond the little wharf Mark could see the mill, the long flume and the dam, and higher up, the cleft of the St. Victor river, and the banks, still snow-covered, with the great trees towering over all.

Among the schooners was a trim motor-yacht, anchored to the head of the wharf. "Some place," said Nat. "You bet."

"How about having it out with Madame Kinross?" "I've an idea," said Mark. "That Broussac's aboard that yacht. I guess my wire upset him more than his letter did me."

"If he is, we ought to know soon. I guess the news of our arrival has already spread to the village."

"Let's go down and see. We hold the winning hand, so let's play it." They crossed the rock bridge and began to descend the cart-track of a road that dipped down to the harbor. Now they were passing between the wooden shacks that dotted it on either side. And already it was evident that their arrival on the evening before had become a matter of common knowledge.

Women appeared instantaneously at the doors of the shacks, within which could be seen nothing but the vast expanse of the well-polished stove, the delight of the habitation housewife. They stared at the two; one clutched a child as it was about to run toward the strangers, dragged it to her, and thrust it, screaming, inside the cabin. A boy thumped nose and screeched invective. A huge cur rushed yowling across the street and made for Mark—then died, yelping, as he made the gesture of picking up a stone. A woman shook her fist.

"We hold the winning hand," commented Nat, "but it's going to take a lot of playing."

Mark Proves He Can Defend Himself

But these were only minor evidences of unpopularity. Down toward the wharf the houses thickened, the little, shabby hotel came into sight, with rigs standing in the yard; there were some three shabby shops. Men lounging about these eyed the newcomers with scowls. There were furtive movements, and boys dodging between men's legs upon some errands.

A little group of habitants was forming at the head of the wharf, where they had been mending fishing-nets or sunning themselves upon the banks. Within a minute, just as Mark and Nat had reached the hotel, a half-circle had been formed about them, and the mutterings were becoming curses.

Monsieur Hector Mackintosh, the landlord, a thickset, burly man of fifty, was standing in his shirt-sleeves at the hotel entrance. Using a toothpick vigorously, he failed to recognize Mark's salutation.

"You do not seem to remember me, Monsieur Mackintosh?" asked Mark, a deceptive softness in his voice.

"No, I do not remember you, whoever you are, and my hotel is full," growled the landlord.

The curses had become shouts. The half-circle was beginning to close in. Things looked ugly for the strangers.

"What's that they're saying?"

asked Nat Page. "They're calling us spies and detectives from Quebec. They think we've come to investigate their gear before they start for the sealing-grounds," Mark answered.

Suddenly a half-dozen hooting men burst out of the crowd and came rushing forward with yells. There was a moment's tangle, and something of a shock for St. Victor. Two of the young men's assailants lay sprawling in the slush, and the rest went reeling back under a shower of blows delivered by good husky Anglo-Saxon fists.

"Tell them we're not detectives!" shouted Nat. "Let them find it out," grinned Mark, and swung about by instinct as a huge man came rushing at him from behind, knife in hand. Next instant this assailant found his knife-hand held in a firm grasp, and his head under Mark's arm, while Kinross' other fist pummeled the imprisoned face until its owner yelled for mercy.

Mark flung him away. The two were completely ringed now, and a sudden silence had fallen, ominous because it was evident that St. Victor's blood was up, and that it was nervous itself for something more murderous than before.

Then suddenly Madeleine Kinross' clear, high voice rose above the crowd, and turning, Mark saw her standing a little distance away. She was wearing a sweater and skirt, high boots, a little cap over her hair. "Which is he will not go," said Madeleine, wringing her hands. "How much money does he need to go, Cousin Horace?"

"Which is precisely the point," said Broussac, speaking in English now, which Mark could see nobody, not even Madeleine or the cure, understood. He motioned Mark a foot or two away. He shook his finger in a kindly reproach.

"Legally nobody can deny your right to the lease I signed with you on behalf of my ward last fall," he said. "Madame Kinross is now of age. That does not cancel the lease. But she feels so strongly against the intrusion of outsiders into St. Victor, against the alienation of her late husband's lands, that I am forced to ask you for a cancellation."

"Since the lease was signed, her fortunes have improved through a speculative venture. In brief, Monsieur, if you had written me, instead of rushing up here, and nearly losing your life, I should have offered you five thousand dollars for the cancellation of that lease."

