

Senate Plans For Quick Action On British Aid Bill

Subcommittee Decides To Start Hearings At Once On Big Measure

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, March 20.—Backed by the thumping bi-partisan House majority of 336 to 55, the $7,000,000,000 British aid appropriation bill went to the Senate today, where administration leaders confidently predicted it would get endorsement early next week.

Responding to appeals for unity to show the world the United States was wholeheartedly behind the aid program, an irresistible coalition of House Democrats and Republicans sent the record-breaking peace time bill to the Senate last night without a single change.

Getting ready to match the House record for swift preliminary action, a Senate appropriations subcommittee decided to start hearings on the measure this afternoon.

One hint of Senate feeling was given by Senator Carl D. Olson, who fought the original lease-lend bill the last. Now that the program has been adopted, he said, "what we ought to do is send Great Britain all the aid provided under the bill."

Courteous Robbers Get $618 In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, March 20.—(AP)—After a weird series of dramatics, two masked men took $618 from the Klean Packing Company today and fled.

The courteous pair chloroformed Lenore Keeton, manager of the firm, and Mrs. Keeton at the Lubbock residence and seized office keys and the combination to the safe.

Calmly assuring Mr. and Mrs. Keeton they would not be harmed, the heavier robber, carrying a flashlight and pistol while his silent companion stood in the background with a rifle, forced the couple to take tentative tables.

"I will have to give you chloroform to knock you out—but you'll be all right," the heavy man said.

After the Keetons lost consciousness the pair ransacked the residence, opened the office door with Keeton's key and forced two employees, Cleve Keeton, 19-year-old nephew of Lenore Keeton, and Jack Humble, into a tool room.

Using Keeton's combination, they opened the safe. A key that had been taken from Keeton's pants pocket opened the inner safe and the pair lifted $618—some $200 of it in currency and cash.

Cleve Keeton and Humble smashed their way out of the tool room thirty minutes later.

Navy Appropriation Approved By Senate

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The Senate approved a $3,446,900,644 naval appropriation today after upholding a House-approved provision preventing purchase by the navy of canned beef from Latin-American countries.

The measure, largest peacetime naval supply bill, goes back to the House for action on amendments.

The Senate rejected on a tie vote of 32 to 32, the action of its appropriations committee in deleting from the measure a provision which has been in effect several years requiring the navy to purchase only American livestock and agriculture products.

Across the capitol, the House rules committee gave legislative right-of-way to legislation to increase the authorized enlisted strength of the navy from 191,000 to 300,000 if a "sufficient national emergency exists." The bill will reach the floor next week.

House Passes Bill To Curb Liquor Sales

The bill was delayed pending the attorney general's constitutionality ruling on it.

Forty-Four Russians On Train Ahead Of Buckeye Killing Five

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—(AP)—A conductor testified today at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing that he understood there were 44 Russian diplomats or engineers on the Pennsylvania railroad's Manhattan Limited which traveled over the Cleveland-Pittsburgh tracks Sunday 13 minutes before another train was wrecked, killing five and injuring 114.

Railroad officials announced immediately after the wreck that definite evidence of sabotage had been found and veteran railroad workers expressed belief the loosening and shifting of a rail was aimed at wrecking the Manhattan Limited.

The ICC witness was W. M. Scheiber, conductor on the Manhattan Limited, who said there were two special sleeping cars on the Limited, one with 23 passengers and the other with 21. He added: "Observed Nothing Unusual."

"I understood they were Russian diplomats or engineers. We had no message on them. There were no shipments of unusual value."

"On the rear, there was one sleeper with boys in uniform. They weren't CCC boys."

Scheiber said he noticed "nothing unusual" as the Manhattan sped over the tracks near Baden, along the Ohio River, where the other train was wrecked.

Five coaches on the wrecked train, known as "The Buckeye," plunged 50 feet down an embankment and two of the coaches, a baggage car and a day coach, toppled into the Ohio River. The locomotive and tender lurched from the tracks and overturned.

Navy Air Station Amazes Roosevelt

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO PORT EVERGLADES, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt inspected the navy's southeastern air station at Jacksonville, Fla., today and spoke with amazement of the progress that has been made on the enormous establishment since ground was first broken 16 months ago.

The President toured the big air station by automobile, held a brief press conference and boarded his train at 9:45 p. m.

The train was moved from the naval reservation to the downtown Jacksonville and remained there a time before heading south at 10:45 a. m. down the Florida East Coast.

He said the progress of the base, which eventually will turn out 200 pilots and 600 mechanics a month, was perfectly fine and that he was very much surprised that it is as far along as this.

The Chief Executive was on his way south for a cruise with some of his favorite fishing cronies. He was to embark late in the day at Port Everglades, Fla., on the White House yacht Potomac for a vacation in sunshine and salt air.

