10 to 15 Cents Higher,

The first real snappy winter weather of the season brought with it a snappy turn-in the cattle trade. There was more real life to the trade this some time and prices were put up to: all kinds of stock on offer. The sup-ply in sight at the leading markets was fairly liberal for a middle day of the week and the total for the half week at the five points is 24,000 lar-ger than for the same time last week but the snappy weather at once put some vim into the demand for beef cattle that was to the favor of the selling interest. At the local market the total for the half week is 1000 less than for the same time last week not a load of fully fat finished beeves in the yards. Buyers did not hesitate long this morning and sellers had an easy time getting an advance of 10 to easy time getting an advance of 10 to 15 cents for all grades of steers on offer. There were a few pretty good grades of light weight steers here but nothing choice in either the light or heavy grade. The best steers here of the grades that sell around the $5.75 mark and the bulk were the kinds that sell in a range of $5.25@ $5.50 with common to fair kinds of

The activity continues in the de-mand for she stock of all kinds and mand for she stock of all kinds and the packers are not getting nearly as much of this class of cattle as their orders call for. There was only a moderate proportion of she stock here and these were on the way to the scales at an early hour of the morning. Prices for all kinds of cows and helfers were 10 to 15 cents higher and more could have been used at the primore could have been used at the prices. There are a few bunches of westerns still coming and they are selling well. Bulk of the cows that are coming are of the medium to good kinds that are selling well. Bulk of the cows that are coming are of the medium to good kinds that are selling at $4.00 @4.50 and heifers are going largely at $4.25 @4.75.

Good fat heifers are quotable at $4.50 @5.25; bulk are selling at $4.00 @4.50, and common kinds at about $3.50 @4.00. Best cows might sell up as high as $4.75 but there are not many coming that sell above $4.30.

DAILY MARKETS and the bulk of fat cows are going at $3.50@4.00 with canners and cutters ranging down as low as $3.00 and un-

There is no new feature to the calf trade and prices held steady for the few on offer. Bulls sold actively and

Food For Thought.

It is customary at all markets to hear complaint that "this market is out of line." The complaint has been heard here within the last few days, and it always comes at a time when the markets are in bad condition. It is not unnatural that such omplaints should be made when the packers are acting indifferent and bidding low for cattle, hogs or sheep, and the St. Joseph market is no worse than any other when such conditions are noted. But, there is a competitive market down the river that will not admit there is a market at all in St. Joseph. Here is a little reminder to the down river market that there is a St. Joseph on the map and doing business: On Monday of this week T. C. Peterson, of Minden, Neb., arrived here with a shipment of good fat steers. He had placed a selling price of $6.50 on the steers, but the best bid obtainable here was $6.35, and he shipped the cattle on to Kansas City. The steers were still unsold at the close of business last night and the best bid on them at the down river market was $5.90, or 45 cents below the St. Joseph bid. On the same dag J. P. Hawkins, of Grenola, Kan., had two cars of steers here that were bid $5.90, but he would not sell. He forwarded them to Kansas City and the best bid up to the close of trade last night was $5.65. These are things that it won't hurt to remember when told that the St. Joseph market is out of line.

On the local market the supply is 3000 short of last week and 4000 less than for the last week and 4000 less than for the same time last year.

At the start this morning there was some move made to get prices off a little and trade was started at a decline of around 5 cents for the bulk of the sales, but the packers were wanting the hogs and their activity put a tone of strength to the trade and before the close all show of early decline had vanished and prices were on a full steady level compared with the trade of yesterday. Hogs of all weights are continuing to sell close together. A good clearance was made and the close of the market was strong. 1.... 970..3 15 1.... 930..3 15

SHEEP.

Moderate Supply On Sale, Market Strong to 10c Higher in Spots. Numerically, the supply of sheep and lambs here today was not large. Receipts were estimated at 1500 and Receipts were estimated at 1500 and arrivals were around that many, which was hardly enough to meet the demand and give values a thorough test. Early trade was a brisk affair, packers going after the supply of good killers greedily and late arrivals of trains was largely responsible in preventing early clearances. Reports of conditions at the principle outside live mutton markets told of strong and higher openings and during the early rounds sellers were demanding higher prices, but local buyers are fighting advancing prices stubbornly and initial sales were steady compared with yesterday. Good fat lambs were relatively scarce and sold in much the same notches as yesterday, although a $6.45 to was good of the process of the although a $6.45 top was made against $6.40 yesterday, but quality made up the difference and these kinds were called steady. Percentage Closed On Stronger Turn.

