Farm Cooperative Workers to Be Exempt From Wage-Hour Standards

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP).—

An amendment exempting from the wage-hour law some 200,000 workers in some farm co-operatives was approved tentatively by the House Wednesday.

The amendment, proposed by Representative Buck (D-Calif.) and adopted 149 to 56 on a teller vote, would write into the law the same definition of agriculture that is now contained in the social security act. The definition is so worded as to cover certain co-operatives, chiefly those engaged in washing, drying, packing and storing fruits and vegetables.

Since employees "engaged in agriculture" are exempted, under the present wage-hour act, from both the 30-cent wage minimum and the 42-hour work week maximum, the employees of the co-operatives would be exempted likewise.

Representative Keefe (R-Wis.), who at first opposed the definition and then voted for it, interpreted it as not exempting those co-operatives engaged in canning, preserving and the like.

The Buck amendment was the first adopted since the House wiped the slate clean yesterday of all previously approved amendments by rejecting the Barden wage-hour legislation. The chamber spent most of Wednesday considering a set of amendments which were less sweeping than Barden's and which were proposed by the House labor committee. Final action on them was put over until today.

These committee amendments would liberalize the maximum hours provision for 16 operations connected with the processing of agricultural products but would grant only a few wage exemptions. Barden's amendments would have exempted a score of farm processing operations from both the wages and hours requirements.

The Buck amendment won with the backing of most of the Republicans and many southern and western Democrats.

Nazis Score Heavily in Air Attacks

Destroyer and Two Aircraft Carriers Are Reported Hit

BERLIN, May 2 (AP).—The high command tonight reported hits on two British aircraft carriers and a destroyer off the Norwegian west coast yesterday.

The communique said one carrier was hit "fully," and the other heavily damaged.

Furious warplane attacks which sank or damaged 13 British warships or transports and the continued advance of Nazi warriors in Central Norway despite dogged Allied resistance were reported Wednesday by the German high command.

Indicating that the British are pouring reinforcements into Norway in an attempt to stem the German tide, the high command asserted that one cruiser, one destroyer and five transports were sunk off Namsoy, Allied landing place about 100 miles north of German-held Trondheim, and that five other transports and a cruiser in that sector were damaged by air raiders.

The communique touched only briefly on latest developments, reporting that fighting "still went on Tuesday" on the Trondheim front and that the German advance in Norway continues.

The Germans yesterday officially announced the capture of Dombas, key railroad junction town on the Oslo-Trondheim railroad, and said that their Oslo and Trondheim forces had established contact.

British bombers hurled new attacks at three German airfields during the night, those at Stavanger, on Norway's southwest coast, Fornebu, near Oslo, and Aalborg, in Denmark, but the Germans said the raids were costly and did no real damage.

New Studio Latest Painting Project Of Artists' Club

It's a woman's world these days—even to such tasks as house painting.

At least that is the assumption members of the Palette club, organization of Midland artists, are going on in donning suitable apparel, clutching brushes and becoming impromptu members of the painters' union while painting their clubhouse, now under construction, an artistic shade of white.

Stacks of trousers, shirts, and plain house dresses with a variety of headgear were chosen by the members for their task.

Enthusiastically slathering paint on bare boards this morning, or gesturing with dripping brushes while explaining plans for completion of the building were: Mmes. N. W. Bigham, R. M. Barron, R. M. Turpin, Clarence Hale, J. G. Gossett, Bud Estes, and J. M. Gilmore.

Palette club has planned the clubhouse, a 20x40 foot structure, with an enormous north window to provide proper light for painting, over a period of months. Members have given bent parties to raise funds for the building and have received various donations, including the lot on which the studio is being constructed in the 600 block on N Colorado.

A barn dance to be held in the studio is being planned for the near future. Meanwhile, the members paint—and like it!

5 Students Off to State League Meet

Five Midland high school students left today for Austin where they will participate in the state interscholastic league contests. All were winners in the regional contests held in Marfa recently.

The boys and girls debating teams won first place in the region and are expected to rate near the top in the state contests. The boys' team is made up of Jim McHargue and Bill Ferguson and the girls' team is made up of Lois Mae Lynch and Elmer Hedrick.

Extemporaneous speaker Glenn Brunson is also making the trip. Although he finished second in the regional meet, he was given opportunity to make the trip when the first place winner, Larry Hillyer of El Paso, could not go.

Windell Williams, who won second in the shot put at Marfa, decided not to go to Austin because it would take him away from work too long.

