Germans Scuttle Freighter Phrygia Off Tampico Coast

Four Ships Attempt To Make Break But Are Turned Back By Quartet Of Sea-Fighters Asking For Surrender

Captain Schurt Reports Firing Of Fleeing Vessel As Other Three Make Good Retreat; RAF Resumes Attacks On Nazi Coast Ports

By The Associated Press.

A German skipper who made a vain dash with three fellow captains for the open sea from Tampico, Mexico, declared last night that one of four warships which demanded his surrender "very likely" was one of the 50 destroyers "transferred by the United States to Great Britain."

The captain, H. Fromke, of the Idarwald, told his story after Captain J. Schurt reported he had scuttled and set on fire his ship, the Phrygia, 4,137 tons, off Tampico when her capture seemed imminent.

The Idarwald's captain said all four vessels lying off Tampico trained their lights on her Friday night and called for her surrender. The Idarwald ran back to port pursued by what Captain Fromke said was a "destroyer of the obsolete type" which, he added, chased him to within two miles of the coast and violated Mexican waters.

Saw Ships Lights. And her Nazi captain reported seeing the lights of a battleship some distance out.

The presence of the officially unidentified squadron planned the four Nazi freighters to slip out of Tampico for a dash through the British blockade.

Confronted by the warships, the Nazis fired and scuttled the 4,137-ton Phrygia, while the other three—the Idarwald, 5,033 tons, the Rhein, 6,031 tons, and the Orinoco, 9,660 tons—beat a retreat, through a storm to the harbor where they had been tied up since the start of the war.

The incident recalled to many the scuttling of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and the liner Columbus almost a year ago.

RAF Attack Fails. Three thousand miles to the northeast RAF bombing planes, braving a strong channel gale, battered Nazi long range gun positions and invasion ports on the French coast last night, 24 hours after attacks on Hamburg and Kiel and on Germany's railway terminals, public utilities plants and an oil refinery.

The Nazis raided London, Hastings, Southampton and the Thames Estuary during the day.

The Germans dumped incendiary and explosive bombs on London from twilight until midnight but overcast skies bothered them early today and the "raid" passed its signal sounded about 1 a. m. (7 p. m. EST Saturday).

The British declared in a communique that the RAF attacked Italian positions in Albania yesterday, starting several fire northeast of Koritza, an Italian base.

3,700 Strikers Halt Warplane Output

CIO aircraft workers are shown picketing the Vultee aircraft plant at Downey, Calif., after 3,700 of them staged a walkout strike which threatens the national defense program. The union members are asking that minimum hourly wages be increased from 50 to 65 cents. A federal conciliator failed to halt the strike.

Get Acquainted Contest First Prize Goes To Dr. W. E. Ryan; Mrs. R. A. McDonald Second

Dr. W. E. Ryan, one of Midland's prominent physicians and head of the Ryan Hospital, today won first prize in Midland's Get Acquainted Contest. This contest was held in connection with Midland's Get Acquainted Page, a two-page cartoon feature of personalities which appeared in the November 8th edition of The Reporter-Telegram.

Entries of many various designs were submitted in the contest which closed at 5 p. m. Friday. Extreme originality and painstaking work was evident in the entries and the judging was not an easy matter. Mrs. D. R. Carter, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club and Curt Inman, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, judged the contest.

Dr. Ryan's winning entry was a 38-page booklet, 8 1/2x11 in size, with a blue cover. The cover design presented the words, artistically lettered: "Whoizi? Here Tis! Entry of"—and, instead of a signature there was a pen and ink drawing of Dr. Ryan, carrying his medical kit.

The interior pages of the first prize winner were unique and most humorous in the manner in which individuals of various places of business were presented. The individual cartoons were carefully trimmed and tied-up in laugh-provoking poses. For example: Addison Wadley was presented behind a desk. J. R. Marin, behind a bank loan window. P. A. Nelson's head was pasted into a bed, indicating of his concern's sale of furniture, a fire-chief's hat adorned the head of James Wilson, Jr., symbol of the station's gasoline products. R. J. Miller's head replaced that of Reddy Kliowatt on the body of the electrical current trade mark; Woodie Wilson of a department store was presented reposing within a national brand of shoes.

Throughout the entire entry, the various individuals—284 of them—were shown in most original manner. This entry necessitated hours of work; in fact, Dr. Ryan received the assistance of his co-workers at the hospital in designing and arranging the entry.

Second prize of $7 went to Mrs. R. A. McDonald, 1100 Kentucky for a booklet design of 48-pages. The title page, displaying much artistic ability presented a knight of yore trumpeting; "Announcing Whoizi of The City of Midland 1940." There came a table of contents. Each of the 44 cartoons was neatly clipped from the printed Get Acquainted Page and pasted in this booklet—and, each individual's personal name was neatly typed and pasted beneath the corresponding individual. Mrs. McDonald's entry was unique and various pages of it displayed many Original Ideas.

Northern Ector Gains Two More Wildcat Tests

Stanolind To Drill New Clearfork Well; Phillips Stakes Try On M Bar

By Frank Gardner

Northern Ector County held attention at the week's close as Stanolind Oil & Gas Company announced location of a wildcat in the North Cowden Deep area and Phillips Petroleum Company staked another test on its 9,382-acre M Bar Ranch lease.

Stanolind will start drilling with rotary Nov. 21. It is the 1-B V. Cowden Heirs, a 5,400-foot wildcat 660 feet out of the southeast corner of the west half of section 12, block 44, township 1 north T.&P. survey. The test is projected to the Clearfork lime found productive by a group of wells on the northwest flank of the shallower North Cowden pool. No. 1-B Cowden is one mile due west of the same firm's No. 1 Cowden, Clearfork producer completed some months ago for initial yield of 96 barrels of oil and 60 barrels of water per day on pump at 5,210 feet, plugged back from total depth of 5,237 feet.

Phillips Active In Area. The new Phillips test is the farthest south yet staked on the company's M Bar lease. It is the No. 1-124 M Bar, 1,980 from the south, 660 from the west line of section 9, block 44, township 1 north T.&P. survey. Drilling with rotary to scheduled depth of 4,500 feet is slated to start Nov. 21. Location falls 7,740 feet southeast of Phillips No. 1-122 M Bar, test staked earlier in the week nearly two miles southwest of No. 1 M Bar, 1,805,000-foot gas discovery in extreme Southern Andrews County.

Also on the Andrews side of the block, Phillips No. 2 M Bar, 4,600 feet southeast of the discovery, is drilling past 2,865 feet in anhydrite. A mile and a quarter northeast of the gasser Phillips No. 1 University-Andrews halted drilling at 2,495 feet in salt and shells and is installing new motor.

Heiner Drilling At 1,610

Flow was revived by recacidizing with 1,000 gallons in Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 W. T. Shearer et ux, Ellenburger test one-quarter mile northwest of the Apco Ordovician pool in Northern Pecos County. The well began flowing through 2-inch tubing after swabbing for one and one-half hours following the treatment. It tanked 417 barrels of fluid the first 16 hours and still is testing. Sulphur water, source of which still is uncertain, had diminished from 80 to 18 per cent at an early hour Saturday. Balance of the fluid was new oil. No. 1 Shearer is bottomed at 4,731 feet in Ellenburger, Lower Ordovician, dolomite entered at 4,696 feet.

Nine miles west and slightly south of the Apco pool, Culbertson & Irvine, Inc. of Midland No. 1 Mary Heiner, also seeking Ordovician production, is drilling at 1,610 feet in Permian lime. Operators have not

Grecian Forces Take Many Captives And Arms In General Offensive Along Yugoslav Front; Balkan Nation Throws All Weapons Into Fray

By The Associated Press.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 17 (Sunday).—Italian troops fleeing in southern Albania from the advance of the Greeks have set on fire their base town of Koritza, the Greek high command reported today.

The high command's announcement was issued shortly after a government spokesman reported the recapture by the Greeks of the town of Konitza, in the central Pindus mountain region, to which the Italians penetrated in a sweep toward Metsovo.

Ector County Deputy Found Fatally Shot; Verdict Is Suicide

Deputy Sheriff Bill Jones, veteran Ector County and West Texas officer, was found dead today, lying face down with a bullet wound over the right temple.

A crane resident reported finding the body near the Crane highway, four miles south of Odessa. The officer's gun lay on the running board of his car, it was reported.

Suicide Verdict. A coroner's inquest held by Justice of the Peace J. B. Crowley at 1:30 p. m. yesterday pronounced the wound self-inflicted.

Odessa citizens said Jones had talked with friends yesterday morning, and remarked that he was going to talk with a friend. He was seen getting in his car and driving away alone.

Funeral arrangements were not complete at 2 a. m. today. The body will be taken to Hamilton today.

A deputy officer in Ector County since 1934, Jones was married but had no children. His wife lives at Odessa.

Chapter I.

Mr. Thomas U. Bailey awoke at dawn. To his astonishment he had slept soundly, and to his further astonishment he felt good. He sat on the edge of the bed, shivered, even though it was only September 4, then reached for his robe and walked out onto the broad veranda.

He leaned his hand against a log post and inhaled deeply. Next he patted what should have been his manly chest, and said a long "ah-h-h-h-h!"

"You have stomach for the many wheat cake and esauage again this morning, eh? You have good digest now."

"Fabian, my good man, I could eat a fried horse this morning! Indigestion? Puff!" Pot-bellied Mr. Thomas U. Bailey snapped his fingers in disdain. "Why does a man stay in a city and ruin his health? Why didn't I buy a ranch 10 years ago, Fabian? Or 20 years ago? What if I did make a fortune manufacturing airplanes? No New York penthouse has this view or this altitude or this exhilarating crispness in the air."

"Fabian, I'm uprooting myself from the east. I'm going to bring Miss Ronnie out here at once—do her good—do her good—all that artificial hotky-toiky bustle and—"

"See here, Fabian, I want coffee this morning, too. I haven't tried coffee in years. And have a horse saddled for me at once. I'm going to try that riding business again this morning and—well, get going Fabian, get going!"

"Si," Fabian grinned and departed.

"Si, senior, Es muy bueno!" It was, indeed, very good, to see the renowned capitalist Thomas U. Bailey acting like a human being again, he who had come west as a touchy invalid.

It was 2 a. m. before the telegraph company could locate Miss Ronnie Bailey.

The telegram, phoned first to Cloudtop ranger station thence via the Lazy Y 4 and the Cross S ranches into Pueblo, New Mexico, got into New York City about noon. Ed, Miss Bailey, her maid report, but was up at 11 and off to fly her new plane down to Camden to see a friend. Camden reported her on the way back home and suggested they try Andre Garardeau's apartment, because Monsieur Garardeau had down with her.

