Mrs. W. S. Littlejohn, 624 King Hill avenue, left last night for Eldorado Springs, Mo., where she has been called by the illness of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shortridge of Dearborn, Mo., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Maupin, 108 1/2 West Missouri avenue.

G. J. Smith of Martinsville, Mo., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilson, 607 East Missouri avenue.

Dr. C. R. McFarland of Blue Rapids, Kan., is the guest of Dr. A. R. Timmerman. Dr. McFarland was formerly an assistant to Dr. Timmerman.

John Chenoweth, 85 years old, died yesterday noon at his home, Third and Valley streets, of heart disease. He leaves a wife and five children. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Ideal Rebekah Lodge, No. 405, I. O. O. F., will hold its regular meeting in Seller's hall, tonight.

King Hill Eastern Star will meet this evening for the purpose of electing officers.

FRUIT GROWERS TO MEET.

Sales of Several Producers to Be Made Through Central Agency.

Northwestern Missouri fruit growers will meet in St. Joseph next Monday to perfect an organization for handling their fruit as one producer. Withena fruit growers have perfected such an organization and have realized great benefits from it.

Missouri fruit growers believe that many large economies can be effected of this kind. A preliminary meeting was held here last spring, but it was left to President J. F. Wilcox to call a meeting to perfect organization of the shippers' union detail. Mr. Wilcox has now fixed Monday, June 8, as the date.

COLLECTIONS ARE GOOD.

The total collections made by the city treasurer this year, from every source, from April 20 to June 1 have far exceeded any previous collections, beating those of last year for the same period by more than $14,000. The total collections this year amounted to $346,043.70, of which amount $908,016.82 came solely from the land and personal taxes paid during May.

The 3 per cent discount allowed by the city for all taxes paid during this month amounted to $2,254.81. The collections far exceeded all expectations and the amount taken in on the last day on which collections were made during May stands as a record never before made for one day's receipts. The amount was in the neighborhood of $120,000.

RIVER IS FALLING.

After rising to almost a foot over the danger line, the river yesterday dropped two-tenths of a foot in twelve hours and the fear which had arisen that the June rise, which is due in three weeks, would catch the "Big Muddy" while it was high has been in a measure abated.

At 6 o'clock last night the waters stood at 292.5, which is one-tenth of a foot over the high water mark. Reports from up the river indicate that it is falling steadily and unless hard rains fall in the next few days the June rise will not likely cause any damage, except in the extremely low bottoms.

ROOM WAS ENTERED.

The police were informed yesterday morning by Will Thompson, 5204 Lake avenue, that his room had been entered and that he was mourning the loss of a fine gold watch and $8.35 in money. He gave the police a good description of the supposed thief, and they are now working on the case.

In selecting sows to keep for breeding purposes don't pick the shortest blockiest ones. A brood sow should be rather long and rooney.

MISS MABEL MILLER.

More Real Fun Than a Theatre or Pink Tea Party.

Mabel Miller, whose home is the 100,000-acre tract of Oklahoma prairie comprising the famous 101 Ranch, is one of the group of rollicking girl broncho "busters" who will be in this city with the 101 Ranch Wild West Show on next Monday. She "ropes," mounts and subdues equine outlaws which even the lusty cowboys of the ranch hesitate to approach, can shoot as quick and straight as the machine-gun and makes a larist act as if endowed with reason.

Miss Miller's love of dashing adventure and fondness for equestrianism are heaven-born. Her most tiresome hours, she avers, were spent during her course at Smith College in Massachusetts. Social duties are her horror, the saddle her throne. Astride her jaunty Indian pony, with cheeks flushed, hair tousled into a suggestion of waviness, eyes slight and a smite pert and alluring, she is a vision to make every masculine heart leap with joyous admiration.

"If the modern horsewoman wants to taste the real delight and zest of equestrianism let her tackle a bucking horse," said Miss Miller. "It takes nerve and courage, but there's no more fascinating pastime in the whole field of feminine athletic endeavor. I'll guarantee it to convert any weak-muscled, indecisive young woman into a very self-reliant and vigorous person."

FRAINED BY EXPERT.