Gas Volume High, Oil Yield Light As Soma Well Given First Gauging

BY FRANK GARDNER

First actual gauging of Soma Oil & Gas Syndicate, of Chicago, No. 1 W. T. Noelke, shallow discovery well in western Crockett county four miles southeast across the Pecos river from the Yates field of Pecos, yesterday night proved somewhat disappointing while tubing was being run. However, most observers were of the opinion that production would increase as the well was allowed to flow.

The first two hours while running tubing, the well made an estimated 40,000 cubic feet of dry gas daily, with no oil. Gas volume the third hour was the same, but the well also made five barrels of oil. It was opened at 4:15 p. m. yesterday and flowed through one three-inch line to separator until 6:40. From 6:40 to 7:15 p. m. it was tested through two three-inch lines to separators. Pressure on separators was from 75 to 100 pounds, and shut-in pressure at the well-head was 440 to 600 pounds. Testing through tubing was to be resumed this morning, it is understood. So far as is known, the well is bottomed at 1,039 feet in Yates sand, but it probably drilled itself deeper while blowing wild.

In the Todd deep pool of north central Crockett, Continental Oil Company No. 3-B J. S. Todd unit, is drilling at 5,253 feet in shale and lime. It is an offset to a Pennsylvania discovery producer.

Southwest Hockley Well

Devonian Oil Company No. 1 L. F. Hedges, north offset to George P. Livermore, Inc. No. 1 R. D. Gilmp, recent south extension of the Slaughter pool in southwestern Hockley county, rated daily potential of 877.63 barrels of 34-gravity oil, plus 1.2 percent water, after acidizing with a total of 10,000 gallons in pay lime from 4,975 to 5,024 feet, total depth. Gas-oil ratio figured 660-1.

Many Prizes Offered For Contestants in Mustang Pet Parade

Because they are sincerely interested in the monkey-shines and antics of youth in general the following kid-fans have tendered various interesting prizes for top entries in the completely hay-wire spectacle—"The Mustang Pet Parade." 17 awards have filled the Mustangs' chest to overflowing, with treasures that would make the mouth of most any kid water. Many others would have contributed to this joy-carnival upon the slightest suggestion or had they known about the raid, but enough is enough and all the boys thank the below named donors with lots of gusto:

Pagoda swimming pool, Midland Cowboys ball club, Agnes Cate, Whites Auto Supply, Firestone, Midland Drug, Jeff's Sporting Goods, Little George McEntire, Wilcox Hardware, Scharbauer Hotel Drug, Wilson Dry Goods, Midland Hardware, Ever-Ready Service Station, A Friend.

If you wish to witness this huge comedy of errors and mistakes, fits and mis-fits, just join the milling throng that will swarm the downtown lanes of Midland Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Squeeze-in space will be at a premium and you may thank your lucky stars if you don't have to step out into the street to change your mind.

If you are looking for perfection, better stay at home. —Nuff Sed.

B. H. Blakeney Return From Trip Over Eastern U. S.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Blakeney have returned from a motor trip through the eastern half of the United States which extended over a period of two months and carried them over 6,000 miles.

Leaving Texas by way of Mineral Wells, Dallas, and Houston, they took the Azalea Trail which led them from New Orleans and on to Mobile, Ala., where they visited the famed Bellinrath Gardens.

Despite the fact that only azaleas and camellias were blooming in profusion at this time, Mr. Blakeney declared the Gardens were the most beautiful thing he had ever seen.

Still traveling eastward, the couple visited Pensacola and Tallahassee, Florida, but as the weather was growing too hot, they turned northward to Savannah, Ga., and Charleston, S.C., where they viewed the magnolia and cypress gardens. On to Monroe, N.C., they will there.

GOING TO RUIDOSO.

L. G. Mackey, Addison Wadley, P. F. Bridgeswater and W. J. Sparks will leave early Friday for Ruidoso to spend the week end playing golf. Wadley plans to purchase a cabin while there.

Chamberlain Admits Hope of Taking Trondheim Abandoned

LONDON, May 2 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today the British government is withdrawing troops from the Andalsnes area and abandoning any idea of taking the German-held port of Trondheim.

Andalsnes is 100 miles south of Trondheim. The German high command earlier reported its troops within 25 miles of Andalsnes and said the British were in "head over heels" flight.

Chamberlain said it was decided last week to withdraw from Andalsnes and transfer troops elsewhere.

"We have now withdrawn the whole of our forces from Andalsnes without losing a single man," he explained.

"Casualties have not been heavy in proportion in the Norway operation," Chamberlain said.

