PACKERS WILL NEED HOGS SOON

Chicago Live Stock World: Stocks of provisions in packers' cellars are growing beautifully less. By the time the regular packing season begins the big killers will be in the humor to accumulate. During October there was a big shrinkage in the meat piles here and at other packing points.

LOSSES FROM CHOLERA GREAT.

Losses from hog cholera this fall have been enormous and both the old fashioned and the more modern remedies have proven ineffectual in checking the disease. This has naturally had a tendency to discourage hog production and farmers have shown a disposition to get rid of their herds as quickly as possible rather than run the risk of losing them.

THE FARMERS' BUSY TIME.

Corn husking is on, and it is the busiest time of the year for farmers. It is a fortunate situation if there are not a half dozen little odds and ends of fall work on the farm that have not been finished, but which have been put off until the corn is out.

UNCLE SAM TO PROTECT BIRDS.

Senator George P. McLean of Connecticut says he will, in the approaching session of congress, press to enactment a bill to invent wanton bird slaughter which he introduced a few months ago. Political questions of many sorts were at the front at that time and prevented the consideration of his measure.

There seems to be some ground for this confidence. Societies for bird protection are increasing in number Arkansas Growers to Ask State Aid in Battling Pest. Bentonville, Ark., Nov. 11.—Arkansas' vast peach and apple orchards are to be protected from the deadly San Jose scale if it requires that legislature and courts to do it. This was decided upon at a largely attended meeting here. For several years the scale has been making inroads into the horticultural industry in the northwestern part of the state and little effort has been expended to combat with the pest. Prof. Ernest Walker of the State University has been diligently striving to arouse sufficient interest to avert disaster and the mass meeting was the outcome of his efforts.

ARKANSAS FARMS RICH

CLAIM REMARKABLE PRODUCTION IN TEN-YEAR SERIES OF CROPS.

VALUES GREATLY INCREASED

State Said to Have Largest Saw Mill and Greatest Fruit Distillery in the World.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 12.—A good deal of boosting for Arkansas is being done, much of which is only appropriate for special publications, but out of it all some matters can be selected which are of general interest to the country at large. The Holman Real Estate Company recently issued a very attractive booklet entitled "What's Better Than Living on Your Own Farm?" which contains much valuable information for prospective residents of Arkansas, especially farmers.

Under the head of "Pertinent Facts About Arkansas," the following information is gleaned: For the ten years from 1900 to 1910 the value of farm products per cultivated acre was greater in Arkansas than in any other state in the Mississippi Basin, North or South. For that ten-year period the cash value of farm products per cultivated acre in Arkansas was $22.04; in Louisiana, $15.19; in Missouri, $12.54; in Illinois, $17.24; in Indiana, $16.26; in Ohio, $11.04; in Iowa, $4.52. No other state in this group came within shouting distance of Arkansas.

Or, in other words, the value of crops in Arkansas paid 169 per cent gross on the average value of all Arkansas farm lands, while the Iowa and Illinois and Indiana farmer got only 19 to 25 per cent gross on the higher value of his land.

Here's another fact on the same line. In that ten-year period farm population in Arkansas increased 15.3 per cent, while Illinois gained only 3 per cent, Indiana lost 5.1 per cent, Ohio lost 1.3 per cent and Iowa lost 7.2 per cent.

Now, that means that the farmers are steadily quitting the high-priced lands of the northern states, where farming profits are no longer satisfactory, and coming to Arkansas.

"Despite the shrinking profit in farming, farm land values have gone up in the northern states. In the ten years from 1900 to 1910 Ohio farm lands showed a total increase of 27.4 per cent; Indiana, 93.2 per cent; Illinois, 104.1 per cent; Iowa, 123 per cent. But in Arkansas it was 174.1 per cent greater than in any of those rich, strong, highly developed farming states of the north.

"It is a well-known fact that, with their producing power, Arkansas farm lands at the present time are ridiculously low in price. They will go steadily up in value year after year. Those high-priced lands of the northern states have just about come to a standstill in value.

"Arkansas is growing in other ways also. In 1900 the total bank deposits of the state amounted to only about $7,000,000; in 1910 they had increased to $37,000,000, and in 1911 to $47,000,000.

"On September 1, 1912, a time when many strong cities elsewhere had come to a halt in their development—Little Rock had under way or contracted for in public work, railroad shops and buildings improvements amounting in value to $4,000,000. This city in the last ten years has increased in population 45 per cent."

In referring to the climate of Arkansas the booklet states: "The climate of Arkansas has a good climate, varying from the very mild winters of the Gulf states to the temperate summer and four distinct seasons of the central Mississippi Valley. The farmers in this state, on account of the climate, enjoy unusual facilities, being able to do outdoor work the year round."

