

Glider To Leave Muleshoe Airport On World Distance Record Attempt

Sometime within the next 60 days an attempt will be made to set a new world's distance record in a glider.

This flight will be made by George Arents, Cocanut Grove, Fla. who has brought his experimental 2-25 Schweitzer glider here to be launched from Muleshoe Flying Service.

To understand exactly how this flight is to be made, one would have to be somewhat of a weather wizard, however, in his explanation Arents said ideal weather conditions would prevail at intervals here during the next 60 days.

With a front of dry polar air pushing into this section, as it hits the dry warm air, it causes the warm air to rise and travel in front of the polar air creating a wedge-like lift moving ahead of the polar front.

Just before the leading edge of the front hits Muleshoe, Arents will be towed off by Morgan Locker of the Muleshoe Flying Service and by the stronger directional currents of air, will select his course for his pre-determined destination. He will reveal his intended destination and the use of a barograph will make the flight official. Prior to his final departure, Locker, as airport manager, will affix a seal on the instrument which records the entire path of flight: time, altitude and distance.

Should Arents reach his pre-determined destination, he will remove the graph immediately, return it to Locker for his examination. Locker will attest if, or not the seal has been broken or otherwise tampered with, and along with his statement to that effect, the graph will be sent to the California Soaring Society for examination. Next, it is sent to the National Soaring Society in Washington, then finally to the International Soaring Society in Paris, France.

Approval of the graph by these four inspection stations will give Arents the world pre-determined distance title now held by Russian Victor Itchenko for his 1953 flight from Stalingrad to Moscow.

Should Arents make this record in the solo class, he will then try for the two-place title, making another flight with a passenger aboard. This title is also held by a Russian soaring enthusiast.

If he fails to reach his destination, he will bring his glider back to Muleshoe and try again so long as weather conditions making trials possible, exists. Arents said there is only two places, West Texas and Siberia, where perfect weather exists, other than behind the Iron Curtain.

Crewing for the flight is another interesting phase. Arents keeps a crew man with glider rig which includes a matching blue car, trailer and glider, on location. While waiting for time for the fronts to approach, Arents stays in Miami and is in almost daily contact with Ernie Krick, famous weather forecaster Denver, Colo. who advise him as to the time of arrival of the fronts. Arents then flies by airline to Lubbock, is met there by his crewman and brought to Muleshoe in time to check the craft over. If the front fails to develop, he will fly back to Miami after each try.

Once the glider is off on the trip, the crew man will follow by car, pulling the trailer. The car and glider are radio equipped and by radio contact the crewman is able to keep up with the craft's position. Where ever and when ever the glider lands the crewmen will dis-assemble the craft, load it onto the trailer and bring it and Arents back to Muleshoe.

Arents won his Gold Badge for his recent flight from Odessa to Hereford on distance and Diamonds for Gold Badge on an altitude flight at Tehachapi, Calif.

Other than gliding, a sport to which he is very dedicated, Arents is a race driver of the Ferrari for which he is also a dealer for the entire continent of North America.

He has become famous during the past six years in the racing field, starting 13 races and winning each of them. The turning point came for the winning streak in 1957 when he rolled a Ferrari during a race at Bridgehampton, Long Island and was hospitalized for a long period of time. While convalescing Arents said he decided the only way to win a race was to finish it inside the track and right-side up. So he hasn't lost one yet.

Arents also owns a completely licensed FFA glider airport near Miami. The only way a power craft can land at this port is by special permission and provided that they flew from a distance of more than 50 miles and only then for the purpose of landing for glider flight training. An average of 200 tow flights are made monthly there.

His experimental flight are endorsed by National Geographic Magazine.

Local Pastor Stated for Retreat

The Rev. Daniel Morin of Bovina and the Rev. Roque Puente of Muleshoe are among 65 Baptist pastors from the northwest Texas region invited to attend a pastors' workshop-retreat April 29-May 1 at the Plains Baptist Encampment near Floydada.

The ministers will share their problems and successes, participate in Bible study and hear discussions on a variety of church-related topics ranging from evangelism to church administration.

The first of several such meetings for Latin American pastors scheduled across the state this spring and summer, the Plains retreat represents a new approach in pastoral type workshops.

All of the meetings will be held at encampments, giving ministers an unusual opportunity to get away from the press of pastoral duties where they can commune with God and fellowship with other pastors, said Dallas Lee, secretary of the Language Missions Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Each session of the Plains gathering will open with Bible study led by Dr. H. B. Ramsour, president of the Mexican Baptist Bible Institute, San Antonio. Following will be conferences on sermon building, evangelism, Christian stewardship, church achievement, church administration, self-support, church organizations and church growth.

