

Ray's 'Ritin'

By RAY MARTIN

One of the difficulties in the newspaper game is determining firsts—first bale of cotton, first load of grain, first pumpkin, first roasting ears, or what have you.

Each year we try to run a story and picture of the first bale of cotton and the first load of grain received here. This year was no exception; we ran the first load of grain (we believe) received in Muleshoe, and then Sunday we ran a story and picture of the first bale of cotton ginned in Bailey County. Or, at least, we believed we had the first bale reported.

But two other news media in this area came out with a story of another bale of cotton, ginned at another gin and at another time.

As it turned out, our report was correct. As nearly as we can determine, Johnny Wheeler at Maple gathered himself a bale of cotton and took it to the gin at Maple where John Shepard ran it through the co-op gin for the said Mr. Wheeler.

That was at 5:30 Monday afternoon. The other bale was ginned at Bula the next day. Pardon us while we take time out to pat ourselves on the back (This self-backpatting business, incidentally, is a bit difficult to accomplish, but if you work at it hard enough you can usually get the job done.)

People talk a lot about the beauty of Texas. But have you ever stopped to consider a West Texas sunset, than which there are no prettier.

Take last Sunday evening, for example. In case you were sitting in your house watching a shoot-em-up, you missed one of nature's grandest exhibitions—a colorama that no TV screen even in color, has ever been able to capture.

Missus and I were out in the territory, driving around, when nature decided to put on its eloquent show. One thing can be said for nature: It's never timid about its arrangement of colors. It doesn't mind smacking red and orange or green and blue or purple and pink in the same setting. If homes were decorated in the same grandiose manner nature uses, they would be much more attractive. As you probably gather, I like color—lots of it, and think most homes done in the modern beige are drab enough to drive most men away. As I said, I like color.

That's why I always enjoy sunsets in West Texas, and the color or get-together that nature put into its cloud pattern Sunday afternoon was out of this world.

It started with a mostly dark blue pattern, streaked across the western sky in elaborate, bold strokes. It had been raining, so there was more blue to the sky after the shower than usual.

The clouds themselves were arranged in a mammoth cloud bank, resembling a mountain, a city skyline or maybe the backdrop of an enormous stage.

Mayhue (Or Cain) Rites Delayed

Burial services for George Mayhue, a transient tattoo artist who died here after a month's illness last week, were held up until the end of this week after word was received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation that George Mayhue was not the tattoo expert's real name.

This meant that Sheriff Dee Clements and his deputies had to start all over again, seeking relatives of the dead man. FBI says Mayhue's real name is Mack Cain and that sometimes he went under the name of George Jackson Mayhue and sometimes as Mack Cain.

Mayhue had told Clements shortly before his death that he had a brother in Ajo, Ariz., but efforts of Arizona officers to locate the brother had been unavailing.

So, as Singleton Funeral home made ready to hold graveside services for Mayhue (or Cain) last Saturday afternoon, the word from FBI was received. Accordingly services were delayed.

At mid-week, however, no word had been received from Ajo or a missing brother.

Mules Girding For Next Home Fracas -- Tulia

Muleshoe Mules, already drubbed twice by as many teams, were going through their paces again, polishing off additional rough spots in preparation for their next game.

Friday night they meet another of their long-time enemies, Tulia, at Benny Douglass stadium here, starting at 8 o'clock.

Already the Mules have been beaten by Littlefield and Seagraves, the latter by a two-point squeak-out 8-6. Despite the losses, Muleshoe has an excellent team this year, but is following its usual pattern—late getting a working outfit put together.

Fans who turn out for the second home game in a row are expected to see a much-improved team after a week of hard work, brushing up on both line plays. (See Mules Page 5)

Friday the 13th, Good and Bad for Texan; Freed from California Prison, He's Now in Jail in Muleshoe

Friday the 13th was a good day for Bob Thurston Williams because that was the day he was released from the Men's prison at Los Padres, Calif. But it was also a bad day, because waiting in the warden's office in Los Padres were Bailey County Deputy Sheriff John Moore and City Officer Pete Hatfield, ready to take him in tow.

Monday afternoon, Williams was right back in jail again—in Muleshoe, waiting to face charges that were filed against him way back in September, 1960. The 32-year-old man who wears huge tattoos on each shoulder, hails from Sinton, Texas.

But he told the two officers he was eager to get back to Texas "and clean up my old record and get it over with."

He's back, wearing a neat black suit, ready to start cleaning up old accounts. He had been sent to the California prison for conviction of forgery, a sentence to run from six months to five years. He served 16 months to pay his debt to California.

Now in Muleshoe he must face

Six 4-H Members' Gilts To Compete in Show

Ten Organizations Seek Admission to United Fund

Ten agencies seek membership in Muleshoe's United Fund program, and a tentative budget of $13,000 for all organizations has been approved by the committee.

This is the figure which Sam Fox, chairman of the budget and admissions committee will recommend to the full UF board at a called session at 6 p.m. Friday in the Bailey County Electric Co-op community room.

All 10 of the entrance-seeking groups presented their requests to the committee Tuesday night in a session that stretched from 7:30 in the evening until 1:20 Wednesday morning.

One national organization, the American Cancer Society, was represented but asked that the society not be included in the program.

Seeking admission to the 1963-64 initial UF program are these organizations:

The Salvation Army
Texas United Fund
Babe Ruth League
Bailey County Junior Livestock show

Boy Scouts
Muleshoe Youth Center
Girl Scouts

The 4-H clubs' recognition committee
Muleshoe American Field Service Scholarship.

All these organizations were represented at the Tuesday night session of the committee and one at a time, representatives were called before the group to make their requests. Several area representatives were present to make pleas for their organizations, and local backers also were present.

Girl Scouts asked for $1,500; the committee recommended $1,800. America Red Cross sought $2,300; the committee approved $800. Salvation Army asked for $1,500 and was approved for that amount. Babe Ruth League asked for $1,600 and the committee approved a sum of $900.