He asserted Germany had forestalled Britain in Norway by "long planning and carefully elaborated treachery." "We have no intention of allowing Norway to become merely a side show," he added.

He asserted blows to the German fleet had permitted "important redistribution of the main allied fleets" and announced a British-French battle fleet on the eastern Mediterranean on the way to Alexandria, Egypt.

"German losses in men cannot be estimated but they must have amounted to many thousands," he added.

Meanwhile, the air ministry reported damaging air raids against German bases in Scandinavia without the loss of a British plane. They claimed one German seaplane was shot down.

STOCKHOLM, May 2 (AP).—British Navy raiding units, varying their submarine attack on Germany's supply and transport line across the Kattegat to Norway, brought planes and warships into play in large-scale naval engagement off the Swedish west coast yesterday.

Observers at Goteborg, Sweden, said they saw one German ship set afire and another sunk during a two-hour battle about 10 miles northwest of that important Swedish naval base.

German warships conveying transports and supply ships returned the British fire.

This sea fight came almost simultaneously with an announcement by Norwegian authorities that German troops, composing an excellently equipped tank unit of about 150 men, retreated southward from Roros, key point in the Osterdalen (eastern valley), and also had withdrawn from Tynset, 25 miles farther south.

The Norwegians said Norse troops with "foreign volunteers" had recaptured the area around Roros but not the town itself because the Germans had threatened to subject it to aerial bombardment if they did.

Norwegian authorities quoted a German officer as saying that "Our retreat is necessary because our communications have been cut."

(London advices said Germans taken prisoner at Roros explained that they were short of supplies.)

Other London dispatches said Allied forces also were advancing southward on the Steinkjer front, north of Trondheim.

An Allied-Norwegian communique issued from Grong, back of the Steinkjer front, said there was little ground activity but much warfare in the air in that sector.

The Norwegian troops entered Roros suburbs after the Germans had withdrawn during the night, and established communication with Sweden.

It was not yet clear whether the German withdrawal was only a temporary tactic to await reinforcements. This strategy is a favorite one with the Reichswehr.

It also was not yet clear whether the German's retreat would vitally affect their position at Trondheim, on the west coast coast.

The Osterdalen is the easternmost of two valleys used in the "blitz" campaign to establish a connection completed in the Gudbrandsdalen, the valley to the west. The eastern line would be of less importance to them if the Gudbrandsdalen line is secure.

The latest developments give a puzzling twist to the military situation in central Norway.

Even with control of the Gudbrandsdalen, military experts pointed out, Tynset would be an important key to maintaining the German forces which advanced from that point to Kviteseid to cut the western valley railway.

Adding to the puzzle was the report from British quarters in Norway denying Dombas, railway junction in the Gudbrandsdalen, had been vacated by the British.

On the contrary, the British here said, the Allies have now brought fairly heavy artillery up to defend that junction. It was clear, at least, the British had made a valiant fight here.

Harvard Group Plans to Study Latin America

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—South America will be a classroom for part of Harvard University's summer school this year.

Director Kirtley F. Mather says that embassies of South American countries in Washington are making arrangements for the Harvard group to confer with economic ministers, labor groups and university scholars on the trip.

The students will spend two months on the trip, which is to provide them with an opportunity to examine economic practices of trade, banking and industry in the principal cities of Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

Harvard already has set up a scholarship covering expenses of the tour and other scholarships are expected to be provided later. The trip, Mather says, is the result of the work of Comtesse Alain De Pierrefeu of Hancock, N. H., to establish international study tours.

The Reptile Age

Scientists say reptiles appeared on earth about 500,000,000 years ago, and that the last of their giant races became extinct about 100,000,000 years ago. A few warm-blooded animals appeared on earth during that time, but they were unimportant and were dominated by the reptilian giants.

War Reaches Long Arm Clear Around Globe to Frisco To Grab Bewildered Seafarer, a Man Without Country

BY JOHN RICE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO.—War reaches out even to the man without a country. It has grabbed hold of tumbled little George Dibbern, once a citizen of Germany, but now sans nationality—and passport.

One of these days soon Dibbern must step aboard his ketch, Te Rapunga, here in San Francisco harbor, hoist his own flag and set sail to nowhere.

His stay in the United States, already extended, expires June 1. He is afraid to land in a British or French port, for he might be interned as a German—and South Sea ports are largely British and French; he cannot visit U. S. possessions; many neutral ports are closed to him because of war restrictions and spy scares.

He may stop in Mexico, but his stay would be limited, as it would be in Costa Rica, Venezuela and other countries down the Pacific coast. You can't stop in any country very long if you carry no passport.

