The Quintet.
Master of Ceremonies Tom Brown, Bell Telephone manager of Midland, introduces the play "Orphan Nell", to the audience on the nights of June 27, 28th. Cecil Elder of Midland will take part on the opening night of June 26th.

Mr. Brown, a tenor and leader of the Barbershop Quintet also plays another part during the play. He will be recognized as Skidbar, the Philadelphia lawyer.

Mr. Elder, son of J. H. Elder, owner of the Elder Chevrolet and Buick agency, is a sophomore in the University of California. He also sings tenor in the play.

Jack Hurt, a 1941 Midland high school graduate, a waiter in the bar room, does not object to leaving his task of keeping plenty of beer on the customers' tables and joining in with the singers. He also sings three duets with Mrs. Johnny Sherrod during the evening's performance.

Lawrence Liberty, a graduate of Midland high school and student of the University of Texas, lends his voice to the quintet when they bring to mind such old songs as "After the Ball" and "Tavern in the Town."

Another member of the quintet is Roy Maxson, Jr., a petroleum engineer for the Humble and graduate of the University of Texas. He chooses a less dignified part for the play and we soon spot him as the gambler.

The Bartender, whose duty it is to see that all customers have plenty of drinks and yet has time to join in the singing, is Harold D. Braden who lives in Midland and is an employe of Moreland Spaulding Appliance Company.

FEMININE FANCIES
By Kathleen Eiland

We maintain that the United States should remain at peace. Prepare to whatever extent is needed—certainly. But our vote goes to staying out of war until it is actually necessary to fight. And we hope that point will never be reached.

The famous Keys quads, the four sisters who have been in the limelight for years because of their unique distinction of being born in number, as it were, instead of singly, are at last separated. Mona was to marry an oil company accountant yesterday.

It all goes to show that where there's a man in the case the maiden of 1940 still holds to that "whither thou goest I will go" and "thy people shall be my people" creed which was voiced (though we admit about a different type of love) in Biblical times.

Did you ever notice how weddings, like other less pleasant things, seem to go in epidemics? When the other Keys girls decide to marry, they'll probably do it all at the same time.

We note the deep "bake-a-pie" pans which are simply convenient paper ones to do away with having to grease the tin ones—and even more to be thankful for—to do away with the washing of pie pans afterward.

Just a lot of women who go all enthusiastic over cookery itself are anything but enthusiastic over the resultant dishwashing. For them, we recommend the paper receptacles.

Did you ever think that green is the hardest color to match? It has our nomination for that questionable honor.

There's the blue-green, and the gray-blue-green, and the yellow-green, and the vivid green, and the dark green, and the dull green—and probably several others. Anyway, if you think it is easy to match any prescribed color of green, especially in the range of green tones which are stylish this year—just try it. We know from experience that it is somewhat of a task.

College Campaign Begun To Keep U. S. Out of War
EASTON, Pa. (U.P.)—A college campaign to discourage war hysteria in the United States and to promote peace "in every honorable way" has been started by The Lafayette weekly student publication at Lafayette College.

The Lafayette asked editors of 16 Eastern college newspapers to contribute their ideas as a basis for discussing means of keeping the nation out of war. A conference will be called later to formulate a platform.

In an editorial, the Lafayette publication said that a survey showed 80 per cent of college students are opposed to fighting "Europe's war on Europe's soil." It demanded that the Federal government crystallize its stand on the war question.

Kermit Water System To Be Dedicated June 29
KERMIT, June 19.—A gigantic carnival and all-day celebration will be Kermit's way of telling the world June 29 of their new $188,000 water and sewer system, with a free barbecue as a token of hospitality to their West Texas and New Mexico neighbors.

American Legion, Fire Department and Lions Club committees are polishing plans for the celebration, which will open at 10 a.m., June 29, with a parade featuring high school bands, floats of merchants and civic organizations, and comedy floats.

The system will be formally dedicated at 11 a.m., with dozen of state, county and district officials joining city officials in opening the new systems.

A tour of the Cabot Company carbon black and gasoline plants, the Magnolia Plant, and the Smith Brothers gasoline plant, largest in West Texas, will begin at 2 p.m. School buses will take guests to the plants.

Kermit firemen and Lions will oppose each other in a fire hose water fight at the carnival grounds at 4 p.m., immediately following a championship amateur calf-roping event at the rodeo grounds. Cowhands from the wide Permian ranch area have indicated their intention to enter, Charlie Mitchell, rodeo chairman, reported Thursday.

The barbecue and carnival will open at 5 p.m., with 4,000 pounds of steer meat as the main dish of the barbecue, being prepared by County Commissioner Jim Slaughter, famed over West Texas for his barbecuing.

