Chamber Banquet, Awards, New Board Members

Baird Chamber of Commerce is preparing for the new fiscal year with three new board members and a quick start for its Events Calendar.

Election results were confirmed Monday night as David Ratliff, Randy Hill and Barbara Corn were named to the Board of Directors. The board approved an election audit report indicating the three candidates were selected by the membership to begin their three-year terms beginning in October.

Four citizens will be honored at a very informal Awards Banquet on Sunday, October 16 at Baird Lake. The Howard Farmer has been presented since 1976 to individuals for outstanding long-term service and contributions to the community. A volunteer will be recognized for exceptional community service during the past year. A female and male Baird High School student will be named Students of the Year based on their accomplishments and involvement in the community.

There will be entertainment and children's activities at the picnic-style event with serving beginning at 1 p.m. Tickets available at the site will be priced at $8 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. The meal will include fried catfish, sausage-shrimp gumbo, rice, bread, tea and dessert. Everyone is encouraged to bring lawn chairs, blankets or card tables and enjoy an afternoon at the lake.

The Chamber has designated a portion of the afternoon's proceeds to assist with improvements at the lake.

Wright Elevated To Chief Justice

Gov. Rick Perry on Tuesday promoted Jim Wright of Eastland County to Chief Justice of the 11th Court of Appeals.

Wright will fill the vacancy created in July by the resignation of Chief Justice Bud Arnot of Abilene. To fill Wright's former seat on the three-member court, Perry announced Monday that he appointed Rick Strange, 45, a Midland lawyer and Hardin-Simmons University graduate. Terry McCall of Comanche is the other justice on the appeals court based in Eastland. All three are Republicans.

Eastland Native and 11th Court of Appeals Justice Jim Wright has announced that he will seek appointment to the position of Chief Justice of the Court, made vacant this week by the resignation of Chief Justice Bud Arnot who has announced that he will join a Houston law firm.

Justice Wright stated that he was seeking to be appointed to complete the term which ends at the end of this year, and then he will be a candidate for election for a full term as Chief Justice.

"I feel that it is important," he said, "to maintain the momentum that this Court has attained through its modern and efficient disposition of cases. I believe that Justice Terry McCall (the third Judge on the Court) and I and who ever Governor Perry appoints to fill my unexpired term will be able to maintain the efficient manner in which the Court conducts its business.

The 11th Court of Appeals has an enviable reputation among the Appellate Courts of Texas for having its decisions upheld by the High Court.

Justice Wright further stated that he believes that a smooth transition at this time is absolutely necessary to help insure the continuance of the Court in Eastland where it has been historically established and maintained.

Baird Bike-A-Thon To Be Held October 8th

Plans are coming together for the Baird "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon scheduled Saturday, October 8, according to Ruth Fisher, event coordinator.

The fundraiser for St. Jude's Research Hospital will begin at 8:30 a.m. Children ages 10 and under will ride in a designated area at the Methodist Church on Hwy 283 north. Riders ages 11 and older will follow a route on the north service road west of the I-20 entrance ramp. The older group will check in at the parking lot west of the Baird Motor Inn.

Mrs. Fisher said everyone is encouraged to support the effort to raise funds for this charity as it is an internationally recognized research hospital that has benefited local people in the past. St. Jude sponsors local efforts like the Baird ride to help provide funds needed for the treatment and cure of catastrophic diseases in children.

Mrs. Fisher said Callahan County Judge Roger Corn will lead the ride and the Danny Lewis Family will serve as the "model family". She said everyone is encouraged to pick up a form and begin signing up sponsors.

Sponsors pledge 25 cents, 50 cents or more per mile, or a flat donation of $5, $10, or more for their bikers ride. For the safety and convenience of the rider, St. Jude requests that sponsors make their donation by check instead of cash. The tax-deductible contribution should be made payable to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

There are prizes for participant riders. Riders collecting $75 or more will receive a sports bag, T-shirt, and certificate or a sweatshirt and certificate. Riders collecting $35 will receive a T-shirt and certificate. The participant turning in the most money over $125 will receive a superslim portable CD player. Everyone turning in money will receive a certificate.

To participate in the Baird ride or for more information please call Mrs. Fisher at 854-1323 or the Chamber of Commerce at 854-2003. Forms are available from Mrs. Fisher and at the Chamber office, City Hall.

Category 3 Hurricane Rita slams Texas-Louisiana border

By Ed Sterling
AUSTIN - Up to 3 million people fled from coastal areas as Hurricane Rita lumbered steadily through the Gulf of Mexico toward the Lone Star State, Sept. 19-23.

Rita struck Saturday morning, Sept. 24, making landfall at Sabine Pass near the Louisiana border. The storm's 100-mph winds and torrential rains ripped buildings, downed powerlines and flooded homes and other property.