Selective Service Quietly Proceeds With Second Registration Task

By Edward E. Bomar WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Quiet advance preparations are being made for a second selective service registration day, although only a small percentage of the 16,404,000 men who enrolled last October have been put in uniform.

The second registration would be for men who have reached their twenty-first birthday since last October 16. By the time it is held, possibly in the late summer or early fall, between 1,000,000 and 1,250,000 will have come of age, population experts figure, and thus will be subject to military service.

Selective service headquarters officials said today only general consideration had been given thus far to the next registration, but advance studies were being made. Under the selective service act, the President must set the date, and this is not considered likely to be before August or September.

Will Be Easier Enrollment of the new 21-year-olds was expected to be far less difficult than the task of registering all men between 21 and 35 inclusive which was carried out in a single day last October. The numbers involved are much smaller, the registration machinery has been tested, and its operation is generally familiar.

Of more immediate urgency, however, were proposals pending in Congress to alter the draft ages substantially, as a transition toward eventual adoption of the European plan of universal military service for men automatically as they reach a specific age, such as 21.

Instead of requiring the registration of all men between 21 and 35, inclusive, the American Legion has sponsored a bill to limit military service liability to men between 18 and 25.

Some selective service officials have indicated they favor the 21-to-25 age bracket.

House Extends Market Demand Oil Proration Measure Without Limitation By Top-Heavy 79-To-41 Vote

Nazi Warplanes Hurl Fire Bombs On Battered City

By The Associated Press.

German warplanes showered fiery death and destruction on London overnight, dropping 10,000 incendiary bombs and many high explosive missiles in a six-hour assault which Nazi pilots declared left great "fields of fire" in the world's largest metropolis.

Berlin said hundreds of Nazi raiders blasted the empire capital in an "unprecedented attack" far exceeding Coventry.

On the Albanian war front, an unconfirmed dispatch reaching Belgrade said the Greeks had finally entered Tepeleni—the scene of bitter fighting for many weeks—and captured numerous Italian prisoners.

In Athens, a Greek government spokesman made no mention of the fall of Tepeleni itself, but asserted that Greek fire had withered seven attacks of close-ranked Fascist troops and that ravines south of the Viosa river in the Tepeleni sector were littered with Italian dead.

Troops At Salonika. Preparations for the "battle of the Balkans"—the expected German invasion of Greece from Bulgaria—moved ahead at a feverish pace.

Reports from the Greek frontier town of Gevelia, Yugoslavia, said "great numbers of British troops" landed yesterday at the port of Salonika, Greece.

Berlin dispatches to the Yugoslav press asserted that both the Turkish and Yugoslav questions have been "settled"—without explanation—and declared:

"Only a short time must elapse before this conflagration which threatened to engulf other Balkan states will be extinguished."

This could be taken two ways: 1. That Nazi pressure has driven Greece into seeking an "honorable peace" with her wobbling Italian foe.

2. That a quarter of a million German troops, now massed on the Greek Bulgarian frontier, would attempt to "settle" Greece by blitzkrieg violence.

Cattlemen Reelect All Officials At Annual Convention

SAN ANTONIO, March 20.—(AP)—The 65th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association came to a close today after the re-election of all officers.

Jay Taylor of Amarillo was re-elected to the presidency. At a meeting of the inspectors of the association late Wednesday J. E. Hodges of San Antonio was awarded a prize of $100 for doing the best organizational work for the association.

During the sessions today Dr. R. P. Marsteller, dean of the school of veterinary medicine at A. & M. College, spoke on the relation of bangs disease to the livestock industry.

Joe G. Montague, attorney for the cattlemen, told the members that the entire cattle industry as well as the rest of the United States had first to be thankful for "our splendid democracy," but that secondly the cattlemen could be thankful for the prime condition of the beef market.

He told the delegates that it was up to the cattlemen to protect their business without being selfish. They must, he said, be ready to make and sacrifice for the country if the need arises.

British Submarines Sink Two Loaded Italian Supply Vessels

LONDON, March 20.—(AP)—Three British submarines pouncing on Italian convoys sank two heavily-laden supply vessels, "almost certainly" destroyed another, and scored hits on two crowded troop transports, one of which "it is considered certain was completely destroyed," the admiralty announced today.

The sinking of the two supply ships, of about 2,500 tons each was credited to the 1,090-ton Triumph. The third supply ship, of 3,000 tons, was said to have been hit by the Unique.

The attack on the convoyed transports was carried out by the submarine Utmost and its torpedo boats were declared to have been followed by "a very violent explosion and it is considered certain that at least one of the transports was completely destroyed."