This makes a total of $10,900 approved by the committee. In addition the committee will recommend to the full board that $2,100 be added to the budget. Of this amount, $900 is asked for campaign expenses and for first-year public education program on United Fund, and $1,200 is to be used as "reserve for contingencies, pledge losses and initial expenses of next year's campaign."

TSTA Officers Attend Confab

Officers of the Muleshoe chapter Texas State Teachers Association attended a district 8 workshop Thursday at Alderson Junior High in Lubbock.

Attending were Elizabeth Watson, president; Joyline Costen, first vice-president; Rollie McNutt, second vice-president; Janis Phillips, secretary; F. D. Rogers, treasurer; Mabel Laughlin, legislative chairman; Lois Killingsworth, chairman of teacher education and professional standards; Gladys Everett, teacher welfare chairman, and Dorothy Beddingfield, membership chairman.

Purpose of the workshop was to plan the year's work for the district concerning local participation and support for legislative issues and teacher welfare, it was explained.

Court Session Short, All Cases Postponed

Bailey county's September term of criminal court slated for last Monday and possibly continuing for at least a couple of days, was short and sweet: All cases set for trial were postponed except one, and that case ended with a plea of guilty.

For various reasons, none of the cases set for trial could be heard, Judge Williams said. However, the term has been tentatively reset for "around October 15" and notices to that effect will be sent to attorneys, Judge Williams said.

This was to have been the first regular term of county criminal court for the county's new attorney, Roger Gorrell.

A check of the records showed these actions at the Monday session:

Irene Williams, charged with aggravated assault, pleaded guilty and was assessed a fine of $100 and costs.

Benny Pena, charged in two cases with driving while intoxicated, postponed because he was detained in Albuquerque, the court was told.

Bennie Fay Williams, charged with giving a worthless check, postponed because officers were unable to reach her with a notice of the trial date.

Coy Morris, charged with driving while intoxicated, postponed because his attorneys could not be here for the trial.

Elmer Loya Whitmore, charged with driving while intoxicated, attorneys were not ready for trial.

Twenty-four persons were summoned for possible jury duty. They were dismissed after all cases set for trial had to be postponed. They were dismissed after all approved by the committee Bailey County Junior Stock Show asked for $2,500 and was approved for that amount. The 4-H clubs recognition committee asked for $150 and was approved for that amount. Muleshoe American Field Service Scholarship asked for $700 and was approved for that amount. Babe Ruth League asked for $1,600 and the committee approved a sum of $900.

This makes a total of $10,900 approved by the committee. In addition the committee will recommend to the full board that $2,100 be added to the budget. Of this amount, $900 is asked for campaign expenses and for first-year public education program on United Fund, and $1,200 is to be used as "reserve for contingencies, pledge losses and initial expenses of next year's campaign."

This makes a grand total of $13,000.

Gilbert L. Muddell, Amarillo, field representative of Salvation Army, presented the request for that organization. The amount which his organization seeks is the same as has been set in previous years when the Army conducted its own fund drive.

Boy Scouts were represented by two officials of that organization, Bill Clark of the South Plains Council, Lubbock, and Cesare A. Buzzitta, district Scout Executive, Littlefield. All three of the Bailey County Scout units—Muleshoe, Bula and Three Way—are included in Scoutdom's fund request.

Pete Upton, Lubbock, chapter manager of American Red Cross, presented that agency's requests, and James J. Farrier, Dallas, was present as field representative of Texas United Fund to ask that TUF be included in the budget. His organization represents (See Fund Page 5)

Car Hits Child Waiting for Bus, Dies Instantly

A 6-year-old first-grader was struck and killed instantly Tuesday morning when she darted in front of an automobile while waiting for the school bus a half-mile away.

Dead on arrival at Green Hospi-tal here was Janet Kay Fudge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Fudge who live a mile west of Muleshoe on FM 1760. The accident occurred in front of the Fudge home.

Officers said the driver of the automobile which struck the child was Sherman Inman, a Bailey county farmer. He and his wife were enroute to Lubbock to sit up with a seriously ill friend. Officers said the accident was unavoidable.

Inman said he passed the school bus approximately a mile west of the Fudge home and that he saw the children standing on the side of the road, waiting for the approaching bus. The Fudge child suddenly darted in front of his car.

Survivors, in addition to her parents, are three brothers, Joe Bob Fudge, Darrell Fudge and Roger Fudge, all of the home; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Fudge, Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mooneyham, Keota, Okla.

Services will be held at the Muleshoe Church of Christ at 2 o'clock this afternoon, conducted by the minister, D. L. Thompson. Burial will be in the Bailey County Memorial Park cemetery with Singleton Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

The child was born in Clovis, Dec. 15, 1956. She was in the first grade at Richland Hills elementary school here.

L. C. Roddam Wins Gridiron Prize

L. C. Roddam, last year's grand prize winner, came out in top spot in last week's Journal football contest, and Richard Goodwin, 1829 West Ave. D, was second best guesser.

Both the first and second place winner picked eight right out of 10, but Roddam pre-guessed that Seagraves would beat Muleshoe and thus nosed Goodwin in the final stretch.

The contest is continuing this week. Entry blank will be found on page B-3 of this issue. Entries, to be eligible, must be in the Journals' office by 5 p.m. Friday or letters containing coupons must be postmarked by that time.

Weekly prizes are offered for the best dopesters, and grand prize is two tickets to the Dallas Cottonbowl New Year's game, plus $50 in expense money.

CHURCHES GROW, TOO — While new homes are popping up all over Muleshoe these days as the town continues to grow, churches also are in building programs. ### Well-Known Abilene Minister Completes Three-Months Journey Through Holy Land

M. F. (Mid) McKnight, minister of the Highland Church of Christ, has returned to his home in Abilene after a 35,500 mile, three-month trip to the Holy Land. The evangelist is well known in the Muleshoe area and has conducted revivals in the Muleshoe Church of Christ in August, 1956 and July, 1961. He is a cousin to Sheriff Dee Clements.