Some storm damage estimates reached $20 billion. Hardest hit were Jefferson, Orange, Jasper and Newton counties, but damage assessments are still in progress. In advance of the storm, Gov. Rick Perry recalled the Texas National Guard and other state emergency teams deployed out of state in response to Hurricane Katrina, which struck Aug. 29.

Coastal county dwellers and Galveston Islanders in particular packed up and headed inland after Perry called for voluntary evacuation on Sept. 21.

On Sept. 22, President George W. Bush declared a state of emergency for all of Texas, and mandatory evacuation orders were issued.

Evacuees joined snail-like highway processions toward the interior of Texas and beyond.

Relief agencies converted school gymnasiums into shelters. Officials canceled, postponed or rescheduled high school football games and community activities.

Stores sold out of bottled water; hotels and motels filled up; and inland kin and friends took in their coastal kin and friends. Attorney General Greg Abbott said his attorneys and investigators stood ready to lower the boom on unscrupulous businesses, con artists and bogus charity workers who exploit victims and others.

Lawmakers to leave or shuffle

Certain members of the Texas Legislature have signified their intent not to run for re-election in 2006.

Those include Reps. Peggy Hamric, R-Houston, Suzanna Hupp, R-Lampasas, Bob Griggs, R-North Richland Hills, Terry Keel, R-Austin, Joe Nixon, R-Houston, Richard Raymond, D-Laredo, and Jim Solis, D-Harlingen.

Three members of the Texas Senate also will not return after their present terms expire. Those include Sens. Todd Staples, R-Palestine, Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, and John Lindsay, R-Houston.

Raymond has announced that he will challenge Henry Cuellar, an incumbent Democrat, for U.S. Congressional District 28.

Hamric and Nixon expect to compete in the GOP primary for Lindsay's Senate seat; Keel plans to run for a seat on the state's 3rd Court of Appeals; and Staples is running for commissioner of agriculture.

Sharp to head tax reform panel Gov. Perry announced his intention to appoint a bipartisan panel to pick apart the state's tax system and find areas that could benefit from reform.

Perry, a Republican, asked former state comptroller John Sharp, a Democrat, to chair the panel. Sharp accepted.

The panel will travel around the state to collect input from a broad spectrum of Texans.

School funding ruling anticipated

The Texas Supreme Court had not ruled as of Sept. 23 on the state's appeal of a lawsuit by more than 300 school districts that claim the state's way of funding public education is unconstitutional.

A year ago, a lower court ruling found in favor of the plaintiffs. When the state Legislature failed to solve school funding and the related issue of property tax reform, the state appealed. Oral arguments were heard July 6.

Anti-violence grants awarded

Gov. Perry announced $6.8 million in grants to combat violent crimes against women and to render services to victims.

The grants will go to 100 programs across Texas under the STOP Violence Against Women Act and will be distributed by the governor's criminal justice division.

Big Tex expects big draw at Fair

The 2005 State Fair of Texas will open Sept. 30 at historic Fair Park in Dallas.

More than 3 million people are expected to attend the extravaganza that will continue through Oct. 23. Exhibit hours are 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. daily.

Kickoff for the Texas-OU football game is scheduled for noon on Oct. 8.

Making A Difference

By Rex M. Rogers

Is Cartoon Violence Supplying What We Want?

For some time now I have become increasingly concerned about the amount of violence shown in children's cartoons and now also computer games. I know that makes me sound like a prude, but I'm not talking about punching and slapstick comedy. I'm talking about murder, grotesque creatures whose very appearance and names are designed to recall violence, combat which is vicious and bloody, and "bad guys" who are the heroes not the villain of the story.

So what should we think about all this? First of all, I do not believe that government, Hollywood producers, or computer game companies should somehow be regulated or restricted. Such censorship does not work and is dangerous to our civil liberties.

I prefer to think of this as an example of free enterprise. People produce what sells. What sells is what we the American people want. We want what our values lead us to want. If our moral values are suspect, our wants will be suspect. In recent years, we've wanted more violent cartoons and computer games, just like we've wanted more violent movies and TV shows. We're getting what we asked for.

The cartoons, computer games, movies, and TV shows will change for the better only when our values change for the better. For Christians this means that we must exercise great discernment when we buy or watch anything and especially when we let our children buy and watch. We want to reinforce our biblical mind-set, not tear it down.

This also means that Christians need to work for moral change in our society. In God's providence, we can change the future. It starts in peoples' hearts, in the family and in the church.

About Your Heart And Physical Activity

Lack of physical activity is a risk factor for heart disease. That's why it's important to realize that not only is exercise fun, it's good for your health.

Physical activity is more than jumping jacks and deep knee bends — it includes any activity from roller skating to dancing. And if you're fit, you can exercise longer and with less effort than a person who is not in good condition. Physical activity also may be an effective outlet for tension and stress.