So it is an odd voyage that Dibbern will soon begin out of San Francisco, flying a flag portraying the unity and brotherhood of man—and with no place to go.

SAILING — AND MORE SAILING

DIBBERN has had no place to go for 10 years, since he left Germany in 1930, sick with the "strife and hate and uncertainty" that had overtaken his country.

Dibbern was an able seaman before the first war, had covered most of the world. He was interned in New Zealand until 1919, when he returned to Germany. He married and had three children. The mad inflation of those days broke him. Followed years of knocking about, he spoke recently before the Retail Grocers Association here and the grocers stocked his boat.

His nephew left him to settle in Tasmania in 1935 and Dibbern sailed the southern seas again, explored the endless waters of the U. S. northwest coast for almost two years, ending up in San Francisco. Now he must sail away again—or ship his ketch overland to the Caribbean.

George Dibbern aboard his ketch, Te Rapunga.

"HITLER IS UNIMPORTANT"

IT is sort of a communal life Dibbern leads aboard his ketch. All work is divided evenly; there are few orders. Money plays a small part in his wanderings. He lectures, writes, has almost finished his first book. Like his life, his lectures are never planned, never formal.

He spoke recently before the Retail Grocers Association here and the grocers stocked his boat. Life has been like that for this man without a country. The war may change all that.

To Dibbern it doesn't matter which side wins the war. "No good can come from fighting. Hitler is as helpless as any," he will tell you. "And Hitler is unimportant. He rose on a definitely felt need of the German people and he will fall when that need is fulfilled."

The peace of the world rests finally with the individual, believes this extraordinary wanderer. As the individual develops, so will nations. That's why he carries no nationalistic flag. His flag is his own, a white square, a circle and a star; it stands for "World Friendliness," "Unity" and "Humanity's Aspirations," and there is no place for it in a warring world.

will improve the quality and performance of planes, help to bring an ultimate reduction in price of parts through quantity production, and allow inter-changeability of parts." Dudley said.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—An old-fashioned diamond, an heirloom, has been returned to its rightful family ownership 25 years after it was stolen.

It was returned in a tiny box, wrapped in adhesive tape and tissue paper. The box also contained an unsigned letter by the thief's brother, telling sadly of a war veteran's deathbed confession.

The diamond ring was bought by T. Frank Ryan, when he was courting his first wife, Margaret. Shortly after her death in 1915, the ring was sent to a jewelry store in Long Beach for cleaning.

An employee replaced the diamond with a cheap white sapphire. He hoped to give it to his fiancée, the letter said, but she died and the diamond was never worn.

But Ryan was unaware of the change. He placed the ring in a safe deposit box where it remained for 20 years. Then—on his daughter, Margaret's 21st birthday he gave her the ring.

When she sent the diamond to a Seattle jeweler for cleaning, she learned of the fraud. Margaret, now Mrs. William F. Miller, put the ring away and has not worn it.

"Now, she says, the ring will be presented to her 9-months-old daughter on her 21st birthday."

Plane Builders To Coordinate

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Eastern and western U. S. aircraft officials have agreed upon a standardization plan designed to speed production and simplify construction of airplanes.

The plan, nationwide in scope, was adopted here at a conference of standardization committees recently organized at the request of plane manufacturers throughout the country. It is aimed at technical simplification of aircraft parts, such as nuts, bolts and screws.

The Eastern committee conferred with Edward J. Kasnicka, West Coast committee chairman and associate of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation. Members formed a society of Automotive Engineers Committee to adopt standards established by the eastern and western groups.

"Instead of having parts of a similar nature turned out separately for each manufacturer, as at present, we are seeking a standardized product to eliminate duplication of effort and design, and to build up a supply that can be drawn upon quickly," Eric Dudley, chairman of the eastern committee and Curtiss Aeroplane Division executive, explained.

"In addition, standardization

CATTON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

WASHINGTON.—If you want a good third-term tip-off, maybe you can find it in FDR's suggestion about the new WPA appropriation.

He proposed Congress give WPA slightly less than a billion and let WPA spend it all in eight months, beginning July 1, instead of making it last a year. That way two political birds are killed with one stone: sharp election year cuts in relief rolls are dodged, and the government's debt isn't put over the $45,000,000,000 limit.

But here's the catch. The administration that's in office next winter will inherit lots of trouble. It will almost certainly have to meet a WPA deficiency bill early in the winter. It will have to boost the debt limit, or economize as no New Deal administration ever economized. So, for your tip-off—

If FDR figured he was going to be in the White House next winter, would he arrange to bequeath himself a mess like that?

