Ray's 'Ritin'

By RAY MARTIN

Today is dog-day in Muleshoe, and since rabies shots are going to be given at a one-third off price, probably most of the pooches will get themselves shot before the day is over.

Just got to thinking: What if the doctors of human beings (more or less) set up bargain days for operations — like removing tonsils for one-fourth off, or a genuine, full-size appendectomy for a bargain price of only $298.99, plus tax. Or maybe a special on the removal of wisdom teeth; like one molar removed for $3 or a turnkey job of yanking all four for a Thursday special of $10.

But I believe the thing that would make more people, especially women, wind up on the operating table would be a double-stamp day for surgery. The doctors could stage a double-stamp day for all operations costing more than $25 (and what operation doesn't cost more) and there wouldn't be an appendix or a wisdom tooth left in west Texas.

But back to the dogs. If every dog in Muleshoe gets himself a shot today, there simply won't be enough rabies serum in all of Texas to do the job. Started out walking to town the other Sunday and I got a pretty good estimate of the dog population of Muleshoe. Each and every one of them all the way from Goathhead Acres Estate to the courthouse came out and yapped his head off at me.

Most of them were just noisy, but there's a little pint-sized rascal out around the 700 block that's downright dangerous! When he barked — which he did in a lyric soprano voice — he meant it. That little fellow was plumb vicious! Thought he was going to bite me, and it wouldn't have been so bad if it had been an English bull dog that had taken a nip out of my skinny ankles, but to tell people that the reason I was on crutches was because I had been bitten by a 3-pound Chihuahua — well, nobody would believe a story like that.

Glad Cindy, our overweight Dachshund, fortunately doesn't read the papers, or we wouldn't be able to find her until after Thursday. Shots scare her, and a trip to the vet's gives her a bad case of the shakes before she even reaches the reception room.

In fact, she's suspicious of everybody except Mama and me, and she endures people as necessary.

REGIONAL CHAMPIONS — Muleshoe came home from the regional meet at Lubbock Saturday with seven regional awards and now six of the group are grooming for the state meet at Austin May 1-4. Here they are shown talking over their winnings. Left to right are Shirley Smallwood, Mike Connell, Nine Ed Bovell, Don Williams, Jerry Gilbreath, Robert Seagroves and Barry Lewis. All but Connell will go to the state. He was named to the All-Star one-act play cast. Four make up the top debate team and two are winners in track.

Help for Wheat Farmers Likely Despite Vote

WASHINGTON — Rep. Graham Purcell (D-Texas) said today that Congressmen from agricultural areas would do all the you could for farmers regardless of the outcome of the May 21 referendum on wheat controls.

The Congressman is chairman of the Wheat Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee. He spoke on the radio program, "What's the Issue?" (MBS) produced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The program is broadcast nationwide at 3:05 to 3:30 Sunday afternoons.

Statements have been made generally, Rep. Purcell said, that if farmers reject the Administration's wheat program there would be no new legislation.

Two Republican members of the House Agriculture Committee speaking on the same program agreed with Rep. Purcell that farmers in any event would help from their congressmen.

Rep. Robert Dole (R-Kans.) said, "That's a proper approach." Rep. Robert Dole (R-Kans.) expanded further.

"I think that Mr. Purcell has pointed out the true theory of a referendum. In other words, you try out something in the farmer."

Six Muleshoe Pupils To Compete in State

Muleshoe senior high school will send six pupils to the state inter-scholastic and track meet at Austin May 1, 2, 3 and 4 as a result of placements in the regional events at Lubbock last weekend.

With competition the heaviest it has been in recent years, the Mules managed to take several firsts to qualify the six for the state meet.

Especially successful were the Mule debate teams which took top honors for both the boys' and girls' pairs.

Girls team was composed of Nine Ed Bovell and Shirley Smallwood, while the boys team was composed of Barry Lewis and Donald Williams. The teams, coached by Kerry Moore, had previously won the district 3-AA title. This is one of the first times that both boys' and girls' teams have won the top prize at the tough Lubbock regional events.

Another winner in the interscholastic events was Mike Connell who was picked for "all-star" honors in the one-act play contest. This contest, however, is not carried to the state.

In track and field events, Robert Seagroves won the high jump events for Class AA with a 6-1/4 record. Jerry Gilbreath, Muleshoe, placed second in 440-yard dash with a time of 50.9. Both first and second place winners go to the state meet.

Jerry Harrison won sixth in 880-yard run.

Karen Jones and Larry Allison each won honorable mention honors in the one-act play contests, and Rhonda Wagon of Muleshoe was one of three who tied for third in persuasive speaking. The others were Wesley Schultz, White Deer, and Dianne Summer, Haskell.

Three Way Sets Special Election

Three-Way school in the south part of Bailey county will have a special school trustee election May 9 made necessary after two contestants tied in the regular election April 6, County Judge Glen Williams said Wednesday.

Names appearing on the ballots are those of Leon Dupler, the incumbent, and Carl Pollard, each of whom received 16 votes in the previous election. Absentee voting started this week, but so far no absentee ballots had been cast.

Patrons of the school were voting for two trustees at the April 6 election. Jack F. Ferguson received 20 votes to clinch a place on the board. Pollard and Dupler received 16 votes; Melvin Hale got 10 and Dale Nichols received two votes.

Voters may vote for one of the two men whose names appear on the ballot or they may write in their preferences, it was pointed out.

Work of Appraising Road Tracts Starts

Preliminary work on appraising 73 parcels of land to be covered by the widening of killer 84 has started with the setting up of an office here by Dan MacNaughton, Plainview, who was appointed recently by the county commissioners for the appraisal work.

MacNaughton has hired a secretary to assist in the tedious work of fixing land owners and getting ready to do the actual field work.

County Judge Glen Williams said MacNaughton must fix the values of all 73 parcels of land as well as the value of comparable land in the same area. This means if only two acres for example, are wanted from a certain land owner for the widened right-of-way, MacNaughton must fix the value of the rest of the owner's land before he can set an actual estimate on the parcel to be covered by the road.

Thus another step has been taken in the tedious process of taking West Texas' greatest killer off the map.

Williams said it probably will be several weeks before the preliminary "office work" can be completed and MacNaughton can go out for actual inspections to fix the various tracts' values.

The appraisal phase of the pre-construction program is one of the most complicated of all the bookwork necessary to widening the road, Judge Williams explained. MacNaughton will have until September 15 in which to complete all appraisal details. He must submit four copies of his evaluations to the state for each tract of land to be brought for the 84-70 project, and these must be approved by the state highway department. For his work, Mac

Naughton is to receive $7,500. After he has submitted his appraisals of the tracts' worth and all figures have been accepted by the highway department, the county next will hire a purchaser for the 73 parcels, owned by 65 different individuals.

After that, the program is expected to move more rapidly, barring failure to accept the appraiser's figures. If owners accept the money which he says the land is worth, the deeds can be drawn quickly and the actual bidding on construction can get

Public Donations Asked for Library

In conjunction with National Library week, this week of April 21 through 27, and in support of the Muleshoe Library expansion, people in the Muleshoe area are being asked to donate their time and money for the local library fund.

