Grecian Troops Reported Withstanding Force Of Italians' Attempted Invasion As Machine Stalls Along Mountain Front In Recent War

By The Associated Press. With Greece reported holding fast against Italy's invasion machine, Prime Minister Winston Churchill pledged Britain's "utmost" aid to the little Aegean kingdom to-day and served notice of impending British "campaigns of 1943 and 1944.'

Addressing the House of Commons, Churchill disclosed that the British death toll from Rome-Berlin Axis air raids so far has reached 14,000 civilians and 300 soldiers. Britain, he said, has more to fear from the mounting

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 5 (AP) .-For the third time in six years, workers prepared today to take from the canyon-bound fastness of Utah's Wasatch mountains the bodies of airline travelers.

In the dark of yesterday's early morning, 10 men and women—seven passengers and a crew of three— died as a big, bi-motored United Airlines transport struck against the mountainside 13 miles northeast of here and was destroyed. Eastbound from San Francisco the huge plane circled through a furious snowstorm in an attempt to "line up" the Salt Lake City airport and land. Instead, it smashed into the 25-degree slope of the Wasatch mountains which rise, at that point 7,000 feet from the valley floor.

What is significant is this: of all these countries not more than one or two wanted war. Yet war was thrust upon them all.

Once war on this scale is unleashed, those fighting have only one objective—to win. Thus Greece, whose dictatorship under Metaxas was scarcely less oppressive than those of Germany or Russia, is welcomed as an ally of democratic England, just as the democracies welcomed autocratic Russia in 1914. Expect Record Vote For Texas Election

AUSTIN, Nov. 5 (AP)—Into thousands of ballot boxes today went Texas' answer to the presidential campaign issues — and possibly record shattering general election

The electorate which began slipping blanket-like ballots into voting boxes at 7 a. m. had until 7 p. m. to file its decision and, based on unprecedented absentee voting, the wiseacres predicted the voters would speak voluminously.

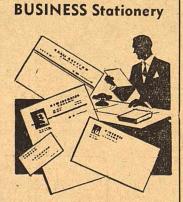

Aside from the out and out Dem ocratic-Republican contest there was keen interest in a write-in campaign against J. E. McDonald, the Democratic nominee for Agriculture Commissioner. McDonald had no Republican opponent. To Swell Voting

The internal dispute was calculated to swell the balloting. Too, there were the efforts of no-third-term and Willkie Democrats which added to the competitiveness of the situation in a normally Democratic vided into sectors with team capstate.

The largest general elction vote heretofore in Texas was 854,957 in 1932. Barring generally bad weather the experts looked for the record

Senate and the 432 seats in the House of Representativs to be filled. Thirty-three states and gubernatorial races, and there were numerous state, county and local contests on many of the ballots. The number of national and state offices at issue alone totalled 6,-794.

Urge All To Vote Both Mr. Roosevelt and Willkie in final messages to the electorate urged all qualified voters to exercise the right and duty of citizens by casting their ballots. Lesser party figures seconded this appeal.

While these messages stressed the duty of citizenship, and as such could be considered non-political, the bi-partisan siege for votes continued "all out" during election eve and carried over past midnight into election day morning hours.

Only then did the campaign end, and voters—all reduced to the same individual level by the common denominator of the ballot—had their opportunity to speak. Assailed for weeks by partisan oratory, exhorted by billboards, and beset by all kinds of electioneering literature, the voter had the last say in the privacy of