Further successes have been reported by our submarines operating against Italy's sea communications with her army overseas.

"H. M. S. Utmost (Lieut.-Comm. R. D. Caley, R. N.) has carried out a successful attack on an escorted convoy of two deeply laden Italian transports.

"The transports were of about 6,000 and 4,000 tons and were seen to be crowded with troops."

Japan May Send 100,000 Men To Thailand Sector

SAIGON, French Indo-China, March 20.—(AP)—Widespread reports which the Associated Press has been unable to trace to their source said today the Japanese were planning within the next two weeks to send 100,000 troops from Hainan Islands across middle French Indo-China into Thailand.

After traversing Indo-China, the reports said, the Japanese either would proceed to Bangkok, go toward the northern border of British Malaya or turn northeast toward the Burma border in an attempt to isolate Chungking, capital of the Central Chinese government, and prevent the movement of military supplies over the Burma road.

Threat To Britain A move by Japan either north or south of Thailand would constitute a threat to British territory—Burma in the north and the Malay states and the Singapore base to the south.

(Japan could not attack China from Thailand without crossing Burma. Thailand has no Chinese frontier.)

The reports were given wide credence here by persons regarded as competent to judge. These sources said such a land expedition would avoid the risks which a move farther south by sea would involve and also would insure a safe and dependable supply route.

Chairman Describes Fascist Superstate

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Chairman Dies (D. Tex.) said today the House committee on un-American activities had information indicating that Italy was attempting to draw its nationals in the United States together into what he termed a "superstate."

He said Italy, working through its consulates, Italian language newspapers, fraternal organizations and insurance societies was asking its citizens to join a nation-wide organization to which they would make contributions and for which they would work.

"They want to form one big organization of loyal Italians in the United States," Dies said.

Details will be presented to a federal grand jury here soon, Dies said.

Members Send Bill To Senators By Breaking Two-Year Custom As Move Strengthening Federal Oil Battle

Representatives Kill Bill Authorizing Civil Service For County Government Employees And Prepare For Big Fight On Anti-Strike Effort

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN, March 20.—The House of Representatives today quickly passed to the Senate a bill extending Texas' market demand oil proration law without any time limitation. The vote was 79 to 41.

In the past, the law has been continued only two years at a time. Many House members took the position, however, that the case against federal oil control would be strengthened by removing the time limit.

Today's action was taken without debate. There had been no opposition to proration on last Monday, when the bill was passed to final reading, but repeated efforts were made at that time to add amendments extending the law for only two or three years.

Supporters of the measure urged quick action in view of the opening in Washington next week of a Congressional committee hearing on the Cole oil bill. They said that "Texas' approval of a "permanent" proration law would greatly aid opponents of federal oil supervision.

Texas is the nation's largest oil producing state. Under its proration law, the State Railroad Commission can restrict oil production to reasonable market demands. Evokes Spirited Debate.

By a vote of 59 to 52, the House of Representatives killed a bill authorizing civil service for county governmental employees.

The measure evoked spirited debate. Advocates contended that it would eliminate the "spoils system" in larger counties while foes charged that it would perpetuate the jobs of employees on the county payroll at the time the civil service system was instituted.

A majority of the people in a county would have had to vote for the change before civil service could be imposed. Opponents of the measure contended, however, that county governmental civil service did not have sufficient merit to justify its adoption even under local option.

The House gave final passage to the Senate bill tightening restrictions on the sale of narcotics for the next two years. Advocates explained that the federal government wanted to conserve opium and other narcotics. The measure now returns to the Senate for action on House amendments.

Needs Further Study. Girthing itself for a pitched battle, the Texas House of Representatives awaited an opinion from Attorney General Gerald C. Mann on the constitutionality of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's proposed anti-strike legislation.

Mann, however, has informed the House members he was doubtful he could report on the bill after but two days' study. The governor had urged immediate passage.

The proposal would require 60 days advance notice of strikes or lock-outs in national defenses industries and prohibit the use of more than two pickets at one factory entrance.

Meanwhile, a House committee yesterday recommended a proposed constitutional amendment to increase from three to nine the membership of the State Supreme Court.

By a vote of 11 to 3, the House appropriations group favorably reported a bill appropriating $1,500,000 to purchase 798,000 acres for the Texas portion of International Big Bend Park project on the Rio Grande.

U. S. Navy Plans Flotilla For Britain

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The navy was assembling a large flotilla of patrol boat reinforcements for Britain today, and at the same time studying an admiralty request for the use of American yards to keep the present fleet in fighting trim.

The patrol ships—Mosquito boats, submarine chasers, trawlers and converted yachts—would represent the first installment of naval lease-lend assistance. One unofficial estimate was that at least 150 light craft were on the list that would be transferred shortly.