In addition to the two memorial library shelves' fund in memory of Lilly Hunke and Dr. L. T. Green, Jr., which totals approximately $275.00, several local organizations are actively participating in the library fund project. Begun in 1939 by the Muleshoe Study Club and the 1939 Study Club in a joint project, the present library housed in the Bailey county courthouse continues today as the primary project of the Muleshoe Study club, trustee for the library.

The Bailey County Farm Bureau has adopted a resolution in support of the library movement and has pledged their help and support.

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce included in its 1962 questionnaire for chamber works, the library as a possible project. Tabulated results show the library second in the members' priority ratings for Chamber projects' support.

The ESA sorority assumed as a club project this year fund raising for the library fund, and they are presently conducting a campaign for the library by sponsoring a library benefit on May 4. Music will be furnished by Johnnie Lee Wills and all ticket proceeds from the event will go to the library fund. Mrs. Kenneth Precure, ESA president, said.

The Muleshoe Jaycees volunteered to assist in the sponsorship of the E S A library benefit dance. Tickets may be purchased from members of either organization.

Cancer Urgency is Prod to Crusade Here

"The urgency of the moment to cancer volunteers will make it possible for cancer research to make us victorious over the statistical disadvantages of this merciless, agonizing and damnable cancer disease," the Rev. Henry C. Adair, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, Levelland, told Bailey county crusade leaders at their kick-off meeting Tuesday afternoon at the district courtroom.

Speaking in behalf of the district and state cancer societies, Mr. Adair acknowledged the most of the 30 odd persons at the meeting were involved in 7 other malignancies of our existing society. But, he stressed, volunteers helped the scientists lick polo, then the killer of one out of 32 persons. One out of every four persons or 285,000 total in the United States will die this year of cancer, the projected figures predict.

Cancer will involve two out of every three families in this county this year. Seven deaths in Bailey county last year, nine year before last were due to cancer.

In the vigorous and analytical "pep" talk, Adair further told that one will die of cancer every two minutes or 770 every 24 hours in this county.

Quoting the 13th chapter of I Corinthians, he gave the challenge "that it is high time to quit playing childish games and taking responsibilities half-heartedly, or just visiting a cancer-affected friend and praying that it won't be MY husband, wife, mother, father, or children to die NEXT in this one out of every four people involved in cancer deaths. "We must 'become a man' and do our best to accumulate funds for creative cancer research as well as pray for those already victimized."

Mrs. Charles Alsop, president of the local cancer society, presented the speaker, and also introduced J. B. Johnson, ACS field representative.

Mrs. Pat Bobo will lead the house-to-house campaign, with the assistance of her division captains and block workers who will be announced when the list is complete. She said that the deadline for turning over money and unused data to her is noon April 30.

In charge of the Muleshoe business drive is Vic Benedict, local insurance man.

Area chairmen already assigned are Mrs. Byron Gwyn, Progress, and Mrs. Fred Beene, Needmore and Baileyboro. Others will be confirmed later, Mrs. Alsop said.

The minimum share for this unit is $1,300, with a "Better Best" goal to top all records in the offing, Mrs. Alsop said.

Bailey County 4-H Land Judges Win 1st

Bailey county 4-H club boys know their dirt.

They knew it well enough—all kinds of dirt—to win championship for districts 1 and 2 at Plainview last Saturday. The contest was sponsored by the Plainview Chamber of Commerce.

Now they'll try for regional honors at Texas Tech May 4 with an eye on the state contest to be held later this spring.

The Bailey county team, coached by County Agent J. K. Adams, is composed of Bill Harbin, Stanley Black, Bruce Little and Kearney Scoggin.

Hart Future Farmers of America took top honors for FFA boys at the Plainview meet. Members were James Mitchell, David Gardner, Roger Davis and Lanny Tucker with Lanny Tucker as coach.

Top-ranking individuals in the FFA division were Gary Hufstetler, Amherst; David Gardner, Hart; Dwight Faver, Littlefield; Bill Gillam and Richard Loter, both of Monterey, Lubbock.

High individuals in the 4-H division were Bill Harbin and Stanley Black, Bailey county; Larry Karrh, Hale county; Kearney Scoggin, Bailey county, and Dale McEachern, Hale county.

Other winning FFA teams were Monterey, Lubbock; Lubbock high; Slaton and Littlefield. Second place team in 4-H was the Hale county group, and third place went to the Collingsworth county four.

Approximately 150 boys and their leaders participated in the contest. Twenty-seven FFA teams

It's Dog Day In Muleshoe!

This is "dog day" in Muleshoe, and pooches form pint-sized Chihuahuas to Great Danes (if there are in town) will get their rabies shots from 1 to 5 p.m. — at a bargain price.

The City is setting up the special rabies vaccination headquarters at City Hall, and Dr. Gleason will vaccinate animals for $2 instead of the usual $3. City tags also will be available at $2 each.

and five 4-H teams competed in the contest, 10th of its kind held in as many years.

Trophies and ribbons were presented Saturday afternoon in a ceremony held in the National Guard armory with Walter Labay, Plainview, Area I vocational agriculture supervisor, in charge.

Successful bidder was Dallas Ruse & Sons, Inc., Dallas.

Other bonding companies submitting bids were: Rowles, Winston & Co., Houston; Ranscher, Pierce & Co., Dallas; First Southwest Co., Dallas; Hamilton Securities Co., Dallas, and Dittmar & Co., San Antonio and Dallas.

Recalling these bonds at a lower rate of interest will save the district $12,223 in interest payments on this issue, the superintendent said.

Annual State Teachers Banquet Held Here

LINKS OF CHAIN — Newly installed officers of TSTA have linked a chain inscribed with each office they hold symbolizing how they will work together throughout the coming year in the organization. They are: Elizabeth Watson, president, Joyline Costen, vice-president. Rollie McNutt, second vice-president. Janice Phillips, secretary. P. D. Rogers, treasurer and Bill Bickle, parliamentarian. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

The annual Texas State Teachers Association banquet and installation of officers was held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Muleshoe High School Cafeteria. Byron Hardgrove, retiring president, was master of ceremonies.

Theme of the program was "A Great Profession: Ours by Choice."

Banquet tables were covered with white with a black crepe paper streamer extending the length of each table overlaid with a slightly narrower streamer of blue. White candles sprinkled with blue glitter in crystal holders were surrounded with matching blue sweat peas and placed at intervals on the streamers. Unique place cards were made from pipe cleaners, felt, cloth and various other items formed in the shape of a person with the head being an actual photo of the person to be seated there. Some were costumed as alligators, dancers, professors, and even teachers!

The programs were blue, gold and black bearing the TSTA symbol: a legacy of the past (the PI for the first letter of the Ancient Greek word of education) with direction for the future (the aerodynamic dart). This symbol was also placed on the wall behind the head table flanked by the words of the theme.

Rev. Tommy Gleaton, pastor of the Progress Methodist Church, gave the invocation and special music was provided by the Imperial Dischorps composed of Tye Young, Jack Young, Wayne Ethridge and Doyle Trapp.

Ruth Fowler served as installation officer. Retiring officers were Byron Hardgrove, president, Elizabeth Watson, vice-president; Milton Oyler, second vice-president; Joyline Costen, secretary; Bobby Graves, treasurer; George Washington, Melvin Mackey, Dorothy Brock, C. E. Fox, and Elsie Kendall, building representatives.

