MEDICINE FOR MEXICO.

The latest from the scene of the comic opera war is to the effect that the insurrection are not going to be satisfied with the proposed new Diaz cabinet.

CUTTING UP THE FARMS.

Not in the immediate future will the United States have to go abroad for its supplies of farm products, for it has too much fertile soil of its own.

Montana presents an interesting situation, however, and it is probably typical of most other western states, with which, of course, Iowa is not to be classed.

LOST—A BEEF APPETITE.
National Provisioner: Beef managers and beef salemen have complained bitterly of the state of demand for dressed beef in recent weeks.

Then, too, the sheep and lamb markets have been over-supplied and prices correspondingly low until recently, and though the majority of retailers have not cut prices according to the wholesale markets, yet there has been more or less cheaper mutton and lamb going into consumptive channels.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

DISCOVERIES.

Original Dish.—Made from cold roast beef or any roast meat, and bowl of gravy. Chop the meat, not too fine, add gravy and little onion, if liked.

Good Coffee Hint.—To one pound of ground coffee beat good two eggs, mix well, and let dry in a warm oven; care must be taken so as not to burn by stirring often.

Cream Substitute.—Substitute for cream in tea or coffee: Beat the white of an egg to a froth, then put into it a very small lump of butter and mix well, then stir it in gradually so it may not curdle.

RAISIN RECIPES.

Raisin Pudding.—One cupful of finely chopped suet, one-half cupful of sugar, two eggs, one-half cupful of milk, one cupful of entire wheat flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder.

Raisin Pie.—One cup raisins, one beaten egg, three-fourths cup of suet, one cup of thick sweet cream, one teaspoon of vanilla; bake in one crust.

CLEANING.

Easy washing: Use a sink plunger for curtains, blankets, overalls, etc. Barely cover goods with suds and use plunger. No wear and white as snow.

FAMILY MEDICINE CASE.

In the first place keep your medicine case out of the children's reach. In a dry, cool place. Have drawers at the bottom large enough to hold pieces of diamond and nice soft old linen rags and cotton, lint, two salt bags, a rubber water bag, bandages, large pins, syringe, etc.

MEAT.

Meat Balls.—Take pieces of left over meat, grind or chop. Soak twice as much dry bread as meat, mix together, and add one egg, salt and pepper to taste, a little chopped onion; mix into balls, roll in flour and fry brown.

Squab Boston Style.—Singe, draw, and truss half a dozen fine squabs. Fill them with a rich forcemeat of crumbs and fresh mushrooms moistened with cream and flavored with pepper and salt. Put the birds then into a roasting pan and cook rapidly for eighteen minutes.

Baked Ham.—Cover your ham with cold water and simmer gently just enough to loosen the skin so that it can be pulled down. It will probably be from two to three hours, according to the size of your ham.

Goose with Sauerkraut.—Wipe out goose with a damp towel and fill with sauerkraut, sew it up and tie into shape, place in a large kettle, cover with about two quarts of sauerkraut and boiling water.

Apple Omelet.—Stow six apples; beat very smooth while hot, adding one tablespoonful of butter, six tablespoonfuls of sugar, a grating of nutmeg and half teaspoonful of rose extract.

Hot Salmon.—Set a can of salmon in a saucepan of boiling water over the fire and let simmer fifteen to twenty minutes. Open can close to the edge and after draining off liquid turn the fish on to the center of a serving dish.

EMERGENCY RECIPE.

Current Tea Biscuits.—Two and one-half cups flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half cupful sugar, one-half cupful salt, one egg, one cupful milk, one tablespoon melted butter, one cupful currants.

Colonial Bread.—Three cups flour, three level teaspoon baking powder, one level teaspoon salt, one cupful milk, one cupful water.

Whole Wheat Bread.—Eight cupfuls whole wheat flour, one cake yeast loam dissolved in one cup of luke warm potato water, one teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful melted butter, three tablespoonfuls sugar.

CHILD BURNED WITH HOUSE.

Lone Jack Farm a Scene of Tragedy as Mother Stands Helpless.

Lee's Summit, Mo., March 27.—The farm house of Morgan Mayhan, two and a half miles north of Lone Jack, Mo., was burned to the ground at noon today.

