CATTLE.

Better Tone Displayed in Fat Steer Trade at Steady Prices.

Receipts of cattle at the leading markets were not heavy in the total for today but the aggregate at these markets for two days is considerably above what it was for the same time last week. The figures show 102,000 for two days at the five leading market centers and are 9000 ahead of last week and 10,000 more than a year ago. On the local market the total for the week to date is about the same as for last week but 2800 less than a year ago.

There were not so many range cattle here this morning as yesterday but later in the day there were a few loads came in. Of the fat cattle from corn belt feed lots the proportion was larger than yesterday and there were some very good beefers in the offerings. There was a little better pulse to the trade than on opening day of the week, although this did not amount to enough to give prices any higher turn. But the buyers were in the field at an early hour and were willing to take the cattle at a steady it strong basis. Among the best cattle here were some good kinds of heavy steers that sold at $7.50 and they were fully steady for the weight and quality; other good kinds of steers sold at $7.15 and $7.25 and the more medium and cheaper priced grades were steady at prices ranging from $6.50 down to around the $5.50 mark. The market had quite good movement and a fair clearance was made at an early hour of the day. The weather is extremely hot and sultry and is not the kind to insure good and active markets.

COWS, BULLS AND MIXED.

There was considerable native stock in sight in the yards this morning but the demand was pretty good and the market had an active tone from the start with prices on a good steady level for the rank and file of offerings with some of the more attractive grades of heifers selling a little higher, some kinds selling 10 to 15 cents higher than at the close of last week. This branch of the trade seems to be in good healthy condition and good prices are apparently in sight as a rule.

Dry fed heifers are quotable at $4.60 to $5.05; bulks are selling at $3.75

@4.00, and best kinds at about $3.00 to $3.75. Most dry lot cows might sell up as high as $4.75 but there are not many coming that sell above $4.00 and the bulk of fat cows are going at $3.50 to $4.00 with canners and cutters ranging down as low as $3.00 and under.

There was no big supply of calves on the market and the demand for veals was active enough to warrant a higher turn for the attractive kinds of veals. Prices were quoted strong to 25 cents higher. In the bull trade the supply was moderate and prices steady.

STOCKERS AND FEEDERS.

Stocks in the stocker and feeder division were considerably reduced yesterday and the local dealers were on hand this morning to take fresh supplies at around a steady basis of prices. There was a moderate supply on hand and while there was not much country inquiry, there was a good volume to trade at the steady prices and a good clearance out of first hands was made. The weather is again becoming somewhat of a factor in the trade and rain is wanted to start buyers to coming freely.

Choice to fancy feeding steers are quotable at about $4.50 to $5.25, medium to good grades $3.75 to $4.25; good to fancy stock steers $2.75 to $3.25, and the common to air $2.25 to $2.75; stock heifers $2.75 to $3.60 for fair to strictly good kinds; stock cows $3.00 to $3.50, and stock calves $3.50 to $4.50.

HOGS.

Strong Advance of 10 to 15 Cents in Prices, Trade Active.

It begins to look as though the packers must see more hogs in sight or there may be a return to the 9-cent mark for the right kind of weights and qualities. This morning with a moderate run in sight at the leading market centers the trade showed a strong and active tone and prices were advanced 10 to 15 cents for all of the more popular weights while 10 cents would cover the appreciation on the less desirable heavy weights. The market was steady at this advance and the supply was closed out in good season. Quality of hogs has not shown much change of late and the range in prices continues very wide.

For the two expired days of the week the total of hogs at this point is about the same as for the same time last week but 1000 less than for the same time last year. At the five markets the two day total of 91,000 is 9000 larger than for the same time last week and 16,000 more than for the same time last year.

Prices ranged from $8.25 to $8.85, with the bulk selling at $8.35 to $8.75. The bulk yesterday sold at $8.00 to $8.55, a week ago at $8.10 to $8.40, a month ago at $8.40 to $8.70, a year ago at $7.65 to $7.80, two years ago at $6.60 to $6.70, three years ago at $6.05 to $6.25, four years ago at $5.92 to $6.05.

SHEEP.

Native Stock Steady Early, Westerns Slow and Weaker.