Elizabeth Watson introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Fred B. Norris, Corpus Christi, immediate past president of TSTA. Mrs. Norris used as her topic "Education in a Changing World."

"Education might be the key that unlocks the door to world peace, Mrs. Norris told the teachers and their guests."

"With its complete lack of politics and with no particular religious affiliation, education might well be the key we have been seeking for world peace," she said. "For this reason, teachers are so all-important to our world program."

Mrs. Norris said that educated people "are free people, and only as the world becomes literate can we hope to achieve a free people in a free world."

She stressed the need for teaching languages "to break down the barrier that now exists throughout the world."

She added: "I believe we should teach our pupils in conversational languages, not just of English and French, but of other languages as well. Our chief problem now is the lack of an adequate

Plainview Speaker To Address Senior Girl Graduates

The Plainview Panhellenic will send a representative to Muleshoe High School to speak briefly with all graduating senior girls who are interested in learning about national college social sororities and their rushing and pledging procedures.

The meeting has been scheduled at the high school at 10:45 a.m. Friday (tomorrow) morning.

The Panhellenic members of Plainview will hold their annual Informational-Educational Tea on May 4 in Plainview. Invitations are to be extended area girls who will enter colleges or universities with national college social sororities on campus in September, 1963, and who express their interest in possible sorority affiliation. These girls are urged to attend the Friday morning meeting, area spokesman Mrs. William H.

NEW P-TA OFFICERS — At installation Monday afternoon at the Richland Hills Parent and Teacher Association's meeting, Mrs. Owen Jones took the reins from retiring president Mrs. Roland McCormick. From left to right, are Mrs. Jones, president; Mrs. Clarence Mason, first vice-president; Mrs. Joe Harbin, second vice-president; Mrs. Robert Hooten, secretary; Mrs. Earl Ladd, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Norman Thomas, historian; and Mrs. McCormick, parliamentarian.

Richland Hills P-TA Resolution Opposes Federal Aid To Education

Richland Hills P-TA installed 1963-1964 officers and attended to the business at hand, including their action on the Local Unit Ballot, at the April meeting Monday afternoon, at the school's cafeteria.

Superintendent Neal Dillman challenged each new officer and then the membership of P-TA to dedication to their responsibility and function of making this community, this county, this state, this nation, and the world a better place in which to live, by individual as well as collective action. The P-TA serves for the educational purpose of parents, teachers and children, he said.

Mrs. Owen Jones is new president; Mrs. Clarence Mason, first vice-president; Mrs. Joe Harbin, second vice-president; Mrs. Earl Ladd, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Robert Hooten, secretary; Mrs. Norman Thomas, historian; and Mrs. Roland McCormick, the retiring president new parliamentarian.

Other business inacted was a vote to stand expenses for the drinks for the Friday picnic for the school's Safety Patrol. Mrs. Lena Hawkins, chairman; Mrs. W. M. Pool, II, and William B. Slayden were appointed to audit the treasurer's books.

Members marked proposed legislation ballots were brought to the meeting. A resolution was adopted by a vote of 38 to 6 on a motion by Mrs. L. B. Hall "that this resolution be adopted and attached to the official ballot and mailed with a letter to our state P-TA president and to other interested representatives. If this resolution on adoption conflicts with majority vote on the ballot, then this (qualifying) resolution will only further serve to prove that the ballot was misunderstood."

Approximately 55 persons attended the meeting.

Wayland President Schedules Preaching Services Here Sunday

President A. Hope Owen of Wayland Baptist College has been invited to preach the Sunday services at First Baptist Church Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Don Murray, who is in Japan.

The 1962-63 session is Dr. Owen's 10th as president of Wayland College, which has shown remarkable growth in facilities under his presidency, with the seventh permanent building being dedicated in the fall. With the occupancy of the Home Life Building more than $1 1/2 million in construction has been completed since he became president in July, 1953. Still other buildings are being planned for erection with the $2.9 million allocated to Wayland in the Christian Education Crusade now being conducted by the Baptist General Convention of Texas, which expects to raise $28 million in five years for eight Texas Baptist colleges.

One of the top honors to go to him was the Wayland trustees naming in his honor the 106-unit women's residence in 1961-62. He was also elected vice-president of the Southern Association of Baptist Colleges, composed of presidents and deans of 71 Southern Baptist related colleges, academies and seminaries.

He is serving as secretary-treasurer of the Conference of Church-Related Colleges in the South, which meets annually with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools of which Wayland is a member.

Before taking the presidency at Wayland, Dr. Owen was pastor in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, going from a seven-year pastorate at First Baptist Church, Plainview.

Previously he was pastor at First Baptist Church, Shawnee,

Wheat--

if it's not satisfactory, he has the right to reject it. Then it's our obligation in Congress, I think, to come back with something else and not to leave the wheat producer as a lone ranger on the horizon."

Rep. Purcell said, however, that "I think we learned last year that the chances of us getting a major program passed late in the summer this year will be most difficult, basing our judgment upon the activity of the Congressmen from the city areas of last year."

The controversial new program for wheat was authorized by Congress last year. It will go into effect with the 1964 crop if it is approved by at least two-thirds of the wheat producer who vote in the May 21 referendum. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman favors a "yes" vote. The American Farm Bureau Federation is campaigning for a "no" vote.

Rep. Dole said that under the Secretary of Agriculture would set a national wheat quota each year. He would then determine the acreage to produce this quota and issue marketing certificates to wheat farmers showing how many bushels of wheat they could sell. On the 80 per cent of production used for domestic purposes, the farmer would get $2 per bushel in 1964. On the balance, he would get about $1.30 a bushel.

Rep. Purcell said, "I think the fundamental issue of the wheat referendum is the price of wheat for 1964. This will determine the income for rural families in the wheat area and the level of business activity in the rural towns across the country in 1964. The direction of the wheat program is not actually involved, since the program is most respects is like the program which has been in effect for over 25 years in our country."

Rep. Dole disagreed. "We have a battle of philosophy," he said. "whether we accept... so-called supply management program or whether the wheat farmer shall be treated like other farmers and be entitled to a voluntary program."

The proposed program discriminates against the small, 15-acre wheat grower, Rep. Latta said. He estimated that income for a 15-acre Ohio wheat grower would be cut from $1,200 to $693 under the program, because of acreage cuts. Proportionately, he said, acreage for larger growers would not be cut as drastically. He also explained that the farmer with less than 15 acres of wheat will have to sign up at least 7 days prior to May 21 in order to vote.

under way. If the owners refuse to accept the price set in the appraisal, the process is delayed greatly and may involve court cases.

Most experts believe it will be the middle of next year, possibly late next year before actual construction work on the 1-mile strip can get underway. Thirty-three persons have been killed in accidents on that strip during the last seven years.

tion, and from area business establishments which display the Bennett's poster.

Mrs. Ernest Martin, Route 5, ESA general chairman, stressed that the ticket price is a donation (tax deductible) to the library fund, in addition to being admission to the benefit dance.