Two cups flour, two cups milk, one cupful sugar, one teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, one-half cupful butter, one cupful water.

ADAM WAS REAL GENTLEMAN

That Fact is Thoroughly Demonstrated by the Manner in Which He Treated Eve.

Was Adam a sneak or a gentleman? Mr. George A. Crawford thinks a gentleman, and has written a very jolly pamphlet to prove it. Adam, it appears, has been misquoted. He is made to say: "The woman thou gavest me tempted me, and I did eat"—a remark unworthy the foremost man of time. What Adam did say was: "The woman thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat." Mr. Crawford prints the words "to be with me" in large and resonant capitals, feeling that they reflect credit upon Adam.

You see what the father of the race was driving at. Required to pick between Paradise without Eve and Eve without Paradise, he stuck out for Eve. He was a gentleman. Had he been a sneak, he would have argued that he never meant to marry Eve, but was imposed upon, owing to inexperience. Perhaps you recall that his acquaintance among girls had been rather limited. The first one he saw caught him. Thus, he might have begged the Judge to set him free, citing as precedents the affair of the young gentleman who took part in charades. Said this delightful youth: "I tell you what, Miss Bunthorne, we'll eat 'Paradise Lost.' I'll propose; you reject me; they'll never guess it." Any Judge unable to appreciate the appositeness of the citation and its argumentative potency might as well retire. Clerks rejoice in Mr. Crawford's rehabilitation of Adam. It will be a boon to the lovers of genealogy. Most Bostonians trace their ancestry as far back as Hyman Cohen of Jerusalem or Terence O'Malley of Cork, but hesitate to go further. They are afraid of Adam. Regarding him as a sneak, they are in terror lest thorough investigation prove them to be descended from him. No longer need they quail. Crawford's pamphlet in hand, they can say to the genealogist: "Go as far as you like!"—Clerk of the Day in Boston Transcript.

YOUNG WOMEN FARMERS.

How Two Missouri Girls Cared for Estate Left by Parents.

A Missouri young woman has proved that a woman's "sphere" is a very elastic thing when it comes to the fields and performing a man's work on her own farm. She is Miss Loretta Judson, 24 years old, of Caddo, Webster county. When the young woman and her sister, Miss Daisy Judson, two years her junior, lost both parents in a runaway accident three years ago the sympathetic neighbors were sorry, the Kansas City Star says. What would become of them? Of course to keep the farm and live in their old home would be out of the question, the neighbors believed. At that time farm land was very cheap in the Ozarks and it was realized that but little could be obtained from a sacrifice sale of the eighty acres of upland.

The girls made it known that they intended to make their own way in the world and that they intended to do it on the old homestead. And they set to work, the younger sister as housekeeper and the older sister as a worker in the fields. Miss Judson now has one of the best farms in Webster county. In the springtime Miss Loretta Judson may be seen in the fields with her team of big black horses early in the morning plowing the land and coming crop of corn or oats. A little later in the season she hires her team to the check row and plants the corn. After the corn comes up she takes her cultivator and keeps it going throughout the season. She practices rotation of crops, intending to sow a field in clover every fourth year. The main crops are corn, wheat, oats and clover.

She owns all her own machinery and can drive a binder as well as any farmer. Miss Judson never sells any of the grain or hay from the farm. She feeds it to her cattle, horses, hogs and sheep. She keeps only registered hogs and sheep and has a good grade of Shorthorn cows. She rears good colts each year and attends to the breaking of these herself. She can ride the wildest colt and soon teaches the young animal that she is master. In the winter months Miss Judson cuts enough wood to last through the coming spring and winter and attends the repairing of the farm buildings and fences. A good stone henhouse was built by the elder girl for her sister, who cares for the poultry. Large flocks of chickens, turkeys and geese are marketed by the girls each year. The girls take pleasure in showing visitors over the farm and talking of their plans to build up the place and make further improvements, but they never boast of having done anything that any other girls would not have done. They are able not only to show a well kept farm, but they can drive the visitor over a stretch of good roads in front of the place. This is due to the belief of Miss Loretta in the virtues of the road drag. She has a heavy drag and after a rain she uses it on what she considers her part of the public highway. This part of the road never causes the road supervisor any trouble and is one of the few pieces of road in the county that are kept in good condition the year around.

