STEER MARKET SLOW

SONE DIME LOWER SPOTS

Cows and Heifers Irregular—Bulls Weak—Veal Trade Active—Stock Cattle Mostly Steady.

Beef steer trade had slow action again today under attempts of buyers to force a further cut in prices. A fair Tuesday run arrived, general receipts being estimated at 2,700 head as compared with 2,521 a week ago and 1,485 a year ago.

Chicago yesterday, that pointed toward a slow opening today. The local market was inclined to reflect conditions at the outside centers and steer business was of limited volume during the early hours.

STOCKERS AND FEEDERS.

Buyers of stock and feeding cattle were on hand early looking over the rather liberal supply of fresh stock offered this division today, and from all appearances were anxious to begin operations as soon as possible. PHILADELPHIA BANK OFFERS $1,250 IN PRIZES TO GROWERS AND PLAN IS SPREADING RAPIDLY THROUGH THE WEST.

PRIZE FOR CORN CROPS

BANKERS CAUSE STIR IN EASTERN STATES OVER CORN RAISING QUESTION.

Philadelphia, March 11.—There is a remarkable stir in Pennsylvania and in New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware among banking circles over the matter of co-operation with farmers in agricultural development. Banks in the west and the southwest also have taken up the matter, and remarkable corn-growing contests may be the result this year throughout the country.

But nothing very practical was done until recently, when the Corn Exchange National course was organized, grasping the strategic value of its name, announced a corn-raising contest for this year throughout the four states, starting in conjunction with the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia and the agricultural colleges of the states mentioned. Prizes amounting to $1,250 will be given.

Kansas can cheer up. Her legislature quits business today.

If time hangs heavily on his hands Mr. Bryan, as secretary of state, might try editing the Congressional Record.

Those who had a desire to see the Wilson inauguration and didn't get to, can see it at the moving picture shows a good deal cheaper and with a good deal more comfort.

A Kansas agriculturist the other day remarked that a farm without hogs is as bad as a home without children.

Those who were fearful that the change in administration would mean low prices for cattle and hogs forgot to consult General Scarcity.

Little has been heard in market circles this year about the depressing influence of the Lenten period on live stock prices.

The upward trend of values may have been somewhat retarded but the fact remains that there has been an almost continuous advance on all kinds of stock during the past six weeks.

OMAHA JOURNAL-STOCKMAN: The butter trust is not carrying on its usual campaign against oleomargarine this winter for the good and sufficient reason that the butter trust is pretty busy in court defending itself against charges of all kinds of fraud and collusion.

By general consent steer butter is gradually taking its place on the grocer's shelf by the side of and on a par with cow butter.

Neither article should be handicapped by excessive taxation but both should be subjected to rigid inspection under the pure food laws.

Oleomargarine has nothing to fear from fair competition and stringent health laws.

PROSPERITY IN KANSAS: The following is quoted from a prosperity speech of a Kansas farmer:

"Has it ever occurred to you, fellow citizens, that if the wheat raised annually in Kansas was made into pancakes that they would cover the entire face of America, Europe and lap over on the toes of Asia?"

Or if all the cattle she raised in each year were one cow, she could browse on the tropical vegetation along the equator, while her tail scratched leaves off the North pole, and that her milk would float a boatload of her butter and cheese from Kansas City to New Orleans?

Or, if all the mules we market each year were one mule, it could consume the entire annual corn crop of North Carolina at one meal and kick the tassel off the moon and shake his tail at the stars?

Or if the hogs we raise annually were one hog, that animal could dig the Panama canal with its snout without a grunt and its squeal would be loud enough to jar the cocoon out of the trees along the canal zone.

Who can doubt the greatness of Kansas after such statements?

THE GREEN GARB OF NATURE: With the green beginning to show through the dead grass and the first cheerful notes of the robin sounding in the air, it reminds one of the beautiful essay of former Senator J. J. Ingalls on grass. Ingalls said:

"Grass is the forgiveness of Nature—her constant benediction. Fields, trampled with battle, saturated with blood, torn with the ruts of cannon, grow green again with grass, and

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Vain Stag and His Lesson

I was the hour before bedtime. Daddy smiled as Jack and Evelyn came in. "Another story, I suppose," he said. "Of course," the children answered. "And if you haven't thought one up we'll wait."