Mark wondered what other prospective lessee Broussac had got, and how much more he was willing to pay, that he would be willing to make that offer.

"I'm sorry—no," he replied. "The contract stands." Broussac's face grew red. "Understand, Mr. Darrell, I am not to be bargained with," he cried. "If you are holding out for six, I might pay six. Not a cent more. Come, you have lost nothing. What do you say?"

"The lease stands," answered Mark. "That's all." "That's your last word?" "It is."

"And how do you think you are going to run the mill at a profit in this fishing and sealing country, when even I failed? How are you going to operate in the face of the universal opposition of these people? They don't want outsiders. They won't work for you. You'll lose everything."

"That's your last word?" asked Mark. "Then listen to me. I'll run that mill, and if I encounter any opposition from you, or any more violence, such as has occurred this morning, I shall hold you personally responsible. Monsieur Broussac, I shall likewise take it up with the Bar Association. My backers are not without influence at Quebec. Now it's up to you."

Broussac's face was a study in mottled red and white. He began breathing hard, like a man who has run a race. He watched Mark's face closely.

"Very well," he answered. "Try to run the mill. There shall be no opposition from me, no violence. But try—only try!" He raised his voice in French. "Monsieur Darrell has come here to work the mill, and to ship lumber," he shouted. "If any man here annoys him in any way, I promise him six months in the Quebec jail. Vow! I trust," he continued suavely. "That we shall be friendly enemies, Mr. Darrell?"

Broussac Becomes A 'Friendly Enemy'

Down the street in her wake came the portly figure of the cure, who had just received news of the trouble. It seemed to add point to the girl's outcry. The muttering crowd drew back and was silent.

"Are you not ashamed of yourselves, I say!" Madeleine Kinross continued. "They are not spies nor detectives. I do not know who spreads this stupid story among you. I have told you that they are not, but you will not believe me."

"No, Monsieur Mark Darrell has leased three thousand arpents of my lands, and the mill, with which, as you know, Monsieur Broussac tried to make some money for me. Monsieur Broussac leased these lands with my approval, before I became of age, because—yes, you know, you know that otherwise all my husband's seignior would have gone to the Government for taxes."

"But since then, Monsieur Broussac has made a fortunate speculation for me, and so Monsieur Darrell will of course release me from the agreement."

"You know—you know," she went on passionately, while the crowd listened in utter silence. "I have never believed my husband, the seigneur, died on that ice-boat in the fog. If he had died, I should know it. I should feel it here. She struck her hand upon her breast. "Perhaps he became insane, and is being detained somewhere by those who are ignorant of his identity."

"Some day he will return. I know it. I feel it. And it is my duty, as his wife, to preserve the timber rights on his property. Come, am I not speaking rightly? You, Monsieur Lacombe—she turned to the cure—"Am I not right? Do you believe my husband is dead?"

The portly cure remained as silent as the crowd.

"I have watched you all. When I say that the seigneur is not dead, you look at me as if I were crazy. But I am not crazy. He will return, and I must protect his rights. Therefore—she turned to Mark—"You will, of course, resent that agreement that you made with Monsieur Broussac last fall."

"I'm sorry," said Mark, "but I have two other persons to consider besides myself. It is a matter of business investment, and will have to go through."

"You—you mean to say you will not? That you will stay here in defiance of the wishes of everybody, and try to run that mill?"

"Yes," answered Mark, still boiling over at the thought of his reception. "I will neither be intimidated nor appealed to. Yes," he added, glancing at the gaping faces, and speaking in French, "I shall remain here."

Suddenly cries arose from the direction of the wharf. A man came striding along it a man in a spruce blue suit, with a fur coat with black lamb collar. A man of about forty years, with a trim black moustache, an intelligent face, a lounging, studied carelessness in his walk—Horace Broussac.

Still that silence persisted, until Broussac came up to where Mark confronted Madeleine Kinross. He raised his black lamp cap, and offered Mark his hand. Mark, who had no reason to refuse to take it.

"You gave me a fine chase, young man," said the lawyer. "Lucky I had a friend who was willing to lend me his yacht. And I hear you nearly got drowned last night into the bargain."

"He says he will not go," said Madeleine, wringing her hands. "How much money does he need to go, Cousin Horace?"