Four civic-minded businessmen last week "started the ball rolling" with their donations of some $400.00 to the library fund and are looking forward to other contributions to the library fund. These men, Sam Fox, Pat Bobo, Charles Lenau, and Fred Johnson, have been awarded fellowships in the Friends of the Library here, a spokesman said.

Library board co-chairman with Lester Howard, Mrs. Gilbert Lamb also said that all of the people who are taking part in any way in the library fund project are Friends.

"It is hoped that we will be able to organize a Friends of Libraries group officially in the future, and that they will promote ideas for improvement and lend their assistance in various ways for the building of a better library for the Muleshoe area. Friends are not members of the Board of trustees but are the workers and the donors to the present library fund and eventually to the library itself," she said.

Officers and directors of the Library board of trustees include Howard and Mrs. Lamb, co-chairmen; Mrs. T. R. White, treasurer; and members Mrs. Horace Blackburn, Mrs. Alf Stovall, Mrs. Kenneth Precure, Mrs. Ernest Martin, Mrs. John Charles Gilbreath, Mrs. Vera Engelking, Mrs. R. O. Gregory, Mrs. D. O. Burelsmith, Mrs. W. B. Kitrell, Mrs. Lester Howard, Neal Dillman, Bobby Airhart, Pat Bobo and Tom Hunke.

All donations should be made to the library fund, and through such ticket sales' donations to the ESA and Jaycee Benefit.

The primary purpose of a Muleshoe and Bailey County public library is to extend library facilities to area people who are not serviced by a library. To serve the county area as a general center of reliable information and to provide opportunity and encouragement for people of all ages to educate themselves continuously; and to assemble, preserve, organize and administer collections of books and other materials possessing recreational, cultural, educational and informational value; and to promote the public's use of library materials by active stimulation and skilled guidance, are further aims of the proposed local library, library officials explained.

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

Bonham Initiative Saves mill Payroll

When the Bonham Cotton Mill announced it would close its doors finally in early 1962, that North Texas city stood to lose a 61-year old industry with a $14,000 weekly payroll.

Bonham's vigorous enterprise in the face of crisis is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone town.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

Aggressive citizens of the 7357 population community arose to the emergency. Today, little more than a year later, Red River Textile Mill, Inc., is not only continuing the operation of its predecessor, but is talking plans for an eventual major expansion.

Proclamation

GREETINGS:

One hundred twenty-seven years ago an immortal band of Texans won freedom for themselves and their countrymen from an aggressor force. The previous Fall, many of these men had met at San Felipe de Austin to discuss the course of the Provisional Government, and it is recorded that during the exchange of ideas, the development of a library was one of the topics.

The wisdom, knowledge, and heritage of all people, are preserved and transmitted through the use of books and manuscripts. Within the smallest library in our land lie the treasures, the wisdom, and the wonder of man's adventures on this earth.

Yesterday's historic and literary events coupled with today's explosions in population, knowledge, and technology create new pressures for reading materials and for their maximum use and availability.

Texans are placing new emphasis on library development; the freedom to read and the free access to adequate reading materials are both the privilege and the responsibility of our society.

Libraries are vital to higher education, and provide the only public means of continuing or keeping one's education beyond the formal education level.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of April 21-27, 1963 as in Texas, and urge all citizens to avail themselves of the library facilities in every city and community. "Read... it is our fifth freedom... enjoy it!"

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 21 day of March, 1963.

sary evils. Thus her fondness for the vet is nil.

It's school reunion time again, and the hometown paper (supplied by Mrs. Horace Blackburn who is also a veteran of the same school which granted me a diploma in the dim days of long ago) says that the shindig has been set for the Saturday before Mother's Day and will start with a banquet at Lake Murray Lodge and go on from there, winding up with a dance in the wee hours of Mother's Day.

We've been several times, but the last time I went I swore off. You'd be surprised how much the other members of the class have aged. Having looked at myself in the mirror while shaving for humpteen years, I've grown accustomed to the changes that have taken place in my own face, but it's quite a shock to discover that the other folks have changed too.

For instance, the last time I saw Charles he had pretty bad lines in his face, and that beautiful blonde hair that used to be the kind the girls liked to run their hands through (with or without the well-known hair gook) was finer than silk and was as white as snow.

It was also a considerable shock to see Louise. In those days when we were both waving the flag for dear old MHS, she was elf-like, and her figure was the envy of every girl in the school.

But we saw Louise at one of the reunions. She was poured into a size 20 which should have been a size 24, and her pumps turned up at the end like a brownie's, broken down in their prime by a total weight which no high heel shoe was ever intended by its manufacturer to be required to support.

Or there was Bill. He was the boy voted most likely to succeed. He had more personality than anybody in town and he could turn on the charm and make even Miss Meyers, the hard-boiled government teacher, give him an A when all along she had fully intended to give him a D.

But at a reunion a few years ago, Bill was there. He had all the sparkle of a soda pop that had been left uncorked for three days in a warm room. In fact, he dropped his overweight body into a chair and sat there all evening, more inert than alive. I inquired about the success features of Bill's life. The predictions had not come true; Bill was about as successful as a heech-comber and just about as ambitious.

So, we haven't decided yet whether we are going to make the 300-mile trip back to MHS. Blackburns would like for Mama and me to go with them. We may. But it's going to be awfully depressing to see how all those folk I used to know have aged so much faster than we have.

Imports of foreign-made steel products into the United States during 1962 reached some 4 million tons, up 25 per cent over the previous year's total of 3.2 million tons.

Irrigated Grasses Valuable To Soil Conservation Here

By GARY L. REED
Soil Conservationist

Several farmers near the Muleshoe area have planted several acres of irrigated grasses. Some of the more important grasses being planted are Midland Bermuda, Sideoats grama and Switch grass.

Grass crops when properly managed are one of the most effective tools available for conserving and improving the soil. Moreover, the profitable use of these grass crops are varied with livestock and seed production along with improving the soil.

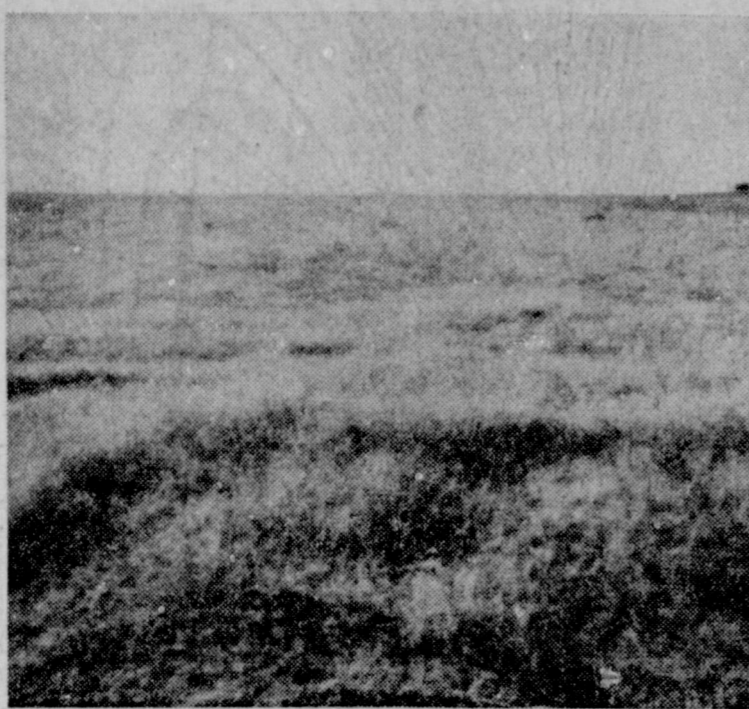

Many farmers believe that most soil will yield a higher income from cultivated crops than from grass crops. As a matter of fact, much of our sandier soils now being farmed to row crops will yield a greater net income if they were seeded to grass. It would produce more pounds of beef per acre and a more reliable income to most farmers if properly managed.