TOO MUCH FARM PRODUCE

IF someone would kindly tell Uncle Sam how he can unload the vast quantities of farm produce he now owns, the old gentleman would be very much obliged indeed.

As of the end of March, the Commodity Credit Corporation held title to more than 6,600,000 bales of cotton and 91,000,000 bushels of corn—the whole business worth, roughly, $370,000,000. In addition, farm loans are now outstanding on 2,600,000 bales of cotton and 460,000,000 bushels of corn, and before another year ends the government may be stuck with most of that.

"Stuck" is the right word. Situation is worse in regard to cotton; law says none of the government-owned bales may be sold unless the price received equals the money put out in loans, plus the carrying charges—which have been about $1,500,000 monthly. Practical effect is that it just can't be sold at all, even Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, which gives cotton away, can't buy any of it. About 600,000 bales will go to England in the barter arrangement for rubber. What will happen to the rest, no one seems to know.

If corn prices go up this year, the government may get rid of the 460,000,000 bushels on which it has made loans. If they go down, on the other hand, it may get the whole ball of wax. Storage charges, by the way, are about

Jones to Hold Big Barbecue For Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—The man who dethroned the Huey P. Long dynasty has decided to pull a page from the late "Kingfish's" book.

Instead of an inaugural ball for Louisiana's "400," Governor Desha Jones has decided to pull a page from the late "Kingfish's" book.

It was like Huey Long to want to please most of the people all of the time, and a big shin-dig like this one would have been right down his alley.

Jones takes over his new job of directing Louisiana's reform administration on May 14, and that's the day set for the big barbecue.

To Be "Bigger and Better"

Bearing no resemblance whatsoever to the old time country picnic except in general theme, Jones' inaugural barbecue will be "bigger and better" than anything before or since "Admiral Farragut and a Yankee army" clamored at the gates of the Capital City.

In fact Jones supporters already have set up a barbecue headquarters in Baton Rouge and the plans they're making sound like specifications to feed the British Expeditionary Force.

While people expected to stream into the city from every parish in the state, everybody's going to be hungry and thirsty. Barbecue experts—men who virtually have devoted their lives to the study of barbecue technique—have ordered 1,000 head of cattle and more than 200,000 buns. This collation will be washed down with 300 barrels of lemonade.

200 Cattle Donated

A part of this mountain of barbecue will be donated and part will be bought with donated funds. Jones admirers already have presented nearly 200 head of cattle to the cause.

Center of activities, including the actual ceremony of taking over the reins of government from outgoing Gov. Earl K. Long, will be the $3,500,000 a month.

TOO MUCH MONEY

NOTHING will happen at this session, but next year Congress is apt to cast some inquiring and critical glances at the money which is piling up under the social security law.

During the next fiscal year, payroll tax money collected for the old age and unemployment insurance funds will amount to $1,300,000,000. Of this, around $740,000,000 will be paid out in benefits; the rest will go to swell the reserve funds.

Unemployment insurance fund will go up the fastest. It stands now at $1,600,000,000, and will rise by around $360,000,000 during the year, unless the bottom falls out of things. On the double-barreled plea that such a set-up is deflationary and that business can't stand the gaff anyhow, you can look for a drive to cut it down pretty sharply.

In Footsteps of Famed Forefather

Louisiana State University football stadium. But it's going to be too small if the expected crowd congregates. It seats only 48,000.

Moreover, extensive preparations have to be made to house the throngs, and local hotels have been booked weeks ahead of the date.

Special Trains Arranged

Special trains will run from most of the wards in New Orleans, bringing many of the state's leading high school bands to the festivities.

An effort will be made to simplify the traffic problem for barbecue-hungry voters from west of the Mississippi river by suggesting they leave their cars on the west side and ferry the river as pedestrians. Jones-operated shuttle trains then will take them to stadium, where the political tyro and Lake Charles lawyer will take his oath of office and deliver his inaugural address from a platform at one end of the amphitheater.

In short, it will be the biggest crowd in Baton Rouge since Huey P. Long was buried in a copper casket under tons of concrete in the shadow of the skyscraper capitol.

Oil properties now represent over 30 per cent of the assessed value of all properties in the state of Texas.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels; so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Trees' Knees. Cypress trees send up "knees" from their roots, and these growths, protruding through the swamp waters, are thought to assist the trees in breathing.

The public is invited.

CONOCO REPRESENTATIVES HOLD BANQUET WEDNESDAY

Commission agents and dealers of the Continental Oil Company's nine-county district including Midland and western territory held a banquet at the Hotel Scharbauer ball room Wednesday evening, hearing an outline of the spring and summer advertising and merchandising campaign.