"Which is precisely the point," said Broussac, speaking in English now, which Mark could see nobody, not even Madeleine or the cure, understood. He motioned Mark a foot or two away. He shook his finger in a kindly reproach.

"Legally nobody can deny your right to the lease I signed with you on behalf of my ward last fall," he said. "Madame Kinross is now of age. That does not cancel the lease. But she feels so strongly against the intrusion of outsiders into St. Victor, against the alienation of her late husband's lands, that I am forced to ask you for a cancellation."

"Since the lease was signed, her fortunes have improved through a speculative venture. In brief, Monsieur, if you had written me, instead of rushing up here, and nearly losing your life, I should have offered you five thousand dollars for the cancellation of that lease."

Mark wondered what other prospective lessee Broussac had got, and how much more he was willing to pay, that he would be willing to make that offer.

"I'm sorry—no," he replied. "The contract stands." Broussac's face grew red. "Understand, Mr. Darrell, I am not to be bargained with," he cried. "If you are holding out for six, I might pay six. Not a cent more. Come, you have lost nothing. What do you say?"

"The lease stands," answered Mark. "That's all." "That's your last word?" "It is."

"And how do you think you are going to run the mill at a profit in this fishing and sealing country, when even I failed? How are you going to operate in the face of the universal opposition of these people? They don't want outsiders. They won't work for you. You'll lose everything."

"That's your last word?" asked Mark. "Then listen to me. I'll run that mill, and if I encounter any opposition from you, or any more violence, such as has occurred this morning, I shall hold you personally responsible. Monsieur Broussac, I shall likewise take it up with the Bar Association. My backers are not without influence at Quebec. Now it's up to you."

Broussac's face was a study in mottled red and white. He began breathing hard, like a man who has run a race. He watched Mark's face closely.

I trust," he continued suavely. "That we shall be friendly enemies, Mr. Darrell?"

St. Victor Changes Its Attitude

"I'm satisfied," said Mark. Unconsciously he had turned his eyes upon Madeleine's face. The sternation and anger that he saw there seemed unaccountable for by the situation. Broussac, of course, had been responsible for her change of mind—but what game was the shrewd lawyer playing, and what better offer had he had than the customary stumpage fee that Mark had agreed to in the contract?

The attitude of St. Victor had completely changed. Monsieur Hector Mackintosh, the landlord of the hotel, had suddenly remembered Mark, and his hotel was not empty. He was all suavity when Mark and Nat took up their quarters there late the same afternoon, without returning to the lighthouse.

Alphonse Vitard, the storekeeper opposite the hotel, a tall, lean man, who had formerly followed the sea, like nearly all St. Victor, was the mayor. He was most affable. His spring shipment, he regretted to say, had not yet arrived, but he had shirts, beautiful shirts from Montreal, mackinaws, underwear, shoes—in fact, all the essentials of a gentleman's toilet.

Serve Sandwiches the Family Likes (See Recipes Below)

Sandwich Magic

Sandwiches, those mighty American favorites, are a wonderful food for lunches, snacks or entertaining. To think that two slices of bread with a delectable filling can contain so many foodstuffs good for health is indeed a great achievement.

Almost any type of filling may be used, depending upon the use of the sandwich. There is no limit on the type of bread to be used, either, and buns are often used to great advantage in ham or cheese sandwiches, or soft-filling sandwiches.

Probably the most popular use for the sandwich is as a snack or a lunch box item, but there are daintier types to use with salad for entertaining.

Here are several interesting types of fillings that go well with school lunches. All the recipes make enough for several sandwiches, and fillings may be kept in a jar or covered dish in the refrigerator so they will last.

Potato Salad Filling. 1 1/2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 2 hard cooked eggs, minced, 1 sweet cucumber, pickle, minced, 1/2 teaspoon chopped onion, Salt and pepper to taste.

Mayonnaise. Combine potatoes, eggs, pickle and seasonings. Moisten with mayonnaise to a spreading consistency. Use for white or whole wheat bread.

Deviled Peanut Butter. 1/2 cup deviled ham, 1/2 cup peanut butter, 2 tablespoons chopped pickle, Mayonnaise. Combine peanut butter, ham and pickle. Season to taste and moisten to spreading consistency with mayonnaise. This is good with a graham or dark bread.