"What a fine fellow I am," he murmured as he looked at his head with its graceful horns. "There isn't such another set of strong horns in the forest. With them to protect me I need fear no one."

"Then the stag's eyes wandered to his legs, which were very long and slender, and to his feet that ended in hoofs. "Oh, dear," he cried, "what ugly legs and feet! If only they were better formed! The legs are nothing but bone and hide! And he lifted up his voice and bayed with disgust."

"Now, it happened the hunters were out in the forest, and when they heard the bay of the stag they turned their horses' heads in the direction of the lake. The hounds, too, had heard the stag and came flying toward the water with tongues hanging out of their mouths and their eyes blazing with fury."

"When the stag saw them he stood for a moment, too frightened to run. Then he turned, and his long slender legs carried him swiftly into the forest. Soon the hounds and the hunters were left far behind."

LIKE PATRICK CASE

Mrs. Hetty Green Was Actor in Howland Will Affair.

Charge of Forgery Was Made—That Signatures Were Identically Alike Alleged to Have Proved They Were Not Genuine.

New York.—Did you ever hear the story of Sylvia Ann Howland's will? Mrs. Hetty Green, today's queen of finance, was one of the actors in this first great will case in America. The story is fifty years old, but it has dramatic interest because in certain features it is analogous to the case of Albert Patrick, recently pardoned from Sing Sing by Governor Dix.

Patrick owed his four times repeated death sentence to the handwriting experts. The state's case on his indictment for murder was technically weak. It rested on the confession of Valet Jones that he had chloroformed Rice at Patrick's orders.

The experts showed that these four signatures were identical—so admirably identical that when superimposed each fitted the other to the thickness of an eyelash. The experts contended that no two genuine signatures are ever just alike. They even found the true signature from which the four false ones had been traced, and found that on the day Rice was supposed to have signed the will he had signed five other documents.

Sylvia Ann Howland, an aged spinster, died in New Bedford, Mass., in 1863, leaving an estate of more than $2,000,000. Two wills were produced. In the will of 1863 her niece and companion, Hetty Robinson, afterward known as Hetty Green, was generously remembered. By the will of 1900 Hetty Robinson inherited practically all. It consisted of a single page, marked "second page," inserted after the first page of an admittedly genuine earlier will.

ADVISED TAKING OF CANADA

Benjamin Franklin's Counsel to British Government Resulted in Capture of the Dominion.

Benjamin Franklin, the first American philosopher and the first American diplomat, was not, as Mark Twain averred, "born simultaneously at Boston and Philadelphia," but as the change in the calendar from old style to new came after his birth at Boston on January 6, 1706, according to the reformed almanac he was born on January 17, 1759 Franklin was in England as agent for the colony of Pennsylvania.

Gospel of Courage.

Ralph Waldo Trine stated his belief thus in Harper's Bazar: "To get up each morning determined to be happy, determined to be master of the events of the day instead of being mastered by them; to take anew this attitude of mind when the doleful thought presents itself or the boggy man attempts to show his face; to look always on the bright side of things, determined to stand always in the sunshine rather than in the shadow—this, it is that makes life with its daily round and its knotty problems continually easier.

Strange London Figure.

A few years ago there used to stand on the pavement of Oxford street in all weathers a venerable white-haired gentleman, dressed respectably in high hat and frock coat, who accosted each member of the throng of sun worshippers, moving eastward in the morning, westward in the evenings, uttering in a quick tone of deep concern the single phrase, "The time is short! The time is short!" No one stopped to listen to the old revivalist, or cared to hear the further words of warning which he would have given, for all knew that he prated of things that did not really matter to the serious city man.—London Nation.

Realizing the necessity of a Thermometer in every home, especially on the farm, we have decided to give parties who send us a shipment prior to April 1, 1913, a temperature indicator.

Knowing that a thermometer is useless unless accurate, and not a desirable ornament in the home unless artistic in design and finish, we have purchased a Thermometer very much better than is ordinarily distributed free. This thermometer cannot be bought in a retail store for less than 50c. It would be too expensive an article for general distribution; therefore, we are confining the distribution entirely to parties who send us a shipment of hides or furs before April 1, 1913.
