Army, Navy Munitions Board Ordered By President To Survey Necessity Of Requisitioning For Defense Purposes

By Lloyd Lehrbas.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt today assumed full control over the sale or export of raw and manufactured products vital to the national defense program, after invoking the government's power to requisition any equipment, munitions, machinery, tools, materials or supplies needed to prepare the nation for any emergency.

In an executive order the President ordered the Army and Navy Munitions Board yesterday to make a survey to determine the necessity for requisitioning any of the items necessary for national defense purposes.

The board was authorized to determine whether it is in the public interest to sell or otherwise dispose of, any of the articles or materials requisitioned.

Can Recover Materials
The President's action was considered far reaching and significant. Defense experts said that under that authority the United States could regain possession of many war materials, equipment and supplies already sold but not yet shipped to foreign countries and then either retain them, or dispose of them to other foreign countries or individuals.

WHOZIT?

"Look at the Birdie" is Mr. Whozit's trade phrase, as many of you have found when he snapped your picture. Although only a year ago he organized a hobby of fourteen years into his business, he is one of the most popular camera men in Midland.

He stresses the commercial angle of the trade, and does many jobs for business houses, clubs and organizations. Many of his photographs appear in The Reporter-Telegram.

Born in Booneville, Arkansas, he abandoned that state many years ago for Texas. He served three years in the United States army, lived 7 years in El Paso, and came to Midland in 1930.

Until he started clicking shutters for a living, he was in the typewriter sales and service business.

He is a member of the Rotary club and of the chamber of commerce and is on the publicity committee of the latter organization. He is active in Midland Civic Theatre work and interested in the Mustang Boys Club.

You will find him in The Reporter-Telegram Get-Acquainted page later.

Locomotive And Five Cars Leave Railroad Tracks

Warships Of Britain Bombard Nazi Ports; Cause 'Much Damage'

By The Associated Press.
The Germans announced a dive-bombing Stuka attacked an English transport train today, killing or wounding at least 300 persons when the locomotive and first six cars plunged over an embankment.

Informed quarters in Berlin, describing the attack, said the rest of the train was torn apart. Meantime, the London admiralty announced that British warship bombarded the Nazi-held "invasion port" of Dunkerque on the French coast last night, setting giant fires and causing "much damage."

German aerial activity during the day slowed down to sporadic attacks after an almost unprecedented night of terror for the bomb-scarred British capital.

Russian To Turkey
Meanwhile President Inonu of Turkey received the new Soviet ambassador today in the presence of the Turkish army chief of staff at Ankara.

The meeting was held amid official reports here that Turkey would go to the aid of Greece if the latter were attacked. There were still other reports from Sofia, Bulgaria, that Turkey and Russia might negotiate a mutual assistance pact, but confirmation was lacking.

Nazi quarters in Berlin threatened a triple-force "typhoon stage" in the aerial siege of Britain after an armada of 1,000 German bombers reportedly dropped 1,000 tons of bombs on London during the night and left the British capital a scene of "indescribable chaos."

Even that terrific assault was only a "zephyr" compared to the storm ahead, the Germans said.

London dispatches said diving Nazi warplanes machine-gunned the streets and dropped the biggest explosives yet rained on the empire capital.

German airmen returning from the dusk-to-dawn assault told of "deafening detonations... terrific concussion... skies reddened by great fires..."

Observed Fires
Nazi flyers said they observed fires raging throughout an area 48 to 60 miles wide, and they described London as "a great sea of flames."

The London ministry of information admitted the night raids were "of a heavy nature," but said the damage was "not as great as that done in raids in early September"—raids which took a daily death toll of 300 to 400 victims.

Many were feared killed and wounded in the smashing of a 2-story London schoolhouse used as an air-raid shelter. The building, hit squarely by two huge bombs, was leveled.

Fire and oil bombs, known as "Goering Cocktails," started countless fires throughout the metropolitan area, and Germans said the havoc recalled the wreckage of Warsaw, Rotterdam and Dunkerque.

Accuses RAF
Hitler's high command, complaining angrily that British RAF bombers were "planlessly" attacking non-military targets, and thus primarily against the German civilian population," said retaliatory attacks on London "therefore were considerably increased."

"Big fires following strong explosions in the city's heart, the Thames Bend, as well as the Victoria Docks, were visible from the Channel Coast on the return flight," the German communique asserted.

One bomb exploded near a shelter under a building in which 110 persons had taken refuge for the night. By mid-morning, rescue crews had taken out seven dead and many wounded.

"Invasion weather," heavy mist shrouded the Strait of Dover; seas calm.

Darker In Balkans
Amid this intensified Nazi onslaught, the critical situation in the Balkans grew rapidly darker.

Reports that Turkey and Soviet Russia are near agreement on a "stop the Axis" military alliance spread through Balkan capitals, and the Turkish press declared bluntly

As Registration For Draft Got Underway Here Today

Midland men of draft age were lined up outside the court house for a chance to register for possible army duty when judges reached the scene today at 7 a. m. The top picture, taken soon after the registration booth was opened, shows the first group to sign. In the picture at right, Curtis Inman, Junior Chamber of Commerce president, seated between J. P. Butler, advisory board member, and Buster Howard, Boy Scout leader, is shown as he filled out No. 1 card at the old Presbyterian Church, Precinct 5. Howard was registered a few minutes later.

Jury Returns Two Year Verdict For Andrews Lawyer

J. P. Williams, former Andrews County attorney, was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary by a 88th district court jury here yesterday on a charge of embezzlement. The jury deliberated only about one hour after receiving the judge's charge at 5:30 p. m.

The case was transferred here from Andrews on a charge of venue.

Williams was charged with taking bonds belonging to Andrews County and selling them, and depositing the money in his wife's name after he had been instructed to deposit them in a Midland bank.

Attorneys for Williams charged that Andrews County owed Williams money and that the cash from sale of bonds was taken in lieu of payment by the county. State's attorneys countered by asking that Williams be freed rather than be given a suspended sentence.

Court was recessed for today. Two cases charging driving while intoxicated are on the docket Thursday.

Committee Studies Site For Building

Consideration of a site for the recreational building took up most of the time at the meeting this morning of officials of the Mexican Community Building Project. Several sites will be considered within the next few days.

Mrs. Lamar Lunt was named temporary secretary and a telephone committee of Mrs. Fred Cassidy and Mrs. W. T. Schneider was named. Promise of cooperation from the North Ward PTA and the First Methodist Church in the project was announced.

Officials announced that the Modern Study Club and the Children's Service League had given money for the project. The Texas Electric Service company has offered old poles that will be used for beams in the building; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton McRae have donated windows for the building and architect J. J. Black has offered plans for the building.

Persons having old building materials they will not need are asked to donate it for the building. Members will be notified by the telephone committee of the next meeting date.

Japan Will Keep War Supplies From China

HANOI, French Indo-China, Oct. 16 (AP)—Major General Raishiro Sumita, chief of the Japanese military mission in Indo-China, declared today that Japan "is resolutely determined to prevent war materials supplied by the United States or any third power from reaching Chung Kai-Shek's armies."

Sumita spoke on the eve of the re-opening tomorrow of the Burma Road, lifeline for supplies from abroad for the Chinese armies.

The Japanese leader, in an interview, declared the Japanese war force would "make the utmost effort to strike a fatal blow" to China's supply lines from air bases newly acquired in northern Indo-China, but added, "don't believe any of our blows will fall until the war supplies of China have passed through British Burma and actually entered Chinese territory."

Echoes Reaction
The veteran artillery officer echoed the puzzled reaction of Japanese elsewhere to the United States government advice to Americans to leave Japanese-dominated areas of the Far East.

"If both the United States and Japan spent the same huge sums they are now devoting to preparations for a possible future conflict, on promoting trade between the two countries there would be no conceivable question of war," said Sumita. "If only the United States would understand Japan's position."

He declared that "every question between our countries could and must be settled upon understanding and acceptance of the principle that Japan is the stabilizing force in the Far East."

Seven-inch casing, due to be cemented at 5,255 feet with 150 sacks, was being run this morning in Taubert, McKee & Slemont No. 1 Mrs. Virginia W. Crockett, northern Pecos County wildcat promising opening of production from the Simpson, middle Ordovician.

When drilpipe was pulled preparatory to running electrical surveys, the bottom 1,300 feet were said to have shown oil-cut mud on the outside. Both Halliburton Jeep and Schlumberger surveys were run. The well is bottomed in shaly lime at 5,233 feet and logged saturated, fairly porous Simpson sand from 5,270-80. The Simpson formation was topped at 4,755 feet, 2,363 feet below sea level. No. 1 Crockett is located in section 4 1/2, block 3, H. & T. C. survey.

Nearing the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 W. T. Shearer et ux, a quarter-mile northwest of the Apo deep pool in Pecos, is drilling at 4,441 feet in lower Permian lime.

Substantial Numbers Report At City Booths For Filling Out U. S. Forms, 1,800 Expected By Close Of Signing

Few Express Objections But Fill Out Blanks When Regulations Are Explained, Draft Board To Receive Cards Tomorrow

A total of 1,276 Midland County men between the ages of 21 and 36 had registered in four precincts of the county at noon today for service in the United States army. Officials estimated another 600 would register before the day was over.

Voting by booths showed: Precinct 1, 700 at 1 p. m.; Precinct 5, 392 at 1 p. m.; Precinct 1, box 2, negro, Mexican booth, 164 at 11 a. m.; and Precinct 4, Warfield, 20 at 1 p. m. Precincts 2 and 3 at Stokes and Stephenson had not reported early this afternoon.

Long lines were waiting outside the booths of precinct 1 and precinct 5 in the city when judges opened doors at 7:00 a. m. and throughout the morning they were maintained. Volunteer workers were placed at every table at the stations, helping men to fill out blanks. Lawyers and business men of the city were also on hand, serving as advisory boards. The booths were kept full as those who registered were shuttled out and replaced by others. Mrs. Susie G. Noble, county clerk, was in charge of booths.