Egg and Celery Filling. 4 hard cooked eggs, 2 dill pickles, chopped, 1 tablespoon vinegar, Salt and pepper. Use the short-cuts: If a recipe calls for soured milk and you do not have any at home, use 2 teaspoons of vinegar to 1/2 cup of evaporated milk and let stand until it sours.

When broiling steaks and chops, place 2 slices of bread in the pan under the broiling rack to prevent fat from splattering in broiler.

In cleaning fish, prevent the odor from clinging to the hands by rinsing them in chilled water before touching fish. Wash afterwards in a solution of as hot as possible salt water.

To sugar dates, doughnuts, etc., place sugar in a paper bag, add dates and shake.

When preparing green or wax beans, it is quicker and easier to cut them crosswise with scissors, than trying to cut them with a paring knife.

To warm leftover rolls, sprinkle with hot water, place in a paper bag and set in oven for a few minutes.

Air-Conditioning for Future Holds Promise of Easier, Cleaner Living

By MARION ATKINS Reading the advance information from the air conditioning people indicates that roseate feeling one has when informed he had inherited a fortune—the feeling that everything is going to be smooth as cream. Some of the advantages promised, once air conditioning is installed in a home, sound almost better than a fortune!

A regulated humidity prevents antiques from drying out, mold from forming on carpets, doors and desk drawers from warping. The family piano stays in tune longer. Cooking odors don't have a chance—curtains and draperies stay cleaner and fresher. In air conditioned bedrooms sleep will come more quickly when you can pick the degree of temperature and humidity most sleep-inducing. All too lovely! And when does this millennium arrive—and how much does it cost? Air conditioning is a broad term. It may refer to

J. A. Dunn, Early County Resident, Dies Wednesday

J. A. Dunn, 66, charter member of the Dunn Masonic Lodge which was organized in 1906 and one of Scurry County's beloved citizens, died last Wednesday, 2:50 p. m. in a local hospital. Mr. Dunn had been ill since August 18.

Born July 5, 1880, Mr. Dunn had lived in the community by this name 56 years. His father, the late A. T. Dunn, founded the southern county community and was one of the county's first road commissioners.

At the time J. A.'s father was elected Scurry County commissioner there was only one house between their and Colorado City, and only two houses between them and Snyder.

Active in community work through the years, Mr. Dunn had been a member of the Methodist Church 48 years.

Funeral services for the pioneer county resident were held last Thursday afternoon, 3:00 o'clock, at the Dunn Methodist Church. Rev. R. O. Browder, Dunn Methodist pastor, assisted by Rev. A. B. Cockrell of Coahoma, officiated.

Palbearers were J. W. Byrd, ex-sheriff of Scurry County, Martin Murphy, Frank Wilson, L. A. Scott, N. A. Billingsley and Hugh Billingsley.

Mmes. H. M. Murphy, O. H. Bowlers, Frank Wilson; and Misses Jessie McFarland, Clara McFarland and Nellie Cotton were in charge of floral offerings.

Mr. Dunn is survived by a sister, Mrs. Nannie Smith of Abernathy. Odom Funeral Home was in charge of funeral arrangements, and Mr. Dunn was laid to rest in Dunn Cemetery.

New Order to Reduce Army Strength Soon

In a sweeping order over the week-end, the U. S. Army, Scurry Countians are informed, ordered the release by January 1 of all remaining 1945 draftees as a new means of reducing strength to authorized limits.

The War Department, in a release for local citizens, says it has also directed field commanders to screen their rosters and eliminate as surplus individuals those deemed "unfit" and those "who have demonstrated an ineptitude for military service."

Major General Willard S. Paul, director of personnel and administration, told reporters that by the end of the year the U. S. Army will have to be cut down by a net of 435,000 officers and men.

Meter Course Taken By Midwest Foreman

A. M. Roberts of Snyder, line foreman for Midwest Electric Co-operative, returned last Wednesday from Texas A. & M. College where he attended a three-day meter reading school.

Meter school at A. & M. College was conducted by the electrical engineering faculty of the college. Roberts reports an exceptionally good school, with heavy attendance from Texas points.

Bob Butler of Buford Killed by German Car

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Butler of the Buford community learned late last week that their son, Private Bobby J. Butler, 19, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a street car in Munich, Germany.

