HOGS.

Hog Market Showed Very Good Life at Strong to 5c Higher Prices.

A reduction in supplies of hogs at most points today caused a better tone to prevail in the hog market and trading was more lively at prices generally strong to 5c higher than yesterday, most grades showing the advance.

Offerings today did not run to extremes, as there was an absence of choice heavy and of the fair to good light and light mixed kinds.

The supply run largely to good butchers and mixed packing grades. Owing to the few on sale the yards were cleared in good season. Pigs were again conspicuous by their absence and there was the usual inquiry at the prevailing prices of the week.

Prices ranged from $5.12 to $5.50, with bulk selling at $5.17 to $5.27 1/2. The bulk yesterday sold at $5.12 to $5.25, a week ago, $5.15 to $5.25, a month ago, $4.89 to $4.95, a year ago, $5.07 to $5.15, two years ago, $4.75 to $4.85, three years ago, $4.75 to $4.85, and four years ago, $4.60 to $4.65.

The average cost was $5.22 1/2, as compared with $5.18 1/2 yesterday, $5.21 a week ago, $4.88 a month ago, $5.43 a year ago, $7.29 a two years ago, $5.84 a three years ago and $9.02 a four years ago.

HOW TO TEST SEED CORN.

Nebraska Experiment Station Gives Some Simple Methods.

The Nebraska Experiment Station gives the following excellent directions for testing seed-corn:

"A convenient home-tester can be made by taking an old baking-pan of large size or a shallow tray made of boards, tightly wrapping around it, at intervals of about an inch and a half, crosswise and lengthwise, a long piece of strong cord or light wire, and filling it with fine, moist soil or sand.

"The test will not be complete unless each ear is tested by itself. Take five kernels out of each ear, from different parts, and place them in one of the squares in the tester, pressing them firmly into the soil. The ears of corn should be so arranged in single rows on a shelf, table or floor that the one corresponding to each square in the tester can be easily located.

MEN'S ABSURD WAYS.

"As I have remarked before," began Louise, "the way to win a man's heart is to find out what he thinks he admires in a woman and then cultivate the opposite graces."

"Rank heresy!" murmured the listeners. "It is true," insisted Louise. "There is a handsome young bachelor in our office—tall, broad shoulders, brown eyes—"

"Yes, we know," interrupted Mona. "Go on with your story."

"One day he wasted nearly an hour singing the praises of the modern athletic girl—the girl who can swim, row, hunt and skate. He said she was the ideal companion for a man. Only an idiot, he declared, would admire the delicate, hysterical type of woman. After that I refused a number of invitations to the theater in order that I might spend more time skating and getting the beautiful color he said he admired. Well, nothing came of it."

Louise sighed. "Presently she continued: 'When Mona, Brother Dudley and I went to flatkeeping we became the envy of the men in the office—even those who boarded at nice hotels. Occasionally, I would say that we had had waffles and syrup for breakfast, or that we were going to have broiled steak, hashed brown potatoes, hot biscuits and honey for dinner—'

"And of course you never mentioned that the chances were the steak would be tough and the potatoes burned," said Mona. "Certainly not," said Louise, with dignity. "One day the bachelor delivered a monologue on the education of woman. He said it was her first duty to learn to sew and cook. No same man, he said, would fall in love with a woman who had not all the domestic virtues—"

Here the audience of girls grinned broadly, expressive grins. They had heard such remarks before.

"I went a step too far—mentioned the fact that I was going to spend my Saturday afternoon holiday baking bread," continued Louise. "Chump!" exclaimed her listeners. "Business was dull that day," Louise went on, "and every man in the office got to thinking about old times on the farm. They began picturing to one another the large, crusty loaves lying on the snow-white folded tablecloth, cooling. The more they thought the hungrier they became. The result was that when I reached the office Monday morning they said they'd give me one dollar for four loaves of brown bread. 'I'd put lots of nuts in them.'"

"Did you tell them what the janitor said when he took the garbage pail down just after you finished baking?" asked Mona. "Of course not. I bought a pound of shelled English walnuts for 50 cents, molasses, yeast cake and graham flour and the next morning I set the bread. The kitchen was cold, so I put the bread pan up against the radiator. During the day the janitor put on plenty of steam, so instead of baking bread that night I had to spend the whole evening scraping the overflow dough off the kitchen floor. I bought some more nuts and another yeast cake and set the bread at night and baked it in the morning. It looked delicious, but I cut one loaf and found it had a crust a third of an inch thick, while the interior was a nice gluey mass of raw dough."