Americans Give Defense Pledge By Registration

By The Associated Press.
At the estimated rate of 1,250,000 an hour America's young men signed up today for possible service in the nation's first peacetime draft army.

Reports going into Washington from state capitals, which in turn had gathered them from every city, town and rural district, promised selective service headquarters to announce that the whole vast registration machinery was "slipping along smoothly."

In fact, officials said that if registrations continued all day at their noon estimated 1,500,000 hourly the expected national total of 16,404,000 registrants of ages 21 through 35 would be reached before the closing hour of 9 o'clock (local time) tonight.

President On Radio
An hour after the registration started at 7 a. m., President Roosevelt told the nation in a radio address that the conscription program "is a program of defensive preparation and defensive preparation only."

To the young men specifically, he said: "Your act today affirms not only your loyalty to your country but your will to build your future for yourselves."

The Republican Presidential nominee, Wendell L. Willkie, said in a message to those signing up: "You are registering one more chance for freedom—your freedom."

Only those men already in the armed services and foreign diplomats were exempt from registration. "Thus to the 125,000 school houses and other public buildings where registration was held, troops of such a variety of citizens of all races and classes as only national election days ordinarily bring out."

Defense And the Labor Board

The National Labor Relations Board, bone of contention in Congress, in labor circles and among employers, has suddenly become involved in the American defense program.

Controversy arose when Attorney General Jackson was asked to rule on whether a firm engaged in defense production was guilty of Wagner Act violations if the board said it was, or whether it was up to the courts to make the determination. Jackson said the board had the power to tag any firm as a violator—and that the ruling would have to stick until a court reversed it.

Trouble is, it takes many months usually before a court can hand down its findings, even after the Labor Board has disposed of the case.

The national defense program seems a pretty large item to hand over to a non-judicial body in which few people have complete faith today. Under the present system, the board might arbitrarily designate any firm involved in a case before it as a violator of the Labor Act. And if such a decree barred that firm from obtaining defense contracts, valuable time could be lost until a court handed down its decision.

Nothing more important than the defense program has ever hit this country. It is not a thing to be meddled with. It is the clear duty of the government to guarantee that defense building goes on, without delay, free of profiteering, free of politics.

Dollars Get a Workout

When business begins borrowing money from the banks it doesn't mean business is broke. It means industry is getting ready to expand.

So recent reports from Chicago banks, indicating loans have reached a higher point than at any time since the 1937 business peak, look like good news. Loans and discounts on the Sept. 30 call date totaled $746,000,000 for Chicago banks. The figure three years ago was $833,000,000. An expansion of about 26 millions has occurred since the first part of this year.

Much of the rise could probably be traced to the defense industry, which is rapidly taking shape. Whatever its cause, the result will soon have its general effect in larger payrolls and a greater measure of national prosperity.

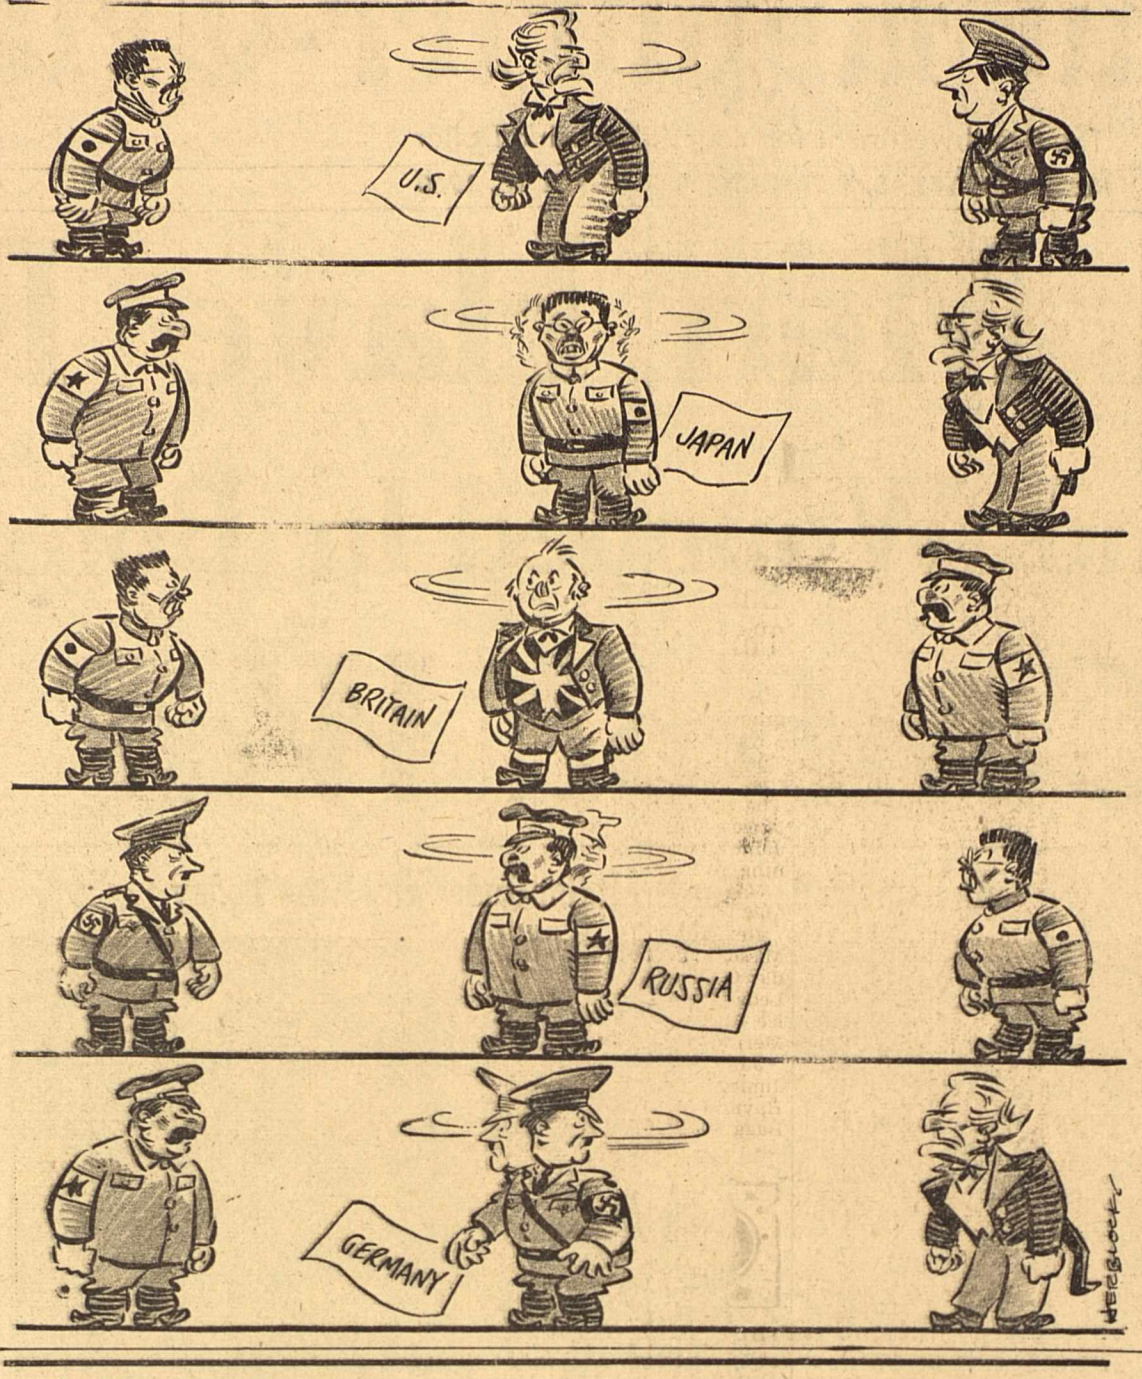

Their Work Is Never Done

More than one congressman must be wondering these days whether the $10,000 a year plus expenses is worth it, after all.

For weeks, for months, senators and representatives have had their traveling bags standing ready in the hallway and have been wistfully fingering dog-eared time-tables. But every time there's a slight lull and it looks as if they may get a chance to sneak home and convince the constituents that they're on the ballots for re-election, something comes up and the members find themselves right back in the capital.

What some of the congressmen seem to forget is that the voters are likely to overlook this lapse in political etiquette and to feel more kindly toward any official who stays close to his job.

SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: Gundrum suggests that they all agree on a story to tell police. He suggests that a robber entered the house, ransacking Adam's room, hunting something, possibly a map of a diamond mine. The thief came down to the jungle, shot Adam, stole the map and escaped in the storm. While Sidney hesitates, Maria says she intends to bring Adam's murderer to justice, regardless of the cost.

THE GREEN SEDAN
Chapter VIII
PATRICIA LANGDON crossed to the window to see how close the police car might be, then announced:

"The police have not come. It's our own car. The chauffeur has just driven into the rear."

Togi returned then. He still showed the effects of his illness, but if he had been putting two and two together and making four out of the reason for his recent questioning, his inscrutable eyes did not reveal it.

"Henly Barkes return with packages from village, Mrs. Langdon," he told Pat. "Road very bad, he says. One big tree uproot on state road make detour necessary. Take much time."

"What sort of man is Henry Barkes, Togi?" Sidney asked.

Togi's almond lids lifted disparagingly. "Henly Barkes thing self big man. Too much good to work like should in private family."

"Hasn't he always been a private chauffeur?"

"Maybe not. I get through agency. Reference very good."

"What did he say when you told him about Mr. Langdon?"

"Henly Barkes ely busy just now. He bling in packages. I not tell him Mr. Langdon shot."

"I'll speak with him," Sidney said.

AS the only member of the household who had not been on the jungle side of the locked door, Barkes commanded unusual interest.

Sidney was surprised to find that he knew him. The man had been a broker's clerk for years and they had frequent contacts. Then the firm had failed and Sidney had taken his patronage elsewhere.