Full explanation of the Conoco's "Mile Dial" to be formally announced May 22, was made by C. L. Oden of the Fort Worth office who conducted a series of "quizzes" to familiarize the "mileage merchants" with the new plan. Doyle Purdie of Alpine won first place in the contests.

Charts showed the newspaper advertisements which will appear from May 22 through September 9 in newspapers throughout the state. Dealers discussed methods of making proper tie-ups with the campaign through use of posters, personal follow-ups and by pushing the "mile dial" which is designed to aid the motorist in determining exactly what mileage his car is making with Conoco products.

Assisting Mr. Oden were L. W. Winston of Midland, district sales manager, George Wray of Fort Worth, auditor, and S. M. Warren, Midland agent. Approximately forty attended. C. D. Vertrees of the Continental's geological department and E. Erle Payne of the production department were guests.

EMPLOYMENT WEEK IS PROCLAIMED BY FDR

By a proclamation issued by President Roosevelt, May 1-6 is now National Employment Sunday as National Employment Sunday.

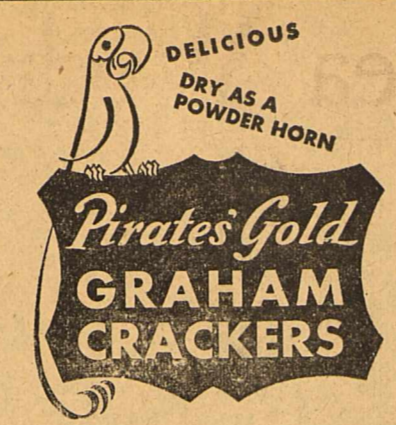

The proclamation was issued at the request of the American Legion, who last year placed more men in positions than in any previous year.

The public employment service, a nation-wide network of 1600 offices now operated jointly by the state and federal governments, has made special efforts in behalf of workers past 40 years of age, including war veterans. The president said: "We know further that these older workers, when given an opportunity, demonstrate a seasoned experience and a mature application to their tasks which in many callings outweigh the physical advantages of youth," the president added.

Ex-service men here seeking employment are urged to report to the employment office, 116 S. Lorraine, not later than tomorrow afternoon.

Roosevelt Names New ICC Member

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, has been nominated by President Roosevelt to be a member of the interstate commerce commission.

Johnson is from Marion, S. C., and was named to complete the un-

OIL OFFICIAL LEAVES.

C. A. Everts, president of the Everts Drilling Company, returned to Dallas this afternoon after a day's business trip to Midland. At present, Mr. Everts is drilling two wells, one a wildcat, in Ector county.

expired term of M. M. Caskie, resigned.

FOR LOUISIANA.

Earl C. Perry, for some months New Mexico and North Permian Basin scout for the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company, will leave this weekend for Baton Rouge, La., where he has been transferred. He will scout the active Mississippi district. Perry will be succeeded here by Sherrill White who up until recently was scout at Midland for Continental Oil Company.

Covington Acquires Interest in Cafe Here

Announcement was made today by George Phillips, proprietor of the Scharbauer Hotel Coffee Shop, of the association of Carl W. Covington as partner in the business. Covington, for more than ten years, has been manager of the bus station here, representing the Greyhound Lines, and resigned his position to become active in the new venture.

TO FT. WORTH.

Phillips has been owner of the Scharbauer Coffee Shop for almost twelve years, operating the dining rooms in connection, including the new "Blue Room," the second floor private dining room and banquets or luncheons in the "Crystal ball room."

Mr. and Mrs. Don Gray have moved to Fort Worth where he has been transferred by the Stanoliad Oil and Gas Company.

Forecasters Tell Of Forest Fire Danger Period

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U.P.)—A new method of fighting forest fires is in use in Rhode Island this year. Instead of the old-time method of waiting for the fire to start, then rushing out with shovels, brooms and water, the state is using weather bureau instruments to determine where or when there is any possibility of fire.

Anemometers, which measure wind velocity and then strips of baswood, which measure the amount of dampness in the forest, are among the instruments used. CCC enrollees read the instruments regularly and forward the recordings to the Boston weather bureau.

The weather bureau sends out warnings if the day appears to be a "class 5 day"—one of extreme danger. On such a day—there was only one last year—all CCC leaves are canceled, fire wardens notify their crews and two fire crews are called to each CCC camp for the day. The other fire-fighting crews are held within 10 minutes journey of their base.

