STEERS STEADY SALE

SUPPLY MODERATE AND SEASONABLE CLEARANCE EFFECTED—NOTHING PRIME HERE.

MANY PLAIN WESTERNS

Hard Fleshed, Weighty Range Beefs Very Scarce—Cows and Heifers Steady to Strong—Stockers Active.

No appreciable change was shown today in beef cattle trade and for the moderate mid-week supply outlet was found at prices substantially the same as were in force on the previous day.

Western steers, which formed the greater percentage of the beef supply, sold comparatively freely at prices generally on a parity with the previous days.

STOCKERS AND FEEDERS.

While no quotable change in prices as compared with yesterday was apparent in today's clearance of stocker and feeder cattle, trade displayed a decidedly better tone which was refreshing after the extreme dullness noted the previous sessions of the week.

HOGS DOWN AGAIN

MARKET UNDER BEARISH PRESSURE AND VALUES SHRINK 5 TO 10 CENTS.

MOST LOSS ON LIGHT STUFF

Good Hogs Figure in a Nickel Reduction Generally, Others Off 5@10c—Bulk of Sales $6.25@6.40—Top $6.50.

Packers continued the bear campaign about where they left off yesterday and a reduction of live pork prices was enforced at all points.

Receipts, both here and at outside centers, showed a substantial gain over the corresponding day a week and ago and this gave buyers an advantage they were able to use as a leverage to reduce cost of their droves.

The local supply figured in the neighborhood of 5,500 head, while the five markets had 58,000 hogs in the aggregate. Demands for concessions were made right from the start, and were forthcoming before any business was transacted.

RANGERS—NATIVE DIVISION.

About forty loads comprised the ranger delegation at this point today and bulk of the supply was in steers, including several large strings from the Kansas grazing grounds.

The trade in steers was in very fair condition with prices holding fully steady with the previous day and the movement sufficiently active to furnish a seasonable clearance on this basis.

Today's supply of fresh mutton was a decided surprise to the trade in general. Receipts were estimated at 2,100, consisting of 6 cars of Idaho lambs and two decks of mixed natives.

Only two decks of natives arrived for the early market and packers quickly grabbed these up at prices fully steady with yesterday.

HOGS AND CHILDREN.

An exchange has the following item: Two old-time hog men were discussing the all important question of how to raise hogs best.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Cow That Scared a Bulldog

Daddy Tried to Scare Old Betsey

"MR. ROBINSON was cross today," said Jack, "because Shepette chased his cow."

"The dog's name was Dandy. He was a petted bulldog, and when his folks went to the country from the city apartment in which they had been living and Dandy had a big yard in which he could run, he almost went wild."

"There was a meadow across from Dandy's house, a meadow fenced in with wire to keep cattle from straying, but under which a dog could easily run."

"The cow was not feeling very cheerful. It was said she had just been taken away from a beloved calf, and her howling, added to Dandy's barking, kept the neighborhood lively all day."

"Dandy's mistress knew what was about to happen, and she called imploringly to her dog. Dandy tossed a bark to her over his shoulder."

Gem shellac dissolved in alcohol makes a thin varnish which is applied with a small brush. Ten cents worth of shellac is enough, also enough alcohol to make it thin. This will lacquer a brass bed, can be done in less than an hour, and will come out as pretty as if sent to the factory to be done, and is cheaper.

PEACH BUTTER.

Take pound for pound of peaches and sugar; cook peaches alone until they become soft then put in one-half the sugar, and stir for one-half hour; then the remainder of sugar, and stir an hour and a half. Season with cloves and cinnamon.

BEATS LION IN RACE.

Man Thinks He Owes Victory to Fact That Beast Had Just Dined.

San Bernardino, Cal., Oct. 10.—Arthur Himes, while tramping along from Big Meadows to Bear Valley, managed to force a weak mountain lion, the first sighted in a year in the San Bernardino mountains.

The beast was devouring the carcass of a deer near the trail, when Himes suddenly came upon it as he rounded a turn in the path.

The animal had heard the approach of the man, and it was crouched ready to spring when Himes saw it. Armed only with a 32 caliber revolver, he decided that safety lay only in flight, and he fled for his life, with the beast following behind him.

Himes believes that had not the lion made a meal on the deer he would have been killed to satisfy the hunger of the beast.

The animal followed him for a mile before it dropped behind him and disappeared in the undergrowth.

CATTLE MEETING CALLED.

National Cattlemen's Association to Convene in San Antonio, Nov. 10.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 11.—Secretary Henry M. Taylor of the National Cattlemen's Association, has called a meeting to be held November 10 at the Chamber of Commerce of this city.

"To inaugurate measures for the benefit of beef producers and consumers," Secretary Taylor says it is the intention of the Association to hold similar meetings in Laredo next February, in Fort Worth during the Feeders and Breeders' show next March; and still later, in St. Louis.