NEW HOUSTON BANANA LINE. Houston, Texas—Houston's importance as a banana market is to be greatly enhanced after the 1st of March, as the new local banana and fruit company will enter the trade at that time. Several attempts have been made to run boat lines between Houston and Mexican and South American points without marked success, but the new company has secured the services of men of special training in the banana industry to look after not only the boats but the selling and buying ends of the business as well.

NOT FAMILIAR WITH MONEY

Many Poor Children in the Public Schools Do Not Know Pieces of Larger Denominations.

Unfamiliarity with money gives children a queer idea of the value of certain coins. A 50-cent piece dropped from the pocket of a visitor to a New York school and was returned by a small girl with the remark: "Here, sir, is your $10." The man laughed in spite of himself, but the teacher looked sad. "Poor little things," she said. "How can you expect them to know any better? They never see a piece of money bigger than a quarter. They are as sharp as a coin collector on cents, nickels, dimes and quarters, and can almost tell the date across the room, but a piece of money bigger than that is such a rarity in their homes that they are apt to call anything from one to a hundred dollars." "When I first took charge of this class there wasn't a child in the room who could name the denomination of a coin above a quarter. They had heard of big money, but had never seen it. They have had several lessons in identifying Uncle Sam's money, but that particular girl happened to be absent, so it is not strange that she should take your half dollar for $10."

Find Petrified Women. In the course of the excavations which are still being made at Pompeii the body of a petrified woman has been discovered. On the body were jewels of great value, including bracelets, necklaces, and chatelaines, and it is assumed from this that their wearer belonged to the patrician class. Especially remarkable among the jewels are two clasps, each composed of twenty-one pearls in a cluster. These clasps have both an artistic and an archaeological value, for nothing comparable with them has been found before among the ruins of Pompeii. Pompeii, on the Neapolitan Riviera, was founded about 600 B. C., and down to the time of its destruction, A. D. 79, it was a sort of Rome-super-Mare, frequented by the aristocracy, if not by Caligula and Nero, in whose honor it erected triumphal arches. Fed from the capital with every luxury and distinction, it included temples in which the inhabitants were encouraged to make costly sacrifices. The city of Pompeii was nearly ruined by earthquake in A. D. 63, but it had returned to its former gayety and licentiousness when in 79 it was overwhelmed by the ashes of Vesuvius.

Sensation Oats

My new Sensation Oats are noted for their rapid and vigorous growth and early maturity. They mature so early that the rust does not affect them. They yield from 60 to 100 bushels per acre on ordinary land. They are a white oat, grains large and plump, with thin hull, often running overweight 6 to 10 pounds. When you sow my new Sensation Oats you have an insurance policy on your crop, one that insures you against early drought, rust or blight; one that always insures you a good crop. They grow medium height, strong stiff straw, and always stand well upon any kind of land. In short, I believe my new Sensation Oats to be the best ever introduced for earliness, enormous yielding qualities and freedom from rust and blight. One man writes from Wisconsin that he threshed 576 bushels of Sensation Oats from 5 bushels of seed. My prices make it possible for every farmer to try a few bushels of these oats. I also have Early Champion Oats, Pride of Clinton (white) Corn, Kandyke (yellow) Corn, Clover Seed, Timothy Seed, Cow Peas, Poultry Feed, Etc. Everything in field seeds. I raise all my own seed. A GREAT MONEY MAKER.

Flax One of the Best Dry Farming Crops For Western Plains.

Flax average one-half a crop in 1909 and one-third of a crop in 1910 for the United States. The crop was short in 1910 in the flax growing sections of the entire world. As early as November 1st, Chicago was forced to set flax from Argentine and Calcutta. Flax is now selling at two and a half times the ordinary price and there is not nearly enough in the world to supply even urgent demands.

Flax is one of the best dry farming crops for the plains whenever the soil in the spring is moist enough to secure rapid growth. When the soil is dry in the spring, flax is a poor crop, no matter how favorable the summer season may be.

In most sections of Western Texas, Western Oklahoma, Western Kansas and Eastern Colorado the soil is in good condition in regard to moisture and if the farmer will get good seed and thoroughly prepare the soil for it, they can probably make large profits even this year. The dry farmers of the southwest can market their crop before the crop from the regular flax growing sections is ready and should get the cream of the high price.