Auditorium Stage One of the Finest in Whole Country.

Wishing to be doubly assured that the stage arrangements of the Auditorium yesterday secured the services of Stage Expert Toomey of St. Louis in making a thorough examination of the stage. Mr. Toomey was enthusiastic over the arrangements as he found them.

"There is only one stage in the country which surpasses it," said Mr. Toomey, "and that is the stage of the Hippodrome in New York. The Auditorium stage is capable of handling any big spectacle which may care to be produced on it. The arrangements are excellent and as good as any I ever saw. The stage is well built and magnificently equipped for whatever purposes to which it may be put."

Mr. Toomey was escorted about the city by John I. McDonald, chairman, and other members of the building committee.

Work on the Auditorium is progressing rapidly. C. P. Buddy, the contractor in charge, is rushing things along and now has the forms on the first floor in shape for the laying of the concrete flooring. In putting the concrete down the same system of "shooting" it will be used as was employed on the Hotel Robidoux.

WAYS OF FOOLING GAME.

Deer-stalking among the Dogrib Indians is managed by a skillful counterfeit of the animal. Two hunters walk together—the man behind with bent body, the one in front carrying a stag's head. The legs of the man serve very well for the fore and hind legs of the animal. In this way the hunters get almost in the midst of the herd before the creatures are aware of danger. The ostrich is hunted in a similar way by the bushmen of South Africa, and the Eskimos sometimes come to close quarters with seals by dressing themselves in sealskins and dexterously mimicking the style of swimming and "bopping" so characteristic of the animal. In Australia the natives bring the wallaby or young kangaroo within the range of the spear by suspending a small bird's skin and feathers from the end of a long rod and imitating the bird's cry.

CHAIRMEN ARE SELECTED.

The chairmen who will act for the obsequies, which will be given by the St. James Roman Catholic church next week, have been selected by the committee, and are as follows: Tuesday evening, T. B. Ryan; Wednesday evening, Brother Emory; Thursday, C. F. Enright; Friday, Mrs. Elizabeth Wittaker; Saturday, C. H. Watts; Sunday, the Rev. J. O'Donnell.

"When I first told my brothers that I was going into the corral and mount the 'buckers' along with the cowboys, they laughed derisively, and remarked that my announcement proved that I possessed one of the prime requisites for the undertaking—a weak mind. In the west they say those with a strong back and a weak mind are the only successful broncho 'busters,' for the risk to life and limb is, of course, considerable.

"Here are some instructions to the woman who would ride a 'bucker,' horse of my experience:—Mount quickly and get your feet into the stirrups. Grip the horse's side firmly with your limbs, for your balance depends largely upon this. Don't hang to the saddle-horn, or, as we say, pull leather, for your head will be bowed toward the ground, you won't be able to see what direction your plunging beast is taking, and you will be lit much more fiercely than if your position is upright. Keep your reins firm and tight and his head high, for once he gets his nose between his forelegs, as he will try desperately, your control and probably your seat, is gone.

"Any girl who is able to ride a common saddle horse in emergencies can subdue a 'bucker,' if she have the nerve and is ordinarily strong. And, once accomplished, she'll have more real fun than any pink tea or theatre party or ball-room ever yielded."

MISTAKES IN FEEDING HOGS.