He revisited the Holy Land which he toured in 1955 to secure hundreds of additional pictures of Bible settings and first-hand background information for the illustrated lectures. Membership of the Abilene Highland Church of Christ sponsored the minister's travels.

He traveled with two French-American in a Volkswagen Camper he purchased in Frankfurt, Germany.

The Abilene minister took about 2,600 still pictures in color of sacred places where Bible history was made.

McKnight says that during his tour in the Near East and the Holy Land, he traced the footsteps of Paul's three missionary journeys and his journey to Rome, followed the journeys of Christ during His ministry from His birth to His death, traveled the route of the Children of Israel in the flight out of Egypt to Caanan Land.

McKnight visited all the known places mentioned in the Bible and made pictures of all the known places in both the Old and New Testament.

During his travels, he visited England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan, Egypt, Israel and Cyprus.

He preaches to churches of Christ congregations, ranging from two to 60 in London, Jerusalem, Israel, Jordan, Nazareth, Italy and Turkey.

McKnight says that one of the major highlights of the trip was his dining experience with Shiek Suleiman, chief of 3,000 Bedouins, descendants of Abraham through Hagar, the handmaiden of Sarah.

The 87-year-old shiek lives near Beersheba in a mud palace and has 39 wives and more than 200 children, the youngest being only about six months old.

McKnight and his two missionary companions were served one dish of chicken and rice by the Shiek's servants. There were no plates, forks, knives, spoons for individual serving, and all the guests and the Shiek ate out of the common dish, serving themselves with their hands, McKnight said.

He says that a 14-year-old grandson of the Shiek reached manhood the day McKnight arrived by virtue that the boy's father had traded a wife for the boy.

"All in all, it was a long, interesting, difficult, profitable, tiring, worthwhile trip. I would not want to take it again but I would not take for the experience and information gained," McKnight said.

McKnight was a former Plainview Church of Christ minister.

Van Heusen Shirts come to Augusta

When the Augusta, Arkansas Industrial Development Corporation set out to secure new industry, they came up with one of America's largest and most respected manufacturers of men's shirts.

The Phillips-Van Heusen Corporation, makers of famous Van Heusen shirts, was brought to this 2300 population town about a year ago. They employed local workers, instituted an intensive training program, and completed the first products in the brief time of 14 days. Such aggressive action by local citizens and company officials has caused the plant to become a major factor in the local economy.

It is another reason we say General Telephone towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. Designs For Peace Is Club's Theme Muleshoe Study Club began its fall meetings this week in the First National Bank's Community room. The theme for the year's programs: Designs for Peace was discussed and carried out in the talks of the afternoon.

Mrs. R. O. Gregory explained the "Dimes for Liberty" project the club is taking part in this year.

Mrs. O. N. Jennings, president, gave excerpts from the state federation president's address and told of the goals for the coming year in Federation work.

Mrs. S. L. Benefield brought a talk on "Knowledge of Education toward Peace."

Mrs. J. G. Ann contributed an article from one of the leading farm magazines on "Knowledge of Farming toward Peace."

Mrs. Ramon Martin, director of the afternoon's program, conducted a round table discussion on "How can this Knowledge be Used by our Club?"

Mrs. Louis Henderson was hostess for the afternoon.

Members present were: Mrs. J. G. Ann, Mrs. S. L. Benefield, Mrs. R. O. Gregory, Mrs. Cecil Cole, Mrs. O. N. Jennings and Mrs. Ramon Martin.

COULDN'T BE DONE — When Jenny TOPS Club was organized here in mid-April, many thought it would be a fruitless effort to restore waistlines, but in this case, "there's been some changes made!" At left, Mrs. Jack Smith is pictured holding the front of a dress out that she wore the night the club was organized. At right, she is pictured after she has lost 49 pounds. She is leading the club in "pounds off" and she says it has also been a family project, one at which they have all been very helpful. (Journal Photos and Engravings)

THAWED FROZEN FOODS

Do thawed foods spoil faster than foods that have not been frozen?

Opinions vary on this question. But when research reports are studied there doesn't seem to be much difference in the rate of spoilage of thawed frozen foods and foods that have not been frozen.

Paul Elliott and Robert Straka, bacteriologists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Utilization Research Laboratory in Albany, Calif., recently surveyed past researches on this subject and conducted their own tests on whole and minced chicken.

Their survey, which included studies on meats and fish as well as poultry, indicated most researchers found freezing and thawing had no significant effect on the rate of spoilage in the thawed stage. Their own research, based on bacteria counts and odor tests, further showed that shelf life at chill temperature was about the same for fresh and frozen-thawed chicken.

These studies should assure retailers that thawing poultry for retail sale is satisfactory if conducted with proper attention to chilling temperature and cleanliness. They should also assure homemakers that holding thawed foods in a refrigerator involves no more hazard than holding comparable foods that have not been frozen. Both deteriorate at about the same rate.

Travis Clements On Friona Force

Travis Clements, 29, who has been with the Police Department of Clovis, N. M. for the past four years has resigned to become city patrolman for Friona. Clements replaces Rex Cowart, who resigned from the Friona Police Department to assume duties as the Sheriff's Deputy for the Friona precinct.

Clements is a native of Muleshoe. He graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1954. He has attended Texas Tech, San Angelo College and Eastern New Mexico University.

He spent two years in the U. S. Army in Germany where he served with the Counter Intelligence Corps.

He started his law enforcement career in Muleshoe, his home town.

He and his wife, Paula, have one son, Dennis Lynn, age 1 year.

Catholic Chapel Scene Of Wedding

Maria Anita Villarreal and Martin Ruiz, Earth, received the Holy Sacraments of matrimony in a noontime ceremony Sunday, September 15 in the Immaculate Conception of Mary Catholic Chapel. Armando and Clara Flores, Earth, were witnesses for the ceremony.

on the importance of parents and working together for the benefit of their children.