Andre's man said they were to dine on the river boat Sparling off West Point, but the boat skipper reported by wireless that Ronnie and Andre had joined some hilarious friends who came by in a new super-speed thing not much bigger or sturdier than a canoe. By patient elimination, therefore, they finally found her at 2 a. m. in The Silver Slipper, dancing.

"It's from daddy," Ronnie said, glancing at the telegram. "I supposed"

Visionary? Yes! Visionary And Vital

The name of Solomon, King of Israel, has become a synonym for wisdom. Among his proverbs is one which is especially worth recalling just at this time, when we are all thinking about the future of free government. Solomon said: "Where there is no vision, the people perish. Just as the whole zest of life is in having something to look forward to, so in the life of a people, the only thing that gives a social order any meaning (and therefore any strength) is the feeling that 'we are getting somewhere—we have a splendid goal to achieve.'"

There has been too much talk of "preserving democracy." Certainly it must be preserved, but always with the thought before us of what it may become, can become, not what it used to be. The glory of the free way of life is not in what it has done, but in what it may do.

Professor Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago is perhaps the dean of American political scientists. He is as deep a student of government as lives, yet he is no ivory-tower dreamer. Professor Merriam has broken many a lance in the field of practical politics, and many a written constitution, charter, and state paper bears the mark of his hand and brain.

He has seen a vision of the future of free society, such a vision as we must all see if we are to understand that free government is worth fighting for. He sees future free governments and societies in which the role of power will not be repressive merely, but dynamic and constructive. "In these coming days," he says, "men may achieve not merely that personal security and community stability which alone might mean monotony and boredom. Men may look forward to adventurous participation in the process of creative evolution—in the constructive transformation and betterment of life conditions."

The 17th and 18th centuries, Professor Merriam says, won civil liberties by protecting person and property against arbitrary seizure and force. The 19th established political liberty through the right to vote and hold office. These are largely negative.

The positive stage now appears. It is open to this and following generations actually to mold conditions of social life in a positive direction—to remove special privilege and obstacles to the full development of personality, with accompanying expansion of liberty—education, economic security, and cultural opportunities.

Psychology, psychoanalysis, psycho-biology, medicine are all tools now available for this constructive building, as well as the familiar tools of political and economic devices.

The Golden Age lay in the dim past, men once believed. Today's free man sees with Dr. Merriam a Golden Age in the free future.

Some folks can't figure out why people with less sense than they have get along much better.

Movie theatre owners won't be surprised to hear that Americans spend $90,000,000 yearly for chewing gum.

Ceiling-Raising Job

Make the Most Of the Draft

Nobody is likely to urge that the military training camps now being established be turned into schoolrooms. The primary job of these young men is to learn to be soldiers capable of defending their country.

Nevertheless it seems likely that a great deal of good can be accomplished by certain training courses only indirectly connected with national defense. Henry I. Hariman recently told the New Jersey Educational Association that the army should at least provide "a program of remedial instruction in reading for that considerable portion of drafted men who will be found functionally illiterate." He proposed further practical mechanical training, and other practical instruction.

Just about all the education there is in Russia came about through schooling drafted men in the army. The country had few schools, and the army was the best bet for hammering in a little education. Our case is not like that, but a great deal of good may be done in plugging the gaps in our educational system if the most is made of the opportunity offered by the new army drafts.

pose I ought to read it. Let's sit a while, Andre."

They had a table in a booth 700-odd feet above Broadway; and it was—come to discover it—really pleasant just to sit down a moment and be still. For even a play girl can know fatigue eventually. Ronnie ignored Andre Girardeau while she read. All at once, then, Ronnie Baily slumped.

"Well, it's come," she announced. Andre lifted his eyebrows, expressive always. "He's been writing about it for days. All hopped up. Said he was much better, and had actually bought the ranch, and that I could have a bigger time there than in the East, Andre—imagine that!"

"Droll," said Andre, smiling. "Now he says I go neither to Vassar nor any other school back here, but I go this fall to—imagine this—to Pueblo U.!"

Andre gave his quizzical look again.

"It's where Deemy Aikin went—did you know her, Andre? And Sue Travers and—oh a lot of kids. It's a little school in New Mexico, in a ranch village, but it's so full of easterners and Californians that they call it Dude College. Founded by some wealthy couple in 1930. Daddy says he's asking a professor, some Dr. York, to wire for my transfer credits at once. Seems I am to drink up scenery and dry air, and probably dry living as well."

"You—you'll go?" Andre pointed at her with his cigaret. Andre the dark-eyed and dark-mannered bachelor, called the season's Number One war refugee.

"Of course. I—you know daddy. He wears the Bailey pants. And, darn it, Andre, I just naturally love him!"

Because 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. is a long shift for continuous strenuous pleasure seeking, Ronnie asked now to be taken home. The taxi ride wasn't far, just a few blocks over, and then up Park Avenue. She didn't say much en route; she just sat cuddled next to handsome Andre, and her violet eyes half closed. The haunting, taunting, delicate scent of her still lingered when Andre rode away from the Bailey mansion alone.

Even though it was late, Andre Girardeau did not retire when he reached his apartment. Instead he went on a careful tour of inspection about the place.

He verified that the entry door was locked and that his specially-made little metal disc even covered the keyhole. He saw that no one was in the living room, the bedroom, the nook, the three closets or the kitchen, and that the fire escape was clear and the window shades down. No servant stayed here after midnight unless by special orders, so he knew he was quite alone.

He went then to the medicine chest in his bathroom and momentarily surveyed the little array of bottles there. He took down one labeled "Blaine's Compound, for Muscular Ailments and Bruises; External Use Only." He carried the bottle to his desk, opened it and dipped a pen in it and began to write on an ordinary penny post card.

The message required 10 minutes, but the liquid left only a watery line that promptly dried and disappeared. With his fountain pen and real ink, then, he wrote right over the same card:

"Dear Aunt Marie: Have just sent the two books under separate cover. Hope Cissy likes them too. All well here. No news. Love to the fellows. Affectionately yours, Charles."

He addressed the stamped envelope to a woman in Washington, D. C., took the Blaine's Compound back to his bathroom, then went outside again to mail his card in person, pleased that it read sufficiently inane.

Last move, before dropping it in a slot, was to brush the card carefully with the moistened corner of his handkerchief, against the possibility—however remote—of telltale fingerprints.

Spending Effects Move To Materials

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The war came closer to the average consumer—and his pocketbook—this week as the effects of defense spending began to spread from steel and the heavy industries to things like the wool and rayon cloth which will go into next fall's suits and dresses.

Trade surveys showed the woolen goods business and increased its orders on hand by about 60 per cent in the past five weeks, and few mills were willing to promise deliveries before next June, some even later.

Sellers Little Worried

Wholesalers were little worried that the huge demand for fabrics would show its effects in retail deliveries and prices for the time being. For clothing manufacturers have pretty well covered spring and summer requirements. But by next autumn, if demand continues apace, things may be different.

With general expectation that employment will continue to increase for months to come plans were laid for a brisk business next fall and winter.

Twenty-five Airports And Sites In State, Including Two For Midland, To Be Surveyed By CAA Inspectors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Texas members of Congress have been informed by representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Administration that the strategic and other advantages of at least 25 airports or airport sites in Texas will be surveyed and studied by the board.

Congress authorized the survey to develop a total of 250 defense airports throughout the nation at a total cost of $40,000,000.

The CAA, withholding any general announcement, merely let it be known in Congressional circles that these sites were under consideration.

Dallas-Fort Worth area, College Station, Houston, Galveston, Austin, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Eagle Pass, Laredo, El Paso, Marfa, Del Rio, Amarillo, Big Spring, Lubbock, San Antonio, Brownwood; two sites each at Midland, Abilene, Sweetwater, and San Angelo.

Inspectors are at work in the field and it is expected their findings will be ready for consideration within a month or six weeks.

Money For Airports

If a tentative CAA survey be any indication, much of the $40,000,000 will be spent on existing airports; lengthening and paving runways, adding radio, night flying facilities.

The tentative CAA survey, which Congress put aside for the $40,000,000 program, was based on proposals that the federal government spend no money for land nor buildings, but that communities which would benefit from the airports developed should furnish funds for land and buildings. How far the same restrictions will be applied to the $40,000,000 program has not been made clear.

The tentative CAA survey set down how much should be spent for improvements, other than buildings and land, at each airport. If those estimates are adopted and if the final decision is that the following airports should be developed into class 4 fields, as the CAA had recommended, then these expenditures are possible:

Class 4 airports at Brownsville (2) $389,500 and San Antonio (3) $444,206. Not justified by the CAA, however, on the grounds of national defense.

A new class 4 airport in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area for national defense at a cost of $1,895,318.

Midland Is Class 1

Class 3 airports will accommodate aircraft with a gross weight up to 50,000 pounds or those with places for up to 30 persons. The landing strips are from 3,500 to 4,500 feet in length and such fields are needed for medium bombardment and pursuit planes.

Here are expenditures proposed by the CAA in its tentative survey for developing each of the following into a class 3 port. Figures in parentheses indicate present rating of each field:

Justified on the basis of expected needs of civil aviation: College Station (1) $389,550; Galveston (2) $352,173; Corpus Christi (2) $248,652; Laredo (1) $201,735; Big Spring (2) $150,091; Brownwood (1) $312,864; Abilene (2) $315,990; Houston (3) $408,076; Austin (2) $218,880; Eagle Pass (1) $331,628; Amarillo (2) $488,137; Lubbock (1) $475,099; Midland (1) $352,640; Sweetwater (1) $157,121.

For class 2 airports the CAA had proposed that the following sums be spent (many of these fields now approximate or have that rating and the money in many cases would have been expended to making the place a better class 2 field): Marfa (1) $183,516; Del Rio (1) $160,616; San Angelo (1) $163,822.

To construct new class 2 airports the CAA would have expended the following sums on airports and sites included in the list now being surveyed for the $40,000,000 program: Dallas, $200,000.

The new Dallas airport class 2 was justified as for national defense but at the time the CAA made its survey the remaining class 2 ports were justified on the expected needs of civil aviation. The CAA survey made no reference to a possible second airport at Midland, Abilene, Sweetwater and San Angelo.

A compilation by the Associated Press shows that in all nearly 300 airports may be surveyed before it is finally determined how the $40,000,000 shall be spent.

Prize "Sourpuss"

To compete in the recent 1940 Popular Photography contest, photographer Roy Pinney, of Brooklyn, N. Y., planned the above picture, which he entitled "Hunger Strike." To get the model, little Sanford Brown, to display the proper "sour" expression, he gave the youngster a teaspoon of lemon juice. It proved a sweet idea, for the picture topped 17,000 entries, brought Pinney the first prize, a new car.