Regular physical activity helps you feel better, look good, and can improve your overall sense of well being. It can increase your physical strength and stamina. Proper exercise also can improve your circulation and the performance of your heart and lungs.

Increase Cardiovascular Fitness

Your heart, like any other muscle in your body, gets stronger with regular exercise. The right kind of exercise increases cardiovascular fitness by improving blood circulation throughout your body. Cardiovascular fitness allows you to exercise vigorously for long periods of time with less tiring.

Exercise that promotes cardiovascular fitness improves your body's circulation to help your heart, lungs and other organs work together more efficiently. Cardiovascular fitness also helps you meet physical and emotional demands more readily.

Cardiovascular fitness may help reduce the risk of heart disease. A strong heart does not have to work as hard to circulate the blood through the body because it can pump more efficiently with each beat. It's impossible to prove you will live longer or never have a heart attack if you're in good physical condition. But cardiovascular fitness helps you feel better and can improve the quality of your life.

Types of Exercise

Dynamic or aerobic activity involves large muscle groups engaged in rhythmic, repeated movements. Examples of aerobic activities include jogging, brisk walking, swimming, bicycling and jumping rope. Such endurance type of activities depend mainly on energy derived from the consumption of oxygen (aerobic). Thus they increase the body's need for oxygen. Because blood delivers oxygen to the body, aerobic activity challenges the heart and circulatory system to meet this increased need.

Choose an Exercise Program

Choose activities in which you enjoy, you either have some skill and ability or you're interested in learning. By concentrating on one activity, you will improve your skill and endurance more rapidly.

Singers and Salvation Army say Thank You--Major James Parrish of the Salvation Army and the members of the Redeemed Gospel Singing Group join to express appreciation.

Gospel Concert Nets Cash For Disaster Relief

The Katrina Disaster Benefit Gospel Concert was an amazing success. The Redeemed of Eastland, sponsor, wants to say thanks to everyone who came and donated and enjoyed the singing. If not for them we would not have had such success and everyone in Eastland that helped pull this together. Special thanks goes to V.C. Redi Quick, Majestic Theater, TXOL, Internet, Eastland Telegram, and radio stations. You all played a major part, also Rev. W.S. Fielding, Chad Gosnell and every group that took time to come and entertain and do such a beautiful job. Loretta Key as Eastland Co. Representative counted and announced the total donation of $1907.01 and by the time you beautiful people finished afterwards, we had $1995.01 donated and we finished it up to $2000.00. Five hundred went to Cisco Church of Christ Camp grounds and $1500.00 went to Salvation Army for them to place where most needed. Again thanks to everyone that helped make this benefit be such a success. Redeemed 325-518-8792

Man Sentenced To Prison For Four Years

Jimmy Leon Gates, 32, formerly of Rising Star, Texas, is now an inmate awaiting transfer to state prison to serve a (4) four year sentence for the felony offense Escape.

On May 16, 2005, the Rising Star Chief of Police was on patrol when he spotted a man whom he knew to have an existing parole violation warrant. After confirming a warrant existed, the Chief attempted to arrest Gates, a struggle ensued and Gates escaped. He was later apprehended and indicted by an Eastland County Grand Jury for Escape, a third degree felony. The Honorable Judge Steven Herod of the 91st Judicial District Court sentenced Gates who still awaits a hearing on his parole violation. Eastland attorney Paul Lewallen represented Gates at trial.

Kokomo News

By Zelda Jordan

Our hearts ache for those who live in the path of destruction left by hurricanes Katrina and Rita. May we help them with our prayers, money donations and any way we can.

The special music at the Kokomo Baptist Church on Sunday morning was rendered by Kay Snider and little granddaughter, Rachel Snider, Norma Webb, Aletha Burgess, Leona Wilson, Ruby Lee Kinser, Oren Webb, Thomas Seay, Joe Bond and Woodrow Browning with Helen Browning at the piano. Kelly and Tina Buchanan of West Columbia were visitors. "Happy Birthday" was sung to LaVon Snider.

Joe and Glynda Bond met Stephanie, Raegan and Sydnie Bond of Copperas Cove in Goldthwaite on Wednesday and Raegan and Sydnie returned home with them for a visit. Their dad, Shannon Bond came on Thursday for a visit with Joe, Glynda and the girls and they went home on Saturday. While here, Shannon did some dove hunting.

Woodrow and Helen Browning visited on Friday and Saturday in Graham with Gary, Rebecca and Emily Browning and Gary, Donna, Leslie, Melanie and Garrett Gatlin.

Kelly and Tina Buchanan of West Columbia have been visiting for a few days with his mother, Sylvia Buchanan, and his grandmother, Nancy Hendricks. Kelly and Tina were among the many evacuees from the Texas coast and it took them many hours to come to Kokomo from West Columbia. Nancy Hendricks and Doris Bradshaw of Gorman enjoyed lunch with Sylvia, Kelly and Tina on Sunday. Kelly and Tina also visited with her parents, Charles and Maveline Sesson in Stephenville. Kelly also enjoyed a time of fishing while here.

