Freddy Wolcott to Show Grid Fans Speed as Rice Team Member

By WILLIAM T. RIVES.

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP). Freddy Wolcott, the blond blur, has finished his collegiate track career, but for at least one more year fans will see his churning legs challenge hurdle records he himself lowered to seemingly unapproachable marks.

Wolcott said today that after a fling at intercollegiate football-his first-he would compete unattached next season in various important non-college meets:

Then he plans to coach track. The tow-headed Rice Institute hurdler has set more world and American records than any athlete n history. He is no one-time Charey: most of his record performances he has duplicated frequently.

More than a year ago Lawson Robertson, famed Olympic track coach, called Wolcott "the greatest athlete of today; perhaps of tomor-

That was before Wolcott ran the 200-meters low hurdles in 22.3; high hurdles in 22.5; before he ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.7; before he ran the 220-lows around a turn in 22.9, and before he raced the 110-meter highs in 13.9.

Freddy is the only man in Southwest Conference annals to sweep the championships three straight times, setting records for each event. Besides the hurdles, Wolcott runs the 100-yard dash.

Coach Brunson of Rice considers Wolcott the greatest athlete ever turned out in the country. The record will prove that, he says.

The impressive thing about Fred is that he was not like those sophomore stars who wilt as time goes on. His best races were his last races. He ran the 120-yard highs in better than record time in five of the last six meets in which he competed Freddy started his track career by accident. One day at the county track meet at Snyder, the West Texas town Wolcott calls home, the sprinter of the Snyder high school team became ill. Freddy, a bystander, was hustled into service. He didn't even have track shoes Donning tennis footgear, he won the 100-yard dash, the 220, and the hurdles. When he came back to Rice he was known principally as a speedy halfback who had been his high school district's leading scorer, averaging two touchdowns a game.

Coach Brunson recognized his track prowess and developed him. A strong bond grew between tutor and pupil; a bond so strong that Wolcott insisted Brunson should keep the coveted watch awarded Freddy at Princeton on his greatest day-the day he broke two world

PAWNEE, Okla., Sept. 5 (AP)-Eight health depots were established in northeastern Oklahoma today in the wake of the worst local flood since 1923.

More than 200 families were homeless and the Red Cross and health officials worked to prevent an outbreak of disease. Dr. G. F. Mathews, State Health Commissioner, said that if dysentry and typhoid fever outbreaks appeared imminent mass immunization would be started.

Under a clear sky waters swollen by cloudburst began to recede, but many sections were still inundated.

Four-fifth of Bixby, Arkansas riv. er bottomland town of 1,500 residents, was under water during the night. More than 150 families were removed in boats.

The Frisco railroad reported water over the tracks at Kellyville was holding up service between Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Cleveland was hardest hit. Waters chewed gaps in the top of the dam at the Municipal lake, leaving the reservoir with only a week's supply. The city was without gas service. Six homes were washed away at Haskell, Heavy livestock losses were reported and much cotton and corn Galapagos, Cocos was destroyed. The waters fell fast at Sapulpa, and water service was restored. One hundred families were chased from their homes yesetrday. Forty national guardsmen called by Governor Phillips last night remained on patrol duty. Several highways remained inundated. They included U.S. 64 between Tulsa and Muskogee and U.

Styles Startling

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP.) —A pair of white bird's wings perched on the bosom, a new neckline which falls in a narrow "V" to the waist, and slim dinner dresses with their skirts slit up to the knee had the American style world yesterday in a flutter. Those were among the highlights at one of the most scintillant fashion shows ever held in this country -the showing of Bergdorf Goodman's American designed collection.

Accompanied by music and the inkle of champagne glasses, in the manner of Parisian style shows before the war, mannikins paraded in 300 originals in one of a series of major showings on upper Fifth Avenue Suits and daytime dresses were simple, beautifully fitted, usually with slightly flared skirts and squared shoulders.

For evening, the imagination ran riot with luxurious fabrics, skirts either stem-like and split to the knee or bouffant and billowy, and startling transparent effects obtain-ed by posing black lace bodices on a flesh colored base.

With the spectacle of a hard-hitting Thirty-seven haggard and disheveled British seamen, eight of them fistfight on the floor to testify to injured, told a grim tale today of the shortness of some tempers, the disaster and death in the war at House began its final drive today for a decision on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill. The chamber settled down to consider the measure section by section and to act on the scores of pending amendments. The vote on conscription was expected tomorrow night or Saturday.

Tense feelings burst into the open last night when the epithet "traitor" was spoken and the House beheld Rep. Vincent (D-Ky) and Rep. Sweeney (D-O) throwing punches at each other in the well of the chamber.

The fight followed a speech by Sweeney, who is 55, in which he assailed conscription and accused President Roosevelt of seeking to embroil the United States in war. In the course of the speech, Sweeney mentioned that the slogan during Woodrow Wilson's 1916 cam-paign was: "He kept us out of war.

> "And the people believed it," he said, "and they returned that individual to the White House. "Then they were brought to their senses 5 months later when he put ly heavy profit selling. Dealings, amounting to some 1,-300,000 shares, were the fastest since mid-June, although slow-downs ap-peared now and then as prices shifted from their tops. After absorbing offerings, leaders generally re-sumed the advance. Wall Street, brokers said, nore hopeful than ever, in the light of European dispatches, that John Bull would succeed in beating off attacking Nazis. A long conflict, was added, with a probable British victory, might further stimulate American industry. Revived optimism in the financia sector was reflected in the transfer of a stock exchange seat for $40, 000, up $5,000 from the previous sale. Some traders in stocks continued to step lightly, it was understood pending final Congressional decision on taxes and conscription and the