J. L. Stratton told the farmers' institute of Franklin county, Kansas, of these twenty-one mistakes in feeding hogs:

- 1. It is a mistake for the inexperienced to undertake the feeding of hogs unless he expects to make a study of it and improve upon his mistakes.
2. It is a mistake for the city farmer, living in town, to trust the feeding of the hogs to the average hired man. He is not likely to make a success of it.
3. It is a mistake to try to raise hogs on an exclusive diet. I will ask what kind of food can be produced on your farm and in your locality, then give them a variety of it. These feeds should be given in such relation to each other as to meet the varied needs of the swine system.
4. It is a mistake to forget that the hog is a grazing animal.
5. It is a mistake if the hog is not fed in a clean place, free from both dust and mud.
6. It is a mistake to overfeed or underfeed.
7. Ordinarily it is a mistake not to feed the liquid before the solid food.
8. It is a mistake to feed constipating food and nothing to correct it.
9. It is a mistake to feed breeding stuff as if you were fitting it for the market.
10. It is a mistake to feed all sizes together whenever the smaller ones are to a disadvantage.
11. It is a mistake not to provide the herd with comfortable quarters at all times. Failure in this will impair the usefulness of the feed.
12. It is a mistake not to grow the pigs rapidly from birth to market. They should gain every pound possible on the way.
13. It is a mistake to feed the brood sow much corn before farrowing. She should have cooling and laxative foods.
14. It is a mistake to feed her heavily for some days after farrowing.
15. It is a mistake to feed her pigs sour food when they are learning to eat.
16. It is a mistake to fail to feed the pigs bone and muscle forming materials during their growth.
17. It is a mistake to try to feed both the pig or hog and the worms that may be in him or the lice that may be on him. And the hog would tell you so if he knew how.
18. It is a mistake if hogs are not fed at regular intervals.
19. It is a mistake, as a rule, to feed too many months before marketing.
20. It is a mistake to feed high-priced feeds and then market at a loss. Figure your probable gain or loss and govern yourself accordingly.
21. It is a mistake for any feeder to

WONDERS OF AN APPLE TREE.

A box of apples containing 73 varieties all grown on the same tree, was presented recently by Luther Burbank to the Leland Stanford Junior university. Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of the university, when questioned concerning it gave this explanation: "There is nothing wonderful about it," he said. "The only marvels in the extreme variety which the cross breeding of the flowering plants always yields. Having seventy-three kinds on one tree is no marvel at all. Burbank has, in one case, 500 varieties of plums on one tree, and as you see, one can have as many as there are twigs.

"With a view of developing a new race of apples, Mr. Burbank took one of the variety called 'Early Williams' and crossed the flowers by artificial pollination with other desirable apples, believing that some of the resultant apple seeds would have the good characters of both the parents, while others would have bad characters in the combination. Naturally some of these flowers had already been fertilized by insects, so that Burbank could not control the output of the tree.

"Out of many little trees all the dwarfish, unthrifty and undesirable ones are weeded out. The thrifty ones are at once grafted on the twigs of a healthy old tree. This brings them at once into bearing, for the new wood replaces the old and the character of the leaves, flowers and fruit is determined by the grafts, not at all by the character of the old tree.

"From a tree of this sort 73 kinds of apples were produced and all of these Mr. Burbank sent to the university."

WANT CATTLE INSPECTED.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 4.—There was a large attendance at the annual session of the Holstein-Friesian association of America which opened here yesterday. President O. U. Kellog in his address asked that a committee be appointed to secure a federal law for the inspection of cattle for tuberculosis to do away with inspection by the states.

The treasurer had $70,000 on hand and no debts. Four hundred new members are to be elected.

The Company plan of owning a stalling is doomed to an early death. More men are purchasing stallions now for private use than ever before. Lower prices have made this possible. It spells much future improvement for the general run of farm horses.

FLOODS DELAY TRAINS. Helena, Mont., June 4.—Despite the efforts of the railroads to relieve the situation, flood conditions throughout Montana remain practically unchanged. No trains have arrived at Helena over the Northern Pacific for several days from either direction and none is expected before tomorrow. Great Northern trains are moving but with more or less delay.

WEDNESDAY'S BUSINESS

CATTLE.

Small Mid-Week Run Quickly Taken at Stronger Values. Advance of the week has thus far failed to bring out anything that looks like increased cattle supplies for the near future.

On the local market the moderate offerings included only a fair proportion of beef steers and none of these were up to the standard of quality carried by the top-getters of early in the week. Buyers were all on hand at an early hour of the forenoon looking for cattle and soon picked up all useful offerings at stronger prices compared with former days of the week.

While there were no strictly choice heifers offered on the early market there were a few bunches of pretty good medium weights, the best of which averaged 1,370 lbs. and sold at $6.75, the price being considered full strength for this class of steers.

Other sales of fairly attractive light and medium weights in a range of $5.00 to $5.50 were steady to higher as were also the light and cheaper priced grades of steers selling in a range of $4.75 to $5.75.