"Whose public spirited citizens have been discovered in the development of the cattle industry, and have co-operated with officers of the association in efforts to promote prosperity."

In calling the meeting, Secretary Taylor says: "Population is increasing faster than the supply of cattle, which is being curtailed by the influx of settlers on cattle ranges and the constantly increasing price of land and cost of grass and feed. It is vitally important for the welfare of the producer of the continent that beef producers and consumers should unite in sustaining the International Cattlemen's Association in its effort to eliminate the toll gates on beef between the ranch and table, so that producers can obtain remunerative prices for their cattle and consumers get wholesale beef at the least possible cost, based on the law of supply and demand."

ONION AN ARISTOCRAT. San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 11.—Onion growers of Southwest Texas may be expected to "put on airs" since a writer in Harper's Weekly has discovered that the onion comes out of an aristocratic family, being own cousin to the stately lily, also related to the daffodil and narcissus and allied to the gigantic dragon tree of Tenerife. An alarming increase in the number of house robberies and burglaries is noted in Great Britain in the past two years.

FINDS AZTECS' IDOL

Stone Man Dug Up at Durango, Colo., Shows Signs of Art.

Renewed Activity in Explorations of New Mexico Ruins Leads to Discovery of Mummy of Extinct Race.

Durango, Colo.—A renewed activity in the explorations of the Aztec ruins located in the vicinity of Aztec, N. M., by the residents of Aztec and Durango has resulted over the discovery of either a stone idol or a mummy of the extinct Aztec race by George Garlinghouse of this city, who has brought to light a relic of prehistoric ages and aroused the curiosity of antiquarians and archaeologists of this section.

The discovery was made by Mr. Garlinghouse in an arroyo 30 miles southwest of Aztec and had been partly uncovered by the recent rains. It either had been buried 30 feet underground or else the ground had been washed over it to that depth. The finder insists on calling it a stone man, but is cautious of displaying it, not allowing anyone to take a picture of it or to make a thorough investigation of it.

In form it is similar to a prehistoric man, being about four and a half feet tall, but abnormally wide through the body in proportion to its height. Its thickness the body is only about five inches through and when found one of the legs was broken off at the knee. While being unearthed the finder broke off the head and the other leg, but in its entirety the image is in a well-preserved condition.

The stone man or mummy gives every indication of being the means of learning something concerning an extinct race. It appears to have been an idol sculptured from a hard sandstone which is found in abundance near the ruins, and it seems to have been a part of a bas-relief in the early ages. The shoulders and arms form a concentric arc from the neck to the hands with the face inclined to the left. The sculptural work displays fine art, every little detail of a man being clearly brought out, and may be possible that the extinct race of Aztecs may have been sculptors of no mean extent.

The curiosity of the people of this section has been aroused to such an extent that exploring parties are being formed to probe the ruins thoroughly in anticipation of more results. This is the first discovery of its kind ever made in the ruins, and so rare is the specimen brought to light that the finder, Mr. Garlinghouse, is corresponding with the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, with the view of its being placed in that mecca of science and history. In the past scientists have explored the ruins but have never been rewarded with anything but pottery and small articles—nothing to explain the mode of living of the extinct race.

The one peculiar phase of the unknown history is that hundreds of years ago the Aztec race suddenly disappeared and no scientist has ever been able to decipher where they went or much of their history. A thorough exploration of the ruins at this time may result in discovering a great deal of historic information.

RESORT FOR TIRED HORSES

Owners Desiring to Give Animals Rest May Send Them There Without Charge—Run by Women.

New York.—Mountain Rest farm, a summer home for horses, has been opened under the direction of the New York Women's League of Animals. This farm is for the purpose of aiding owners who desire to give their animals a holiday, but are unable to afford the expense of boarding them in the country.

Horses will be received at the farm and, at any time, hauled to the stables at any time, upon request of their owners, will be returned, recuperated and better able to go on with their work.

Owners of old horses who wish to retire them (not desiring to destroy them) may turn their charges over to the farm, and be assured of good care for the animals and plenty to eat so long as the veterans live.

There is no fee required for the care of the horses. The owners are under no expense further than the transportation charges.

Queer Freak of Lightning.

Mansfield Center, Conn.—A bolt of lightning threw itself into the hip pocket of Joseph Barrow, a farmer, as he was sitting in the kitchen of his home here. The bolt came into the house via the stove pipe and was attracted to Barrow's hip pocket by the presence there of an iron monkey wrench and a big jackknife. It passed down his leg, burning him severely, and then careened over the floor, upsetting a tub of water and splitting a huge chopping block. In Barrow's pocket the end of the wrench and the blade of the knife were fused into a solid piece of steel.