Other key program personalities will include Lee; Rudy Sanchez, Rudy Hernandez and Oscar Romo, associates in the Language Missions Department; Carlos Ramirez, pastor of the Latin American Baptist Mission in Amarillo and R. Boyd Robertson, missionary to Argentina.

Former Resident Dies in Crash

Graveside rites for Curtis L. Schmitz, a former Muleshoe resident, are to be held at Bailey County Memorial Park here at 4 p.m. Thursday. Singleton Funeral home here is in charge of local arrangements.

Services are to be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in the Slingo community, conducted by the Rev. Leslie Veteto, pastor, assisted by the Rev. J. D. Leavelle, Wellman Baptist minister, and the Rev. Earl Robertson, Plains Baptist minister.

Survivors include his wife, Onnie; two sons, Monro, Odessa, and Earl, Muleshoe; his father, Jacob Schmitz, Artesia, N. M.; two brothers, Richard, Borger, and Clarence, Artesia; two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Baker, Artesia, and Mrs. Alma Hall, Cisco; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

—1933— Vern Snyder says George Washington must have had a wonderful memory, since he has read about so many different monuments being erected to his memory.

—1933— Planting trees and shrubbery should be easy this year, according to J. T. Gilbreath. All one has to do is dig the hole, drop the tree into it. The wind will soon fill it up with sand.

—1933— FROM A COLUMN ENTITLED "JESS JASACK JOSH" Most Muleshoers of the Blackwater Valley are more or less proud of their four-legged tractors that will turn from one to three acres of soil per day. Occasionally some mule-owner gets suspicious of his beast and begins to soliquize with himself regarding the merits and demerits. The following is a one-sided dialog a valley owner recently had with his animal: "Bill, you are a mule, the son of a jackass, and I am a man made in the image of God. Yet here we work hitched together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Sometimes I think it is a partnership of a mule and a fool. For surely I work harder than you do. Plowing here, we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I do it on two. So, mathematically speaking, I do twice as much per leg as you do. "Soon we will be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested, I give one-third to the landlord for being kind enough to let me use this corner of the universe. The other goes to you, and what is left is my share. But I divide mine among seven children, six hens, two ducks, and a banker. Bill, you are getting the best of me; it ain't fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to rob a man, the lord of creation, of his substance. And come to think of it, you only help with the cultivating. After that, I cut, shock, and husk it, while you look over the pasture fence and 'he-haw' at me. All fall and part of the winter the whole family from granny on down to the baby, pick cotton to help make money to buy you a new set of harness, and pay interest in the mortgage on you and by the way, what do you care about a mortgage? You leave that worry to me, you ungrateful cuss! "About the only time I'm your better is on election day, for I can vote and you can't. Cancer--

(Continued from Page 1) from the Texas Cancer Society for going above the county goal of $1,450.00. (The 1962 Crusade was 63 percent above the best year since the start of the local cancer drives.) Past Crusade chairmen for Bailey county have been Mrs. L. B. Hall, 1962; Dr. Charles Lewis, 1961; M. D. Gunstream, 1959-1960; Gilbert Lamb, 1955-1958; W. M. Pool, Jr., 1953; and Major William Harper, 1950. Mrs. Alsop, president of the local unit and 1963 Crusade chairman, will lead the American Cancer Society's 1963 Cancer Crusade in this area.

"We can expect a very successful education and fund-raising Crusade with the help of community leaders," Mrs. Alsop said. April is designated each year by the President of the United States as Cancer Control Month, she added.

The chairman said she had agreed to lead the Crusade "because there is urgent need for everyone to do his share in combating a disease that will strike some 46,000,000 Americans now alive if present rates continue."

The Crusade leader said the prospects for eventually solving the cancer problem have never been as great as they are today.

"We are now saving one out of three cancer patients," she said. "Twenty-five years ago it was fewer than one out of five. We could save one out of two under ideal conditions."

Mrs. Alsop attributed the improvement to two major factors: research has resulted in improved diagnosis and treatment; more people are getting to doctors in time for early treatment.

The educational aspect of the Crusade will seek to persuade more adults to have an annual health checkup as a precaution against possible death from cancer. The fund-raising aspect will supply needed funds for research, education and service programs.