"The oven was too hot," explained Mona to the others. "You see, she does her best, but—"

"At the office," interrupted Louise, "they asked if I had forgotten about the bread. I said: 'No, indeed! Just as soon as I get time to make it I will.' I've got engagements for the next few evenings. I thought it was not a bad idea to let the bachelor think I was receiving a lot of attention."

"She had to go to the dressmaker's one night," explained Mona, "a girls' club another night and a church social. I hope he was impressed."

"Then," went on Louise, "I bought more nuts, another quart of molasses and another yeast cake. This time the bread was perfect. The men wanted me to promise to bake once a week and tried to show me that I'd be making money selling bread at 25 cents a loaf, but as I had spent $1.50 for nuts, to say nothing of the graham flour, yeast cakes, molasses and gas, I said I didn't believe I'd have time to bake bread very often. You see, I had pictured the bachelor waking up to a true appreciation of my worth—"

"But what did he say?" asked all the girls. "Nothing," answered Louise, gloomily. "He is in love with a pretty, pale girl who has come here for her health. She openly boasts that she can't sew on a button and doesn't know a skillet from a teakettle, and doesn't intend to learn."

"Wise girl!" said the chorus. "The bachelor says," explained Louise, "that what he likes particularly about her is her sweet, clinging ways. She is just the kind of a girl, he says, that a man would like to take care of always—so different from the modern, independent woman."

"That's all the sense a man has," said the listeners, sympathetically. Chicago Daily News.

RUSSIA FOR PEACE.

Has outlined the Conditions Under Which It Will Treat.

THE UNITED STATES AND FRANCE.

Said to Have Offered Their Good Offices—Rumor Not Confirmed at Washington.

St. Petersburg, March 29.—Russia has outlined the conditions under which she is prepared to negotiate peace.

It was stated tonight with every semblance of authority that, thanks to the good offices of the United States and France the question of peace had assumed practical shape.

Washington, March 29.—Diligent inquiry failed to develop what if any assistance this government had been in the way of bringing about preliminary negotiations for peace between Russia and Japan but inasmuch as nearly all the American officials likely to have knowledge of such a matter were at social functions or were otherwise inaccessible, the inquiry necessarily was not complete. It is known that this government for a long time has stood prepared to use its good offices in the interest of peace whenever the opportune moment arrived for action by this government without serious risk of giving offense to either of the combatants and thereby lessening our power for good.

A prominent head of one of the diplomatic establishments here when shown the St. Petersburg statement said that he had not received any word from his government on the subject for several days and had heard nothing to confirm the report. At the same time he would not be astonished to learn of the accuracy though he had not expected matters to reach that stage as yet.

GOV. FOLK IN NEW YORK.

Principal Speaker at Banquet of Missouri Society at Waldorf Astoria.

New York, March 29.—Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, was the guest of honor and the principal speaker at a banquet of the Missouri Society at the Waldorf-Astoria last night.

At the right of the governor sat District Attorney Jerome, who also made a brief address. Governor Folk said in part:

"The Missouri idea means the enforcement of law and that if the law be had the remedy is to repeal it, not to ignore it. There is entirely too little respect for law in America. In every state we find laws a nullity for policy's sake. Such a thing is unknown in any other land. Disregard of one law breeds disrespect for all law. In allowing some laws to go unenforced we heap a harvest of all laws broken. The law may not be to one's liking but the answer is the law should be sufficient for the law abiding. Good men will observe even bad laws, but bad men will break even good laws. It should be that all men good and bad be compelled to keep all law good and bad because it is the law. How careless people usually are as to whether laws are enforced or not. This lethargy gives rise to civic evils. Indeed, nearly all public wrongs grow out of the indifference of the people. There are many who thrill with patriotic fervor at the thought of going to war and risking their lives for their country, but who forget to vote on election day. The patriotism of peace is just as necessary as the patriotism of war. The patriotism of the ballot is even more necessary in a free country than the patriotism of a bullet. Plenty of men will die for their country, but the man who will live for his city and state every day is the man good government needs."

QUEEN VISITS GIBRALTER.