First Day's Hunting Adds Up To Thousands

KERRVILLE, Nov. 16. (AP)—As twilight silenced gunfire inaugurating Texas' big game season, State Game Commission officials estimated today's bag at 4,000 deer, 1,500 turkey and an uncounted number of javelina and black bear.

The take, starting a season lasting through Dec. 31, numbered 1,000 more bucks and 300 more gobblers than last year's opening day, shattering all records.

Perfect hunting weather, the temperature dipping into the low 20's at dawn in this game-rich Central Texas area, say an army of hunters, thought to number 15,000 in the Hill Country alone, take the field.

Clean-Up Roll Call Drive Nears Quota

A cleanup campaign here by Red Cross roll call workers added $100 to an increasing membership total, Barney Greathouse, reported.

Midland nears a quota goal of $1700, Greathouse stated.

A drive in Andrews next week will be directed by County Judge-elect W. C. Roberts. The campaign here is included in Midland's roll call.

Materials and display posters have been sent to Andrews, Greathouse said.

No exact figure of the funds raised in Midland has been announced, by Greathouse, but he declares the "quota will be achieved."

British Craft Replace German On Mississippi
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (UP)—Hundreds of craft destined for ports in England ply the Mississippi river these days, replacing the boats flying the Nazi swastika ensign which not long ago were numerous. Germany's sleek tankers no longer chug up the lower Mississippi and glide back into the Gulf of Mexico with great quantities of American petroleum.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- Should a hostess plan for her house guests to go to church without asking them if they want to?
 - Is it good manners to ask someone you have just met, "what church do you belong to?"
 - When a young man and girl go to church together does she make her own contribution to the collection plate, or let him give something for her?
 - Is it good manners to turn from side to side in church to see who is there?
 - When speaking to the minister after the service should you say, "That was a splendid sermon you preached?" or "I enjoyed your sermon very much?"
- What would you do if—
- You are not used to asking grace at meals, but are called on to do so in the house of a friend—
- Say "Oh, I can't?"
 - Say a sentence or two?
- Answers
- No. She should ask them if they want to go, making it clear they are not "expected" to go.
 - No. It seems prying to ask that of a person you have just met.
 - She puts in her own contribution.
 - No.
 - "That was a splendid sermon" is better.
- Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

Light-Weight Football Players In East Enjoy Own League Play

Leading Lightweights

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK. — The Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight League offers positive proof that football can still be played for fun.

Schools have tried to keep lightweight, or 150-pound, football informal . . . to protect it from the pressure and ballyhoo which has attached itself to the varsity variety.

The little fellows are not publicized, but because the idea gives boys too light for the varsity or junior varsity an opportunity to play on regular teams, it has made rapid strides on the Atlantic seaboard.

Originating in 1931 on an intramural basis, 150-pound football grew into the Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight League three years later. Charter members are Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Rutgers, and Lafayette. Cornell and Villanova were admitted to complete the present seven-club setup.

Each outfit plays a full schedule of six games with the other members of the circuit.

More than 100 reported at Pennsylvania this fall . . . 75 at Cornell.

Players Are Weighed

Combatants come and go as they wish. There is no squad cut. The boys have regular coaches, but maintain their own training rules. Practice lasts about an hour and a half a day, but some of the athletes leave early because of meal jobs, etc. Practice in informal. Some come out off and on all season.

Players weigh in on the second day prior to each game after practice that day. Those weighing in excess of 151 pounds are ineligible. Rival teams weigh in before each game. Anybody then weighing in excess of 154 pounds is ineligible.

Periods are of 12 minutes duration, but play is fast because speed is stressed.

At first the 150s used cast-off varsity equipment, but now the universities furnish them with new stuff each autumn.

Princeton is the defending champion, but Penn and Yale went into their fourth games unbeaten and tied for the lead in the current race. Average attendance is between 300 and 600, but as many as 10,000 have seen a game at Rutgers, 152-Pound Star.

FARMERS ASKED NOT TO HAVE TOO HIGH HOPES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP). — Texas cotton farmers should not hold too high hopes that a great outlet for their crop lies ahead in its use as a highway surfacing material.

This was the impression left by public roads administration officials who declined to express a definite opinion now as to the value of using cotton with bituminous binder and some material such as crushed shell as a highway topping.

The dry spell of 1930 exceeded in duration and aridity any ever recorded in 95 years of U. S. Weather Bureau records.

To Employ Airplane In Trapping Antelope

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (UP).—The Texas Game Department for the first time will use an airplane this fall in trapping antelope in West Texas, Will J. Tucker, executive secretary of the department, has announced.

Trapping of antelope on overgrazed areas and transporting them to greener pastures is necessary, Tucker said, because an antelope will not clear a three-foot fence or barrier.

In the past, 12 horsemen have been used in driving the herds into corrals, where they were crated for shipping. Tucker said four men will handle the work this fall because a plane flying no lower than 500 feet can turn a herd at will in whatever direction desired.

If airplane herding is successful, antelope may be placed on several hundred additional sections in West Texas, Tucker said. More than 200 sections of land were stocked with the pronghorns last year. Antelope do not thrive in wooded areas and are grazed in the open land of West Texas.

much thought. For example: In presenting a bank, she clipped a picture of two hands placing money in a purse and above the picture was pasted the message, clipped from a printed page: "Unforseen events . . . need not change and shape the course of man's affairs." The financial institution's firm name was a signature clipped from a printed advertisement from this newspaper's columns.

Third Prize To Miss Miller
Third prize, $5 goes to Lura Dee Miller, 701 North Peecos, cashier at the Cactus Cafe, Miss Miller's entry was a large 23x29 card-board display on which were pasted each of the cartoons and each individual's name neatly lettered correctly opposite with the firm name lettered above. The entrant's drawing of a woman's head on her entry bespeaks of artistic ability—and, opposite this drawing was lettered: "I think it was a pleasure getting acquainted with Midland's business and professional people."

Mrs. Arick Takes Fourth Prize
Fourth prize, $3, goes to Mrs. M. B. Arick, 1010 West Indiana, for a 44-page booklet with title page "Get Acquainted—the two words, being clipped from the Get Acquainted Page. Mrs. Arick, in a very neat and artistic manner clipped each of the individual cartoons from the group presentation, pasted the members of each firm on a separate page, with the individual's personal name beneath his or her cartoon, snipping the names from the printed cartoon pages.

Last Saturday morning, the first entry in the contest was waiting at The Reporter-Telegram's door to be entered. A boy had the S. L. Alexander family's entry and evidently wanted to be the first to enter the contest.

A very neat and artistically-lettered booklet design, submitted by Mrs. Robert L. Clarke, was attention-compelling and presented an unusual amount of work. However, this entry failed to place among the first four because of an error. A rule of the contest was that firm names and personal names had to be correctly spelled as they appeared in print in the Midland's Get Acquainted Page.

The first four prize winning entries are now on display in the lobby of the Yucca Theatre. The names of the twenty-three persons winning honorable mention, each to receive a ticket to the Yucca Theatre will be found in advertisements in this edition of The Reporter-Telegram. Winners may receive their cash prizes and theatre tickets at The Reporter-Telegram office.

Giving Opportunity Is City's Problem, Gheen Tells Crowd

Providing opportunities for its own boys and girls in any community's biggest problem, James E. Gheen, public speaker and business man, told a Town Hall audience at the high school auditorium Friday night.

He urged his listeners not to permit their city to "get everything it wants," but to differentiate between the wants of the community and its real needs. Using a parody on popular book, "Live Alone and Like It," he declared that to "Live Together and Like It" is harder but should be the aim of citizens. They should know more about their community, he said.

Humorous Lecture
The speaker's advice and inspirational comments were given between anecdotes and witticisms that rippled laughter.

Gheen, was introduced by Wilburn Page, Midland.
The meeting was opened by P. D. Moore, president of the Town Hall Association, who announced the next speaker in the lecture series would be presented early in December.

Influence Of Texans In Congress Provided By Years Of Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—The influence of Texans in Congress was built up through the seniority of many of its members, whose years of service on committees elevated them to chairmanships. This was the route Representative Sam Rayburn followed to the speakership of the House, as did Vice President John Nance Garner before him.

That Texas should retain that influence so long as the Democrats are in the majority, is seen in the fact that vacancies in the state's delegation are almost invariably filled by men young enough to go through the waiting period and reach the top in their mental and physical prime.

For example, Representative Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson City entered the House at 27 three years ago to succeed the late James P. Buchanan, who was chairman of the appropriations committee. Johnson was named to the naval affairs committee and since has risen from sixteenth to seventh place among Democrats on it. Representative Lindley Beckworth of Gilmer was elected to Congress at 25, in 1938. The man scheduled to succeed Representative Marvin Jones of Amarillo, chairman of the House agriculture committee, is Eugene Worley of Shamrock, 31. Few Texans in recent years have been elected to Congress for the first time past 40.

Seventeen Rescued From Grounded Ship

Seventeen of the freighter Novadoc's crew of 19 men were rescued from the grounded ship off shore in Lake Michigan after they had clung to the ice-covered broken hull for 24 hours. Sailors on the stricken vessel are shown being taken aboard the fishing tug Three Brothers which reached the ship after earlier attempts in the stormy waters had failed. Two Novadoc men were reported lost.

R. A. F. "Went In" After Italian Ships Like This

Admiral Nelson's old maxim "Go in and get them, if they won't come out" was responsible for one of the greatest naval-air exploits of the war, according to a British Admiralty report announcing the devastation of main units of the Italian fleet. Planes of the fleet air arm raided the Italian hideaway in Taranto Harbor and are reported to have badly damaged three great battleships, two cruisers and a number of auxiliaries. One major ship struck was of the 35,000-ton Littorio class. The Littorio, pictured above, has nine 15-inch guns and carries 1600 officers and men.

British Planes Like These Blasted II Duce's Fleet

In a daring foray on Taranto Harbor, whose successful result "affects decisively the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean," according to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, planes of the British fleet air arm wrought havoc among Italy's biggest warships. British attackers were like those pictured above, which are maneuvering over smoke screen laid down by H. M. S. Crusader.

Vultee Strikers Ask First Wage Demands

DOWNY, Calif., Nov. 16 (AP).—Striking CIO unionists reverted today to their original demands for a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour at the Vultee aircraft factory and issued a statement contending that if they are hampering national defense, then the company likewise is hampering it.

Peaceful picketing continued at the plant, which was closed yesterday about two hours after some 3,000 members of the United Automobile and Aircraft Workers Union walked out.