Most pastures will produce more forage if a rotation is provided giving a recovery period for regrowth, fertilizing and watering. A good rule to use in maintaining a good stand of grass is to use only about 1/2 of the forage and rest until regrowth occurs.

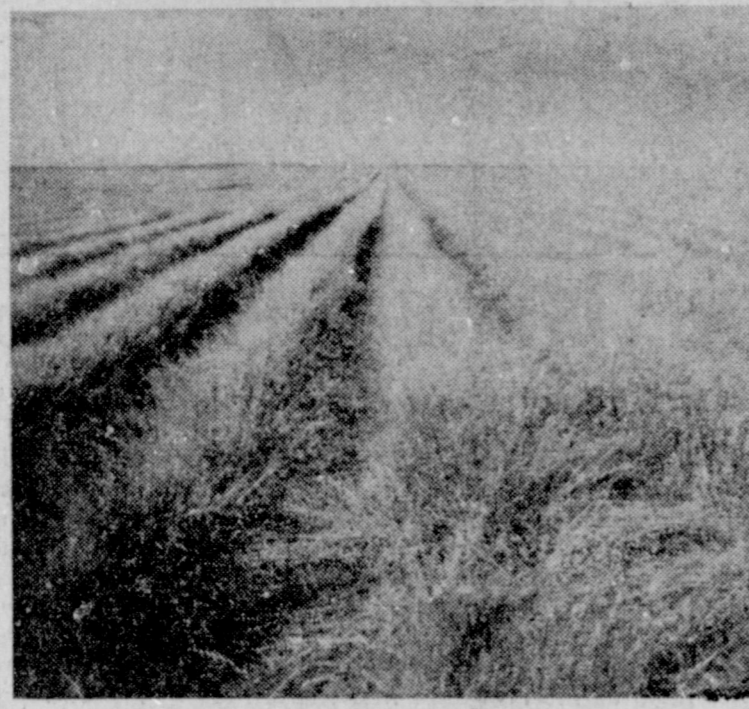

Some of the farmers planning on planting grass this year are: W. M. Pool II, C. E. Moore, R. C. Martin, Bud Williams, George Coe and J. C. Strange all of the Muleshoe Community; E. A. Bass of the West Camp community; Robert Eddins of the Baileyboro community; Ward Golden of the Arch community; Haskell Milligan of Goodland Community and Raymond Austin of the Enchos community. All of these farmers are receiving cost-share on their grass under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

For information on the best type of grass suited to your situation contact your local Soil Conservation Service Office in Muleshoe who assists the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District.

Sigma Xi, the national honorary scientific society, was organized at Cornell University in 1866.

Double Portions Speed Cooking

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

SOME COOKS have the knack of using shortcuts.

One of these is to cook a double quantity of a food at one time and offer it two different ways on two successive days.

We did just that recently when we tried a main dish adapted from Spanish cuisine.

For the first meal, a large quantity (enough for eight eaters) of Yellow Rice with Chick Peas came to the table topped with a small chicken (enough for four). The next day the remainder of the rice and chick pea combination was teamed with clams and served for lunch with crisp bacon and a salad.

For this second version we used canned minced clams, including their liquid for flavor and because it was useful in reheating the rice dish over boiling water. This works fine as long as the reheating isn't overdone and the rice remains firm.

Yellow Rice, a dish popular in the South, has been growing in favor all over the country. Saffron is the traditional way of coloring and flavoring the rice, but if saffron is not on hand, cooks have been known to substitute the less expensive East Indian herb known as turmeric.

Teaming rice with chick peas is a combination popular in Spain. There the dish is called Arroz con Garbanzos and may include chicken or rabbit, pork and chorizo (Spanish sausage), onions and garlic. Chick peas come canned and may be found in some supermarkets and in Italian-Spanish grocery shops.

YELLOW RICE AND CHICK PEAS

- 1 small broiler-fryer, cut in 10 pieces
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 large garlic clove, minced
- 1 1/2 cups long-grain rice
- 1 can (1 pound) chick peas, drained
- 1 large tomato (skinned, seeded and chopped)
- 2 canned mushrooms, diced
- 1/4 cup minced ham or some sliced chorizo
- 1/2 teaspoon crumbled saffron threads

All's Well; The 'Ghost' Identified As Long-Ago Kin of the Family

Long Wittenham, England (AP) — A village store ghost, once exorcised, has come back and has been identified as a member of the family.

The ghost was first seen by Derek Bird in his small self-service store last November. It so upset his chief assistant's daughter, Adrienne Stania, 15, that she kept away from the store for two weeks.

The chief assistant, Mrs. Joyce Stania, was so terrified at the weird shape moving across the shop that she threatened to walk out.

The vicar, the Rev. Cecil Roberts, conducted a service of exorcism and all were satisfied for the time being.

Now the ghost is back. Adrienne spotted the shape three times: "I say it was the ghost of an old lady with white hair and a smiling face. Suddenly, I realize where I had seen her before — in a picture of my great, great-grandmother which hangs in a bedroom at home," she said.

"I know she wouldn't do me any harm and I'm no longer scared, but we still don't know why she haunts the shop."

Mrs. Stania has not yet seen the figure of her great-grandmother.

"But I believe Adrienne," she said. "It is comforting to know the ghost is a member of the family."

According to the ghost tellers, tins and packets have started moving mysteriously around the shop once more, as they did last November when the haunting got started.

Groceries and chocolate packages have moved off the counter. Cereals have been found on the shop floor.

A button was thrown one time across the shop.

"The vicar said: 'I am not planning to conduct another service.'"

TEXAS COTTON GROWERS REPORT:

Entire Season Control of Thrips, Aphids and Mites...

Untreated plant

Di-Syston treated

Di-Syston Treated Plants Are Stronger, Straighter... Produce More Squares Earlier

West Texas and New Mexico cotton growers now have a new way to control thrip damage and early-season stunting... with Di-Syston granular insecticide. Di-Syston is placed in the soil with the seed or side dressed after planting. The chemical is then absorbed by the growing roots and carried to all parts of the plant through the sap stream—as soon as the plant emerges. No part of the plant is unprotected—even tender new growth as it is formed.

The result? With Di-Syston, your early cotton grows faster, has stronger, straighter stems, more vigorous foliage. Squares form earlier and the plant produces more of them. Many growers in the Lubbock area have reported full season control of thrip with just the one application. You get higher yields because of the good Di-Syston start. This year, get your crop off to a good start with Di-Syston. Complete instructions for use are printed on the label on every package. Use Di-Syston.