The week is not bringing out any material increase in the supplies of hogs at the leading market centers being more in evidence than wethers and the packers are showing quite a litting for hogs at the current prices.

bringing farmers not only from the middle western states, but from the more western states, but from the northern and eastern counties of this state. The enormous amount of Southwest Texas capital available for this kind of work is somewhat of a surprise to persons from other states.

While this section is new in its development as a great farming country available for the owner of from 10 to people are able to support movements which show their worth by their accomplishments.

Another fact which works for the support of the movement to Southwest Texas is that mo new fads have brought the demand for land in this part of the United States. The crops which are being produced here are staples with which the world is not sufficiently supplied and for which the demand will not diminish.

One of the serious world problems of today is the cotton supply. The number of consumers of cotton is increasing much more rapidly than production. New fields are tried in vain. The South has a monopoly on that business, and it devolves upon the southern states of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and incidentally turn the annual trade balance of this country to supply the world and additional cost for feed.

Southwest Texas now has the only large body of untilled cheap cotton land.

The cotton crop, which apparently has done more than any other to make this state famous, as a farming country, is a staple. Before South-west Texas entered the field onions ere imported. Sugar cane is a highly profitable staple and will remain so for the simple reason that it is not probable this country will ever produce any considerable amount of the sugar it uses. This crop alone promises to make the Rio Grande Valley one of the richest parts of the United States. With the ability to produce garden truck dairs parts of the United States. With the ability to produce garden truck, dairy products, poultry and eggs, during the winter season, when such articles bring very high prices in the north and east, southwest Texas has a rare opportunity. These are all substantial crops which do not depend upon any temporary condition for their appeal. Moreover, the citrus fruits and nuts which are now turning ranches into orchards offer a great opportunity. These crops now come from the Pacific coast or other countries. This section finds itself hundreds of miles closer to the market, with a corre-

Even in hot weather it is wet and cool. "There is a natural reason for the dog's nose being cold," said daddy, "but there is also an old story connected with it. If you and Evelyn like I shall tell you this evening instead of another story the one about the dog's nose." Of course the children wanted to hear it, and daddy went on:

"You have heard in Sunday school probably the story of the great flood. Many, many years ago the people of the earth were so wicked that the Lord decided to drown them all in a great flood-all, that is, except one old man named Noah and his family, who were good people. According to the Bible, the Lord told Noah to gather a pair of each kind of animal into a great boat ch was to be built before the rain should begin to fall and the great flood should come. All the other people laughed at Noah for building the great boat, which was called the ark. They did not believe that a great flood was coming, and they thought it foolish of Noah and his family to make such great preparations. But Noah did not mind them and went right on with his

But by that time the ark was so very crowded that there was only a little room for the dog, and he could just get halfway in. The other half was out on the deck. So the poor dog turned around, and the frent half of his body-and his nose, of course-had to stay out in the rain all the forty days and forty nights that the flood lasted. Great Writer's Brilliant Idea to Combine Trousers and Slippers in One Garment.

In a village in the heart of Touraine there lives an old man whose pride it is that he once had the honor of making a pair of trousers for Balzac. The old tailor delights to tell of his meeting with the distinguished Frenchman, Harper's Weekly says.

When the tailor got to the chateau where Balzac was staying he found him in the garden at work on a novel. He was so busy that the tailor waited in silence. Many sheets of paper, covered with fine writing, lay around him. He would write a spell, then stare wildly about, and then go at it again as if he knew that a world was waiting for his words.

After standing near and watching the great man a while the tailor at last felt that he must interrupt Balzac in order to get his measure for measured him, but spoke but once. "No feet," said he, as the tailor fin Profession of Treason is Not Profitable-Do Not Always Receive What They Expect.

Paris.-Le Figaro, apropos of a recent trial of a French soldier who has been convicted of selling plans to "a foreign power," remarks that the profession of treason is not a profitable one, and wonders why so many Frenchmen embrace it.

One soldier is reported to have expected $220,000 for the sale of an automatic "debouchoir," or trench digger, which he had purloined, but the military authorities ask in amazement what could have put such an idea into his head, or into that of another soldier who carried off a mitrailleuse and believed that he would pocket $110,000, but only got $250. As for the old soldiers who, having turned traitors, have remained abroad, their lot is a poor one. They began by only receiving small sums, and then they were utilized as spies, with the prospect of being turned other man has 20 years' hard labor and so on. So soldiers have a great feal more to gain by remaining loyal, as even if they are successful in such pefarious practices at the outset, their earnings are poor; and they have a wretched future before them abroad.

BATTLE AT SON'S GRAVE

Father Attending Flowers Resents Officer's Interference-la Arrested for Assault.