A proposal to reinstate the 75 cents demand was adopted at a mass meeting of strikers near the plant this morning. The company has been paying 50 cents minimum. In the course of negotiations, the union offered to accept 65 and will still negotiate on that basis if the company will offer it, union leaders said. Company officials withheld comment.

Aggies Rise To Greatest Heights In Beating Owl Team

Eleven Of Norton Moves To Brink Of Second Undeclared Season With Kimbrough Playing In Superb Form

Sophomore End, Henderson, Delights Crowd Of 30,000 With Perfect Pass Receiving As Machine Scores In Second And Third Frames

By Felix R. McKnight

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 16 (AP).—Methodically, almost casually, the Texas Aggies poured ruthless power and a fabulous passing game into Rice Institute today for a 25-0 triumph that took them to the very brink of a second successive unbeaten season.

Never, in their classic string of 19 victories, had the Cadets struck with such viciousness as today—tumbling through once-beaten Rice for 406 yards by ground and air.

Once again it was John Kimbrough, the massive all-America fullback, in the bellwether role. The grinning 222-pounder prosecuted, and closed, his all-America case for 1940 by shredding Rice's stout line for 108 yards on 18 carries for an average six-yard gain.

Can't Stop Kimbrough

He butted, he dived, he jolted and simply overpowered the second ranking line of the Southwest Conference.

But Kimbrough shared the glory with a gangling sophomore end, Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson, who threw the 30,000 crowd into a panic with eight consecutive catches for a total of 117 yards.

Only once was Rice in this ball game. Deep in the fourth period, second and third stringers dotting the Aggie line, Rice put on a drive featuring Bob Brunley, a magnificent back, that surged to the Aggie 14. But there it stopped. Prior to that the Aggie 42 was their best effort.

Line smashing by Brunley and Ted Weems gave Rice a stout start, but the Cadet line held everything until the start of the second period—and a murderous attack.

Pass To Henderson

Kimbrough blew off the fuse with 17 yards on two snaps that carried to his 43. Then he made good on a gamble that led to three quick touchdowns in the next 12 minutes.

On the Aggie 45, fourth down and a yard to go, he simply dived for three yards and the first down. Marland Jeffrey bulleted a 34-yard pass to Henderson on the Rice 20. Kimbrough chipped in five and then Jeffrey pitched to Jim Sterling for a touchdown. Marion Pugh kicked the point.

Derace Moser entered the game and brought a touchdown. He fielded Weems's quick kick for a 14-yard return to the Aggie 44. Pugh found the wild-legged Henderson down on the Rice 39 and then threw to Moser, deep in the flat, who made a beautiful run to the Rice five. On the next play Moser fell in behind Jim Thomson's blocking and swept the field for the score. Pugh missed his point.

Conater's Turn

Wild Bill Conater's 20-yard punt return to the Aggie 45 started the third counter.

Butting with his head, using his elbow for a shield, Kimbrough shook Rice's secondary with a 24-yard bolt, took a lateral from Pugh for eight more, rattled five off left tackle and then lateraled to Thomson for five more.

Out of this smashing running game that had drawn Rice's secondary arose Pugh to drill a touchdown pass to that man Henderson in the end zone. Pugh missed the kick.

Three times denied a score on drives that carried to the Rice 11, 13 and five, the Aggies cracked right back and scored at the end of the period on Pugh's 20 and 17 yard heaves. In Sterling and Henderson and Kimbrough's blast for five yards and the score. Pugh again missed the kick.

Unexpected Turn Of Events Strike Football Fraternity Erasing Irish And Barely Missing Cornell Eleven

By Herb Barker

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—A wave of upsets shocked the football world today, knocked Notre Dame off the unbeaten list and missed Cornell's Big Red squad by exactly six seconds.

The Deacons were kept under control on the ground by a rushing, smashing Tech forward line led by Clarence Tillery, Laney junior end, and Wake Forest's stout line in the first period.

Douglass piloted the Raiders to the winning touchdown in the third with long runs, climaxed by a 15 yard sprint to the Wake Forest 3. There Roger Smith lobbed a pass over the goal line to end Bing Bingham for the touchdown. Smith's pass to Bingham failed for the extra point.

Wildcats Defeat Badgers Easily

MCCAMEY, Nov. 16 (Special).—The Wink Wildcats turned on the heat here Friday and plastered stubborn McCamey's Badgers, 20-6.

Wink scored three times in the first three quarters.

In the first stanza, the Wildcats recovered a Badger fumble on the 6-yard line and Youngblood went over to start the scoring. He placed, kicked extra point.

62-Yard Goal Drive

Wildcat power began again in the second as Wink drove 62 yards for a second touchdown.

Late in the third, Wink gobbled up another McCamey fumble on the Badger 20. Horn flanked right end for the six-pointer.

The Badgers took to the air and scored in the fourth. Reynolds, half-back, heaved White, end, a 32-yard air shot. He took it on the 10 and galloped across untouched.

White's score was the first tally ever made against Wink by McCamey.

Mustangs Defeat Porkers, 28-0, In One-Sided Battle

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 16 (AP).—Tough Southern Methodist, alert as a deer in the hunting season, punched out a 28-0 victory today over a groggy University of Arkansas team closing out one of its saddest seasons of Southwest Conference football.

Southern Methodist scored in the first, second and twice in the third.

Not until the dying minutes did the Porkers come to life, when desperate passing netted the second of their four first downs. One of those was handed to them by a penalty.

The Mustangs rushed through and swept around for 165 yards around and gained 130 yards passing. Their recovery of four Porker fumbles and the subsequent runbacks tacked another 141 yards on that total.

Stickney Gallops

Midland tallied early in the second stanza, driving 50 yards. Stickney galloped to first down on the 15 as the first quarter ended. In four plays the Pups were over. Wheeler plunging the final yard. His point attempt was low.

Just as the half ended, Wheeler drove over for the second counter in a seven-yard smash. His placement was blocked. Setting up the score was Stickney's 29-yard dash and Richard's aerial to Wheeler. The drive was 80 yards.

Trailing 12 points, the Odessans countered in the early fourth. Backed up to their 10 by Kelly's punt, Odessa passed and ran 90 yards for a hard-earned six points. A clipping infraction by Midland aided the drive. Two spot passes for 13 and 28 yards aided Kimbrough (rep. he played fullback) bruised to a first on the 4. Then flashy little Bob Webb, quarterback, took a backward pass and tore around his flank for Odessa's only tally. A run for extra point was stopped.

Pass Boomerangs

The Broncs' desperate passing game boomeranged to set up Midland's final point-making. Nuyes intercepted an aerial and hugged the sidelines until forced out on the 1-yard line. Wheeler leaped over. Wheeler, faking a placement kick went around his own right end for the point.

Odessa's last surge died as Wheeler snared and ailed on the Midland 45 and almost got away. He was hauled down on the Odessa 25 as the gun sounded.

Coach Freels, commenting on the game, said he had uncovered an offensive sought all season. "I was proud of the team work of the Pups, whose blocking was better than at any time during the season. To the boy, they all figured very much in the victory."

Ahly assisted by halfbacks Stickney and Billy Richards, End Charlie Kelly and Jack Noyes center and signal-caller, Wheeler and his mates plunged and passed to a clean-cut victory.

Layden And Texas Crowd Horned Frogs Out Of Grid Race

Steers Decision T. C. U., 21-14, As Winning Pass To Gill In Last Quarter Manufactures Vital Score

Longhorns Make First Touchdown In Second Period As Star Sweeps Around End To Goal; Crain And Gillespie Play Part Of Contest

By Harold V. Radloff
FORT WORTH, Nov. 16 (AP).—Pete Layden arose to full stature as gridiron hero here today to send the University of Texas to a riotous 21-14 victory over Texas Christian University and push the Horned Frogs out of the Southwest Conference race.

Jack Crain, Texas' flying cowboy, and Kyle Gillespie, TCU's toy bulldog, hobbled in and out of the game on injured knees to share the glory but it was Layden's deadly passing, terrific running and mighty punting that broke the heart of the Horned Frogs.

A homecoming day crowd of 15,000 turned out for the game. Layden chunked a pass to little Johnny Gill in the early minutes of the fourth period that gained 38 yards and the touchdown that won the game.

Layden hung up the first score on a 15-yard dash around left end in the second quarter. Crain had intercepted Gillespie's pass and ran it back to the Texas 42 to start the Longhorn parade.

Crain added the point. Texas Christian tied the score in three minutes. Gillespie romped from the TCU 4 to the Texas 30 on the kick-off. Then he passed to Phil Roach for 15 yards. Logan Ware picked up seven. Gillespie faked a pass, and rushed to the Texas one foot line. Frank Kring waded over. Roach kicked the point.

Both teams' count.

Both teams counted again in the fading minutes of the third period. Texas took the ball on its 14. Layden romped around right end for 22. Doss and Laden got six in two line tries, then Crain bounced through the line and, seeing he was to be downed, flipped the ball to Kutner, who ran 50 yards for the touchdown.

The Frogs didn't waste time trying to tie the count. Taking the kick-off on their 31, they stormed to a touchdown with Gillespie's 31-yard pitch to Jack Ode being the payoff. Paul Smith kicked the extra point.

Then Texas sewed up the game in the first four minutes of the last quarter.

Abilene Upsets Tornados, 21-0

ABILENE, Nov. 16 (Special).—Providing a mild upset in District 3-AA, Abilene High's Eagles battered down the Lamesa Golden Tornados, 21-0, here Friday in a conference clash.

The Eagles tallied in the second, third, and fourth quarters. For the initial counter, Brennan, fullback, bruised across from the 2-yard marker, capping a 55-yard advance.

Dalton Scores Twice

Dalton, quarterback, racked up the other two scores, first, by taking a lateral from Brennan, and sprinting 6 paces for the score, and second, by cantering 30 yards down the middle for the touchdown.

Sellers place-kicked all three extra points.

Lamesa sorely missed the full strength of their ace, Gus White, who played only half of the tilt because of a recent illness.

First downs favored Abilene 16 to 6.

Sooners Beat Tigers In Shutout Victory

By Austin Bealmear
NORMAN Okla., Nov. 16 (AP).—Oklahoma's Sooners erased the defending champion Missouri Tigers from the Big Six title picture with a 7 to 0 shutout today, covering Paul Christian all the way and uncovering a new star of their own in sophomore Ruel Hamm.

With Jack Jacobs nursing an injury that kept him on the bench except momentarily, Hamm played all but two minutes and sparked the Sooners through their touchdown drive—a 72-yard third quarter march that ended with Fullback Johnny Martin crushing over from one yard out.