Receipts were estimated at 3500, consisting of six doublets of Wyoming lambs, five doublets of Idaho lambs and five singles of mixed natives. Receipts for the week to date at the five leading points total 110,700 as compared with 134,300 a week ago and 115,800 a year ago. Locally the receipts for the week to date are 7,944 against 2,642 a week ago and 7,846 a year ago. The supply included a lot of desirable killing stock but demand was not very urgent, packers having filled most of their orders from yesterday's big run. Movement from the start was rather slow. As is usually the case packers went at the native stock first and early sales in this division were at steady figures compared with yesterday's general average. There had been nothing done in the western division at a late hour, nothing being sold at eleven o'clock. Bids on first rounds were fully steady and indications were that bulk of business would be transacted on this basis. There was a fair showing of feeders on sale this morning but demand was equal to the supply and sellers experienced no trouble in making a reasonable clearance at steady prices compared with yesterday's close.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Fox That Got Away

ADDY looked at the clock, laid down his pipe and newspaper, and calling Evelyn and Jack from their play, he told them this bedtime story: "Of all the animals, kiddies, the fox is the most cunning, and he gives the farmer lots of trouble, for he loves chickens, ducks and turkeys as much as you love candy and is always on the watch to steal them."

"Once upon a time a family of foxes lived on a hill near a farm, and the mamma fox spent much of her time teaching the weeny foxes to be cunning so as not to get caught by man. She showed them how to avoid steel traps, how to catch fowls, how to hide and all that, and one day one of the weeny foxes thought he knew it all, and so he ran away and dug a house for himself on another hill."

"But there was one thing at least that this youngster did not know, and that was not to take too many chickens from one farm, so that the owner would get angry and go hunting for him. He went to just one place for all his meals, and finally the farmer got all his neighbors together with their guns and dogs, and they started out to kill the bold and greedy robber."

"Our little fox heard them coming, and when the dogs began barking he only smiled and scurried off home. But pretty soon they came right along to where he lived, and he had to take to the woods. It wasn't long, however, before they were after him again, and then began an exciting race. On, on ran the little fox, running as he had never run before, with the big dogs almost at his bushy tail. He jumped creeks, scurried through thick bushes and under fences, but he couldn't shake them off. Oh, how he wished then that he had stayed at home and learned a little more before he went out into the world!"

"Finally the fox began to get tired, but just as he was ready to drop and let the world come he saw a farmhouse ahead. On the steps was a hammock, and in the hammock was a little girl sound asleep. And then the fox got an idea that he thought would save him. He dashed up the steps and softly crept right into the hammock and cuddled down out of sight alongside the sleeping girl. In a moment the dogs came along, but as they could not see him they ran around the house and off to the woods again. The little girl awoke, but did not open her eyes. She felt the soft little fox beside her and patted his head and called him "pusse," and to this day she thinks it was only her kitty that lay peeping beside her."

"When all was quiet again the fox crept out of the hammock and hurried home to his mamma, and you may be sure he stayed there ever afterward."

DIRTY EGGS. Dirty eggs are grouped in three classes in a bulletin published by the department of agriculture at Washington, as well as on the market. "Plain dirties" are those to which soil adheres, "stained" are those soiled by contact with damp straw or other material discoloring the shell; "smearers" are those covered with the contents of broken eggs. The government bulletin says the farmers are to blame for putting "plain dirties" and "stained" eggs upon the market, but that the "smearers" originate all along the route from the farmer's home to the consumer. Every farmer will learn much about egg production and the profit in poultry by asking the department of agriculture, Washington, to send him "Bureau of Animal Industry Circular—No. 149," which is free for the asking.

SMALLER LAMB SHIPMENTS. Colorado Exchange: It is estimated on the best authority that the fall shipments of lambs from the ranges will show a decrease of fully 15 per cent as compared with last year while the proportion of fat lambs will be even smaller. There will also be a diminished shipment of yearlings but the ratio of wethers and ewes is expected to be as large as a year ago as there are many dry ewes while numbers of wethers were held over from last year. Rangeland generally will hold their young, thickly breeding ewes because of the big loss last winter for there is a shortage throughout the west. The demand on the range for these ewes exceeds the numbers for sale and they are eagerly sought for at from $2 to $4 a head. The lamb crop is 10 to 11 per cent short of last year and the decrease is declared to be just as great among the big ranchmen as the smaller ones. On account of the scarcity of alfalfa our fashions will fatten but few sheep this year. From present indications alfalfa will be worth from $10 to $14 a ton. Wethers which will fatten not more than 25,000 head, and so far as we know not a sheep has been purchased or even contracted anywhere in Colorado when the quantity thus far secured should ordinarily be a million head.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

PERFECT ANGEL FOOD. This is my original recipe and if all directions in regard to quality, and combining of material as well as directions for baking are followed, success is assured (use ungreased tube mold, medium, medium size, and a graduated measuring cup; all measurements are given in small cups; one large cup or two small ones; half cup of dark molasses, two cups of butter or oleomargarine, four cups of flour, two teaspoons of soda, one teaspoonful of cloves or allspice, one and one-half cups of raisins. By adding more fruit will make a fruit cake.)