First Time a Queen of England Had Visited the Famous Fortress.

Gibraltar, March 29.—The British Royal yacht Victoria and Albert with Queen Alexandra and party on board, entered the bay here yesterday amid the thunder of salutes from the Atlantic fleet, and all the vessels of which were dressed with flags and manned with cheering blue jackets. This is the first time a queen of England has visited Gibraltar in the history of the famous rock and she was accorded a great reception. The queen landed at Governor's pier and was received by the governor, Field Marshal Sir George White and his staff and a guard of honor.

After the presentations, Her Majesty entered the governor's carriage and, accompanied by Gov. White, drove through the principal streets under an almost continuous shower of flowers from the crowds lining the thoroughfares and occupying the windows overlooking the route. The queen's carriage reached the line on the northern front while the guns from all the galleries of the rock were still booming a royal salute.

INVESTIGATE STANDARD OIL.

Federal Grand Jury May Take Question up at Topoka.

Kansas City, Mo., March 29.—The Standard oil company is to undergo a grand jury investigation by the federal government such as the beef trust is now burdened with in Chicago. The oil trust investigation is to be pulled off in Topoka, according to a government official here, and is to begin in a couple of weeks. Incidentally, the railroads are to be dragged in. A grand jury was drawn at Topoka a few days ago, ostensibly to look after the regular criminal business of the Kansas federal court. It will attend to that business, all right, but its really big task is to investigate Standard Oil methods. Great secrecy is maintained in regard to the matter. The names of the jurors will not be given out. It has been the custom in the past to publish the list of grand jurors along with the petit jurors. But a new rule has been laid down not to divulge the names of members of the jury. The government figures that there is no chance for a trust to fix a jurymen in advance if the trust doesn't know who the jurymen is.

From the same source it is learned that Commissioner Garfield will aid in the grand jury investigation in Kansas. For the past three weeks, the department of commerce, it is said, has had secret service men in the oil country gathering information as to trust methods. This is the same plan, that was used in turning up evidence against the beef trust. Secret service men were in Kansas City and other packing centers for three months prior to the injunction suits, gathering up evidence. Now another set is working up evidence against the oil trust. The question to be investigated are numerous. One is why the Standard dropped the price of crude oil almost 50 per cent without dropping the price of refined oil. Another is why the railroads lifted freight rates on crude oil as soon as the trust opened its pipe line to Kansas City. These are the principal questions to be probed into, but the investigation will extend to every phase of the oil industry, and its bearing upon freight rates.

The government expects to turn a conspiracy between the Standard and the railroads for the control of the oil market, and, if it does, some men in high stations are liable to suffer.

WILL ASSIST SAN DOMINGO.

United States Ready to Aid President Morales in Preserving Peace if Necessary.

Washington, March 29.—Intimations of a projected movement against President Morales of San Domingo fomented by exiles from that country reached the state department several days ago. The affair however is not giving the officials here any uneasiness as they now feel free in view of President Roosevelt's acceptance of the Dominican government's proposition to control the finances of that country to assist, and it is stated, will assist President Morales if requested by the latter, in putting down any movement which is a menace to its best interests.

The navy department has several vessels in Dominican waters and under directions from the state department, if requested to do so by President Morales, will lend its co-operation in preventing the peace of the country so that its finances may be restored to a settled condition.

Japanese Moving Forward.

Russian Rear Guard Has Again Fallen Back—Yast Quantities of Stores Abandoned.

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria, March 28.—The Japanese are moving forward and the Russian rear guard has fallen back from its position about 13 miles north of Sipinghai (74 miles north of Tie pass) to Choomlaedai which is situated 40 miles below Gunshu pass.

Practically complete reports show that the Russian army sacrificed general commissariat stores to the amount of $1,250,000 and stores for an army corps amounting to $500,000 held at Mukden most of it being set on fire, the boots and uniforms among the stores of which the whole army was in need, arriving from Europe four days before the Russian retirement from Mukden. Gen. Kuropatkin ordered the removal of the stores, but his order was not executed. An investigation will be made to establish the responsibility.

LINEVITCH IS LACONIC.

No News from the Front—Russians May Be Cut Off by Japanese.