After Oklahoma tallied, the blond bomber opened up with everything at his command, finding his receivers easily around midfield. But every time the Tigers sniffed their goal, the Sooners blanketed Christian's mates so well he didn't have a chance.

Courtney Basketball Teams To Begin Season

COURTNEY, Nov. 16 (Special).—Basketball season opens here Tuesday night with three tilt carded.

Closing the 1940 season, Midland's junior high Bullpups play Big Spring junior Steers here Wednesday afternoon on Lackey Field.

The game was changed from Nov. 22. The time has not been set, Coach Preels said.

Midland holds an early season 7-6 wip over the Steers.

Bulldogs Rehearse For Broncos

Coach Bud Taylor's Bulldogs, shown in practice last week at Lackey Field, have been groomed carefully for their traditional encounter Thursday afternoon here with the Odessa Broncos. The teams will be battling for second place in District 3-AA.

Stanford Approaches Rose Bowl As Eleven Beats Oregon State

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 16 (AP).—Stanford's invincible Indians nailed their football battle flag on the ramparts of the Rose Bowl today with a thumping 28 to 14 victory over Oregon State's Beavers.

The team that Clark Shaughnessy coached from the coast conference cellar to undisputed leadership in one season, assured itself of nothing less than a tie for the title. One game remains to be played against California.

Stanford can do no worse than an even finish with Washington, and inasmuch as the Indians have vanquished Washington 20-10, there was not much more left than the shouting.

Voting Is Formality.
The assumption was that the balloting of ten conference members, who vote on the western representative for the Rose Bowl, would be a mere formality.

The score was tied, 7-7 as the Indians came out for the third period. Within a period of nine minutes Shaughnessy's gridiron magicians had crashed over with three touchdowns and a margin that made most of the 35,000 fans rooting for them relax in relief.

Tulane Turns On In Last Half And Wins

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16 (AP).—Tulane's powerhouse, short-circuited for half the game by Georgia's scrapping Bulldogs, started functioning in the second half today to win, 21-13, for its first Southeastern Conference victory before 30,000 fans.

The game started out contrary to expectations.

Georgia looked unbeatable on a 47-yard drive for its first score.

In the third period, Sinkwich tried a pass in his own territory and Leonard Stern, Tulane guard, intercepted on the Bulldogs' 13. Harry Hays, substitute halfback, swept right end for eight yards and a touchdown.

Lead Didn't Last

The Tulane lead didn't last long. Lamar Davis, Georgia's right half, took Roman Betz' kickoff and outran Tulane's fastest backs for a 97-yard touchdown.

Bubber Ely returned a punt to Georgia's 30 and started throwing passes to set up a touchdown on the five. Fred Golden went over in three plays. Lou Thomas place-kicked Tulane ahead, 14-13.

The Wave stopped a furious Georgia passing attack, took the ball on the Tulane 23, and drove to its last touchdown in six plays. After Thomas ran 30 yards, Fred Cassidy went five yards over left tackle for a touchdown.

Nebraska Team Wins Close One From Pitt

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Pitt Jim which the Nebraska Cornhuskers buried a year ago nearly heaved its way through the cold sod of the stadium here today, but couldn't quite make it and the Huskers left the snow-framed gridiron with a 9 to 7 decision, their sixth since they were defeated by Minnesota in the season's opener.

Twenty-two thousand fans forgot the cold in the last half-minute as John Stahl, Panther end, dropped back to the Nebraska 13-yard line after a great Pitt drive had whittled on the five, and tried a placekick which would have given the Panthers a 10-9 victory. He missed.

Pitt played the highly favored Nebraska to a standstill through most of the game.

Minnesota Captures Conference In 33-6 Rout Of Purdue On Power As Michigan Eliminates Northwestern

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 16 (AP).—Minnesota's football powerhouse won the Western Conference Championship here today by unleashing a high voltage attack that shocked Purdue's Boilemakers into defeat, 33 to 6.

It was Minnesota's seventh straight victory of the season, including five conference contests, and left it in position to bring a brilliant undefeated season to a close in the final game with Wisconsin at Madison next week. Michigan helped the Gophers to the title by eliminating Northwestern, 20 to 13 at Ann Arbor.

Purdue, held to net of 23 yards rushing, fired 33 passes of which 13 were completed for 126 yards.

Meantime Minnesota relied almost entirely on power plays that produced more than 300 yards.

There was little doubt about the outcome from the opening kickoff when Bobby Palfirath took the ball on his own 15 and fumbled. George Franck, Gopher speedster, was there to pick it up on the 20 yard line and he returned 80 yards for a touchdown. Gordon Paschka placekicked the extra point.

The second Gopher touchdown came after Franck had returned a punt 31 yards to the Purdue 31. Smith finally cutting through right tackle to score. Joe Nernik place-kicked the point.

Hardin-Simmons In Win Over Catholic

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Using a brilliant air attack, Hardin-Simmons College of Texas kept its untitled and undefeated ranking today by defeating a game Catholic University football team 27 to 19.

The Texans took an early lead, scoring their first touchdown near the end of the first quarter.

The Texans scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter, and put the game on ice in the final period when, floodlight, standing on his own 12, heaved a pass to Russell, who raced unmoled 88 yards to score. Moore converted.

Permian Basin Football Spotlight To Focus Thursday On Battle Here Between Broncs And Bulldog Team

The Permian Basin's choicest football "fandango" will be played in Midland Thursday when Coach Bud Taylor's spirited Midland Bulldogs swap blocks and tackles with invading Odessa's Broncos, in a District 3-AA runnertup clash on Lackey Field.

Deadlocked in second place in the conference standing, Midland and Odessa have added steam for their annual grudge setto. The blue chips will be down.

By comparison, Odessa is favored. Coach Joe Coleman's ponies have pranced impressively along the district from the past few games. Midland faltered and was tied by Lamesa, 6-6, the one point that saved them three times didn't materialize. Broncos Record Best.

Odessa boasts the best record, but Midland isn't without formidable. The Bulldogs eked out on San Angelo, 7-6. Odessa ran up a 21-6 score on the same outfit. Odessa tied the league leader Big Spring, 0-0, while the Steers took Midland, 6-0.

The results to-date:
Midland 19, Ysleta 0.
Midland 7, El Paso Austin 12.
Midland 7, San Angelo 6.
Midland 14, Sweetwater 7.
Midland 7, Breckenridge 6.
Midland 0, Big Spring 6.
Midland 7, Abilene 6.
Midland 6, Lamesa 6.

Odessa 6, Lubbock 13.
Odessa 59, Ranger 0.
Odessa 22, Lamesa 0.
Odessa 0, Big Spring 0.
Odessa 0, Abilene 6.
Odessa 21, San Angelo 6.
Odessa 26, Sweetwater 6.

The Bulldogs make no bones about perfecting a defense for side-arm passer Billy Hogan. Young Hogan will find his aerial darts challenged by tall defenders, Williams, White, Bigham, and "Lizard" Hall.

In the role of the underdog and smarting at remarks that Odessa "will warm up" here, the Bulldogs may surprise a sell-out crowd predicated for the Thanksgiving encounter.

Driving drills will open the week, Taylor said.

Georgetown Toppled By Boston College, 19-18

BOSTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—A grand Boston College team equipped with fight, speed and inspiration fought its way into the front ranks of the nation's football teams today by removing Georgetown from the ranks of the defeated, 19 to 18, in a frantic struggle before 40,000 frenzied customers at Fenway Park.

Content to win their first seven games with a minimum of plays and formations, the unbeaten Eagles let the cat out of the bag as they played wide-open and smart football on offense and determined football on defense.

Glenn said the legion reserved the right to bar any gun or gunman. Daily shooting will last until Thanksgiving Day.

Now's the Time To Try Mrs. Albrecht's Evercrisp Pickles

Now is the season of pickles and spices, and among the home demonstration women of the county are found numerous appetizing products, said Miss Alpha Lynn, county home demonstration agent.

A recipe for Evercrisp Tomato or Cucumber Pickle from Mrs. H. L. Albrecht of the Westside Home Demonstration Club makes an appetizing pickle for the Thanksgiving and Christmas tables. This recipe which Mrs. Albrecht brought from Oklahoma calls for:

Seven pounds green tomatoes or large cucumbers sliced. Cover with a solution made of 2 cups slacked lime and 2 gallons water. Let soak 24 hours, then rinse well with cold water. Drain and cover with clear cold water and soak 3 hours longer. Drain and cover with the following:

- 2 quarts regular vinegar
4 1/2 pounds cane sugar
1 teaspoonful each celery seed, whole cloves, mixed pickling spices
1 tablespoonful salt

Let soak in this mixture overnight. In the morning boil 35 minutes.

One cup raisins added and boil five minutes adds a tasty variety, but may be omitted if desired. Pack in sterilized jars and seal.

The slacked lime used in this recipe is the ordinary slacked lime sold by lumber yards and hardware dealers, Mrs. Albrecht says.

Midland Women Return From State Federation Meet

Reporting on the state convention of Federated Clubs at Austin from which she and six other Midland women returned Friday, Mrs. J. Edward Hodge said this year's convention, the thirty-third, drew a record attendance. There were 768 delegates present with nearly as many visitors and 662 votes were cast in the election.

Mrs. J. W. Walker, well-known clubwoman of Plainview, was supported by the Midland delegation in her candidacy for president. She received more than 400 of the total votes cast, winning by a large majority.

Attending the convention from here besides Mrs. Hodge were: Mesdames Hal C. Peck, J. A. Haley, Roy Parks, F. H. Lanham, D. B. Snider and Austin Flint all of whom made the trip by special bus, and Mrs. James H. Goodman who preceded them to Austin.

A pioneer dinner at which Mrs. Haley was honored as a pioneer club woman of district eight, a district eight breakfast Thursday at which forty-five women from the district were present, and a tea at the Governor's Mansion were among the high points of the convention.

Bronze plaques listing donors for the Federation Headquarters were dedicated. Mrs. Haley was listed as a founder of two club, the Woman's Wednesday and the Fine Arts, were also listed from Midland for their sizeable donations.

The Home Arts Club of Midland received a certificate for having been admitted to the Federation this year.

Mrs. Lanham received honorable mention on her entry in the art display.

Mrs. Peck was named as one of the election judges.

Owner Of Orchard Gives Advice On Tree Selection

"Now is the time to select and order your fruit trees," said H. A. Moore of the Warfield Community to the group of visitors on the home demonstration and 4-H club girls' achievement tour in the county recently, when they visited his orchard, and as they sat in a group in the house drinking grape juice made from the Niagra grapes which grew in his orchard this year.