Roy Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce, and Mrs. Pat Bobo, chairman of the Muleshoe Area United Fund, were introduced. Davis spoke on the plans and aims of the local fund drive and held a question and answer period following his short talk.

In her talk, Mrs. Daniel spoke of the known fact "that where the gulf between home and school is wide, a child's motivation to learn is likely to be low and teaching will be hard . . . P-TA stands for responsible citizens who choose to invest in the future, for Children Are The Future. . ."

She listed the chief purpose of P-TA as education, first by self-education of parents and teachers on everything relating to children and then public education by making certain the community is enlightened on issues and conditions affecting the welfare and education of children and youth.

The local unit, council, district, state and national organizations operate with the purpose of enabling local association units to work most productively, to unify and safeguard the units, for it is here that the program of service is put into action, Mrs. Daniel said.

Mrs. Edith Fox's first grade room won the room count in first place; G. A. Benefield's sixth grade, second place, and Mrs. Jack Beddingfield's sixth grade won third.

The next meeting of the association will be October 21 with Neal Dillman, superintendent, featured on the program.

But as the day shortened, the color scheme changed. The blues took on a softer tone, working in a few pastel splashes of orange, pink and light red, and as the color changed, the clouds shifted, too, to form an almost continuous curtain across the western sky. But ever so often, the sun would find a hole in the elaborate cloud pattern, and would cut through the pastels with vivid red, sending white streaks to the ground like giant spotlights turned bottom side up.

Old timers used to say that such clouds were "drawing water." And off on the sidelines, like the sidetracks on a giant stage, there were little side shows, swirls of clouds that were caught edgewise by the sun and these continued the ever-changing panorama of kaleidoscopic pastels. Now while all this was taking place in the western sky as the sun neared its retirement stage, the eastern sky held a bank of black clouds, blackened by the reflection from the western sun. There was nothing especially colorful about the eastern setup—just black clouds, which made all the more vivid the western show. Evidently, late in the twilight, the eastern clouds, realizing their drabness, decided to put on a bit of color of their own. So they called in lightning to George Mahon of Lubbock, a special guest at the meeting at Wayne's, also offered his praise of the efforts of the group. "You are achieving a place in the sun," he said, "and I'm proud about it." Representatives of Curry County, N. M., Parmer County, Castro County, Lamb County, Hale County and Plainview made brief statements of their eagerness to participate in the project. Jack Fleming of Curry County and Clovis, New Mexico, first to speak, set the tone of the rest of speeches with his, "We are ready to go." The others followed suit. Calhoun explained to Gray that the meeting was called to show the unanimity of the local governments in backing the project and urging him to use all haste in securing the priority for the project.

The $70,000 was broken down originally into $20,000 for Plainview, $12,500 for Hale, Curry and Parmer counties, $8,333 for Castro County and $4,167 for Lamb County. Castro, however, allocated only $6,000 and Plainview and Hale County agreed to make up the deficit.

All of it combined to give the sunset its most beautiful clothing, and the missus and I slowed Brown-Tan to the legal minimum just to view that wonderful show that nature had spread all around us, while people with no appreciation for the beautiful rushed past us, eager to get home and see "Bonanza."

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman has just announced he will begin a tour of the country to find out what farmers are thinking. His tour of America follows his tour of the Iron Curtain Countries.

The Secretary, according to news reports, said he intends to talk to dirt farmers "throughout the country." He is scheduled to visit Texas and stop in Lubbock for a while on the afternoon of November 4.

I want to congratulate the Secretary for deciding to make this tour. It is well that he has found that he is out of touch with American farmers, and needs a tour such as this to find out what farmers are thinking.

It would have been much better if he had made the tour before the wheat referendum. In that episode the Department of Agriculture, financed with tax dollars, took one side, and a vast majority of American farmers, voting their conviction, took the other side.

Personally, I believe Mr. Freeman's tour is probably for the primary purpose of quieting criticism of his Russian tour while some Members of Congress were trying to come up with legislation for the benefit of American farmers. After his rebuff at the polls, Mr. Freeman packed his bags and went to Russia. He returned and told Congress that his trip was highly beneficial. I hope he can say the same when he returns from this tour. I believe the Secretary has never been in touch with farmers and ranchers in this country; so, I welcome his tour, and wish him success.

The Secretary will find, I believe, that farmers are extremely unhappy with the farm policies of the New Frontier. He will find, if he listens, that farmers were justifiably unhappy over the actions of the Department of Agriculture in attempting to blindfold the wheat referendum into a favorable vote. He will find that ranchers are unhappy about rapidly increasing imports of beef into this country. He will find that cotton farmers are very unhappy that the price of cotton has been pegged at a level that has allowed synthetics to capture a great deal of the market. He will find that farmers, like all other Americans, are genuinely unhappy over the trend in this government toward more centralization and control. He will find that they are unhappy at the prospects of being used as political footballs.

The Secretary will find, I believe, that Texas cotton farmers desperately want legislation that will free that crop from excessive restrictions. Our wheat farmers want the same thing. They demonstrated that when they voted on the wheat referendum.

If Mr. Freeman uses his tour to champion the American system in comparison to the Russian system that he recently inspected he will have ample ammunition for the job. Indeed, the spectacle of Soviet Agriculture is so deplorable it hardly rates serious examination by American officials.

Soviet farm production in 1963 is still below the levels of production in 1958, despite massive government attempts to boost output. The Russians have nearly 75 per cent more acres planted to crops than America, but they produce more than 30 per cent less than we do. Perhaps, with our surpluses, that is a good argument for regimenting the American farmer. Then we could do away with our surpluses. But we would also do away with our freedom.

It is my hope that Mr. Freeman finds time to give leadership to Administration forces in the Congress this Session so we might have an opportunity to vote on measures that will be of real benefit to Agriculture. With the present makeup of Congress, it is not probable that anything can be accomplished unless Administration forces at least acquiesce in the matter. If they drag their feet on Agricultural legislation, as they have done up to now, it is not likely that anything can be accomplished.