"How do you do, Mr. Braitwood," Barker greeted the lawyer, uncomfortably, after the valet had left the two men alone. "You must be surprised to see me here, in this capacity."

"How did it happen?" Sidney asked sympathetically.

"I'd been unemployed for nearly a year, when one of our old customers offered me an opportunity to drive for him. Then he couldn't afford a chauffeur and I landed here."

"The times are unusual," Sidney agreed. "The house was robbed while you were away. You won't mind answering some questions?"

"So far as I know all are as normal as you or I," Braitwood replied.

"Normal? Well, I wouldn't be too sure of it." He glanced apprehensively over his shoulder.

"I haven't felt any too safe myself. I'm darned glad I have a gun."

"A gun?" Sidney exclaimed.

"Why are you carrying a gun?"

"Mrs. Langdon gave it to me," Braitwood replied grimly. "For some reason she did not feel safe here. She said the roads about Langdon Knoll were so lonely she wanted me armed. She selected the most modern pistol from that queer gun collection downstairs and gave it to me."

"I hope you won't need it, Braitwood," Sidney said.

"I hope not," Braitwood agreed. "I don't like the idea, don't know much about guns. Never fired one in my life."

"You better check your revolver in to the police when they come. It's been fired recently. Let's have a look at that gun, Braitwood."

The chauffeur was startled. "I left it in the car, Br. Braitwood," he explained. "I'll get it. . . Mrs. Langdon will remember telling me to take it from the gun rack. . ."

"I intend to," Sidney answered. "You'd better stay in the house until the police arrive, Braitwood. For your own good."

"There's a car coming up the drive now," Braitwood interrupted. (To Be Continued)

Duke University Prexy Dies Of Heart Attack

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 16 (AP)—Dr. William Preston Few, President of Duke University, died at Duke Hospital at 7 a. m. today after a heart attack a week ago. He was 72 years old.

Dr. Few succeeded the late John C. Kligo as president of Trinity College Nov. 10, 1910, before the wealthy Duke family endowed the Methodist institution, making it the Southeast's largest privately-endowed university.

Dr. Few was an active lay leader in the Methodist Church in the South and held several high church offices.

YOUR NERVES

This is one of a series of special articles revealing typical cases of nervous and mental disorders and their treatment through thought control as carried out by the author and his associates at the Boston Dispensary, famous charitable health clinic.

By Winfred Rhoades

ONE of the useful conceptions of present-day psychology is that of a "constellation" of ideas. Every idea has others associated with it. It is impossible to think of the original idea—or even to have it subconsciously alive in your mind—without being influenced in your reaction—tendencies by associated ideas.

An illustration will help to make this clear. Around the idea of milk, in Mrs. G's mind, was this constellation of associated ideas:

"I don't like milk. I don't like the taste. I won't drink milk."

"I don't like milk"—"I don't like the taste of milk"—"I don't like the smell of milk"—"Milk brings out a rash on me"—"I can't drink milk"—"I won't drink milk."

That, it is easy to perceive, was a bad constellation of ideas. Everything was negative. Everything helped to produce a revulsion to milk. It is not difficult to understand why Mrs. G was starving herself to death when it is revealed that similar constellations of ideas were associated with other kinds of foods.

What was done with Mrs. G. was to help her to build up a new and better constellation of ideas: "Milk is a needed food"—"It is easy to digest"—"Milk is delicious"—"I didn't know milk was so delicious"—"I can drink it with entire safety"—"I will drink it"—"Here goes!"

She began to drink milk, and she did not have the rash. It was similar with other foods. Her dissatisfaction with life, and her expectation of bad effects from foods, these things, and not the foods themselves, had been the cause of the difficulties she experienced.

You can apply the idea in many ways. Take the matter of sleep. Here is a bad constellation of ideas to take to bed with you: "Oh, how I dread these hours in bed!" "I know I shall be awake and think about all my problems"—"I shall toss and tumble all night"—"I shall be more tired when morning comes than I am now"—"Oh, how nervous I feel!"—"I'm going to turn on my light and read."

If you go to bed with such thoughts and expectations clustered about the idea of sleep is it any wonder if you lie awake? Build up, instead, such a constellation as this: "My body needs rest and so does my mind"—"How good it is to go to bed!"—"I will draw down the curtains of my mind and shut out all thought!"—"In the morning I shall feel refreshed." Your expectations will lead you to have a good night.

Here is another application of the idea. "Day after day when your work is over you suffer from headache, irritability, tears, nagging pains, a feeling of utter exhaustion. The trouble may come from your relations with your employer.

The thought of him brings up this constellation of associated ideas: "He's always finding fault!"—"He picks me out more than anyone else!"—"I don't like him!"—"I'm afraid of him!"—"I can't stand it any longer!"—"I shall break down if I don't leave."

With such ideas in your head all the while you may indeed break down, and anyway, you make it much harder to do your work. You must build up a new and better constellation: "My boss provides me with my job!"—"He pays me my salary regularly!"—"I will try to understand him better!"—"I will be too big to let the unpleasant things hurt me!"—"I'm mighty lucky to have the job!"—"I will do my best to please my boss and not let other things matter."

That new constellation of ideas will not only help you to do your work better but will also react healthily upon your physical condition.

Government Posts To Remain Vacant Until After Vote

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Congressional leaders predicted today that President Roosevelt would leave three important government posts—chairman of the Labor Relations Board, WPA Commissioner, and Communications Commissioner—unfilled until after the November election, along with a number of lesser positions.

With Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra confirmed as Selective Service director, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, told reporters it was the understanding that no more important nominations would be sent to the Senate until it resumes business on a full time basis next month.

Unfilled Labor Board
The three-member labor board thus would continue to operate with one vacancy as it has since the expiration in August of the term of Chairman J. Warren Madden.

A vacancy also would exist on the communications commissions, since the President withdrew this week the reappointment of Thad H. Brown, at Brown's request.

Howard O. Hunter would continue as acting WPA commissioner, a post he has filled since the death of Col. F. C. Harrington.

The Senate's confirmation of the Dykstra appointment yesterday would bring to 16,836 the number of nomination approved during this session, clerks reported.

Officials Seek Cause Of Waco Conflagration

WACO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Officials today sought the cause of a fire that destroyed a two-story rooming house in which two persons were burned to death and two others severely injured.

Mrs. Catherine O'Reilly, 58, and J. B. Farrell, 74, died in the blaze which gutted the building.

J. F. Campbell, 70, suffered a broken arm and other injuries and Mrs. M. J. Warren, 72, received a broken leg and chest injuries when they leaped from second story windows.

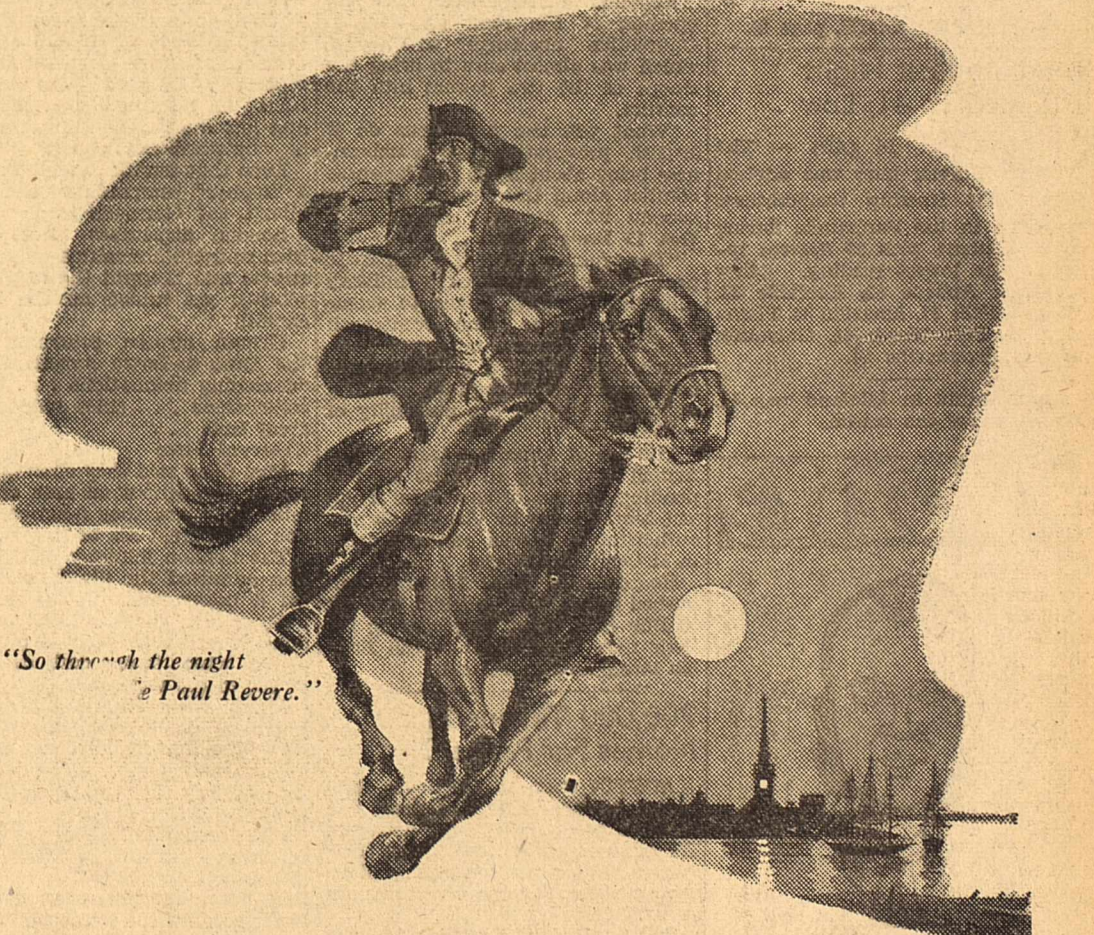

"Milk is needed. It is delicious. I will drink it. Here goes."

will not only help you to do your work better but will also react healthily upon your physical condition.