Recently LaVon Snider ate supper with Ted and Charlotte Snider. Later in the week, Susan Wheat of Ranger invited her mother, Charlotte Snider and LaVon to meet her for lunch in Gorman. One day last week LaVon ate lunch in Stephenville with Dwayne and Connie Snider.

On Sunday, Dan Snider treated LaVon to a birthday dinner from him, Dianne and Sandra.

Those visiting with LaVon were Gene and Dan Snider; Belinda, Audri, Ella, Belle, and Isaac Segura of Gorman.

LaVon learned of the death of Mary Garth, sister-in-law, of her deceased uncle, Winsford Jumper. LaVon requests prayer for all the Wherry Family, many of whom will be trying to get back home to Houston to plan and attend Mary's funeral. We extend sincere sympathy to this family.

The Idle American

Commentary By Dr. Don Newbury

A New Friend On Life's Highway...

The newspaper editor has a front-page smile—the kind that merits running upper right, the space usually reserved for the biggest headlines. To capture it, a wide-angle camera is a "must," and even then it'll splash over to page two.

The smile adorns the face of Sammie Carter, who started writing for the Wallace, NC, Enterprise, some 53 years ago, while still in high school. She has edited the twice-a-week publication most of that time, as well as three other area weekly newspapers—The Richlands-Beulaville Advertiser-News, The Pender Chronicle and The Warsaw-Faison News. Clearly, she is still going strong....

Sammie was easy to spot. I walked into her office without appointment, expecting nothing more than a perfunctory welcome—if that.

But that's not what I got. She ended a phone conversation and turned her wheelchair toward me in one motion. Then she flashed that "front-page kind of smile." I couldn't have been more surprised if she had broken into song—"If I'da known you were coming, I'da baked a cake."

It occurred to me that she perhaps thought I was from the Publishers' Clearing-house Sweepstakes, in town to hand her the check....

Within minutes I realized that material goods mean little to this woman. She gets excited about taking her next breath, about meeting—and beating—deadlines, and about simply meeting new friends.

Sammie was stricken by polio during her mid-teen years. Though a wheelchair is a necessity now, she views the disease as a mere inconvenience—if that. Others may choose the "why me" path, but not Sammie. If she ever makes lemonade, someone else will have to furnish the lemons. She recalls no such harvest on her tree of life....

"No, honey, you'll have to turn in your rental car over at the other Enterprise office," she laughed as she ended a phone conversation. "At this Enterprise, we publish newspapers."

She said they get such calls multiple times each month. Some car renters race in, leave keys on the counter, and rush out before learning that they're at the wrong Enterprise! Luckily, people at the "two Enterprises" get along mighty well. And when people try to subscribe for the newspaper at the car rental place,

Thursday, September 29, 2005

they're sent on down to the other Enterprise....

I'm highly in favor of regional accents, and I nominate Mrs. Carter to represent the South. She speaks with an unhurried gait; words fall slowly from her lips like molasses, embroidered with blossoms of magnolia, crepe myrtle and azaleas.

"Honey" creeps into many of her sentences, and her grip on "talkin' southern" is locked up. I was caught up in the warmth of a genuine welcome at the Enterprise....

Sammie quickly turned to the joys of her life. Loved ones come first, of course, including hubby Gene, whom she married 43 years ago. There's also daughter Clarice, and grandson Jonathan, associates at work, and a community she cherishes.

And then there's the Red Hat Society. Her local chapter is the Late Blooming Roses; sometimes called the "Red Hots." (It's a national organization for women over 50 years of age, with almost a million members in more than 30,000 chapters across the land....)

She joked about an organization with no rules, except the singular requirement of wearing red and purple. Sammie handed me a photograph made at a "Red Hat" function.

Sure enough, there she was in a long red formal, punctuated by purple trim. And at her side was her husband, decked out in a purple suit with red tie. She's so excited about HIS being a member of the Red Hat Society, too....

"The other red-hatters go on and on about our dancing," Sammie chimed. "He's such a good dancer, and has perfect timing when he wheels me around."

Hesitant to ask if they were "on a roll," I questioned whether his "membership" in the Red Hat Society was by unanimous vote.

"Oh, honey, we don't ever get around to voting on anything in the Red Hat Society," she laughed....

We visited for the better part of an hour. Finally, I climbed into the rental car and made my way to the interstate, en route to Wilmington.

A speaking engagement took me to North Carolina. And a per chance stop in Wallace, NC (pop.: 3,496) provides the sweetest memory. Who among us cannot use another friend? One who claims that age is just a number, and hers is unlisted....