Mrs. Alsop appealed for a record number of volunteers to join the Crusade so that the fight against cancer can be stepped up. She urged volunteers to call 5440 or 3-0769.

"If we all work together," she said, "I am sure we can make the 1963 Crusade a record one in lives saved and in the funds that are urgently needed for research."

Voted top commentator of the year in 1962, his energetic and fast-moving news-gathering technique has attracted a vast reading public, it was pointed out.

Harvey has been awarded six honorary degrees, four Gold Medals from Valley Forge's Freedoms Foundations and numerous veterans' and American Legion citations. Continuing coast-to-coast speaking engagements, author of three books, newspaper columnist, Harvey was elected to his home state's (Oklahoma) Hall of Fame, and has 29 of his broadcasts entered in the congressional record.

The area public is invited to hear Harvey, Friday in Plainview, the local ticket chairman stressed.

Saunders said the company is engaged in "an extensive expansion program" this year.

Farmers--

(Continued from Page 1) gated wheat 5,000 acres; dryland wheat 11,000 acres; livestock raising, 26,000 and poultry raising 13,000, the last two estimates are head rather than acres.

Meantime, the county agent says seedbeds are in readiness for spring planting, but little actual planting has started, awaiting warmer weather and more moisture in the case of dryland operations.

He said so far, "a little corn for roasting" has been planted, and one farmer in the Bula dryland region has planted cotton. He said this particular farmer has planted at this time for the last 12 years with good results.

But for the most part, cotton planting won't start before May 5 or May 10, depending on the moisture supply by that time.

Adams said practically all cotton ground has been pre-irrigated, and that farmers now are awaiting the recommended temperature for planting. Experts say the temperature should average at least 60 degrees for at least 10 days before planting. He said soil temperature is a valuable guide in planting cotton. Good cotton stands are more likely when the minimum soil temperature at an 8-inch depth averages 60 degrees for the 10 days preceding planting.

He said temperatures were observed with cotton plantings during a seven-year period (1952-58) to determine their value as a guide in finding the optimum time to plant cotton at Substation No. 8 at Lubbock.

When such a guide is used, Adams said cotton seedlings emerged in five to nine days when the preplanting soil temperature guide listed above was used. He said it took as many as 15 days for the seedlings to emerge when the average soil temperature was below 55 degrees in the Lubbock tests.

Some farmers are planting grain sorghum at this time, and much of the grain sorghum crop for 1963 may be sowed before cotton is planted on irrigated land. He explained that early planting has proved to be the best procedure to avoid damage from sorghum midge.

Don Staggs, laboratory assistant in flame cultivation research, and family, will move to the Rio Grande Valley and reside in Harlingen. Staggs will conduct the Foundation's research program on flame cultivation at 2 locations through the lower Valley. Dale Reeves, assistant to Jack Parks, is learning all of the phases of flame cultivation and states that progress on the program is moving at a rapid pace. He says that flame cultivation will cut the cost of cultivation for the farmer and has advantages over the sweep-type cultivation. Following irrigation, the soil does not have to dry out before getting into the fields with the cultivator, this permitting a quicker reaping of weeds before they get too big. He says the maximum cost per acre is about $3.60. Jones Copeland and B. T. Rusk set and adjust the cultivator for the farmer when he purchases a Hi-Trac and gets him on his way with a new type of cultivation. In commenting further on this major expansion of the Foundation's research program with flame cultivation Dr. Collister stated that, "The Rio Grande Valley represents a tremendous potential for the use of flame cultivation as a means of weed control, and flame cultivation could represent a significant reduction in the cost of producing cotton, grain sorghum and vegetable crops in the area."

TEXAS COTTON GROWERS REPORT:

Entire Season Control of Thrips, Aphids and Mites...

Di-Syston Treated Plants Are Stronger, Straighter... Produce More Squares Earlier

West Texas and New Mexico cotton growers now have a new way to control thrip damage and early-season stunting... with Di-Syston granular insecticide. Di-Syston is placed in the soil with the seed or side dressed after planting. The chemical is then absorbed by the growing roots and carried to all parts of the plant through the sap stream—as soon as the plant emerges. No part of the plant is unprotected—even tender new growth as it is formed.

The result? With Di-Syston, your early cotton grows faster, has stronger, straighter stems, more vigorous foliage. Squares form earlier and the plant produces more of them. Many growers in the Lubbock area have reported full season control of thrip with just the one application. You get higher yields because of the good Di-Syston start. This year, get your crop off to a good start with Di-Syston. Complete instructions for use are printed on the label on every package. Use Di-Syston.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW $10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system... and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance.