Today... America depends on the Telephone

"One, if by land, and two, if by sea." better method of communication—the telephone.

Today America needs no midnight rides like Paul Revere's. For this country now is protected by a vast telephone system owned by more than 600,000 American people, employing nearly 300,000 skilled men and women, and used by Americans from coast to coast.

In emergencies today, Americans turn to the telephone, knowing they will receive fast, dependable service—a telephone service backed by the nation-wide resources of the Bell System.

One hundred years later, in an attic only a few miles from the starting point of history's most famous ride, Alexander Graham Bell gave the nation a faster, better method of communication—the telephone.

Highlights From the Week's Oil News

(From The Oil & Gas Journal.)

Illinois—One Trenton test is showing up as a producer while another appears favorable. Gallatin County provided the pool of the week.

California—Operators are trying to bring production down to demand but are meeting opposition to reducing top allowances in deep wells.

La-Ark-Tex—A blowout in the top of the Travis Peak formation gave Lisbon a new producing horizon.

Kansas—An Arbuckle lime pool was opened in Rice County. Extension wells were completed in the Kraft area, Barton County, and the Keesling area, Rice County. A wildcat in Barber County was to test showings of oil in Viola lime.

Oklahoma—The fifth and six producers were being completed in the Cumberland pool, Marshall County, and two new tests were started. A Creek County wildcat was showing as a 50-bbl. producer in Wilcox sand to open a pool about 1 1/2 miles northwest of the Stroud field.

Louisiana—Gulf Coast—Outpost wells in proven fields attract attention. Location for several interesting wildcats reported.

West Central Texas—Three new wildcats were staked in as many West Central Texas counties during the week past. New development is seen for the Dobbs Caddo lime field in Eastland County as several locations were made during the week.

Texas Gulf Coast—Wildcat southwest of Ganado townsite, Jackson County, shows for producer, but still in the testing stage. Red Fish Reef area, Galveston Bay, receives second producer.

Southwest Texas—Two new oil fields opened on Frío-Vicksburg trend in Jim Wells and Starr counties. Crude production opened on southeast flank of Agua Dulce gas field, Nueces County.

West Texas—A 1 1/2-mile south extension for the Foster field, Ector County, as well as possibilities for a discovery in the southern part of the same county, were among highlights of the week in West Texas.

North Texas—Discoveries were indicated in northern Montague County and in extreme eastern Clay County during the week. A total of 10 new deep wildcats starting in the North Texas district.

Eastern Texas—There is a decided upturn in field activity in this district, new completion and locations both registering far above the normal. A total of seven new wildcat tests reported during the week in the district.

Thompson Says Oil Industry In Best Condition In Years

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Answering criticism of the Railroad Commission's policy of granting allowable oil increases on proof of demand and production without waste, member Ernest O. Thompson today asserted:

"The oil industry is in the best condition it has been for years. If the commission refused to grant the increases, it would be violating the law. The past two weeks Texas production has been averaging 38,800 barrels daily under the estimate of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, a condition which obtains also in other states, including Illinois."

The commissioner was replying to criticism he said was voiced by David G. Gray of Wichita Falls, vice president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

"Mr. Gray," Thompson said, "recently testified in favor of granting allowable increases in the Hill-Silk and KMA fields, which requests were granted. He also asked for a proration hearing to cut other fields. Almost everyone is willing to have his field's production increased and the other fellow's reduced."

Texas A. & M. College is the nation's largest and most complete oil service officers training corps unit. In 1939, the school had an enrollment of 6,395 students and all were required to take at least two years of basic R. O. T. C. training.

Registration Day Program For Lions

A Registration Day program, with talks by Frank Stubbeman and Curt Inman, highlighted the regular luncheon of the Midland Lions Club at Hotel Scharbauer today.

Reason for the draft, age limits, requirements and other information pertaining to the peace time conscription were pointed out by the speakers.

Commenting on the fact that this is the first peace time draft in American history, Stubbeman said there has never before been a peace time like this peace time. He discussed the changing attitude of the general public to war and said practically everyone is now thoroughly sold on preparedness because they have seen what has happened to nations who were not prepared.

George H. Phillipus, club secretary, announced the Blues team, captained by Marvin English, was out in front by a small margin in the attendance contest. The Red side is captioned by Claude O. Crane.

Guests at the meeting included Bill Heath, district field man for the American Red Cross, and F. R. Wallace, Jack Daniel and C. W. Post of Midland.

FORMER TEACHER WED

Farm And Factory Cited By Willkie In Ohio Campaign

By The Associated Press

Wendell L. Willkie made a plea today for farm and factory cooperation as his running mate, Senator Charles L. McNary, attacked the administration's handling of the agricultural problem and Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) upheld it.

Willkie, campaigning in Ohio, said in a talk prepared for Mansfield that prosperity for the farmer is related directly to prosperity for the industrial worker.

"The tragic fallacy of that new deal economy is that scarcity is maintained in the midst of potential abundance," Willkie said.

Norris spoke from Washington last night in a broadcast under auspices of the national committee of independent voters for Roosevelt and Wallace, of which he is honorary chairman. Earlier in the day, the White House said President Roosevelt would make two political speeches before the election.

First Talk Oct. 23

The first will be on Oct. 23 and the second on Oct. 30. Stephen T. Early, press secretary, said both probably would be made from the White House and would be broadcast nationally.

Norris said no other administration "has done so much to help and preserve agriculture as has this administration under the wise guidance of President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace."

"The great middlewest, the breadbasket of the union, would to a great extent have been depopulated," Norris asserted, "if it had not been for the saving grace of the administration."

McNary His Program

Senator McNary, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, charged in an address prepared for a meeting at Hutchinson, Kans., today that the Roosevelt administration dodged the farm problem.

"Since 1933," he said, "fifteen farm bills have become law; billions of dollars of public money have been expended. The new deal has tried to buy its way out of trouble. It advocated a two-price system for crops with exportable surpluses."

National defense figured prominently in the speeches of other campaign orators last night.

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York said at Newark, N. J., that "anyone who says that President Roosevelt has neglected the national defense utters a deliberate misstatement, knowing that he has made a mis-statement."

Sen. Byrnes Speaks

Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said in a broadcast from Washington that Republicans in Congress had voted against early defense appropriations and revision of the neutrality law to permit aid to Great Britain and had voted to delay the draft.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said at Elmira, N. Y., that "if our defenses are inadequate to meet the threat of a German attack, and the president himself says they are, surely no one can be to blame but the president himself."

Labor was the topic of a speech by Secretary Ickes at Akron, Ohio. He said that "a company union is Wendell Willkie's idea of collective bargaining under the national labor relations act."

In his address prepared for Mansfield, Willkie said:

"Everybody realizes now that the prosperity of a Democracy can be developed only by producing more and better things at decreasing prices and ever higher standards for the farmer and the worker. This can be accomplished by more production and by constant attention to refinement of the machinery of distribution."

STANTON, Oct. 16 (Sp) — Bill Dawkins, Stanton, narrowly escaped death yesterday when a 12-gauge shotgun which he was removing from his car discharged when it dropped to the ground.

The load blew Dawkins' shirt off and a large hole in the top of his automobile. Concussion from the discharge knocked Dawkins back into the seat.

Dawkins had left the loaded gun in his car the day before.

This was the third shotgun accident in Martin County in one week. The others resulted fatally. O. W. Flanagan, prominent Martin citizen, was shot to death accidentally Oct. 7. A Mexican laborer on the Tom Ranch, 13 miles north of Stanton, was accidentally shot to death last Friday.

3 AIRPLANE LANDINGS

Only three landings at the Midland airport during the past 24 hours were reported today. They were: two N3N-3 navy planes, pilots Lt.-Comm. Williams and Major Fox enroute from Abilene to Long Beach; a SBD-1, marine corps plane, Lt. Bell pilot, enroute from El Paso to Quantico, Va.

Boxer Zivic Responds To Blood Transfusion From Brother Jack, Earns Crown After Delayed Start

By Harry Grayson

NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Most fight followers were astounded when Ferdinand Zivic, a despised short-ender, had Henry Armstrong flat on the floor at the end of 15 rounds in lifting the world welterweight championship at Madison Square Garden the other night.

They remembered too many of the Pittsburgh lad's early reverses as a professional. Practically everybody beat Ferdinand, who took the name Fritzle when he joined the money ranks.

But the youngest and last of the Five Fighting Zivics got going in 1937, when he knocked out Johnny Jadick and repulsed Bobby Pacho, Chuck Woods and another one or two.

And then, as his brother Jack, a fine lightweight in his day, remarked at the time, Fritzle had fighting blood put in his veins.

Fritzle nearly died of pneumonia. It was Jack's blood in a transfusion that turned the tide.

Doctors said Fritzle would never fight again, but he was back in the ring of things on Christmas night of that year, when he dropped a decision to Tommy Bland in Pittsburgh.