Supplies were well cleared out at an early hour and the local slaughterers would readily welcome a much larger supply of attractive and useful beef cattle.

COWS, BULLS AND MIXED. The supply of cows and heifers was moderate, although larger than Monday and Tuesday. Trade displayed a little unevenness, opening active and strong to higher, but easing off a little during middle and closing hours, finishing about steady with yesterday.

The showing of toppy stock was larger than on late days but general quality did not indicate much change. A five car string of prime, popular weight, spayed heifers sold at $5.40, equaling best price of the season for carload lots on this market.

Other lots sold largely in a range of $5.00 to $5.75 for useful styles with trashy grades selling down to $4.00. A few choice cows landed at $5.25 to $5.50, but bulk of the offerings were in the $4.00 to $5.00 class.

Not many canners were on hand and not many were wanted with quotations ranging from $2.00 to $2.75. Calf and medium killers sold largely at $3.00 to $3.75.

Bull trade was fairly active throughout at firm prices.

The largest total of this week was reported for leading markets today and indications are that there are a good many hogs being moved to shipping stations in the country. Buying interests are taking advantage of this and are forcing prices toward a lower level. Locally the total receipts for the half week are 2,500 larger than for the same time last week, but aggregate total of 197,000 at five points for three days is 33,000 less than for the same time last week.

On the start this morning the buying interests bid for a 10 cent reduction but with outside markets reported 5 cents off the selling interest would not entertain first bids and were finally able to start the trade at around 5 cents under Tuesday prices and it was on a basis of this decline that bulk of the crop was moved out of original hands. While it was late in the forenoon before trade was got to going the market was fairly active from that on to the finish.

Hogs are continuing to run seasonably good in quality and do not indicate scarcity, although there is evidence of owners preferring to sell rather than hold and feed out at present prices for corn. Prices ranged from $5.25 to $6.42 1/2, with bulk selling at $5.27 1/2 to $5.40, a week ago at $5.25 to $5.40, a month ago at $5.10 to $5.55, a year ago at $6.05 to $6.15, two years ago at $6.50 to $6.75, three years ago at $5.27 1/2 to $5.32 1/2, four years ago at $4.65 to $4.75.

The feeling is becoming general that well finished corn fed hives are more scarce than they have been for several years and high prices are apt to prevail, but a wide range in prices is also on tap. COWS, BULLS AND MIXED. Cows sold readily enough today as supply was small and demand keen. Prices, where any change could be detected, tended higher and the movement scaled upward began early and continued active until everything had been cleaned up. A few prime cows landed at $6.00, but it was mainly a $4.75 to $5.25 market for good beef grades. Medium to good kinds moved in a range of $3.75 to $4.50. Thin, trashy cows were not wanted badly but even these kinds are selling more readily and at higher prices than a short time ago.

The market for heifers today had not had the snap that has featured it for the past several days. The fact of the matter is that prices have traveled upward at so rapid a gait recently that any further advances will be under strong protest from buyers. Buyers this morning refused to go the pace set of late days and trade had a halting opening, developing into a 10 to 15 cent lower affair on which bulk of business was done. Nothing as good as yesterday's $4.40 styles was available but a useful class of heifers and mixed lots sold at $3.50 to $5.00.

Fat bulls sold at firm prices, butologna grades were weak. It was a weak to 25c lower deal with $5.50 taking best values. Small Local Receipts—Prices on Lower Trend. Sheep show trade had very weak tone, despite small receipts. A run of 700 was marked up, arrivals consisting of two cars of woolled lambs and a small delegation of native odds and ends without the fleece. The five markets reported 27,700, practically the same as a week ago. For the half week marketing at the five points totaled 90,500, indicating an increase of 14,700 compared with first three days of last week.

The market was unevenly steady to 10 to 15c lower. Clipped lambs sold about steady at yesterday's lower range with nothing very desirable on offer. Fair natives sold at $4.85 to $4.90. It was a $5.50 market for desirable spring lambs. Wool lambs were unpopular and sold at a discount of 10 to 15c from the menu close yesterday. Colorado woolled lambs at $5.85 were duplicates of the $6.10 styles on the early market yesterday. Current values are off 40 to 50c from the close last week and are at the low point of the year. Immediate improvement in the market is unlikely, if, indeed, prices do not get stuck still lower. Feeders are disgusted with the game and liquidation is in order regardless of consequence. Last year the late feeder made phenomenal profits, but those who held back this year are being severely punished.