Leader in Plot to Kill Trotsky Sought
MEXICO CITY, June 19 (AP)—Police called upon newspapers and radio stations throughout the nation today to assist in a hunt for David Alfaro Siqueiros, well known Mexican artist, who, they alleged, had been identified as a conspirator in the machine-gun attempt on the life of Leon Trotsky May 24.

Siqueiros and three others have been implicated by several confessed participants, declared General J. Manuel Nunez, chief of the federal district police. Thirty persons have been detained.

Nunez said he had obtained information that the plot was directed by foreigners among whom, he asserted, apparently were several members of the Russian secret police, on whom Trotsky blamed the attempt on his life.

Siqueiros, a communist leader, was a colonel in the Madrid army during the Spanish civil war.

Elliott Roosevelt Will Address the Permian Basin Association June 21

Elliott Roosevelt's address to the Permian Basin Convention in Odessa at 2:30 p. m., Friday, June 21, will be before a gigantic basin wide patriotic rally rather than for the general convention assembly as first announced, President J. L. Greene said today.

Sensing the new emergency and believing that every civic organization should streamline its facilities to fit existing conditions, association officers have made this change so that all people of the Permian Basin as well as the world at large may readily know that this organization is available for any national service which may be needed. A call is made to all citizens to join in this rally as an indication of their appreciation of the national emergency and as a means of showing the vigilance of West Texas people.

In a telephone conversation Tuesday Roosevelt quickly agreed to alter his address to fit the new arrangement.

Scene of the rally will be Ector county's new civic auditorium which is being air conditioned for the occasion.

The Odessa High School band, G. Ward Moody, Director, will play a 15 minute patriotic concert preceding Mr. Roosevelt's address. The Tucker Twins, famed singers of Winters, Texas, will sing "God Bless America." Copies of this song will be furnished all in attendance to permit their joining in the mass singing which will close the meeting.

The rally will consider resolutions to be forwarded to the President of the United States pledging to him the active cooperation of the association in the plans already under way giving adequate defense to the vast oil reserves and other natural

Elliott Roosevelt, distinguished son of the President, will address the patriotic rally which is a feature of the Permian Basin Association convention in Odessa, June 1-22. The rally will be held in Odessa's new Ector County Civic auditorium at 2:30 p. m. Friday.

The Permian Basin is urged to attend.

Emergency Demand May Outweigh in Importance the Surplus Oil Stocks

By WEDWARD CURTIS.

TULSA, Okla., June 19 (AP).—Attention of the Mid-Continent Petroleum industry was divided today between the reality of excess stocks, grown more burdensome with the fall of exports, and the possibility of a wartime emergency demand.

While Texas operators pondered the swelling gasoline and crude oil stocks, President Roosevelt late yesterday urged the industry to be ready to meet at once any need that might arise.

A majority of the Texans in an emergency hearing opposed a general shutdown of all the wells of the No. 1 oil state, hard hit by the Gulf Coast export slump attributed to loss of European markets.

The Railroad Commission, Texas' oil regulatory body which called the hearing, ordered a canvass of crude purchasers' nominations by districts today.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt emphasized that the war-torn world's oil picture might change from one day to another; that the American export trade curtailed one day might have new outlets the next.

Some Oklahoma observers considered the Texas situation localized, pointing out that the allowables there had exceeded bureau of mines estimates of demand.

A major point at issue in the Texas hearing was whether production should be cut in given districts, such as the Gulf Coast area which was permitted special allowables to meet foreign demand, or should be absorbed by the state generally.

The crude situation elsewhere also was reported spotted. Many areas reported a firm tone with past demand continuing good, but there seemed no immediate demand for crude from areas which have been in a distressed condition.

Mid-Continent refiners reported gasoline consumption rising with sales on a steady to firm basis. Kerosene was weaker, but fuel oils continued strong.

In the field, the Oil and Gas Journal reported 645 well completions for the week ended June 15, compared with 561 the previous week and 505 a year ago.

The Esperson field in Liberty county, Texas Gulf Coast area, got a new pay... the Stratton gas field in Nueces county, Southwest Texas, yielded its first crude oil... A Gilcrease sand pool was opened in Pontotoc county, and the Heyburn area county, got Dutcher sand production in Oklahoma... Eastern McPherson county, Kas., got a pool opener, and an Arbuckle lime well apparently connected the Wilkins and North Wilkins pools in Ellsworth county... The Walker field in Kent county, Michigan, got a 1,400-bbl. well.

South Marked For Important Defense Role

By RICHARD GLASS United Press Staff Correspondent.