London, March 29.—The Times' St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs as follows:

"The entire absence of private and press telegrams from the front together with a laconic message from Gen. Linevitch dated Harbin, and saying 'no reports from the armies' evokes fears that communications have been cut and that the Japanese have turned the Russian positions."

To Tax Corporations.

Sacramento, Cal., March 29.—The last legislature passed a bill, which Governor Pardee has approved, fixing a flat tax of $10 a year on all corporations, foreign and domestic, doing business in this state, which is expected to yield the state $500,000 in revenue during the next two years.

A Commission Men Bankrupt.

St. Louis, March 29.—Thomas J. Cleage, Jr., a prominent grain commission man of St. Louis, who has several times cornered the market, and it is reported to have at one time made and lost a million dollars in one day, was declared a bankrupt by Referee Bankrupt Walter D. Cole.

OWNS DOLL 180 YEARS OLD

French Creation Was Handed Down in a Bay State Family as an Heirloom.

Weymouth, Mass.—The oldest doll in this country now makes her home in South Weymouth, and is the property of Mrs. H. Otis Brown.

She bears the name of Mehitable Hodges and is known to be 180 years old. She was brought from France to Salem in 1721 by Capt. Gamaliel Hodges for his little daughter (probably Antia), on his return from a voyage to Canton, China.

Antia Hodges, who never married, gave the doll to her brother John, who was born while the captain was on a voyage. It passed to Benjamin, his son, who was born in 1754; then to his daughter Hannah, named for her mother.

She gave it to Sarah Allen. From her it passed to her niece, Mrs. Mary N. Sweetser, of Reading, Mass., and from her it went to her granddaughter, Mrs. H. Otis Brown, by whom it is treasured as a family heirloom.

The doll is arrayed in her original costume of pink silk, fashioned after the style of Louis XIV., and is perfect in every detail, the silk retaining its color after a lapse of nearly two centuries.

A large handkerchief in which the doll is kept wrapped has the initials "H. H." embroidered in a cross stitch of human hair in one corner, probably indicating Hannah Hodges.

Mehitable Hodges has traveled much and has been on exhibition at doll shows at the Mechanics building, Hotel Vendome and the Brunswick, Boston, besides many other fairs and charity exhibits in New England. It was exhibited to the public for the last time at a recent doll show in South Weymouth, and is now safely cased and blanketed and shown only to visitors.

English Newspaper Discovers a Fine Example of It in Writings of Thirteenth Century.

London.—The English newspapers, which number quite a few modern yellow journals, although they don't appear to know it, are continually having fun at the expense of American newspapers. Here is one of the latest jests of the London Chronicle:

"Americans no doubt would not think much of the record in high tide, but it is worth while pointing out that our Elizabethan journals, Stow, has as good a story to tell as any yellow paper can print on the other side of the Atlantic. In the year 1256, we read, 'the river of Thames, overflowing its banks, caused the marshes about Woolrich to be all on a sea, wherein boats and other vessels were carried with the stream; so that, besides cattle, the greatest number of men, women and children were drowned.'

"The delightful vagueness of 'the greatest number' adds the right touch of intensity. Nor was this all. In the great palace of Westminster men did row with wherries in the midst of the hall, being forced to ride to their chambers." It is something to know that the "lexia social" was born in the thirteenth century.

QUEER SPECIES OF FISH. Fremont Lake in Wyoming Alive with Finny Tribe Appearing Only in January.

Pinedale, Wyo.—The low water at the outlet of Fremont lake, where it passes into Pine-creek, was recently alive with one of the queerest species of fish found in the United States. These strange fish are known as mountain herring; have heads similar to the deep sea herring and make their appearance only in January, when they seek the shallow waters near the mouth of the lake, where the ice never forms.

The fish live only in great depths, making their habitation in Fremont lake, which has fathomless depths, where bottom has never been found by sounding lines. The traits of this queer fish were first discovered by the Indians, who would brave the severest storms to be at the outlet of the lake by January 15, when the fish make their appearance in millions.

They would be caught by hundreds and packed back into, providing a stock for the remainder of the winter. They are from six to ten inches in length and very nutritious.

FACTORY GIRLS IN PANIC. Insignificant Fire in New York Shirtwaist Factory Caused the Employees to Stampede.