"In the order of their ripening," stated Mr. Moore, "I would recommend that every one plant several Opata and Sapa cherry plum trees. These bloom late and almost never fail to produce a big crop of fruit, and the plums can hardly be told from cherries in a pie. I usually have some peaches from trees which I grew from seed which I planted about 7 years ago. I don't know the name of these, but I'll give peach seed or bud wood in season to those who are interested. There are also some other plums that are excellent for this part of the state in our orchard which I do not know the name of.

"For pears, I like the Douglas for I had to pull the fruit off the trees to keep them from bearing the second year after I put them out, and the third year they were loaded so heavily that I had to prop the limbs. I like the one which is called the Big Extra best. It is a reliable bearer, is well bunched, and is a large purple grape and excellent for juice. We also have another purple grape which I do not know the name of, (probably Champanel) which is excellent. For a white grape we use the Niagra. For berries I like the Early Wonder, which is a cross between the blackberry and the dewberry."

As the visitors finished drinking their beverage, they were taken to the cellar where shelves and stacked boxes below were filled to overflowing with more than 500 quarts, mostly fruits. Not far from the cellar grew a fall "greens" patch where a variety of greens, rank and tender, had been supplying the family and neighbor tables for some four weeks.

Beauty For the Thanksgiving Table

A COMBINATION of colorful fruit and fresh flowers will look new and smart on the 1940 Thanksgiving dinner table. The centerpiece, above, posed in the center of a buffet supper table, includes clusters of red and pale green grapes and a gay array of rust, yellow and gold chrysanthemums in various sizes and a few snowy white snapdragons. Such novel arrangements, which your florist will wire to any point in the country, make ideal Thanksgiving Day presents.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millet

THE woman who settles down to being nothing but her husband's wife is a hitch-hiker, hitching a ride through life on her husband's brains, personality, and success.

She kids herself that she is being completely feminine and exactly the kind of woman her husband wants, when all she really is doing is taking the easy, lazy way through life.

It is easier to be simply John Smith's wife than to be a person in her own right. So she becomes just a wife. If John Smith is really successful, then she takes unjustified pride in being Mrs. John Smith.

But if he doesn't do so well, she blames him because she is a nobody—Mrs. John Smith, wife of a failure.

SHADOWS DON'T ATTRACT PEOPLE

THAT kind of wife never understands why her husband loses all interest in her after a few years, and finds just about anyone else in the world a little more interesting to talk to.

She doesn't see, probably because she doesn't want to, that in giving up her own identity and refusing to grow as a person, she has lost all interest for other people. She is nothing but a shadow of John Smith, certainly not interesting to him, and not as interesting to other people as the man who casts the shadow, John Smith, himself.

MUST GROW AS A PERSON

THAT isn't to say that a woman shouldn't put her marriage and her family first in her life. She must do that. But she must also grow as a person, just as her husband must grow if he is not to stand still, in his profession.

No woman should become so much of a shadow that she is nobody except Mrs. John Smith. She has to amount to something and stand for something on her own.

No one is more pitiful or more dull than the woman who has become so much of a shadow she doesn't know what to do with her time if her husband is away for a week.

THE CURTAIN CALL

News of the Civic Theatre

The Women From "The Women"

A group of Civic Theatre members will present a radio skit written by Mrs. Georges Vorbe, entitled, "The Women Talk about 'The Women,'" over KRLH Sunday afternoon at six o'clock. The cast: Mesdames W. Heath, Fred Wilcox, Watson La-Force, Fred Fuhrman and E. A. Culbertson. (Lynn and Duane Abell will furnish the "obligato.")

Dorothy (Mrs. L. S.) Melzer as Edith Potter, who, though she enjoys a slice of meaty gossip about her best friends as much as any of the women in the play, is really incapable of the malice and treachery exhibited by Sylvia who was introduced through Friday's column.

Many times a mother, Edith meets the ordeal with an ultra-modern sophistication, and the audience eventually sees her in the maternity ward carelessly sifting cigarette ashes over the petal-like brow of her fifth-born.

Mrs. Melzer's dramatic experience has been for the most part in high school and college productions; she played a number of leading roles at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas.

Peggy, another member of the leisurely circle composed of the Mesdames Haines, Fowler and Potter, will be portrayed by Juanita Dorsey, who has been seen by Midland audiences in high school plays. The playwright, herself, best describes Peggy: "—who is pretty, sweet, 25. Her character has not, will never quite 'jell'."

This is the first appearance of both Mrs. Melzer and Mrs. Dorsey with the Civic Theatre.

Tomorrow Let Us Present—Nancy (Mary Wilson) and Olga (Olivia Wolseley) and others of "The Women."

Hopes Of British Appear Realized As Months Pass

By Kirke L. Simpson The Associated Press

Five months ago when France fell before German blitzkrieg and left Britain fighting alone, Prime Minister Churchill solemnly assured his countrymen and the world that there were "good and reasonable hopes" of ultimate British victory.

When he then dubbed "the battle of Britain" enters its sixth month next Monday, November 18. At that point and despite a grievous toll of destruction and civilian casualties in Nazi bombed England, the prime British hope has been realized. England remains uninvaded and the will of her people to fight is unbroken. She is striking back at her German-Italian foes with telling blows from the air and her domination of the seas at home and abroad is firmer, not weaker, than it was five months ago.

Churchill boiled down the war issue for Britain on June 18 to one "great question."

"Can we break Hitler's air weapon?"

Five months later it has been answered in part in Britain's favor. Nazi air power has failed to shatter British morale or crack Britain's sea blockade of her foes. The Royal Air Force at home has lived up to Churchill's prediction that it would save England "from the deadliest of all attacks," invasion. Its far ranging bombers have hammered at German targets and dealt a smashing blow to Italy in the Eastern war theatre.

Britain's stand has done more than that. It has compelled complete revision of Hitler-Mussolini war plans to shape them to a long war pattern and the odds in a long war are with Britain. She has sea access to vast material resources around the world to aid her.

After five months of single-handed battle for survival, Britain, despite her mounting non-combatant casualties in the world's first great battle of the air, has more reason for cheers than for tears.

French Government Returns Young Men To Farms

VICHY, Nov. 16 (UP)—The return to the land will begin with the young. A new law provides that city boys of between 14 and 17 must go to work in the fields. The state will cover six months of this apprenticeship by paying the farmer 900 francs to teach them farming. After the first six months the farmer will be obliged to pay his apprentice.

which expires Nov. 30. The commission permitted many exemptions to nine production shutdown days per month of the general order but recently rescinded all but a few.

Commission engineers reported the state currently producing at a rate of 16,681 barrels daily below the U. S. Bureau of Mines November demand estimate of 1,291,000.

Swiss Confident But Alert During Broad Conflict

ZURICH, Switz., Nov. 16 (UP)—Switzerland continues to keep a large part of her army under arms, and the Swiss are confident they could resist invasion for a considerable time if they were attacked, even against a major power.

The principal Swiss defense line now is based on its sturdiest ally, the mountains. The fortification line along the Limmat river and the Linth river, extending from Sargans through Zurich to Basle, lost its value when France fell, for its flank is now exposed.

The major defense line now is in the towering, rocky Alpine chain cutting through the heart of the country. New fortifications have been blasted, dug and built in this stony wall, to dominate the few passes through which an enemy could thrust men and equipment. Swiss military circles believe a comparatively small defending force could hold the mountains against a superior force for a surprisingly long time.

Swiss apparently are determined to defend themselves should an attack come. Gen. Henri Guisan, commander-in-chief of the army, recently said: "As long as in Europe millions of men are with the colors, and strong forces may at any time attack our country, the army must be on guard."

Switzerland's relations with Germany are politically more complicated and economically more intense than with Italy. German today not only is Switzerland's principal customer, but also the principal purveyor of Swiss goods in foreign trade. Some observers believe that the feeling of insecurity in Switzerland can be traced to this fact.

Prepare Complaints For Railroad Group

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP). — Oil operators throughout Texas today prepared to air complaints and commendations to the State Railroad Commission at a statewide protest hearing here Monday.

Protests against commission policies were reported in some quarters to have renewed the suggestion that the legislature create a new state agency solely with regulation of Texas' huge petroleum interests.

Friends of the commission contended crude production, through reasonable allowables, had been kept within estimates of demand and that the industry was in excellent condition.

Building Map Of City Shows Heavy Activity In North And West Parts; More Than 500 Jobs In Five Years

Midland's growth and building program of the past five years can best be gauged from a map at the city hall, which includes pin-point indications of every new building in all price ranges.

Brown, red, and green markers show locations for each new type construction and the cost.

The map is kept by W. F. Prothro, city building inspector.

It is complete up to last January 13, and shows more than 500 constructions in the city.

Light brown markers show buildings of less than $1000; red and green markers indicate less than $5000; and dark brown pin-heads $5000 and over. Numerous colored dots are on the map.

Heavier In North, West

Heavier building has been done in residential areas north and west, the map shows. The business district has 29 dark brown marks.

From Watson street south to Louisiana there is a thickly dotted area, of more than 45 indicators in a triangular block.

East from this district from Pecos St. to Estes Park, there is another brisk building district. Between Kansas and Watson Streets, 41 buildings are shown.

Thickly-Built Area

The most thickly-dotted area is between Kentucky and College Streets where 64 dwellings have been built in the last five years.

Production Of Single Family Homes Will Be Most In Twelve Years

Production of single-family homes in the United States in 1940 will be close to the average number built annually during the 1920-1929 decade and will be the highest in 12 years.

Although it is too early to make an accurate estimate as to the total number of all units built in 1940, including multiple dwellings it is predicted that the total would approximate 525,000. The number will easily exceed the 1929 figure, as well as all years since then.

Production of single-family structures will show a still higher comparative gain.

Approaches Twenties' Average

The total number of single-family homes built this year should approach the 1920-29 annual average of 427,000. In 1928, the last year in which the current volume was exceeded, the total number of single-family homes built was 436,000. In 1933, the year before passage of the National Housing Act, only 39,000 single-family homes were built.

Single-family homes are accounting for a much higher percentage of total residential construction at the present time than during the decade of the twenties. Both in 1938 and 1939, single-family structures accounted for more than 75 per cent of the total, as against an average of about 60 per cent in the twenties. This percentage will probably be higher in 1940.

Economic Existence Of Property Depends Upon Physical Life

The economic life of a property can never be greater than its physical life, since the factors which result in obsolescence operate with greater force than those which result directly in physical deterioration.

In predicting remaining economic lives, six types of factors are considered:

The economic background of the community or region and the need for accommodations of the type represented.

The relationship between the building and the immediate environment.

Inventions May Affect

Architectural design, style, and utility from the functional point of view; the likelihood of obsolescence attributable to new inventions, new materials, and changes in tastes.