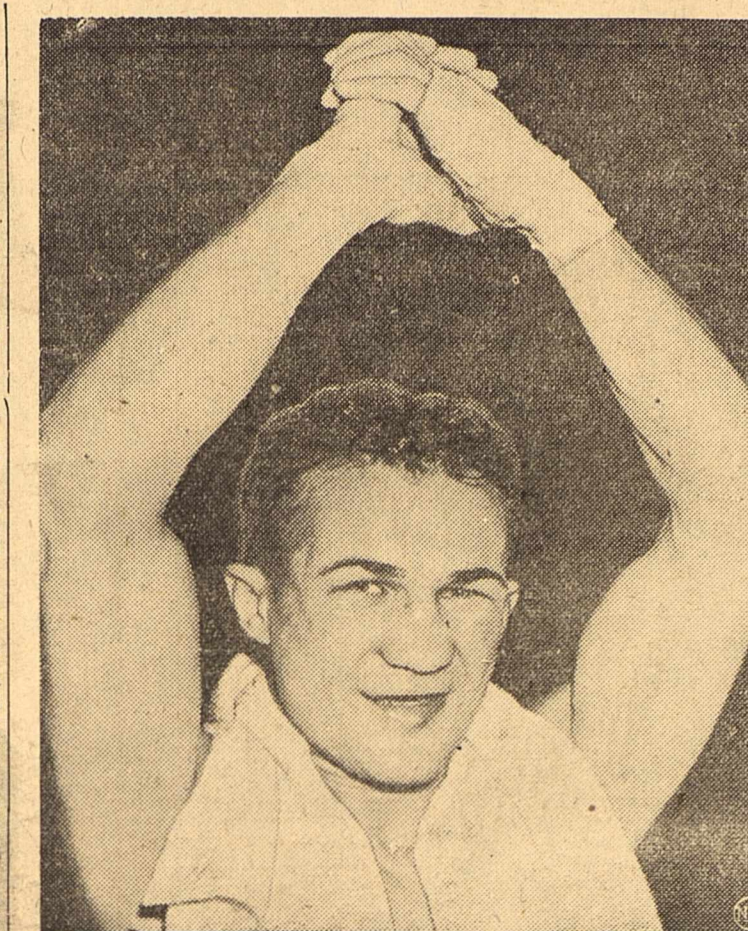

Defeats Angott

AN attack of pneumonia seemed to improve Tony Galento, and had the same effect on Fritzle Zivic.

He started rolling in 1938, and has been hitting it up in high ever since. His only serious setback came at the fists of Milt Aron in Chicago, but he had Aron in the slag four times before he was clipped.

Yet Fritzle Zivic was doing one-night stands around the country until he qualified for the Armstrong match by beating Sammy Angott, the N. B. R. lightweight leader, in a non-title affair.

In seven years of boxing, Fritzle has learned to do it all well. He can place his head against that of a rival and whale away until the cows come home, and he can box like blazes at long range. He has a fine left jab and hook as well as the right hand uppercut to the body and chin which upset Armstrong. He takes a good belt and is totally unafraid.

Armstrong May Quit

ZIVIC is now matched to meet Al Davis of Brownsville in a 15-round non-title battle at the Garden, Nov. 15, and signed to give Armstrong another chance, Jan. 17.

Those close to Armstrong doubt that he will be ready to return to the wars in mid-January, however, and question whether he will ever fight again.

Zivic opened all the old cuts and some 'new ones.' Armstrong has plenty of money, and may no longer have the urge when his wounds heal.

Armstrong's slashing style made nearly all of his many fights hard ones.

Those who saw the rough and cruel party at the Garden the other night would not give the Armstrong who has been so badly battered much of a chance against Zivic in a return bout.

For the Fritzle Zivic, who so suddenly arrived after a slow start, is far from being a cheese champion.

Two Million Americans Dodging Profits Of Middle Man To Pool Money In Manifold Cooperatives

By Gladwin Hill

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP) — Some 2,000,000 American people are trying to dodge the "middle man" and his profit.

Instead of buying their groceries, for instance, at the private neighborhood or chain store, they pool a few dollars apiece, set up their own grocery store and hire a man to run it for them.

Sometimes the store's prices are the same as other stores. Sometimes they are lower. But in any case, at the end of the year the profits, if any, go, not to the manager, but back to the customers.

The same principle can be applied, and is being applied, in the supply of everything from soap to auto tires and binder twine to gasoline.

It even is being applied to insurance, medical care, and money lending, in which field, instead of paying legal interest rates that may amount to 50 per cent a year, the customer-proprietors pay only 9 per cent.

Cooperative Members

These 2,000,000 people are the members of consumers' cooperatives, which exist in nearly every state in the union. Last year they did a total business of $600,000,000.

The system has been developing since 1921 when farmers in Ohio, Michigan and Indiana formed a cooperative to "break" high retail fertilizer prices, which presently dropped 35 per cent.

The system is no Utopian panacea for the nation's economic troubles. A consumers' cooperative has the same problems of management of an enterprise as a private operator.

When cooperative stores give special services like deliveries and charge accounts, the customers have to pay extra for them like the customers of any store. Some cooperatives have over-expanded, given too much credit, and gone broke. Some say lack of profit motive often fails to attract sufficiently astute managers.

Margin Turned Back

But, in general, cooperative members, by doing the work of organization and administration themselves, boast of garnering the marginal pennies that ordinarily would go to a private operator.

Cooperative business still constitutes only a very small part of the nation's commerce. But the movement is growing.

When the cooperative movement's central organization, The Cooperative League of the U. S. A., opens its 12th biennial convention here today (Oct. 16), it will represent about 25 per cent more members than at its last convocation, in 1938.

The big achievement that will be marked at the coming convention is the pushing of the consumer cooperative principle beyond the field of distribution into the realm of production.

An early cooperative enterprise was gasoline distribution. The consumers bought wholesale from refiners and set up their own filling stations. When they found that in this way they saved as much as 9 cents a gallon, so, they reasoned, why not carry the idea further and run their own refinery to save the producers' profit.

That worked, too, and they have not only established refineries in Phillipsburg, Kas., Mt. Vernon, Ind., and Regina, Saskatchewan, but also now have an oil well of their own in Rooks County, Kas., and are drilling three more.

CATHOLIC DIGNITARIES DEPART FROM SESSION

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)—Catholic Church dignitaries returned to their homes today from the National Convention of the Congregation of Christian Doctrine and the Centennial Celebration of the Hierarchy in California.

In the final convention address the Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, Bishop of Amarillo, Texas, characterized the present era as one of "weak and flabby faith," and said only a virtuous people who have learned discipline themselves can be trusted to rule themselves.

Warfare . . .

that neither Turkey nor her "close friend" Greece could be "intimidated" by Germany or by anybody else.

Massed thousands of German and Soviet Red army troops faced each other across the Danube river near the Rumanian port of Galati—poised for action in what may develop into a titanic struggle on continental Europe.

The German troops were supported by squadrons of warplanes and 300 tanks which rumbled into the port yesterday. On the Russian side of the frontier were an estimated 150,000 to 180,000 Soviet soldiers.

Tension between Germany and Russia—brought into the open yesterday when the Soviet government said Germany had not given satisfactory advance notice of sending Nazi troops into Rumania—underwent a new aggravation.

Refuses Nazi Request

Russian authorities flatly refused a German request for more time beyond a Nov. 15 deadline to evacuate 90,000 German minority residents in Bessarabia, which Russia regained from Rumania last summer.

Authorized Nazis in Berlin insisted flatly today that Russia was informed of Germany's intention to send troops into Rumania.

These sources declared the Soviet denial referred to a specific story in a Copenhagen newspaper—and not to the concrete fact of whether Moscow had been informed.

Reports from Sofia, Bulgaria, said President Ismet Inonu of Turkey was expected to announce a Russian-Turkish military pact on Nov. 1, aimed at blocking further Rumanian Axis thrusts into southeast Europe.

Tension between Japan and the United States has increased steadily since Japan, Germany and Italy negotiated their triple alliance, but Tokyo's only comment on the embargo was voiced by the newspaper Miyako, which said:

"A sneering laugh to the U. S. government, which is not only stimulating strong world powers and thereby increasing its own dangers, but driving the American people to participate in the war without cause."

The British government is to reopen the Burma Road to China tomorrow and motor caravans of supplies are ready to start toward Chiang Kai-Shek's forces at Chungking. Japan has intimated she will bomb the route from new bases in French Indo-China.

Berlin had a short midnight alarm, but no planes appeared over the city.

The British air ministry reported raids by the RAF on a naval dockyard in northern Germany, the channel ports, and industrial and communication targets in western and central Germany.

STAYED UP TO SIGN

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 16 (AP)—C. M. Hardy, 22, of Beaumont, slept all night at the Millard school building to become the first youth in the city to register for the draft. Mrs. John H. Donohoo signed him up first.

Dunagan Named Public Relations Head Of Roll Call

District Red Cross officials today announced the appointment of Clint Dunagan as public relations chairman for the roll call drive of the Midland chapter—including Midland and Andrews counties—November 11-25.

Dunagan will be in charge of all publicity for the chapter until the campaign is over.

Members of the local committee have decided upon a goal of 1,600 members for the chapter this year, 500 more than the quota set last year. The 1939 quota was over-subscribed with 1301 members.

To relatives and friends of men registering today for military training, Mrs. J. A. Haley, chairman of the chapter, extended assurance the Red Cross is making preparation to deal with welfare problems of men who enter service as well as their families at home.

Oil Business Brisk As Winter Sets In

TULSA, Oct. 16 (AP)—The oil industry went into the winter season with early business in the heating oil group reported brisk and many officials expecting a heavy demand ahead.

The gasoline situation continued to give the officials of some refining concern, but consumption was buoyed by mild motoring weather over the middle west.

Independents met in Dallas for the annual sessions of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

In Minneapolis, the Pure Oil Co. successfully defended in federal court a $551,000 suit brought by the Twin Ports Oil Co., Duluth, Minn. The case was an outgrowth of the Madison Oil trials in which the Pure Oil Company and 15 other major oil companies were convicted for conspiracy to raise and fix mid-western gasoline prices in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

40 Cases On File

About 40 similar cases, seeking $16,000,000 in damages, now are on file.

In the field the Oil and Gas Journal reported 585 completions for the week, compared with 593 a week ago, and 507 a year ago.

In Illinois Gallatin County provided the pool of the week. An Arbuckle pool was opened in Rice County, Kansas. . . . Creek County got a new pool in Oklahoma. . . . Two new oil fields were opened on the Frío-Vicksburg trend in Jim Wells and Starr counties of Texas.

All-America Ball Carrying Prospects Plentiful Over Country But Blocking Backs Are Much In Demand

By Herb Barker
NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Scratch almost any college football team these days, and you'll uncover a potential all-America back—some of them legitimate.