New York, March 29.—A trifling blaze caused by the ignition of a newspaper from a spark from an electrical apparatus in the shirtwaist factory of Max Roth, which occupies the five upper floors of a six-story building in Walker street, started a panic among the 300 girls employed there. There is but one exit, besides the fire escapes, this being a narrow, steep stairway, leading from all the floors. When the cry of fire was raised the girls crowded down this stairway, falling over and trampling upon each other and before all were out a dozen of them fainted from fright and slight injuries. The panic was increased by the conduct of some of the men employees who trampled on the women in their own haste to escape. One girl's hip was fractured.

HARD TO DECIDE. The Question of Acceptance of Rockefeller's $100,000 Is Puzzling American Board.

Boston, March 29.—Positive action was taken on the question of accepting John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000 to the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions at a meeting of the presidential committee of that organization, but the nature of the action was not disclosed. The committee announced officially however that a statement of the decision of the committee would be given out to-day after the report adopted which is in the form of resolutions, had been officially communicated to a committee appointed at a meeting of congressional clerksmen of Boston and vicinity to protest against the acceptance of the Rockefeller gift.

DELICASSÉ AS INTERMEDIARY. News Received in London That Russia Has Asked the French Statesman to Act.

London, March 29.—A telegram from a northern European capital received in London Tuesday afternoon says: "I have just learned on reliable authority that Russia has asked Delicasse to act as intermediary and open peace negotiations with Japan. Delicasse has signified his willingness but considers that Lansdowne's co-operation is essential to success."

THE PRESIDENT ACTS

Instructs Acting Secretary of State to Accede to Proposals.

PENDING ACTION OF THE SENATE.

Ports to Be Administered and Monies Collected by Parties Nominated by United States—Claims to Be Investigated.

Washington, March 29.—The attitude of the United States government is shown in the following instructions given to Acting Secretary Adee: "White House, Washington, D. C., March 28, 1905.

"The Acting Secretary of State—I have carefully considered the following cablegram from Minister Dawson: 'Secretary of State, Washington.

"Under pressure creditors and domestic peril, Dominican government offers to nominate a citizen of the United States receiver Southern ports pending satisfactory protocol, four Northern ports to be administered under award. Forty five per cent total shall go Dominican government, 55 to be deposited New York for distribution after satisfaction. Creditors to agree to take no further steps in the meantime and receiver to have full authority to suspend importers preferential and American creditors except the San Domingo Improvement company accept unconditionally. Belgian, French, representatives will recommend acceptance. Some modus vivendi absolutely necessary. I am ready, if desired, start Washington 28th, to explain details and modifications to plan obtainable: whole matter can be held open during my absence.

"I direct that the Minister express acquiescence in the proposal of the government of Santo Domingo for the collection and conservation of its revenues, pending the action of the United States senate upon the treaty to the end that in the meantime no change shall take place in the situation on which would render useless its consummation or bring complications into its enforcement. The secretary of war of the United States will present for nomination by the president of the Dominican republic men in both the Northern and Southern ports. The utmost care will of course be taken to choose men of capacity and absolute integrity who if possible shall have some knowledge of Spanish. All monies collected from both the northern and Southern ports not turned over to the Dominican government will be deposited in some New York bank to be designated by the secretary of war and will there be kept until the senate has acted. If the action is averse the money will be then turned over to the Dominican government. If it is favorable it will be distributed among the creditors in proportion to their just claims under the treaty. Meanwhile Mr. Hollander will thoroughly investigate these claims including the claim of the American Improvement company and will report in detail all the information he is able to gather as to the amount actually received by Santo Domingo, the amount of indebtedness nominally incurred, the circumstances so far as they are known under which the various debts were incurred and so forth.

This action is rendered necessary by the peculiar circumstances of the case. The treaty now before the senate was concluded with Santo Domingo at Santo Domingo's earnest request repeatedly pressed upon us and was submitted to the senate because in my judgment it was our duty to our less fortunate neighbor to respond to her call for aid. In as much as we were the only power who could give this aid and in as much as her need for it was very great. The treaty is now before the senate and has been favorably reported by the committee on foreign relations. It is pending and final action will undoubtedly be taken when congress convenes next fall. Meanwhile Santo Domingo has requested that the action above outlined be taken; that is, she desires in this way to maintain the status quo, so that if the treaty is ratified it can be executed. With this purpose in view, I direct that the proposed arrangement be approved. It will terminate as soon as the senate has acted one way or the other."