Lightning Shocks Many.

Dunkirk, N. Y.—Eight persons who were examining photographs at the home of E. H. Ditcher at Fredonia, were close to death when lightning shot down the chimney. A ball of fire erupted the room several times, leaving a charred course in the wall paper and tearing the plaster off the walls. It passed out an open door, shattering a tree in the yard. All in the house suffered from shock.

10,000 DAYS IN A SCHOOL

Three Pennsylvania Children Have Most Unusual Sunday School Record—Never Missed a Session.

Philadelphia.—Three children of William M. Smith of 106 South Sixth street, Darby, have respective records of 4,000, 2,800 and 2,400 days of school attendance without a single day's absence. These same children have attended Sunday school for ten, seven and six years respectively without a Sunday's absence.

Out in Germantown three sons of Henry F. Doernbach of 456 East Tulpehocken street have attended Sunday school for eighteen successive years without missing a session. The father of the children who hold Darby's attendance record is a former policeman. He served twenty-four years and was off duty only three minutes.

His son, Robert M., has completed ten school terms and has neither an absence nor a tardy mark against him. His younger brother, who will enter the eighth grade next year, and his sister, Mabel, are the other record holders in this family. Elmer has attended seven years and Mabel six.

These three attend the Sunday school of the Church of St. James of Kingsessing, where their perfect records have been maintained. Once Robert broke his arm, and at another time Elmer suffered a similar accident. But after surgeons had placed the fractured bones in splints, the two lads started off to the school house. They said they wouldn't stay out of school on account of a little thing like a broken arm.

The mother of these three children says the average mother is too willing to excuse her child from school on account of slight and petty illnesses. Just the same, she says her children have been unusually healthy and strong, and to this fact is due the remarkable record of the family.

Eighteen years of Sundays, every one of them spent in Sunday school, is a Germantown family's record. The three men are Stanley B., Elwood B. and H. Warren Doernbach. They attend the Union Methodist Episcopal Sunday school, Diamond street near Twentieth. Stanley B. is superintendent and H. Warren is recorder of this school.

A year ago Elwood B. went to Buffalo, N. Y., to reside. He found a Sunday school as soon as he reached the city and has kept up his record of attendance.

INDUSTRY OF NEW ZEALAND

Most Important Is That of Sheep Raising for Which Country Is Most Admirably Adapted.

Auckland, N. Z.—The most important industry of New Zealand is that of sheep raising, for which the country is admirably adapted, thanks to the equable climate, the regularity of the seasons, the uniform fall of rain, and the suitability of the soil for growing of nutritious grasses, turnips, rape, and other feed especially suited for sheep.

In 1910 New Zealand exported wool to the value of $40,378,873 as against $39,646,618 in 1909; frozen, preserved, and cured meat, chiefly mutton and lamb, $19,569,884 in 1910, and $18,201,331 in 1909; tallow, $3,674,233 in 1910, and $3,155,151 in 1909; sheepskins, $3,602,519 in 1910, and $3,326,698 in 1909.

The last returns (1910) showed a total of 24,269,620 sheep, including 12,917,662 in the North Island, and 11,351,958 in the South Island. During the year 1909 the total production of wool was estimated at 192,822,002 pounds, of which 5,292,821 pounds were purchased by local mills and 187,529,181 pounds exported. The percentage of greasy wool exported in 1909 was 82.40, of scoured and slipped wool 17.09, and washed wool 0.51.

LARGEST BAKERY IN WORLD

Located at Essen, Prussia, Famed as Home of Great Krupp Gun Factory—Men Must Keep Clean.

Essen, Prussia.—The largest bakery in the world is located here. Essen is also famed as the home of the great Krupp gun factory. The bakery is a vast building in which seventy workmen, divided into two shifts, work night and day. Everything is done by machinery, which makes 40,000 pounds of bread every day. There are thirty-six double ovens, and the workmen who watch over the baking of the bread earn from 8 to 10 cents per hour, making an average of about 95 cents per eleven-hour day. They have coffee and bread free. They are required to keep themselves spotlessly clean and are given the use of fine bath rooms, also free. They are also required to wash their hands at least eight times each day.

Mistake Snake for Whip. Hartford, Conn.—George Deady, a farm hand living in Wilsonville, had a hot time the other day and he faintly dead away from fright. Deady picked up what he thought was the tip of a horse whip in the grass beside the road, only to find that the horse whip was alive. It proved to be a black snake. It wound around Deady's arm and poked its head in Deady's face and grinned at him.

Deady let out a yell that could be heard all over Wilsonville and ran to Henry Pearl and implored him to pull the snake off his arm. Pearl refused to meddle, saying he was no snake charmer, whereupon Deady fainted in the road. Pearl says the snake then uncoiled and wriggled off into the bushes. It was about five feet long.