The climate and soil combine to produce the finest peaches in America. The Highland orchard of 2,000 acres shipped 350 cars of Elberta peaches this year and paid its stockholders a dividend of 130 per cent in one season. It shipped a solid train of twenty cars of peaches and sent a car load across the Atlantic to England. The fruit crops of 1911 yielded $22,000,000, and fruit and berries combined ranked in value next to cotton.

Three counties in northwest Arkansas produce annually $2,000,000 in eggs and poultry. The total value of cattle, poultry and hogs in 1910 was $74,058,292, an increase of 37.8 per cent for the ten-year period, according to the government report. Arkansas has the largest sawmill in the world at Stamps, and the largest fruit distillery in the world at Bentonville. In addition it has lumber, coal, lead, zinc, hematite, asphalt, cement, granite, marble, pearls and even diamonds. Her famous mineral springs have world-wide fame.

In the face of these real facts, which are backed throughout by government statistics, it does not require sage nor prophet to point the intelligent investor or homeseeker to the state in largest possibilities and best opportunities—Arkansas.

GOOD RUSSIAN COTTON CROP

Yield to Be Banner One and Quality Best Ever Known.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—The following concerning the cotton crop of Russia this year comes from United States Consul General John H. Snodgrass, Moscow.

The Russian cotton crop for 1912 is reported to be one of the best in the history of the empire. The quality is said to surpass that of any previous year. Judging from the samples already gathered and chiefly from the general condition of the plant and the pods which have opened, a banner crop is to be expected, excelling in quality, with few exceptions, last year's crop.

In Ferghana alone the yield is estimated at 144,000 to 162,000 short tons, notwithstanding a reduction of approximately 10 per cent in the acreage sown as compared with 1911. The fiber is of superior quality, soft, silky and strong. The color is clearer and whiter, owing to the fact that at the time the pods opened there was neither dust nor rain. It is estimated that the yield per desiatine (2.7 acres), will fluctuate between 2520 and 3950 pounds.

The cheerful reports from Ferghana are duplicated in Samarkand, Transcaspiya and Transcaucasia, with the exception that in some parts of these regions the fiber, although excellent in quality, is expected to be somewhat shorter than in the best previous years. In Syr-Daria the crop appears to be above the average in both quality and quantity, except in a small section of Tchikentsk, where the hot winds of the late summer did great injury to the growing plant. Furthermore, in Bokhara, where the yield, as compared with last year, was considerably reduced, the crop gives promise of being better than usual. In the United States the land sown was reduced at least 40 per cent, but the excellent quality will go to make up for that deficiency.

RECORD CROP OF COTTON

8,819,898 Bales Have Been Ginned in U. S. Prior to November 1.

Washington, Nov. 11.—With Texas showing 3,692,124 bales, a greater quantity than ever before ginned in November 1 in any year, the census bureau's cotton ginning report issued today announced 8,819,898 bales had been ginned in the United States prior to that date. Oklahoma's ginnings, 532,365 bales, also exceeded any previous year's report for that date.

In the period from October 13 to November 18 there were ginned 1,976,692 bales compared with 2,635,952 bales last year, while the average per working day was 184,824 bales, compared with 187,742 bales last year.

Louisiana with 281,687 bales had ginned a greater quantity than last year, but in all states east of the Mississippi the ginnings were below last year's totals.

RECORD COTTON RECEIPTS

Galveston Has Upset Seven High Shipping Records This Season.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 12.—The receipts at this port of 848,741 bales of cotton during October was the seventh port record made here during the handling of the present crop of cotton. The previous record for calendar month's receipts was held by this port at 738,975 for November, last year. The other new marks are:

Record day clearance, Sept. 27, when 251,000 bales, with a value of $11,212,259, was passed.

One day's actual exports, Oct. 1, when 95,278 bales, valued at $5,716,630, were shipped.

Month's export record of cotton, September, when there was shipped to foreign ports 491,708 bales, valued at $31,626,786.

During September 59 foreign vessels entered; aggregate tonnage, 242,035; cleared, 83, with tonnage of 213,325.

Oct. 14, million-bale mark in receipts reached at Galveston, five days ahead of same mark in any port.

October receipts, 848,741 bales, being 119,553 bales more than any previous month in history of any cotton port, breaking Galveston's record of 738,975 bales, established in November, 1903.

New Jersey Farmer Struck by Motor, Which Runs Away.