The Stillwell Papers

Those who can remember the days of World War II will recall that the American general who worked with Chiang Kai-Shek as the top U.S. military commander in the China-Burma-India area in 1942-44 was Lieutenant General Joseph Stillwell.

He was nicknamed "Vinegar Joe" so acid were his comments. But these comments did not reach the light of day too often. And when he was recalled by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, at Chiang Kai-Shek's request, in 1944, Washington clamped a lid on his utterances at first and later his squawks were old-hat or water over the dam.

A paperback book entitled THE STILLWELL PAPERS is now available for a reasonable price — to all those who would like to examine the tragic and disgusting Chinese story. And while Stillwell was obviously a man not easy to get along with, and while he may have been too acid, or too cynical, nevertheless his opinions and experiences should be read by every citizen who wants to understand why we lost China to the Communists.

The answer is very plain in THE STILLWELL PAPERS. The Chiang Kai-Shek regime was hopeless and destined to lose out to the Communists from 1943 onward, and Stillwell well saw it and said it. The corruption, rottenness and impossible moral atmosphere in Chungking, Kunming and everywhere else that the Kai-Shek government went is vividly and candidly described by "Uncle Joe" in his diary.

Loss of a Sub

The loss of a nuclear attack submarine is a serious matter and while the case of the vanished THRESHER is not yet solved, some of the story seems pretty clear.

The submarine was practicing a deep dive in a deep sea. Something in the boat either failed, or someone failed, or the boat rammed an object or another boat.

The possibility that another submarine was rammed is a fantastic one, though in World War II submarines often spotted their adversaries and sometimes fought submarine duels with them. Though the Russians would likely remain silent in the case of such an accident, chances seem small that THRESHER struck another boat, especially since she was diving very deep. There are only two other U.S. subs of the THRESHER'S class and only a very small number of nuclear attack submarines in operation, so the loss of this boat, which was thought to be the fastest and deepest-diving boat in the world is a heavy one.

The loss of these trained and dedicated officers and men and this fine nuclear submarine is a tremendous loss to the Navy and to our security program. It should remind every citizen that while most us live a peaceful and protected life, there are others constantly risking their lives in behalf of the freedom we enjoy. Airmen soldiers and sailors who give their lives in the service, even in peacetime, give their lives for their country stands for in this world.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a look at lie detector machines this week.

I've been noticing lately that more and more people are taking lie detector tests.

Football and basketball players take them, coaches take them, criminals take them, suspects take them, etc. But more than that, I understand business is now employing the lie detector, and prospective employees are sometimes required to take the tests to indicate whether they can be trusted later on.

Why some people have even suggested that politicians take the tests, but nothing much has come of it, I guess they're waiting till sturdier models of the machines come out.

Another use for the lie detector machine which nobody else seems to have thought of and which I offer free of charge would be in the public schools.

One of the worst chores of teaching, I understand, is grading papers. My system would eliminate this. All you'd have to do is strap each kid in a lie detector machine at examination time. Then instead of asking him if Columbus discovered America in 1492, ask him simply if he knows when Columbus discovered America. If he says yes he knows, the machine will automatically record whether he's telling the truth or not, and an adding machine attached to it would register the grade at the bottom of the test. By using the machines from first grade through college, I figure one billion man-and-woman-hours of labor per month grading papers will be eliminated.

I don't know whether this is true or not, but I've heard a rumor, which I made up myself that the Russians are years ahead of us in the use of the lie detector

Yarbrough In Washington

As Chairman of the Senate Veterans Affairs Subcommittee, I have been conducting hearings on the Cold War GI Education Bill. This is a bill which I authored with 38 co-sponsors to provide educational help to veterans who served in the Armed Forces between the present and January, 1955, the date when the Korean GI Bill was terminated by President Eisenhower's Executive Order.

One of the first witnesses to testify for this GI Bill was a young, dynamic, newly-elected Senator from Indiana, Birch Bayh. Senator Bayh said that he had studied under the GI Bill of World War II and therefore had a deep personal understanding of the opportunity such an educational program affords. Fellow Texan, I am going to cite a few words from Senator Bayh's testimony on the GI Bill: "We are all aware that selective service has been in operation during this period. Young men have been taken from their families and their careers to serve their country. Yet, in spite of selective service, only 46 percent of the young men of eligible age have served in the Armed Forces during this period. Those not required to serve in the Armed Forces have had the opportunity to advance themselves educationally, professionally and financially. And it is only fair and equitable that those men who have had their lives and careers interrupted by service be compensated for that interruption. The second reason for supporting this Bill is that not only will individual Americans benefit from the program, but so will America, herself. Money spent under Senate Bill 5 will be an investment in the group most capable of profiting from the expenditure — the young men discharged from service have undergone a sobering, maturing experience."

"Most of them are in their early or mid-twenties and are purposeful, determined and dedicated. As these mature men gain in higher education our society as a whole is richer. The GI Bills of World War II and the Korean War provided our Nation 295,000 doctors, dentists, nurses and medical technicians, 150,000 physical and research scientists, 500,000 engineers and 350,000 school teachers. This has meant a great deal to our economy and industrial capability, as well as to the people themselves."

And the able Senator Jennings Randolph testified for this bill as follows: "The young men and women inducted into the Armed Forces since January 1, 1955, are presently denied the adjustment benefits which a grateful nation afforded the veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict. This inequity can be justified neither by the quality of service of the Armed Forces of the day or by a lessening of the importance of national security. Current members of the Armed Forces are on constant airborne alert with the Strategic Air Command, are roaming the seas on Polaris Submarines, are occasionally being killed as advisers in the jungles of South Vietnam. They are, in all good conscience, entitled to comparable adjustment benefits as provided for their predecessors. In the terms of the national welfare, it is doubtful

The German Proposal

The Germans have offered an amendment to President John F. Kennedy's proposed multilateral nuclear force (to be attached to NATO) which may save the whole project and which has Washington divided, and pondering.

In simple terms, the German proposal concerns the right of every member of the proposed nuclear force to have a veto over the use of nuclear weapons. The U.S. idea, as the President first suggested it to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Nassau, was that each country could veto use of the weapons.

The European view, which is taken into account by the German suggestion, is that if any nation can vote action by this multilateral NATO nuclear force, there will always be at least one vote. The multilateral force would then be, indeed, the multilateral force that French Government officials have called it.

The French, now our enemies in Europe to all intents and purposes short of war or future war, want the multilateral idea to die a farce's death. President Kennedy cannot afford to let such a fate overtake his own proposal, especially in the view of the declining prestige and authority of the United States in Western Europe in the past two years.

The German proposal should, then, be quickly accepted, and the multilateral force should be pursued with all vigor.