All-America backfield nominations always have been plentiful. The ball carriers catch the eye, and this season is no exception.

The returns barely are starting to come in, but early season reports from Associated Press football experts indicate two-carriers teams are operating even more efficiently than a year ago. One is Thomas Ruddle Harmon, the Michigan thunderbolt, and the other is John Alec Kimbrough, Texas A&M's line-smasher.

Harmon Spectacular
Harmon's exploits thus far are all unimpeachable. The Wolverine star has scored 69 of Michigan's 88 points and has passed for 12 other points. Few can dissent when Tommy is called football's greatest runner since Red Grange.

Kimbrough is the same unstoppable line-runner he was a year ago. This 222-pound battering ram spent four days in a Dallas hospital last week, riding himself of a possible "strep" throat infection; went by plane Friday to Los Angeles, played 60 minutes against UCLA and scored the game's only touchdown.

Three other members of last year's second and third all-America teams are back—Paul Christman of Missouri; Don Scott of Ohio State and Jack Crain of Texas. Christman has been handicapped by a leg injury, although he is passing as brilliantly as ever. Scott has been somewhat overshadowed by his team-mate, Jim Langust, so far. Crain, however, has picked up right where he left off and is called by most Southwest conference coaches the finest ball carrier the conference has ever known.

Ranking Ball Luggers
Ranking well up on the ball-carrying list are such stars as Bob Fox, Tennessee; Jim (Sweet) Lammie, North Carolina; Jack Jacobs, Oklahoma's Jordan talkback; John (Junior) Hovious, Notre Dame; Mississippi's triple threats; Bobby Robertson, Southern California; Jim Kesselburgh, Oregon State; Dean McAdams, Washington; Bill Sewell, Washington State; Harvey Johnson, Mississippi State; Bill Dudley, Virginia; Tuffy Timmons, Clemson; Leo Stasack, Colorado; Hal McCullough, Cornell; Frank Reagan, Penn; Steve Filipowicz, Fordham; Bill Buski, Navy; Sal Mirabito, Syracuse; George Kracum, Pitt; Paul Governal, Columbia; George Franck, Minnesota; Milt Pieplu, Notre Dame; Bill De Correvont, Northwestern; Bill Green, Iowa; Herman Rohrig, Nebraska; George Paszvan, Wisconsin; and dozens more.

Few Known Blockers
And how about the unsung heroes—the blocking backs? A few of these human bowling balls are known generally, but most of them are relegated to obscurity while the ball carriers gather the headlines. Men like Walter Matuszczak, Cornell's great blocker and play-caller; Forest Evashevski of Michigan and Jimmy Thomason of the Texas Aggies have been accorded general recognition.

There are many others—Jimmy Ringold, Wake Forest; Bobby Grush, Tulane; Hersey Young, Denver; Will Mullenweg, Southern Methodist; Henry Toczykowski, Boston College; Thornley Wood, Columbia; Johnny Harrell, Navy; George Peters, Oregon State.

The list should be longer, but most blockers are just another name in the lineup.

F. & M. Success Is Attributed To Winter Wrestling

By Ted Meier
LANCASTER, Pa. Oct. 16 (AP)—Outside snow lay on the ground. A cold winter wind whipped around the gym building.

Inside a group of husky young men grunted and groaned as they wrestled each other around. After a half hour or so they lined up and ran through football formations.

That was 10 months ago. Today Alan Holman, coach of the undefeated and untied Franklin and Marshall football team, the eleven that stunned the gridiron world by beating Dartmouth 10 days ago, attributed much of the Diplomats' success to winter wrestling practice.

Depend on Wrestling
"We lay great store in wrestling here at F. & M., the Ohio State quarterback of a decade ago explained. "During the last few years I have been living during the off season at Columbus, O. But decided last year to stay here the year around. Being around all winter I told the boys to come out for wrestling. We worked out three times a week. The body contact kept the boys in swell shape."

The results are apparent. In three games, against Lebanon Valley, Dartmouth and the University of Richmond, no player has been injured and Lancaster football bugs are dreaming of a "bowl" game.

But not Holman. "I'm not thinking about it," he said. "We've still got Muhlenberg, Gettysburg, Albright, New York University, Carnegie Tech and Ursinus. I'm afraid one of these teams will knock us down. You know how it is."

100 WORKERS LOPPED
TAMPICO, Mexico, Oct. 16 (AP)—More than 100 workers have been eliminated from the payroll of the government-operated oil industry here in an economy program forming part of a nation-wide move to cut the industry's deficit.

Texas Guard Better But Probably Will Be Out For Season

By Felix R. McKnight
DALLAS, Oct. 16 (AP)—Squat V. D. Basey, University Texas guard who has a pneumonia crisis precipitated by a stab wound in his right lung, is probably out for the season. . . . Physician's bulletins from the Dallas hospital said Basey, rated by many the best guard on the unbeaten Texas team, was improving in his fight against pneumonia and would soon be out of danger, barring complications.

Down at College Station Saturday when the unbeaten Texas Aggies face Texas Christian, Coach Frank Kimbrough of Hardin-Simmons will be seeing his 1'11 brother, John, playing football for the first time.

Older brother Frank, who sent John and Jack to the Aggies and glory, once tried them not to come to his Hardin-Simmons to play football and attend school "because I don't want to be embarrassed by your ability."

QUIP-OF-THE-WEEK: A wag in the pressbox at the Oklahoma-Texas game, with Texas on its own four yard line, 96 yards from a touchdown, and Jack Crain in the deep position, popped out with: "my gosh, now Texas is in scoring position again!"

Please tell us what has happened to Freddie Wolcott, Rice Institute's world champion hurdler, in the football dept? Only a few weeks ago Coach Jess Neely was cautiously forecasting big things for him as a halfback.

For the information of the 35,000 fans who moaned when officials ruled Jack Crain had been slipped out of bounds on the two-yard stripe after racing 68 yards against Oklahoma, the pictures show that Mr. Crain did just what you thought he did—stayed in bounds all the way. . . . The gent who slid out of bounds was Ory McEwen, the Oklahoma chasing down the jackrabbit.

SECOND GUESSING DEPT.
Why didn't Jack Jacobs, the great Indian halfback with Oklahoma, take that bad throw from center in the dying minutes of the Texas game and run it on back across his goal line for a safety? It would have been two points for Texas, but still would have left Oklahoma out in front, 16-15. Furthermore, Oklahoma would have had a free kick from it's 20 — which would have been better than letting Texas take over the ball on the 17, as they did, and score the winning marker. . . . If it took this quick corner three days to figure it out, why should Jacobs do it in five seconds with some awfully big fellows out there breaking his train of thought at the moment?

Registrants Of Martin Expected To Total 1200

STANTON, Oct. 16 (Special).—Twelve hundred male citizens between the ages of 21 and 35 were expected to register in Martin County today for compulsory military draft.

Martin County has a voting population of 1522 and at 80 percent, percentage of population fixed by the state, 1201 men should register in their respective places. Citizens of draft age will be requested to register at voting boxes.

CAR STRIKE THREATENED

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Suspension of all street car service here was threatened today by employees of the British-owned Mexican Street Railway Co., who voted to "resume" a strike settled last November.

Wildcats Refused To Accept Failure, Found New Spirit

By Tom Siler
EVANSVILLE, Ill., Oct. 16 (AP)—Northwestern's return to football power is the story of a group of bewildered, dejected sophomores who refused to lose faith in their ability to click in big time competition.

The Wildcats, surprise victors over Ohio State Saturday, are riding high because the players found a new spirit—one for all and all for one—to match their physical talent.

Sparking Team
Big Alf Bauman, 215-pound junior tackle, and Bill De Correvont, ace halfback, are leading this parade back to the top, just as they sparked Chicago's Austin high to dazzling deeds three seasons ago.

Contrast Northwestern's present grid situation with that of just a year ago and you know that a radical change has been wrought. "I'll tell you one big difference in the two squads," said De Correvont, "nobody on our club now is thinking of all-star ratings or anything like that. All we want to do is win football games and we don't care how we do it. Just score the most points, that's our goal."

"Yea, we got a great bunch of fellows," echoed the massive Bauman. "Everybody is in shape and rarin' to go."

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Brietz
NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Well, Yale, it's nice to have known you. . . . Buck Newsum got a lot of outside offers after the series, but the screwiest of all was one to sign up as a bouncer. (Old Bo Bo would have made a good 'un) . . . Odd situation: When Quarterback Jack Huebel reported to Umpire Paul Huebel in the Washington-Idaho game—merely father and son.

Today's Guest Star
See Taylor, Des Moines Register: "All happenings in the major leagues hereafter will be dated before 1940 and after 1940—the year the National League won the world's series and two all-star games."

Most of the boys around town agree Dr. Ogden Miller's blast against big time football showed about as poor timing as the Yale team did against Penn. . . . Eddie Mead, manager of Henry Armstrong, has joined his fighter in the hospital.

The Rockne film is getting rave notices all over the country. The say Pat O'Brien does a whale of a job in the lead. . . . Big Ten coaches can keep right on worrying—recent call to duty of officers of the Marine corps reserve did not include the voluntary units in which Bernie Bierman is a major.

One-Minute Interview
Joe McCarthy: "We didn't lose by much. . . but we did lose. . . We lost in the first month of the season when DiMaggio hurt his leg after Jake Fowell dented his skull against a steel wall in a Kentucky exhibition."

That's Them
Brooklyn fans, be they baseball or football, are always squawking about something. . . . Sunday, Dr. Sutherland's Dodgers showed real class in pinning Pittsburgh's ears back, 21-0. . . . But the wolves are howling because their heroes were outstated, 12 first down to nine. . . .

TO AIRCRAFT SCHOOL
James Pliska, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Pliska, is going to Dallas where he will attend the Mechanical Aircraft School.