A father, interfered with when nursing the flowers on his son's grave, was arrested for striking a special officer of the Holy Cross cemetery, says the New York Press. The prisoner is Joseph Holeski of 649 Fourth street, Brooklyn. With his son Joseph, ten years old, he went to the graveyard to look after the plot in which another son had been buried a few weeks ago. He found the flowers he had planted several days ago were wilting, and to restore the bloom decided to water the plants. In looking around for a sprinkling pot he picked one from another grave and tenderly was feedng the flowers when Thomas Gordon, special officer, saw him. You had better put back that pot where you found it," warned Gordon. The father objected to the officer's tone, and refused to comply at once. A wordy argument ensued, and finally became so heated Holeski plucked an iron support from a nearby grave and struck Gordon over the head. The bar was wrested from his hand by others, and the officer arrested the father. He was taken to the police station, and his son was sent to the Children's society.

The chapel is situated close to the bottom of the shaft, so that the miners, on descending the pft can go to worship before they proceed to their various stations. The apartment is strangely lacking in ornamentations and acornment. The pilroof are of rough wood, and a disused analtrallag turned un on end does Ministerial Salaries.

According to a new government bulletin the ministerial profession is not in so bad a case in this day and generation as we are sometimes led to suppose. In 1906 there were 164. $30 Christian ministers in the United States: they were increasing at the rate of about 4,000 a year, and they were paid an average salary of $663. It is estimated that this year a hundred million dollars will be paid in this country for ministers' salaries, and twice as much more for main tenance of churches, missions, extensions and congregational expenses Three hundred millions is a fair sum of money-twice the cost of the pention list; more than our annual payment for new automobiles.-Harper's

WOMEN ARE MORE RECKLESS

Physicians Say, That Taking Desperate Chances Is a Feminine Characteristic.

Now that women have definitely entered the field of the air, which only a selected few of the men venture into, even for sport, the theory that women are naturally and constitutionally timid doned. It has long been noted by physicians that a certain fatalistic courage, a willingness to take desperate chances, is a feminine characteristic; they oftener have to dissuade their women patients from surgical operations involving fatal risks than persuade them to undergo them. In automobiling, it has come to be noted that women who drive the machines will take such liberties with the regulations of the police, with the allowed rates of speed on country roads and with the eternal law that two solid bodies cannot occupy the same bit of space at the same moment of time without a clash, as men would ordinarily refuse to be responsible for. These tests are all in the realm of physical courage, be it noted, where the male sex fancles itself specially and expressly endowed for superiority. Nor could it be called moral courage, this willingness to defy the road regulations and shave hubs at a pinch, but rather immoral. It is only the latest form, perhaps, after all,

Distate for the Bickering Is Said to Be Real Reason for Resignation of C. C. Harrison of U. of P.

Coming as a distinct surprise to those who have watched the financial prosperity of the University of Pennsylvania increase under his regime, the resignation of Charles Curtis Harrison, provost of that institution, raises a neat question as to whether the spirit of progress is not impairing the desirability of the position of college president. There was a time, not long distant, | Omaha when such a position was among the most desirable in the land. For the scholar it was considered ideal in its remoteness from the hurry and bustle of the world. But the college, like every other industry in these days, is engaged in a great competitive struggle. All the big ones are growing bigger, and the time will come, probably, when they will crowd the smaller ones out. Mr. Harrison was selected as head of the great University of Pennsylvania more because of his standing wanner men of spanes than because of WINES and LIQUORS among men of finance than because of his mastery of any special branch of learning. His influence brought more donations to the university than had come to it at any other time in its history. Now the provost is resigning, ostensibly because of advanced years and outside affairs that demand his attention. The real reason is said to be his distaste for the bickering that has become a part of college life.

Showing Sense of Elephart.

A naturalist tells an anecdote of an Indian elephant, which is one of the best proofs of the sense of the animal and of its power of communicating its knoughts. An elephant was ordered to drag a tree which proved too heavy for its strength. It was urged and excited to continue its efforts till the poor animal broke the chain by which it was fastened and ran away. All supposed it had escaped to the jungle, where it would mix with with the wild elephants and be seen no more. But in an hour this faithful and sensible servant of man returned, accompanied by two other elephants, and by their united strength the tree was easily removed. The other elephants disappeared after the work was done, and the wise tame elephant tame and be ween and phants disappeared after the work was done, and the wise tame elephant tame and be ween the hours of the provisions of said deed of trust and the authority in me vested thereby, I will on December 17th, 1910, between the hours of the jungle, where it would mix with with the wild elephant and be seen no more. But in an hour this faithful and sensible servant of man returned, accompanied by two other elephants, and by their united strength the tree was done, and the wise tame elephant.