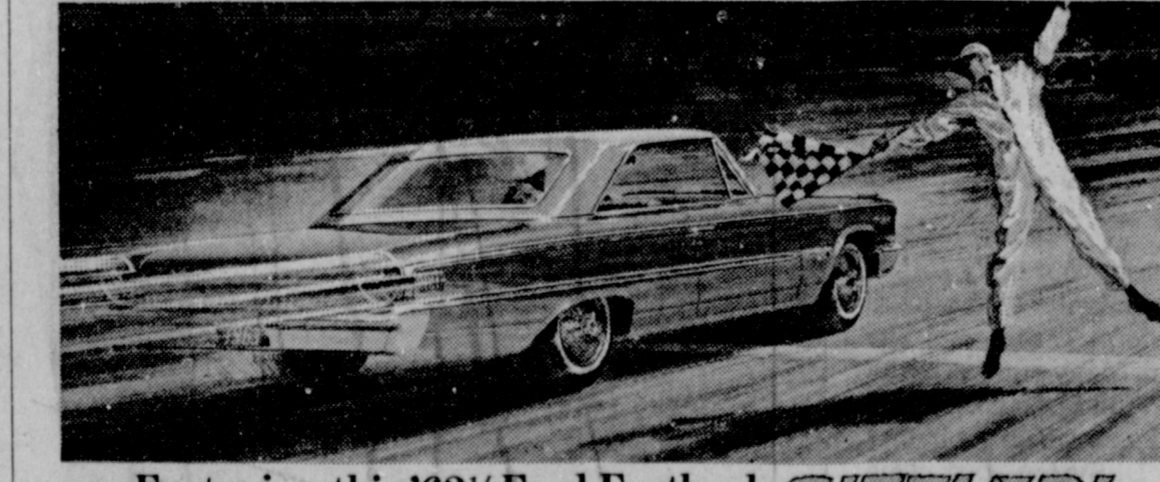

that any other single proposal on the agenda of this Congress would do as much to raise a reservoir of human skills in the United States."

Fellow Texan, other Senators and witness testified before the Committee for the Cold War GI Bill. This is good legislation. It is needed now.

Today's Meditation

"FIRST HAND CHRISTIANS"
"I wish I could know for myself this Christ, and didn't have to take the word of someone else about him!" How often we hear these words. How often we think them ourselves.

We wish we could have lived in the time of Christ, so that we might have known him for ourselves, and not have to take the word of someone else for the facts about our Saviour.

The fact is that, regardless of when we live, no one has to be a Second-hand Christian. Every person can know his Christ in a personal manner. When I was small I had to accept the things my parents taught me, and this was the basis for my belief, at that time. This is no longer true. There is now nothing in my faith, in my conviction, in my belief, that I have to say is believed because it is what I was told. This does not mean that much of my thinking is not directed by past experience and past teaching, but rather that in the process of growing up, one must come to the place where he experiences, and comes to know, on his own, the things he has heard, and seen, and experienced. The people in the scripture came to Jesus because of what the woman had told them, but their belief was based upon personal discovery and personal realization.

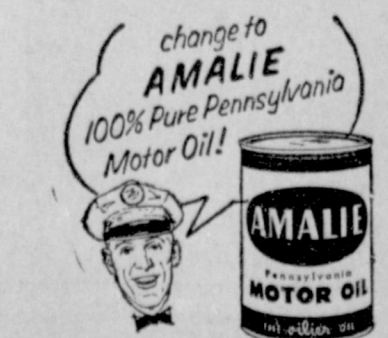

So must it be with every person today. And we can know our Christ in this manner. He can be a personal reality for each of us. This is the importance of life, to come, through faith, belief, discovery, awareness of life about us, to the point where we too can say, "We know for ourselves, that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, the Saviour of the world."

FINE FAMILY
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A hand-lettered sign advertising puppies for sale was erected by children in front of their home. It said the mother was "a full-blooded poodle" and the father comes from a good neighborhood.

Your OLDSMOBILE will give you better service with AMALIE 100% Pure Pennsylvania Motor Oil

Why? Today's high compression engines running at high or low speeds; running in grueling stop and go traffic require the superior oiliness, the heat resistance found only in AMALIE Pennsylvania Oil.

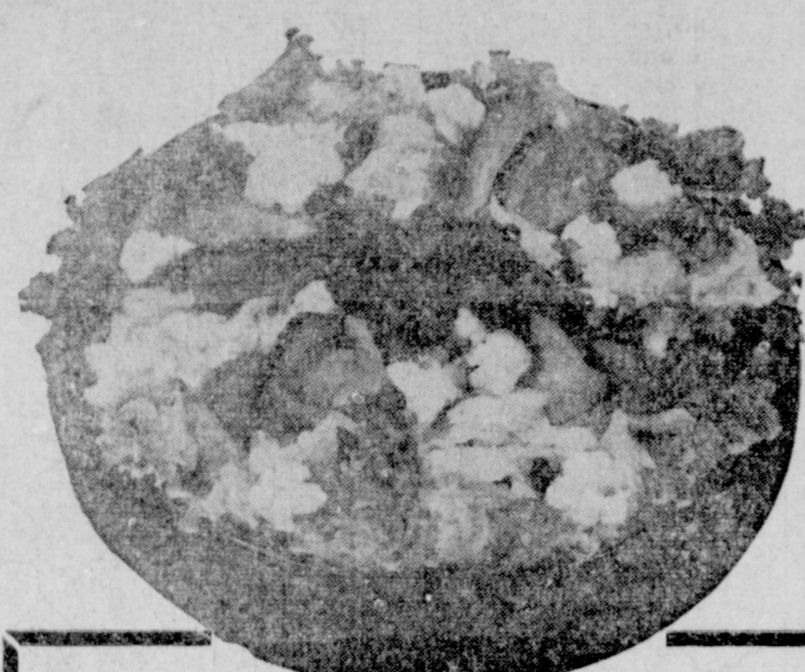

AMALIE is the oilier oil refined from the world's finest crude by special low-heat process. AMALIE stands up under engine heat long after conventional oils break down, thin out, drain off. Cuts wear, insures long miles of smooth engine performance...

Your service station man will stock AMALIE for you... Just ask him.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
 Commissioner of Health

Last summer a 4-year old boy died of rabies in Texas. Although there was no history of an immune bite, circumstances pointed to the possibility that he was bitten by a puppy or dog.

There was no doubt that rabies was the cause of death. The case was diagnosed clinically and confirmed by the State Department of Health Laboratory.

Dramatically, rabies is still very much a fact in Texas, when viewed in the misery which surrounds the death of a small boy — to his family, friends and even to public health veterinarians and record keepers.

The fact is that rabies, although changing in complexion, was laboratory — diagnosed in 124 Texas counties during 1962.

The total number of cases, while down from the previous year's 658 cases, reflects an increase in the number of rabid domestic animals other than pets.

A few years ago pets accounted for the majority of cases. Today, wildlife rabies outstrips the disease among pets and domestic animals by far. Skunks continue to lead the statistical columns, but each year foxes and bats are diagnosed as rabid.

Diagnostic evidence indicates that animal rabies is present in approximately half of the counties in Texas. The widespread distribution probably means that in most of the other Texas counties as well.

What this means to the man-on-the-street is that rabies is a constant threat in most areas of Texas. With the growing sprawl of suburbia into formerly wild areas, it is only natural that pets may be readily exposed to wildlife.

Anti-rabies vaccination of all pets is the surest protection against the disease.

It is a bad thing to disillusion those who cherish the myth of their "immunity" to poison ivy or oak or sumac, but the season of prevalence of these toxic plants is fast approaching and forewarned is forearmed.