Secretary of Navy Knox, in announcing yesterday that the ships would be made available, said there were no destroyers on the list. The patrol ships would be useful for coastal work, anti-submarine operations and limited convoy duty.

What We're Up Against

Twenty tons of cutlery were recently dumped into Mexico by Germany—enough, trade experts say, to absorb a specialized corner of that trade in Mexico for years.

This shipment was eight months on the way, across Russia, and then by Japanese steamer to Manzanillo. Costs of such transport, especially considering high war-time insurance rates, must have long since eaten up any conceivable profit. Yet the goods are now offered the Mexican housewife at prices lower than those of U. S. goods which merely cross the border. The German government, of course, absorbs the loss, for its own reasons.

This shipment started for Mexico soon after the fall of France, at a time when Germany was expecting a quick and easy end to the war. It is a clear indication of what the United States will be up against in its trade relations with the rest of the western hemisphere when the war is over. For if Germany wins, a whole continent of Europe will be producing such goods at labor costs dictated by the conqueror. Even if Germany loses, its desperate producing machinery will turn to such cut-throat methods.

Can anyone doubt the wisdom of stimulating by every feasible means our trade with Latin America—now?

Denmark now has one-third fewer pigs than when Germany occupied the country. The Germans certainly have been getting porky.

Loose auto nuts are more dangerous when one of them is driving.

Burtram Urges Price Restored

Restoration of the reduction made in 1938 of prices for crude oil was called for in a statement made here yesterday by Frank Burtram, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, a national organization of oil producers.

"The independent producer is today facing a serious situation, the correction of which requires sound thinking and positive action," declared Burtram.

In 1938 instead of a greatly needed increase in the crude price, the independent was suddenly confronted with a drastic reduction which has never been corrected.

"The reason then given was that the wasteful production of oil in Illinois was supplying the demand at prices below the cost of production in other states.

"Today the demand for petroleum has increased over the 1938 demand by an amount twice as great as the present production in Illinois. We have reduced our excessive above ground crude stocks over fifteen million barrels.

"The argument that a low price of gasoline might justify a low price of crude assumes that the producer should pay for the shortcomings of others in the industry and ignores the fact that a low crude price is historically accompanied by an even lower gasoline price and trend.

"Since 1938 our demand has increased 800,000 barrels per day while our domestic production has increased only 300,000 barrels. Imports have increased about 200,000 barrels per day which is substantially the decrease in Illinois production since its peak."

We Are In The Army And We Like It

By Buster Howard
FORT BLISS—A draftee's first day is just a round of checking and examinations, going from one building to another for X-rays, etc. Then he goes to the reception center to be classified and in two or three days he will be sent to a big camp. The Army is trying to place the new men where they will do the most good.

The sadness of leaving home soon wore off and all of the fellows pepped up and joined in the fun of meeting other fellows from Odessa, Monahans, and Pecos. Fortunately Pullman cars were available and most of the men slept well.

Rain fell from Pecos to El Paso where it turned to snow. Mount Franklin, adjoining Fort Bliss, was covered with snow all day.

Being physically fit is something everybody wants. This was shown a number of times during the examinations and each man who had some minor ailment always tried to talk the doctor out of it so as to pass and be accepted.

The examining doctors were not too strict on the men but gave a very careful examination. Several of us had to have X-rays made. A car took us to William Beaumont Hospital and brought us back.

The food is fine and we were fed on arrival at the fort at 8 a.m. Lunch was served at noon. It consisted of roast beef and gravy, spiced apples, potatoes, lettuce and tomato salad, cocoa, and raisin pie. The food is served in a mess hall seating 150 men and is kept very clean.

PINEHURST, N. ### Trustbusters Are Ready To Battle For Farm Prices

By Peter Edson
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON. — Federal grand jury investigation of any trade combination which may be destroying the balance of prices between the things the farmer buys and the things the farmer sells is one of the little jobs the Department of Justice would like to tackle next. All that stands in the road is a mere matter of a million dollars to the farmer sell his crops for parity — that is, what it costs to produce them. Processors and distributors buy from products as cheaply as they can so that they can sell them to consumers who want to buy them as cheaply as they can.

In the meantime, the industrial defense program gets priority, as it should. But if that interferes with production of things farmers buy, prices go up. And if labor prices go up, taking the costs of manufacturing along with them, the farmers feel that they may be in for a squeeze.

Outside the farm parity program, however, the major effort of the defense economics seems to be to keep prices down. That is apparent through activities of the Office of Production Management, consumer protection, controlled buying for army and navy, price regulation, setting up of priorities, and attempted breaking up of monopolies by the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice under Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold.