So I think it's going to be interesting to review the results of Mr. Freeman's tour of the American farmers after he has toured the Soviet Union. I'm sure he found over there, if he got an objective look—if he didn't see just what the Soviets wanted him to see, that their per-man productivity is way below ours, that the American farmer is the best and most productive in the world, that we need legislation to remedy some of the evils that have been perpetrated by government already on the American farmer.

Yarborough in Washington

The Congress has passed a bill to keep our commerce and our transportation systems rolling in an effort to bring a settlement of longstanding issues between railroad management and railroad labor.

The bill we passed is aimed at settlement of two prime issues between the operative brotherhoods, the men who run the train and management. Those two questions revolve around whether firemen will be employed on diesel locomotives, and the number of men it takes to man a train, including engineers, firemen, switchmen, trainmen and conductors.

What the Congress did by passing this bill was to create a special commission with authority to arbitrate and decide on a fair workers and management on these two key issues.

The President's Council of Economic Advisors had estimated that work stoppage involving almost 7 million workers would result, and that with in 30 days after general rail work stoppage of the 200,000 members of the operating brotherhoods, the other 500,000 railroad workers and some 6 Million non-railroad employees would be out of work. This would have halted delivery of freight such as vegetables and industrial materials, causing prices to skyrocket. Unemployment would have risen to 15 percent in the nation for the first time since 1940.

Congress faces an alternative unpleasant to Congress, unpleasant to management and unpleasant to labor. The traditional free enterprise way of settling these labor disputes is by collective bargaining. That means labor and management face each other, not under coercion by the government, and work out their differences. Compulsory arbitration means that the government steps in, takes over and makes them agree. I think what we've really reached in this bill is an in-between measure that has been called "third party adjudication," something between collective bargaining and compulsory arbitration.

Congress and the nation have received a strong reminder that more attention must be given to the increasing problem of automation if such situations are to

PCG Elevates Bill Fortenberry

LUBBOCK — Continued confidence in current leadership was the order of the day September 12 in the election of 1963-64 officers of Plains Cotton Growers at the producer organization's annual meeting.

W. O. "Mr. Bill" Fortenberry, president of PCG since its beginning in 1956 and to whom the meeting was dedicated, became chairman of the board of directors; Wilmer Smith a New Home farmer and vice-president of Plains Cotton Growers since 1956, was elevated to president; Roy Fortner, Lubbock, former PCG secretary - treasurer was elected vice-president, and a long-time active director, John D. Smith, of Littlefield, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Fortenberry was honored at the meeting by the presentation of a large plaque and was cited as "Mr. Cotton" on the South Plains.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally has taken the offensive against his potential 1964 opposition backers in spectacular fashion.

He surprised a poll tax rally here by lowering the boom on Bexar County Commissioner Albert Pena, state chairman of the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations (FASO). Pena is among Texas liberals who have been critical of the Governor's opposition to federal civil rights legislation.

Connally charged that "self-seeking politicians" are out to turn the poll tax repeal campaign into "a sideshow for their own purposes." Their aim, in the Governor's view: bloc voting.

He blasted Pena as a "would-be political boss" who builds his power by erecting a wall between Mexican-Texans and Anglo-Texans, using Teamster Union organizers as bricklayers.

Pena, who played a big hand in the city council election in Crystal City early this year, denied he is a "boss." He said the Governor's speech was a "sardonic, under-the-table, oblique way of telling the people he favored retaining the poll tax."

Connally's friends applauded his sizzling speech, one of the hottest he ever has made.

Pena's friends, including Don Yarborough of Houston who evidently will be running against Connally again next year, rushed to his defense and heaped new criticism on the Governor.

REPUBLICANS — First announced statewide candidate to emerge on the pre-1964 political scene is a Republican. He is George H. W. Bush, 39, of Houston, who seeks his party's nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Bush and other Republican hopefuls have been discussing their chances with the GOP State Executive Committee.

Present were Jack Cox of Houston and Dr. Milton V. Davis of Dallas, mentioned as Senate race starters; also Des Barry of Houston, who ran for congressman-at-large last year, and State Rep. Horace Houston of Dallas, who has said he might run for Governor.

GOP Congressman Ed Foreman, Odessa; Bruce Alger, Dallas; and Sen. John Tower were on hand when the committee talked finances, organization, and voter registration.

PARKS .REPORT — A two-year study, recently completed and presented to the Governor, proposes expenditures of $305,000,000 to acquire and develop 373,000 more acres of Texas parks by the year 2000.

Connally, lauding the report, suggested organization of a citizens group to follow through on needed parks programs. He also revealed he is studying possibility of buying part of the 72,000-acre J. C. Hunter Guadalupe Mountain ranch as a State Park.

Parks experts who prepared the report argue that proper development of the recreation, historical and scenic areas would boost the state's economy $200,000,000 a year.

CREDIT INSURANCE — State Board of Insurance heard praise and criticism of its proposed new rules regulating credit life, health and accident insurance at a second hearing here.

The 58th Legislature gave the Board authority to regulate life, health and accident insurance on loans. For the first time, group credit insurance also was included.