MAY MAKE MORE BEEF. Discussing the cattle and beef situation in its last issue, the National Provisioner says: Recent rains in the corn belt and cattle feeding sections of the west appear to have altered live stock conditions to such an extent that they may materially affect the beef market. This is naturally the season for heavy receipts of grass-fed cattle at market centers. This year the protracted and general drought conditions stimulated the movement of cattle to market, regardless of finish, and the tendency had assumed almost the nature of a panic rush.

But recent rains throughout the feeding territory seem to have checked this movement to a large extent, or rather to have altered its character. Receipts have continued in good volume, but instead of developing increased weakness the cattle market has this week displayed signs of growing strength at many points, due almost wholly to the demand for feeders. Instead of having heavy receipts at their command from which to pick what they want at their own prices, packers' buyers seem to be as badly off as though receipts were very light. Cattle have continued to come in in goodly numbers, but the demand for all grades of stock and feeding cattle has been such that a large proportion of the supplies have been removed from the field of packers' competition.

The late rains have made fall pasturing good, encouraged feeders and stimulated an almost unprecedented demand for feeding cattle. It is said that all July and August records for sales of feeders have been broken up to date. This discourages packers looking for cheap supplies just at this time, but would seem to promise a better distributed supply for the fall and winter months. The government corn crop report was not as good as expected, but even at the reduced estimate the prospect is that corn may be profitably put into beef this season, and that supplies may be more nearly on a normal basis.

But it means, too, that the packer cannot put away much cheap grass beef this summer and early fall. The farmer and feeder is a wise guy, and he is likely to market the fattened cattle he is now buying as feeders in a judicious manner, calculated to fatten his own pocketbook rather than that of the man in the meat trade.

CAKE. Devil's Food.—One cupful sugar, three eggs, one-half cupful of butter, one-half cupful creamed chocolate, one-half cupful sour cream or milk, one even teaspoonful soda, one cupful flour, Cream butter and sugar; add well beaten yolks; then add the cream with the soda dissolved in it; then flour, then melted chocolate, and lastly the beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in moderate oven in loaf.

Dark Cake.—The following recipe is for a dark cake, which makes either one large cake or two small ones; one large cake or two small ones, half cupful of dark molasses, two cups of butter or oleomargarine, four cups of flour, two teaspoons of soda, one teaspoonful of cloves or allspice, one and one-half cups of raisins. By adding more fruit will make a fruit cake.

Escalloped Cucumbers.—Pare and slice thin two large cucumbers. Put in baking dish alternate layers of cucumbers and cracker crumbs; add salt, pepper, and dots of butter to each layer. Moisten well with water. Bake three-quarters of an hour in moderately hot oven. This will serve six people.

To Keep Parsley Green.—Take parsley and green celery leaves and run through a food chopper or chop in a chop bowl first; add sufficient salt and put a good tablespoonful of salt in bottom of can, and then put parsley about two inches thick; again a tablespoonful of salt and parsley, and so on until the can is full; press down good. In doing this you will have green and fresh parsley all winter. Fine for soup and salads of all kinds. I have put it up now for five or six winters, and I never lost a teaspoonful and it stays as green as grass.

PINEAPPLE. Pineapple Pie.—Line a pieplate with a good crust, grate half a cupful of butter, one cupful of cream, five eggs, the whites beaten to a stiff froth; cream the butter and sugar and yolks of the eggs until light; add the pineapple, cream, and the whites of the eggs. Pour this mixture in the crust and bake in a slow oven. To be eaten when cold.

Pineapple Shortcake.—Put the pineapple to be used through a food chopper. To the juice and pulp add one cupful of sugar. Let it stand for an hour or longer before using. Around individual shortcakes of rich biscuit dough, unswartened, range circular pieces of thinly sliced oranges, taking care to remove every shred from the outside and center of the oranges. Over all pour the pineapple mixture.

TOO MUCH IN FEAR

SAD HAPPENING THAT HAS SOURED MRS. STOREY.

Avoidance of Publicity in This Case Was Costly—And, of Course, Mr. Storey Says "I Told You So."