The trend and rate of change of the neighborhood.

Workmanship and durability of construction; the rapidity with which natural forces cause physical deterioration.

Physical condition and probable cost of maintenance and repair; the attitude of owners and occupants and the use or abuse to which structures are subjected.

It is general practice for government employees to patent their discoveries as "public patents" for the free use of everyone.

Construction In Midland Retards During Last Week

Building permits in Midland last week lagged in comparison with previous weeks, as only one permit was issued, W. F. Prothro, city building inspector, reported.

The permit went to E. B. Ribble for construction of a frame residence at 1607 W. Wall. Costs will be $150. Work will be completed in 20 days.

The $150 permit brought November's total to $5,125. October permits were $22,500 more than that month's figure for 1939.

October permits also were $14,500 more than those for September. Building to $749,741.

Total building for the year is $749,741, an increase of more than $81,000 over last year.

Work continued last week on two large building programs, the Methodist Church and excavation for Safeway Stores Inc.

Interior work is underway at the new church.

J. C. Penney Company this week completed re-modeling of a balcony at the store here.

Kitchen Facilities Need Careful Study

The old-fashioned kitchen, with an antique ice-box, clumsy stove, inadequate storage space, makeshift appliances, colorless accessories, and dance-hall floor is as outmoded as yesterday's newspaper.

No other room requires so careful a study of needs of the family as the kitchen.

The kitchen must be of sufficient size to contain equipment for food storage, dish and pan storage, dishwashing, broom storage, cooking, food preparation, and sometimes laundry work. While there must be space for all of these the nature and amount of equipment is variable, depending not only on the income but also on the needs and habits of the family.

A kitchen embodies three areas of activity: receiving and storing food; cleaning and dishwashing; and cooking and serving.

Rear Street Can Be Attractive

The rear of these homes overlooks a heavy traffic street. Erection of this attractive fence, however, has made privacy possible for the home owners and at the same time a neat and pleasing appearance along the highway has been obtained.

Wadley's Installs Fluorescent Light

Installation of fluorescent lighting at Wadley's Department store, 117 North Main, provides "delight light" there, Addison Wadley, owner, quipped yesterday.

Fifteen light drops with four fluorescent tubes with each has distributed light in the store.

Lighting has been increased three-fold.

Wadley said, installation represented an investment of more than $1000. The 160 watts to each fluorescent drop is three times greater than the old drops, Wadley said.

Installation was completed Friday and new lighting was used yesterday.

Zoning Ordinance Problem Involves Numerous Cities

Despite the considerable progress which has been made during the year in the planning of residential neighborhoods and the extension of protective features to these neighborhoods, certain difficulties and deficiencies still exist.

Aside from the rather general need for the application of better planning and design techniques to the development of new residential neighborhoods, there is the ever-present need for the establishment of additional planning authorities and the extension of the power of such authorities. The need for additional zoning ordinances for the large number of cities where properties still lack this protection is also obvious.

Specific Changes

Present ordinances, often fail to control properly family density-per acre and thus allow overcrowding and other undesirable residential usage.

Further, present provisions as to minimum lot sizes for individual houses permit, in many instances, the use of unduly small lots.

Restrictions which establish the minimum cost of structures in certain neighborhoods might well be modified to restriction as to the minimum ground-floor areas of dwellings in neighborhoods.

The cost limit often acts as a deterrent to the development of certain types of neighborhoods.

Family Convenience Factor In Home Site

Once the basic neighborhood requirements have been determined, the personal element enters into the selection of a location for a home.

When two or three neighborhoods are satisfactory from the standpoint of basic plan, design, and stability, the final choice can be made on the basis of personal preference and family convenience. One may be more conveniently located to place of employment, shopping, and entertainment centers and schools. Transportation facilities may be cheaper and more rapid or the schools preferable in another.

Perhaps the most important matter will be the appearance of the neighborhood and the facilities offered for social life.

Pointers For Owners Of Stucco Dwellings

This is of interest only to those home owners whose dwellings are of stucco.

Too rich a mixture, improperly selected materials, or too much rapidity in drying or other reasons may have resulted in a wall less resistant to the elements than the owner may wish. Where this occurs, or where the stucco draws away from window frames or cracks develop because of shrinkage, it is important that repairs be made promptly.

Spanish Classes Will Correspond

The third and fourth year Spanish classes are corresponding with students in Central America. Correspondence was made possible by a board that is helping to promote Pan-American relations. First letters exchanged will be in the students' own language, but later the foreign language will be used. Classes have received the first copies of the Readers Digest translated into Spanish. They will be used for oral reports.

Attendants to the queen and their escorts are: Montez Downey escorted by Windell Williams, Louise Cox escorted by Maurice Bratton, Edith Wemple escorted by Jack Hurt, Frances Ellen Link escorted by Gerald Nobles, Melba Schlosser escorted by Joe Conkling, and Helen Armstrong escorted by Payton Anderson.

Mrs. De Lo Douglas, director of the coronation, says the stage setting will be elaborate. The script practically is finished. The program will consist of musical numbers and dances.

Dance Planned By Senior Class

The senior class planned a Thanksgiving dance in the high school gymnasium Thursday when a meeting was held Friday. Roger Sidwell, president of the class, read rules governing use of the gymnasium. These were written by a committee from the Parent-Teachers Association. The dance will be only for the senior class and their visitors, who must be regular high school students.

Bulldogs Play Last Game Thanksgiving

The Midland Bulldogs will end their football season Thanksgiving day when the Odessa Broncos come here.

They are having a good season. It will be the last game for Bob Eidsen, J. M. White, Windell Williams, Odie Kelley, Mike Buffington, Maurice Bratton, Tony Watson, John Waru, Roger Sidwell, Joe Conkling, Herbert Rehders, Bill Hall, Lomer Green, Gordon Bigham, Payton Anderson and Cletas Hines. The Odessa ball club in the last two games has looked good, especially in its Armistice Day game which it won over Sweetwater.

The Broncos have a good runner in Fred Christean, and a passer in Billy Hogan, who also is a good kicker. In the line they have Jack Coats at center and "Sugar" Evans at tackle. Odessa hasn't won a game from the Bulldogs for years. In 1930, it gained a tie. The game probably will attract a large crowd since both teams have won six, tied one, and lost two.

Nobody Loves You? No Wonder If You Commit These Errors

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Staff Writer

You can spot the girl with the "nobody loves me look" half a mile away. You won't even have to look closely. Just notice that—

She slumps. Whether she is standing, sitting or walking, her shoulders are hunched forward, creating a hollow-chested, wobbly-hipped silhouette.

Her head always arrives first. She carries it down and forward.

Her shoes—even when they are almost new—look shabby. The shine just isn't there. Furthermore she apparently never has learned that shoes can be beautiful as well as comfortable.

She obviously needs to wear a gir-die or some kind of foundation garment to keep her hips smooth and firm and the back of her dress from becoming wrinkled during the day.

Her hair is lusterless. Whether curly and stringy or too dry and covered with flakes of cuticle, it lacks the glowing sheen that comes from nightly brushing, a weekly shampoo and an occasional scalp treatment.

Her Hat Is Dusty:
Her hat always is a little dusty. She doesn't brush the shoulders and neckline of her dress often enough, either.

She forgets that a bright scarf or a brilliant pin or a crisp white collar will give a plain black dress a little oomph.

There are vertical lines between her eyebrows, caused by frowning and squinting when reading, sewing or working at the typewriter.

She doesn't have an alive, interested, wide-awake expression. Even her smile is too shy or it gives a smiling-through-tears-and-being-brave-about-it impression.

Her nails are too short. Her hands are a little rough and a little dingy.

Her skin does not look meticulously clean, and her makeup is applied anything but artistically.

All of which may or may not mean that nobody loves her. But if nobody does, you can bet that somebody would if she'd just get busy and correct these faults that contribute so generously to her drab, "nobody loves me" look.

Says Japan Will Serve To Keep U. S. In Peace

PARIS. (UP)—Jacques Doriot, 42-year-old auto mechanic and former deputy who is regarded by thousands as the strong man who can lead France by an authoritarian regime, told the United Press he believed the United States will not enter the European conflict, chiefly because of Japan.

"I think that the United States has hesitated to throw itself into the European war because it was afraid of a war in the Pacific and the Atlantic," he said on his 42nd birthday anniversary in his small fifth floor office near the old Royal Palace.

Strengthens Belief

"The recent pact of Germany Italy and Japan strengthens that belief. I also believe the lesson of France and England makes the people of America desire to remain at peace. Besides, America is not prepared. That was proved when she was unable to give France effective help in aviation."

He said he felt that in spite of Mr. Roosevelt's "personal democratic and antifascist tendencies," the President was forced to declare against war, thus reflecting the strong anti-war feeling of the people.

The mixed pair championship at the Warren Tournament was won by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Needham of Greenville, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Needham are real old-timers in bridge. Not only have they participated in tournaments for years, but they conduct a great many of the American Contract Bridge League tournaments in the state of Pennsylvania.

Although they do not have an opportunity to play often, due to their tournament work, they demonstrated at Warren that they are still a dangerous pair. Needham played a good old defensive trick in today's hand.

The opening lead was won by the declarer with the king of diamonds. A small club was played to dummy and declarer noted the drop of the nine-spot from the North hand. Dummy returned the six of clubs. Needham, in the South position, had played the deuce of clubs on the first club trick, and he too had noted his partner's play of the nine-spot. On the second club trick he innocently played the seven.

Now you can see that declarer is on a terrific guess. Does North have the four-spot, or did South have four clubs to the jack?

In this case, the declarer thought North probably did have the four and that there was no need to take what might prove to be a very dangerous finesse. So he went up with the queen of clubs, only to find North out of clubs. Now his contract was doomed to defeat.

Today's Markets

Cotton

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—Cotton futures reacted sharply today after an early advance carried the list further into new high price territory for the season.
 Unwillingness of mills, recently the chief support of the market, to follow the advance appeared the main reason for the setback.
 Hedge selling also increased the profit taking and liquidation, influencing in part by the downward slant to securities, developed.
 Prices continued firm, however, at the best levels attained in the fall buying spurt.

Wildcat Being Drilled By Skelly On East Edge Of Huge Block In Eddy Features New Mexico Developments

HOBBS, N. M., Nov. 16.—Featuring Saturday's developments in Southeastern New Mexico was striking of oil by Skelly Oil Company No. 1-F J. S. Lea, outpost three-quarters of a mile west of the Maljamar pool.

No. 1-B Lea is in Eastern Eddy County on the east edge of Skelly's 6,400-acre Lynch-Dow-Lea block comprising sections 11, 14, 15, 21, 22, 23, 26, 27, 28 and 33 in township 17 south, range 31 east. The main part of the Maljamar pool lies in Western Lea County.