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP).—The South, into which the armies of the United States once marched to war, today is preparing to welcome great modern armies so that the re-united nation may be made safe from invasion.

The Federal government, realizing the strategically important geographic location of the southern and southeastern states, has made huge appropriations for the development of military and naval bases in the area. Even more funds are expected to go into the military development of the South.

In every Southern state, Chambers of Commerce, National Guard officers and patriotic organizations are working to insure the best locations for training camps, air fields and naval aviation bases—to be used when and if needed.

The Federal government has authorized or begun construction in the South on these projects:

A 525,000-acre anti-aircraft training center near Savannah, Ga. The cost has been estimated at $25,000,000, including an outlay of $3,500,000 for land in seven counties.

Enlargement of Fort McPherson in Atlanta for which $1,500,000 was authorized by the House Military Affairs Committee. An army supply base to serve the entire southeast will be located at the fort.

Expansion of Fort Benning, at Columbus, Ga., to allow additional personnel to use the facilities of what is already the world's largest training school for infantry.

Expansion of the Opa-locka naval air base at Miami, at a cost of $3,500,000, intended to increase the navy's control over the Caribbean sea and the Central American zone—an obvious point of attack.

Air Base at Jacksonville.

Construction of an even larger air base at Jacksonville, Fla., near the Georgia border, primarily designed for huge flying boats. The base will cost some $10,000,000, while an additional $3,000,000 has been proposed for a school for aviation mechanics at the base.

Selection of Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., and Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., as army air training schools. Both are used now for combat training of army pilots, and under the new development also would serve for preliminary training in the nationwide effort to turn out more pilots.

Recent completion of an army bombing base at MacDill Field, near Tampa. It will serve as Southeastern headquarters for army squadrons.

Possible addition of aviation units to National Guards. The Georgia National Guard has been selected as one of eight in the country to incorporate a bombardment squadron, while the entire force is mechanized.

Further Developments Expected. Nearly all of the projects listed were under consideration or being constructed at the time of President Roosevelt's announcement of his plan for national defense. When the vast program does get underway, even more development of Southern resources is predicted.

In addition to actual work under way, authorities have pointed out that the Southern climate is ideal for year-round training of all branches of the service; that Northern Alabama is a great producer of iron ore and finished steel; that the mountains of Kentucky and West Virginia are full of coal necessary to war industries, and that Georgia's mineral wealth is extensive.

Four Residents Of Hamlet Go Into Diplomacy

HANCOCK, N. H. (UP).—This tiny hamlet—named in honor of the first signer of the Declaration of Independence—is fast becoming a center of U. S. diplomacy.

With the appointment of Jay Pierrpont Moffat to succeed James H. R. Cromwell as minister to Canada, the town now boasts four residents who serve in the diplomatic corps. Townfolk give full credit to "the Grew girls." Daughters of Joseph C. Grew, U. S. ambassador to Japan, they brought their husbands back to the New Hampshire hills they roamed as children. Their father's brown shingled home, Flagstones, now forms the nucleus of the family diplomatic group.

His eldest daughter Lilla Cabot married Moffat. Their white colonial home is a quarter-mile "cross lots" from the Grew homestead. A third daughter Elizabeth Sturgis is the wife of Cecil Burton Lyon, a consular clerk at Santi-

Corn Crop Goes To Help Church

WENONA, Ill. (U.P.)—Returns from "God's Acres" are making it possible for congregations in this small community to pay-as-they-go in making necessary improvements and repairs on their church buildings.
When the Bethany Lutheran church was faced with the problem of how it would finance repairs and redecorations in preparation for its 50th anniversary in 1942, the solution literally came through the mail.

One of the members received a copy of Prairie Farmer, weekly agricultural magazine, which told of a method being employed by Iowa churches to raise money.

Each farmer was asked to plant one acre of corn on his farm. Returns from the acre, to be known as "God's Acre," were to be given to the church.

Put into practice on instigation of the member, a small farm of 32 separate acres was set apart for the church by the congregation. Seed corn salesmen in the congregation obtained high quality hybrid corn for all who wanted to plant an "acre for God."

Non-agricultural members found other means of providing their acre. One of the town families gave the rent from an apartment; a school teacher turned over the interest on some bonds.

Total yield from the acres for this one church was 2,000 bushels. Several farmers reported that "God's Acres" yield more corn than any other single acre on their farms. The best yield was 100 bushels.

Redecorating the church ordinarily would have cost $2,500, but with free labor and special prices on materials, the cost was cut to $1,500.

Having watched the success with which Bethany Lutheran used the plan to finance their repairs, St. John's Methodist church of this city is preparing to try the system this summer to finance a new parsonage.