Classy Grid Team Of Buckner Finds Some Difficulties

By Harold V. Ratliff
DALLAS, Oct. 16 (AP).—A good football team, muses G. S. Taylor, coach at Buckner Orphans Home, has its disadvantages.

For one, there is the matter of getting enough games to fill the schedule. If the school wasn't in the Class A division of the Interscholastic League the boys might find themselves practically out of competition.

Other schools of the district have to play them under the rules. The home, operated by the Baptists of Texas, has some 650 children. In the high school division there are 198 of whom 74 are boys.

Thirty-five are on the football squad.

Not Enough Suits
"The other boys would all be out too, if we had enough uniforms to go around," Taylor said.

This may be taken care of next year, because the home is finishing a stadium where it can charge admission.

It's the sixth year for the home to have a football team in the Interscholastic League and they've lost but one game in the last 24 played.

This season Taylor has had to content himself with conference games and taking on second teams of the Class AA Dallas high schools. Couldn't Land It

He tried to get a game this week but it was no go.

Taylor, a product of Howard Payne College, not only is the dean of boys at the home but coaches all athletics. He has no assistants, except the older boys who have charge of the grammar school sports.

Stanton Carnival Fixed For Oct. 31

STANTON, Oct. 16 (Spc).—The annual Stanton high school Halloween carnival will be held in the auditorium October 31, the feature attraction to be coronation of the girl and boy who receive most votes as king and queen.

Festive coronation races in the past have existed between classes. The senior class chose Miss Thesa Ruth Hull for a queen candidate. To escort Miss Hull is Ben Carpenter, Jr.

Chosen as representatives by the junior class were Miss Mary George Morris and Glen Bunch. Sophomore candidates are Miss Alice Mae Widmer, and Bob Campbell. Freshman representative are Miss Dorothy Davis and Ickie Peters.

Midland Man's Nephew In Rome

Midland citizens will be interested in knowing that John T. Whitaker, noted newspaperman and nephew of Ed M. Whitaker, Midland attorney, is now stationed in Rome as correspondent for the Chicago Daily News. Whitaker, who is 34, has already experienced enough adventures for a lifetime in his work as reporter of events concerning the League of Nations, disarmament conference, reparations conference, world economic conference, the Hitler purge, and Spanish war. He is the author of "And Fear Came."

His teams in six years have won the district basket ball championship four times and track twice in addition to two football titles.

In fact it's a habit among all the boys at the home to win.

You see, the grammar school hasn't lost a football game in six years and none could recall when it had been defeated in any other sport.

Quarterback Williams Not To Play In Breckenridge Tilt Friday Night, Suffers Severe Injury To Ankle

Midland Bulldogs hopes for a victory over the Breckenridge Buckaroos here Friday night took what might be a death blow yesterday afternoon when Windell Williams, quarterback and leading scorer in the district, received an ankle injury that will keep him out of the game, and maybe out the remainder of the season.

Williams was hobbling around on crutches this morning after being advised not to suit up for several days. He barely escaped a broken leg, the small bones in his ankle becoming separated in a scrimmage mishap.

Coach Bud Taylor now faces the task of finding someone to replace Williams. Admitting he does not have anyone on the squad capable of replacing the big boy, Taylor will have to reshuffle the backfield. In all probabilities, little Ivan Hall will be moved into the backfield. White, Kelly and Bigman also will probably get more ball carrying than usual.

Several of the other boys on the first team will not be in regular form because of being battered around by the large Sweetwater team last week but all will get a chance to play part of the game. The Bucks have won two games and dropped two. One of the victories came over the strong Wichita Falls team in an early season game. A heavy line paced by three scrabblers and a 192-pound quarterback who is rated among the best provides the offensive for the Bucks.

Mayor Proclaims "Knut Rockne Week"

Mayor M. C. Ulmer today proclaimed October 20-26 "Knut Rockne Week" in honor of the late famed coach of the Notre Dame football teams.

In issuing the proclamation, the mayor pointed out that Rockne won the respect and admiration of his friends not only because of the athletic records of his football teams but for his ability to shape the character of young persons that came under his control.

The film, "Knut Rockne, All-American," will show at the Yucca theatre here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Buffaloes Train Hard For Seagraves Game

STANTON, Oct. 16 (Spl).—Long skull-sessions and field practice to dusk punctuate preparations this week of Coach Homer Poole's Buffaloes as they train for the game Friday night here with the Seagraves Eagles.

A possible shake-up in the starting eleven is likely because of injuries to linemen and backs. Turner, ace halfback, is looking good in line plays.

The Eagles were overwhelming favorites the first of the week over the Buffaloes, but odds are dwindling.

Stock Market Scores Fractional Advance

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Under the firm leadership of steel shares, the stock market scored a general, although fractional, advance today.

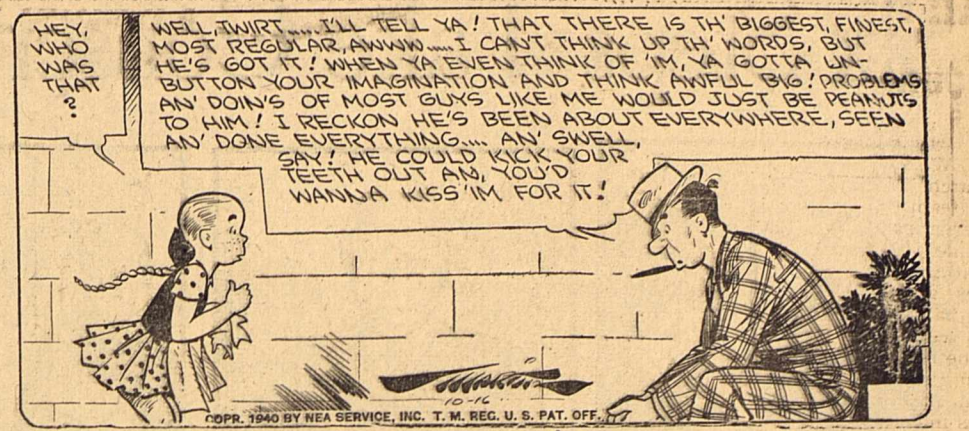

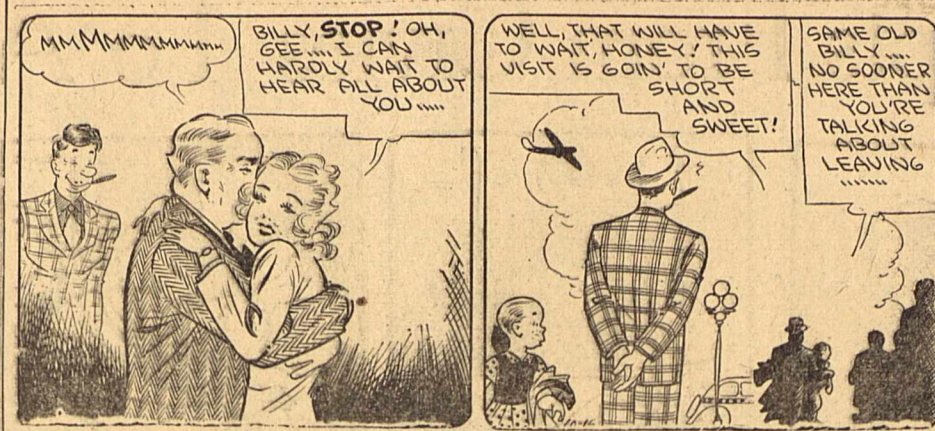

An undercurrent of confidence, based largely on industrial expansion, overruled profit-taking sorties throughout the session.

Overnight buying orders started the session on its upward path. The resultant small gains soon were largely erased on small movements, but a recurrence of buying demand once more shoved prices upward. Twice more in the day, this procedure was repeated.

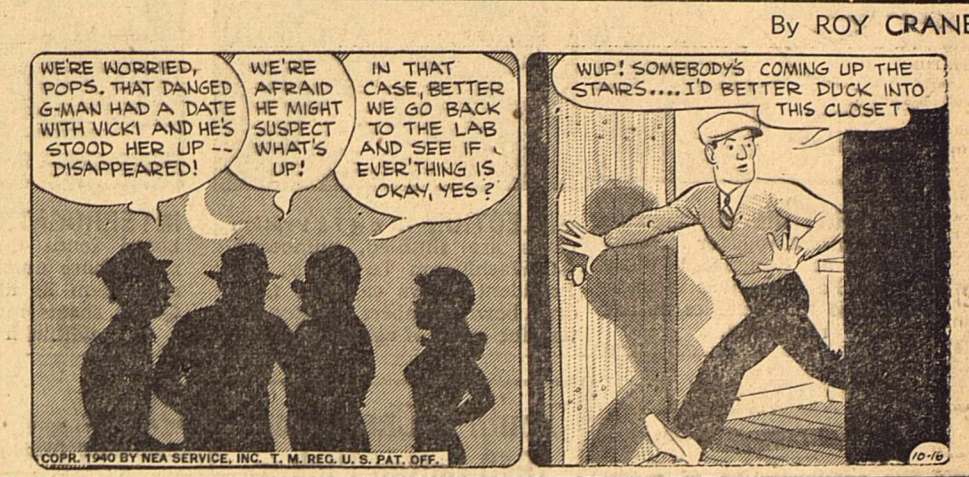

At the close, about 650,000 shares had been traded, making the session the liveliest in two weeks.

All but three of Texas' 254 counties now have acreage leased for oil and gas exploration or production. The exceptions are Rockwall, Mason and Llano.

Six Steps Take Conscripts From Civies To Army Life

REGISTRATION—All men 21 to 35, inclusive, register for conscription at designated place Oct. 16. Each receives identification card that certifies he has registered.

SELECTION—Registration cards are shuffled, numbered. At Washington lottery, the President draws capsules from draft bowl. Numbers in these determine order of calling draftees.

INTERROGATION—Local draft board sends questionnaires to men whose numbers are called, aids them in filling these out. Query sheets must be returned within five days.