The accident, Scurry County friends learn, occurred when Private Butler fell from the street car platform while the vehicle was in motion.

Young Butler sustained multiple injuries, lacerations and a skull fracture.

Private Butler's body will be shipped to the United States for burial at Ladonia, Texas.

THAT DEEPER HUNGER

There is a great hunger in the world's heart today—the hunger for enlightenment. Millions groping their way out of dense darkness look desperately for the light. Appeals from young people in former enemy countries tell of their starved longing for ideas, for knowledge, for a new hope.

What are Americans doing to meet this need? All too little.

Young Japanese students searching eagerly for an understanding of the world they live in can pick up a copy of the Communist Manifesto at any book-stall. Soviet literature in Japanese translation is to be found everywhere. But where are the challenging American books, the great statements and analyses of democracy and freedom and a new world order? Not in the bookstalls of Tokyo and Kobe. Their publication in Japan is prevented by "currency difficulties." And similar conditions exist elsewhere.

Americans have never been slow to surmount the difficulties of material accomplishment when their minds were made up. Why then should they lag behind the Russians in meeting the world's hunger for ideas? Is this failure to meet the challenge related to the spiritual apathy which allows the United States to devote a paltry 1.4 per cent of its annual income to education, as compared with 6 per cent spent by Great Britain and 14 per cent by Soviet Russia?

If Americans show so little concern for their own future citizens, it is not surprising perhaps that they should be slow to recognize the opportunities and responsibilities of taking enlightenment to other parts of the world. It is well to remember America's failure till late in the war to see the value of bringing out a Russian-language propaganda magazine in Moscow, though a skillful propaganda organ published there by the British had long been read with enthusiastic interest by the Russians. — Christian Science Monitor.

American Rebellion

Our American rebellion, 1946 vintage, is now in full swing, as Washington is acutely and embarrassingly aware of. . . Controls are disintegrating, wage controls are a storm center for haggling and protests on housing controls are coming in from many quarters.

Shortages of soap will continue bad all next year, lard and shortening will remain scarce for at least six more months; synthetic tires are about to get a big boost and sugar will be a little more plentiful by spring.

These things and many more indicate the reality of the rebellion already underway, and unless the administration gets better support from the American people, the people will—in their unbridled way—bring on a depression and panic worse than any we've witnessed in this generation.

We are keeping our rebellion as blood-free as possible. This sign is healthy. But the American people do not have to go hog-wild, and go on an "inflationary drunk" that will hurt every person and business institution when the sobering up hours roll around.

Our Teacher Crisis

Ascendancy of the United States in world affairs has not been accidental, and by virtue of the foundations laid to make us a leading world power we have certain obligations to our people we cannot overlook or forget. One of those obligations is to meet immediately the teacher crisis in the American school system if we are to continue as a top world power.

From the National Education association we have a summary on the teacher situation that is illuminating and to the point. Exodus from the teaching profession during recent years is probably the outstanding vocational migration in history. An estimated 350,000 teachers have quit the profession entirely since 1939. Approximately 60,000 positions have not been filled or have been closed out and work distributed among remaining teachers.

America is the land of opportunity, but for many it is not because 3,000,000 adults have never attended school of any kind. It is surprising to note 10,000,000 Americans have had so little schooling they are virtually illiterate. In 1940 2,000,000 children, six to 15, were not in any type of school.

Even though college enrollment is picking up rapidly, few are preparing for the teaching profession. School systems first must offer teachers a decent, livable salary to begin attracting new blood in the profession. Teachers have increasing responsibilities to meet and not only pay but community conditions must be such we can keep good teachers in this great land of ours. We must have a new philosophy of school support. It's up to the public as to what will be done to meet the teacher crisis.

Prosperity is the touchstone of virtue; for it is less difficult to bear misfortunes, than to remain uncorrupted by pleasure.—Tacitus.

By LEON GUINN

With congressional elections almost with us, there is no doubt—no hesitation—in accepting the fact that the United States must mobilize for peace just as we had to go all-out for war. . . . President Truman and the administration are beset, on one hand, with a touchous and thorny problem on foreign policy and at home with strikes, misadjustment of distribution and materials shortages that are far more serious than many people realize and which way the tides turn during November no group can say that the president has failed in any measure to do his job well.