Just what Arnold would tackle if he were told to investigate the range between the prices the farmer pays and the prices the farmer gets is a matter of conjecture. In his testimony before the Temporary National Economic Committee, however, Arnold recommended grand jury investigation of agricultural machinery manufacture, the packing industry, cottonseed oil industry, canning industry, fresh fruits and vegetables, and the buying methods of chain stores.

Sauces Perk Up Hot Vegetables

Sauces make hot vegetables more tempting.

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

The more vegetables in your menu, the more health for your family. Cabbage, carrots, onions, beet tops, leeks, turnips, cauliflower, green or waxed beans, however, may seem dull at times. However, here's a series of new easy vegetable sauces which begin with home-made or boiled mayonnaise or commercial salad dressing:

Mustard-Hollandaise Yields 3/4 Cup

One-half cup mayonnaise or salad dressing 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1/4 cup milk.

Combine mayonnaise, salt, and mustard in top of double boiler. Gradually add milk, stirring after each addition until smooth. Cook over boiling water 5 minutes, stirring constantly; if over-cooked, sauce will curdle. Serve at once with hot beets, cauliflower, broccoli, artichokes, or spinach; broiled or baked fish, corned beef, tongue, or baked ham.

Here are some variations:

Curry-Hollandaise Sauce

Omit mustard. Combine 1/2 teaspoon grated onion and salt with mayonnaise. Substitute water for milk. Cook as directed in recipe for mustard-Hollandaise sauce. Blend small amount of sauce with 1/2 teaspoon curry powder. Add to remaining sauce and mix thoroughly. Serve at once over hot vegetables.

Chili-Hollandaise Sauce

Omit mustard. Combine 1/2 teaspoon grated onion and salt with mayonnaise. Substitute water for milk. Cook as directed in recipe for mustard-Hollandaise sauce. Blend 1/2 teaspoon chili powder with small amount of sauce. Add to remaining sauce and mix thoroughly. Serve at once over hot vegetables or kidney beans.

Tomato-Hollandaise Sauce

Omit mustard. Combine 1/2 teaspoon grated onion, 2 tablespoons catsup, salt, and dash of pepper with mayonnaise. Substitute water for milk. Cook as directed in recipe for mustard-Hollandaise sauce. Serve at once over hot vegetables or cooked dried beans.

Funny Business

By Wm. E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

All of the players who attended the Southern Appalachian Tournament at Asheville, N. C., last year will be sorry to hear that Sam D. Holt, chairman of the committee is confined to U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Oteen, N. C. Sam is going right ahead making plans for the Southern Appalachian, however, which is now rated as a sectional championship by the American Contract Bridge League. It is scheduled to be held this year in the latter part of August, and a volunteer committee will undertake the handling of the tournament until Sam is out of the hospital.

While I was a member of the winning team of four there last year, we won only after a play-off of a three-way tie in which our team played Holt's team and Oswald Jacoby's team. I recall one of the hands played by Sam which helped to bring his team into a tie for first place.

After South's opening lead dropped the queen of spades, shifted to diamonds, leading the king and then the ace. Holt ruffed the second round.