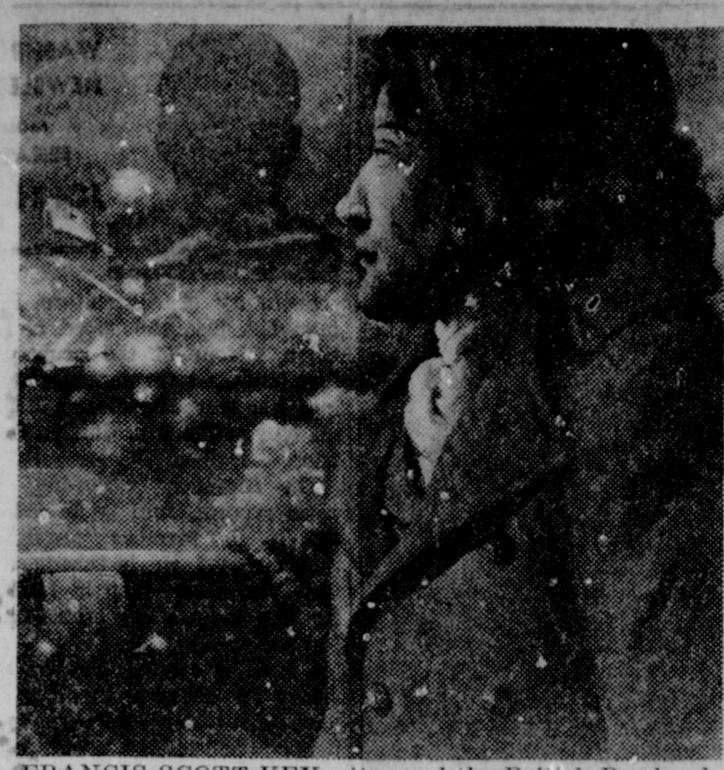

The agency came up with a proposal to establish a test for reasonableness of the relation of benefits to premiums. Some companies claimed the suggested formula resulted in too-high rates.

No decision was reached as to when the rules will take effect, pending completion of an attorney general's opinion.

TRAVEL .RECORD — State Highway Engineer Dewitt C. Greer says Texans will set a new all-time record for miles traveled this year—49,500,000,000 vehicle miles, an increase of two billion miles over last year.

Half of the mileage will be logged in urban areas. In other words, seven per cent of Texas highways will carry 50 per cent of the traffic. Other 50 per cent will be scattered over 93 per cent of the road system.

A "disturbing discrepancy," Greer says Texans will set a new taintly deal with as we plan for the future. Big question is whether we can continue to modernize FRANCIS SCOTT KEY witnessed the British Bombardment of Fort McHenry during the War of 1812 and when the terrible night had ended, Key saw the American flag flying high over the ramparts in the morning mist. There was a gaping hole shot through one of its stars... but the Star Spangled Banner. and upgrade the Texas Highway system quickly enough to take care of this traffic efficiently—and above all, safely.

APPOINTMENTS — Leslie G. Burnett of Austin, Claude Brown of McCombs, and J. B. McDuff of Crockett have been named by Governor Connally to the Texas Industrial Commission. Ray Horton of Houston was reappointed.

Brown, auto dealer and oilman, replaces San Angelo publisher Houston Harter, who resigned. Burnett, labor official, succeeds Jack A. Martin, San Antonio union leader.

McDuff, telephone company executive, succeeds Jack H. Drake, Weslaco Chamber of Commerce executive.

Another appointment by Connally was Judge Solomon Casseb Jr. of San Antonio as presiding judge of the 4th Administrative Judicial District. Judge Howard Green of Cuero resigned the post to accept appointment as chief justice of the new 13th Court of Civil Appeals at Corpus Christi.

TOURIST AGENCY — Texas brand new Tourist Development Agency has opened offices in the Sam Houston Building on the Capitol concourse.

Director Frank Hildebrand Jr. hopes to get together with his advisory board this month to review advertising presentations.

Agency will be cut to prove itself to the legislature. It hopes to demonstrate that it can do enough for the Texas economy with its initial $200,000 advertising appropriation to justify a bigger budget in the future.

WATER .WARNING — Chief Engineer John Vandertulp of the Texas Water Commission warns that the five wet years since 1957, when the last drought broke, have lulled community leaders to sleep. As a consequence Texas cities and industries are in danger of running shy of water.

Vandertulp reports that existing reservoirs will not supply present cities and industries with sufficient water if another seven-year drought develops.

SHORT SNORTS — A special election to fill vacancies in the House of Representatives created by resignations of Dallas Democratic Reps. Robert H. Hughes and Bob Johnson will be held on November 9.

Texas Municipal League President Robert Willis Jr. of Livingston called on all city officials to give "active attention" to revision of municipal revenue policies and broadening the local tax base.

It's all right to accept beer advertising in the Annual Prison Rodeo souvenir programs sold by the Texas Department of Corrections, ruled Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

AUSTIN—It may come as a blow to the male ego, but the facts are inescapable; men belong to the weaker sex—outnumbered, outwitted, and outlived by the sturdier female.

Are women biologically more resistant to disease and death than men? Is the male animal shortening his life by greater aggressiveness, greater exposure to stress and disease, or by ignoring the laws of healthy? Can anything be done to reduce male mortality?

The sex ratio at birth—105 boys for each 100 girls—as well as death rates have always been higher than the female rates. It has long assumed that women are biologically more resistant to disease, tolerating pain and illness better than men.

There are also striking differences in causes of death for each sex. Lung cancer kills six times more men than women. The male death rate from syphilis and ulcer of stomach and upper small intestine is three times as high, and twice as high from tuberculosis. Three times more men than women commit suicide or are murdered. The odd thing is that higher male mortality, compared with females, extends to most animal species as well as to humans.

Because of the excessive mortality among males, their advantage in number at birth are offset by age 20. In 1959 the white American female averaged 1.9 more years of life than her male counterpart. In 1959, her life expectancy was 5.3 years more than the male.

Men are helping shorten their own lives. They have insisted on carrying the greater responsibility and have had to develop aggressiveness to meet that responsibility. Result: more worries.

more stress, more contact with disease and physical dangers.

Women, on the other hand, are more likely to release pressure through tears, rest when they feel poorly, consult their doctor early when ill, and follow medical instructions better than men.

Much can be done to reduce excessive male mortality. One investigator has suggested a national inventory of the physical, mental, and emotional assets and liabilities of men in preparation for intensifying the attack on accidents and occupational diseases and the research into cardiovascular diseases and cancer.

Alleviating the stresses of competitive living in a materialistic age requires that the fragile male be continuously instructed in the laws of health and encourage to follow them.