Less vigorous precautionary measures are used other days. Seven fire towns in the state are backed up by state patrols and members of the Northeast Timber Salvage Association crews on days that are classed as 4, 3, 2, and 1.

Since 1922, prices of oil field equipment and supplies have advanced 51 per cent.

Cowboy Region Takes Up Art

CODY, Wyo. (U.P.)—Nobody knows what Buffalo Bill would say about it, but residents of this northern Wyoming region agree that establishment of an art colony in the "cow country" is all right—and they'll do battle with anyone who says otherwise.

While riding herd on an easel, spatula, pallet and paintbrush is not such downright hard work as mending fences, breaking bronchos or wrangling cattle, even the leather-faced ranchers think that setting up of a Gody Art Colony by Edward T. Grigware, nationally known artist and ex-professional baseball player, is nothing to cause snickers.

In Powder River Country

Grigware, who intends to make the picturesque Powder River country as famous on canvas as southwestern painters have made the region around Taos, N. M., said that the projected summer colony is "on its way." There are only two houses in the colony now, but Grigware and Stanley H. Ker-shaw, former art director of the National Safety Council in Chicago, have high hopes of establishing a cultural center from this meager beginning.

The colony is still very much an infant, they admitted, but it's a very healthy one and they are confident it will grow and become an artistic force in the nation.

Classrooms Are Donated

"The response has encouraged me so much that we are stepping out on a much larger scale this summer," Grigware said. "The Cody school board granted us the local high school for our classes. It is ideal for our purpose."

This summer's faculty will consist of Elmer Forsberg, outstanding Chicago art teacher, a sculptor not yet named, and Grigware. The leaders of the movement are confident that after the first year of operation under this plan they will be able to erect a permanent building for the school, which would be headquarters for the colony.

Grigware said the sagebrush-studded plains, the mountains and the forests of this area made it an ideal place to paint. He was reared in Spokane, Wash., and played professional baseball for three years in northwestern United States and western Canada.

New Dormitory Cited as Model

MADISON, Wis. (U.P.)—The 500 co-eds who will reside in the University of Wisconsin's new women's dormitory when it is opened this summer will have all the comforts of home—and then some.

Situated near the center of the campus on the university's famed Observatory Hill, the new structure commands a beautiful view of all of Lake Mendota and will have grounds terraced down to the willow trees which line the lake shore.

The hall contains two dining rooms to seat 250 persons each, several large modernistic lounges, numerous recreation rooms, meeting rooms, and a sound-proofed music room for radio and records.

It will feature many small "fudge kitchens," laundries and pressing rooms, and other rooms for card games or informal discussions. There will be sun bathing facilities on the roof.

Each room will have a built-in radio on which residents will have a choice of two predetermined stations. When a boy calls on a girl, he will go to the main desk in the lobby. The person in charge merely flips a switch which turns off the radio in the proper room, and speaking into a microphone, communicates the information to the girl through the radio loudspeaker.

The boy then retires to a large lounge. When his date arrives they can go into one of a half dozen small "beau parlors" where they can close the door and have a confidential chat.

Glass bricks are used generously throughout the dormitory for additional light and rubberized flooring in corridors assures silence.

All rooms in the new hall are double. Being 12 by 18 feet in size, however, they are larger than the average college dormitory double room. Each room is doubly equipped with beds, desks, desk chairs, easy chairs, bookcases, windows, metal dressers, wardrobes and lamps of the I.E.S. type.

Those behind the construction and planning of the new dormitory look upon it as more than a mere housing program.

The assessed taxable value of Texas petroleum properties is now more than one and one-fourth billion dollars, including taxable holdings in every county of the state.

COWBOYS BOOT AWAY DECISION TO AMARILLO IN SERIES FINAL

Meet Big Spring Barons Tonight; On Road Friday

The Midland Cowboys booted themselves out of a chance last night to make it three in a row over the Amarillo Gold Sox when they made six errors and dropped an 8-4 decision.

The Cowboys will conclude their home stay tonight when they meet the Big Spring Barons at 8:30 out at City Park. Rankin Johnson will probably be on the mound for the Cowboys and "Lefty" McPortland on the mound for the Barons.

The Cowboys will leave in the morning for Clovis for the first of an eight-day jaunt on the road, returning home on May 12.

Last night's game was the least interesting of any of the three played with Amarillo. "Red" Hay pitched good ball but errors for his mates kept him in trouble throughout. Three errors by R. D. Prather on shortstop caused most of the trouble. All the Midland runs were earned while only three by the Sox were of the earned variety but they still pay off on the run total.