LADY'S FOOT LARGER

London Shoemakers Have Known This for Some Time.

Day of Narrow, Pointed Shoe Has Passed and This Is Declared to Be Factor in Increased Size.

London.—That the women of the present generation have larger feet than their mothers had, which, according to cabled dispatches, was the unanimous finding of the National Conference of American Shoe Manufacturers, came as something of a surprise to society women, but not to their shoemakers. They have known it for a long time, but kept a discreet silence on the question. Now that the truth is out they are not loath to admit it.

The managers of Messrs. Seadon Brothers, shoemakers to the king and royal family in King street, St. James', said: "Yes, it is quite true that women are wearing bigger shoes nowadays, and that it is easily accounted for. The modern girl is much taller than her mother or grandmother was. That is the result of the athletic exercises, the out-door sports and generally healthier life she leads. See the women who are our customers. They all belong to the upper classes, and they are all tall. You cannot expect a tall woman to wear a small shoe. The day of the 2's and 3's in shoes is gone, and I should say that 4's are more generally used for small women, while tall women wear shoes that run up to 7 and 9."

"Let me put it in another way. If you examine the feet of a domestic servant you will note that, as a rule, they are broad, the natural result of the amount of foot work she has to do. So it has become with the modern girl. She does so much exercise on foot that naturally her feet have grown larger—she requires more comfortable shoes—and our women will no longer buy a shoe that has the least tendency to pinch."

Francis Bauer of 40 and 41 Burlington arcade is another shoemaker whose chief business is supplying footwear to English society women. He and his woman assistant showed much interest in the subject, and they agreed that the statement made at the American convention was correct, the latter remarking: "My experience is that the English women's feet are bigger than the feet of American women. We do not stock anything less than 4's, because they are not wanted now. Indeed, young women of eighteen to twenty-five years take sizes of 6 and 7, whereas their mothers wore as small as 2 and 3. But it does not follow that because the girl of today is taller and bigger than her ancestors and her feet are larger and developed by the amount of outdoor exercise in which she indulges, that they are less beautiful. On the contrary, the feet of the present-day girl are more symmetrical than they used to be. We have a customer who wears 7's and her feet are really beautiful. Another wears 9's and her feet are absolutely perfect in shape."

J. C. Hitchcock, manager of the Walkover Shoe company, the American firm, in Regent street, agreed on all the points referred to as to the size of women's footwear. "My experience," he said, "is that the woman of today is becoming more sensible in regard to her footwear. Unlike the woman of yesterday, who did not care if a shoe pinched if it looked small and neat, the woman of today insists on comfort. And she gets neatness as well. That is what the American manufacturer has done for women. It is not so much the custom for women to come and say they wear such and such a size. They leave the matter to us and they go away satisfied with a comfortable and neat shoe."

The manager of the American Shoe company, 169 Regent street, said: "Most of our business is in large sizes. The 2's and the 3's of even five years ago are seldom, if ever, required. Of course the make of the shoes has greatly improved. With short ramps and the Improved Cuban heel, we can make 7's look as small as 5's. In fact, all sizes now look two sizes smaller than formerly. That explains a great deal. The making of shoes has become a fine art, mainly due to the improvements effected by American makers, whose methods and style are being copied by both English and French makers. The day of the narrow pointed French shoe has gone and comfort, combined with neatness, is insisted upon."

Finally Shaves His Beard. Connecticut Man of 91 Gets Whiskers Cut as Result of Vow Made in His Boyhood Days.

Saybrook, Conn.—Stepping into a barber shop here the other night, Joseph Pendleton, 91 years old, whose face the oldest inhabitant does not recall having seen, for the reason that it has always been hidden by whiskers of luxuriant growth, seated himself in a chair, and said: "Take 'em off."

The barber, surprised, hesitated, but Pendleton continued the command, saying: "I have kept my vow. The bridge is finished."

In his boyhood Pendleton vowed never to let razor or shears touch his face until a bridge was built over the Connecticut river opposite his home. The other day the Old Lyme bridge, which exactly meets Pendleton's requirements, was dedicated and thrown to the public after an expenditure of nearly $1,000,000 for construction.

HE KNOWS BEAR LINGO? Californian to Show Harvard How to Rule Animals by Voice.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 11.—Charles Kellogg, of California, who can talk to bears so that they will understand what he is saying, is in Boston.

To the scientists of Harvard he will show what a man who has lived among birds and animals all his life in the wilds can do with his voice.

Mr. Kellogg has just returned from Paris, where he showed the scientists of the French capital what he could do with his voice, imitating rattlesnakes and animals. A year ago he "talked bear" to a mother grizzly and three cubs in the California Sierras