Salem, N. J., Nov. 12.—After being struck by an automobile, John C. Ballinger, an aged farmer, died here. He was walking to his home in Pennington when he was run down. It is said the machine that struck him had side lights, but that the front lights were not lighted, and the old man did not see the car until it was too late to avoid it.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Sam Killiam, a steeplejack, engaged to paint the flagstaff of the wireless tower at Arlington, was photographed by a friend as he clung to the top of the staff. He received $125 for the work. Killiam said that compared with a like job on the flagstaff of the Woolworth Building it was really a risk, for if a steeplejack fell from the top of the Wool-

A GREAT WHEAT CROP.

Yield in Nebraska This Year 50,662,347 Bushels.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 12.—Fifty million bushels of wheat is incomprehensible unless it is stated in comparative terms; the wheat crop of Nebraska this year is 50,662,347 bushels, according to the returns gathered by the state board of statistics. This great crop was raised on 3,202,416 acres of Nebraska soil, the best on earth.

Placed in one field five miles wide, this would make a solid wheat field from Chicago to Denver, but it would have to be all in Nebraska to grow such a crop; kept inside the limits of Nebraska it would make a field fourteen miles wide reaching from the Missouri river to the Colorado line.

There are about 628,000 people actually living on the farms of Nebraska; the value of this wheat crop is equivalent to $70 for each man, woman and child on these farms, or about $350 per family.

Loaded for shipment, 700 bushels to the car, this single grain crop from Nebraska farms would fill 72,375 cars of twenty tons capacity each; assembled in trains of thirty cars, it would fill a single track railroad from New York to San Francisco, allowing a mile and a half to each train.

Every bushel of this wheat will make sixty-nine loaves of bread, baked into pound loaves, this 1912 wheat crop would make about 3,500,000,000 loaves; this is bread enough to furnish 200 loaves for every person in the United States for their next year's food and have a surplus sufficient to hand ten loaves to every soul in Mexico, Great Britain, Germany, France, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, Greece, Italy, Spain and Turkey.

Nebraska is doing her share toward feeding the world and she toward feeding the world's wheat. It takes water to raise wheat: Lots of water. In the country where farmers irrigate their crops it requires one and one-half acre-feet to raise a wheat crop; this costs about 75 cents an acre after the cost of putting in the irrigation plant is paid for. To water Nebraska's 1912 wheat crop on this plan would have cost $2,500,000. This money was saved by the farmers of Nebraska and they will have it in their bank accounts when they sell their wheat. It pays to farm where the water falls from the sky.

Measured by the importance of the wheat crop, Nebraska is a good place to live; there are many other reasons equally as good.

GOAT ATE SHOW TICKETS

Cat Saves Show Manager Further Loss by Scratching "Billy."

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 12.—If the tickets at the Hippodrome, as Manager Talbot says, are good at any time, then one goat is entitled to 1,000 straight admissions and at the same time may occupy forty big seats.

And if Talbot's pet cat had not shown a distinct aversion to Billy goats, Mrs. Talbot at the time of writing would have been out $100, while the market value of a strange goat would have risen that much in value.

The show was over at the Hippodrome and the animals in the Hippodrome stables were resting after their strenuous four shows a day. The Prize of Candy, the biggest of the elephants, was slowly masticating the last wisp of his daily dose of half a ton of hay, and at the same time was wondering where he could get a little more to eat, when he heard a sound of chewing coming from a box near by.

The elephant landed a back swipe and ousted the goat from the box. The goat then went to the box, which was temporarily unguarded, and consumed the tickets and was about to eat a roll of bills when the cat appeared and scratched him on the nose.

PLAN BIG FISHING PIER.

Galveston Business Men Are Going to Spend Around $1,000,000.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 12.—Plenty of fish without a suburb or a chigger is to be Galveston's best bet for the attracting of tourists. The business men of this city are planning to spend $1,000,000 to build a fishing pier 1000 feet into the gulf from the Galvez Hotel. Fishing already is a great attraction for tourists to this city, and it is believed that as a result of the long, shaded pier, both men and women will flock here. Such a pier would accommodate 5000 casters.

The fish to be caught in the gulf waters here are of both large and game varieties such as mackerel, tarpon, yellow-mouth trout, whiting, sand trout, rounder, sheep head, pompano, and occasionally a shovel nose shark, a "gaf-top-sil" catfish or a stingray, any one of which can cause a lot of excitement.

There are many business men in Galveston who once a week or so stop out of their offices at 5 p. m., get two bits worth of shrimps, hurry to the beach and reach home by 7 with from 15 to 40 pounds of fish.

THE WRONG "CYLINDER" The motorist emerged from beneath the car and struggled for breath. His helpful friend holding an oilcan, beamed up him: "I've just given the cylinder a thorough oiling, Dick. "Cylinder?" howled the motorist. "That wasn't the cylinder. It was my ear!"