The Skelly well cemented 7-inch casing at 3,223 feet with 200 sacks. Drilling deeper it logged slight showing of gas from 3,275 to 3,285 feet, slight showing of oil from 3,408 to 3,415 feet and increases in both oil and gas in lime from 3,530 to 3,536 feet and from 3,550 to 3,556 feet. At the last depth it filled 500 feet with oil in seven hours. Gas volume was estimated at 50,000 cubic feet daily. At last reports No. 1-B was drilling ahead below 3,565 feet in lime, with hole being kept bailed down periodically for test of natural production. It is located 1,980 feet from the south, 650 from the east line of section 23-17s-31e.

Congress Will Hear Arguments Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—Congress, after a five weeks holiday for the national election campaign, will reassemble Monday to face the question of whether to take up half a dozen provocative issues or end its 11 months session.

Democratic Senate and House leaders are hopeful that the legislators will agree to quit.

Opposing adjournment are the Republican minorities in both Senate and House and some Democrats who argue that uncertain state of international affairs make it advisable for Congress to stay on the job.

Democratic leaders have not decided on the date they will propose for adjournment, although saying it will be some time next week. A decision may be reached after their weekly conference Monday with President Roosevelt.

A source of possible major controversy is a proposal by Senator King (D-Utah) to relax present restrictions and permit Great Britain to make war purchases in this country on credit.

Where Navy Will Guard Its Health

S. P. Yates and associates have spudded No. 1 Taylor Assoc. a new wildcat test eight miles west of Lake McMillan in Eddy. It is 1,650 feet from the south, 990 from the west line of section 22-19s-25e.

Root Area
Failure of the Red Lakes area of Eddy was seen with the report that Tallmadge and partners No. 1 State, 2,310 feet from the north and east lines of section 24-16s-28e, will be plugged and abandoned at total depth of 2,605 feet in gray lime. It had encountered a slight showing of oil in brown lime from 2,505 to 2,515 feet.

Barnsdall Oil Company No. 4-B Dodd, in Eddy's Root area, flowed 104 barrels of oil in 24 hours through 24 5/8-inch tubing choke after shooting with 145 quarts of nitro from 2,478 to 2,534 feet. Two-inch casing is set at 2,520 feet and perforated from 2,460 to 2,490 feet. The well topped pay at 2,497 feet and is bottomed in lime at 2,550 feet. It is 660 feet from the north, 1,980 from the east line of section 14-17s-29e.

Barnsdall next will drill No. 5-B Dodd 660 feet from the north, 590 from the east line of section 11-17s-29e.

Delaware Basin Test
Seeing Delaware sand production in the Black River area of Eddy, Fred Turner and D. C. DeVito, both of Midland, Tex., No. 1 DeVito halted drilling at 1,490 feet in black lime and will straighten hole preparatory to lowering 7-inch casing from 1,323 feet to shut off stray water encountered in black lime at 1,465 feet.

The wildcat last week commanded interest when it topped the Delaware black lime at 1,080 feet, 1,366 feet above sea level and 254 feet higher than E. Paul Moran, No. 1 Ramuz, failure five-eighths of a mile east which showed some oil in the Delaware sand. No. 1 DeVito's objective is the sand member of the Delaware series. It is located 330 feet from the south, 1,650 from the east line of section 12-23s-25s.

A wildcat in section 26-14s-29e of Chaves County, Harry Steinberger No. 1 J. B. Headley, is drilling at 2,525 feet in lime, unchanged since striking an estimated 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas per day from 1,826 to 1,828 feet, with a showing of oil from 1,828 to 1,832 feet and increase in gas at 2,130 feet.

Wildcats Drilling

GOAL TO GO

BY W. H. PEARS

YESTERDAY: Buck drills his team sends them against East determined to win. He refuses to let Bill play, fearing he might be accused of favoritism. West fights East to a scoreless tie at the half, but in the third quarter, East's flashy back gets away. Power plays give East a touchdown. Score East, 6; West, 0.

Chapter XII

A moan swept East's stands as the point after touchdown failed. West received. From the 30-yard line they ran three plays, then punt.

"No gain," Bill groaned. "Buck they'll never crack through the East line the way they're going. Those guys are smart and tough. I'll take plenty to score against them."

"I'll take something they're not expecting," Buck admitted. "They've felt us out now and they know what we've got. If I could only give them a surprise!"

East took the ball, failed to gain; but in the exchange of punts West lost five yards.

Suddenly Bill snapped erect on the bench, glints of excitement in his eyes. "Buck, you can give them a surprise—more than one."

A time-out for East gave Buck a chance to talk. "What do you mean, Bill?"

"Those plays we taught the scrubs, Buck! Remember how I ran one of them through the varsity?"

Buck was puzzled. "I still don't get you, Bill. Some linemen have to be familiar with the plays too. I can't just send in a new backfield."

"That's what I mean, Buck. Take out the whole varsity! Let me go in with the scrubs and run those plays."

Hope kindled in Buck's eyes, then died. "Too risky, fellow. If I remove my varsity now I can't send them in again until the next quarter. And if your plays fail, those East boys are liable to rip the scrubs to pieces."

"But the quarter is nearly half over," Bill argued. "I know we can hold that long. It's our only chance, Buck."

In silence Buck Mentor watched the rapidly shifting pattern of play. East was playing the game safe, clinging to its slender lead, giving West no opportunity to gain.

He said finally, "Go ask the scrubs, Bill. Maybe they don't even remember those plays."

Bill leaped from the bench with a shout. "The scrubs, huddled like Indian braves in their blankets, stared at him curiously."

"What gives, Bill?" one of them asked.

"Plenty," Bill said tightly. "How many of you fellows remember those plays we learned from Buck?"

Bill's excitement was contagious. They swarmed about him, wild-eyed. "We haven't forgotten one of them, Bill. Honest! Two of them start exactly alike, except that the off-tackle—"

"Right!" Bill grinned, and turned back to Buck. "We can roll 'em for you, Buck."

Buck Mentor hesitated a moment, then his jaw set. "Okay, Bill, get ready. I'm going to gamble a lot on you fellows!"

Eleven eager scrubs highstepped along the sidelines, warming up. Buck called time. An entire new team trotted across the field to report to the referee. A hush of astonishment gripped the stands as, one by one, the varsity returned to the bench.

And then, as the situation became clear, a roar burst the silence. Bill, however, was deaf to it, dumb to everything but the hard turf under his feet—stripped with white lines which he must somehow cross.

He checked the downs and yardage. It was second with five to go. Bill gathered his team in a huddle.

"Look, fellows, we've got to jolt 'em fast. They've been playing their secondary in close to stop a running attack. Now we'll give 'em that passing play we learned."

Bill took the pass from center, started to slice off-tackle. Expecting a running play, the East defense was sucked to the right. West's left end cut far over; the right end blocked out the defensive halfback.

Bill was almost to the line of scrimmage when he veered off and heaved the pass. Running diagonally, the end gathered it in and scooted along the sidelines. He was thrown out of bounds on East's 40-yard line.

A 30-yard gain. The West stands roared into life. The cheerleaders hurled their megaphones heavenward and attempted to fly after them.

Bill called the off-tackle play, and the ball went to the tailback. The end darted out as if for another pass. Bill, running ahead of the ball carrier, cut down the defensive left halfback and the play rolled for 10.

First down on East's 30-yard line. The third play began exactly the same as the previous one. This time, however, the tailback slipped the ball to Bill. The wingback and the end blocked out the defensive tackle. The East end broke in on him, but Bill swiveled away. He got up to the 15-yard stripe and was brought down.

Now Bill saw his advantage. The East boys were temporarily demoralized by the abrupt switch in strategy. He sliced the wingback off-tackle and picked up five more. Speed counted now. Give 'em no chance to get organized.

West snapped from the huddle into formation, and a sweep around end carried to the five.

"Once more!" Bill gritted, wiping sweat from his face. "Push 'em back into the goal posts!"

They rammed into the center of the line. Bill was buried. He got to his feet, deafened by the roar of blood in his head. Then he realized that the noise wasn't in his head; it was the crowd yelling. They had gone over!

The scrubs were putting on a wild war dance, but for Bill there was no time to feel triumph. He felt suddenly alone in the midst of defeat, facing the biggest problem of his whole life. Who should try for the all important point after touchdown? Not one of the scrubs was a dependable kicker.

Bill's mind snapped to a decision. He must risk a pass, and he must do the job himself. He lined his team up, barked signals. The ball came back. Players charged him from every angle. He retreated, sidestepped until lazily he saw his target in the end zone. Bill heaved the ball. A dozen hands seemed to reach up to bat it down. Then the end leaped high and clutched it.

West, 7; East, 6.

West's season was a crimson boil of madness.

But now, Bill knew, the lead must be defended. East received and began to roll. Time after time Laurie cut through the scrubs' ragged defense. Desperately Bill tried to rally them, but they lacked the experience to cope with such an attack.

Clear to West's 20-yard line the East boys drove, and only the end of the third quarter held up their march. Buck Mentor acted promptly. Trotting across the field came the varsity of West—11 stalwart warriors, rested and eager to fight back the invaders.

Bill sank down on the bench, almost sobbing. Buck threw his arms around the boy and hugged him. "Fellow, you were wonderful." He hobbled along the bench pounding his weary scrubs on the back. "You were all great!"

"We couldn't hold 'em," Bill mumbled. "I'm sorry, Buck."

Buck Mentor snorted. "Look at those wildcats out there, Bill! They're taking care of your lead."

"His words were true. East had been stopped cold. West took the ball on downs and punted out of danger. The East boys were whipped. They tried desperately to rally, but when the timekeeper's pistol exploded the score was still West, 7; East, 6.

Reports Shortage Of Male Stenographers

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16 (UP).—Men are successfully invading the field of stenography which was formerly a woman's occupation, according to Eleanor Skimin, commercial education leader.

Miss Skimin, of Detroit, editor of the Business Education Digest, published by the National Commercial Teachers Association, told the Tri-State Commercial Education Association here that a shortage of male stenographers exists today.

"It's a myth that all business men want girl stenographers," she said. "There are not enough young men in business schools today to fill the job demands."

Besides, Miss Skimin claimed, a man stenographer has "more sense" because he must rely entirely on his own ability, and cannot use looks and sex appeal as a possible adjunct.

The big man smiled gently. "You mean, Bill, the three of us can lick almost anything..."

Buck stared into the smoky dusk. A slim figure waited for them at the corner. Without speaking, Helen Welch came and walked on the other side of Buck's chair.