DEFERMENT—Board weighs each questionnaire, to decide if man is eligible for deferment because he does work vital to defense or has dependents. Special boards will hear appeals.

EXAMINATION—If draftee is not deferred, he is given physical examination to see if he is fit for active duty. Conscripts must have good teeth, good eyes, general good health.

ENLISTMENT—Men passing tests will be called for active service about Nov. 15. They will be assigned to camps, given a year's basic training. Thus the citizen becomes a soldier.

and the administration of export control, included retention of the following.
Vital important machine tools already sold to, or on order for Soviet Russia.
Planes ordered by Sweden, not yet delivered, which some fear may be seized by Germany or some other warring nation if they are shipped abroad.
Planes sold to Thailand (Siam) which, because of conditions in the Far East, might be used for purposes detrimental to American interests.
Scrap metals already sold to Japan, but not yet shipped, which might be converted into war munitions—as many tons have for the war against China—and used in an extension of the war theater in the Orient.

Youth Is Champion 1940 Cotton Picker

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 16 (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Harold Mason, who pulled 129 pounds of cotton in two hours from bolls made stubborn by an overnight rain, today carried back to his Dunklin County, Mo., farm home the South's cotton picking championship.
Youngest competitor among 136, Mason received the $1,000 first prize offered by the National Cotton Picking Contest Association at Blytheville.
The champion said he planned to save the money to pay his expenses while studying agriculture at the University of Missouri.
James Bradshaw, Reyno, Ark., farmer, won second prize of $250 with 117 pounds. Jose Hernandez, Harlingen, Texas, took third and $100 with 112 pounds. Twenty-two other contestants shared in $650 in prizes.
Joannie Stovall of San Angelo, Texas, who traveled more than 900 miles to compete in the event—first of its kind—picked 105 pounds for seventh place.

Atlantic Refining Company and Ray R. Rhodes of Midland No. 1 Carrier Slaughter Dean, wildcat over three miles west of the Duggan pool in southeastern Cochran County, last night had drilled to 2,072 feet, reportedly still in the red-bed section.
Cascade Petroleum Company No. 1 J. M. Walker, Hockley test nine miles east of production in the Slaughter pool, at last reports had reached 2,045 feet in red beds.
Forest Development Corporation No. 1 A. C. Whisenant, mile and a half north outcrop to the Waples Platter area in southeastern Yoakum County, reported no shows in drilling to 5,187 feet in hard lime.

Draft . . .

In Michigan, Seth Whitmore, Socialist candidate for governor, wore a black armband protesting conscription when he appeared, nonetheless, to comply with the law which required it.
Although a scattering of protests was noted, Washington selective service headquarters said that objectors had in all cases they knew about gone ahead with registration once the draft law was explained to them.
In New Mexico the Mesalero Braves signed up 100 per cent, including 76 Apaches, six Comanches and 11 members of other tribes.
Registers In Office
Senator Rush Holt of West Virginia, who fought the conscription bill in Congress, registered in his office where a registrar visited him. He issued a statement that "to call this a draft for peace is not only to state an untruth but to be hypocritical. It is a draft for war."
Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Texas, the youngest member of Congress at 27, made his way through Washington's wet streets in early morning to register at an old red school house near the capitol.
The draft registration was the second in the lives of most Americans although the first ever ordered in peacetime.
For the second time in the life of most Americans, the young manhood of the nation registered in mass today for military service.
"It is a day of deep and purposeful meaning in the lives of all of us," President Roosevelt said in a brief, early-morning address, prepared for delivery at registration places across the country were opening for a 14-hour day.
Millions of men who answered the same call 23 years ago last June 5 saw their sons step into line for registration at election precincts and schools.
Even some veterans of the A.E.F.—those who lied about their ages then and enlisted at 12 or 13—retraced their steps after nearly a quarter of a century to enroll again.
To Draw 5 Millions
From the pool of 16,404,000 registering today, selective service officials expected to draw 5,000,000 men ready and able to undergo military training in the next four and a half years—nearly 750,000 more than were mobilized to fight the war of 1917 and 1918.
Where some 12,000,000 men from 21 through 30 registered for the first draft in 1917, those from 21 through 35 are registering today.
The president made another distinction, too, between this call and

There Are Arguments But Sport Experts Call Team Of Cornell One Of Greatest

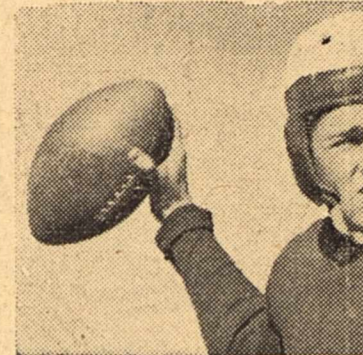

By Jerry Bronfield
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
ITSACA. — Up around Cayuga's waters everybody is high-spirited on what many experts are calling the greatest team in history of eastern football.
There'll be arguments, of course, but there's reason to believe the 1940 Cornell varsity compares favorably with such historical giants as:
The Yale team of 1910, featuring Ted Coy.
The Cornell juggernaut of 1923, which sported Georgia Plann.
Jim Thorpe's Carlisle Indians of 1912.
Undeclared, untied and un-scored on Colgate of 1932.
Chuck Meehan's 1928 N. Y. U. varsity.
The powerhouses of Jock Sutherland's later years at Pittsburgh.
Cornell this season comes closer to being three-deep at every position than any club in the country, which in the final analysis is the prime reason why the Big Red is favored to go through undefeated for the second year in a row.

Line Is Mobile

"THERE'S no denying we have fine material," says Carl Snaveley, "but there's one other quality which makes that material as potent as it is. The boys are far above average intellectually, and this gives them additional ability to absorb."
"It's been a long time since I've had a team with as much natural athletic ability and co-ordination."

One Son To Register

President Roosevelt has one son, John, registering. Already in reserve units, the other three sons are exempt from registration.
Known as the youngest veteran of the A.E.F., Frank Sauliere, a reporter for the Miami (Fla.) Daily News, will sign up again, but probably will be deferred because of his wife. He enlisted in the World War at 12, telling authorities he was 16, and served 19 months with the 18th engineers.
In numerous counties, bands and flags and banners made registration day a patriotic holiday.
Thirty-one of the 101 members of Leopold Stokowski's famous Philadelphia orchestra were among those registering.
One-Family Army
John X. Wegmanns of New Orleans sent a "one-family army" to register. Six of his 11 sons, two of them priests, are within the age limits.
Among the notables registering will be:
Francis Warren Pershing, 31, New York broker and only son of the commander-in-chief of the A.E.F.; Bob Feller, young baseball pitcher; boxing champion; Max Baer, 31, the former champ; and his brother, Buddy Baer, 26.
Peter Lehman, 23, one of the two sons of Governor Lehman of New York.

Hal McCullough

When you've got linemen who are as mobile and flexible as your backs you can really do something.

that of 1917, when he stated in his message:
"We prepare to keep the peace in this new world x x x. It is a program obviously of defensive preparation and of defensive preparation only."
Democracy Is Cause
To the 16,404,000 approaching a new experience for America peacetime conscription, the president's words were:
"Democracy is your cause—the cause of youth. x x x Your act today affirms not only your loyalty to your country, but your will to build your future for yourselves."
The message from Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee was this:
"You are registering one more chance for freedom—your chance for freedom." He pledged his efforts to "release" the power of American industry to arm the young men who may be called to duty.
With a few specified exceptions, all men between 21 and 36 were obligated to report to the 125,000 registration places between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m., with special provisions for those ill or unavoidably detained and stern penalties for willful evaders.

INTERPRETING THE WAR

By DeWitt MacKenzie
Associated Press Staff Writer

This is one of the big moments of the European war—of world history, for that matter—since Soviet leader Stalin may hold in his hands the balance of power between the Berlin-Rome Axis and Britain as he debates Russia's attitude towards the conflict at this critical juncture.
It is a moment of tense drama, too, for they say that Fuehrer Hitler is trying to jockey the Red chief into another horse-deal, that Germany's Japanese ally is seeking a non-aggression pact with the Muscovites to stabilize the position, and that England is trying to crash the party within the foreboding walls of the Kremlin.
British Premier Churchill has given us an unforgettable flash of what this crisis means. Members of commons yesterday pressed him with questions as to Britain's war aims—whether England was trying to maintain the status quo of the nations. He parried them until finally he flung back this grim report:
Fight To Survive
"We are not fighting the war merely to maintain the status quo, but among other things in order to survive. When our capacity to do that is more generally recognized throughout the world we shall be in a position to take further view of what we shall do when victory has been won."
Stalin is juggling the balance of power, and thus far his hand has been quicker than the eye.
The Balkans are seething with a report that Russia and Turkey are about to conclude a military alliance to block any Axis drive down the peninsula, and into the Near East.
The Turks, defiant behind their barrier of 2,000,000 bayonets, again have declared their determination to resist. Greece appears to be with them, and Bulgaria is insisting on neutrality.
Stalin May Challenge
It is difficult to see how Stalin can afford not to challenge Hitler now if the latter tries to smash his way across the Dardanelles. No territorial bribe which Hitler could offer would reimburse Russia if this strategic strait should fall under German domination.
This great waterway is at once the gateway between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean, and together to fall to Hitler it would to all intents and purposes form a vast water barrier between Europe and the Near East.
Russia either must control the Dardanelles or have it under the guardianship of friendly hands—like Turkey's. Were the Dardanelles fests turn the great Black Sea into a longlocked body of water. Russia no longer would have free access to the Mediterranean, and this represents her only opening to southern waters. And it would enable the Germans to send a naval fleet into the Black Sea against Russia.
Stalin cannot overlook that Hitler has wanted the rich Russian Ukraine—perhaps the Soviet's greatest treasure house of supplies.

MANY 20-YEAR-OLDS TURNED BACK AT BOXES

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—Registrars at one Austin polling place turned away numerous 20-year-old youths who insisted on registering for selective service.
The youths were commended by officials who told them to await another registration day in the future.