THURSDAY'S BUSINESS. CATTLE. Trade Feeling Effect of Light Supplies. Prices Working Higher. Aside from show cattle today recorded the highest price for full loads of steers seen on this market since 1902, and with a little sorting such as frequently done at other markets a still higher top might have been made, although the owner and feeder might not have carried as much net money home as he did by selling the load straight.

The movement of hogs to markets continues to show an increasing volume and the buying interests are gradually working prices toward a lower level. However, in contrast with last week when they took it off in chunks they are letting prices down a point or two at a time. Today there were 7,500 hogs reported to sight at five markets, making a total of 285,000 for the week to date and more than making up all shortage apparent earlier in the week compared with the week previous.

On the local market the week's supply shows an increase of 4,000 over last week. As has been the rule on former days of the week it was well along toward noon with buyers bidding for a decline of 10 cents, but finally conceding a point and starting the market off at a 50 to 10 cent lower basis compared with yesterday. Bulk of sales for the day show a big nickel decline. When the market was finally got to going it ruled fairly active with supply being well bought at the finish.

Prices ranged from $5.00 to $6.40, with bulk selling at $5.27 1/2 to $5.40, a week ago at $5.25 to $5.40, a month ago at $5.10 to $5.55, a year ago at $6.05 to $6.15, two years ago at $6.50 to $6.75, three years ago at $5.27 1/2 to $5.32 1/2, four years ago at $4.65 to $4.75. The best steers here were a lot of well finished smooth medium Nebraska fed heaves that went over the scales at $7.20, the highest price on the open market since the fall of 1902. Another lot of fully fat heavy heaves but a little lacking in smoothness of quality went at $7.10. Choice steers weighing under 1,500 lbs. sold quickly at $6.80 and such steers as ten days ago were selling at $5.50 to $5.75 readily today at $6.00 to $6.50, while all light weights of common to only fair quality went freely at a western of $5.00 to $5.90. Light grassers on western order are quotable around $4.75.

The feeling is becoming general that well finished corn fed hives are more scarce than they have been for several years and high prices are apt to prevail, but a wide range in prices is also on tap. MR. BRYAN REPLIES

ANSWERS NEW YORK WORLD ARTICLE REGARDING RYAN'S CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION.

LOYAL TO JUDGE PARKER

The Nebraskan Declares That if World Charges Are Proven He Will Return Money to the Donor.

Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—In a statement given Thursday night to the Associated press, William J. Bryan replies to an article appearing a week ago in the New York World charging that Mr. Bryan was the beneficiary of a campaign contribution made by Thomas F. Ryan. Mr. Bryan declares if Mr. Ryan made the contribution it was without his knowledge or consent, and he repeats his former statement that when it is proven to him that Mr. Ryan did make the contribution he will see that the money is returned to the donor. Mr. Bryan says:

"I have just read the World's story charging, first, that my brother-in-law, Mr. Allen, chairman of the Democratic state committee, had a conference with Mr. Sheehan in 1904, in regard to campaign funds; that Mr. Sheehan, as Mr. Ryan's attorney, secured from Mr. Ryan $20,000 for the Nebraska campaign; that Mr. Ryan made the contribution to secure my open and unqualified support of Judge Parker; that to disguise the source of the contribution Mr. Ryan gave the check to Mr. Sheehan and that Mr. Sheehan gave his checks to Mr. Allen.