Mrs. Storey's life had been haunted for years by the fear that some day she might be called upon to serve as a witness in court.

In order to reduce the possibility of such a calamity to a minimum, Mrs. Storey would walk on with deafened ears and averted head whenever she happened to be near a fight or the scene of an accident.

Presently she became aware that something exciting was happening close beside her. Hastily she shut her eyes and stuck her fingers into her ears.

"Yes," said Mr. Storey, "but they couldn't do anything with her. Every one was confident the bag didn't belong to her, but as nobody appeared to claim it they had to let her go."

COLD BATH CALLED A FAKE

Irreverent Writer Pokes Fun at One of the Most Cherished of British Institutions.

Everyone knows about the tradition of the cold morning bath. All Englishmen mention the fact in a casual manner that they have had one at least once each day.

After getting out of a fairly warm bed many times, and trying to do acrobatic acts in tepid water with a damp atmosphere of about 40 degrees, in a stone-walled room with the concentrated cold of 400 or more long years hometically sealed in a musty old castle, I decided to fake the cold bath, as I now believe all Englishmen do.

It's an easy game, and this is the way to do it. Jump from the bed and land, if possible, clear of the stone floor, on any old stray rug or piece of carpet.

Sent Vipers to Supposed Rival. A wealthy Italian count and his wife recently visited Paris, where by chance they met the daughter of an old family friend.

Rediscovering the Bible. A few years ago a professor at Yale set an examination paper to some of his undergraduate pupils and was astounded at the utter ignorance of the simplest Biblical topics displayed in their answers.

Peculiar Legacies. Not long ago a Berlin manufacturer left $2,500, the interest of which is to be spent on the free distribution of beer weekly to the frequenters of his favorite beerhaus.

"A Lady and a Lawyer." Practically all the members of District Attorney Whitman's staff were in Judge Crane's court when Lawyer Freda Thomas made an eloquent appeal in behalf of George Davis, a youth on trial for burglary.

FIRST, TO KEEP COOL

SOME ADVICE FOR THE VICTIMS OF ACCIDENTS.

Those Who, Fully Dressed, May Happen to Fall into the Water, Have Every Opportunity of Escaping Death.

Mr. Handley advises the swimmer who falls overboard fully dressed to first turn on his back and float, and while in that position to remove the coat and the shoes—and then keep on floating.

"In floating," says Mr. Handley, "one can shout all one likes, to attract the attention and still retain one's strength. And will not the chances of rescue be decidedly better if one lies comfortably awaiting developments, or propelling one's self gently by an easy back stroke, than after using up one's energies in treading water or in making violent efforts to reach land by swimming?"

Models to Help Juries. "For the guidance of the jury, counsel then produced in court a model of the house about which the dispute had arisen."

An Egg Defense. A Chicago grocer's boy had a lively half-hour round with an ugly fox-terrier in his father's store a few days ago.

The Southern Seas. Readers of the old records of exploration in the South seas will recall frequent references to the heavy swells of the ocean, which impressed the navigators with the idea of their remoteness from land.

A Scientific Problem. In the center of the garden, on a pedestal, stood a large glass globe. As the guests sauntered about after dinner one of them, happening to touch it, discovered to his amazement that it was warmer on the shady side than on the side facing the sun.

Hard Task to Save Life. A painful and somewhat sensational adventure befell Mr. Boyd, an engineer of Didsbury, Manchester, England, the other Sunday, while he was exploring a "pot-hole" in the limestone district near Ingleborough.

VAIN SEARCH FOR TREASURE

Truth About Romantic Stories of Wealth Said to Have Been Hidden in Mexico.

According to Jose Ramon Palafox, a Mexican journalist, there are no hidden Montezuma treasures.

No doubt the stories circulated about the hidden treasures of the Aztec emperors have their origin in the sadly exaggerated accounts of old Spanish historians—men who swallowed the yarns of the conquerors of Mexico and whose judgment had been upset by the few shipments of gold and silver made to Spain shortly after the taking of the Aztec capital.

The amount of gold and silver in the possession of the Aztecs at any time was comparatively small and on the side of the people consisted of little more than a few personal ornaments.

Bishop Follows on Marriage. Bishop and Mrs. Samuel Fallows recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding.

A Strange Lake. Captain Tilho of the French mission to the Lake Chad region in Africa has discovered some new vagaries of that puzzling body of water which has long exercised the minds of geographers with its problems.