Oldsters' Home Loans Announced

Special provisions have been made through the Farmers Home Administration's regular home loan program to meet the needs of people who are 62 years of age or over. This information comes from John C. Kennedy, Bailey County FHA Supervisor.

This loan is designed for people living in rural areas or in towns of 2500 population or less who do not have adequate housing. Also, to qualify, they must be unable to finance the needed housing from private credit sources.

Loan funds can be used to buy a previously occupied house or to buy a site on which to build his home, as well as to build or repair a home on land he now owns.

A senior citizen who does not have sufficient income to repay the loan may be able to qualify if a relative or someone else co-signs his note. The interest rate for this loan is 4 per cent.

More information about this loan program can be obtained from the local FHA office in Muleshoe.

St. Louis University has played in every final of the NCAA soccer championships since the tournament was inaugurated in 1959. The Billikens have won the title three times.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm apparently is not a candidate for Secretary of Agriculture. We don't believe anybody suggested him.

Dear editor: I was talking with a man in town the other day and he had been reading an article in a big magazine about the mistakes it claimed the Secretary of Agriculture has been making and he wanted to know why they don't ever appoint a farmer to the job.

The Secretary we got now, he said, used to be a governor; the one before that was a church official. "Why don't they ever appoint a farmer to run the nation's farming business?" he demanded. "They bring in somebody who doesn't know much about farming and expect him to succeed."

I didn't go into details in answering him, as I figured he was a normal man and a lot more interested in his opinions than mine, but I can tell you the answer.

The answer is that a farmer has more sense than to take the job.

Any farmer knows that regardless of who the Secretary of Agriculture is, two years after he's been in office he's head over heels in trouble. When you've got a job tackling a problem that can't be solved, the only man willing to take it on is somebody who doesn't know it. Being Secretary of Agriculture is the worst job on earth, outside maybe of trying to solve a neighbor's family squabble.

You pass a law requiring the President to name only a farmer as Secretary of Agriculture, and you'll find more farmers moving to town than you ever dreamed of. Oh I know you get to tour the world while you're in office, but that's the worst way I know to get a trip abroad, and it does not do any good—when you get back the farm problem is in the same mess it was before you left.

But don't misunderstand me. We've got to have a Secretary of Agriculture and a lot of farm legislation to administer. The last thing I'd want is to farm without having somebody in Washington to point my finger at. The only thing worse than farming and not making any money is farming and not making anybody in Washington to put the blame on.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

IT'S FOR THE BIRDS

Melvin R. Evans, Refuge Manager, Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge

As the days shorten and the night air cools to lower and lower temperatures, a certain part of our people begin to think of fall and winter.

To hunters they begin to clean the gun and ask questions such as "Have the birds begun coming south yet," and if so how many have been in the area?"

The farmer and businessman look at fall from economic side regarding crops and the economy regarding crops.

We each look at it differently, and why not, we all have different interests.

Dove season is now open in this area, and many of the hunters have had some real good hunts. Doves appeared to move into the area a little early and their numbers have already begun to decline on the Refuge.

Ducks began to be seen in large numbers about the last two weeks of August and the species seen indicated that larger ducks were arriving a little early. There has been more large ducks in the area throughout the summer than usual.

Quail production in general was

Cooked Celery Has Many Uses

One phase of cooking in these United States we never understand.

Why must Americans relegate certain vegetables only to the salad bowl?

The Italians braise chicory in olive oil, the Belgians boil endive and offer it au gratin, the French cook celery in a marinade.

It's celery we're concerned with now. You'll find it's such a pleasant change to encounter it cooked. The following recipe calling up throughout the Panhandle, but these increases were spotty.

No Sandhill Cranes have been seen on or around the Refuge, but they have been present south of Brownfield, Texas, for about one month.

Cranes usually arrive at the refuge on about the 18th of September.

Does the early flight of birds indicate an early frost? It may or it may not, I don't know, but it does look like our birds are coming south a few days early this year.

for celery in a creamy sauce and a topping of almonds is perfect to serve for a company lunch. Try it with broiled shad or shad roe and bacon—or some other extra-fine fresh fish — and new potatoes. You'll never regret it.

For a company dinner let the cooked celery dish accompany a roast — tender lamb, beef, veal, chicken or turkey. For this menu the potatoes might be pared and oven-roasted until crisp and golden-brown.

For an everyday version of cooked celery, team the vegetable with a white sauce, using the liquid the celery was cooked in for a portion of the milk. Don't have the white sauce so thick it resembles library paste. And just before serving, add a topping of cheese or a sprinkling of paprika.

We use Pascal celery in testing the following recipe and the pale green crescents were a pretty contrast to the creamy colored sauce and golden toasted almonds.

- SPRINGTIME CELERY
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
  - 1 quart sliced celery (1-inch crescents)
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 tablespoon minced onion
  - 2 tablespoons minced chives
  - 1 tablespoon flour

STATE FAIR KIDS Marla and Cindy Hill got a real boot out of comparing their small-size footwear to the 7-foot 7-inch boots which belong to their hero, Big Tex. On a recent visit to the Dallas studio where Big Tex lives during the off-season, Marla and Cindy got a close-up look at the boots which belong to the 52-foot high symbol of the State Fair of Texas, the nation's largest annual exposition in terms of attendance. Big Tex — and also Marla and Cindy — will be ready and waiting to greet visitors to the 1963 State Fair in Dallas when the gates swing open on Saturday, October 5.

Lonaview News

By GAIL KITCHENS

LONGVIEW—The brotherhood of the Longview Baptist Church met Sept. 9 at the church with the Rev. Mr. Quick, West Camp, as guest speaker.

Those attending were O. G. Killingsworth, Dan Darsey, I. L. Kitchens, T. H. Clem, Buster Kittrell, and O. M. Lackey. Visitors other than the speaker were the Rev. Joe Salvador and his son, West Camp.