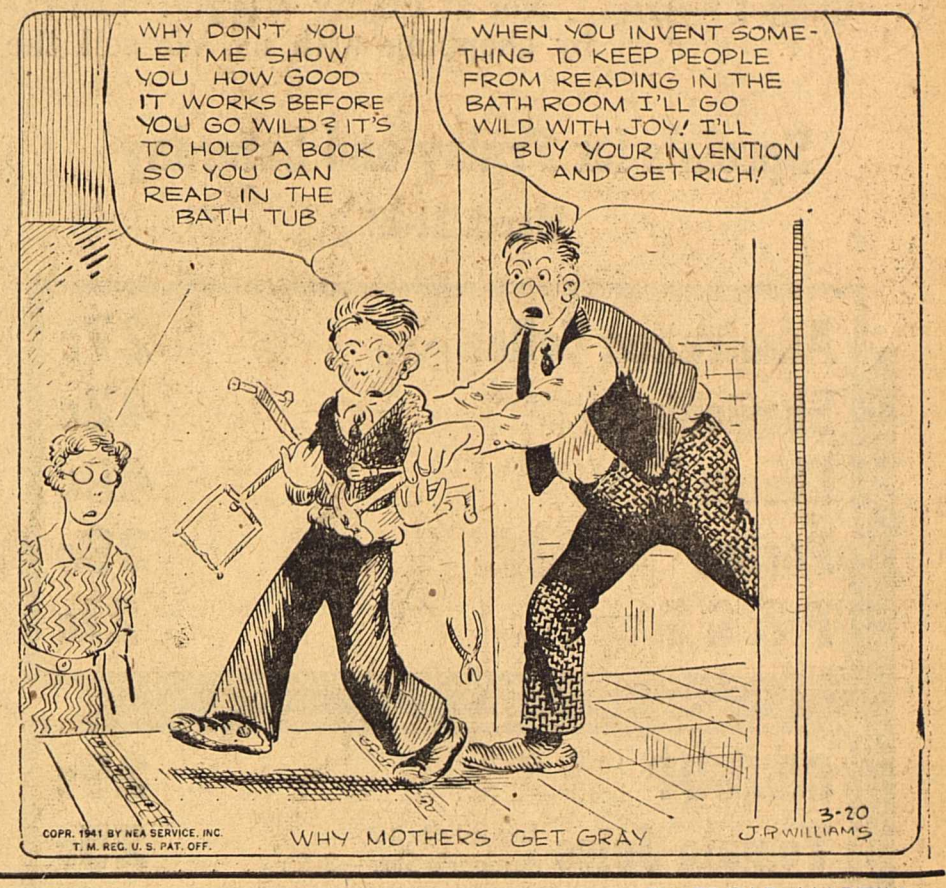

Having no where to park his losing third heart, Holt led out all his trumps and succeeded in developing a squeeze. South's play had left North alone to protect diamonds against dummy's jack. Since North had the only heart stopper, he found himself unable to protect both suits when the last trump was led.

SUBCOMMITTEE FACES REWRITING BOOKS BILL

AUSTIN, March 20—(AP)—A House of Representatives subcommittee today faced the task of rewriting for the second time a bill requiring public school textbooks to be printed in Texas.

Countering strong objections from several members of the public printing committee, a substitute to the original measure was re-referred last night to the subgroup for revision and submission to the attorney general for an opinion on its validity. The ruling was requested.

SERIAL STORY

DOLLARS TO DOUGHNUTS

BY EDITH ELLINGTON

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Beatrice files an application for a job, and she is angered by the attitude of the personnel director. Her courage in talking up to the director lands her the place. At luncheon she calls Mr. Weeming, tells him she is going to South America—without Clarence. He is surprised, secretly pleased. And Bee Davis, newest member of Huntington's staff, comes from the phone booth.

BEE SIGHTS A GOAL

CHAPTER X

BUDGET FASHIONS, in the basement, consisted of a huge amount of floor space bounded by built-in cases filled with dresses of every size and color imaginable.

In the center of the department, four iron racks of “mark-downs” proved an irresistible attraction which lured even the most casual of passing customers from the nearby children's department.

Housewares, with pots, pans, electric appliances, were on the other side of Budget Fashions.

Miss Bee Davis, who had been working in Budget for a whole week now, supposed that the housewives who purchased double boilers and little boys' pants were the logical customers for Budget dresses, and probably that was why they had put it so conveniently between the two departments.

It had been a hectic and eye-opening week. She had learned to make out sales slips; she had learned the difference between what you did when a customer wanted a purchase charged and delivered, and when it was cash and carry.

She had learned to walk up to a woman fingering mark-downs under the blue “Reduced for Clearance” sign, and ask, “May I help you, Madam?”

Every customer in the store was “Madam.” The lady in charge of the training department had crisply corrected her when she pronounced it “Madame.”

Beatrice had learned too that you never turned a hair when a woman who weighed 200 pounds pawed around in the size 14's; and no matter how broad of beam she happened to be, if she wanted a print with immense flowers that was sure to make her look like a slip-covered elephant, you let her buy it.

“See how well it fits across the shoulders,” she had learned to point out, if the dress was too long. And, “It's just the color for you,” if the dress was too tight.

She did not feel happy about those things. They seemed a little dishonest. But Toby Masters told her cheerfully, “That's the way to make the quota sing, honey.”

“Yes, sir?”

Something about Mr. Bradley invariably amused her. She didn't quite know what it was. Perhaps it was because he was so earnest.

He stalked through Budget Fashions with his clean-cut young jaw set sternly, as if he were bearing lions in his den. He had rather nice brown eyes, and dark hair that didn't lie quite smoothly.

“Miss Davis, I—er—well, as a matter of fact, Miss Davis, our buyer thinks you should be warned about spending too much time in conversation with each customer.” He stirred uneasily from one foot to the other.

“We understand, of course, that a sale can't be hurried. But she feels that you're—perhaps unconsciously—er—are attempting to sway the customer's judgment so that—well, in the end, we shall have a return rather than a sale.”

Beatrice's hand on the dresses shook a little. “I'm sorry, Mr. Bradley,” she said quietly. “I'll try to do better.”