Amarillo got off to a one-run lead in the second inning on a single and the first two of the Cowboy errors. Another unearned run came for the Sox in the third, when Hay bore down and struck out three batters to retire the side.

The Cowboys tied up the score in the last of the third on a walk to Bernick, double by Chandler and singles by Hale and Naranjo, then went one ahead in the fourth on a triple by Kirby Jordan and a single by Keyser. Jordan's blow was a mighty one that struck within an inch of the top of the fence deep in right.

Amarillo got three earned runs in the fifth on a walk, double and two singles to take the lead they never dropped. They picked up one more in the sixth and, after Midland had made one in the eighth, gained two more in the ninth on a single, double, two intentional walks and another error.

The box score:

went, where they visited his father, P. B. Blakeney, on his eighty-fourth birthday. They also visited relatives and old classmates of the Midland man in the two Carolinas.

At Asheville, N.C., they visited the Blimore estate of Harold S. Vanderbilt on which the owner spent 50 million dollars. Here also is the 285-acre park which Vanderbilt gave as a Great Smoky Park.

Turning westward, the travelers were joined at St. Louis by their daughter, Mrs. La-r-cy Conger, who accompanied them to Rochester and Minneapolis, Minn., to Milwaukee, and on the return trip.

In Chicago, they attended the ball games, then visited Evansville, Ind., to see former Midland people, returning south via Memphis, Hot Springs, and on into Dallas and home.

In Wisconsin and other Northern Central states they found it still snowing with trees not leafed out in some places.

The Midland travelers never made long drives, Mr. Blakeney explained, and stopped whenever and where ever they wanted to.

They found Midland, unfortunately, the driest place they had seen.

Meet the Cowboys

KIRBY JORDAN

Kirby Jordan, the center fielder of the Cowboys, who is starting out this year like he intends to live up to his word and "get out of Class-D ball this year." At the present time, Kirby is hitting around 400 and most of his blows have been for extra bases. Kirby started out with Texarkana in 1938 after a scout for the team had signed him up after watching him play at Cumberland University. Kirby had gone to school there after finishing high school at Florence, S.C., where he still spends the winters. The East Texas League was a bit fast for Jordan and he was sent to McAllen in the Texas Valley league. All he did there, while playing in 100 games, was to lead the league in homers with 22, bat in 115 runs and hit 315. He was back with Texarkana last spring but pulled a muscle in one of his legs and when he recovered was optioned to Abilene. When the Abilene club was moved to Borger, Jordan went back to Texarkana and a few days later was sold to Midland. He hit well over 300 after joining the Cowboys and appears to be set for an even bigger season this year. While most attention has been paid to his hitting, Midland fans know that Jordan can cover the outfield with any of them in the league, usually coming up with at least one really difficult catch each game.

French Liner Quits Docks of New York

NEW YORK, May 2. (AP).—The French liner Ile de France, once the "floating art gallery" but now daubed with camouflage gray and loaded with tools of war, lifted anchor Wednesday and steamed slowly down the bay for an unknown destination.

Two passengers were aboard. They were described as a French general and the 16-year-old daughter of a French army officer. They refused to give their names.

Capt. Herbert Fontaine, a veteran of the French merchant marine, was one of the bridge. He had a crew of 375, many of them French-Canadians brought here to augment her skeleton crew.

Workmen had labored for the past week at loading the ship with planes, machinery, bars of copper and steel sheets and tubing. She had been stripped bare of her furnishings and her luxurious cabins were crammed with 12,000 tons of cargo.

Unofficial reports said the liner would proceed to Halifax, Nova Scotia, trans-ship her cargo there and sail for Australia to join the British liners Queen Mary and Mauritania in troops transport service.

Maritime men said that if she did cross the Atlantic she probably would travel most of the journey without convoy, depending on her speed of 23 knots to carry her safely past any lurking submarines, and pick up warship protection as she neared England or France.

Program for the day is as follows:

- 9:30 a.m. Registration at Odessa Scout Hut.
- 10:00 a.m. Kite Flying Contest (Have all kites made and ready to fly).
- 12:00 noon. Lunch at Scout Hut.
- 1:00 p.m. Treasure Hunt.

Elliott Says FDR Not to Run Unless People Demand Him

FORT WORTH, May 2. (AP).—Elliott Roosevelt predicted last night his father would not be a candidate for a third term unless there is a definite demand from the people.

In a radio address, the President's son said he believed Mr. Roosevelt would withhold announcement of his intentions until just before, or possibly during the national Democratic convention in Chicago.