Botanical scientists say it is doubtful that anyone is absolutely immune to their poisonous substance. More and more authorities agree that susceptibility is a mere matter of degree, varying with the condition of the individual, the condition of the plant, and the circumstances of exposure.

Texas has its fair share of the 100-plus plants and plant products known to be capable of causing sometimes severe skin irritations. Among them are the primrose (especially when in flower), lily bulbs and stalks, stinging nettle, and vanilla beans.

But by far the most common cause of plant dermatitis in Texas and elsewhere in the United States is poison ivy, known to botanists by the tongue-twisting name of Rhus toxicodendron. A cousin — poison sumac, by name — is common to the swampy regions of eastern Texas, and can sometimes produce severe reactions.

For all practical purposes, poison ivy and poison oak are the same thing. Poison oak is simply any poison ivy that grows as a bush rather than a vine.

Poison ivy is an unusually inconsistent species of plant. Beside growing as a bush and vine, the size of its berries and the outline of its leaves often vary widely. Its leaves are characteristically egg-shaped and pointed, but the edges may be smooth and unbroken or saw-toothed.

Moreover, these variations might occur on a single plant, or the leaves on an entire plant may be similar.

But in one matter, poison ivy is almost invariably consistent—its leaves practically always grow in clusters of three.

Thus ivy poisoning is best prevented by learning to recognize the plant and avoiding it. And, of course, it is always prudent to wear protective clothing such as leggings and gloves when going into areas where poison plants are known to flourish. Once exposed, immediate washing with laundry soap and water helps to remove the resin.

As a final word of caution: Never burn poison ivy vines! The smoke can be just as venomous as the leaves.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Scandal has struck again in Texas. This time on the Railroad Commission.

Revelation by the Dallas Morning News that Commissioner William J. Murray had grossed some $285,000 from oil investments in earnings from a Throckmorton County lease caused the commissioner to resign his post.

Question was a matter of ethics — whether or not it was proper for a public official to make investments in an industry over which he exercised control, in whole or in part.

Murray's answer was that he grew up in the oil fields, was educated in petroleum engineering and it was the only business in which he had any practical experience.

He admitted his investments and pointed out that they were a matter of record in his own name, and he had nothing to hide. He stated that he resigned his post as a commission member because he felt that "harmful publicity" might lessen his effectiveness.

Murray hinted that the investigation into his past investments was prompted by his refusal to call off the East Texas slant-hole, well drilling investigations in which he played an active part.

Murray's attorney, Les Proctor, submitted the former R R commissioner's personal financial records to Travis County District Attorney Tom Blackwell for checking. They are being examined by Blackwell, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

State law provides for removal from office of any public official violating the Code of Ethics. Since Murray resigned that question now has become moot. All that remains is the matter of determining whether any civil or criminal statute has been violated.

Proctor says none has been. Gov. John Connally accepted Murray's resignation with the comment that "It is regrettable for all of Texas that documented facts made public within the past few days indicated a question of propriety of legality of his outside business transactions in view of his position of authority on the commission."

"Public officials have a sacred public trust. It is imperative to continued confidence in our form of government that their conduct in office be beyond a shadow of a doubt. Anything else undermines responsibility and integrity in government."

In the House of Representatives, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola introduced a resolution asking for a thorough study of the sweeping powers of the Railroad Commission by the Texas Legislative Council.

Resolution received prompt committee approval and was sent immediately to the House floor.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston introduced a bill to tighten regulations prohibiting public officials from participating in any private enterprises which might be in conflict with their public duty.

Eckhardt said his bill would amend the Code of Ethics and clarify it. It also would include a section providing that no public official or member of the Legislature could appear before any state board or commission where the office-holder had private interests that might be affected by the agency's action.

HOUSE PROBERS — House State Affairs Committee recommended adoption of a resolution by Rep. Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont that would establish a general investigating committee. Normally one acts only between sessions of the Legislature.

Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler said Speaker Byron Tunnell is interested in fast action on the Kilpatrick resolution, which would give the investigation committee broad authority.

Rep. Horace Houston, Republican member from Dallas, opposed the resolution and asked for a postponement to study it. He said he once served on such a committee, and "no good has come from general committee investigations." Later Houston changed this statement and agreed that investigating committees do "throw a white light into some dark shadows."

APPROPRIATIONS — A record $3,100,000,000 spending program—the general appropriation for the next biennium — went to a conference committee following rejection by the House of Senate amendments.

Motion not to concur in Senate changes was made by Rep. W. S. Heatley of Paducah chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

MORE TAXES — Some $43,000,000 in additional revenue would be gained during the next two years by adoption of a House Revenue AFFECTION FOR CANDY—Candy Barr gets an affectionate look from her daughter, Troylene, at her parents home in Edna, after being paroled. and Taxation Committee substitute for House Bill 106.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, chairman of the subcommittee that revised the proposed tax law to comply with Governor Con-ly's program, said the bill as now drawn would incorporate a one-year extension of the state franchise tax to April 30, 1965. This would net the state $11,200,000. Repeal of the exemption of outer clothing under $10 would get $20,400,000. Bringing motor vehicles under the sales tax would provide $6,100,000. Other minor changes would round up additional millions.

LENDING — All Texans were invited to appear and testify about the so-called "loan shark" legislation.

Enough Texans accepted to make it a three-hour session with the House Banks and Banking Committee. There were two major points of disagreement. One—the insurance provisions of Senate Bill 15 (passed by the Senate). And two—the maximum loan to be made for a company to fall under the act, and thus be allowed to charge more than 100 per cent interest.

Witnesses representing the insurance companies generally protested that the new commissioner, to be called for under the act, would have too much power. Especially over rates.

On the maximum loan proposition, opinions varied widely. Bill specifies $1,500. Some witnesses would like to lower it to $300. Others thought it should be raised to $3,000 or more.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS — Legislation to provide equal rights for women is in this status: Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, which is what the women want, has passed the Senate. It was heard by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee and sent to a subcommittee.

If the resolution gets through the Legislature, it will have cleared perhaps its biggest hurdle. Next step calls for passage of a constitutional amendment, by vote of the people. Amendments usually receive public approval. However, even after that, all questions of women's rights would not be defined. A good bit of legislation still would be required.

Former Attorney General Will Wilson, in testimony before the House committee, said that if the amendment is passed, "The Legislature will have its work cut out for it in the next session."

SHORT, SHORT SHORTS — House has passed a bill to force most state agencies to sell their "executive-type" airplanes. Bill now goes to the Senate.

Biggest crowd of the legislative session came to a session of the House Game and Fish Committee, which lasted five hours. The proposition: to close all Gulf Coast bays to netting. Result: subcommittee.

Another measure affecting the Gulf Coast was a bill introduced by Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland, setting in motion a "pilot program" of regulation by the Texas Game and Fish Commission over wildlife resources in Arkansas County. It might have far-reaching effects, giving the commission authority to fix seasons on game birds, game animals and fresh and salt water fish and shellfish, excluding shrimp.

The largest rodent in the world lives in the pampas streams of South America. It is the capybara, or water hog. It is about four feet long, and weighs around 130 pounds.