RIGHT now, Beatrice was standing beside a thin young girl who was trying on a black crepe with a white lace collar. “I think that looks very well on you; it's quiet, but it isn't the sort of dress that's easily catalogued.” At the strange look in the young girl's eyes, Beatrice hurried on, “No one could tell whether you'd spent $5 or $50—do you see what I mean? You could wear this dress to work; to a dinner party—”

She knew that this was the wrong technique. Toby would have reached promptly for some red horror with an imitation rhinestone buckle. But somehow, in this week she had worked here, Beatrice found herself rebellious. This child simply needed someone to explain things to her. For the same amount of money, she'd get so much better results! So many customers hadn't the faintest conception of how their slim resources could be stretched to make them look smarter.

“It doesn't cost money to exercise good taste,” she thought. “Why should this girl walk out of Huntington's with a dress that's a poor advertisement for us and a disaster for her?”

But the thin girl trying on the black dress was stubborn. “I want something—well—more stylish,” she said. “One of those prints, maybe. I—I want it to look dressy.”

Beatrice sighed and went obediently to the marked-down rack for a couple of prints.

“Yes, sir?”

The customer finally walked out without buying anything. Beatrice let her go.

She stood there in the fitting room, touching the rejected dark dress that was smart, practical, and quiet for all its tiny price tag, and thought, “Doesn't the store want the best efforts of its sales people? Is this the way they treat everybody who tries to be really helpful?”

True, the dress hadn't sold. But if the store, as a matter of policy, went in for educating its customers—for being of actual service to them—in the end, the sales would be better than ever. “They'd be dependable, regular repeat sales. Customers would be grateful and come back, for they'd know at Huntington's you got an honest opinion, not just a sales talk.”

“Why should this girl walk out of Huntington's with a dress that's a poor advertisement for us and a disaster for her?”

Winkler County Will Observe Cleanup Week

WINK, March 19 — (Special) — Wink and Winkler County will take part in the state-wide cleanup week, designated by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, March 30 to April 6.

The state board of health and state fire department will cooperate with agencies here in cleaning up premises and removing dangerous fire hazards, S. E. Burnett of Winkler County health department said.

Southern Methodist Mustangs Bolt Into Semi-Finals At Denver Meet With Tingling Victory Over Legion

DENVER, March 20—(AP)—A team of hot-shooting and fast-passing Texans captured the imagination of the gallery at the National A. A. U. Basketball Tournament today.

The Dallas Wilsons, otherwise the Southern Methodist Mustangs of the Southwest Conference, sped into tonight's quarter-finals with a hair-tugging 31-20 triumph last night over the Denver Legion, twice national champions.

The Texans, who came here right off the campus after changing their regular uniforms for the Dallas A. A. U. regalia, are moving in fast company as the youngest team in the tournament.

Joining them in the round of eight are seven high-voltage independent teams, including Hank Luisetti's San Francisco Olympic club and the defending champion Phillips 66 Oilers of Oklahoma, bristling with talent.

In beating Denver, the Texans made certain that for the first time in four years the mountain country prizes will not be in Saturday's championship struggle.

Denver Was Ahead It was a melodramatic game worthy of high ranking with other astounding upsets of this tournament that dates back to 1899.

With Denver ahead 30-26 in the final four minutes, the Mustangs knotted the score on two quick short under the backboard by Forward Bryan Lloyd and won out on a free throw by Guard Johnny Sebeck with 90 seconds to play.

After that the Texans coolly out-manuevered their older and tournament-wiser foes in scrambles for tons the ball as 5,000 fans rattled the auditorium rafters.

The finals will be played here tomorrow night.

The 1940 champion Phillips 66 Oilers of Oklahoma, seeking to become the first repeater since the Tulsa Oilers won the title in 1933 and 1934, will collide with the powerful Los Angeles Cliftons in the finale at 10:30 p. m.

The super-tall Oklahomans have won their two tourney games by margins of 54 and 25 points, but should have a busy evening with the Cliftons.

Tonight Pairings: 7 p. m. (MST)—Hollywood 20th Century vs. Shreveport, La., Morris-Dickson.

8 p. m.—Oakland, Calif., Athens Club vs. Dallas Wilsons.

9:30—San Francisco Olympics Club vs. Seattle Savidges.

Chicago Cubs Turn Back White Sox In Opening Game, 4-1

LOS ANGELES, March 20—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox were nursing wounds today inflicted by their cross-town rivals, the Cubs, and were pretty chagrined about the way they contrived to give the National Leaguers a 4 to 1 decision.

The Cubs didn't earn a run. That was just the first in a series of exhibition games the Chicagoans will stage before they start their pennant campaign.

The Sox will go back into the American League campaign just as strong and possibly stronger than they were last year, and that prediction comes from no less an authority — and biased observer — than James J. Dykes, the manager of the club.

Sox Well Balanced Powerful hitting, what they hope will be a well balanced pitching staff, good catching and a tight infield — these are the White Sox claims.