Flax, on the plains, will average 12 to 18 bushels an acre in a favorable season, using good seed and thorough preparation of the soil. Flax in Eastern Colorado commands a premium because of its high percentage of oil.

Preparation of Soil.
Flax demand a moist, mellow seed bed that is shallow with a firm bottom. The same kind of seed bed that yields the largest crops of wheat. Plowed ground should be compacted by rains or a subsurface packer before seeding and be well lined on the surface.

Flax is a good sod crop, yielding well if the ground is thoroughly prepared and leaves the ground in the best condition for winter wheat. Sod should be cut up lengthwise with a disc harrow and then smoothed with a spike-toothed harrow. Flax can be seeded on corn ground without plowing.

Preparation for Seed.
Bright, plump seed only should be used. There is much shrivelled and diseased seed on the market. Diseased seed sowed once will infect the farm for years and the wind carry this infection all over the neighborhood. Immediately before sowing treat all seed with 40 per cent formaldehyde. Spread the seed thinly on a floor. After the seed has been spread mix one-half ounce formaldehyde to one gallon of water for each bushel of seed. Thoroughly sprinkle the seed with one-fourth of the liquid, shoveling and mixing the seed and sprinkle again with another fourth of the liquid and mix again. Repeat until the seed has been sprinkled and mixed four times, taking care that every seed is thoroughly dampened. Quickly shovel the seed into a heap and cover with a canvas or sacks for two hours. Spread out, dry quickly and sow within 12 hours.

Seeding.
Sow after the danger of hard frost is passed, using a drill and seeding 20 pounds of seed per acre, and putting the seed one half to one inch deep. Broadcasting puts the seed in at uneven depths causing uneven growth and ripening.

Write your Agricultural College to find the nearest point where good seed can be bought.—H. M. Cottrell, Agricultural Commissioner, Rock Island Lines.

HARDY CATALPAS FOR IOWA.
That the hardy catalpa is one of the best fence post trees that can be grown in Iowa, is the conclusion reached by the Iowa Experiment Station. Eighteen year old trees that have been properly cared for will yield from 2,000 to 2,500 posts to the acre. The gross annual return per acre per year on the Iowa plantations studied varied from $10.77 to $20.24. Copies of Bulletin 120, giving complete directions for growing catalpas, can be obtained free by writing to the Iowa Experiment Station at Ames.

Percheron and Standard Horses

Bred by J. F. Roelofson, Maryville, Mo.

At the big shows last fall, including the State Fair at Sedalia, the Interstate Fair at St. Joseph, and the Great American Bred at Kansas City, I exhibited 9 head of Percherons, consisting of the great PHENIX No. 4215, 4 of his get and 4 other mares and fillies. PHENIX and his get (shown together) were NEVER DEFEATED, a fact which proves him one of the GREATEST LIVING SILES. In the open classes my 2-year-old filly was never defeated; my yearling filly was also the first prize winner at all these shows. I also won the Percheron Society Championship at St. Joseph for BEST STALLION, any age, bred and owned by exhibitor. We also won the Percheron Society Championship for mares any age at St. Joseph and at Kansas City. These championships were won by sons and daughters of PHENIX. 2 of the best bred at these shows won prizes, and I have many more equally as good, any of which are for sale, except the herd stallions. Any one in need of a good mare, filly, or young stallion will do well to visit my barn. Will state that I have also some excellent young Standard horses, including two well bred sons of CONSTANTINE 21129, any or all of which will be priced right.

LEADING IMPORTERS AND BREEDERS OF THE WEST.

Now is the time to buy draft stallions, while there are plenty to select from. Our best imported stallions sell at $2,000 to $2,500. Others as low as $1,000. The difference in these prices does not represent profit to us as there is less margin made on some of our high priced horses than on the cheaper ones. The good ones cost money, whether in Europe or America, but we are satisfied with a reasonable profit and our reputation for square dealing has resulted in an enormous business which allows us to purchase our imported and raise our home bred horses, very reasonable and thereby sell them cheaper than the average dealer. You ought to see our home bred colts and we are giving them very low just now. Come and see us. Send for our 1911 booklet.