Mary Sowder and Gail Kitchens spent the weekend in Amarillo visiting Mary's sisters, Evelyn and Bettye.

Visiting Sunday in the O. G. Killingsworth home was Donald Young, Portales.

Mrs. Bill Heathington and Gayla, Muleshoe, visited Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Kitchens.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bobby Lacey and Kyle have returned from a short trip to Fort Worth.

Those leaving for college for the fall term from the Longview community are Mr. and Mrs. College: Mr. and Mrs. John Carey, Southwestern State; Dean and Don Ethridge, Texas Tech; Stacy Lackey, A & M; Mary Sowder and Gail Kitchens, West Texas State.

Mr. and Mrs. Lankston Harris, Larry and Kevin, Checotah, Okla., are visiting this week with her parents, the O. G. Killingsworth.

Vestibules Cold? Try 'Direct' Heat

There is a two-way benefit in providing proper heating for an enclosed porch. Not only does it extend the season for porch-sitting, but, as in the case of commercial buildings with heated vestibules, it protects the inner rooms from cold air blasts when doors are opened. Compact "direct heating" equipment directs in many such installations. "Direct" heaters operate independently of the home's regular central heating system.

'Boil-Over' Pie Good

Don't fret over a pie that runs over in the oven — it may be more delicious than one that doesn't. Home economists point out that boiling over indicates the filling is thoroughly cooked. To clean the oven, the experts suggest you scrape the syrup off with a pancake turner and sprinkle salt over the spill. When the oven is cool, place a heat-resistant glass bowl containing 1/2 cup of ammonia in 2 quarts boiling water on the oven floor, close the door, and several hours later, wash the oven with soapsuds.

Famous Cooper Museum to Close

A famous education institution, The Cooper Union, is faced with a dilemma about a worthy, but specialized, museum which has been under its wing since 1897.

The answer may be that the museum will be discontinued, and its collections "relocated" in other museums—preferably in the New York area.

Cooper Union was founded in 1859 by inventor Peter Cooper as a free-tuition educational institution. It now has approximately 1,300 undergraduates attending day and night classes, about equally divided between the School of Engineering and the School of Art and Architecture. Hundreds more attend adult education activities.

The museum is called "The Museum for the Arts of Decoration." Two granddaughters of the founder, Sarah Coopert Hewitt and Eleanor Garnier Hewitt, were largely responsible for assembling its collections, beginning in the 1890s.

With additions from other sources, the museum now has nearly 100,000 items. Their value is in the millions, but no one has made even an approximate estimate.

Primarily there are prints, textiles, wallpapers, ceramics and glass, plus everything from jewelry, furniture and ironwork to birdcages.

There's the rub. The collections are in the decorative arts.

Over the years our Art School has grown away from the decorative arts," says Cooper Union's president, Dr. Richard F. Humphreys. "It has become a school for the fine arts. Our arts faculty reports the students are using this museum no more than they are using this New York museums for their study."

Then there is the question of operating costs. With curators, assistants, clerks and guards, the museum has a score of people on its staff. Cooper Union subsists on endowments and alumni contributions, and nearly all the museum's tight budget has to come out of the general educational fund.

Neither Congress nor anybody else can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public safety demands it during rebellion or invasion.) All officers or others must obey a court order bring in anyone in their custody to see whether he is held lawfully.

Congress cannot pass "bills of attainder" special acts to punish someone Congress cannot punish.

"CONSTITUTION WEEK" SIGNIFICANT

The week of September 17-23 has been designated as "Constitution Week". Each year an observance is scheduled throughout the nation in recognition of the importance of the federal constitution, which forms the basis of our national government. It insures a stable balance of powers between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government by providing curbs upon the authority of each.

For instance, mighty as our Congress is, the Constitution does not give it certain powers:

1. Neither Congress nor anybody else can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public safety demands it during rebellion or invasion.) All officers or others must obey a court order bring in anyone in their custody to see whether he is held lawfully.

2. Congress cannot pass "bills of attainder" special acts to punish someone Congress cannot punish.

3. Congress cannot pass an ex-post facto law—a law which makes an act a crime which was not one when done, or which punished the offender more than called for when done.

4. Congress cannot tax exports from any state nor by regulation favor one state's ports over another's, nor make one state's vessels clear or pay duties to another state in order to enter.

Besides these denials from within, the constitution curbs Congress and the executive and judiciary in the amendments, especially the first ten.

Among other things, Congress cannot make a law respecting establishment of religion or prohibiting its free exercise, or abridging the freedom of speech, of the press or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The constitution also curbs the courts for example, they cannot deny a person a fair hearing duly represented by counsel. It curbs the executive (he cannot, for example, take private property for public use without just compensation.)

The constitution, which divides the work of the three branches of government, winds up by telling where the rest of the power rests—just in case anybody gets any fancy ideas of dictatorship. There are things no state can do,

Mule Freshmen Smother Plainview 35 to 0 in Season's First Game

Muleshoe freshmen chewed up Plainview Coronado 35-0 in their first game of the second to indicate that there's some pretty good football material in sight for the varsity squad in a year or so.

Terry Trapp, quarterback, scored on a bootleg from 30 yards out in the game play of the game, and Phillip Short tallied on a 10-yard run on a drive in the second quarter.

In the third period, Short scored again on a 60-yard drive, and in the fourth quarter, Ransom Jones tallied on a three-yard plunge. A few minutes later, Andy Stovall made a touchdown from the 5-yard line to finish the scoring.

All extra points were kicked through the uprights, Andy Stovall booting five for five.

Stovall was the outstanding runner with 13 carries for 92 yards rushing. Outstanding linemen were Billy Darell and Paul Swint with four unassisted tackles.

Thursday the Freshmen will take on Hereford, starting at 6 p.m.

The Frosh are coached by Bob Coleman.

for instance, "make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

If there are any powers not given to the United States government or reserved to the states, they belong to the people. The constitution does not seem to limit the people.