Trustees Honor Dr. A. H. Owen At Plainview

PLAINVIEW — President A. Hope Owen of Wayland Baptist College will be honored by trustees, faculty and friends from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma on April 22 at the Fifth Annual Merit Award Dinner, according to J. D. McPhaul, chairman of the Wayland Board of Trustees, who will be master of ceremonies. Some 200 guests are expected to see trustees present the Merit Award Citation to Dr. Owen for his outstanding service to Christian Education through his 10 years as president.

Dr. Ralph Phelps, president of Ouachita Baptist College, Arkadelphia, Ark., will be guest speaker. Prior to his request for retirement on July 1, 1963, trustees had voted to honor Dr. Owen on his tenth anniversary as president of Wayland Baptist College. This dinner will recognize both his attainments as a president and his retirement, according to Mr. McPhaul.

Dr. Phelps, a native of Dallas, has been president of Ouachita since October, 1953. Under his leadership this old Arkansas Baptist college has shown remarkable progress. He has served as chairman of the Education Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention and is now Clark County Juvenile Board Chairman. His graduate work at Baylor University and Southwestern Seminary was in the field of social ethics and his two books, "Tangled Threads" and "Blueprint for Tomorrow," deal with social problems.

Dr. Owen became Wayland president after serving as pastor of churches in Plainview and Quanah Texas, Albuquerque, and Santa Fe, N. M., Shawnee and Clinton, Okla. As a pastor he served as trustee for Oklahoma Baptist University, from which he received both the B. A. and D. D. degrees, and also for Wayland. He is a graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to be kidding big cities, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
It's been so long since the big city newspapers and magazines have exercised themselves over the farm problem that I had the feeling something was afoot, and it is.

According to an article in a newspaper I found out here on this Johnson grass farm yesterday where it had blown up against a fence and which I removed at once before the whole thing blew over — I'm no engineer but I know what a few more pounds of stress can do to a fence of mine — big cities are seeking 375 million dollars in Federal grants to help them finance transportation systems for commuters.

As I understand it, so many people work in cities the streets won't hold all their cars and they have to use trains and buses, but the trains and buses are losing money and their equipment is delapidated so naturally the only thing to do is to turn to Washington for money to make up the difference. Cities may denounce farmers for doing this, but they know a good idea when they see it.

I can't get any big cities to agree with me, but clearly the trouble is that we've got a surplus of cities. Marginal cities, I guess you'd call them, like marginal farmers.

It looks to me like any city which is so big it can't get its people to and from the working areas every day, is simply too big. In reverse, it's like the farmer who's too small. Both are uneconomic.

Now with the farmer, the city answer has always been, let him give up unprofitable farming and move to town, but it's hard to say that if a city is too big, let it close up and move to a smaller place. You can say it, but it hardly makes sense.

What cities need actually is either wider streets, narrower cars, or fewer people, but nobody seems to be making any progress in any of these directions.

The way it looks to me, big cities don't want the Federal government helping farmers in the country, they want them to move to town and then help them there.

Personally, if it's all right with

Washington, I'd rather have the help where I am and avoid all that traffic. It's easier, more comfortable, and you can do it in the shade.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CONTROL WEEDS, MULCH SOIL EASIER

with  ROTARY HOE

Progressive farmers have found a way to increase their crop yields by killing small weeds before they get started. They use the MM Avery Rotary Hoe to produce good mulch, save moisture and restore even the hardest caked ground to excellent growing conditions. The MM Avery Rotary Hoe is available in 2, 4 and 6 row sizes with optional V-type hitch attachments for combining sections to make 3 or 5 row sizes.

Long-Life Construction Means Bigger Value!

Oil-soaked, easily replaced wood bushings, are designed to assure positive and constant lubrication. Saturated bushings and sturdy hoe teeth are the only wearing parts and are easily replaced to provide long years of low cost and dependable service. A unique stone guard keeps stones from sticking between teeth. This also helps to break soil clods and to pulverize your ground. The wheel is made of two pieces of solid steel bolted together. It will not break or bend.

If ground is unusually hard, weights may be added to the built-in weight box to increase your soil penetration.

Once you see the MM Avery Rotary Hoe in operation and the job it will do for you, you will want it for your farm. Come in and see us today for the complete facts on the Rotary Hoe and other MM Avery farm equipment.