Heading the parade of batters, and responsible for the surprising uprising of the Sox last season, are Taft Wright (.337); Julius (Moose) Solters (.308); Luke Appling (.348); Mike Kreevich, who fell below the 300 mark last year but is determined to get back into the hit brigade this season, and Joe Kuhel, whose .280 doesn't tell all the story of his prowess at the plate last year.

Coach Freels' Team Goes To San Angelo Saturday For Events

The rivalry of football District 3-A will be revived in San Angelo Saturday when member schools compete in a track and field meet.

Midland will take a 14-member team to the event, starting at 1 p. m.

Coach Murl Freels' boys got in the first outdoor practice of the week yesterday and despite the slow track looked well enough. For fun, the track relay four Ken Williams, Wendell Williams, J. M. White, and Cletas Hines reeled off a 48-second 440-yard canter. The quartet is undefeated.

The "thinly clad" practiced all events and some were timed and measured. Freels worked the middle distance runners the hardest.

Events Of Athletes The spikers and events for the San Angelo meet, follow: Wendell Williams, 200-yard low hurdles, 440-yard relay, shot put, discus throw, broad jump; J. M. West Basketball Has Advantage Over East

DENVER, March 20—(AP)—As some eastern players out west for the first time see it, height, drive and superior physical condition give the west a big edge over the east in "Major League" basketball.

This is the slant of several former college stars from the New York and Washington area who played for the New York Oubrachs in the National A. A. U. Tournament and lost their only game by 21 points to a California team.

Drive is essential in the Western "fire arm" style of basketball and the Oubrachs think Eastern teams just don't have it.

Green Bay Packer Visits In Midland

"The army draft is taking its toll of coaches," said Lon Evans former TCU and Green Bay Packer football player, here yesterday.

Evans visited with Midland and Odessa coaches at Lackey Field. He is a sporting goods company representative.

"The draft got Daniels, basketball coach at Big Spring, and also Mule Stockton of Big Spring, an assistant coach is to be drafted soon," Evans said. Assistant Coach Bob Harrell of Odessa is near the call.

Coach L. W. (Bud) Taylor, Midland high mentor, has a low draft number and expects his questionaire soon. Coach-elect, Earle Clark has a high draft number.

U. S. Army Chief Of Staff May Be Landis Successor

By Gayle Talbot ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20—(AP)—Perhaps it is an extremely long shot, but the next high commissioner of baseball might be General George C. Marshall, the present chief of staff of the expanding United States army.

The question of the next diamond commissioner naturally arose at the meeting of Major and Minor league magnates here yesterday, when one of the requests made by the Minor Leaguers was that they be given a chance to help name the eventual successor to the present baseball commissioner, Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

There is no particular rush to locate a successor to "the Judge," as he still is hale and hearty and playing his daily round of golf over the nearby Belleair course. But there is no harm in reporting that General Marshall made a rapid impression on the baseball colony in a recent one-night stand on the Florida West Coast.

Names, unfortunately, cannot be used at the moment, but one of the games' top executives said this: "I could think of a man now who would make such a fine commissioner. He's fairly young and he's a nut about baseball. Of course, it's difficult to say whether he would be interested in such a job—holding the job he does now."

"Don't worry about that," interrupted a member of the party. "Did you ever hear of anybody who wasn't interested in a job at about $75,000 a year?"

Louis Hopes To Kayo Challenger

DETROIT, March 20—(AP)—Joe Louis has no doubt as to the outcome of his battle with ponderous Abe Simon, set for 20 rounds or less tomorrow night.

All that is worrying the powerful negro is how long it will take to explode his 250-pound foe and whether he'll damage his hands in doing it. A damaged hand would be a serious blow to the world's heavyweight champion in his "fight-a-month" campaign. He is scheduled to box Tony Mustro in St. Louis April 7 and Billy Conn in New York in June.

Louis promised today to knock out Simon with the first punch if possible. He is determined to convince hometown admirers that he's capable of finishing an opponent with a quick, spectacular knockout. In previous Detroit engagements, Natie Brown and Patsy Perroni each stuck ten rounds with the champion, while he required eleven rounds to stop Bob Pastor after flooring him four times in the first round.

Promoter Mike Jacobs is clicking his store teeth over the prospect of a $50,000 gate. On that basis Simon will pocket about $6,000, a lump he never before received.

Odessa Practices On Midland Field

Coach Bob Harrell's Odessa high Bronchos took a track and field workout on Lackey Field here yesterday.

The Odessans were picking team members and holding time trials. Odessa has no track or jumping pits. Midland's team participated in some events with the visitors.

No competition was held. Odessa plans to enter the Iraan Relays there this week-end.