Unless something drastic happens soon, the United States is in for an internal upheaval, something of a domestic revolution and recent demands of pressure groups for decontrol has hastened our revolution along by many months. . . . Evidence uncovered by top-notch news casters be true that our present wave of strikes in this country are inspired by Communists, we will have a rather nasty, job of house cleaning ahead—whether we care to go in for this business now or just postpone the matter until we have a general explosion on the home front.

There is no question but that President Truman will be faced by a more hostile and more stubborn Congress in the next two years. . . . Indications are that a substantial margin of the Democrats will be lukewarm or hostile. . . . Mr. Truman, as congress well knows, is not a stubborn man to deal with and will compromise with opposition. . . . He is not at heart a New Dealer and congressmen with axes to grind are expected to take full advantage of Truman's willingness to compromise after the November elections. . . . A trend worth watching is that voters are really expected this time to vote as they feel.

Should we get to the point where housewives had to trade in a pound of used kitchen fats for each four bars of laundry and hand soap they purchased, the toughness and seriousness of the fats and oils situation would not only be realized but more definite action would be taken to keep used greases rolling into markets. . . . Soap shortages will continue to be bad all next year and even new lard and shortening will remain scarce for the next four to six months. . . . After all there can only be so much grease taken out of each meat animal, and with grease-hungry skillets and bake pans all over the nation it will take millions of pounds of shortening to tide us through Christmas and New Year's Day.

Despite some very strict regulations observed by pilots and airline, we have indeed had too many major airline crashes in recent weeks to be entirely plausible from a safety angle. . . . The human factor, in aircraft operation, is fallible to an extent, but we still need more rigid control over both airline and chartered flights. . . . We're going to have to ground more aircraft during bad weather and somehow get the information into pilot's "noggins" that they will have to quit flying into mountains. . . . Pilots are doing a great job in keeping our aircraft aloft, but one major crash after another piling up is too much for such trend to continue. . . . When the weather is unsafe for flying in any area there is no such thing as a free lunch—and costly ships—in an endeavor to meet a sometimes impossible schedule.

The radicals do not keep their objectives and aims a deep, dark secret. . . . Their goals can be ascertained by purchase of their unholy propaganda in various radical publications. . . . The Communist Party has as a major aim friendly U. S. Soviet relations, leading fights on popular issues by working into various movements already organized; be militant and always anxious to agitate; be quick to grab any opportunity and support the Democrats against the Republicans. . . . Infiltration of the Reds and difficulty of dislodging them is being clearly shown day by day in attempts of labor unions to "purge" these boys from their ranks. . . . It may lead to fireworks that will accomplish more than administration leaders believe is now possible.

One of the sanest and most practical bits of advice from Washington in recent weeks is contained in the statement of Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, that "our accent in the coming years must be on distribution—on getting increased agricultural production to the people who consume it." . . . Not only is real "hoss sense" but consumers have been aware for several months that our distributive machinery must be overhauled and put into high gear if we are to continue on the road to real reconversion. . . . Only by production and a free, unhampered placement of goods, services and materials have we been able to emerge as the richest, most able nation on earth.

Enough Food is no Accident

It is no accident that the largest crops in our history are being harvested this year when we, and the rest of the world, need them most.

In spite of war, loss of labor and little new equipment, the American farmer has again taken care of us and provided a life-saving surplus for abroad.

How do our farmers do it? How is it that only sixteen per cent of our people can feed all of us and go on breaking records in the face of circumstances which slow up industry?

There are three reasons: First, farmers work harder and longer than most other Americans. Second, they know how to make the best use of tools. And, third, they have a long-standing partnership with industry seeking to satisfy their urge to get more out of the land for the same labor. Farmers are still practicing the kind of enterprise that built America.

National thanks are due the farmer for the job he has done in the last five years. Universal respect is due him for his foresight in helping industry equip farms to meet a whole series of emergencies.

BUT... we should not crowd our luck, or the farmer's luck either. Too many farm tools are now worn out. Without new ones production may go down. Farmers need over eight hundred million dollars' worth of new implements and equipment. It is up to industry and labor to keep wheels turning to produce them, but any recurrence of strikes would prevent this.

America should see that the hard-working farmer gets what he needs.