"Chairman Allen and Mr. Dahlan, the Nebraska member of the national Democratic committee, have already denied the World's charges and stated that the only money received came from the national committee, but I desire to add the following statement:

"Mr. Allen says that he never saw either Mr. Sheehan or Mr. Ryan, and I have no reason to doubt his word. If Mr. Ryan contributed to the Nebraska campaign it was not with my knowledge or consent. While I had but a remote personal interest in the Nebraska campaign that year, I am interested in Nebraska politics and am also interested in national politics, and I am not willing to be, in the slightest degree, obligated to any favor-seeking corporation. If, therefore, the World will secure from either Mr. Sheehan or Mr. Ryan a statement or prove, in any other way, that Mr. Ryan gave to Mr. Sheehan, or to any one else, or to the national committee, any sum whatever, with the understanding that the sum would be used in the Nebraska campaign I shall see that the amount is returned to Mr. Ryan.

"As to the charge that my support of Judge Parker was purchased I need only say that I announced my support of Judge Parker immediately after the St. Louis convention and that support was open and unqualified from the convention until the polls closed. I had opposed his nomination, but he had no more loyal supporter during the campaign. I was in correspondence with him and both on the stump and with my pen rendered all the assistance I could. While the World was selling its columns to the Republican committee to be used in caricaturing Judge Parker, my paper was urging his selection."

O. H. P. BELMONT IS DYING

LITTLE HOPE THAT WEALTHY NEW YORKER WILL SURVIVE.

Peritonitis Following an Operation for Appendicitis the Cause of the Trouble.

New York, June 5.—With his family at his bedside, Oliver H. P. Belmont was hovering between life and death late Thursday night at his country home near Hempstead, L. I. After an operation for appendicitis performed just before noon, Mr. Belmont developed peritonitis and sank so rapidly that it was feared he would not survive the night. Although they would not say that all hope had been abandoned, his physicians admitted that their patient's condition was very precarious.

Mrs. Belmont and her son, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and the latter's wife, are within immediate call of the chamber at Brookholst Villa, the Belmont home, and one of the three surgeons in attendance is constantly at the patient's bedside.

Mr. Belmont's illness dates from Tuesday of this week when his family physician found him in such a serious condition that a consultation was speedily called. Indications of improvement were seen within a few hours and although it was known that the patient had appendicitis it was hoped that an operation might not be necessary. Wednesday there was a turn for the worse and an operation was performed. The patient did not rally well from its effects and it soon appeared that peritonitis had set in. The infection spread and by Thursday night had become general.

Mr. Belmont's brothers, August Belmont and Perry Belmont, who are in Europe, have been notified by cable of his condition. Mr. and Mrs. Belmont were themselves to have sailed the latter part of June for an automobile tour of the continent planned to last until September.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY HAS COMMENCED IN EARNEST AROUND THE CHICAGO HOTELS.

TAFT AGAINST THE FIELD

Brother of the Secretary of War Confident of a Nomination on the First Ballot—Some Gossip.

Chicago, June 5.—Political activity commenced in earnest Thursday around the Auditorium and the Auditorium annex and the Coliseum where the Republican national convention is soon to be held. The Cannon headquarters were permanently opened in the Auditorium and the announcement was made by a number of the politicians friendly to candidates other than William H. Taft that Foraker headquarters will be opened in the Great Northern hotel. Charles F. Kurtz of Columbus, O., who has been a Foraker lieutenant for 30 years is to have charge of the senator's interests. Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, the brother of the Secretary of War, came to Chicago Thursday and promptly announced that he expected the secretary to be nominated without difficulty, on the first ballot. He smiled, as he cautioned listeners to remember that he was a prejudiced witness, but asserted that there was no doubt in his opinion the figures of the Taft Bureau should be taken seriously because "our figures from the beginning of the fight for the Republican nomination have always been nearer right than those of the other fellows."

Vice presidential gossip was prominent Thursday for the first time, the names of Senator J. P. Dooliver of Iowa and James D. Sherman of New York being mentioned. John Hays Hammond, the well known mining engineer, was also talked of.

At the headquarters of Joseph G. Cannon it was declared that the estimates of strength made by the Taft people were largely overdrawn and John Eversman, the confidential man of Congressman McKinley of Champlain, who is in charge of the headquarters at the present time, asserted that the Illinois candidate would not only have more strength than has been generally conceded to him, but that the Taft people would not be able to show more than 350 votes on the first ballot.

The Republican national committee will meet Friday at noon for the purpose of hearing evidence in connection with the seating of delegates on temporary roll.
